COMMISSION.

VICTORIA R.

Victoria, by the Grace of God of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland Queen, Defender of the Faith.

To our trusty and well-beloved Alexander Staveley Hill, Esquire, Thomas Irwin Barstow, Esquire, and Robert Milnes Newton, Esquire, greeting.

Whereas the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, in Parliament assembled, have by a joint address humbly represented unto Us, that a Select Committee of the House of Commons appointed to try a petition complaining of an undue election and return for the Borough of Lancaster have reported to the House that they had reason to believe that corrupt practices extensively prevailed at the last Election for the Borough of Lancaster, and have humbly prayed that We will be graciously pleased to cause inquiry to be made pursuant to the provisions of the Act of Parliament passed in the Sixteenth Year of Our Reign, intituled "An Act to provide for more effectual Inquiry into the Existence of Corrupt Practices "at Elections for Members to serve in Parliament," by the appointment of you the said Alexander Staveley Hill, Thomas Irwin Barstow, and Robert Milnes Newton, as Commissioners for the purpose of making inquiry into the existence of such corrupt practices.

Know ye, that We, in compliance with the prayer of the said joint address, have authorized and appointed, and do by these presents, in pursuance of the powers vested in Us, by the said Act, authorize and appoint you, the said Alexander Staveley Hill, Thomas Irwin Barstow, and Robert Milnes Newton, to be Commissioners for the purpose of making inquiry under the said Act into the existence of such corrupt practices in the said joint address referred to.

Given at Our Court at St. James's, the Sixteenth Day of June 1866, in the twenty-ninth year of Our Reign.

By Her Majesty's command.

(Signed) G. GREY.

REPORT.

TO THE QUEEN'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY.

We, the Commissioners appointed under Your Majesty's Royal Sign Manual to inquire into the existence of Bribery at the last Election for the Borough of Lancaster, having completed the inquiry which we were commanded to make, humbly submit this Report to Your Majesty.

The magistrates of the county of Lancashire having most kindly granted us the use of the Shire Hall, we opened the Commission there on the 27th day of August 1866, and prosecuted our inquiry by daily sittings until the 29th day of September. Afterwards, we resumed our sittings in Lancaster on the 4th day of January, and finally closed our inquiry there on the 9th day of January in the present year.

Before entering on the details of our report, we have great pleasure in acknowledging the services rendered by our secretary Mr. James H. Patteson, not only by his address in conducting preliminary inquiries which have greatly facilitated our investigation, but also for the admirable forethought and method by which he regulated the list of witnesses provided for each day's examination, so as to unite the least possible inconvenience to them with the utmost economy of public time.

The evidence given before us clearly establishes the existence of very great corruption at the election of July 1865.

The election immediately preceding, took place in January 1865, and was uncontested, and as from this cause no opportunity was then afforded for any corrupt practices, we held ourselves precluded by the terms of the Statute of the 15th & 16th years of Your Majesty's reign, c. 57. s. 6., from making any formal inquiry into any preceding election; but, in the course of our inquiry, much testimony was given by which the character of previous elections is sufficiently indicated.

We think it but fair to say at the outset that the witnesses who appeared before us generally gave their evidence with great candour and clearness, and by the fulness of their disclosures have enabled us to lay before Your Majesty what we believe to be a correct and particular account of the matters into which we were charged to inquire.

The borough of Lancaster is an ancient seaport town situated at the mouth of the river Lune. The present parliamentary borough consists of the old borough of Lancaster and part of the township of Bulk on the southern side of the Lune, and the township of Skerton on the northern. The gross population of the parliamentary borough which in 1851 had been 16,158, in 1861 had declined to 16,005. At the latter date there were,—inhabited houses in Lancaster, 2,680; in Bulk 8; in Skerton 303; uninhabited,—in Lancaster, 264; in Bulk 0; in Skerton 35. We have reason to believe that since that date the population has somewhat increased, the number of uninhabited houses has diminished, house-rent has been generally higher, and there is a good demand for labour at increased wages. We may add that though the town lacks the bustle and busy look of many in the same county, it has by no means the air of a decaying or impoverished place; it has a considerable trade in cotton, silk, oilcloth, and furniture, and lately iron ship-building and railway-waggon works have been established, both of which afford employment to a considerable number of hands.

The borough first returned members to Parliament in the 23rd of Edward I. At the date of the Reform Bill the right of voting was vested in the freemen alone. The number of voters on the register of 1864-65 was 1,419, but as some names appear twice on the register in respect of several qualifications, the actual number of persons entitled to vote was 1,408; of these 980 are qualified as freemen and 439 as householders; of the freemen 608 are working men earning weekly wages by manual industry and 169 live in houses of an annual rental of 10*l.*; of the 439 householders 59 are working men; the number who actually voted at the last election was 1,339.

The freedom of the borough is acquired by birth or by having served an apprenticeship within the borough. A small fee of about 30*s.* is due on admission, and we note as an abuse that this fee is very commonly paid by the sitting Members of Parliament or by the candidates, and the payment is accepted by the freeman as a sort of retaining fee on behalf of the party making it. The freemen are entitled to some small corporate property, and also enjoy some privileges which do not seem to call for special notice.

At the time of the dissolution of Parliament in 1865, Messrs. Fenwick and Schneider, both Liberals, were members for the borough. Mr. Fenwick is a barrister living in the neighbourhood of Lancaster, and Mr. Schneider was at that time a partner in the firm of Schneider, Hannay, and Co., ironmasters, at Barrow-in-Furness. He had formerly represented Norwich in Parliament, and had been unseated on petition for bribery. The former gentleman had been returned to Parliament on the 13th of April 1864, after a contest with Mr. Saunders, in which the numbers at the close of the poll stood thus:

For Mr. Fenwick, Liberal - - - - -	682
For Mr. Saunders, Conservative - - - -	525

Upon the vacancy occasioned by the death of Mr. Gregson, Mr. Schneider was in January 1865 returned without opposition; upon this occasion the Conservatives discussed the propriety of bringing forward a candidate, but forbore to do so, partly, as we were told, from being unwilling "to throw away powder and shot," with another contest at hand in consequence of the impending dissolution, and also from the opinion that their organization was at that time defective. They began, however, to prepare for the future, and placed themselves under the direction of Mr. Henry Threlfall Wilson, who thenceforth took the chief part in all that related to election matters on the Conservative side. Mr. H. T. Wilson is a ship owner at Liverpool, and connected with Lancaster both by ties of relationship, and of business as chairman of the Lune Ship-building Company (Limited), and as manager through his firm of the Lune Ship-owning Company. He had already taken part in Lancaster elections, and had sent gold from Liverpool for the use of Mr. Saunders on the occasion of the above-named contest between that gentleman and Mr. Fenwick.

p. 276, ev., 15,716, et seq.

Mr. Wilson undertook to find a suitable Conservative candidate, and his thoughts turned to Mr. Edward Lawrence, an eminent merchant of Liverpool, and then Mayor of that borough. To him, some time in the course of April 1865, Mr. H. T. Wilson applied and requested that he would allow himself to be put in nomination.

Mr. Lawrence appears to have been loth to accept the proferred honour, and, indeed, at first positively declined it. In May, Mr. Wilson, backed by Mr. Saunders, renewed his solicitations. Mr. Lawrence's scruples were so far overcome that he consented to receive, and on the 1st of June did receive, a deputation from the Lancaster Conservatives, On the 6th of June he issued an address, and, on the 7th was declared Conservative candidate for Lancaster. On the 29th an active canvass was begun on the part of Messrs. Fenwick and Schneider on one side, who acted throughout in close coalition, and Mr. Lawrence on the other, and pursued on both sides with due decorum, as if they really believed the result of the election would be affected by it. Mr. G. W. Maxsted was retained as general agent for the Liberals, Mr. C. T. Clarke for the Conservatives. The colours of the Liberal party were yellow, of the Conservative blue. On the 11th of July the candidates were nominated; on the 12th the polling took place, at the close of which the numbers were as follows:

For Mr. Fenwick - - - - - -	713
For Mr. Schneider - - - - - -	687
For Mr. Lawrence - - - - - -	665

and the two former gentlemen were declared to be duly elected.

Your Commissioners desire to bring especially before Your Majesty the working of the provisions of the "Corrupt Practices Acts," as regards the office of election agents, in the borough of Lancaster. The election expenses agent for Messrs. Fenwick and Schneider was Mr. William Tilly, an attorney practising at Lancaster; he produced before us the accounts furnished by him, to the returning officer, in accordance with the Act, purporting to be an account of all monies received and paid in the matter of the election on behalf of the above candidates, amounting to 1,404*l.* 2*s.* 2*d.*

Ev. p. 5.

Mr. Thomas Gibson, also an attorney practising at Lancaster, produced a like account furnished by him as election expenses agent on behalf of Mr. Lawrence, amounting to 1,192*l.* 3*s.* 0*d.* These two statements may be divided under the following heads:—

Ev. p. 12

	Tilly's Account for Fenwick and Schneider.	Gibson's Account for Lawrence.
	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
1. Stationery, postage, and delivering circulars, advertising and posting bills, clerks in committee rooms, poll clerks, check clerk, and agent at booths	183 13 8	169 18 6
2. Carriages and conveyance of voters	405 6 10	448 17 6
3. Hire of committee rooms	126 7 4	120 17 0
4. Employment of voters and others as committee men, canvassers, runners, and staffmen	309 6 4	171 18 0
5. Police, public meetings, and bell-ringers	24 12 2	2 12 6
6. Payment to town clerk	103 15 4	59 16 6
7. Personal expenses of candidates	34 [illegible] 6	0 0 0
8. Professional services and fee to election agent	216 3 0	155 3 0
	£1,404 2 2	£1,129 3 0

With the exception of items 3 and 4 these two accounts appear to represent fairly the amounts spent on behalf of the candidates. The two excepted items, however, being really payments made for the purpose of influencing votes, form but a small portion of the money spent in a manner precisely similar to the sums thus accounted for.

Both the accounts were prepared in this respect without any relation to the real truth of the case, and the sums returned were fixed upon merely to carry out what Mr. Tilly avowed to be his object, viz., that the amount returned should be "somewhere about 1,200*l.*" The estimate that was formed by these two election agents of the duties of the office to which they had been appointed will be found in the evidence given by each of them on this subject. Ev. 609.

The heading of Mr. Gibson's account is as follows: "A detailed statement of all election expenses incurred by or on behalf of Edward Lawrence, Esq., a candidate at the "election," &c.

This statement was verified by Mr. Gibson's signature. He stated, however, to the Commissioners that he paid other sums on account of the election not included in this account, and specified one sum of 50*l.* paid by himself, in sums of 10*s.* each, to 100 staffmen during the week of the election, and he further added that after the election the heads of the party held a meeting, at which he was present, to discuss virtually which of the bills should be paid by Mr. Gibson and should appear in his accounts, and which should be paid by others and should not appear.

Mr. Tilly's account was accompanied by a statement very much to the same effect as that signed by Mr. Gibson.

His evidence was that through him came all the legitimate expenses of the election, and that he "paid no monies only such as were put down in the accounts produced," and it will be seen that, by arrangement, Tilly, as being "only the authorized agent," took just so many accounts as he "thought proper to put into his bill," and that the other bills were to be paid by somebody else.

To sum up this matter, it appears to be the practice at Lancaster, receiving the sanction of the judgment of the principal men, professional and others, engaged in the elections, there, that the duty devolving, under the Act, upon an election agent is to hand in to the returning officer a plausibly reasonable account of what might have been expected to be the amount spent if no recourse had been had on either side to any illegal practices or payments.

Though the amounts returned as above by the election expenses agents on each side form but a very small portion of the money spent in this disgraceful contest, they are in truth very far in excess of the requirements of a pure election. It is quite inconceivable that it should be necessary to spend an aggregate sum of 854*l.* 4*s.* 4*d* on carriages and conveyance of voters; the whole number of country voters can scarcely exceed 330. Railways run north, south, and east of Lancaster; there are stations at Morecambe, Carnforth, Galgate, Halton, and almost every considerable village in the neighbourhood. The conveyances can only be required on one day, viz., the polling day; and we cannot see why this item should have exceeded 50*l.* on each side, if each had been really desirous to repress unnecessary expense. We consider that item 3 is about double the necessary amount, and item 4 should disappear altogether, as being a payment for a purpose useless, mischievous and dangerous. For the above reasons we think that the cost of a really pure election at Lancaster ought not to exceed from 600*l.* to 700*l.* a side.

We have said that Mr. Schneider was returned without opposition on the 20th day of February 1865. On that occasion, in view of a contest at the general election, he retained
Ev. p. 39. the services of Henry Welch, a grocer in the town, who had before served the Liberal party in Lancaster as their cashier, to be his agent for illegal expenses, and to him as the contest drew near Mr. Schneider entrusted the sums he proposed to be used for the purposes of the election. Welch informed us that on the presentation of the petition, both he and the other principal Liberal managers destroyed all papers relating to the election; but though he spoke from memory we have no reason to doubt his accuracy, at least as far as his receipts are concerned. The following is his account of the different monies he received and of the times and manner of his receiving them. On—

Date unknown, by Wearing - - - - - -	710	10	0

,, per Barton - - - - - - -	1,000	0	0
Dec. 15, by Sanderson - - - - - -	55	0	0

The sum of 1,000*l.* received per Barton, was returned to the bank entire, and afterwards drawn against by Welch to discharge liabilities incurred during the contest.

No part of this sum of 6,055*l.* 10*s.* 0*d.* was applied to the discharge of the so-called legal expenses, the whole of which amounting, as we have shown, on the part of the Liberal candidates, to 1,404*l.* 4*s.* 2*d.*, was furnished, 500*l.* by Mr. Fenwick, and the balance by Mr. Schneider, to Mr. Maxsted, their general agent, and by him from time to time to Mr. Tilly, their election expenses agent. The total cost, therefore, of this election to Messrs. Fenwick and Schneider appears to have been 7,459*l.* 14*s.* 2*d.*

Under the circumstances of the contest, the Conservatives only aiming at one seat, it was not considered fair that Mr. Fenwick, the senior, and supposed to be the popular candidate, should incur a heavy expenditure, the less so as he had already stood an expensive contest with Mr. Saunders. We believe that in the first instance it was agreed that the cost to him should not exceed 1,000*l.*; to this sum of 1,000*l.*, paid under the circumstances hereafter mentioned, he afterwards added 500*l.* making the total sum contributed by him 1,500*l.* The balance of the amount was furnished by Mr. Schneider, whose first act towards providing money for the election was to make a promissory note as follows:

£2,500. London, April 28, 1865.

On demand I promise to pay to J. Coulston, Esq., or order, the sum of two thousand five hundred pounds for value received, with interest thereon at five per cent.

[30*s.* stamp.]

(Signed) W. H. Schneider.

This note Mr. Schneider kept by him until after the election when he enclosed it in the following letter to Mr. J. Coulston (then manager of the Lancaster Banking Company).

My dear Sir, Ulverston, July 15, 1865.

With many thanks I enclose you the promissory note as arranged.

(Signed) W. H. Schneider.

Mr. Hadwen, sub-manager of the Lancaster Banking Company at Lancaster, added that although Mr. Schneider had not at that time a private account with the bank, his credit was such that they should not have required any security from him; the above security, however, was given to cover drawings already made and interest to the amount of 3,500*l.*

In order to provide himself still further to meet the anticipated disbursement for illegal expenses, Mr. Schneider, some six weeks before the election, desired his manager at Barrow, J. T. Smith, to get together 1,000*l.* in gold, in small sums, and keep the amount until he should ask him for it. A few days afterwards Mr. Schneider asked Smith for the sum he had at that time collected, and Smith then gave him 290*l.* The balance of 710*l.* Smith took to Lancaster, and by Mr. Schneider's directions, left it for Welch at the house of Milner, the proprietor of "The Lancaster Guardian," a local newspaper of Liberal politics. Milner sent it by his shopman to Stephen Wright Wearing, a very prominent person on the Liberal side, who in turn delivered it to Welch; and we have no doubt that the sum of 290*l.*, spoken to by Welch as being the first sum deposited with him for election purposes, was the same sum which Mr. Schneider received from Smith as above stated, and conveyed himself to Lancaster, and that the whole 1,000 sovereigns collected by Smith at Mr. Schneider's request were thus lodged in the coffers of the Liberal cashier.

The third and two following sums, each of 500*l.* in gold, were delivered to Welch by J. Sanderson, cashier to the Lancaster Bank. The first on the 6th of July, the last on the 11th, the day of the nomination, and the second on some day in the interval. They were made up into parcels by him by order of the late Mr. Coulston, then manager of the Lancaster Banking Company, and charged to Mr. Coulston's private account; a further sum of 1,000*l.* was paid into Mr. Schneider's hands in gold on the evening of the nomination day, which, together with 500*l.*, the proceeds of a Bank of England note changed by Mr. Schneider at the same place is the 1,500*l.* spoken to by H. Welch as having been found by him on the morning of the polling day in a cupboard in his room at the "Queen's Hotel." The next sum Welch received was 1,000*l.* in gold, by the hands of Stephen Wright Wearing, to whom it was given by Mr. Fenwick in his bed room in the "Queen's Hotel," also on the morning of the polling day. The last sum of 1000*l.* mentioned in the above account was brought to Welch at the same place, by Mr. Barton, of Church-steps, Lancaster. Mr. Barton told us that about noon on the same day, something being said in the committee as to the "necessity of strengthening Welch's hands," Mr. Schneider suggested "the desirability of seeing if 1,000*l.* in gold could be obtained at the Lancaster Banking Company." Mr. Barton proceeded forthwith to the Bank, and having in a short time obtained the amount from Mr. Hadwen, in the parlour of the bank, he brought it with him to Welch, in his room at the "Queen's Hotel." A further small sum of 55*l.* paid by Mr. Schneider's order to Welch on the Lancaster Banking Company, in December 1865, completes the amount of money passing through Welch's hands on account of this election. p. 203 ev., 11,681.

On the Conservative side the cashier was Wilson Barker, a draper in Church Street, Lancaster, who accepted the post at the request of Mr. H. T. Wilson. W. Barker furnished us with a very clear account of his receipts and disbursements. Ev., p. 190.

He stated that he received the undermentioned sums in the following manner—

	£	s.	d.
July 1st at Kennan's Hotel, Cheapside, in London, from the office of Messrs. Bilbrough, Mr. H. T. Wilson's London partners	500	0	0
July 8th, by T. E. Taylor to reimburse for advances	400	0	0
July 11th, Cash	500	0	0
July 11th, in sovs., by Wollaston and others, from Liverpool	2,000	0	0
July 12th, per cheque, drawn by John T. Lawrence (brother of candidate) in favour of W. Barker, cashed at Lancaster Branch of Preston Bank	1,000	0	0
July 12th, by post from W. E. Chambers	450	0	0

The above sums were all received before or during the day of the polling.

He also drew out on his own cheque 500*l.* "as a reserve," which he returned after the election, and the remainder of the sum expended on account of the election was furnished to him as follows:—

July 15th, by W. E. Chambers	500	0	0
August 17th do.	250	0	0
September 8th do.	400	0	0
January, 2nd, 1866 do.	500	0	0
March 7th, do.	150	0	0
And a further sum due to Wilson Barker	11	2	0
	£7,061	2	0

The Conservative exchequer was fed from two sources, first, from the Liverpool house of Messrs. H. T. Wilson & Cunningham, secondly, from that of E. Lawrence & Co., in which Mr. E. Lawrence the candidate was senior partner. Mr. Wilson told us that on the 7th of June, when Mr. Lawrence consented to become a candidate, the probable cost of the contest was discussed and that Mr. E. Lawrence consented to furnish 1,000*l.* Mr. H. T. Wilson thought the cost would probably be 2,000*l.* Part of the difference he proposed to contribute himself and part, 500*l.*, was to be contributed by Mr. John Lawrence. As the contest drew near Mr. H. T. Wilson saw the nature of it more clearly, and on Monday the 10th of July he knew that to ensure his candidate's return many votes must be bought, but before making any arrangements for contesting the election on that footing, he consulted Mr. Sharpe a solicitor at Lancaster, chairman of Mr. E. Lawrence's committee, as to whether he should bribe or conduct the election purely and afterwards, on petition, pray the seat. Mr. Sharpe recommended the latter course, but Mr. H. T. Wilson resolved on the former, and, in his own words, "determined to fight Schneider with his own weapons." They were the only weapons left to him, for at that time the Conservative party were quite as deeply steeped in corruption as their opponents, so much so that it would have been impossible for them to hide their misdeeds from a Committee of the House of Commons. To take one example out of many: on July the 7th, the Friday before this consultation, George Vince, an active Conservative partisan, paid 32 Morecambe voters 2*l.* each by way of a retaining fee. It remained, then, to continue the contest as it had been begun, and to provide for the very heavy expenditure this determination implied.

p. 277, ev., 15,749.

p. 278 ev., 15,823.

Mr. H. T. Wilson's financial agent in Liverpool, in all matters connected with this election, was W. E. Chambers, cashier to his firm, who died a few weeks before we began our inquiry. Mr. H. T. Wilson, however produced his books and pointed out to us all entries in them having reference to the Lancaster election. We extracted them as follows:—

This amount appears to have been entered as above in the cash-book of Mr. Wilson's firm as charged to the "suspense" account—an account containing those items which do not fall into any of the regular business payments or receipts, and which the cashier cannot charge to any of the usual business accounts, and therefore places to a separate account pending the direction of his principal. Against this sum of 3,018*l.* 13*s.* 6*d.* on the debit side of the suspense account, there appears on the credit side on "July 15 1865 "To J. T. Lawrence, 750*l.* 0*s.* 0*d.*" so that the account stands "3,018*l.* 13*s.* 6*d.*, less 750*l.* 0*s.* 0*d.*=2,268*l.* 13*s.* 6*d.*; which sum at the time of our investigation had not been settled as between Mr. Wilson and his partners, but for which he holds himself liable, and which may be regarded as his contribution to the Conservative resources.

Mr. John Toulmin Lawrence, brother of the candidate, told us that about the 1st of July 1865 he had a conversation with Mr. H. T. Wilson on the subject of the election expenses, in which Mr. H. T. Wilson estimated their amount at between 2,000*l.* and 3,000*l.* He added that the candidate declined to pay more than 1,000*l.*, and requested Mr. J. T. Lawrence to contribute. Mr. J. T. Lawrence expressed his readiness to furnish 500*l.*, or even a larger sum, if more should be required. He told us, further, that about a week before the election he left orders with Littlewood the cashier of their firm, to allow Mr. H. T. Wilson or his cashier to have whatever money they wanted; he did not limit the sum, but he says the amount to be drawn was based on an estimate that the election expenses would not exceed 3,000*l.* To what extent W. E. Chambers availed himself of Mr. J. T. Lawrence's permission appears from the following account furnished by Littlewood.

On November 15, 1865, this account was diminished by a payment of 1,000*l.* by Mr. John T. Lawrence, but in effect by Mr. E Lawrence, and became 3,150*l.* The next payment of 500*l.* was made on December 30th, but not entered to suspense account until 1866, when the account stands as follows:

at which amount it stood at the time of our inquiry.

As to the mode in which the account is to be settled it seems to be agreed between Mr. Edward and Mr. John T. Lawrence that it is to be equally divided between them, and as Mr. E. Lawrence pays in addition the 1,000*l.* originally proposed to be advanced by him, the sums paid by Mr. E. Lawrence, Mr. J. T. Lawrence, and Mr. H. T. Wilson respectively are as follows:

Mr. E. Lawrence - - - - - - -	2,901	1	0
Mr. J. T. Lawrence - - - - - -	1,901	1	0
Mr. H. T. Wilson - - - - - -	2,268	13	6
	£7,070	15	6

Before leaving this branch of our subject we propose to explain the mode in which the two first-mentioned sums in the above account were sent from Liverpool to Lancaster. The one of 400*l.* was paid by John Littlewood, cash-keeper to the firm of Edward Lawrence and Co. to Mr. T. E. Taylor, then a clerk and now a partner in that firm, the initials E. L. being intended by the cash-keeper at the time he made the payment to stand for Edward Lawrence. It does not seem, however, that Mr. Taylor had authority from Mr. E. Lawrence to procure 400*l.* for him from his firm, or that he ever represented that he had. Littlewood told us that he used those initials on his own assumption that the money was required for the use of Mr. Lawrence. That money Mr. Taylor brought to Lancaster in sovereigns in a bag and handed to Wilson Barker.

The sum of 2,000*l.* was procured on the 11th of July from Littlewood, partly in notes and partly in gold, by Robert Tronson, the manager of the firm of E. Lawrence and Co., who procured it at the request of and paid it over to W. E. Chambers, by the hand of Robert Hagart, a clerk in the office of E. Lawrence and Co. Chambers gave 4 bags, each containing 500 sovereigns, to P. Wollaston and others, who brought them to Lancaster, and deposited them with Wilson Barker.

The machinery by which these sums were passed from the pockets of the candidates and their friends into those of the voters were much the same on either side. Each had a cashier to whom was entrusted the whole of the funds employed. The borough and country within the circuit of seven miles were divided into districts, over each of which was set an officer called a "captain," who dealt directly with the cashier, and drew from him the money required within the district allotted to his charge. Under the captains were "sub-captains," who looked after sub-divisions of the district, or particular families, or knots of voters working under the same employer. To these were joined a staff of assistants, and sub-assistants, whose duty it was to treat and drink with the voters and collect them at the critical times of payment and voting.

It is due to the chief captains on either side to say that they discharged the shameful work in which they had engaged with zeal and fidelity. Very few received remuneration. On the Conservative side were five chief captains clearly marked off from all subordinates. Their services were all gratuitous. The Liberals divided their ground into many more districts, requiring a corresponding number of captains, and rendering it more difficult to draw a line separating chiefs from subalterns.

On either side was a kind of ostensible committee. Mr. Wm. Jackson, a cotton spinner and a director of the Lancaster Banking Company, was chairman of the Liberal,

Mr. Sharpe, an attorney, of the Conservative committee. But the real direction of the contest was in the hands, on the Liberal side, of Henry Welch, Stephen Wright Wearing, and Charles Blades; on the Conservatives, of Mr. H. T. Wilson and the five chief captains, George Christopher Clark, William Storey, John Cross, James Hatch and Richard Coupland. The Liberal directors sat in an upper room in the "Queen's Hotel." Thither on the evening of the 11th, and throughout the eventful 12th, the captains flocked, with news from their districts of the doings of the enemy, desertions, gains, and actual and probable price of votes, and thence the means of their purchase flowed in a never failing stream. The Conservatives certainly consulted on like subjects, but their method was something different, and they do not seem on the election day to have been under the control of a decided central authority. Each captain seems to have been supreme within his district, but though their outlay far exceeded their anticipations, their bank never stopped payment, and on the evening of the 12th Wilson Barker returned untouched to the Lancaster Banking Company the 500*l.* which he had prepared as a reserve.

We have spoken of a make-believe canvass carried on by the candidates and their supporters. The real canvass was a very different matter. About three weeks before the election the emissaries of either party began to go among the lower class of electors, assemble them at public-houses, treat them, and discuss the merits of the respective candidates. Among voters of this class the whole affair was regarded as a contest between Liverpool and Barrow. If Lawrence was wealthy, so was Schneider. There would be a great advance in the price of votes. They would decide for whom to vote when the time drew nearer, and when the time drew nearer there was no shame, nor even the flimsy disguise of cant words. They ran from one party to the other, proclaiming the last offer, demanding an increase, avowing that they were for the highest bidder. One witness tells us the terms used were those of a cattle market, only that "the beasts sold themselves." p. 76 ev. 3806.

Nothing can be more degrading than the effect of this sort of canvass on voters of the class we have described: they struck work, they spent the nights in public-houses and the days in wandering about begging from the known assistants on either side a few shillings, to enable them to continue their debauch. One witness describes how he kept a small sum by him in a drawer for the low voters who came to him from time to time for a shilling or two to "fuddle" with when they were dry of a morning. The amounts spent in this manner must have been enormous; the Liberal party alone, had over forty public and beer-houses in Lancaster, and four in the adjoining village of Skerton. We cannot ascertain the number of those opened in the surrounding villages, but we doubt if there was a house not engaged on one side or the other, and this bears out Henry Welch's statement, which at first seemed incredible, that he spent over 1,000*l.* before the election in small sums for canvassing expenses, and that of 1,300*l.*, which remained to him at the close of the poll, about 1,000*l.* was paid to discharge outstanding public-house accounts.

One form of corruption practised by both sides alike was the employment of a number of the lowest class of voters, on what was called "a committee." On the Liberal side the committee was paid by Mr. W. Tilly and R. P. Moser; on the Conservative side by Mr. Gibson, and Geo. Danson an auctioneer who told us that it was an old Lancaster custom for the freemen to be put on committee, and that if they had not done so, and paid them accordingly, they would have gone to the other side. He adds that he paid 48 on the 1st of July and 160 on the 8th; they were all working men earning weekly wages; they were paid weekly each Saturday night, at the rate of 5*s.* a day; many were on the committees on both sides; they did nothing towards the forwarding the candidates' election, but Danson told us they caught men whom he could not find when canvassing; they went about at night drinking at the district committee-rooms, where, no doubt, they were treated by the sub-captains and assistants on either side. We inquired of many witnesses what took place at these meetings, and met but with one answer—drinking, drinking, drinking.

On either side were enrolled a large number of stout fellows, called staffmen, to escort the candidates on the nomination day, cheer, hold up their hands, and "keep order;" these men were not voters, nor were they selected with a view of influencing voters, nor do they seem to us to have been of the slightest use, unless as a means of swelling the public-house bills. One witness named Hadfield, a Liberal, speaks to paying 53*l.* 10*s.* for 68 of them in one district; Thomas Cleminson, a prominent Liberal captain, to paying for breakfasts for a body of 56 in another district, and on the same side, Col. Yeadell, a retired Indian officer, officiously, it is true, and without any authority, enlisted a body of over 140 to whom he paid 10*s.* a piece, and to their 14 "captains" 12*s.* 6*d.* each for their two days' services. Henry Welch tells us that as many were employed by the Conservative as by the Liberal party, a conclusion not borne out by the evidence of the Conservative captains. But we soon ceased to prosecute our inquiries on this head, as we were convinced that the staffmen were a mere idle, useless expense, without any influence on the result of the election. We may here mention that we were assured that the election was a remarkably quiet and good-humoured one—a circumstance which we think reflects more credit on the good temper of the hired than on the sense of the hirers.

Very little concealment was affected in the payment of voters. Most of the Liberal captains dealt directly with their voters, though there were some exceptions. Baines, Slater, and Hosking, the two latter in the employment of Messrs. Schneider, Hannay, and Co., came over from Barrow, and Tinker, late one of Henry Welch's shopmen, from Liverpool, to assist in bribing on the Liberal side. From the manner in which they conducted their operations we can scarcely imagine that secrecy was the object aimed at, but perhaps greater accuracy in account was attained by their employment.

When Mr. H. T. Wilson and the Conservative captains found that bribery on their side was to be such a serious affair, it was arranged to engage the assistance of strangers from Liverpool. At Mr. H. T. Wilson's instance one Maddock, who plays a most discreditable part in this history, some days before the election had been staying at Morecambe as a sort of spy. A Mr. T. E. Taylor, now Mr. E. Lawrence's partner, and then late his agent at Nassau, had also been in Lancaster a few days before the election. On Monday, July the 10th, Mr. Wilson's brother-in-law, Isaac Jackson, came over; and on the 11th, R. Hagart, a clerk in the employment of Messrs. E. Lawrence and Company, Wollaston, Scanlan, Eaves, Pace, Bakewell, Nelson, and Connor, all but the last then clerks in the office of Messrs. Wilson and Cunningham, came from Liverpool by the direction of Mr. H. T. Wilson, to assist in the election.

Some of the Liberal and all the Conservative captains availed themselves of the services of one of the above gentlemen as paymaster. The paymaster and the captain met by appointment at some publichouse early on the morning of the election; the latter, with the money, was shown into an upper room, the door of which was guarded. The voters were collected in some other room. The sub-captain introduced the voter to the captain, who then gave the voter a paper, on which was written the consideration agreed on. The voter was ushered upstairs; as he entered the room his name was announced; he presented his paper and received his bribe from the hand of the stranger, who kept the papers as vouchers, and at the close of the business made up his book from them and accounted to his cashier.

It would be impossible in this report to give a full account of the proceedings of each captain and his manner of dealing with his company of voters; such an account would present a list of names of persons and places unintelligible without local knowledge and wearying from its sameness. But we think our report would be imperfect if it did not present a few samples of the scenes which were described to us, by way of filling in the general outline, which we have endeavoured to give of the mode in which the election was conducted.

Skerton is a village on the northern side of the Lune, forming a part of the Parliamentary borough of Lancaster; it has 1,500 inhabitants, of whom 62 are voters, 36 being freemen and 26 householders. Just over the bridge on the left hand side, going north from Lancaster, is the "Red Cross," the head-quarters of the Liberal party, standing at the angle formed by the road and the river. Exactly opposite is the "Black Bull," the principal Conservative house; there are four other publichouses or beershops, three of which were engaged by the Liberals and one by the Conservatives. William Towers, a grocer, was the Liberal captain; his assistants were Thomas Roberts, Edmund Boardley, Richard Garth, John Ireland, and Thomas Wilson. He had received above 170*l.* from Henry Welch. C. Blades had told him their side could "win in a gallop" at 6*l.* a head. With this impression he went over to Skerton on the night before the polling and took up his quarters at the "Black Horse." He was soon disabused. Thomas Knowles, a 10*l.* householder living in his own house, who had promised to vote for the Liberals, demanded 100*l.* for himself and six others. James Redhead and Robert Wilson, who had made like promises, refused to vote for less than 12*l.* each, while John Cowperthwaite, John Lamb and William Lamb were unwilling to poll for the bribe agreed on. Thus pressed, Towers sent Thomas Wilson for instructions to the three who sat at the "Queen's"; at 5 in the morning he returned, with orders for Towers to use his discretion; votes must not be lost. He accordingly raised his price, but found he had come too late into the market, and that several of those on whom he relied were irretrievably gone. He took the most insecure to the poll in carriages as early as he could, and having procured a further supply of money, came back for the others. Thomas Wilson acted as stakeholder, and paid each man after he had voted. Towers told us that he preferred to offer the money as for services rendered, and added, with some pride, that he did not pay one voter before he had polled.

The Conservative interests in Skerton were entrusted to James Carruthers, William Atkinson and Robert Aldren, but the funds were in the hands of Bakewell, one of Mr. H. T. Wilson's importations from Liverpool, who gave the following account of his doings on the nomination day and morning of the polling. After delivering up his parcel of sovereigns which he had brought with him from Liverpool to the "official" at the "King's Arms," he went, by Mr. H. T. Wilson's request, to the committee room at the "Royal Oak," and was there introduced to the Conservative captain of the Skerton district; he went with him to Skerton, and after looking up the voters, had them all assembled and comfortably at supper at the "Black Bull" by about 1 o'clock on the morning of the 12th. On the election morning he rose at 5, and went to the "King's Arms," where he inquired for Mr. H. T. Wilson. Not finding him, he went across to W. Barker's, and having procured 150*l.*, returned to the "Black Bull," to a room upstairs. Voters soon flocked to him, introduced by the captain, whom he believed to be Carruthers. As he paid each voter the sum mentioned by the captain, he took down his name with the amount of the bribe, and produced his original account before us. He, too, complained that after having bargained for 5*l.* "in the early part," the demand was suddenly raised. He paid G. Wilson for himself and five others 72*l.* Wilson came into the room and bargained for himself and the other five, who were "in a hand" with him; he said the enemy had got into their camp and were offering from 12*l.* to 15*l.*, and that if Bakewell would not pay him 12*l.* he and the others would vote the other way. Bakewell, after some demur, being overruled by the captain, consented, and 12*l.* became the ruling price. T. Knowles got that sum, as did also Matthew Bailey, whom Towers thought to have polled for nothing, and Bakewell had to draw from the cashier a further supply of 150*l.* He would have done well to have imitated Towers' prudence. H. Smith was picked up on his way to the poll, and on being promised 15*l.* by Whiteside, a Liberal captain, he voted for Fenwick and Schneider. The total sum which this man Smith received from both sides was 30*l.* Two others were enabled to extort a further 10*l.* each from other Conservative paymasters. Bakewell finished paying his voters at 2 p.m. He then made over a balance of 9*l.* 5*s.* to Wilson Barker and returned the same night to Liverpool. Of the 26 householders in Skerton 16 were bribed; of the 36 freemen three did not vote, and 27 were bribed.

p. 251, ev., 14,286.

Morecambe, or as it was till lately called, Poulton-le-Sands, is a large village on the coast four miles from Lancaster, much used as a watering place; it has greatly increased since it has become connected by railways with the neighbouring large towns. 68 freemen live there, mostly fishermen and boatmen, and have earned the reputation of being the most venal part of the constituency. Robert Shackleton was the Liberal manager, and the "Joiners' Arms," kept by Daniel Edmondson (who had changed sides since the last election for very sufficient reasons) was the principal scene of his labours, but accounts for treating voters were opened at the "Chieftain Inn," the "Queen's Hotel," the "Ship Inn," and the "New Inn." A fortnight or so before the election, Shackleton began to speak on the subject of it to the freemen whom he met, to collect, and treat them, the demands and actual payments increasing as the time drew near. He thus spent 50*l.* He sat up all the night of the 11th at the "Joiners' Arms;" at one time 40 freemen were there, drinking and bargaining for the sale of their votes. The price then offered was 10*l.*, but many of them kept saying they could do better elsewhere; nothing could be done without ready money. Shortly before midnight a person of the name of Carruthers, who was not a voter, but was then practising at Morecambe as a doctor of medicine, and Christopher Hartley walked to Lancaster, and returned with Baines, who, before starting, had received 200*l.* in a room at the "Queen's," in which were Welch, Wearing, C. Blades, and G. Cleminson. At 6 in the morning he began to pay it away in an upper room at the "Joiners' Arms;" the mode adopted was the usual one. Shackleton wrote the voter's name and price on a slip of tobacco-paper; Baines, for the nonce called "Jenkins," paid the sum written, varying from 8*l.* to 15*l.*, and kept the papers as his voucher. He had paid his last voter by 9 a.m.; the voters were taken in carriages to Lancaster, and Baines followed in the last, and accounted to Henry Welch. Shackleton told us the gross amount he received was 241*l.* 9*s.* 11*d.*, which, with the 200*l.* paid as above described, by Baines, proves that at least 441*l.* 9*s.* 11*d.* was spent at Morecambe on the Liberal side.

The Conservatives had many active partisans, Vince, Bulfield, Procter, Connor, Curwen, but undoubtedly their mainstay was Mrs. Isabella Willacy, of the "King's Arms." From her we learnt that not much was done on that side till the Friday before the election (Friday, July 7th), on which day Vince came from Lancaster, and learnt from Daniel Edmondson, of the "Joiners' Arms," that Shackleton proposed to pay the voters there on the next day; he consulted Mrs. Willacy and was advised by her to "be in before them;" accordingly he paid 31 Morecambe voters 2*l.* each, as a kind of earnest to keep them in good humour till the bargain could be clinched by the payment of the balance of their demand.

The great bulk of money intended for the payment of voters was taken down from Lancaster, by William Connor, of Liverpool, who describes himself as out-door manager of some steamships; he came over to Lancaster on Monday, July 10th, and on the afternoon of the ensuing day, by the desire of Mr. H. T. Wilson, went to Wilson Barker, and having received 400*l.* from him, proceeded to Morecambe in an omnibus and four, "with a lot of gentlemen." He gave Mrs. Willacy 150*l.* that night, and the same sum next morning, and took her receipt for the amounts; he paid away besides in Lancaster 76*l.*, almost all to voters with Morecambe names, and which therefore may be regarded as part of the Morecambe expenses.

	£	s.	d.
Mrs. Willacy paid 31 voters - - - - -	288	7	6
Other payments - - - - - -	14	14	0
Connor as above - - - - - -	76	0	0
Vince, at least - - - - - -	70	0	0
Mrs. Willacy's bill - - - - - -	37	11	0

But, besides this, many small sums were given as sops to the voters, and spent in treating them, so that we cannot doubt that the Morecambe expenses on the Conservative side exceeded 500*l.*

By the confession of both parties not more than 12, or at the outside 13 Morecambe freemen voted without being bribed, or in other words, 55 out of the 68 were paid for their votes; nor is this disgraceful proportion varied in the neighbouring townships. At Heysham 17 freemen were bribed out of 20; at Middleton of five all were bribed, and at Overton 15 were bribed out of 17, or only five were pure out of 42 voters, making the number of bribed in these townships 92 out of 110 voters.

Before we leave the country we will name some of the principal bribers on the Liberal side. E. P. Hutchinson on the morning of the polling day spent a sum of about 110*l.* in bribing 12 or 13 Heysham and Middleton voters. The whole cost of the district would be about 125*l.* John Albright worked the adjoining township of Overton, his nine freemen cost 74*l.* in direct bribes, the cost of the district altogether would probably be something under 100*l.* Josiah Ball and William Jackson managed Scotforth; their payments to nine voters amounted to 84*l.*, the cost of the township to about 100*l.*, Edward Bradshaw, a tanner, at Farington, near Preston, paid the Galgate voters. He secured 15 out of the 29 on the register, to whom he paid in bribes 136*l.* 10*s.*, the other expenses of the district would make up the amount to about 170*l.*

John Birchall, of Glasson dock, agent to the Lancaster Canal Company, took charge of the surrounding district on the same side; he received about 65*l.*, almost all of which he paid away in bribing 10 voters.

An episode in this part of our inquiry shows how electoral corruption is connected with those coarser and commoner forms of criminality which bring their perpetrators to the dock and the treadmill. Associated with John Birchall was a draper in the town named Henry Rawes, a man apparently in a good business. On his first examination before us he swore that he received on the day of the election 40*l.* from Welch. He professed to account for a part of it by describing with much circumstance how he had bribed two voters, named John Towers and Thomas Parker, with 7*l.* 10*s.* each. They denied it, and on being confronted with them, he admitted that he had sworn falsely on his former examination, that he had kept the money himself, and paid it back on the 7th September, ten days after the commencement of our Inquiry. p. 92., ev., 4670, et seq. p. 453, ev., 26,273, et seq.

R. W. Blades paid away about 165*l.* in Caton and Brookhouse, 60*l.* in bribing seven voters. Carnforth and Warton were intrusted to Joseph Wilson, formerly a tailor in Lancaster and a local preacher, we do not know of what denomination. Welch stated that he gave him about 130*l.* The sum must, however, have been much larger. He bribed 12 voters at prices varying from 5*l.* to 15*l.*, mostly, however, the latter sum.

And here we must notice a matter arising incidentally from our Inquiry, though not necessarily within the scope of it. On the hearing of the Lancaster Election Petition before the committee of the House of Commons, Joseph Wilson, Richard and Thomas Whormby, John and Thomas Mashiter, and Thomas Harrison Stirzaker were summoned as witnesses. Joseph Wilson left home to avoid being served with the Speaker's warrant; he was absent a month. He received for his support during his absence 10*l.* from Henry Welch; that is in effect from the then sitting members, though, we presume, without their knowledge. The Committee, deceived by representations which we now know to have been false, excused the Whormby's from attending before them. John Mashiter, Thomas Mashiter and T. H. Stirzaker denied before the Committee having received any money whatever in respect of their votes; but before us, both Wilson swore and they confessed, that he had bribed them, the two Mashiters by payments of 15*l.* each, Stirzaker by a payment of 11*l.* 10*s.*, and the two Whormby's by payment of 15*l.* each. We beg leave to point out the great improbability that persons unconnected by any tie except that of being paid by a common briber should unite to perjure themselves, in a matter too in which they had but a slight personal interest, unless they were moved and tutored thereto by some other person; and we think that the evidence points to Joseph Wilson as being that person, and that it was by his contrivance, concerted and agreed among them, that Wilson should absent himself, and they should perjure themselves with a view to baffle and mislead the committee and to prevent their coming to a right finding.

p. 558, ev., 32,369.

The town itself was divided by the Liberals into twelve districts. We propose only to mention some of the most prominent captains, with the numbers of voters bribed by them, and the amounts paid. Arthur Cole, book-keeper to the Messrs. Williamson, oilcloth manufacturers, gave us a list of 21 voters who were paid 10*l.* each in a publichouse on the Quay. The money was paid by the hand of William Slater, farm bailiff to Mr. R. Hannay, Mr. Schneider's late partner, in the manner we have had so many occasions to describe. John Bleasdale, a grocer, and John Marsden, a brushmaker, took charge of the Liberal interest in Penny Street; the former bribed 18, the latter 14 voters, at a cost of 150*l.* and 140*l.* respectively; they both received remuneration for their services. King, a reporter, Edward Johnson, and Robert Whiteside were concerned together in the Edward Street district: they bribed 14, 9, and 6 voters, at a cost of 130*l.*, 85*l.*, and 50*l.* respectively. Anthony Knowles Allinson, of the "Golden Lion," Moor Lane, retained the 41 houses of entertainment hired by the Liberal party in Lancaster. Though he had no district assigned him, he earned the distinction of being the most active briber on the Liberal side. He gave us a list of 40 voters whom he had bribed, at a cost of about 350*l.*; he received for the purpose 361*l.*, of which the balance was paid in treating and incidental expenses; he was paid besides 26*l.* 5*s.* for his services. The last names we mention in our account of the bribery of the Liberal party are those of Thomas Cleminson, Richard Cleminson, and William Stewardson. The first spent 140*l.* with very little direct result; and the second, with an expense of 45*l.*, realized seven votes for his party. We mention the last mainly because he conducted the Liberal candidates on their canvass, and seems to have made an illegal payment by the direction of Mr. Schneider himself. He received altogether about 60*l.*, bribed four voters, exclusive of the one above alluded to, and had a present of 26*l.* 5*s.* for his services and vote. To extend our list of Liberal bribers, would be little else than an anticipation of our schedule.

p. 109, ev. 10,945.

On the Conservative side the country voters were, as a rule, paid in the manner we have explained in the cases of Morecambe and Skerton. One of the Liverpool clerks acted as paymaster, attended by some one having local knowledge. Thus Maddock, having received 200*l.* from Wilson Barker, went to Heaton and Overton, conducted by Henry Gorst, a provision dealer of Lancaster and William Thompson of Overton. He bribed, on the evening of July 11th, 22 voters; his price was generally 10*l.* a head. The next morning he obtained 250*l.* from Wilson Barker, as to the expenditure of which he gave so foolish and incredible an account as to leave no doubt on our minds that he had converted it to his own use. On the same evening, in like manner, Wollaston accompanied Halstead to Scotforth; he there purchased five votes at a total price of 42*l.* 10*s.* Richard Eaves, received on the evening of the nomination day, 35*l.* from Wilson Barker. He proceeded to Conder Green, where he met a man named Holmes, under whose direction he paid altogether nine voters, principally sums of 3*l.* 3*s.*

Seven voters at Quernmore and the neighbourhood were paid under the superintendence of T. Cranston, steward to Mr. Garnett, late M.P. for Lancaster. The Heysham voters on the Conservative side, six in number, were paid at Heysham by James Hatch, one of the Conservative captains; the rest of the country freemen were mostly paid in town under the superintendence of the other four Conservative captains, G. C. Clark, Richard Coupland, John Cross, and Storey. The first, the proprietor of the "Lancaster Gazette," a Conservative newspaper, acted as sub-cashier to Wilson Barker and received from him 778*l.* 3*s.* 6*d.* Of this sum he distributed 592*l.* to the captains of other districts and their inferior agents, to be spent in preliminary expenses, paying amongst others to William Storey 105*l.*, to Cross 100*l.*, and to Coupland 90*l.*, which sums appear in their respective accounts. With regard to direct bribery, Clark gave us the following account of the way in which the affair was managed. He met at the "King's Arms," Thomas Scanlan, who said he had come to do a little business for him. Clark took him to the "White Cross," in Penny Street, between 5 and 6 in the morning of the 12th; they sat in separate rooms, and as each district captain came in he told Clark what the men wanted for voting. Clark then wrote the name and price of each on a ticket, at the same time marking the amount against the voter's name in the register. The district captain gave the ticket to the voter, who then went into the room where the stranger sat alone, and there received his money. This went on from 8 in the morning till 4 in the afternoon; 58 voters were thus paid a gross sum of 518*l.* By far the larger number received 10*l.*; none more. The above payments were made out of a sum of 650*l.*, which Scanlan received during the polling day, from Wilson Barker, in three separate sums; he returned 118*l.* 10*s.* Clark's principal assistant was Robert Lawson, a land surveyor, who canvassed the country voters living in Clark's district, and Henry High, William Speight, John Speight, and James Wilson, who were paid by him after the election the sums affixed to their names in the appended schedule.

William Storey, a cotton and American cloth manufacturer presided over district No. 1. The total amount which he received was 175*l.*; 105*l.* from G. C. Clark, and 70*l.* from Wilson Barker. This sum was mostly dispensed to lesser distributors for the usual preliminary expenses. He told us of two voters only bribed by himself, at a cost of 20*l.*, and of these one voted against him. On the day of battle he left the charge of his company to his lieutenant, Stanton, and his paymaster, Pace. At 7 on the morning Pace repaired to an upstairs room in the "Sun Inn;" the usual course was pursued; Stanton was assisted by Thomas Capstick, W. A. Greenall, William Bond, and Thomas Procter, who brought the voters to the "Sun." Stanton made his bargain with them, one by one, in the billiard-room, whence they were conducted to Pace and paid. Pace received 534*l.* from W. Barker, of which sum he returned 6*l.* 58 voters received direct bribes; those paid colourably, as for assistance, tavern bills, use of their houses, and the like, run up the total number bribed by the Conservatives in this district to about 65.

John Cross and James Hatch took charge of districts Nos. 2 and 3. Hatch confined his exertions to the country, and, as far as the town was concerned the two districts were treated as one. Cross received 655*l.*: 100*l.* from G. C. Clark; 550*l.* from Wilson Barker on the 11th July, and 5*l.* on the 14th of May, 1866; 100*l.* was spent before the election. On the 12th of July, the paymaster was Hagart, who paid the voters, under Cross's direction, in part at their own houses on the evening of the 11th July, and in part at the "Golden Ball," on the following day. 475*l.* was spent in bribing 58 voters, and 75*l.* returned to Wilson Barker. To those directly bribed must be added four innkeepers whose houses were hired as committee rooms at 10*l.* each, which raised the number of town voters bribed by the Conservatives in these two districts to 62. T. P. Standen, Lodge Street, and Thomas Foster, of China Lane, were Cross's principal assistants.

Richard Coupland, an upholsterer, took the command of district No 5. About 240*l.* was received by him and disbursed in preparations; on the decisive day he took his post at the "Boar's Head," with his military chest in charge of T. E. Taylor; 505*l.* was spent in bribing 46 voters. It may be worth while to mention that four butchers asked and received "a score" each for their votes, being the largest sum received as a bribe in one payment, of which we have any account, and generally Coupland seems to have been the most profuse of any briber on either side. But the other expenses of the district were comparatively small, only one publichouse, and "no staffmen" but those paid by the election expenses agent. Here we close our account of the Conservative chief captains, of whom, however, it is but fair to add that they all served gratuitously and accounted to the last farthing. p. 398. ev. 22,939.

The name of George Danson, an auctioneer living at Lancaster, was brought very prominently before us as "leading the canvass" on the Conservative side; he had charge also of the "committees" and seems to have been busy everywhere, and to have occupied a position something analogous to that of A. K. Allinson on the Liberal side. The large sum of 688*l.* 0*s.* 0*d.* including his fee of 50*l.* came to his hands.

His account is, that he paid—	£	s.	d.
July 1st (committee)	39	12	6
„ 8th Ditto	219	7	6
Treating, journies, &c.	33	0	0
July 12th 30 voters	317	10	0

leaving 28*l.* 10*s.* 0*d.* unaccounted for. He kept no memoranda and rendered no account to Wilson Barker; those whom he named as recipients of money paid for alleged services as committee men, in very many instances denied having received the amount set down to them; some stating that they had not received anything; and as it was not worth the time it would have taken to investigate the difference, we cannot append the list he gave us of "committee men" with payment to each, as being an undisputed account. We are satisfied, however, that about the numbers he has given us were enrolled as "committee men" and did receive something approaching the sums named by him. About noon six voters came to him from the other side and demanded 15*l.* each; he bargained with them for 12*l.* and paid them, and they voted accordingly.

The next account we propose to give of wholesale bribery on the Conservative side, took place at the house of Robert Hodgson, the "Lord Nelson," China Lane. Hodgson said that on the evening of the 11th, Mr. H. T. Wilson told him he would send a stranger to his house next morning to pay the voters from Slyne, Bolton, Bare, and other neighbouring villages. Accordingly Isaac Jackson, Mr. H. T. Wilson's brother-in-law, and Wollaston, proceeded there on the morning of the election. The voters were mainly introduced by Hodgson, who himself received the money for them. We may here observe that the strangers do not accurately know the bribed voters' names and we cannot rely on Hodgson's evidence. Wollaston received—

which he paid away in the following manner :—

	£	s.	d.
July 11th, at Scotforth	47	0	0

	£1,142	0	0

by which it would seem that Wollaston paid 12*l.* more than he received, but the inaccuracy is not very important in so large a sum spent in such a manner. During Wollaston's absence to obtain further supplies, Isaac Jackson took his place; he paid away 180*l.* The largest bribe he gave was one of 12*l.*, but with that exception nothing over 10*l.* He was able to give us the names of but few whom he paid, but it would seem that he must have bribed about 18. Hodgson gave us a list of the names of 31 voters bribed at his house, which he told us was made out from memory; in truth it was made out on the very morning on which we examined him, and we found him to be a most untrustworthy witness.

The gross sums which we find to have been expended were:

On the Liberal side	£7,459	14	2
On the Conservative side	7,070	15	6
Total	£14,530	9	8

Besides these sums, which we have thus traced, some small amounts were expended by volunteers on either side, principally in treating; they were, however, too trifling to demand further notice.

In the above narrative we have endeavoured, without aiming at minuteness of detail, to give a clear general view of the course of procedure adopted by both parties at this election. We have shown the sources whence flowed that stream of corruption which saturated the borough; we have traced its descent through each intermediate channel of distribution till it was spread and dispersed among its thirsty and venal recipients. We have now to point out by name those on whom rests the guilt of thus debauching and degrading the constituency; we have no hesitation in affixing this stigma on Messrs. Fenwick and Schneider, nor of adding that, with regard to the latter at least, a deliberate and long-formed determination had existed of carrying his election at any cost, by corrupt means and in defiance of the law. The very gold destined to be used in bribing in several instances passed through these gentlemen's hands on its way to those who were then engaged in bribing on their behalf, thus conclusively establishing their personal knowledge of, and privity to the manner in which their election was being conducted. We forbore to summon them as witnesses, both because they could add little or nothing to the information we had already received, and because we were unwilling to place them in a position to demand from us a certificate which might have the effect of shielding them from the consequences which their conduct seemed to us to have deserved. We, however, offered them the opportunity of making voluntary statements before us, of which Mr. Fenwick availed himself, but we have been unable to extract from his statement any matter which could vary the testimony we had already received, or throw any new light on the subject of our Inquiry.

Beyond all question, the Conservatives as a body, were quite as guilty as the Liberals, yet, as we had no evidence to connect Mr. Lawrence with bribery in the same sense as the late sitting members were connected, that is, by direct personal action, and as it was only by a strict examination of him that we could hope to arrive at a true conclusion upon this point, we felt that we should not be justified in abstaining from calling him; and we cannot find, either from other evidence or from his own, any proof that he was cognizant of the acts of bribery committed in his name. We do not wish to be understood as acquitting him from all blame; we cannot but think that, from his own account, he surrendered his own judgment and followed his "injudicious friends" with a too passive submission. We cannot but think that, to a man dwelling in Liverpool, versed in politics, the character of the borough of Lancaster, even at that time but too well known, should have raised a spirit of inquiry. We think also that he did contemplate the expenditure of a sum, indefinite, though within limits, yet in excess of what he must have conceived a perfectly pure election could cost. We think, too, the aspect of the town as described to us by his general agent, Mr. Clark, should have caused inquiry on his part. On the other hand it is proved that he did clearly give his supporters to understand that he would contribute no more than 1,000*l.* and that he did not in fact at any time intend to contribute more than that sum, and that the above-mentioned payments of money by the firm of E. Lawrence & Co. were made during his absence and were, in fact, without his knowledge and consent. p. 486, 28,124.

On the Conservative side the guilt of originating a corrupt expenditure rests upon Mr. H. T. Wilson. He knew what a Lancaster election was, and had sent gold from Liverpool to aid in a former contest. We do not doubt that, when he undertook the conduct of the election, he was aware that it would be a corrupt one, and was prepared from the first to bribe, and for that purpose furnished the funds to Wilson Barker, in whose accounts every item, except perhaps the "400*l.* per T. E. Taylor," is clearly traced to his intervention. Moreover, as we have before said, he arranged to bring over from Liverpool those gentlemen whom we have called paymasters, and he assigned to each his part. In short, he took the direction of the illegal part of the election, and for the consequences he is in the first degree responsible.

Though this election, into which we have been directed by Your Majesty to inquire, far surpasses all its predecessors in amount of expenditure and of individual bribes, and thus the deluge of corruption has been both more universal and has reached a higher level of society than ever before, we have plenty of direct evidence that former elections have been very corrupt. We do not wish, however, to rely on such evidence as has cropped out, as it were, in the course of our proper inquiry; we would rather take our stand on the mass of facts proved before us in investigating the circumstances of the election of July 1865. Whether we look to the numbers of the bribers or of the bribed, or at the readiness, zeal, and system with which their operations have been carried on, it is clear that the former were well versed in all the arts of corruption, and the latter debased by long-standing habits of venality.

As in the course of our Inquiry we have examined almost every elector for the borough of Lancaster, we have thought it desirable to adopt the course of publishing the Register of the Voters for the year of the election. This course has enabled us to distinguish, in the first place, those who received money for any purpose connected with the election from those who did not; and, in the next place, as regards the former, to show for what purpose, and from which political party, money was received; and, also, the trade and occupation of each voter, as described on the register.

It now only remains for us to report to Your Majesty what we find in reference to the matter into which we were directed to inquire.

We find that corrupt practices very extensively prevailed at the election of July 1865.

We find that 843 persons were guilty of bribery at the said election by receiving money or other valuable consideration for having given, or to induce them to give, their votes.

We find that a further number of 139 persons were guilty of corrupt practices at the said election by corruptly giving or promising money or other valuable consideration to voters for the purchase of their votes, or on account of their having voted, or by corruptly advancing money for the purpose of bribery, or by treating; and we further find that of the said 139 persons 89 were electors and 50 (named in Schedule B of this Report) were not voters for the Borough.

Finally, we report to Your Majesty that, with rare exceptions, corrupt practices have for a long time prevailed at contested elections for members to serve in Parliament for the Borough of Lancaster.

All which we humbly submit to Your Majesty's gracious consideration.

MINUTES OF EVIDENCE

TAKEN BEFORE

THOMAS IRWIN BARSTOW, Esq., ROBERT MILNES NEWTON, Esq.,
and ALEXANDER STAVELEY HILL, Esq.,

Commissioners appointed to inquire into the Existence of Corrupt Practices at the last Election for Members to serve in Parliament

FOR THE

BOROUGH OF LANCASTER,

AT THE SHIRE HALL, LANCASTER CASTLE.

JAMES HENRY PATTESON, Secretary.

FIRST DAY.

Lancaster Castle, Monday, 27th August 1866.

PRESENT:

MR. BARSTOW. | MR. NEWTON.
MR. HILL.

The Commission is read by the Secretary.

FRANCIS NEATE WALSH and EDWARD MORTON WALSH are sworn as Shorthand Writers to the Commissioners.

Mr. THOMAS SWAINSON sworn and examined.

1. (Mr. Barstow.) You are Town Clerk for this borough?—I am.

2. And you have been so for some years?—Since March 1858.

3. Can you inform us of what districts the borough of Lancaster is composed?—Do you mean the Parliamentary borough?

4. Yes.—The Parliamentary borough is composed of the old borough of Lancaster, with the addition of a portion of the adjoining township of Bulk, and a portion also of the adjoining township of Skerton: the old Parliamentary borough as shown upon the map which I hold in my hand, and which I will hand in, is surrounded by the red colour, and the Parliamentary borough which is composed as I have described is shown by the district surrounded by the blue colour. (The map is put in.)

5. Can you give us the population of the borough in 1831, 1841, 1851, and 1861?—I can give you the populations both of the municipal and Parliamentary borough in the years 1851 and 1861.

6. The Parliamentary borough will be sufficient?—The population of the Parliamentary borough in 1851 was 16,168, and in 1861 it was 16,005.

7. What is the present trade of the borough?—The main trades are connected with cotton, silk, oil-cloth making, furniture, the building trade generally, the corn trade, iron foundries, and very recently iron shipbuilding and railway waggon works. I may mention that since the census of 1861 the two last-mentioned trades, the ship building and waggon trade, have been commenced here, and have resulted, no doubt, in a considerable increase of the population.

8. What should you say was the state of trade at present in Lancaster?—It is improving, certainly.

9. Is there any means of knowing what the increase of the population has been since the year 1861?—I think a judgment may be formed perhaps by those connected with the Poor Law Office here; I think that the gentleman who is the clerk to the Board of Guardians here, and who takes a great interest in statistics of that class, would be able to give you a very tolerable approximation.

10. Can you tell us, to begin with, the number of houses in the borough that are inhabited?—In 1861, when the census was taken, the inhabited houses in Lancaster were 2,680, in Bulk 8, and in Skerton 303.

11. What was the number of uninhabited houses at that time?—In Lancaster 264, in Bulk none, and in Skerton 35.

12. Have you any means of informing us whether the number is diminishing at present?—I should say that the number of inhabited houses has increased; I ought to add that in the same year, 1861, there were in the course of erection 32 houses in Lancaster, and none, I observe, in the other two places.

13. Can you tell us the gross number of voters on the register for the last year when the election took place?—The gross number in July, 1865, when the last election took place, was 1,419.

14. What number of those were householders?—439.

15. Were any of those who were on the register of householders freemen as well?—In December of last year, 1865, a Parliamentary return was made in pursuance of an address of the House. Do I understand you to mean double entries?

16. What I mean is, the number of those who were on as householders, and the number who were also on as freemen?—The number was extremely few. There were five men who were really on both lists, who might have been on one or the other—five who might have been on as either 10*l.* occupiers or freemen. There were three who appear to have been on as 10*l.* occupiers.

17. (Mr. Newton.) But there were actually five names?—There were five names who were, in short, in both lists.

18. (Mr. Barstow.) What is the gross number of freemen at present?—The gross number of freemen last year was 980. Perhaps to fill up the idea that you had in your mind a few minutes ago, and which perhaps had been overlooked, I ought to say that there are upon the freemen's list 169 who might also have qualified as householders.

FIRST DAY.

Mr. T. Swainson.

27 Aug. 1866.

19. (Mr. Hill.) Who were, in fact, 10*l.* householders?—Yes.

20. (Mr. Barstow.) Can you give us the number of the freemen, both resident and non-resident, that is, those resident in the borough, and those in the outlying districts. Give us the gross number?—I hold in my hand a list of the entire constituency from the years 1858 and 1859 to 1865 and 1866, distinguishing the number of votes in each township, and also distinguishing the aggregate, separating the aggregate in each year into freemen and householders, and also showing the number in each. I apprehend that that will answer your inquiry. I will give that in (handing a paper to the Commissioners).

21. Can you now give us the gross number of non-residents, which, deducted from the gross number of freemen, will give the number of residents. Take the years 1864 and 1865?—The entire number of freemen was 980, and if you will deduct three classes, for instance, Lancaster, 564, Bulk 5, and Skerton 37, from the 980, that will give you as the number in the out townships, 274.

22. (Mr. Hill.) Then I have your figures wrong?—The aggregate number of freemen is 980, and if you deduct 564 for Lancaster, 5 for Bulk, and 37 for Skerton, that makes a total of 606.

23. If you deduct 606 from 980, that leaves 374, and not 274?—Quite so.

24. There are only five double entries altogether—is that so?—Five as between occupiers and freemen, and three apparently under the head of double qualification, 10*l.* occupiers, making eight as the entire number to be deducted.

25. The total number of voters is 1,411?—Yes, that would be so, 1,411.

26. (Mr. Barstow.) Can you give us the number of freemen at the date of the passing of the Reform Act?—No, I cannot. I have no means of giving it.

27. Does not such a list exist?—Not that I am aware of; at all events, it is not in my custody as Town Clerk. I did endeavour to ascertain that, but I was unable to do so. The only things I have are a few old poll books.

28. My object in asking is only to know whether the freemen are diminishing or increasing in numbers?—On the passing of the Act of Parliament all the old freemen were struck off.

29. But after the passing of the Reform Act the freemen would be in the same position as they are now?—You mean the first year after the passing of the Reform Act?

30. Yes.—I have not such a list of voters, such a thing I have no doubt exists somewhere, and might be had by inquiry.

31. Will you be kind enough to obtain such a list if you can?—I will endeavour to do so.

32. Was the parliamentary borough extended at the time of the passing of the Reform Act?—Yes. Under the Boundary Act.

33. From the red mark to the blue mark?—The extension shown by the blue mark over the red, was consequent on the Boundary Act, which was contemporaneous with the Reform Act.

34. That was when the Commissioners, I suppose, came down here?—I do not know that the Act of Parliament was the result of a Commission. The Boundary Act applied to all boroughs and counties.

35. (Mr. Hill.) It in fact extended the borough a good deal to the north?—Yes, and perhaps I may point out that the town of Lancaster has extended very considerably indeed to the south in a place called Scotforth. You will find that the Parliamentary boundary shown on that map is only just outside the town streets, on the south; but the town has extended considerably on the old Preston Road, and some of our principal men of business who live there, unless they happen to be freemen, which many of them are not, are entirely debarred from the privilege of the franchise. I think it right to point that out, because that is an important matter.

36. Just outside the Parliamentary borough?—Yes.

37. You say that the town has extended considerably in that direction?—To the south.

38. Since what date should you say?—Since the date of the Boundary Act.

39. (Mr. Barstow.) Can you tell us what the gross population of Scotforth is?—No, I cannot.

40. (Mr. Hill.) What kind of houses are they?—Many of them are very good houses.

41. (Mr. Barstow.) Can you give us any notion of the general occupation of the freemen—how they get their living?—The freemen's list is composed of all classes of people.

42. Are they mainly of the labouring classes?—The great body of them are certainly. You will find in the list which is revised every year that the occupations of the freemen are stated, so that it is a matter simply of investigation and classification.

43. How do men become freemen?—Formerly they became men in four modes.

44. Not now?—No, not now. They became freemen by birth, that is, by being the sons of freemen; by servitude as apprentices for seven years in the borough—not a service with a freeman out of the borough; the party must be apprenticed to a freeman, he must serve that freeman, and he must while he serves live in the old borough; by presentation by the mayor or one of the bailiffs of the old constitution of the corporation.

45. Those are all abolished now?—No, the two first I have mentioned still exist. Then number four was by purchase. It seems that in early days the freemen were admitted by payment of a certain sum of money, which some members of the corporation assessed, systematically, on their being permitted to become freemen. Now the last two modes are abolished—gift and purchase.

46. When were they abolished?—When the Reform Bill was passed.

47. What form do they go through when they are made freemen, and before whom do they appear?—They appear before the mayor.

48. And are their names registered in the freemen's list, or what?—They produce a certificate of baptism, or birth, to show by comparison with the old books that they are in fact sons of freemen, and they bring somebody who can identify them as of that freeman's family; they are then sworn in as freemen, and take the oath, which is a very long story, which I suppose it is not material for me to repeat here.

49. At what age may they be admitted?—Sixteen. Persons admitted by servitude produce proof of their seven years' apprenticeship to a freeman.

50. Are any fees payable on their admission?—Yes.

51. What fees?—Now the fee is 1*l.* for a freeman's son, that is, 1*l.* to the borough fund of the corporation itself, they pay also 3*s.* in fees to the corporation officers, making 1*l.* 3*s.*, that is for a freeman's son. An apprentice pays 1*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.* to the Borough Fund, and the sum of 3*s.* to the officers, making together 1*l.* 9*s.* 8*d.* That is the case unless a special court is to be held for their admission. A special court is now and then held when there are three or four men wanting to be admitted intermediately between one year and another, and then instead of 3*s.* they pay 6*s.* as fees, the extra 3*s.* being paid, in fact, as the fees for holding an extra court.

52. Are you aware whether it is the practice for those fees to be paid for them, or do they pay them themselves?—I do not know it as a fact, but I am merely giving my own impression when I state that on very many occasions, the fees paid for admission have been paid by the candidates. I have no doubt whatever in my own mind as to the fact.

53. These fees are paid at the time of admission, I suppose?—Yes, they are paid at the time of admission. The sum paid for fees seems to have varied very greatly. When an election seemed to be a matter of great interest, the admissions were numerous, and the sums paid were large.

54. (Mr. Hill.) The admissions were numerous when an election appeared imminent?—Yes. In the year 1864, there being an election in April, and a general election in the next July, there were admitted 111 freemen's sons, and 23 apprentices, making a total of 134, paying 141*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.* to the corporation fund. In this year, 1866, there have been admitted 22 freemen's sons and three apprentices, making a total of 25, the corporation fees being 26*l.*

55. Is that from the 1st of January up to this date?—The admissions are almost entirely in the month of July.

56. (Mr. Barstow.) At what time in July were the admissions generally?—About the 25th of July.

57. When would a person admitted then be able to vote?—He would be put on the register, if he is 21 years of age, at the next revision.

58. (Mr. Newton.) The freemen who were put on in 1865, and who passed through the Revising Court in that October, are now eligible to vote?—Yes.

59. And the 134 who were put on in 1864, voted last year?—Yes, they voted last year; that is, assuming them to be 21 years of age, and while I am upon that subject, I may in passing make a remark, that the great majority of them were men who had arrived at a much more mature age than 21.

60. (Mr. Hill.) Some of them were considerably older?—Some few of them were old men.

61. Men over 50 or 60?—I would not undertake to say that exactly. To make this part of the matter clear, having given you the years 1864 and 1866, I will give you now, if you please, 1863 and 1865. The Parliament, you will remember, was about expiring in 1865. In 1863 the number of freemen's sons was 26, and apprentices 3, making a total of 29, the sum paid being 30*l.* In 1865, the number of freemen's sons was 94, and the apprentices 9, making a total of 103; and the money paid was 106*l.*

62. (Mr. Barstow.) Have the freemen any charities specially appropriated to them?—They have not charities but other privileges; they are entitled to rights of common over a moor near Lancaster, not of any great extent, and they are free from toll.

63. Every freeman has of course an equal right to that?—Yes, that is the borough toll, and the market toll.

64. Every freeman has an equal right of common?—Yes; there is no distinction between their rights.

65. Are there any charities peculiar to them?—I may also mention that there is an estate approaching to some 300 acres of land on the marsh below Lancaster, producing something like 600*l.* a year, the rents of which are divided among 80 of the oldest freemen. No doubt, originally, that estate was the property of the freemen generally, but now it is divided among 80 of the oldest freemen. Those are the only privileges that I am aware of to which freemen are entitled beyond that of the franchise.

66. Are there any hospitals appropriated to freemen, or widows of freemen, or anything of that sort?—Lancaster is rich in its charitable establishments, but they are not confined to freemen.

67. Do these 80 oldest freemen succeed by seniority as a matter of course?—By seniority the admission is a matter of course, if they are resident within the old municipal borough.

68. Can you give us the state of the poll at the last election?—Yes, the last election was a general one on the 12th of July 1865. I have a paper here which contains those particulars; but it contains also other matter which you will probably not care to have. (Handing the paper referred to to the Commissioners.)

69. It would be an easy thing to copy out what we want: we want the poll distinguishing the freemen from the householders?—That I cannot give you.

70. (Mr. Hill.) It is given here (referring to a printed poll book).—It is given there, but that I cannot verify.

71. (Mr. Barstow.) I am sure I have seen it somewhere?—You have seen it in the newspapers, and the publishers issued a statement; the poll books go away the night after the election, and even they do not distinguish the householders from the freemen; of course they can be distinguished by a comparison with the list. That labour has been undertaken by some gentlemen connected with the press, who issue them for their own profit: I cannot speak to their accuracy myself, although I have no reason to doubt they are correct.

72. As Town Clerk you will not pledge yourself to their accuracy?—No.

73. Then you are unable to give the state of the poll distinguishing the freemen from the householders?—I am.

74. Does this paper which you have produced (referring to a list of the out townships) show the distances of the different townships? Will you look them over and say if they are correct?—Yes, they are in a general way. With reference to Caton and Littledale for example, I see I put "4" and "6," meaning that Caton is four miles, and Littledale perhaps six miles: I think that that may be taken as an average.

75. That is as accurate a list as you can give us?—Yes.

76. And you think it gives a fair average?—I do.

77. I see that in this paper there are three columns; these are the freemen, and these are the householders of the Parliamentary borough for the year 1857 and 1858: what is this column for?—For candidates and votes. It is filled in if there happened to be an election in the year, and it is vacant if there was not.

78. In 1857 the candidates and votes are blank, there having been no election: in 1858 and 1859 there were 887 freemen and 401 householders, making a total of 1288?—There was a general election then.

79. That was on the 30th of April 1859, at which time W. Jackson, Esquire, was Mayor, and T. Johnson Auditor, and the candidates were Gregson 641 votes; Garnett 660; Fenwick 459; and Saunders 509?—Yes.

80. At the election of 1858 and 1859 Mr. Gregson's agent for election expenses, was Mr. Maxsted?—Mr. Maxsted was the general agent of Mr. Gregson; at that time there was not by law an agent for election expenses, there being an election auditor.

81. The return by Mr. Johnson was 597*l.* 3*s.* 8*d.*?—Yes.

82. And Mr. Garnett's election expenses were put down at 999*l.* 19*s.* 10*d.*?—Yes: 899*l.* 14*s.* 10*d.*, and 100*l.* 5*s.* as a sort of supplement.

83. Mr. Fenwick's expenses were 729*l.* 15*s.* 2*d.* and Mr. Saunders's expenses were 405*l.* 18*s.* 10*d.*?—Quite so.

84. Then in 1859 and 1860 there was no election, nor was there an election in 1861 and 1862, but on the 13th of April, 1864, there was an election to supply the place of Mr. Garnett?—Yes.

85. Who had resigned?—Yes.

86. At that time Mr. Saunders and Mr. Fenwick stood?—Yes.

87. On the register at that time there were 953 freemen and 441 householders?—Yes.

88. And Mr. Head stood, but did not go to the poll?—No.

89. Mr. Saunders polled 525 votes and Mr. Fenwick 682; Mr. Saunders's election expenses as returned were 597*l.* 5*s.* 11*d.*, and Mr. Fenwick's 939*l.* 14*s.* 5*d.* Who was Mr. Saunders's agent for election expenses?—Mr. Holden.

90. And who was Mr. Fenwick's agent for election expenses?—Mr. Johnson.

91. And who was the general agent?—Mr. Maxsted.

92. That was at the election in April of 1864?—Yes.

93. When Mr. Fenwick and Mr. Saunders stood for the place which was vacated by the resignation of Mr. Garnett?—Yes.

94. Then Mr. Gregson died and there was an election on the 20th of February, 1865?—Yes.

95. And at that time there were on the register 980 freemen and 439 householders?—Yes.

96. The total number being 1419?—Yes.

97. That was the time when Mr. Schneider was returned?—Yes.

FIRST DAY.

Mr. T. Swainson.

27 Aug. 866.

98. There was no contest at that time ?—No.

99. And his election expenses were returned at 156*l.* 8*s.* 10*d.* ?—Yes: the Court will perhaps take notice of the fact, particularly, that the election in February, 1865, in place of Mr. Gregson was a walk over; there was no opposition and no prospect or suspicion whatever of any expenditure other than perhaps legitimate expenses.

100. Mr. Schneider's agent for election expenses at that time was Mr. Tilly ?—Yes, and his general agent was Mr. Maxsted.

101. That is not filled in in this paper, but Mr. Maxsted was his general agent ?—Yes.

102. On the 12th of July in the same year, 1865, there came on the general election, and the candidates at that time were Fenwick, Schneider, and Lawrence ?—Yes.

103. Mr. Fenwick was proposed by Mr. R. B. Armstrong and seconded by Mr. Christopher Johnson ?—Yes.

104. Who was his agent for those election expenses ?—Mr. Tilly.

105. Mr. Schneider was proposed by whom ?—By Mr. Samuel Edward Bolden.

106. And seconded by whom ?—Mr. Charles Blades.

107. Who was the agent for his election expenses ?—Mr. Tilly.

108. And who was his general agent ?—Mr. Maxsted.

109. Was he also general agent for Mr. Fenwick ?—Yes.

110. What were Mr. Schneider's expenses returned at ?—The expenses of Mr. Fenwick and Mr. Schneider were shown on one bill: the total was 1400*l.* 4*s.* 2*d.*, and at the foot of it there was a division of that aggregate sum into two parts; half of it being stated to be Mr. Fenwick's and half of it Mr. Schneider's.

111. By whom was Mr. Lawrence proposed ?—By Mr. Sharp.

112. And by whom was he seconded ?—Mr. Thomas Grassyard Edmondson.

113. Who was his agent for election expenses ?—Mr. Thomas Gibson.

114. And who was his general agent ?—Mr. Clark.

115. What were his election expenses returned at ?—1129*l.* 3*s.*

116. Do you wish to make any statement to the Commissioners ?—I wish to say this, that your inquiry has relation to a borough with reference to which I have before me some royal charters beginning with the reign of Richard the 1st in the year 1193.

117. You remind me of one question that I have omitted to put to you. In what reign did the borough first return members to Parliament ?—In the 23rd year of Edward the 1st, 1295.

118. (Mr. Newton.) When did John of Gaunt build this castle ?—I do not know when he built it, but he was living in 1363. I was going to say that there are before you charters 22 in number, commencing in the 4th year of Richard the 1st, namely, 1193, and ending in the 59th year of George the 3rd, 1819. You have I think already the year when there was the first election of members for this place. I should like to draw the attention of the Commissioners to one or two of the more important matters of grant. In the 1st of John, in 1199, there were granted to the burgesses of Lancaster the same privileges as had been granted before to those at Northampton, which included freedom from toll throughout all England.

119. (Mr. Hill.) Freedom from toll of what character ?—Toll on cattle and other things entering for market; in fact, toll of all descriptions throughout all England. Then in the 36th of Edward the 3rd, in the year of 1363, the King, "at the request of his be-"loved son John, Duke of Lancaster" (John of Gaunt) granted to the mayor, bailiffs, and commonalty of the town that "all pleas and sessions of what justices "soever in the county of Lancaster appointed be kept "in the said town of Lancaster as in the principal town "of the said county and not elsewhere in the said "county for ever." That is the language of the charter.

120. (Mr. Barstow.) Is that the origin of the Court of Common Pleas at Lancaster ?—It is the origin of the Assizes being held here, until within the last twenty years, when part was taken to Liverpool and part to Manchester. You know that the Assizes for hundreds of years were held only here for the entire county of Lancaster under this very charter. Then in the 12th of Richard the 2nd, in 1389, the King granted and confirmed the former charters for the fine of forty shillings, and "because the town had been often burnt:" I need not say more about that, that is a matter of history which is well known. Then in the 10th of Henry the 6th there was a grant of recognizances and statute merchant, &c., in addition to the confirmation of previous charters. Then in the 3rd and 4th of Philip and Mary, 1556, there is a decree of the Chancellor and Council of the Duchy of Lancaster under the duchy seal, that all general sessions of assizes and gaol delivery and the four quarter sessions be holden at the town of Lancaster and not elsewhere in the county. Then in the 15th Charles the 2nd, 1663, freedom is granted to the burgesses from being put in assizes or on juries out of their own town. In the 36th of Charles the 2nd, 1684, (which appears to have been the first charter which established the constitution which came down to 1819,) there is granted "that all pleas, "&c., in the County Court shall be kept for ever in the "town as in our county town of the said county, and "not elsewhere in the said county;" that is under the great seal and seal of the duchy. Then the last charter, as I have already stated, was in the 59th of George the 3rd, 1819. I wish to add that the royal favour to this place has been extended by the present Queen, for in April, 1859, Her Majesty granted to the Corporation of Lancaster, by warrant under the royal sign manual and out of the revenues of the duchy, 100 guineas a year for the establishment of three scholarships of 30*l.* each to Oxford or Cambridge to be called Victoria scholarships, and a prize of 15*l.* to be called the Queen's prize in connexion with the Lancaster Royal Grammar School of which the Corporation are trustees.

121. You did not state what the charter of 1819 was ?—It was in a great measure a repetition of that of Charles the 2nd as to its general objects, but it established the Corporation as it existed up to the time of the passing of the Municipal Reform Act, namely, consisting of a mayor, a certain number of aldermen, and a certain number of capital burgesses, and a common council, and so on, the details of which I daresay you do not require me to give. I may state that perhaps I could give the Commissioners some notion of the number of old freemen in early days.

122. In what early days ?—For example, I can refer to some elections.

123. Those would be before the Reform Act ?—Yes, when I suppose 3,000 or 4,000 freemen voted, which number of 3,000 or 4,000 was reduced, of course, to 1,000 by that very measure.

124. (Mr. Newton.) Have you any idea what the constituency was before the passing of the Reform Act ?—No, we have no materials for ascertaining that.

125. (Mr. Hill.) Then perhaps you had better give us such figures as you have ?—The earliest that I have any record of is in 1784, when there were 20 days' polling, and when the candidates were three, Rawlinson, Reynolds, and Lowther, the numbers were 1,169 for Rawlinson, 1,100 for Reynolds, and 1,012 for Lowther. Then in 1786, when there were 15 days' polling, the candidates were Warren and Lowther; the number polled for Warren was 1,166, and for Lowther 1,140. Then in 1790, the candidates were Warren, Dent, and Penn; Warren polled 1,015, Dent, 1,012; and Penn, 453.

126. (Mr. Barstow.) Perhaps you will come on to some later election ?—I have only two others—1802; then there were six days' polling. That, I believe, was a great fight; I have always understood so. The candidates were Douglas, Dent, and Cawthorne; the numbers for Douglas were 1,163; for Dent, 1,240; and for

FIRST DAY.

Mr. T. Swainson.

27 Aug. 1866.

Cawthorne, 777. In 1818 there was a nine days' poll; Gladstone (that is the father of the late Chancellor of the Exchequer,) 1,870; Doveton, 1,156; and Cawthorne, 1063.

127. Can you tell us how many polled?—I can only give you the number of votes given. There is one other I find I ought to have given you before—1807; there were 10 days' polling; the candidates were Dent, Patten, Cawthorne, and Doveton, the numbers were for Dent, 1,393; for Patten, 1,393; Cawthorne, 924; and Doveton, 915.

128. (Mr. Hill.) In 1807 the number of persons who voted must have been at least 2,200, or very nearly 2,300 in round numbers?—Yes.

129. They appear to have split their votes pretty evenly?—Yes.

130. When did the constituency become so much reduced from the number of which it consisted then to the number of which it consists now?—It was cut down by the Reform Bill.

131. The non-resident freemen?—Yes, they used to come down from London and all parts of England with their wives and children.

132. (Mr. Barstow.) At the expense of the candidate?—At the expense of the candidate.

133. (Mr. Hill.) I understand you to say that the lowering of the number of voters is to be traced immediately and directly to no other cause than that at present non-resident freemen cannot vote?—To that, and also in some measure, I daresay, to the reduction of the number of freemen under the Act a few years previously, or not very far from the date of the Reform Act for the new system of municipal corporation by which the four modes of making freemen were reduced to two.

134. (Mr. Barstow.) Can you tell generally whether the number of freemen was greater immediately after the passing of the Reform Act than it is now?—Certainly.

135. After all these non-residents were struck off?—I have no means of knowing.

136. I thought you might be able to say generally whether they were more or fewer?—I am not able to give a satisfactory answer to that question.

137. (Mr. Newton.) Have you the means of getting at that?—I think I probably might by inquiry, I probably shall be able to find a list of the voters, I have no doubt I shall, soon after the passing of the Act, which would answer your inquiry; do I understand that the Commissioners wish to have a list of the voters if it can be had?

138. Yes?—For the year following the passing of the Reform Act?

139. Yes, if possible, but if not, for some year as soon after that as you can?—I will endeavour to give you that information.

Mr. William Tilly sworn and examined.

Mr. W. Tilly.

140. (Mr. Newton.) You were the agent for Mr. Fenwick and Mr. Schneider at the general election in July last?—Yes; I was sub-agent under Mr. Maxsted, and also agent for the election expenses.

141. What do you mean by "agent for the election expenses?"—Under the Act of Parliament.

142. You had to check all the accounts that were brought to you?—Yes.

143. What else would your duties be?—And to pay money; I do not know that I checked the accounts; they were sent to me by persons who of course I supposed would not send me wrong accounts, and I paid the money; I have the books containing all the payments here.

144. From whom did you receive the money in the first instance?—In June I received by cheque from Mr. Maxsted 50*l.*

145. When did you next receive any money?—On July the 8th a cheque for 50*l.* from Mr. Maxsted.

146. When was the next sum?—July the 11th a cheque from Mr. Maxsted for 100*l.*, and on the 13th a cheque from Mr. Maxsted of 100*l.*; those four cheques were signed by Mr. Maxsted.

147. (Mr. Barstow.) Sent as a cheque for you from Mr. Maxsted?—Payable to me.

148. (Mr. Newton.) Payable to your order, sent by Mr. Maxsted?—Yes, I think so.

149. The date of the last cheque was the 13th of July?—Yes.

150. At that time had the election taken place?—I do not know what the date of the election was.

151. I can refresh your memory; it took place on the 12th of July?—Yes, that is so.

152. That made 300*l.* in all you received from Mr. Maxsted up to that day?—Yes.

153. What other money did you receive from him after that?—On the 21st of July a cheque signed by Mr. Fenwick to Mr. Maxsted and Mr. Maxsted endorsed it to me.

154. How much was that cheque?—500*l.*

155. You think that cheque was payable to Mr. Maxsted?—Yes.

156. That was delivered to you by Mr. Maxsted?—Yes.

157. Did you after that receive any more money?—Yes; August 12th by cheque from Mr. Maxsted 200*l.*, that was a cheque signed by Mr. Maxsted.

158. Drawn by Mr. Maxsted?—Signed by Mr. Maxsted; it is the same thing.

159. Did you receive anything after that?—Yes. Then I have an entry of 414*l.* 10*s.* 10*d.*

160. What is the date to that?—I have no date, but I can give you a pretty good guess as to about when it was, though I could not swear to it; I think it would be about September the 7th.

161. How was this sum given to you?—I think I had a cheque for 300*l.* in it.

162. And how was the remainder given to you?—Whether it was in gold or notes I am not sure, I could not tell.

163. By whom was the cheque drawn?—I do not know, but I think most likely it was drawn by Mr. Maxsted.

164. Payable to whom?—I should think to myself.

165. With regard to that cheque you got on the 12th of August, was that also payable to you?—Yes, that was payable to me.

166. After this 414*l.* 10*s.* 10*d.* was any more money given to you?—No, nothing more.

167. That makes a total of 1,414*l.* 10*s.* 10*d.*?—Yes.

168. The Commissioners would like to know how you expended that money?—I have a list of every item in this book, and the total payments made to people who assisted in the election was 1,404*l.* 2*s.* 2*d.*, leaving a balance of 10*l.* 8*s.* 8*d.*, which I gave to Mr. Maxsted.

169. When did you finish up your accounts with Mr. Maxsted?—The receipt is dated the 14th of October, 1865, and I have no doubt that is the date.

170. At that time the mayor, Mr. Williamson was the returning officer?—I think he was; I can tell you who was the returning officer, because I have my appointment here, and I had to make my return to him (after referring) yes, it was James Williamson.

171. When did you make your return to him?—It is dated the 12th of September.

172. Did the returning officer advertise in the newspapers an abstract of it?—Yes.

173. Your return being then 1,404*l.* 2*s.* 2*d.*?—Yes.

174. To revert to the question I asked you just now, can you give the Commissioners a detailed account with regard to the distribution of that 1,404*l.*?—Yes.

175. First, may I ask what is the book from which you are reading?—This is a book I kept myself.

176. Were the entries made at the time?—Yes, at my office.

177. Are you a solicitor?—Yes.

178. That is the book you kept at the time?—Yes, at the time.

FIRST DAY.
Mr. W. Tilly.
27 Aug. 1866.

179. You entered into that book all the items of the election ?—Yes, that I had paid.

180. They are all to be found in that book ?—Yes (the book is handed to the Commissioners), I see my return is 1,400*l.* odd, and not 1,404*l.*, and the way I account for that is that I paid 3*l.* afterwards to the Town Clerk for advertising my return.

181. The items were not advertised ?—No.

182. Have you a copy of the advertisement ?—I have a draft here, it would be supposed to be drawn by Mr. Swainson.

183. No, the returning officer would do it.

(Mr. Swainson.) Perhaps I ought to say, that the actual return to the returning officer of the election expenses by Mr. Tilly is here in my custody with the vouchers and all details; I was not asked that question.

184. (Mr. Newton.) We took that for granted; what I want to arrive at is this, whether these items were all published in the newspapers ?—No, merely an abstract was published.

185. And you have not a copy of that with you ?—I have a copy of what I sent to the town clerk.

186. Do you know whether the copy that was sent to the newspaper and what was sent to the Town Clerk were identically the same ?—I have not the slightest doubt about it.

187. (Mr. Barstow.) How came the accounts which you were bound to send to the returning officer in the hands of Mr. Swainson ?—The Act of Parliament requires me to return them to the returning officer, but they are practically sent to the Town Clerk because he is supposed to be the Mayor's adviser.

188. (Mr. Hill.) You had not been agent for Mr. Fenwick at the time when he stood against Mr. Saunders ?—No; I think my partner was agent for the legal expenses then.

189. Mr. Johnston ?—Yes.

190. He was your partner then ?—Yes, and is now.

191. You were agent to Mr. Schneider at what we call the "walk over" in February 1865 ?—I was agent under Mr. Maxsted in the same way, and also agent for legal expenses.

192. Do you know at all of any division of the expenses as between Mr. Fenwick and Mr. Schneider? —No.

193. All your duty was to pay and to account for the money paid and the money given to you by Mr. Maxsted to Mr. Maxsted ?—Yes.

194. In making the payments which you did make did you make them jointly for Mr. Schneider and Mr. Fenwick ?—Yes.

195. You considered yourself as acting equally under Mr. Maxsted for the two candidates ?—Yes; in fact, a nomination is required, and I was nominated by Mr. Fenwick and Mr. Schneider.

196. Through you came all the legitimate expenses of the election ?—Yes.

197. And only through you, of course ?—Yes, I was the sole agent.

198. Can you tell me upon what bank those cheques which were given to you were drawn; were they all upon the same bank ?—I think they were all upon the Lancaster Bank. I do not quite remember, but I have a recollection of going to the Lancaster Bank with some of them.

199. Do you remember going to any other bank ? —No, I do not.

200. Did you get all the cheques cashed yourself ? —I cannot recollect that, but I am almost certain I should as they were all for large sums.

201. Were they, with the exception of the cheque for 500*l.*, all drawn against Mr. Maxsted's account ? —Yes, I should say they were.

202. Had Mr. Fenwick also an account at the Lancaster Bank at that time ?—That I do not know.

203. If they were cashed at the Lancaster Bank, and were drawn against Mr. Fenwick's account, he would, I presume, have an account at that bank ?—I do not know.

204. Do you know whether Mr. Schneider had at that time an account at the Lancaster Bank ?—I have no knowledge of it, but I believe he had; in fact, I always understood that the Lancaster Bank were Mr. Schneider's bankers, but I do not know it as a fact.

205. Besides those expenses which you have put down, and which are in this book which you have handed to the Commissioners, did you, on behalf or on account of this election, pay any money at all ?—No.

206. What money did you receive yourself as payment for your services ?—That is in the book, it is 78*l.* 15*s.* 0*d.*

207. Was 78*l.* 15*s.* 0*d.* the whole of the money paid to your firm for work done during that election ? —Yes. My partner had nothing to do with the election; he will not have anything to do with them, so he got no part of that 78*l.*

208. Was nothing paid to any of your clerks or to anybody else in your office beyond that 78*l.* 15*s.* 0*d.*? —I think not; whether one of my clerks received a guinea on the day, I could not say.

209. What is your clerk's name ?—Thomas Robinson.

210. Is he a freeman ?—No.

211. Is he a householder ?—No, he is a young boy; he was a clerk in the Committee Rooms, and I see he got three guineas.

212. He is a young man, not 21 years of age, and not on the register ?—He was about 20.

213. He was not on the register ?—No.

214. Is the 78*l.* 15*s.* 0*d.* a per-centage ?—No.

215. When election agents were first appointed they were paid by percentage ?—Yes, they were; but when they were paid by percentage they were called election auditors, and paid by all the candidates; now each candidate has an agent.

216. I see this includes also the payment made to Mr. Maxsted for his professional services ?—Yes.

217. 137*l.* 8*s.* 0*d.* ?—Yes, that would be right.

218. You have told me that beyond the 78*l.* 15*s.* 0*d.* and three guineas to the clerk Robinson, you know of no other payments made on account of the services rendered by you or anybody else in your office ?—None whatever, as I said before; the office rendered no service; Mr. Johnston had nothing whatever to do with it.

219. I meant to include everything; have you any personal cognizance of any other sum of money that was paid during, before, or on account of the election ? —No, I have none.

220. None whatever ?—No.

221. You yourself are not personally acquainted with the payment of a single farthing beyond those sums we have mentioned ?—Do you mean that I have paid no more.

222. Have you seen it paid, paid it yourself, or have you any personal cognizance of its being paid ? —No, I have neither paid it myself nor witnessed it being paid.

223. Not the payment of money for bills at public houses ?—There would be, I daresay, bills at public houses paid.

224. Do you personally know of any payment of a bill at a public house ?—No.

225. Were you present yourself at any time during the payment of any bill of a public-house ?—No.

226. Or for refreshment ?—No.

227. Any voters ?—No.

228. Or for any travelling expenses ?—No.

229. (Mr. Barstow.) Have you heard from any person that they received any money ? Has any one told you before or after the election, or during the election that they received any payment ?—No, I think not.

230. (Mr. Hill.) You were not in London during the sitting of the Committee ?—No.

231. (Mr. Newton.) Do you believe this to have been a pure election ?—I do not believe it was a pure election.

232. How do you mean, you do not suppose it was a pure election, you think it was not ?—I should say it was not.

233. What makes you think so ?—From the fact of the members being unseated.

234. For what reason do you come to the conclusion that it was not a pure election ?—I have confidence in the House of Commons, and say that they would not have unseated the members unless it was proved.

235. I understand you to say that you did not come to that opinion until the date of the Committee, which was the 23d of April ; until that time you thought it was a pure election ?—I have not said that.

236. You led me to infer that because the Committee of the House of Commons said it was an impure election you assumed it was true ; I want to know what makes you think it was an impure election ?—I thought it was an impure election merely from the rumours.

237. What rumours ? — There were rumours of course that persons had received bribes.

238. Tell me what the rumours were ?—Merely general rumour that bribery was going on.

239. What kind of rumours ?—Just to the effect that bribery was going on.

240. At the time ?—Yes, no doubt about it.

241. What sort of bribery ? — People getting money.

242. Were any names mentioned of people taking money ?—No.

243. You never heard anybody's name mentioned? —No.

244. Upon your oath you never heard any names mentioned of people taking money ?—Not at that time.

245. When you heard these general rumours of bribery going on were any persons names attached to those rumours ?—I do not remember.

246. Am I to understand that your recollection is perfectly dark upon that subject ?—Yes, it is really, because the rumours that go about are not to be relied upon.

247. I am asking you for the rumours, whether they are to be relied upon or not is matter for us ?— I am sure I do not know ; they were merely general rumours that bribery was going on.

248. Where were those rumours current ?— About the town.

249. Was it talked about much ?—Yes.

250. At the time of the election ?—Yes.

251. By both parties, or by only one party ?—By both parties, no doubt, but I could not give you any proper information about the rumours.

252. I want to know what you heard ?—I cannot recollect, except that there were general rumours that bribery was going on.

253. Were there any names mentioned in connexion with them ?—Not to me.

254. Did not your curiosity prompt you to ask that ?—No, quite the contrary.

255. Did not your curiosity prompt you to ascertain who were the bribers and who were the bribed ? —No, quite the contrary ; I thought it my duty not to listen to them.

256. Why ?—Because I was the person paying the legal expenses.

257. I do not see why you should not wish to find out who were making illegal expenses ?—I did not consider it my duty at the time.

258. I should have thought it was ; did you wish to keep out of it ?—I certainly did.

259. You did not think it worth while to find out who were making these illegal expenses ?—No.

260. When did you first hear of the rumours ?—I could not tell ; it was about the time of the election. I believe if there was a pure election at Lancaster rumours would go about that it was an impure one.

261. You say there would be rumours be the election pure or impure ?—Yes ; I believe if there were an election to-morrow, and you were to go down the street, you would hear that people were bribing.

262. Is money so plentiful in Lancaster ?—I do not know what may be the reason.

263. I want to know ?—I cannot tell you.

264. Are we to understand that money is so plentiful that people are always being bribed ?—No.

265. When was the first talk of a petition ; when did it first reach your ears ?—I should think I first read of it in the newspapers.

266. Did you first know of it from the newspapers? —I should think so ; it was a long time before the petition was filed.

267. Of course between July and February ; when did you first hear there was going to be a petition ?— I should say from the newspapers in a week after the election, but I did not believe there would be a petition until it was actually filed.

268. A week after the election ?—Yes.

269. Why did you think there would not be a petition ?—It was merely an impression I had

270. But why ?—Because the "Lancaster Gazette" newspaper ceased to speak so much about it. That paper is supposed to be the recognized organ of the Conservatives, and it began, I think, by stating that there was going to be a petition, and then it ceased any mention of it.

271. But you say it was currently rumoured in the town that there had been impure proceedings ?—It did not follow that there would be a petition.

272. Do you not think it would naturally follow ? —I did not come to that conclusion.

273. Are we to assume that bribery is so common here that they would not petition if there was an impure election ?—That would be, of course, entirely for the other member. I do not think people get up petitions on the ground of morality.

274. For what do they get them up ?—If they have been deprived of their seat probably they may do it for revenge ; that may be one reason, but of course that is all speculation.

275. The petition was presented, as we know, when Parliament met ; did you superintend the defence of it ?—No, I had nothing to do with it.

276. Your duties ceased when you sent in your account to the Returning Officer ?—Yes.

277. (Mr. Hill.) Do you live in Lancaster ?—Yes.

278. You were living here at the time of the election ?—Yes.

279. Hearing these rumours did you hear at all in any way any particular sums attributed to either candidate as to what it cost them ?—I hear all sorts of sums.

280. Did you or did you not, or have you or have you not, heard any particular sums attributed either to Schneider, or Fenwick, or Lawrence ?—Not that I recollect.

281. Try and recollect whether you heard any particular sum mentioned as being the sum which his election cost him or his candidature cost him ?—No.

282. You heard no sum stated ?—No.

283. Have you ever heard any rumour as to the proportion of expenditure that was to be borne by Mr. Fenwick and Mr. Schneider for the election, the proportion to be borne by each of them ?—No.

284. Never ?—Never.

285. Have you never heard any such rumour ?— I have not, that was not part of my duty.

286. I am not asking you whether it was a part of your duty, but whether as a fact you did ever hear any such rumour ?—I did not.

287. (Mr. Barstow.) When you heard rumours of bribery you heard them from somebody I suppose ?— Yes.

288. Can you say from whom ?—No.

289. Try and recollect ?—I could not tell you from whom.

290. (Mr. Newton.) Not a single name ?—No, it is impossible to do so.

291. (Mr. Hill.) Have you never stated to anyone anything with regard to the proportion of the expenses to be borne by Mr. Schneider and Mr. Fenwick ?— No, because I did not know it.

FIRST DAY.
Mr. W. Tilly.
27 Aug. 1866.

292. Have you never spoken to Mr. Maxsted upon the subject—be careful ?

(Mr. Newton.) Tell us all the truth, we must ultimately find it out.

293. (Mr. Hill.) My question is, have you ever spoken to Mr. Maxsted with regard to the proportion of the expenses that was to be borne by Mr. Fenwick and Mr. Schneider ?—I had an impression that this 500*l.* was all that Mr. Fenwick was to pay.

294. What gave you that impression ?—Well, I hardly know why it was, I think I remember Mr. Maxsted once saying that Mr. Fenwick thought he ought not to pay more, but I could not swear to that.

295. You understood from Mr. Maxsted that Mr. Fenwick thought that the election ought not to cost him more than 500*l.* ?—More than this sum.

296. Tell us it in your own way ?—I tell you I cannot speak accurately to any conversation of the kind.

297. Tell us as near as you can ?—I think that at some time when I was at Mr. Maxsted's office, he said something of this sort, "Oh, Mr. Fenwick thought he ought not to pay more than this."

298. That "this" being 500*l.* ?—Yes, that is my idea.

299. Was that at the time you received the 500*l.* from Mr. Maxsted ?—It is since that time, I do not know when it was.

300. You say Mr. Maxsted said to you, "Mr. Fenwick thinks he ought not to pay more than this ?"—That is the impression I have.

301. And "this" you understood to refer to 500*l.* ?—Yes, I think so.

302. Was not that at the time the 500*l.* was given to you ?—That I cannot say.

303. Had you then a conversation with Mr. Maxsted about the 500*l.* at some other time than that ?—I cannot remember.

304. Were you seeing Mr. Maxsted continually about the election ?—Up to the end of October when I paid the balance I should be seeing him continually.

305. And talking to him generally about matters connected with the election ?—We had other business to do. I do not mean to say that the election employed me all that time.

306. Who made out the first rough draft of the expenses ?—I did. It is here.

307. From what did you make out that first rough draft ?—From the payments in that book which I handed to you.

308. From what did you make out that book ?—From the bills. I think the Town Clerk has the bills.

309. Do I understand you to say you have never received any other bills than those which are there and which are entered in your book ?—I know there were more public-houses engaged than I paid for.

310. There were more persons sent in bills for public-houses than were paid ?—I do not think they were sent to me.

311. How do you know the bills were sent in ?—Because I had a conversation with the person to whom they were sent in.

312. Who was that person ?—Henry Welch had the bills and I told him I would not pay them all.

313. Had Henry Welch paid them at that time ?—No, not that I know of.

314. Did Henry Welch bring you accounts of several public-houses ?—Yes, I saw him about them.

315. Will you give me the number as near as you can of the bills for public-houses brought to you by Henry Welch ?—That I could not tell.

316. Were they so many that you could not recollect them ?—That is not the reason.

317. There must be some reason for it ?—It is from the mere fact that a man's memory does not always serve him.

318. Do not fall back upon the deficiency of memory. What was the number of public-house accounts and sums required by public house-keepers brought to you on account of their rooms ?—I should say there would be at least 30.

319. (Mr. Newton.) Bills from 30 houses ?—Yes.

320. (Mr. Hill.) You being in the office you have told us of, did you look over those bills to see whether they were proper bills to be paid ?—I looked at the list, and I think I told him I was not going to pay them all, or words to that effect.

321. Who made the selection as to which should be paid, you or Henry Welch ?—I think Henry Welch.

322. Give me your accurate recollection upon this point ?—I should say it was Henry Welch.

323. As to which bills were to be paid ?—As to which bills were to come to me.

324. What was to be done with those bills that were to come to you ?—I was to pay them.

325. What was to be done with the other bills ?—They were not to be paid through me, but who was to pay them, of course, I did not know. Somebody would no doubt pay them.

326. How many of those 30 did you feel called upon to pay ?—I could tell you accurately from the book.

327. Are they all together ?—I think they will be.

328. What was the date of this interview with Henry Welch with regard to the election—how long after the election was it ?—It would be before sending in my account, which was on the 12th of September. It would be very shortly before that.

329. Now answer the question as to how many you paid ; cannot you tell without looking at the book ?—No; I can tell you from the book accutately how many I paid.

330. Give me the names of them as you go along ?—"August 19th, R. J. Farady, use of house as Committee-room, 5*l.*; John Foxcroft, 3*l.*"

331. That was for use of house as Committee-room ?—Yes; Committee-room is synonymous for public-house. "Jacob Stanley, use of Committee-room, 21*l.* 4*s.* "September 12th, Henry Richmond, use of Committee-"room, 10*l.* William Lawson, 10*l.* Thomas Jackson, "10*l.* James Townley, 10*l.* Thomas Sanderson, "10*l.* William Jackson, 10*l.* Peter Moore, 10*l.*"

332. Will you tell me where the item "Jacob Stanley, use of Committee-room, 21*l.* 4*s.*" is in this book ?—I will explain it to you.

333. It is the fact, is it not, that it is not in this book ?—I will explain it to you. Jacob Stanley seems to have had more than one bill, and one of the items in one of those bills will very likely be this 21*l.* 4*s.*

334. In which of those items is it included—in the 30*l.* 2*s.* 6*d.* or 38*l.* 7*s.* 4*d.* ?—I should say in the 38*l.* item.

335. Will you read what the 38*l.* item professes to be ?—"Mr. Jacob Stanley, hotel and refreshment expenses of committee and clerks, 38*l.* 7*s.* 4*d.*"

336. In your opinion the 21*l.* 4*s.* is included in that ?—If I were allowed to see the bill I could tell in a moment.

337. It cannot be well in the other, which is headed "Refreshment expenses of candidates" ?—No.

338. Supposing that the 21*l.* 4*s.* is included in the 38*l.* item, those are bills which you agreed with Henry Welch were such bills as you ought to pay ?—Yes, and I should very likely tell him I would not pay any more.

Adjourned for a short time.

(The two bills of 30*l.* 2*s.* 6*d.* and 38*l.* 7*s.* 4*d.* are handed to the Witness.)

339. The 21*l.* 4*s.* you say was a bill brought to you by Henry Welch—No, I certainly did not say that. I say this 21*l.* 4*s.* is Mr. Stanley's charge for the committee room, and this is the bill, but it contains a lot of other things as well.

340. I understood you to tell me that amongst the bills which you read out to me I should find in this book particulars of a bill of Mr. Stanley's for 21*l.* 4*s.* ?—Yes.

341. You told me those bills were brought in by Henry Welch ?—I do not think they all were.

342. Did you not tell me that those bills which you were then reading out were bills brought in to you by Henry Welch?—I do not remember putting it in that way.

343. Tell me how you put it?—I put it in this way. He brought a number of bills, perhaps about thirty, and of these Henry Welch well knew what those public-houses were, and of those I paid those which I read to you.

344. Those were bills brought to you by Henry Welch?—Most of them would be, because some of them I did not know anything at all about, and he would send the people with the bill very likely.

345. You told me that those bills you were mentioning were bills brought to you by Henry Welch, and when I asked you to read them out you read me first one of Mr. Farraday, then next one of Mr. Foxcroft, and then you came to Mr. Stanley, 21*l.* 4*s.* Now where is that bill of 21*l.* 4*s.* brought to you by Henry Welch?—I do not think it came from Henry Welch; I should obtain it from Mr. Stanley himself.

346. From whom did you obtain it?—From Mr. Stanley.

347. That 21*l.* 4*s.* was not one of the thirty bills brought to you by Henry Welch?—No.

348. That being so, was any bill of Mr. Stanley's brought to you by Henry Welch?—No, none. I remember distinctly Mr. Stanley bringing his bills.

349. You recollect that that bill of 21*l.* 4*s.* was not brought to you by Henry Welch. Were the whole of the bills which you paid brought to you by Henry Welch, the eight of 10*l.* and the two others of 6*l.* and 3*l.* each?—I would rather say sent to me by Henry Welch.

350. They came to you from Henry Welch?—Yes.

351. You have told me that that was about a week before or shortly before the 12th of September?—Yes.

352. Had those bills been paid when they came to your hands?—No, I paid them.

353. None of these bills were paid until you had looked over them and given the money for them?—No; I do not know whether I paid them myself, but they were paid in my office.

354. You gave the money for them?—Yes.

355. Those are the bills mentioned in the book?—Yes.

356. Besides that you say there was a bill of 21*l.* 4*s.*?—I am going to explain about that 21*l.* 4*s.*

357. You say that bill of 21*l.* 4*s.* was given to you by Mr. Stanley himself?—If you will allow me I can explain it. Mr. Stanley's was the chief committee room, and of course I knew Mr. Stanley had a bill, and these are some bills of his. 30*l.* 2*s.* 6*d.* is one bill and 38*l.* 7*s.* 4*d.* is another. In that 38*l.* 7*s.* 4*d.* bill there are these words, "Committee-room No. 1, "16 guineas; members' private room, 3*l.* 4*s.*; extra "committee room, two days, 1*l.* 4*s.*" Very well; I pay this bill as it is, and when I send my abstract to the Town Clerk, I have to put down Committee-rooms under one head, so I took it out of this bill, and that is the reason why the item of 21*l.* 4*s.* does not appear in my book.

358. Where does the difference between 21*l.* 4*s.* and 38*l.* 7*s.* 4*d.* appear?—In the book, of course, it is 38*l.* 7*s.* 4*d.*, but in the abstract it will be under another heading. Here is the entry, "Jacob Stanley, for refreshment and Committee-room clerks, 17*l.* 3*s.* 4*d.*" In the abstract I sent to Mr. Swainson I divided the bill. Of course I could not call the whole bill "Committee-rooms." I put, as the fact was, 21*l.* 4*s.* Committee-rooms, and the rest for refreshment.

359. Upon what principle did you select as to which of these houses should be paid for and which should not be paid?—I think it was this way: I took what had been paid the last time.

360. What do you call "the last time?"—The last contested election; they were the principal houses we had, and I paid them.

361. Can you tell me at all what the amount of the other houses were; I see that eleven were paid for out of the thirty?—I cannot say; I should say they would get 5*l.* or 10*l.*

362. Had they all been used as Committee-rooms?—Yes, for bringing voters up.

363. Why had you not paid for them?—I considered the total amount, 100*l.* odd, was quite sufficient for me to pay.

364. Am I to understand that you did not know these other sums were to be paid?—I knew they had claims.

365. And you knew they would be met?—I supposed they would.

366. You had no doubt of it?—Of course I had no doubt they would be met.

367. Will you tell me why you paid these particular bills, which you have entered, and not the others?—So that my legal expenses might not appear very large; there is no doubt about that. It is easy enough to see what the reason was.

368. Your object was to make them balance as nearly as possible with the other side?—I did not know the amount on the other side.

369. To make them something about 1,200*l.*?—Yes.

370. You had no other reason?—No other reason.

371. That being so will you tell me how you reconcile this with your previous answer that you did not know about any other money being expended excepting these sums paid by you as election agent?—The question put to me was, Was I present?

372. That was the question put by me to you, but not what my learned brother put to you?—I was coming to this, and the Commissioner put it sharply, "Was I present?" and I said "No."

373. You have not the slightest doubt that there was other money paid?—No doubt at all.

374. Will you tell me to what extent that absence of a slightest doubt goes?—I have no doubt whatever that these public-houses were paid, because the men would have had claims for them.

375. To the extent of some 20 or more public-houses?—I should say 20.

376. And these 20 to the tune of 5*l.* a house or more?—Yes.

377. I see all these other houses, with the exception of two, are put at 10*l.* apiece?—Yes.

378. Was there any difference between the position of the persons occupying the houses entered in the book and the position of the persons occupying the houses which are not entered?—Some of them, no doubt. Some of them would be beerhouses.

379. And a beerhouse would have something less than 10*l.*?—Yes, there was a different scale, I think, for beerhouses.

380. What was the difference between Mr. Faraday's and Mr. Foxcroft's house?—I do not know either of the houses.

381. What was the difference, if any, between Mr. Foxcrofts' house and Mr. Richmonds'?—Richmonds' house is a substantial and good house. It is a commercial house in the market place.

382. It is a house for the use of which you would pay 10*l.*?—Yes.

383. Foxcroft's is only a 3*l.* house I see?—I did not arrange the amount that was to be paid.

384. Mr. Farraday's house is a 5*l.* house. Why is that 5*l.* and the others 10*l.*?—I have not the slightest idea; perhaps he might be paid before he knew that the other people got 10*l.*

385. Then it was priority of payment that caused him to get 5*l.* instead of 10*l.*?—Perhaps so. No doubt they were glad to get quit of them as soon as they could.

386. The others hearing that the other side got 10*l.* would claim 10*l.* also. I may take it, that there were bills for public-houses ranging from 5*l.* to 10*l.*?—Yes. I may mention this circumstance,—when Mr. Stanley brought his bill to me there was a part of it which I refused to pay. I think he had put too much down.

387. How much of it?—I could not say how much; it would be 18*l.* or 20*l.*

388. In addition to the 68*l.* you had allowed?—Yes.

FIRST DAY.

Mr. W. Tilly.

27 Aug. 1866.

389. So we will take it on the score of public-houses alone, you knew of claims which were sure to be paid of something like 200*l.*?—Yes, no doubt about it.

390. That being so, now tell us of any other claims you knew of which were sure to be paid by other persons except those occupying public-houses?—Not one that I knew was sure to be paid: I knew of no other claims.

391. You knew of no other claims except public-houses?—Yes, that is right.

392. Why did you not tell me about these public-houses before when I first asked you the question?—Because I beg to say the question was not asked. I should have come to the public-houses, but I was asked questions about rumours which it would be impossible for anybody to answer, and besides I did not see any of these paid and could not swear that they were paid, though I have no doubt about it.

393. What other bills did Welch bring you besides these public-house bills?—None at all.

394. He was only to account for public-houses?—I do not know: he was a person engaged about the election, and of course I did not know what public-houses were engaged. A person would not come to me with a bill and say, "Pay me this." I had to make inquiries.

395. What position did you recognize Henry Welch as occupying with regard to this election?—I do not know what to call him exactly. He was a committee man.

396. Did you pay him this money for the public-houses simply as a committee man?—I gave him no money for public-houses.

397. Did you receive these bills from him and select which should be paid and which not simply as a committee man?—I will explain how it all arose. I asked Henry Welch something about the public-houses, and I said that the bills had not come in and you will see that it was very near the end when they did come in. He had a list of them, and I said I am not going to pay them all, I had better only pay some of them, and with regard to those I had to pay the people came to me with their bills.

398. Am I to understand that the people who you selected from Henry Welch as the persons who were to be paid came to you for their money?—Yes, and they were paid in my office.

399. Did anybody else come to you besides these persons whom you paid?—No.

400. Do I understand from you, that no single person has made a claim upon you for money with the exception of these persons to whom you paid the monies set down in this book?—No.

401. Nobody?—Allow me; perhaps some of the other public-houses might have come and I refused to pay them.

402. Which of the other public-houses might have come whom you refused to pay?—I cannot say.

403. You have no recollection at all?—No, I do not know the people.

404. Have you taken no note of any person who called upon you to make a claim which you thought should not be paid?—No.

405. I presume you knew the persons who came?—Mr. Welch either put his initials to them or there was something about them by which I knew I was to pay them.

406. The bills you paid were bills which they brought to you initialled "H. W."?—Yes, there were either the initials or a message.

407. Did you pay upon a verbal message?—No, I do not suppose I would.

408. Did you or did you not? Did you pay any other bills than those which were initialled "H. W."?—He might have sent a note with them.

409. Besides that, did you pay any others?—I paid no others. It was necessary I should know the persons.

410. You cannot give me the name of any other person who brought a bill which you refused to pay?—No.

411. (Mr. Newton). You say you knew that these public-houses were to be paid for by somebody?—Oh yes.

412. Who was the somebody who was to pay for them?—Henry Welch had a list, and whether he would pay for them with his own hands or not, I do not know.

413. Why should he pay; he was not the agent?—Well?

414. He was not a sub-agent?—Of course not.

415. Where was he to get the money?—That I do not know. I never asked Mr. Welch. I never had any conversation with him upon the subject.

416. You told Mr. Hill just now that you knew of no money ever having been paid for any purposes except the public-houses, and you told me afterwards that you knew nothing whatever of any money having been paid at all. You tell us now that you knew somebody was to pay for those public-houses, and I want to know where you suppose the money was to come from?—Well, I do not know where the money was to come from.

417. Did that never occur to you?—It never did. I knew it was to come from somewhere.

418. Was it to come from the clouds?—It was no part of my business to suppose anything. I supposed that Mr. Welch would have the money.

419. Where did you suppose he was to get it from? I do not know.

420. He would not coin it?—No, he could not, of course.

421. Did it never occur to you to ask him?—Certainly not. I do not think I should have done my duty as agent if I had made the inquiry.

422. I think you would. Did you know at that time that there was a great deal more expense incurred than what you had actually returned to the returning officer?—But I had only to render an account of what I had paid myself.

423. You were agent?—I was agent for the payment of expenses.

424. You were agent for the payment of all expenses according to the Act of Parliament, and yet you knew that there were several other expenses incurred which you did not return?—I had to return what I had paid.

425. You had to return all the expenses?—I beg your pardon. If you refer to the Act, I think you will see differently.

426. The Act says, that no payment shall be made otherwise than through the authorized agents. Was Henry Welch an authorized agent?—No; I was the only authorized agent.

427. Then how could you allow Henry Welch to pay for public-houses which you did not return?—I should wish to know how I could prevent him.

428. If these were legal expenses you might have put them in?—Only I did not pay them.

429. Were they paid?—That I cannot swear. I can only say that I believe they were paid of course, but I did not see any of them paid.

430. When do you believe that they were paid?—Well I should say they would be paid somewhere about the 12th of September.

431. By whom do you believe they were paid?—That I do not know; I cannot tell. I only go thus far: I should say that they were paid either by Mr. Welch or by some person authorized by him. That is the extent to which I can go.

432. If Mr. Welch did not do it, who would the person be?—That I cannot tell you.

433. If you had made an open breast of it at once, we should not have been delayed all this time. We are obliged to draw it out of you. You have been fencing with us the whole time. Who do you suppose paid for these public-houses if Henry Welch did not?—I have not the slightest idea. I was asked questions about rumours which it would be impossible for any man to answer.

434. I ask you who paid the money for these 20 extra public-houses?—I never made the inquiry.

435. You never troubled your head about it?—Never. After I had paid these sums I have mentioned, and made my return, that was all I had to do.

436. And yet you call yourself the accredited authorized agent, and permitted these payments to be made by other persons than yourself?—The word "permit" would imply a power to prevent.

437. You had the power to prevent had you not?—I might have paid them myself no doubt.

438, You were the authorized agent?—Yes,

439. What made you select the public-houses that you were to pay, and the public-houses that Welch was to pay?—I have already said the object was that the amount should not seem to be so very large.

440. So that you might have two amounts?—No, not that—The result would be to have two amounts no doubt; but that was not the object. The object was this: there were more public-houses engaged than I thought it would be proper to put into my return, and therefore I refused to pay some of them.

441. Who did engage the public-houses at the first beginning?—Well, I hardly know; I think Mr. Knowles Allinson, at least I guess he did, because he is a publican himself, and he would know them.

442. And how many were engaged?—I have already said I should think about 30, there might be more or less.

443. And you paid for ten?—Yes.

444. And left the other 20 to be paid by somebody?—By somebody.

445. You told me that you believed that this conversation with Welch, when you selected these public-houses, was shortly before the 12th of September?—I think it was about then.

446. In this book I see these payments are said to have been made in August; how can you reconcile these two statements?—I think you will find that they were not all made in August.

447. You say the conversation took place shortly before the 12th of September, and I see that the payments were made in August?—I think you will find if you will refer to the book, that almost all of them were made about the 12th of September; I know the bulk of them would be made then.

448. You say you heard these rumours within a week after the election?—What rumours?

449. Rumours of bribery?—No. I think I did not say that.

450. When did you first hear of rumours of bribery?—I should wish instead of being questioned in that manner to have what I said read to me.

451. When did you first hear rumours of bribery?—I should say that I heard them even before the election, because you hear them every day.

452. What sort of rumours were they?—Mere general rumours.

453. Just give us a notion what the rumours were, or what the nature of them was?—The most correct notion that I could give of them would be, that they were rumours that bribery was going on.

454. But in what way?—By money being paid, and that kind of thing.

455. By money being paid, how?—By bribery is generally meant money paid for a vote. One would hear that there was going to be bribery, or something like that. That was about the extent of the rumours of bribery that I knew of.

456. Before the election you heard rumours of that kind?—I think so.

457. On which side were there rumours of bribery?—On both sides.

458. But you cannot give us the name of any person from whom you heard those rumours?—No, I cannot.

459. Was it a man in the street who told you this? Did every man, woman, and child you met talk about bribery?—Of course that is the way in which rumours are spread.

460. Have you ever had any conversation with Mr. Maxsted, your principal, about bribery?—Certainly not.

461. It never passed between you?—No, certainly not.

462. Did you ever tell Mr. Maxsted that you heard those rumours?—No, I should not be such a fool as to repeat such a thing to any person, because as to rumours of that kind, there is nothing in them, they are of no importance.

463. You think them of no importance?—No, they were of no importance to us.

464. I should have thought that you of all people in the world, were the persons to object to such rumours?—A man has no control over rumours.

465. But so important were they, that I should have thought you would have gone at once to the principal agent, and told him there were rumours afloat to the effect that bribery was going on?—I do no suppose that I spoke to him about it.

466. Did you trouble yourself about those rumours at all?—No.

467. You walked on the other side of the street, and the rumours went past you?—It is of course for you to examine me as you think proper, but I really submit that it is perfectly impossible for any man to answer a question of that kind satisfactorily, so as to give you any information.

468. You would not at first allow that there was any bribery?—I beg your pardon, I think you will find that I expressed my belief that it was an impure election. I think if you will look to my examination you will find that to be so.

469. Did you ever tell Mr. Maxsted about these extra charges for public-houses having been sent in to you by Mr. Welch?—There was no extra charge.

470. These other 20 public-houses?—I do not remember speaking to him about it.

471. Had you any conversation with the members upon the subject?—No, never.

472. Did you ever mention it to anybody?—I do not suppose I should.

473. Did you?—I do not think so.

474. Then it was a secret between you and Welsh?—It would be a secret undoubtedly; it was not a thing to be mentioned to everybody, no doubt.

475. (Mr. Barstow.) During the election were these public houses placarded, as being houses in the interest of the candidates?—Yes. I have seen them over and over again, "Mr. Fenwick and Mr. Schneider's Committee-rooms"

476. Did it strike you that there were a very large number of them?—Yes.

477. You have said you paid for ten, and that 20 were left for somebody else to pay?—I think about 20, but I have several times been turned upon with assertions that I have not made, and I wish to be very accurate.

478. Can you give us any idea how many there were altogether; were there any more than those 20. You say you paid for ten?—Yes, I paid for ten; that is correct.

479. Is it your belief that 20 covers the remainder of the houses engaged for Fenwick and Schneider?—I think it would—about 20; I think so.

480. I am speaking of the out townships as well as Lancaster?—No, it would not cover the out townships I should think.

481. You can give us no idea how many public-houses were engaged?—I could not assert it.

482. I do not ask you to assert it, I only ask you to give us an idea of the number?—I could not give you any idea.

483. But you think it probable that there were more than 20?—Yes, there are a good many out townships. There is Morecambe; there were two or three there.

484. Do you know how many were engaged at Morecambe, for instance?—No, I do not.

485. You have said several times that you heard rumours, but you cannot say from whom you heard them?—No; I could not say from whom or where I heard them.

486. Think well, because it must have been a matter of some interest to you. The election was a matter of interest to you, was it not?—My part of the election was a matter of great interest to me.

FIRST DAY

Mr. W. Tilly.

27 Aug. 1866.

487. I presume you were much interested on behalf of your candidate?—Yes.

488. And you knew I daresay that the fact of his bribing was likely to prejudice his ultimate success?—No doubt.

489. Did you take no notice then of those rumours?—No, none whatever.

490. Did you mention them to nobody?—I mentioned them to nobody. The fact is that I did not converse with people about the election.

491. But they must have conversed with you, or how could you have heard the rumours?—People do converse with you in Lancaster about things, but you do not recollect them.

492. You do not care for what any Lancaster may says, is that it?—I have not said that; that is rather different from what I did say, I submit.

493. You said that you did not pay attention to what was said?—Not to rumours of bribery, and if there was an election to-morrow, and if there were rumours of bribery, I should not pay any attention to them.

494. You cannot give us the name of any person from whom you heard rumours of bribery, or the substance of the rumours?—No, except that I have a general impression now that there were rumours about bribery.

495. That is all you can tell us?—That is all I can tell you about that. I wish you clearly to understand that the only money I am acquainted with is the money in the book. Those public-houses I did not pay. That is all I know about it. Is there any necessity for me to ask for a certificate with reference to those public-houses?

(Mr. Barstow.) No, that is a matter which we will decide afterwards.

Mr. T. Gibson.

Mr. Thomas Gibson sworn and examined.

496, (Mr. Hill.) What are you?—A solicitor.

497. Practising at Lancaster?—Yes.

498. How long have you resided in Lancaster?—I am one of the firm of Maxsted and Gibson now.

499. How long have you resided in Lancaster?—Rather more than five years.

500. Have you been in practice as an attorney during those five years?—I have.

501. Are you in practice by yourself now?—No, I am in partnership with Mr. Maxsted.

502. On the 12th of July 1865 were you in partnership with Mr. Maxsted or by yourself?—I was by myself.

503. Is that the Mr. Maxsted of whom we have been speaking, the gentleman who is now sitting below you?—Yes.

504. In July 1865 what was your position with regard to the then election?—I was agent for election expenses.

505. For whom?—For Mr. Lawrence.

506. When did you first become acquainted with Mr. Lawrence or with Mr. Lawrence's party?—A few weeks before the election, but I am not sure what time it was.

507. Was it some time in June?—I think it would be.

508. You then first became acquainted with the fact that Mr. Lawrence was going to stand for Lancaster?—Yes.

509. In point of fact it was about the time of the dissolution?—Yes, it was.

510. You were sole agent?—For election purposes I was.

511. Who was the general agent for Mr. Lawrence in Lancaster?—Do you mean his legal agent?

512. Yes.—Mr. Christopher Thornton Clark.

513. Did your appointment come from Mr. Clark, or from Mr. Lawrence?—From Mr. Clark.

514. Of course it was made by Mr. Lawrence, but it came from Mr. Clark?—So I understood.

515. Mr. Clark is a solicitor practising in Lancaster?—He is.

516. Had you ever before been an agent for election expenses?—I had not.

517. Do you produce your account for election expenses?—No, I have no account except that which was sent in to the Town Clerk.

518. Have you got your draft of that account?—No.

519. What has become of it?—I believe that with regard to a portion I never made any draft at all.

520. Will you (Mr. Swainson) hand to the witness the account which he sent to you?

(The account referred to is handed by Mr. Swainson to the witness.)

521. Is that the book which you so sent in?—Yes.

522. What was the amount of election expenses which you set down as incurred by Mr. Lawrence, and on behalf of Mr. Lawrence, at that election?—1,129*l.* 3*s.*

523. That is the gross amount?—That is the gross amount.

524. At what date did you send that in to Mr. Swainson?—On the 11th of September.

525. Did you pay those monies yourself amounting to 1,129*l.* 3*s.*?—No, not all of them.

526. How much of them, or about how much in round figures?—All, except, I should think, 200*l.*

527. You paid about 900*l.* yourself?—Yes, I should think it would be something over that.

528. By whom was the balance of 229*l.* paid?—I do not even know whether it was paid at all.

529. That being so, we will go back first of all to the 900*l.*; from whom did you receive the money with which to pay those sums amounting to 900*l.*?—I got it from Mr. Wilson Barker.

530. Who is Mr. Wilson Barker?—A draper in Church Street.

531. We are speaking of the 900*l.* now?—Yes.

532. As far as I understand you about 900*l.* passed through your own hands?—Yes.

533. Mr. Wilson Barker you say is a draper in Church Street?—Yes.

534. In what form did you receive that 900*l.*?—I think it was in cash; I received it at different times.

535. Did you receive no checks?—No checks; all I received I received in cash.

536. Notes and gold?—Yes.

537. At what date did you receive the first instalment?—I believe it was within a week of the election.

538. You kept some account, I suppose?—No, I kept no account whatever except what I have returned here.

539. But you have not put down there the monies you received?—I have no other account whatever.

540. Do you mean to say that you received money from Mr. Wilson Barker in various sums, and that you kept no account of the sums you so received?—I kept an account, I believe, at the time, but I destroyed the memoranda immediately I sent in my account to the Town Clerk.

541. In what amounts did you receive that sum of 900*l.*?—I cannot say; I forget entirely how I received it.

542. About?—It has escaped my memory entirely.

543. About?—I remember receiving 100*l.* from him, but that is the only fact I can speak to.

544. We will begin with that, if you please; when did you receive that 100*l.*?—That was within a week of the election.

545. Before or after the election?—After.

546. Had you received any monies before that?—I had not.

547. Then the first sum you received at all was this 100*l.* about a week after the election?—It was.

548. Did you receive that 100*l.* from Mr. Barker at his house or at your office?—I believe it was in his shop.

549. Do you know at all whether it was in large notes or in small?—No, I do not.

550. Have you no recollection at all about it ?—No.

551. What did you do with that 100*l.* ?—I paid a whole lot of what are called staff men.

552. That was the first payment you made ?—That was the first payment I made.

553. Now hand me your book, if you please (the witness does so). The first sum I see paid in your book is to Christopher Thompson Clark, retainer and professional services, 114*l.* 13*s.* ; when did you pay that ?—I never paid it at all.

554. Why then is it entered in your book ?—Because I did not like to leave it out.

555. Will you explain that to me, if you please ?—I did not receive the money to pay Mr. Clark with, and therefore I did not pay him.

556. From whom did you receive the account of that sum having been paid to him ?—I did not receive it, but he sent in his account claiming that.

557. Mr. Clark sent in a statement of a sum of 114*l.* 13*s.* being due to him ?—Yes.

558. That sum you did not pay ?—No, I did not.

559. Do you know whether Mr. Clark has been paid or not ?—I do not.

560. The next payment I see is Robert Hall, ditto, 26*l.* 5*s.* ; who is Mr. Hall ?—A solicitor, and one of the agents.

561. That is 25 guineas ?—Yes.

562. That has been paid, I presume ?—Yes, I paid that.

563. You put a tick against it in your book ?—I do not think that those ticks are mine ; I do not think that they were in the book when I sent it in.

564. That sum was paid ?—Yes, I paid that.

565. Then there is Thomas Gibson, 25 guineas ; that is yourself ?—Yes.

566. Has that been paid ?—Yes.

567. Thomas Gibson, as agent for election expenses, 10*l.* ; that was paid ?—Yes, that was paid.

568. Thomas Gibson paid for telegrams 1*l.* 15*s.* ?—That has been paid.

569. Then comes George Danson, leading the canvass ?—Yes.

570. What is that ?—I believe it consists in carrying the book, and taking the candidate into places in which he is likely to find voters.

571. 50*l.* ?—Yes, that was paid.

572. What is Mr. George Danson ?—He is an auctioneer.

573. Then we come to the printing, stationery, and advertising, that amounts altogether to 120*l.* 18*s.* 6*d.*, has that been paid ?—That has been paid.

574. I will put a red mark against those which you say have been paid; the stationery has been paid ?—Yes.

575. Mr. Sly, for carriages, 14*l.* 9*s.* 9*d.*, has that been paid ?—I am not sure.

576. Mr. Sly, for canvassing in the country, 151*l.* 17*s.* 0*d.* ?—I do not think I paid that, I believe it has been paid, but I did not pay it.

577. Is that for fly hire ?—Yes, that was for fly hire.

578. Now, as to other persons by whom there is a charge made for fly hire, McCann, Hayle, Scott, Hutton, Bell, Hayes of Preston, Smith, Tait, and Jackson, have they been paid ?—Yes, I believe I paid them, but I am not sure.

579. Have you any voucher for those payments ?—I have sent it in to the Town Clerk.

580. Did you keep no account of what you sent in to the Town Clerk beyond this book ?—None whatever.

581. And you cannot tell what monies have been paid ?—I cannot.

582. (Mr. Newton.) Then are we to understand you to say that if one of these gentlemen were to bring an action against you to-morrow, for sums received to his use, you could not get into the witness-box and say whether those sums had been paid or not ?—No, I should apply to the Town Clerk, to let me see my vouchers.

583. Then the Town Clerk's vouchers would be your guide ?—They would be my guide.

584. If they were destroyed you could give no evidence as to the payment of these sums to the amount of 434*l.* 18*s.* 3*d.* ; that is, if it so happened that the vouchers given to the Town Clerk were destroyed, and you were sued for these monies, you could not say whether you had paid them or not ?—I do not think I should take the trouble, I do not think that an action would lie against me.

585. I am speaking of an action for money received to the use of these persons ; do you wish it to go abroad to all these persons (and I beg you to be careful) that if anything has happened to the Town Clerk's vouchers they may bring an action against you, and you cannot get into the witness-box and say that they have been paid ?—I do not care whether they bring an action or not, but if they do I think I shall be prepared to show that they were paid.

586. If so, I will trouble you to give me that proof now ?—No, I cannot do it.

587. You cannot now tell the Commissioners whether these sums have been paid or not ?—Yes, I can.

588. Have they been paid ?—They have been paid.

589. Why did you not tell me so at first ?—I did.

590. I beg your pardon, you told me you could not say ?—I remembered afterwards.

591. You remember, now that I put to you the possibility of these gentlemen bringing actions against you ?—That would not influence me at all ; but I happened to cast my eyes on the papers that are lying before the Town Clerk.

592. When ?—This moment.

593. Do you see them now ?—I see something that looks like them.

594. Then, the fact of the vouchers being there leads you to the knowledge that these sums were paid ?—They remind me that they are there, and that I should be able to get them, if necessary.

595. Do you mean to say that you have no personal recollection of the payment, to any of the persons, of these large sums ?—I do ; I have no personal recollection whatever of paying them.

596. You have no personal recollection of the payment to Tait for carriages, to the amount of 60*l.*, or to James Jackson to the amount of 61*l.*, or to these other perons, the whole amounting to 431*l.* ?—That is so.

597. (Mr. Hill.) By whom were the sums paid for the Committee-rooms ?—They were paid by me, except, I believe, at the "Royal Oak;" I do not think I paid that.

598. That is one at the head ; 30*l.* ?—Yes.

599. I see that the entry for Committee-rooms is to the amount of 123*l.* 4*s.* 6*d.*, did you pay for all those Committee-rooms ?—I say I paid for them all, except the "Royal Oak."

600. You, yourself ?—I, myself.

601. When were the bills brought in to you ?—They were sent in very soon after the election. I should think a fortnight or three weeks afterwards.

602. And how soon after they were sent in did you pay them ?—I do not think they were paid till the 10th or 11th of September, the day on which I sent in my account.

603. The total amount of expenses you have returned as being 1,121*l.* 3*s.* 0*d.* ; when did you receive the next sum after the 100*l.* of which you have spoken ?—I do not remember.

604. You have no doubt that between that date and the 11th of September you received about 900*l.* ?—I believe so.

605. Why do you fix upon the sum of 900*l.* ?—Because my idea is that I paid all except Mr. Clark's bill, and the "Royal Oak," and Mr. Sly's bill for carriages at the "King's Arms," and I calculated them at about 200*l.* ; it seems they were rather more.

606. Were those bills brought in to you by the parties themselves ?—Some of them were.

607. And by whom were the others brought in ?—Some came by post, and others were delivered at my office ; I do not know how they got there.

608. Did you pay those that were delivered at your office, as to which you do not know how they got there ?—Those that are in that book I paid.

609. How did you pay them ?—In cash.

610. Did you pay them to the persons themselves ?—Mostly ; I think I took the trouble to wait on some of them personally.

FIRST DAY.

Mr. T. Gibson.

27 Aug. 1866.

611. What other bills, if any, came in to you which you did not pay?—There were a great many.

612. What was the character of those bills?—Several of them were for refreshments at public-houses, and several of them were for work done as canvassers, and one of them was for oysters, I believe, supplied to voters.

613. (Mr. Barstow.) That was in July?—Yes.

614. (Mr. Newton.) Refreshment for canvassers?—Yes. I think so.

615. (Mr. Hill.) Why did you refuse to pay for the oysters?—Because I thought they were illegal refreshment, and that the men should pay for them for eating them in July.

616. What was the reason why you refused to pay the bills for the other public-houses that were sent in?—I thought they were illegal bills.

617. Tell me in what way you thought they were illegal?—They were for supplying meat and drink to voters.

618. Then it was only bills from houses that had given supplies of meat and drink to voters that you refused to pay?—I think so.

619. When did you make out this book?—The night before I sent it in.

620. When was that?—That would be on the 10th of September.

621. You sent in this book with the vouchers?—With the vouchers. I may explain that I did not get a considerable part of the money to pay them with until that very day, and I was kept until a very late hour that night making out the account, and I made no rough draft.

622. How much of the 900*l.* had you received at that date?—I cannot recollect.

623. 500*l.*?—I do not remember.

624. 100*l.*?—I do not know, I should say it was more.

625. Was it 200*l.*?—I do not know.

626. Had you received up to that time, to the best of your belief, somewhat over 700*l.*?—I believe so.

627. And was all this money paid to you by Mr. Barker at his shop, did you go over to his shop for it?—I believe I did, all of it.

628. Did you make an application, first of all, to Mr. Barker for a larger sum than 100*l.*?—No. I did not.

629. What was your first application to Mr. Barker?—For 100*l.*

630. Did you receive that at once from Mr. Barker?—Within a day or two.

631. What was your next application to Mr. Barker?—I do not remember.

632. To pay what bills was it?—I do not remember; it would be those which were the most pressing.

633. But you cannot recollect what the amount was that he gave to you, then?—No, I cannot.

634. Do you recollect at all when you made your next application?—No, I do not.

635. Did you, in point of fact, receive money more than twice from Mr. Barker?—I believe I received it at three or four times.

636. The last time the amount was something over 100*l.* and the first time it was 100*l.*, but what took place at the other two times you do not remember?—No, I remember very little of any payment whatever except the first.

637. Your memory is so bad that you have no recollection of what took place fifteen months ago with reference to receiving so large a sum of money as 900*l.*?—It is as far as that is concerned; I do not remember.

638. Is it on that subject only that your memory is so very defective?—I believe so.

639. Do you, as a professional man, give me that as your answer? Let me remind you that you stand in a different position from some of the other witnesses. Do you, as a professional man, tell members of the same profession as yourself that on that topic alone you have a bad memory? Do you wish that to go down upon the notes?—I say that if I have a bad memory on that topic it is the only one with regard to which I have a bad memory.

640. On that topic you say you do not remember when or in what sums you became possessed of something like eight or nine hundred pounds?—I do.

641. Did you hear, during the time of the election, of any bribery going on?—Oh, yes.

642. From whom did you hear that?—I do not remember any particular person telling me so.

643. Were you mixing with persons of both sides in politics?—No, not at that time.

644. You never conversed with anybody of opposite politics to yourself?—No, I think not.

645. Can you tell me of any sums of money that you heard of as money that had been paid on account of that election?—Do you mean besides what went through my hands?

646. Yes.—I only heard general rumours of sums being paid.

647. From whom did you hear those rumours?—I cannot recollect.

648. To what extent did you hear of money having been paid?—I did hear a rumour that there had been something like 7,000*l.* paid.

649. On which side?—I heard that that was the average on both sides.

650. 7,000*l.* on each side?—Yes.

651. When did you hear that?—Within two or three days of the election.

652. Before or after the election?—After the election.

653. Did you yourself see any money paid except this which was paid into your hands on account of the election?—I did not.

654. Not by any one or to any one?—I did not.

655. Did you hear in what way this money had been applied to the extent of 7,000*l.* on each side?—No, not in any particular way.

656. What do you mean by "not in any particular way?"—I mean not for any particular purpose. I heard that it had been applied in public-houses and in bribery.

657. What did you understand by bribery?—Paying a man for his vote.

658. You heard that these sums of money had been applied in public-houses and in paying people for their votes?—I did.

659. Did you hear any class of persons mentioned to whom this money had been paid?—No, I did not.

660. Then the rumours which you heard were of a very vague character?—Very vague.

661. They did not fix upon any person at all?—No.

662. How came you to apply to Mr. Wilson Barker for this money?—The general understanding was that he was the treasurer.

663. You received your appointment from Mr. Clark, who directed you to apply to Mr. Barker for money?—Mr. Wilson, of Liverpool. I believe I applied first to Mr. Wilson, and he referred me to Mr. Barker.

664. When did you receive your instructions from Mr. Wilson?—Within a few days of the election.

665. What were his instructions to you?—On any money matters to apply to Mr. Barker.

666. Was that before the election?—That was after the election.

667. Was Mr. Wilson over here at the time of the election?—He was.

668. And for some time before the election?—Yes, he was here for a fortnight, I should think.

669. Had you known Mr. Wilson before?—I had.

670. When?—For the last two years I had known him slightly.

671. What is Mr. Wilson?—I believe he is a ship-owner.

672. Is he connected with the ship-building company?—He is; he is chairman or vice-chairman, I think.

673. Had Mr. Schneider or Mr. Fenwick anything to do with that ship-building company?—Not that I know of.

674. Who else is connected with it?—Do you mean as a director?

675. Yes.—Mr. William Storey is a director, and Mr. Saunders is a director.

676. Is that the Mr. Saunders who stood for Lancaster?—Yes.

677. Against Mr. Fenwick?—Yes; I think Mr. William Satterthwaite also.

678. Have you had anything to do in a professional way with the Ship-building Company ?—I have not.

679. So that it was not from that that you became recommended ?—No.

680. Did you receive written instructions from Mr. Wilson to call on Mr. Barker for any money you should want ?—Yes, I did, I believe.

681. Have you got those written instructions ?—I have not.

682. What have you done with them ?—I destroyed them at the same time that I destroyed all the other election papers.

683. What other election papers did you destroy ?—Some rough drafts of accounts.

684. What accounts ?—Of monies I had paid and monies I had received as election agent.

685. Where were those rough drafts copied before they were destroyed ?—Into this book.

686. Were there any others destroyed except such as were copied in this book ?—There might be.

687. Were there not ?—There were.

688. What were those other drafts ?—Drafts of a lot of staff men that I paid who I did not put into the book.

689. How many did you pay that you did not put into the book ?—I should think about 100.

690. How much were those staff men each paid ?—Ten shillings apiece.

691. Those men do not appear in this book ?—No.

692. Nor in the other accounts that were made up from this book ?—No, they do not appear.

693. That would be to the amount of 50*l.* ?—50*l.*

694. You say that you destroyed other papers ; what other papers did you destroy ? I must ask you now on your oath ?—I was thinking ; I do not remember at present any others.

695. Just try and recollect what other papers you destroyed ?—I believe I destroyed the old list of voters.

696. What other accounts did you destroy ?—No other accounts whatever.

697. Do you tell me that the only account you destroyed which is not in this book was an account as to the 100 staff men ?—And the drafts of those accounts which are in the book.

698. Do I understand you to say that the only account you destroyed which is not in your book is the account of 100 staff men, amounting to about 50*l.* ?—And the drafts of those accounts.

699. I have excepted them already. Do yo mean to say that there were no others ?—There were no others.

700. When did you pay the 100 staff men ?—Within a week after the election.

701. Did you receive that 50*l.* from Mr. Barker ?—I did.

702. Was that part of the 900*l.* or not ; it could not be ; it was beyond the 900*l.* ?—Yes.

703. Then you have received from Mr. Barker 50*l.* besides the 900*l.* ?—That is my belief.

704. What other expenses were there brought before you besides these staff men ?—There were bills for public-houses, for refreshments and for canvassing.

705. Where are they ?—I do not know where they are.

706. Where are they entered ?—They are not entered anywhere that I know of.

707. How many public-houses were they for ?—I have not the least idea.

708. Twenty or thirty ?—I should think there would be.

709. To what amount for each house ?—Some of them were as high as 20*l.* or 30*l.* ; I daresay down to 5*l.*

700. May we take the average at 10*l.* or more ?—I think it may fairly be taken at 10*l.*

711. Then there would be public-houses to the amount of 300*l.* ?—Bills were sent in.

712. What did you do with those bills ?—When the bills came in they came pretty thick, and when I got a good number together I called different parties together who had been actively engaged in the election, and we went through those bills.

713. Who were those parties ?—Mr. George Clark, Mr. Coupland, Mr. William Cross, and Mr. James Hatch. I do not think there were any more. If I recollect any more I will tell you immediately.

714. You called these persons together to have a consultation as to what should be done with those bills, as they came in pretty thickly ?—Yes.

715. From what other people did they come in besides from public-houses ?—Only a lot of voters who called themselves canvassers.

716. To what extent did bills for the so-called canvassers come in ?—There would be perhaps 30 or 40 of them.

717. What payment does a so-called canvasser generally require ?—He sets his services at about 5*l.*

718. There would be 20 or 30 at 5*l.* ?—There would.

719. What else besides those ?—I do not recollect any others, I think that canvassing for so many days was a sort of general term with them to cover anything they might happen to have done.

720. Then the only claims with respect to which you called this council of war were from 20 or 30 public-houses, and 20 or 30 canvassers ?—I think so.

721. Did the council meet at your house ?—No, we met at the "King's Arms."

722. Some evening shortly after the election ?—Yes, some afternoon or evening ; we met more than once.

723. Before your accounts went in ?—Yes, before the accounts went in.

724. Will you be good enough to tell me who took the chair at the meeting of the council ; did you ?—I do not think we had a chairman, I forgot to say that Mr. William Storry was one of them.

725. He is one of the ship-building directors ?—Yes.

726. He would be personally engaged in the matter, taking a considerable interest in the election ?—Yes.

727. Is he a Liverpool gentleman ?—No, he is a Lancaster gentleman.

728. When this council met at the "King's Arms," did you lay before them the bills that had been sent in ?—I did.

729. Or a list of them ?—No, the bills themselves.

730. The canvassers did not send in any bills, did they ?—Yes, they sent in regular bills.

731. How did they make out their bills ?—"Mr. Lawrence's Committee to John Smith, six days' canvassing, 5*l.*"

732. That was the form ?—That was the form.

733. These bills would be on slips of paper, I suppose, and you laid them before the council at the "King's Arms" ?—I did.

734. And at that time were there also laid before the council any other bills ?—The whole of the bills that were sent in were laid before them.

735. Any besides these which were repudiated ?—Yes, the legitimate bills as we went through them.

736. And the council selected which were legitimate, and which were illegitimate ?—Yes, I took away the legitimate ones.

737. What became of the illegitimate ones ?—I always left them on the table for them to do what they liked with them.

738. Who made the selection ?—A bill would be taken up, and it would be said that it ought to be paid.

739. You went through them regularly ?—Yes, and anybody who had any objections to make was very quickly heard.

740. Of what character were the objections ?—"That is not a proper bill, it ought not to be paid."

741. And no cause assigned ?—No, I think not.

742. It was a peremptory challenge ?—Yes, a peremptory challenge.

743. You say that you took the legitimate bills away with you ?—I did.

744. And the illegitimate ones were left on the table ?—Yes.

FIRST DAY.
Mr. T. Gibson.
27 Aug. 1866.

745. Who was left in charge of the illegitimate bills?—The gentlemen who happened to be present.

746. When you went out did you leave the other gentlemen there?—Yes, I did.

747. Were the bills tacked together and given into the hands of some one of them?—I do not know what became of them.

748. You cannot tell whether any of those gentlemen took possession of them?—I cannot, I should have stated that Mr. Wilson Barker, I believe, was present on the occasion.

749. I am sorry you forgot him, we shall begin to believe in the badness of your memory. Did Mr Wilson Barker look over the bills?—He did.

750. Was it not at that meeting that Mr. Wilson Barker provided you with some of the money?—I think not.

751. Was it not the same evening at his house?—It might be, it would be within a short time, no doubt.

752. For the purpose of paying these legitimate bills?—Yes.

753. And what became of the illegitimate bills you do not know; you have seen nothing of them from that day to this?—No.

754. Have you never heard of them since?—I have had people bothering me.

755. Have they left off bothering you lately?—Yes, within a month after the election they bothered me.

756. Then in your belief they have been settled?—I do not know anything of that.

757. You think they have, do you not?—I should think that some of them have, not all.

758. Do you think that these 20 or 30 public-houses have not been settled with?—Some of them have.

759. How many would you say?—I do not know.

760. By how many of them have you been bothered since?—Not above half a dozen.

761. So that all, except half a dozen, we may take it for granted, have been settled with?—I do not think that, for when they bothered me I told them I had nothing to do with it.

762. Have you been troubled by the 20 or 30 canvassers since?—I think I have once or twice.

763. Have you ever met any of the canvassers since that time, these 20 or 30?—I think I have.

764. Have you no belief as to whether they have been paid since or not?—I think that nearly all of them have not been paid since; I should say that all the canvassers have not been paid.

765. These 20 or 30?—I should say that none of them have been paid.

766. To the best of your belief?—I am pretty sure they have not.

767. How many canvassers did you agree to pay at the "King's Arms"?—I have not the least idea.

768. (Mr. Newton.) Can you give me the name of any one man that you know of who has not been paid?—No, I cannot at present.

Adjourned to to-morrow, 10 o'clock.

SECOND DAY.

Lancaster Castle, Tuesday, 28th August 1866.

PRESENT:—

MR. BARSTOW. | MR. NEWTON.

MR. HILL.

SECOND DAY.
Mr. T. Gibson.
28 Aug. 1866.

Mr. THOMAS GIBSON'S examination resumed.

769. (Mr. Hill.) You were telling me yesterday of the employment of certain persons in the election as staff men?—Before you ask me any questions, perhaps you will allow me to correct a portion of the evidence that I gave yesterday; if you remember, you asked me what were the different amounts I had received and at what times; and I said, as was the fact, that I did not recollect; but at the time I received them I gave Mr. Wilson Barker a dated receipt, and no doubt those receipts are in his possession, and you will be able to find out from him what I received and when I received it.

770. Do I understand you to say that you gave him a receipt for each sum as you received it?—For each sum as I received it.—No doubt they are in his possession, and he will be able to tell you what they were, and also as to those unpaid bills. I remember that at the time I sent in my accounts to the Town Clerk there were a lot of those unpaid bills in my hands.

771. And what did you do with them?—I gave them to Mr. Wilson Barker, and I think that among them there were some accounts of my own, but I am not sure.

772. What do you mean by accounts of your own?—I think there was an account of the money I had received from him, and how I had disbursed it.

773. You think so?—I think so, but I am not certain about it.

774. What monies would those be as to the disbursements?—They would be a portion of those monies that appear in that book.

775. Or rather these that appear in the book would be a portion of them?—No, all that appear in the book were not paid if you remember by me.

776. All with the exception of 229*l.*?—I fancy so; I do not know exactly what the amount is, and of course there would also be that 50*l.* or something like 50*l.* which I paid and which does not appear in the book.

777. Besides the 50*l.* and the other sums which appear in that book, what else was there in the account which you rendered to Mr. Barker?—Nothing whatever.

778. Besides what appear in the book and besides the 50*l.* to the staff men?—No, nothing whatever.

779. Then I understand from you that those are the whole of the payments that you made?—They are.

780. This 900*l.* in the book?—Yes, or whatever it was.

781. And the 50*l.* for the staff men?—Yes.

782. And of those sums you rendered an account to Mr. Barker?—I believe I did.

783. And upon the other side of the account you debited yourself with the monies received from Mr. Barker?—I believe so, I am pretty sure so.

784. And was the account regularly balanced up?—It was, I believe there was a small balance due to me.

785. And was that balance paid to you?—No, it has not been paid, I have never asked for it.

786. To what amount was that?—Only three or four pounds.

SECOND DAY.

Mr. T. Gibson.

28 Aug. 1866.

787. Can you tell me the date of the settlement between you and Mr. Barker?—It would be sometime about the middle of September.

788. After you had sent in your account on the 11th of September?—Yes, I believe so.

789. Have you reason to believe that that account is still in existence?—I should think that Mr. Barker, being a careful man of business would keep it.

790. You know nothing further of it than that?—Nothing whatever.

791. There is nothing else that you wish to correct or to add to the evidence you gave yesterday?—No.

792. You made use of the expression yesterday,—which in fact seems to be a well recognized expression in the election—"staff men;" I want to know what were the duties of the men on the staff or the staff men?—I think those who were paid by me were men who were employed to keep the front of the hustings, and to prevent the other side from taking up all the room, and to cheer and hold up their hands for the candidate in whose employ they were.

793. The staff, then, does not refer to their being on an organized staff, but to their having staves in their hands, or something of that sort?—It is a sort of general term that will almost cover everything.

794. It has nothing to do with any employment on the Committee?—No.

795. Or on the staff of the Committee?—No.

796. The staff men were mostly voters, were they not?—No, they were all non-voters I believe; I believe that every one I paid was a non-voter.

797. But still their employment was in the election?—It was in the election.

798. Can you tell me how many voters it appears by your book were paid by you for services performed in the election; or, rather, I would put the question the other way; how many of those persons who appear in your book to have been paid for services performed at the election were voters?—I could not tell without looking at the book again, it has entirely passed out of my recollection.

799. Perhaps you will be good enough to make it out from your book and let me know?—I will.

800. And I shall be glad if you will also add to that how many of those are freemen and how many, if any, are householders?—I will.

801. (Mr. Barstow.) Had you anything to do with the selection of these staff men yourself?—I had.

802. Did you select them with reference to their being relatives or connexions of voters?—In no way. I did not even know their names, except as they gave them.

803. (Mr Newton.) Who brought them?—They came. There was an understanding that they would be wanted, I believe, and there was a great rush of men who came to be enrolled.

804. And you took them indiscriminately?—I did.

805. You have said that all that you paid were non-voters. Did anybody else pay any of the staff men?—I fancy so.

806. Who did?—I fancy Mr. Coupland, and Mr. Storey, and Mr. Hatch.

807. Anybody else?—Mr. John Cross and Mr. George Clark. I think they paid some.

808. Were those voters?—They were voters.

809. Anybody else?—James Carruthers.

810. Anybody else?—I do not remember anybody else at present.

811. You say that some of these that they paid were voters?—I do not know that they were voters.

812. (Mr. Barstow.) I understood you to say that these men—Storey, Hatch, Cross, and Clark—were voters?—They were voters.

813. (Mr. Newton.) Did they pay any staff men who were voters?—I do not know that they did.

814. Was any account kept of those expenses?—I should think there would be; I have seen no account of them.

815. Who would pay them—the person who employed them?—I fancy so.

816. (Mr. Barstow.) How came you to pay some of these staff men, and these gentlemen to pay the others?—I paid all those whose names I had taken down myself.

817. (Mr. Newton.) And was it done in the same way on the other side?—I do not know at all.

818. Are you able to speak to what was done by the other side as to staff men?—No, I have not the least idea.

819. (Mr. Hill.) You said that when you sent in your bill to the Town Clerk there were a lot of the unpaid bills in your hands. Were those the bills that we spoke of yesterday as illegitimates?—Some of them were. I think they would be bills that came in to me since we had the council meeting.

820. Those you still say you left on the table; that is those that were given in to the Council, and that you did not accept to pay?—I think they were.

821. And these others which you had in your hands at the time when you sent in your bill to the Town Clerk were further illegitimates?—They were further illegitimates.

Mr. Christopher Thornton Clark sworn and examined. Mr. C. T. Clark.

822. (Mr. Barstow.) You are a solicitor practising at Lancaster?—Yes.

823. And you have been here a long time, and are of considerable standing?—Since the year 1830, with the exception of two, I have been actively engaged in every contested election in the borough of Lancaster.

824. With the exception of two elections?—With the exception of two elections.

825. You were the agent for the petition on which Messrs. Fenwick and Schneider were unseated?—Yes; out of four election petitions which have gone from Lancaster I have been agent for three of them.

826. On which political side have you been engaged?—On the conservative side, except at one election, when I was the agent of Mr. Fenwick.

827. Which election was that?—In the year 1859.

828. I ask the question with reference to the times you have been agent to petitions?—The first was against the return of Mr. Samuel Gregson, I think in the year 1848.

829. And when afterwards?—In the same year I was agent for the Honorable Mr. Stanley, now Lord Stanley, against the return of Mr. Armstrong.

830. (Mr. Newton.) Was that in 1859?—No, in the year 1848.

831. (Mr. Barstow.) In that case the sitting member preserved his seat, did he not?—Yes, he did. They went on a scrutiny in that case only. That was Mr. Robert Baines Armstrong; there have been two Mr. Armstrong's in the borough, Mr. John Armstrong being the other.

832. What was the next occasion?—The last occasion. I was agent for Mr. Lawrence at the last election.

833. Can you tell us the date of your retainer for Mr. Lawrence?—I think it was in May of last year. I have a letter from Mr. Lawrence, and can give you the exact date if necessary.

834. That is not material; what do you consider to be the duties of an election agent?—To do the best one can for one's candidate, and to know as little as possible about illegal practices.

835. What acts did you do towards doing the best you could for your candidate?—Advising him on all occasions to the best of my judgment.

836. With reference to what?—With reference to the election generally; there are a variety of things that an agent has to do.

837. In an election there are many details, as to what would you advise him?—To arrange for his chairman, his proposer, and his seconder, those who have most interest in the neighbourhood, to whom he should write personally, and to accompany him on many occasions.

SECOND DAY.

Mr. C. T. Clark.

28 Aug. 1866.

838. Would you advise him at all with reference to his expenditure?—Certainly not.

839. Would you be consulted as to whether such and such an expense was legal or illegal?—Certainly not; I declined altogether to have anything to do with money matters.

840. Then are we to understand that you personally know nothing of any corrupt expenditure on the Conservative side at the last election?—Nothing whatever.

841. Personally I ask the question?—Nothing whatever; until the morning of the polling day I had reason to think that no money would be spent on the Conservative side.

842. From your long experience in Lancaster did you think it possible that a Conservative candidate would be returned without improper expenditure?—I did, and I was of opinion that if there was no illegal expenditure Conservatives would be returned, inasmuch as the freemen are essentially a Conservative body.

843. What is your reason for saying that the freemen are essentially a Conservative body?—One principal reason is that there is a great notion among freemen that gentlemen on the Liberal side of the question are exceedingly anxious to deprive them of their right of voting and of other rights which they naturally feel anxious to preserve.

844. What other rights do you refer to?—The right of freedom from toll, for instance; that is a very sore subject with them.

845. You said something about their being naturally anxious to preserve their rights?—Yes, to preserve rights which have no doubt long belonged to them as much as another person's property.

846. Do you refer to any other rights besides freedom from toll?—There is what the Town Clerk mentioned yesterday, the right of common over Lancaster Moor, and also a right to an equal share of the profits arising from the marsh land.

847. Can you say whether there is any idea among the body of freemen that it is the endeavour of the Liberal party to deprive them of those rights?—Among the country freemen there is a strong opinion to that effect.

848. Do you yourself as a resident in Lancaster know whether it is the wish of the Liberal party to deprive the freemen of those rights?—I do not presume to judge of people's intentions; I have heard remarks made, I do not know whether they apply generally, but I have heard remarks frequently made by persons who are not freemen against the rights of the freemen.

849. You have said that you never heard of any corrupt expenditure on the Conservative side until the morning of the polling?—On the morning of the polling day I was in the Committee-room, and was hardly out of it during the day, but from the character of the voting I felt convinced that bribery must then be going on.

850. Had you heard of any bribery on the other side before that?—I had heard an expression made use of by one of the ex-members that it should cost Mr. Lawrence 10,000*l.* to get in.

851. But I mean did any one tell you of any specific act of bribery that had been committed?—Do you mean before the election?

852. Yes, before the election?—No.

853. No such expression was used as "They are getting our voters away from us?"—Yes, I heard of one man being got out of the way; I heard that Henry Welch had a voter named Dixon locked up in his premises or adjoining.

854. That was before the election?—Yes, before the election.

854*a*. Was that the only case you heard of?—The only specific case; there were rumours, as there always are, but I do not believe that many voters were got away improperly at the last election; they came to the poll.

855. I am not alluding to what I believe is called "bottling," but to voters being bribed from your side, or being bribed over to vote for the other side?—I do not think there were many cases of that sort.

856. I mean voters whom you expected would have voted for Lawrence who voted for Fenwick and Schneider?—That I heard afterwards.

857. And not before?—No, I was chiefly in the Committee-room to receive the parties who went there.

858. What do you mean by the expression "character of the voting?"—I found people voting on our side who never had voted on our side before, and they were that class of people that I felt quite certain must have had an inducement to do so.

859. Is that all you know of the corrupt expenditure during the election?—Yes, prior to the polling day.

860. I meant to include the polling day as well?—On the polling day I heard of course a great many rumours in the Committee-room, but I know nothing of my own personal knowledge.

861. Did any voter tell you that he had had money offered by the other side on the polling day?—I cannot charge my memory with that; I was so much engaged on the polling day that I do not think it likely I should have allowed myself to be interrupted.

862. Were the voters who you found voted on your side, and whom you expected to have voted on the other side, numerous?—Yes, there were a good many of them.

863. Did you find that voters who you expected would have polled for Lawrence were polling for the other side?—Yes, a considerable number, and some men who had always voted on the Conservative side before.

864. Can you give us the names of those whom you expected to vote for you and who voted for Fenwick and Schneider?—I could not do so at present, but before you cease your sittings I could probably make out a list which would be important.

865. You could perhaps do so in the course of to-morrow?—Yes, very likely.

866. Have the kindness to do so, and also of those whom you expected to vote for you but who voted for the other side?—I will do so.

867. I think you have said that you had no information as to the means by which these voters were won over on either side at that time?—No, but since that time I have in consequence of the inquiries I have made.

868. I was just coming to that. Of course when you were agent for the petition to the House of Commons you made further inquiries?—Yes, a great many inquiries, and a very difficult matter it was to obtain information.

869. When were you first retained on the business of the petition?—The retainer would be either in December or January last; I forget which.

870. Had you made inquiries before that time?—Yes, in the meantime I had been hearing all I could upon the subject.

870*a*. From whom did you receive any material information on the subject; can you give me the names?—Do you wish for the names of the parties who gave me the information?

871. Yes?—I can give you the information I did receive, but you must excuse my giving the names of the parties.

872. I cannot excuse you; you must give me the names?—I received the information under a pledge that I would not give up the name of my informant.

873. You cannot avail yourself of any such pledge here. The course adopted at Wakefield was a very discreet one. A list of the names was furnished to the Commissioners, and I must request you to furnish us with a list of the names of the parties who gave you information upon the subject?—Yes, I will undertake to do that.

873*a*. Now I ask you generally what was the information you received?—The information I received I had better detail to you. The plan of operations I believe on both sides was this, that the town was divided into districts, with a captain over each district. The captain had under him parties who generally went by the name of lieutenants, and the same plan was adopted in each village within the radius of seven miles. In each district of the town a number of public houses were taken which went under the name of committee rooms, and so in the country, and sums varying from 5*l.* to 30*l.* were paid for these houses. In Lancaster the "Queen's" Hotel was the principal house of the Liberal party, the "Old Sir Simon's," kept by Mr. Loftus was another, and he will be able to tell you what he received for it, I daresay. The "Commercial" was another.

874. Who was the landlord of the "Commercial?"—I think his name was Richmond. The "White Lion," kept by Peter Moore, was another, and there were one or two in China Lane.

875. Do you remember the signs of them?—No, I do not exactly remember that; and in the lower part of the town where the factory and lower population lived I think the Liberal party had the whole of them.

876. What part of the town do you call the lower part?—The east part—Leonard gate, Dam-side street, Bulk street, and Penny street; about the Friarage and Henry street is a very respectable part of the town.

877. (Mr. Hill.) You say the Liberal party had the most of them?—Yes, nearly the whole of them. Yellow flags were flying from them. You could not pass any without yellow flags.

878. They hoisted the yellow flag for the Liberal party?—Yes.

879. (Mr. Barstow.) You only mean from the houses?—From the committee rooms, I suppose we must call them.

880. Had this been going on for some considerable time before the nomination?—Do you mean the use of these houses?

881. Yes?—I should say for a fortnight before the election. Then I would go to Morecambe. The Liberal party went first of all to the "Queen's."

882. Was there any treating going on during that fortnight?—I cannot say.

882*a*. You had no information?—I had information, but I cannot speak of my own knowledge, though I have no doubt that there was considerable treating.

883. Can you give us any information by which it can come to our knowledge?—Yes, I think I shall be able to supply you with information which will lead to it just now. At Morecambe they went first of all to the "Queen's;" and then there is Daniel Edmondson's, the "Joiner's Arms," where a gentleman whom I shall have to name just now, presided. At the "Queen's" on the polling day, the presiding spirits were Henry Welch.

884. (Mr. Hill.) The "Queen's," at Lancaster?—Yes, I will take Lancaster first. At the "Queen's" on the polling day the presiding spirits were Henry Welch, Stephen Wright Wearing, and, I do not know whether his name is Parkinson or Robinson, but he is the manager for Mr. Richard Armstrong, who I think proposed Mr. Fenwick.

885. (Mr. Newton.) Is he a voter?—No, I do not think he is. I have omitted to name the house of Mr. Anthony Knowles Allinson, the gentleman who evaded the service of the speaker's warrant.

886. (Mr Hill.) What is the name of his house?—The "Golden Lion." Then at the "Commercial" Mr. George Cleminson presided, and I should say from the quantity of eggs which we received on the nomination day that he was there that day.

887. (Mr Barstow.) Why should you infer that?—Because he had always been an active agent, and a person to whom I shall have to advert presently served his time with him.

887*a*. What has that to do with the eggs?—At the "Commercial" we were received with a shower of eggs on the hustings, and Mr. George Cleminson and his wife were the persons presiding there at the time.

888. You were received with a shower of eggs and from that you infer that Mr. George Cleminson was there?—They were seen there.

889. Throwing eggs?—Yes. Then at Peter Moore's house, I am speaking now from the information I have received, a person of the name of Henry Kirby Baines, who I understand is the cashier of Mr. Schneider, presided, and according to my information bribed a great number of voters; Peter Moore, I understand, also took an active part in the election. There was also a house at Skerton kept by a man of the name of William Barrow; William Towers of Cheapside also took a very active part in the election.

889*a*. What is the name of his house?—He is not an innkeeper; I understand that he was one of the captains.

890. Have you got through the list of the innkeepers?—No, not in the country.

891. Have you got through those in the Lancaster district?—Yes, I have given all that I know.

892. (Mr. Hill.) You have not given us the name of the person who kept the "Old Sir Simon"?—Lofthouse, he was also a Conservative before that time. I ought to say that information was brought to me that we might have Lofthouse's house for 20*l.*, and that he had had more offered him from the other side, but I said we would have nothing to do with it.

892*a*. When did that information come to you?—That was before the polling day.

893. (Mr. Newton.) You declined the offer?—Yes.

894. (Mr. Barstow.) Now you are going on with the list of the captains?—Yes, I gave the name of William Towers, and I understood he paid Burrow for his house.

895. Do you know what the sum was?—I have heard, but I could not say; Towers was a frequent visitor at Carnforth just before the witnesses were taken up for the election petition.

895*a*. What do you suppose took him to Carnforth?—Well, from the manner in which the witnesses gave their evidence afterwards I could only arrive at one conclusion.

896. What conclusion did you arrive at from that?—The conclusion I arrived at was that that they had not disclosed to the Committee the truth.

897. The Carnforth witnesses?—The Whormby's; I shall have something to say about one of them when I come to the country districts. James Turner, of Nile Street, was also a captain, I understood.

898. What was his district?—He lives in Dam-side Street, and I presume that was his district.

899. Do you know what William Towers' district was?—I think he was a very general man; I think he was in all parts. I observe from the details of expenses that he took a very great variety of journeys, gigs and all sorts of things, before the election; you will find in the details of Peter Moser's bill that Mr. Welch generally took a carriage and pair; the others were content with a gig or a drag, with a single horse; and you will find also the districts which they honoured with their visit for a fortnight before the election, or thereabouts. For instance: June the 9th, Hartley and Towers, horse and gig, half a day; 16th, Hartley and A. K. Allinson; 21st, Hartley, gig; 21st again; William Welch, horse and drag—that is another Welch; then comes the Mr. Welch—"H. Welch, carriage and pair."

900. If those details are handed to us, it will be unnecessary for you to go through them (the statement is handed to the Commissioners)?—I will proceed with the captains. John Bleasdale, junior, was a very active man.

901. What was his district?—Penny Street; then Thomas Albright, of Market Place.

902. What was his district?—I fancy any district that might be useful, and the information that came to me was that he received a very considerable sum of money, and was made the medium of circulating it in any district where it might be useful.

902*a*. You told us that the way in which this was managed was that the town was districted out, and

SECOND DAY.

Mr. C. T. Clark.

certain captains appointed in each district, and that is the reason I ask you if you can tell us who was captain to any particular district as you go along?—I could scarcely tell you what exact districts they took; as to Mr. Albright my information was that he received at the "Queen's" a sum of money so considerable that he could not tell by a hundred pounds whether it was right or wrong. Then Thomas Fothergill, of China Lane, was a very active man; William Burrow, Innkeeper, of Skerton, was another; Richard Pateson Moser, was another; Jacob Moser, of New Road, was another; Christopher Hartley, of Penny Street, was another; Henry Simpson, of Market Street, was another; John Gardner, of Church Street, was another. That, I believe, is all the information I received so far as regards Lancaster. But, with respect to the country, the most active by far, both in country and town, was Joseph Wilson, the ex-tailor.

903. Where does Mr. Wilson live?—I really do not know; it is difficult to say; Morecambe should be his place; but it was impossible to catch him with the speaker's warrant, and whether you will be more fortunate I do not know.

903*a*. (Mr. Newton.) Have you seen him lately?—It is about three weeks since I saw him; he came up hastily to me, and declared his intention not to pay some rates, and disappeared as hastily.

904. (Mr. Hill.) Where was he rated for?—He does not happen to be rated; it was rather too early to object.

905. (Mr. Barstow) If we do not catch him, somebody else will?—You will be very lucky if you do. With reference to Joseph Wilson, I shall confine myself to witnesses who I have reason to believe prevaricated before the Committee; there was one man whom the Committee told that they did not believe, and that was one of the Whormby's.

906. Are you going on with a list of voters supposed to be bribed by Joseph Wilson?—Yes, and the first of those is Thomas Whormby.

907. (Mr. Hill.) His name is not in the printed evidence; there is only Mary Whormsby?—Thomas Whormsby was examined.

908. No, his evidence was postponed on account of ill-health?—Yes, I recollect now, I am mistaken; it is Masheder I mean.

909. Which of them?—John. He denied that he received any money, and my information is that Joseph Wilson threw a brown paper parcel on to the bed in the bedroom, to his wife, and said, "Here, take this; you need not look at it now," and that his wife received the money: that was the difference. With reference to the other Whormbys, I believe Mr. Robert Clarkson, from Carnforth, will be able to give you information as to statements of theirs; that the money was first of all given to females, which was Mr. Wilson's general mode of doing business—through the ladies—kept a certain time, and then handed over. Now, as to Morecambe, the Commissioners have read the report of the evidence, and they will be aware that a Mr. Jenkins presided at the "Joiners' Arms," and from my information that Mr. Jenkins was Mr. Thomas Kirby Baines, tinman and brazier, who served his time with Mr. George Cleminson, of Lancaster.

910. Is that the egg man?—Yes; he is brother to Mr. Henry Kirby Baines, who was in the employment of Mr. Schneider. He received a large sum of money in gold at the "Queen's Hotel," in Lancaster, very early in the morning of the polling day, which he afterwards distributed amongst a portion of the Morecambe voters. I have heard that that sum was 600*l.*; he had his whiskers shaved off at the time, and he admitted to people coming down in the train when he got in at Crewe, that he was the Mr. Jenkins who sat at Morecambe.

911. Who did he admit that to?—To many; there is one party in Court to whom I can refer you.

912. Who is that?—John Gifford.

913. Had John Gifford been a witness before the Committee?—Yes, he is my clerk.

914. He only proved formal matters?—Yes.

915. (Mr. Barstow.) Can you give us the names of others who heard this acknowledgment from Baines?—Yes, George Dawson, of Lancaster, auctioneer.

916. Is he the same man who led the canvass?—Yes. Robert Shackleton was an active man at Morecambe, not only on this but on previous elections, and I may perhaps observe that Henry Welch, Stephen Wright Wearing, and Anthony Knowles Allinson and Joseph Wilson were all friends of Mr. Fenwick, and had been active on former elections.

917. Do you mean political friends?—Mr. Wilson goes rabbit-shroting there, I believe, so that he is a personal friend.

918. A personal friend of Mr. Fenwick's?—Yes.

919. He is the tailor?—Yes, the ex-tailor, and Henry Welch is another personal friend, because I believe he is consulted by Mr. Fenwick as to most matters; he was consulted as to whom he should invite when his son came of age: then the Commissioners will be familiar with the name of a Mr. Carruthers, who gave evidence before the Committee.

920. Within your knowledge had these gentlemen whose names you have just given us been active for Mr. Fenwick when canvassing for Lancaster before?—Yes, on one occasion Henry Welch seconded him.

921. (Mr. Hill.) On which occasion was that?—In 1859.

922. (Mr. Barstow.) All the others were active supporters of his on all other occasions when he was candidate?—Yes, I think on all occasions. Mr. Allinson was frequently up at Burrow Hall. Robert Stackhouse was also particularly active, both in town and country.

923. (Mr. Hill.) What is he?—He is a maltster at Poulton-le-Sands. The witness John Western gives, I think, rather a lengthy account of him before the Committee, and Western gives also an account of Henry Welch's proceedings on a former election. Stackhouse, the Commissioners will recollect, was the man who introduced the witness Baxter to Henry Welsh, and who, I have strong reason to believe, took in a great many others. My information goes that outside two voters of the name of Talbot received 10*l.* each from Stackhouse.

924. Do you mean in the street?—Yes; he was 10*s.* short with one of them first. Their names are Richard Talbot and Joseph Talbot. First of all he had not got quite enough; he was 10*s.* short.

925. Who gave them that money?—Stackhouse; and the 10*s.* was made up to them afterwards. I dare say Mr. Allinson will be able to give you information as to William Winder, of Alma Road, and John Winder, of King Street, joiner. We had not the opportunity of seeing him before the Committee, for he evaded, as I said before, the service of the Speaker's warrant. Perhaps I may be allowed to observe, that the Morecambe voters have been charged with being the most open to bribery; my only wonder is that they did not ask for three times the amount they received, they were so petted, spoilt, and looked after that I only wonder they did not ask three times the sums they received, but with reference to that I must say that the Heysham voters are worse by far.

926. Do you mean in the exorbitance of their demands?—Yes, that is the first place where bribery was commenced in the time of Mr. Samuel Gregson.

927. In 1848?—No, 1847 was the election.

928. Bribery then began there, and still remains worse?—Yes; they received 5*l.* in gold on the hill the morning of the election, and it is impossible to move them now without the application of something larger. Heysham, Heaton, and Overton are the worst places in the district. I have here a list of the country voters, taken out separately, which may be of service to you. The persons who operated at Heysham were Briant, Thomas Overend, and Lawrence Crook. I heard that Richard Castle received 9*l.*, who from I could not ascertain, and my informant stopped when I got that out.

929. (Mr. Newton.) He is a voter at Heysham?—He is one of the parties who admitted that he was bribed during Mr. Gregson's election.

930. In 1847?—Yes. I do not know that I have anything more to add.

931. (Mr. Barstow.) You have told us about Heysham, can you tell us about Heaton or Overton?

932. (Mr. Newton.) Who operated at Newton?—I can scarcely say, with any certainty, because it was kept so much concealed. There are two or three I suspect, but I could not speak with any certainty. At Overton I heard of some man who had received 30*l.* for his vote.

933. Who was that?—I forget who it was, but it was the general rumour that he had received that sum for his vote.

934. (Mr. Barstow.) You say Heaton is a bad place?—Yes.

935. Can you tell us the name of any man who was bribed or any operator there?—No, not exactly.

936. What is your reason for saying it is a bad place?—It always has been, and it has grown worse and worse. They have whetted their appetite very considerably since they have got the money.

937. You do not know any particular details of this election?—No, except that I heard going on the canvass these expressions: "What are you going to give?" "What is your price?"

938. Has that been said to you?—No, I heard it said.

939. On this occasion?—Yes, on this occasion and other occasions too.

940. Have you heard from others that that has been said at Heaton?—Yes.

941. Have you gone through your list of names?—Yes, I think I have.

942. These names you have mentioned are all supporters of Messrs. Fenwick and Schneider?—Yes; by-the-bye, there is another case: you will recollect the name of Stirzaker. I believe that the daughter will be able to give you valuable information if you summon her.

943. Do you remember her Christian name?—No, I do not. Probably something will come out about a gold watch and chain, and Mr. Bell, the watchmaker, might be able to give important evidence upon the point. There is another thing I should like to speak to, as to what is the cost of a pure election in Lancaster. I am able to speak positively to the cost, in 1837, when Mr. Green, Mr. Marton, Mr. Stewart, and Mr. Gregson were candidates for Lancaster; and I am also able to speak to 1841, when Mr. Green, Mr. Marton, and first of all Mr. Dashwood, but, on his retiring, then Mr. Armstrong came forward. At the last election it cost Mr. Marton 700*l.*

944. (Mr. Newton.) Were you his agent?—I was one of his agents.

945. (Mr. Barstow.) Mr. Marton is alive now, is he not?—Yes; Mr. Roper, the gentleman who took an active part in that election with me, went through the accounts with me, so that I am speaking of my own knowledge.

946. (Mr. Hill.) To the best of your belief did Mr. Marton spend anything more than that 700*l.*?—Certainly not.

947. That was the whole?—Yes, I am certain of it.

948. (Mr. Newton.) His own expenses?—Yes; they did not coalesce; they paid their own expenses.

949. (Mr. Barstow.) You call that a pure election? Yes, certainly. Bribery was unknown at that time. The first bribery was commenced by Mr. Samuel Gregson, in the year 1847. In the year 1841 that election cost Mr. Marton 800*l.*

950. (Mr. Hill.) Who stood for that election?—Mr. Green, Mr. Marton, and first of all Mr. Dashwood, who retired; and then Mr. John Armstrong came forward, and went to the poll. Bribery was then unknown in Lancaster.

951. In 1841, how much did it cost Mr. Marton?—800*l.*

952. You were his agent then still?—Yes. Now as to the last election, I have been asked about bribery, and probably the Commissioners would like me to intimate my own opinion as to the number that were bribed. Judging from what I have learned since, I have not the slightest doubt that a thousand of the electors were paid directly or indirectly to vote at the last election. As to the cost of it, of course I speak from rumour only; but I am told it cost Messrs. Schneider and Fenwick 15,000*l.*, and Mr. Lawrence and his friends (for I believe there was a subscription to help him forward) nearly 8,000*l.* If you look at in this way, I imagine that will not be very far from the mark: taking 1,000 men at 10*l.* a head, which is about the average, there is 10,000*l.*; and take 40 public-houses on their side at 10*l.*, that is 400*l.*, and 30 on the other side at 10*l.*, that is 300*l.*

953. (Mr. Newton.) That is only 10,700*l.*?—But there are a great variety of other things.

954. You give it as 23,000*l.*?—So I have heard; but of course the gentlemen themselves will be able to explain it. It is merely matter I have heard. Now the freemen have been very much blamed. From the information I have received, I believe that although a larger number of freemen, in proportion, have been bribed than the householders, yet the householders have been bribed in larger numbers and with larger sums. Then Scotforth has been named as an increasing place. I may mention, though the area of seven miles that has been referred to includes many other places, there are many 10*l.* householders in addition. Morecambe is an increasing place, and Carnforth also, and there are a number of other increasing places within the seven miles area where there are additional 10*l.* householders. And now perhaps I may be allowed to mention what I think might tend to some extent to put down bribery.

955. I think not. We are here to inquire about bribery that has taken place. It is not for us to suggest a remedy; that is a matter for the Legislature?—It would be a general plan; it might or might not be of service.

956. I think we had better not introduce anything of that kind. You have already said that these names which you have given us were all persons on the Liberal side?—Yes.

957. Can you give us any information about the other side?—Yes.

958. You have told us that on both sides the town was divided into districts?—Yes.

959. And over every district there was a captain?—Yes.

960. Should you know the meaning of the phrase "a bribery man?"—Yes.

961. Do you think that any person concerned in the Lancaster election would know the meaning of "a bribery man?"—I do not know that they would. It is a general term used before committees. I understand it to be when a person sits to distribute money to all who are sent to him.

962. Is it a current term in Lancaster?—No.

963. Who were the captains on the Conservative side?—They were named yesterday. Mr. George Christopher Clark—

964. They were not named as captains. Every district had a house in it?—Yes.

965. What houses were open first for the Conservative side?—They are able to tell you better than I am.

966. Who?—The captains. I will give you the names if you please. Mr. George Christopher Clark—

967. Who is he?—He is the proprietor of the "Lancaster Gazette." Mr. William Storey—

968. Who is Mr. William Storey?—He is a large manufacturer in Lancaster, one of a firm. Mr. Hatch, a joiner and builder; Mr. Cross, a plasterer; and I think there was another, but I forget his name.

969. Was Mr. Wilson Barker one?—No; not that I am aware of. Mr. Coupland was another.

970. What is Mr. Coupland?—He is an upholsterer.

971. Can you give us any other name?—No, I think not; I think there were five captains.

SECOND DAY.

Mr. C. T. Clark.

28 Aug. 1866.

972. (Mr. Hill.) Were they captains in Lancaster only?—In Lancaster only.

973. (Mr. Barstow.) I suppose you had country captains?—Yes.

974. We will take Morecambe first?—If you please; but as to the country districts, they were so changed that the men who were originally appointed perhaps were displaced once or twice. They were so changed throughout that I really cannot tell you.

975. Can you give us the names either of those who were displaced or of those who succeeded them?—I think Mr. Vince had something to do with Morecambe.

976. What is he?—He is an auctioneer.

977. At Morecambe?—At Morecambe. As to the country districts, I really do not know who they were. The men came and complained.

978. To whom did they come and complain?—To Mr. Wilson, I think, chiefly.

979. Which Mr. Wilson?—Mr. H. T. Wilson, of Liverpool.

980. He carries on shipbuilding there?—Yes.

981. Who proposed and seconded Mr. Lawrence?—Mr. Sharp proposed, and Mr. ~~Thomas~~ Edmunds seconded him.

982. Are those all the names you can give us on the Conservative side?—Yes, they are.

983. But there were captains for these other places whose names you cannot give us?—I cannot.

984. Can you refer us to any one who would be likely to give us the names?—The Lancashire captains, I have no doubt, would be able to give you the names of the country ones.

985. (Mr. Newton.) Were you in court yesterday?—Yes.

986. Did you hear the evidence that was given by Mr. Gibson?—Yes.

987. As to his receiving money from Mr. Wilson Barker?—Yes.

988. What is Mr. Barker to Mr. Lawrence?—They are very much concerned together in the ship concern here together.

989. Did he conduct the financial part of the election?—I cannot say of my own knowledge.

990. But from what you have heard?—Yes.

991. Did you ever look at the cheques which Mr. Gibson received?—No; I know nothing at all of them.

992. And you were not aware of any money being paid except through the hands of the accredited party Mr. Gibson?—I did not receive mine from Mr. Gibson.

993. You did not receive your money from him?—No; not from Mr. Gibson.

994. From whom did you receive it?—From Mr. Barker.

995. You received yours direct from Mr. Barker?—Yes.

996. Did you appoint Mr. Gibson?—Yes; that is, I obtained Mr. Lawrence's sanction to the appointment.

997. When the accounts were sent in to the Town Clerk you did not know what the amount was?—No; I knew nothing about it at all.

998. Has it been the practice at Lancaster to make the accounts as low as they can well be sent in?—I have been much surprised at the manner in which they have dwindled down when the accounts have been sent in.

999. Were you surprised to hear Mr. Gibson say that he had paid 50*l.* out of his own pocket which he did not put into his bill?—We always know that the accounts that are rendered do not represent the money that has been spent.

1000. Were you aware of an Act of Parliament which was passed a few years ago as to the payment of expenses?—Yes, of course I was.

1001. Were you aware that any agent who keeps back any accounts and does not file them is liable to be indicted for a misdemeanor?—Yes, I have read the Act of Parliament, no doubt.

1002. You had read it before the 11th of September?—Yes, we are all bound to become aware of Acts of Parliament.

1003. Then you were aware at that time that Mr. Gibson was committing a misdemeanor?—I did not know what he had done until I saw it published in the newspaper.

1004. When did you first know that Mr. Gibson had paid away 50*l.* which he had not put into the accredited account?—Not till I heard it yesterday.

1005. Were you astonished when you heard it?—One is not astonished at anything that occurs at an election.

1006. Are you astonished at it now?—No, not at all.

1007. Did you know before to-day or yesterday that he had committed a misdemeanor?—I do not think he has.

1008. I must tell you that I think he has.—With all deference to you I do not think so.

1009. (Mr. Hill.) You say that the householders have been bribed with larger sums than the freemen?—I speak from my information.

1010. In what relative positions do the householders and freemen stand as regards the sums they have received?—I have heard that sums have been given varying from 3*l.* to 50*l.*

1011. To householders?—No, that sums have been given that varied from 3*l.* to 50*l.*, and that householders have been some of them at the top of the list.

1012. Does that variation in the sums at all correspond with the position that the persons occupy, or upon what does it depend?—I think those who manage matters most cleverly and who hold out the longest receive the most; I do not think that their position has anything to do with it.

1013. A vote is a vote?—A vote is a vote; a man calling himself an esquire may receive 3*l.*

1014. And a person who is perhaps occupying the lowest position may receive the highest sum?—Yes, it depends upon how he plays his cards.

1015. You have given a date at which you say bribery began in Lancaster; I did not catch that date?—That was the election in 1847. I was agent for Mr. Salisbury at that election.

1016. Who stood then?—Mr. Samuel Gregson—that was the first time he stood—Mr. Greene, and Mr. Salisbury.

1017. Were you agent for any of the parties at that election?—Yes, for Mr. Salisbury.

1018. Can you tell us what that election cost him?—It cost Mr. Salisbury a little under 2,000*l.*; it did not come up to 2,000*l.*

1019. Is Mr. Salisbury still alive?—I believe he is, but he is not in this country.

1020. You mean he is not in England?—No.

1021. Do you know at all what it cost Mr. Gregson upon that occasion?—I have heard that it cost him between 3,000*l.* and 4,000*l.*

1022. And did you hear at all what it cost Mr. Greene?—Yes, I heard that it cost Mr. Greene between 2,000*l.* and 3,000*l.* Then there was a petition against the return of Mr. Gregson and he was unseated.

1023. Was Mr. Greene petitioned against?—No. I was agent on that election petition.

1024. And Mr. Gregson was unseated for bribery?—For bribery and treating.

1025. Do you recollect to what extent bribery was proved before that committee?—They were not large amounts; 5*l.* each; they were chiefly of Heysham.

1026. Do I understand that in your opinion the practice of bribing voters began rather with the freemen and spread to the householders?—Yes; the country people wanted what they called their day's wages. Labour is dearer now and more valuable than it used to be at that time, and the consequence is that they estimate their day's wages now at a pound where formerly they were a shilling.

1027. (Mr. Newton.) Do you mean by that that the wages were wages given to a man to come and vote?—Yes; in fact it is another name for bribery.

1028. Coming for their wages means coming for the money they receive for their vote?—Yes, and they often get it before they come.

1029. (Mr Hill.) You have resided in Lancaster all your life?—All my life in Lancaster and the neighbourhood.

1030. We were told in the evidence that was given yesterday by Mr. Swainson that the admissions of freemen rose very greatly in number when there was the anticipation of an election, and he gave us the fees that were paid upon their admission. Do you know anything at all with regard to the practice of paying for those admissions?—Yes, and a very bad practice it is. It introduces on the register the very lowest class of freemen, men oscillating between the parish and being able to maintain themselves. Some of them are able to pay for themselves, but many are not; and the practice introduces on the register the very lowest and worst class.

1031. In 1864, when 134 persons were placed on the freemen's list at a benefit to the Corporation fund of 131*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.*, what was the class of men that were so introduced?—I do not think there were so many of the lowest class then as I have known on other occasions. The Town Clerk, I think, would be able to furnish you with lists of those who were paid for by Mr. Allinson.

1032. As to those 134 men, can you tell by whom their admissions were paid for?—I have no doubt that nearly 100 of them were paid for by Mr. Fenwick or his friends.

1033. That admission took place, in fact, after the contest between Mr. Fenwick and Mr. Saunders?—Yes, in anticipation of a general election.

1034. An election which would come on in the July following on that register?—Yes.

1035. You say you have no doubt that nearly 100 of those were placed on by Mr. Fenwick and his friends?—Yes.

1036. Is the money paid by the men themselves as they come to be put on the list, or is it paid by other persons?—Very often it is given to them. I have a list of those who were paid for by Mr. Allinson and by Mr. Robert Shackleton. Mr. Shackleton paid for those in that district, and Mr. Allinson for a number in Lancaster.

1037. They stood there and paid the fees as they were sworn in?—They paid the Town Clerk either then or afterwards. I have a list in my possession of those who were paid for.

1038. Have you that list here?—No, not here, but I can produce it if you wish it.

1039. That is 100 out of 134?—I do not mean to say that this list embraces 100.

1040. Who paid for the others?—They paid for themselves; the Conservatives paid for none.

1041. Are you certain of that?—Yes.

1042. How came it that the Conservatives had not hunted up any to put upon the register?—Because they had not a candidate at that time.

1043. Was it necessaryto have a candidate in order to have a fund forthcoming?—Yes; we do not find many persons in this borough who will advance much money.

1044. Then in your opinion did that 100*l.* come from the pockets of the persons who were putting forward Mr. Fenwick?—I believe it did.

1045. In 1865 (last year) there were 103 persons put on to the benefit of the Corporation Fund of 106*l.*?—Yes.

1046. Those persons would not be entitled to vote until after the revision of this present year?—They would be put on in November last year. The register would come in force in November, and then they would be entitled to vote.

1047. Those persons were put on after the general election?—Yes.

1048. They were sworn in as freemen after the general election?—Yes.

1049. Of those 103, how many do you say were put on by the Liberal party?—I could not say, but I have no doubt that a number of them were put on in return for the votes of their parents or some of their friends. I have no doubt of that.

1050. (Mr. Barstow.) Do you say that the numbers put on at the last registration, in 1865, were 94 freemen's sons, and nine apprentices?—They would not all come on the register, as a matter of course, because a number of those were non-residents, that is, they were not living within the seven miles, or had not lived within the seven miles for the requisite period.

1051. That number of persons were made freemen?—So the Town Clerk says, but probably not half of them would come on to the register; we admitted none, that is all I can say.

1052. Did the Conservative party admit any?—We had nobody to pay for it, and admitted none; I had frequently parties applying to me last year, and the year before, and I told them I could not say anything about their admission, that there was no fund, and that I knew of none.

1053. (Mr. Hill.) Then you believe that a great number of those 103 were put on by the Liberal party?—I should think so.

1054. Then the reason that none were put on by the Conservatives was because there was nobody to pay the fee for their admission?—Yes.

1055. Then, in your opinion, were the fees paid by the agents for the Liberal party?—I think that the larger part of them were paid by the Liberal party.

1056. There are, of course, a great number of freemen who come on independently?—Yes.

1057. Is there any practice as to those persons that are put on by the one party or by the other as to their voting for that party?—Yes, it is generally considered that they ought to do it, but I am sorry to say they do not do it, because on one occasion I very well recollect admitting one man, at least, who voted against us the first opportunity he had, and I believe that at the last election there were several who voted for Lawrence who had been admitted and paid for on the other side.

1058. Several, you say?—Yes, so I understood.

1059. But unless some consideration had been given to them overruling the first consideration, they would have still held on to the party who had caused them to be admitted by paying the fees?—Yes, perhaps I may just observe that the election in March, 1848, between Mr. Armstrong and Mr. Stanley, I have every reason to believe was a pure election.

1060. That was the election that took place on Mr. Gregson being unseated on petition?—Yes.

1061. After that unseating on petition the election was a pure election?—I believe it was, we went on a scrutiny only; there were the usual charges of bribery, but those charges were not gone into; and I have reason to think that that was as nearly as possible a pure election.

1062. It was only a scrutiny as to residence, and so on, and as to validity of votes?—I have reason, also, to believe that the election which took place in 1853, between Mr. Greene and Mr. Armstrong, was a pure election.

1063. (Mr. Barstow.) You of course recollect the election which has been referred to as Mr. Schneider's "walk over"?—Yes.

1064. In 1865?—On the death of Mr. Gregson.

1065. Was there any effort made on that occasion to put forward a Conservative candidate?—I suppose I am bound to tell what passed.

1066. Certainly?—We had it under consideration, and at one time we thought of proposing a candidate, because it is generally considered that when a gentleman gets into a seat it is difficult to oust him; we had an intention of proposing a candidate, but on consideration it was thought that it was so near to the general election that it was not worth spending money then; and we therefore reserved our powder and shot for the general election.

1067. Then, on your side there was no preparation made for a contest?—No, the register was looked over.

1068. There was no money spent in preparations?—No, no active steps at all were taken.

Mr. George William Maxsted sworn and examined.

SECOND DAY.

Mr. G. W. Maxsted.

28 Aug. 1866.

1069. (Mr. Newton.) You are a solicitor, and likewise the Under Sheriff for Lancaster, residing in this town?—Yes.

1070. And you were the agent of Mr. Schneider and Mr. Fenwick at the last election?—Yes.

1071. When did you receive your retainer?—In May, 1865; I never was formally retained.

1072. Had you never been agent previous to that election?—Yes, in every election since 1847.

1073. Then you are well acquainted with the proceedings at the elections in Lancaster?—Yes, I think so.

1074. What was the first election at which you were agent?—In 1847, for Mr. Gregson.

1075. That was when Mr. Gregson, Mr. Greene, and Mr. Salisbury were the candidates?—Yes.

1076. And Mr. Gregson was unseated?—He was the following year.

1077. You have always acted as a Liberal agent since then?—Yes.

1078. At the present time, I believe, you have a partner?—Yes.

1079. Mr. Gibson, who was the agent for money purposes for Mr. Lawrence?—Yes, he was not my partner at that time.

1080. When did he become your partner?—Last September.

1081. Before or after he returned his expenses to the Town Clerk?—It would be before; I believe that our partnership dates from the 4th of September, if I recollect right; I think so.

1082. You have heard the evidence that has been given by Mr. Clark, the agent on the other side; perhaps you will be good enough to tell us what you know as to bribery, or treating that took place on the Conservative side; tell us if you are aware whether there were any captains, such as have been spoken of by Mr. Clark, on the Conservative side?—I have scarcely any knowledge at all as to that: Mr. Clark has obtained his knowledge in getting up evidence for the petition; I really have very little knowledge upon the subject. I shall be very glad to answer any questions that may be put to me.

1083. Were you aware that it was the practice to have captains over certain districts?—Yes, certainly.

1084. Both on the Conservative and on the Liberal side?—Yes; I may state that Mr. Tilly arranged that part of it; I have before me the names of the gentlemen who were put down to act in each district.

1085. Be good enough to tell us, as far as you know from those papers, the captains of the different districts?—I do not think I shall be able to give you the captains of the districts; I always devoted myself entirely to the canvass. I know very little more than that I do find certain names entered in a book.

1086. (Mr. Barstow.) What is the book?—It is a minute book of my proceedings at the election—"arrangements, districts, captains, and assistants."

1087. (Mr. Newton.) In whose handwriting is that? One of my clerks, I think (referring to the book). Yes, it is.

1088. Perhaps you will let me look at the book? (The book is handed to the Commissioners.)

1089. Whose business was it to write this "arrangements, districts, captains, and assistants"?—I did not undertake it on that occasion.

1090. Who did this?—Mr. Tilly, but merely on the ground of division of labour.

1091. But you were perfectly conversant with all that was going on?—It was before me.

1092. What do you call this book?—I should call it a minute book.

1093. Was it made up before the election, or after it?—You will observe it shews the result of the poll as it goes on each half-hour; that was done at the time.

1094. It was done on the day of the polling?—Yes, as the fact took place. The copy that I have handed to you would be written afterwards, I have no doubt, from other copies.

1095. Who entered these figures?—May I ask what figures you refer to?

1095*a*. The figures put under the voters, and the time they voted, and how they voted?—A clerk, by my direction.

1096. Were they entered at the time?—Yes.

1097. They were copied from some return?—They were taken from the returns; I took the returns myself; they were brought to me in the way in which Mr. Clark has described that he was engaged, and that is the result.

1098. Mr. Tilly, you say, made the arrangements as to the districts for the captains and assistants?—With the assistance of the gentlemen about us he undertook the arrangement, and that is the result so far as I know.

1099. Were the captains to receive any payment?—I have no knowledge of that at all; not to my knowledge.

1100. Were the assistants to have any money given to them?—I have no knowledge of it; I may state that unless they did get something, I should think they would not act; I am quite sure about that, I do not wish to give a false impression by my answers, but I know nothing of it as a fact.

1101. You know nothing of the fact of their payment, but you do not doubt that they were paid?—They would require some sinews.

1102. Do you know who furnished the sinews?—No.

1103. Nor where the sinews came from?—No.

1104. Did you go canvassing with Mr. Fenwick and Mr. Schneider?—Yes.

1105. In the country as well as the town?—Yes, it has been my practice since 1847 to do the work myself, that is, never to leave the candidate if I can possibly avoid it. I always accompany him, and by that means I keep my own book, and my own calculation, and nobody has anything to do with it.

1106. Have you your own calculation there?—I have (producing a book).

1107. Will you allow me to look at it?—I think you will make nothing of it.

1108. But I should like to see it if you have no objection; there is nothing in it I suppose that you do not wish us to see?—Certainly not (handing the book to the Commissioners). I might hesitate to give you some replies, perhaps, as to the mode in which I do it.

1109. You say you went canvassing always with the candidate?—Yes.

1110. Did you ever go to Heysham?—Yes, I have been to Heysham, and on the first occasion referred to by Mr. Clark it happened (though it is no particular credit to myself) that Heysham was the only place that I did not go to with Mr. Gregson.

1111. I am speaking of 1865. Did you go always with Mr. Schneider and Mr. Fenwick in 1865?—I did.

1112. And to Heysham?—I think not; I think we did not get to Heysham. The time allowed was very limited, and if I recollect right we never got there at all.

1113. Who canvassed Heysham?—It would be some parties who would be sent from the town.

1114. Can you at all tell us who they were?—I cannot, I am not sure.

1115. You heard what Mr. Clark said?—The fact is that I did not go to Heysham on this occasion, but Mr. Tilly did.

1116. Did you go to Morecambe?—Yes.

1117. Did you ever hear any voter ask you or ask the candidates for money?—No.

1118. Did they never say "What will you give us?"—No, I have no recollection whatever of hearing any such expression, I have heard such things as this,—meeting a labouring man perhaps coming from his work, or finding him in his cottage, he would say, "Who is to pay me for my day's work? If I come to "vote for you I shall lose my day's work, and perhaps "be off work all the week after." That is the style of thing.

1119. Then he would naturally expect payment? —I feel perfectly satisfied that he could not afford to vote, or would not vote unless he was reimbursed.

1120. And then he would be paid, of course?—I do not know it; I give it you as I heard it.

1121. Did you tell somebody that that man wanted his wages paid?—No, I should consider I was stepping beyond my province of book-keeping if I did that.

1122. Did you make no mark in your book as to that man?—I should not put him down as a safe voter, I should have no distinguishing mark for him.

1123. Should you make any mark in red ink?—No, the red ink marks were made afterwards.

1124. You would put no mark against that man's name?—I might; I should not have any general mark that I should put against such a man.

1125. You would put his name perhaps by itself? I suppose, in plain terms, the man says in substance "I am to be bought?"—No, I call him an honest man who cannot afford to lose his time.

1126. He says in effect "I am ready to come and vote if you will come and pay me?"—He says, in effect, that he does not value the privilege. That applies chiefly to out voters in the country districts.

1127. That man would naturally get money if he voted at all?—After a man makes use of that observation it seems a natural thing to conclude that he would get money.

1128. Perhaps you will explain what these figures in red ink in your book are, and the different columns: you will see Thomas Bennison, weaver, and the figures 6,6 put against him in red ink?—That man voted for Mr. Saunders on the previous occasion.

1129. And how did he vote on this occasion?—On this occasion he would not promise us (the Liberals); that is, he did not promise Mr. Fenwick. He did promise Mr. Schneider, and then I was in ignorance what he would do with the other vote. He promised him one, and that man stuck to his promise and voted for Schneider and Lawrence.

1130. Who put the 6,6 against him?—That is one of the things I would rather not answer; it is merely a matter of book-keeping. I should be very happy to give it you on a slip of paper.

1131. You may write it on a piece of paper if you please, and we will exercise our judgment upon it?—It is merely a matter of book-keeping,

1132. Will you be kind enough to write it on a piece of paper? (The Witness writes on paper and hands it to the Commissioners.) You will see what it is. It saves a multiplicity of books, that is all. (The paper is returned to the Witness.)

1133. This (the book) was your canvassing book?—It is in pencil there. If you will allow me I will read it to you. This is my mode of book-keeping, and it is the result of my personal attention. I gave this result to the gentlemen forming our Committee for the two candidates previous to the election, as to what would be the result of the election.

1134. The approximate result?—It was a little nearer than that. I do the work myself.

1135. What figures did you make?—I made them according to the book and according to my own judgment, weighing those who had not given a direct promise. I gave this information to the Committee previous to the election;—that Mr. Fenwick should poll 713, Mr. Schneider, 674. I must give the remark that I made,—"Provided Mr. Lawrence pays every shilling he can muster he will poll 664." The result was that which you have before you, that Mr. Fenwick did poll 713, Mr. Schneider polled 687, and Mr. Lawrence polled 665.

1136. Then you made a very good guess?—I thought so.

1137. According to that the return was very like what your book is?—It is precisely so in Mr. Fenwick's case, and there is a difference of about 18 in the case of Mr. Schneider.

1138. That would lead one to suppose that in your opinion it was a pure election?—I do not know what it may lead you to suppose.

1139. Your calculation previous to the election was very nearly borne out by the result?—My calculation was this. It was what I believed the result would be. I said that according to my book that should be the result. I anticipated if the thing was fairly done that the Liberal numbers would be increased, and that Mr. Lawrence's would be diminished. You caught my observation that "provided "they bought their way to it the result would be "664." That would be the result if they purchased.

1140. Did you mean that that would be the result supposing they did not buy their way?—My impression is that if they had not bought their way their numbers would have been a little more than 500, and that the numbers of the other two would have been increased.

1141. How many do you say?—About 500. I have not gone through it sufficiently to be able to give the exact figures.

1142. Then if Fenwick and Schneider did not buy their way, what would have been the result then?—I took it that it would drive them (but I know nothing of this) to stand their ground.

1143. Drive whom?—Fenwick and Schneider.

1144. What do you mean by that?—That when Lawrence was coming in so overpoweringly with money they must keep their ground, otherwise they would be tripped; that is, that if one party gave money the other would be obliged to do the same.

1145. In your opinion which gave the money first? —I do not know.

1146. What do you think?—I really have no means of forming an opinion upon it. I should not think there was any difference between them. They would watch each other narrowly.

1147. When one begins the other begins?—That most undoubtedly follows.

1148. You heard Mr. Clark give his opinion as to what the election cost—23,000*l.*?—I was very much surprised indeed to hear Mr. Clark say so.

1149. What do you put it at?—Of course I give my friend credit for knowing what it cost Mr. Lawrence; 8000*l.*, I think he said. I do not know what the election of the other two cost, but I do think I dare take an oath that it was not 8000*l.* together.

1150. Now that you have heard that that money was spent, have you any idea which of the two candidates furnished the money?—I have an idea.

1151. What is your idea?—My idea is that Mr. Schneider found most of the money.

1152. Has Mr. Schneider much influence in the borough?—He married the vicar's daughter. That was his introduction I may say to the borough. That was the pleasant way in which he became known to us. Then he had a walk over. He became known by that means. I should tell you that the vicar's daughter was niece to Mr. Gregson, and on Mr. Gregson's death there was a very strong feeling towards Mr. Gregson's memory, and I think that that had a great deal to do with it, and created a desire that a relative of his by marriage should succeed him.

1153. Mr. Gregson died in March 1865?—I think it was then.

1154. Mr. Fenwick was at that time known in the borough, was he not?—Yes, he had been previously member; he was Mr. Gregson's colleague.

1155. Were you agent to Mr. Schneider in March 1865?—Yes, I was.

1156. Was there any arrangement come to between Mr. Schneider and Mr. Fenwick at the election when the walk over took place?—No, not that I am aware of; there was nothing to arrange that I know of.

1157. There was no arrangement as to which of the two gentlemen was to stand?—Mr. Fenwick did not lose his seat on that occasion; Mr. Fenwick continued member.

1158. You heard Mr. Clark give a history of the captains on the Liberal side; can you furnish us with a history of the captains on the Conservative side? —No, I cannot indeed. As I remarked before, Mr Clark's information is derived entirely from getting up evidence on the petition, which I did not require to do.

SECOND DAY.

Mr. G. W. Maxsted.

28 Aug. 1866.

1159. The counsel who appeared for the petitioners acknowledged that there had been bribery on their side?—Yes.

1160. You knew that before?—I merely knew as general rumour that it was so.

1161. Were you agent for the petition?—For the sitting Members.

1162. Then you were prepared to attack the petitioners?—They did not claim the seat.

1163. But in November or December, when the petition was first talked of?—I did not believe in a petition until it was first presented; I could not imagine that under the circumstances of the election they would be so ill-advised.

1164. Why?—Merely on the score that it was six of one and half a dozen of the other.

1165. Were you astonished at the revelations that came out before the Committee?—I have been engaged in elections since 1847, and having had some experience I cannot say that I was astonished.

1166. It was very much what had happened before?—Very much as I had suspected.

1167. Did any person on the Liberal side think it worth while to make inquiry as to illegal practices on the other side?—I am not sure whether the parties on our side did, I did not professionally.

1168. Did anybody to your knowledge on your side make inquiries?—Not formally; not to my knowledge. I wish to be quite clear upon that. I had no object in it, the other side not claiming the seat.

1169. But you may have been preparing?—It was mentioned in the petition, but I did not believe in the petition until it was presented, and therefore I did not waste my time.

1170. You did not think there would be a petition because it was a pure election, I presume?—No.

1171. (Mr. Barstow.) You have mentioned that you made a return to your Committee; who were your Committee; what were their names?—We really never did form a Committee; it is merely from the convenience of the term that I use it; but I think the gentlemen present when I made my statement were Mr. Fenwick, Mr. Schneider, and Mr. Blades.

1172. Which Mr. Blades?—Mr. Charles Blades.

1173. He is the gentleman who seconded one of the candidates?—Yes.

1174. Which of them?—Mr. Schneider.

1175. Anybody else?—Mr. Wearing, Mr. Welch, and Mr. George Cleminson, as near as I can recollect. I think those were the parties present, in fact I have no doubt of it, though I am merely trusting to my memory.

1176. Those were the gentlemen called the Committee?—I merely called them so for the sake of distinguishing them as a class.

1177. They were actively engaged in promoting the election?—Yes, to be sure.

1178. Where was the place you met these gentlemen?—At the "Queen's Hotel," where we had the Committee-room.

1179. Committee or not Committee, they were assembled in the Committee-room?—No, it was not in the Committee-room; it was a small room upstairs. Indeed, Mr. Fenwick was staying at the hotel, and it was in his private room.

1180. You say that you told them that if Lawrence spent every farthing he could muster he would poll 664 votes?—Yes.

1181. What sum did you estimate Mr. Lawrence could muster?—I had no idea. I said he would have to spend as much as he could muster; that was according to my knowledge of book-keeping; that he could not do any more by any possibility. I gave him, according to my knowledge of book-keeping, all his own party, the doubtful ones, and all the people who had not directly promised us.

1182. At that time you made your estimate with respect to Messrs. Fenwick and Schneider under the supposition that they would pay no money at all?—Yes, that it was to be entirely a pure election.

1183. As regards those two?—Yes.

1184. Your calculation was that if Messrs. Fenwick and Schneider abstained from spending money in bribery, and Mr. Lawrence bribed all he could, the result of the poll would be as you gave it?—Yes; that was my impression and belief.

1185. Is that your belief now?—No, it is not my belief now.

1186. I wish to go to another subject. You gave Mr. Tilly cheques for paying his expenses?—Yes, I did.

1187. On what account did you draw the cheques?—I will tell you. I will give it in the separate items. On the 1st of July, 1865, I received a cheque from Mr. Schneider for 500*l.*

1188. Drawn on what?—On the Lancaster Banking Company, in my favour. It was paid to my private account in the ordinary way. On the 24th I received a further cheque for 200*l.*

1189. Were the particulars the same as the last?—Yes, precisely the same. On the 7th of September I received a further cheque for 300*l.*, making 1000*l.* altogether.

1190. (Mr. Hill.) Were the particulars of that last cheque the same as the former one?—Yes, excepting that I find the 300*l.* is not paid to my own credit; it was the last day for paying money, and I did not pass it through the bank. I gave it to Mr. Tilly.

1191. (Mr Newton.) The last cheque you gave to Mr. Tilly on the spot?—Yes, as being more convenient; that is all.

1192. (Mr Barstow.) Is that all that you received from Mr. Schneider?—Yes. Then, from Mr. Fenwick, on the 21st of July, I received a cheque on the bank for 500*l.*

1193. Payable to yourself?—Payable to myself; and I paid the cheque as a cheque to Mr. Tilly. I endorsed it, I believe, as he stated.

1194. Is that all the money you received from Mr. Fenwick?—Yes, that is 1500*l.*; and it was accounted for yesterday, by Mr. Tilly, as to how he had appropriated it.

1195. It left some balance, I believe?—Yes, it did.

1196. I will not inquire into that. Those two sums of 1000*l.* and 500*l.* was all the money you received from the candidates together?—Yes, reserving to myself an observation I will make hereafter.

1197. Make it now, if you please?—It would a little interfere with the course of the examination, I think. I will take care to make it.

1198. I suppose you are aware now that other money has been spent in this election on behalf of your candidates?—Yes, from what I have heard.

1199. Can you tell us through whose hands that money was paid?—No.

1200. Nor from whom it came?—No.

1201. As a matter of fact you know nothing about it?—No, not as a matter of fact. I cannot help hearing rumours, but it would be difficult for me to give a distinct answer to a question of that kind. You will be able to get it much better from other sources.

1202. I will now hear the observation you wish to make?—You asked me a question as to whether I had received any other money from Mr. Schneider or Mr. Fenwick, and I wish to remark that a few days before the election I was sitting at the window of my own house, with my wife, and Mr. Schneider was talking to me through the open window. He said, "Here, I wish you would take care of that; I shall be at the vicarage, and be losing it out of my pocket," and I took it. He said, "I have nowhere to put it." It was a 500*l.* note. He did ask me for it in two or three days, and I gave it back to him.

1203. You returned it to him?—Yes; and I ought to state that I reminded him of it the other day, and he said it had nothing to do with the election. He said, "It was really as I gave it to you; it was in my waistcoat pocket, and I was afraid of losing it."

1204. He gave you that money during the election?—Yes, during the course of the election.

1205. During the canvass?—Yes; it was while he was staying in the town, and it would be during the canvass.

1206. We may take it to be a few days before the polling?—I should think it would be within a week. I should fancy so, but I really have no recollection of the date.

1207. When did you return it to him?—It was within two or three days of the time. It would be previous, I should think, to the election. I merely mention it to you as a circumstance. I attach no importance to it whatever.

1208. (Mr. Hill.) As to this calculation of yours with regard to the probabilities of the result of the election, when did you make that calculation?—I was making it during the canvass, and I gave the result of it previous to the election.

1209. When did you give that result?—I think it was the evening but one before the election. I am not quite certain whether it was after the nomination, or whether it was the evening previous to the nomination.

1210. Was that calculation entirely arrived at from your own figures, or from the results of other canvassers as well as yourself?—Entirely from my own figures. I make the canvass, and keep my own book. I do not rely at all upon reports made to me.

1211. Am I to understand that you either knew the political feeling, or ascertained the political feeling, of every voter who was likely to vote at the approaching election?—I have very little faith in political feeling.

1212. You ascertained either their political feeling, or the probability of the mode in which each voter would be likely to vote?—I waited personally on the voters, and exercised my own judgment as to the value of their promises.

1213. Do I understand you to say that you either knew the political feeling of every voter in Lancaster, or ascertained personally from each person the probability of the mode in which he should vote?—Yes, as nearly as possible.

1214. Then I am to understand that you knew the mode in which the total number of persons who voted for Fenwick and Schneider were going to vote?—Yes, as matter of book-keeping, and matter of belief.

1215. And you knew that in Mr. Fenwick's case absolutely correctly?—It turned out to be so.

1216. And in Mr. Schneider's case within 13 or 14?—Yes; he polled 687, and my figures were 674.

1217. Are we to understand from you that you fully believed that Mr. Fenwick would poll 713 votes without purchasing a single vote, if there was no money paid at all on either side?—I feel a difficulty in answering you directly.

1218. I should like a direct answer?—I feel a great difficulty in answering you, because money never entered into my calculation at all.

1219. Your answer would be in the affirmative there, that you felt sure, or rather calculated, that Mr. Fenwick would poll 713 votes, if no money was paid at all on either side?—Yes, that would be the fair result. I was not in the slightest degree surprised to find the result was as it was.

1220. You also supposed that Mr. Lawrence would poll 664, supposing he paid every shilling he could muster?—I may say that I differ from my friend when he says that this is a Conservative borough. I think it is a decidedly Liberal borough.

1221. That is not the question. If money never entered into your calculation how did you calculate that Mr. Lawrence would poll 664 by paying every shilling he could muster?—I felt satisfied that he would not arrive at that result unless he paid for them.

1222. I understood you to say that in giving the result of your calculation money did not enter into your consideration?—My impression was as matter of book-keeping that the result would be as I have given it to you.

1223. Did you ever make any calculation at all as to the amount of votes which Mr. Fenwick could poll by buying against Lawrence?—No; if I had tried I could not have done it. I had not sufficient knowledge.

1224. Now I will ask you what number of votes would Messrs. Fenwick and Schneider have polled if there had been no money spent on the Conservative side at all?—It would have been considerably increased.

1225. Supposing Mr. Lawrence had paid every shilling he could muster, and had so polled 664, no money being paid by Messrs. Fenwick and Schneider, what number of votes do you think Fenwick and Schneider would have polled?—I cannot answer that question.

1226. Then your calculation was made upon the supposition that money would be paid by Fenwick and Schneider?—No; it was not, it was made entirely upon book-keeping.

1227. You tell me you cannot say what number of votes Fenwick and Schneider would have polled if they had paid no money, and Lawrence had paid every shilling he could muster?—I do not know how to answer you at all.

1228. It is a very plain question. Supposing Lawrence had paid every shilling he could muster, and Fenwick and Schneider had paid no money at all, what number of votes do you believe Messrs. Fenwick and Schneider would have polled?—I cannot answer that question.

1229. You never calculated it?—No.

1230. Then your calculation was made upon the consideration of Fenwick and Schneider paying money?—No, it was not.

1231. How do you reconcile it?—It was made entirely upon book-keeping.

1232. How do you mean "book-keeping?"—From the personal canvass of each voter, and I say that is what the result ought to be.

1233. Can you give me no more direct answer to my question than that?—I do not see my way to it. Will you repeat it once more?

1234. My question is this. You say in your statement here of the calculation at which you arrived, that you believed Mr. Lawrence could poll 664, by paying every shilling he could muster, and that being so Mr. Fenwick would poll 713 votes and Mr. Schneider 674, do you mean by that buying or not buying?—Certainly not buying. That would be the result according to that book, and according to my way of keeping it.

1235. Did you at all calculate what number of votes they could obtain from Mr. Lawrence by buying?—No.

1236. You believe now that there was a considerable amount of money spent on the Liberal side as well as the Conservative side?—Yes.

1237. Do you believe that by the expenditure of that money, no difference was made in the amount of votes given to Messieurs Fenwick and Schneider?—That is my impression.

1238. It made no difference by their purchasing?—The result would have been, if Mr. Lawrence had not purchased, their numbers would have been considerably increased.

1239. I am taking it upon your supposition that Mr. Lawrence was to purchase as many as he could, and that being so, you think it made no difference?—That was my impression.

1240. Under either circumstances paying or not paying Mr. Fenwick would poll 713, and Mr. Schneider 674?—That was my impression.

1241. Is that your impression now?—No, I think Mr. Lawrence would have polled less if there had been no money.

1242. To what extent do you think Mr. Lawrence would have polled less?—I cannot form an estimate.

1243. Not at all—not in the roundest numbers?—No.

1244. Two or three hundred?—I should think not, but I cannot form an estimate.

1245. You have said that you came to the result of that calculation a very short time before the election?—Yes.

SECOND DAY.

Mr. G. W. Marsted.

28 Aug. 1866.

1246. How many days were you canvassing?—If you will allow me to look at my book I will tell you. (after referring) Eleven days I think.

1247. What day was it you saw Thomas Bennison?—We commenced the canvass on the 29th of June, and the election I think was on the 12th of July.

1248. What day was it you saw Thomas Bennison? On the sixth day.

1249. What was the result of your interview with Thomas Bennison?—The result was a promise of one for Mr. Schneider and not for Mr. Fenwick.

1250. As far as I have got it from the polling book he voted for Fenwick and Schneider?—I see he is down so in the printed list.

1251. Upon your canvass Bennison was to vote for Schneider and Lawrence?—Yes.

1252. You know that Bennison has said that he received 13*l.* for his vote?—I had forgotten it.

1253. You see in the polling list he did break his promise to you, and voted for Fenwick and Schneider, do you not think that 10*l.* made the difference of Thomas Bennison in your calculation?—Certainly not in my calculation, I knew nothing of him.

1254. You calculated upon him for Schneider and Lawrence; that book of yours returned Thomas Bennison not to vote for Fenwick, you find he voted for Fenwick, and you also find that he has received 10*l.* as a bribe, does not that make a great difference in your calculation with regard to the 713 votes you put down, that Fenwick would poll, whether he bought or not?—I am not able to answer that question.

1255. Do you think if we looked over the book, we should find several others in the same position?—I cannot say.

1256. (Mr. Newton.) You say you did not go to Heysham?—No.

1257. I see there are 20 voters there?—Tilly went for me. When I said I personally canvassed every vote myself of course it is impossible that I could canvass every one: I was invariably with the candidates whenever I possibly could.

1258. Did you go at all by their voting on previous elections?—How do you mean?

1259. Did you take into consideration in your calculation as to how they voted at the election in 1864?—No. I say Mr. Tilly went for me, and he gave me the result of the canvass; I went with the candidate whenever I could, but I could not possibly devote every moment to it; Mr. Tilly went for me on that occasion.

T. C. Baines.

THOMAS CARTER BAINES sworn and examined.

1260. (Mr. Hill.) Where do you live?—In Barrow.

1261. What are you by trade?—A brazier and tinman.

1262. Do you keep a shop in Barrow?—Yes.

1263. How long have you lived at Barrow?—About three years and a half.

1264. Have you kept a shop there during that time?—Yes.

1265. Has Mr. Schneider some works at Barrow?—Yes, he has.

1266. What are those works?—He is a partner in the works it is a limited liability company. They were originally Schneider, Hannay, and Company, and now they are a limited liability company.

1267. To go back to the date of this election at that time where the works Mr. Schneider's, or was the limited liability company established?—The limited liability company was established at the beginning of this year.

1268. Then it was Messrs. Schneider, Hannay, and Company at that time?—Yes.

1269. Those works are of a very extensive character are they not?—Yes.

1270. Giving a great number of persons employment?—Yes.

1271. Does the town of Barrow principally depend upon those works?—There are those works, the railway works, and the harbour.

1272. Those are the largest works at Barrow?—Yes.

1273. When did you first become acquainted with Lancaster?—I was born there.

1274. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

1275. On the register?—No.

1276. You are I non resident?—Yes.

1277. Were you residing at Lancaster before you went to Barrow?—No, I resided at Dalton in Furness before that.

1279. Had you been concerned in any of the elections previous to leaving Lancaster?—Yes, I had taken some slight active part in them.

1280. What had you been when you were living in Lancaster?—I was a journeyman in my own trade.

1281. In the brazier trade?—Yes.

1282. Had you been an apprentice to George Cleminson?—No.

1283. With whom had you served your time?—With Mr. Willan who is now dead.

1284. You had never been working for or with Mr. Cleminson?—I had worked with him.

1285. In what character?—As fellow shopman, in fact we were fellow apprentices, and worked afterwards as journeymen together, and then I worked for him and his partner afterwards as journeyman to them.

1286. Were you working for Mr. Cleminson and his partner before you left Lancaster in 1858?—Yes, I was.

1287. Do you in your occupation as brazier at Barrow do any work for Messrs. Schneider, Hannay, and Company?—That is not the company now.

1288. For the then firm?—Yes, and for the present company.

1289. For the then firm you were doing work?—Yes.

1290. Have you any brother over there?—Yes.

1291. Is one of them cashier to Mr, Schneider?—No.

1292. Was he?—No; he is a clerk in the employment of Mr. Schneider.

1293. When did you first become acquainted with the fact that Mr. Schneider was about to stand for the borough of Lancaster?—At hisfirst election. I think I saw it first in the newspaper; but I am not certain about that.

1294. That is the election that has been called the "walk over?"—Yes.

1295. When were you first spoken to upon the subject of the election of July 1865?—The first conversation that I ever had with anyone respecting my taking any part in it was that I accidentally met Mr. Cleminson in Ulverston, and I said, "I shall come over to your election," and he said, "Mind you do." I generally do come over.

1296. Although you have no vote?—Yes, to look on or do anything.

1297. You are not a man who would confine your duties simply to looking on?—Not always.

1298. You have always been for the Liberal party?—Yes.

1299. Who first gave you anything to do over here in Lancaster in July 1865?—I was sent for. I saw Mr. Cleminson, and told him that I was here, and where I was staying.

1300. You said you were sent for. Who sent for you?—A messenger came—I do not know who he was—and I went into a room.

1301.—Where?—At the "Queen's Hotel."

1302. You were at Barrow before the election; what brought you to Lancaster?—I told you before that I had promised Mr. Cleminson that I would come.

1303. When did you arrive in Lancaster?—On the morning of the nomination.

1304. Was that the day before the poll ?—Yes.

1305. Where did you go to upon your first arrival in Lancaster ?—I went to the house I am always in the habit of using, the "Old Sir Simon," Mr. Lofthouse's.

1306. Who did you meet there ?—I do not know that I met any parties particularly.

1307. Did you meet any persons connected with the election ?—Not that I am aware of.

1308. Did you at one time begin to talk on the matter of the election ?—It was the all-engrossing topic of the day.

1309. So I should have thought. Whom did you meet at the "Old Sir Simon ?"—We first went to the "Queen's Arms," and the house was full.

1310. Who do you mean by "we ?"—There were one or two parties came with me.

1311. Who were they ?—Mr. Garnett, a brother-in-law of mine. His wife was staying here, and he came over to see her, I suppose.

1312. Who else ?—Mr. Hosking.

1313. They came over with you from Barrow to Lancaster ?—Yes.

1314. You first of all went to the "Queen's," and found that was full ?—Yes.

1315. Did anyone else come with you ? — Yes ; there was Mr. Slater.

1316. Who is he ?—He is an agent for the Company.

1317. One of the Company's agents at Barrow ?—No, at Dalton.

1318. One of Messrs. Schneider's agents at Dalton ?—Yes.

1319. Did anyone else come over with you ?—No.

1320. Do you know whether your brother was in Barrow at the time you left Barrow to come to Lancaster ?—He was at the Wimbledon shooting.

1321. When did he come to Lancaster ?—He was not at Lancaster at all at any time during the election.

1322. I am speaking about your brother who is the clerk ?—Yes ; he was not near Lancaster at all.

1323. You cannot recollect the name of anybody else who came over with you ?—No ; no one else came.

1324. You went first of all to the "Queen's ?"—Yes.

1325. Having gone to the "Queen's," you say you found that the place was full ?—Yes.

1326. Did you want a particular room ?—No, we wanted beds ; we were going to stay all night.

1327. Did you ask for a sitting-room ? — No ; we would have taken the commercial room.

1328. Would that be sufficient for you, coming all the way from Barrow ?—Yes.

1329. You went from there to the "Old Sir Simon ?"—Yes.

1330. Did you remain at the "Old Sir Simon ?"—Yes.

1331. All of you took up your quarters there ?—Yes, excepting Mr. Garnett, who went to sleep with his wife, who was on a visit.

1332. Did you have a sitting-room there ?—No.

1333. You have told me that you remained some time at the "Old Sir Simon ?"—Yes.

1334. Who did you meet while you were there ?—Various parties. It was near the Town Hall ; the house was full all day.

1335. Did you meet any person to talk over the matters of the election with ?—Only casual talk that was going on.

1336. Did you see Mr. Schneider ?—I saw him on the hustings.

1337. At the nomination ?—Yes.

1338. That was the day you arrived ?—Yes.

1339. You got here early in the morning ?—I suppose it would be about half-past 9.

1340. At what time was the nomination ?—Perhaps about eleven ; I cannot be certain about that.

1341. Did you speak to Mr. Schneider on the hustings ?—No.

1342. When did you first speak to Mr. Schneider ?—I do not know that I spoke to him at all all the time the election was going on.

1343. Did you receive any instructions with regard to the election before you left Barrow ?—No.

1344. Did you receive any instructions as to any person you were to call upon in Lancaster ?—No.

1345. Did you go to see any voters before the nomination ?—No.

1346. Did you see or talk to any persons about their vote before the nomination ?—No.

1347. Were you on the hustings at the nomination ?—Yes, I was.

1348. Who was with you ?—These parties that I speak of.

1349. You all kept together ?—Yes.

1350. After the nomination where did you go to ?—We went back to the "Old Sir Simon."

1351. How long did you remain there ?—I was in and out, of course. I remained there till night.

1352. What were you doing at the "Old Sir Simon" during the nomination day ?—I was in and out ; that was my quarters where I was staying.

1353. What were you doing during that day? How were you amusing or employing yourself ?—I had no particular employment.

1354. What was your general occupation ?—Sitting and talking about the election.

1355. Sitting idly and talking about the election ?—Yes.

1356. You were not talking to any voters, or seeing any voters ?—No ; not seeing them specially on any business.

1357. You say you remained there till night ?—Yes.

1358. Where did you go to on the evening of that day ?—I was there all the evening.

1359. Did you sleep there ?—No ; I left about midnight.

1360. That is what I want to know. About what time did you leave in the evening ?—About midnight.

1361. You had your bed there : where did you go to when you left the "Old Sir Simon ?"—I went to Morecambe.

1362. Who went with you to Morecambe ?—There was Dr. Carruthers, Christopher Hartley, a Morecambe fisherman who I had not seen before, and the flyman.

1363. You went in a fly ?—Yes.

1364. Had you seen anybody on the subject of the election particularly before you went to Morecambe ?—Yes, I had.

1365. Who had you seen ?—I was sent over for to the "Queen's," and I went into a room where there were several parties, and I had two parcels given to me.

1366. Was this at the "Queen's ?"—Yes.

1367. At what time would that be ?—In the afternoon.

1368. Who gave you the parcels ?—I cannot say exactly. I can tell you who was there ; but who handed them to me, or whether they were laying on the table, I cannot say.

1369. Who was there ?—Mr. Charles Blades, Mr. Henry Welch, George Cleminson, Stephen Wright Wearing, and a man of the name of Shackleton.

1370. Robert Shackleton ?—Yes ; I had not seen him before

1371. He was there ?—Yes ; there were several others, but I do not remember them now.

1372. Where were these gentlemen sitting ?—In a room upstairs.

1373. They gave you two parcels ?—Yes.

1374. You do not know who gave them to you ?—I could not say exactly.

1375. Were they on the table when you went in ?—Yes, I think so.

1376. Was a conversation going on about the election ?—Yes.

1377. What sort of parcels were they ?—The same as money parcels, rolled round.

SECOND DAY.

T. C. Baines.

28 Aug. 1866.

1378. Of considerable bulk ?—I can tell you the amount, and you can then form your own opinion of the bulk.

1379. You know the amount ?—Yes.

1380. I will defer that question till afterwards. What did you do with the parcels ?—I took them away with me.

1381. You kept them safe till you went off at night with Dr. Carruthers ?—Yes.

1382. At what time did Dr. Carruthers come to you ?—Between twelve and one, as near as I can judge.

1383. Did you order a fly, so as to be ready ?—When they came I went and ordered a fly.

1384. What were your orders with regard to those parcels ?—That I was to go to Morecambe, and make the best of it I possibly could ; that Mr. Shackleton would meet me, and he would give me every instruction I required.

1385. Mr. Shackleton was to give you the instructions ?—Yes.

1386. You were to make the best of it ?—Yes.

1387. To make the best of what ?—To make it go as far as I could, I suppose.

1388. As to what were you to receive orders from Shackleton ?—He had had the working of the affair at Morecambe, and I did not know any of the freemen.

1389. Shackleton was to give you instructions so as to make it go as far as you could ?—Yes.

1390. Can you say at all from whom it was you received these instructions ?—I could say as to the parties generally, but I could not say one especially more than another.

1391. Did not any one in particular speak to you when you were receiving the parcels and tell you to make them go as far as you could ?—I cannot say who it was made use of that particular expression.

1392. Would it be Mr. Welch ?—I cannot say, I should not like to say a thing that I was not quite certain about.

1393. Was it Mr. Blades ?—I cannot say, I got general instructions from the whole of them.

1394. It was when all those gentlemen were present and talking over the matter of the election ?—Yes.

1395. You went off with Carruthers and the two other persons you named ?—Yes.

1396. When you got to Morecambe where did you go to ?—To the "Joiners' Arms."

1397. Dr. Carruthers came to you with a fly between 12 and 1 o'clock I suppose ?—No, we ordered the fly after he came ; he walked up I think.

1398. Then you ordered the fly and all of you set off for Morecambe ?—Yes.

1399. You had not opened the parcels I suppose before you got to Morecambe ?—Yes, I had.

1400. When was that ?—Immediately I got to the "Old Sir Simon."

1401. Who was present ?—The party I came with.

1402. Hosking, yourself, and Garnett were present ?—Yes.

1403. You opened the parcels as soon as you got back ?—Yes.

1404. I suppose it would be about 8 or 9 o'clock ?—No, in the afternoon.

1405. When you opened the parcels what was there in them ?—150*l.*

1406. In the two parcels ?—Yes.

1407. 75*l.* in each ?—I cannot say that.

1408. But there were 150*l.* in sovereigns in the two parcels ?—Yes.

1409. You went down to Morecambe and there you went to the "Joiners' Arms ?"—I perhaps ought to say that I went again and got 50*l.* in addition, as after what I had heard, hearing the number of voters, I thought perhaps it would not be sufficient.

1410. You went back to get another 50*l.* ?—Yes, and I got it from the same party.

1411. I daresay you got instructions to make that go quite as far as you could ?—Yes.

1412. Who did you talk to about the number of voters at Morecambe ?—I heard Shackleton say something about the number of voters there.

1413. Shackleton was there when you first received the 150*l.* ?—Yes.

1414. You saw Shackleton afterwards, and you then heard about the number of voters ?—Yes, I heard it I think from him, but, of course of my own knowledge I knew there were a great number of voters at Morecambe.

1415. Then you formed your own conclusion as to the price of the Morecambe voters ?—I heard that they were to be about 10*l.* I did not know it because I had only arrived in the town that day.

1416. You heard that that was about the figure going ?—Yes.

1417. And you came to the conclusion that there were more than fifteen voters at Morecambe ?—Yes.

1418. So that you would require more than 150*l.* ?—Yes.

1419. Having got the additional 50*l.* you went off to Morecambe ?—Yes.

1420. Did you get anything else before you went ?—No.

1421. You had no more money of your own with you ?—None but my own private money.

1422. None for the purpose of the election ?—No.

1423. You went to the "Joiners' Arms ?"—Yes.

1424. Where did you go to there ?—We went into a room and spent the night till it was daylight.

1425. You did not go to-bed much that night ?—We did not go to bed at all.

1426. What time did you begin to operate next morning ?—About 6 o'clock I should think.

1427. Who first came to be operated upon ?—I do not know, they were all strangers to me.

1428. Where did you sit, where was the operating room ?—Upstairs.

1429. Did you see Daniel Edmondson ?—Do you mean the landlord ?

1430. Yes ?—I saw him.

1431. How long did the doctor remain with you at the "Joiners' Arms ?"—I do not know whether he remained in at all that night or not ; he came the next morning.

1432. Was he there at 6 o'clock ?—No.

1433. At 6 o'clock what was the first thing you did ?—I suppose you mean when I commenced operations ? I took my seat in a room by myself.

1434. Had you given any instructions as to your change of name ?—That was agreed upon the night before as we were going down.

1435. That you were to become "Jenkins ?"—Yes.

1436. Did Dr. Carruther's suggest "Jenkins," or was it your own suggestion ?—I think I suggested it myself.

1437. "Jenkins" is not so good a name as "Baines." Did you disguise yourself in any way.

1438. No, not at all ; I had not the same clothes on as now, but I was not disguised.

1439. You had not shaved off your whiskers then ?—No.

1440. We shall come to that by-and-bye. You did not know the names of the persons who were operated upon ?—They were the general Morecambe names, Edmondsons and Armisteads, and so on.

1441. Who introduced them to you ?—They came in alone.

1442. Had they a ticket ?—Yes.

1443. What was written on the ticket ?—The name and the amount.

1444. You cannot recollect the name of the first who came in ?—No.

1445. Do you recollect what was the first sum that was asked ?—No.

1446. Were they all for the same sum ?—No.

1447. What did they range from ?—From 8*l.* to 15*l.*

1448. Did you keep the tickets as you paid them ?—Yes, I kept them to make a return.

1449. The ticket had got on it the name and the sum ?—Yes.

1450. Nothing else ?—No.

1451. It was not initialled by somebody ?—No.

1452. It was not initialled "H.W." ?—No.

1453. What did you afterwards do with those tickets ?—I gave them back to Mr. Welch—at least I gave them to Mr. Welch—he never had them that I know of before.

1454. Were they not in Mr. Welch's handwriting ?—No, I think not.

1455. You do not know in whose handwriting they were ?—I did not see them written.

1456. In whose handwriting were they ?—They might be Shackleton's. Some one wrote them in the morning.

1457. They were written in the next room, they came into you fresh written ?—Yes.

1458. You afterwards handed them to Henry Welch ?—Yes.

1459. How long did that 200*l.* hold out ?—I cannot tell exactly the time.

1460. How many did you pay ?—About twenty.

1461. Up to what hour were they coming in ?—We got them all away as soon as we could to get them voted.

1462. Was the paying finished by 7 or 8o'clock ?—It would be finished by nine.

1463. Had you come to the end of your money ?—Yes.

1464. Did it just last out ?—No, I advanced what I had in my own pocket besides.

1465. How much was that ?—About 10*l.*

1466. Then 210*l.* was spent ?—Yes.

1467. What was the number of voters you paid ?—As near 20 as possible.

1468. Did any more persons come in to be paid ?—The landlord wanted his bill paid.

1468*a*. Did any more voters want money ?—No, I think not.

1469. The money just held out ?—The landlord wanted his bill paid, and Mr. Schackleton settled that.

1470. Did you receive any money from Schackleton during the time you were paying ?—Yes, he gave me some when we were short.

1471. How much did he give you ?—I forget the amount.

1472. 10*l.* or 20*l.* ?—Yes, I daresay somewhere thereabouts.

1473. He came into the room and brought it to you. I suppose he kept coming in to speak to you during the time you were paying ?—He did once or twice, but not often.

1474. With that additional help from Shackleton and yourself you managed to pay off all the voters ?—Yes.

1475. Do you know who took them off to get them polled ?—They went in the conveyances that were provided for the occasion. I do not know that any one went specially with them.

1476. Having come to the end of the money what became of you ?—I came back to Lancaster.

1477. You came back in one of the last flys ?—In the last 'bus.

1478. Do you recollect what Daniel Edmondson's bill was ?—I do not.

1479. That, you say, was paid as well ?—Yes.

1480. When you came to Lancaster where did you go to ?—I went into the town to see what was going on.

1481. Where did you go to ?—Nowhere particular.

1482. You had no more business to do that day ?—No.

1483. You had done your business ?—Yes.

1484. Satisfactorily to yourself ?—Yes.

1485. And to your employers ?—Yes.

1486. How long did you stop in Lancaster before going to Barrow ?—The next day.

1487. When did you give up these tickets to Henry Welch ?—The next day.

1488. You went through them with him, accounted for the money, and received your 10*l.* back, I suppose ?—Yes.

1489. Did Henry Welch pay you back the 10*l.* ?—Yes.

1490. Did you have any remuneration for yourself ?—None.

1491. Mr. Schneider is a good employer of yours ?—Yes.

1492. Did you see any other money paid during this election by anybody ?—No.

1493. Nothing except what you paid yourself ?—That was all.

1494. (Mr. Newton.) That is all you know about it ?—That is all.

1495. You know nothing except what you have told us ?—That is all I had to do with it.

1496. You have nothing further to add about it ?—No.

(Mr. Hill.) You have given a very straightforward account, and we are much obliged for it. You have saved us a great deal of trouble.

Adjourned for a short time.

MR. ROBERT SHACKLETON sworn and examined.

Mr. Robert Shackleton.

1497. (Mr. Barstow.) What is your occupation ?—I keep a lodging-house at Morecambe ; lodging-house keeper will perhaps do as well as anything.

1498. How long have you lived at Morecambe ?—Going on for seven years.

1499. Are you a freeman ?—I am not.

1500. I suppose you are acquainted with most of the Lancaster freemen who live at Morecambe ?—Yes, I am.

1501. At the last election you were engaged assisting the Liberal party ?—I was.

1502. When did you commence acting on their behalf ?—I have always taken an interest on the Liberal side, and as soon as there was a talk of an election I started on behalf of the Liberal candidates.

1503. Was that at the request of any one, or was it on your own motion ?—On my own account.

1504. What steps did you take ?—Just calling a few of the principals together at Morecambe, and asking them what they could do.

1505. That is, a few of the Lancaster freemen ?—A few of the freemen for the borough of Lancaster. I called them together and asked them what they could do.

1506. What do you mean by asking them what they could do ?—In regard to whether they would vote for the Liberal candidates, and assist us in persuading others to do so.

1507. Where did you call them together ?—By being a resident in the place I frequently met them on the front, as the principal part of the freemen at Morecambe are fishermen.

1508. Had you any meeting with them in any house ?—I had.

1509. Where was that ?—At the "Joiners' Arms."

1510. At any other house ?—No, not at any other.

1511. Will you give us the names of the persons you met that you now speak of ?—I scarcely can, for there are many of them ; there about 68 ; there are the Bonds and the Armisteads.

1512. Are there a very large number of freemen at Morecambe ?—There are.

1513. I believe about 80 ?—I think 67 or 68.

1514. I know there are a great many Armistead's ; just say what Armisteads you speak to ?—There is William and Isaac, but they are so mixed up together that I do not know that I can distinguish them.

1515. Should you be able to give us the names of those who were at the "Joiners' Arms" on the evening of the nomination ?—No ; I fancy the principal part of the voters were there on the night of the nomination, that is, in and out.

1516. You were there ?—Yes, I was there.

1517. Who did you see there ?—I should say that I saw the principal part of the voters at Morecambe ; I could not name any particular individual, but I saw the principal part of them there, I daresay.

SECOND DAY.

Mr. Robert Shackleton.

28 Aug. 1866.

1518. What was going on there?—A good deal of drinking was going on.

1519. Did you join in the conversation?—Yes.

1520. What was it about?—About the result of the election, chiefly.

1521. Nothing more than that on the subject of the election?—Oh, yes; there was a good deal said with regard to the terms—the price.

1522. Do you recollect what was said?—No, not exactly; but I will give you a general idea; but previous to the nomination night Mr. Clark, the solicitor, had been down, and engaged two or three people to go round canvassing; these had been Liberals, they were Liberals, and intended voting Liberal, but they left us and went to the Conservative side.

1523. You say Mr. Clark had engaged several; just go on with what you were saying?—Several of the voters as canvassers on behalf of the Conservative candidates.

1524. How do you know that?—From their coming to tell me.

1525. What voters were those?—John Bond, William Armistead, John Edmondson; those are the principal ones.

1526. Any others?—Not engaged directly by Mr. Clark, I believe, but there were others who were engaged by other parties as well.

1527. When you say "engaged," do you mean engaged to canvass on behalf of Mr. Lawrence?—Yes.

1528. Can you give us the names of those others who were engaged?—No, not exactly; only it was the general impression as well as the general conversation that they were engaged. There was John Curwen and Mrs. Willacy.

1529. Who is John Curwen?—He is a grocer and fishmonger at Morecambe.

1530. Is he a voter?—He is a voter.

1531. Who is Mrs. Willacy?—The landlady of the "King's Arms" hotel.

1532. Has she any sons or relations who are voters?—Curwen is her son-in-law, and it was the Conservative house, where the Conservatives held their Committee rooms at Morecambe.

1533. Can you give us any other names of those who were engaged, not being engaged by Mr. Clark?—James Bell.

1534. Who is he?—He is a yeoman at Morecambe, a gentleman.

1535. Does he live on his own land?—Yes.

1536. Any other?—Charles Lodge, of Bare.

1537. What is he?—A gentleman.

1538. Any one else?—There was a good many that took an interest in the election down there, as well as having a good supply of Lancaster freemen that came down as captains; these Lancaster captains came down to look after the voters at Morecambe.

1539. Were these persons employed to look after the voters at Morecambe besides others who came from Lancaster?—Yes. I will give you the names of two or three that came down, if you like.

1540. Do so, if you please.—George Vince.

1541. Who is he?—He is an auctioneer in Lancaster. William Bulfield, of the "Cross Keys" Hotel, William Cross, slater and plasterer, Thomas Procter, innkeeper, China Lane, Lancaster.

1542. Do you consider Thomas Procter to have been a captain?—I do; he took a great interest in it.

1543. Go on, if you please?—John M'Cann, a coach proprietor.

1544. Who else?—There were many others that came to assist them; but I think I have given you names quite sufficient for your purpose now.

1545. Having given us those names of the Conservatives who came down to assist, can you give us the names of the Liberals who came down to assist?—Christopher Hartley; that is about the only one who came down to assist.

1546. Your captains were all on the spot, then?—I do not know; we were never considered as captains; being resident there we looked after them without having any official promotion to a captaincy or anything of that sort.

1547. Where were you on the day of nomination?—In Lancaster.

1548. At what time did you get to Lancaster?—About 11 o'clock in the forenoon.

1549. Where did you go to?—I went to the "Queen's Hotel."

1550. What part of the house did you go to?—I went into the lobby of the house; I do not think I ever got into a room, for the lobby and staircase was crowded; it was just before the members came out to go to the hustings, and I think I stayed in the staircase and lobby of the house until the members came down, and then I went with them to the hustings.

1551. You went to the nomination?—Yes.

1552. After the nomination where did you go to?—I think we accompanied the candidates back again to the "Queen's Hotel," and I stayed there some considerable time, and then went out into the town.

1553. On the second occasion where were you at the "Queen's?"—I think I was at the "Queen's" some time about 2 o'clock in the afternoon, but I cannot speak to half an hour exactly.

1554. But whereabouts in the "Queen's" were you the second time?—I went into a room where there was Mr. Henry Welch, Mr. Wright Wearing, and Mr. Charles Blades.

1555. Anyone else?—No; I do not know that I went into any other room.

1556. What room was this?—Really I have been only about twice up the stairs in the "Queen's Hotel," and therefore I cannot exactly say.

1557. Do you know whether it was a Committee-room or not?—I considered that it was a Committee-room by the gentlemen that there was present.

1558. Was George Cleminson present?—Not in that room; he was in another room.

1559. About what time was this?—This would be perhaps about 2, or half-past 2 in the afternoon.

1560, Had you any conversation with him on the subject of the election?—Yes, we had.

1561. Did anything pass on the subject of the Morecambe voters?—Yes; I told Mr. Wearing, Mr. Welch, and Mr. Blades what the Conservatives were doing down at Morecambe, and that they were offering (they had not given any then) from 10*l.* to 12*l.* each for voters, but I had no instructions to go to anything like that amount.

1562. How far did your instructions justify you in going?—There was no specific sum that I was to go to, only that we were to do the same that the other party was doing; that whatever the other party was giving we were to give the same.

1563. According to your answer, then, you had authority to go as far as 10*l.* or 12*l.*?—In conversation we had considered that from 5*l.* to 8*l.* was a great price, and if the Conservatives went no further we thought that was far enough for us to go.

1564. In conversation with whom?—Henry Welch, and those other gentlemen I have named before.

1565. When had you this conversation?—As I have said before about half-past 2 in the afternoon.

1566. But on what day had you the conversation?—On the nomination day.

1567. I mean the conversation when you were authorized to go as far as from 5*l.* to 8*l.*?—I had met them on several occasions before the nomination day, and we had talked these matters over as well.

1568. You had arranged to bribe before the nomination day?—It was well known that the Conservatives were doing the same, and this was the report that I gave to those gentlemen. I told them what the Conservatives were doing, because we were paying a man for going into the Conservative Committee-room to make these inquiries, and then he came back and told us what was going on in their Committee-room.

1569. You have not answered my question, which was at what time you had arranged to bribe?—I cannot speak positively to that; it might be two or three days, or a week before, or only the day before; I was in the habit of going to Lancaster daily, and therefore I cannot say on what day it was that this conversation took place.

1570. Were you in the habit of seeing these gentlemen in Lancaster daily?—No, not daily; if I had anything particular to call upon them about I called upon them.

1571. You called upon them from time to time?—Yes.

1572. When was the first time that you arranged with them to offer money to the voters?—I think it was a very well understood thing for a week before that money was flying on the other side. I believe that the Conservatives (though I do not mean to swear it) had paid a portion of their voters at Morecambe 2*l.* a head to secure their votes, and the balance they would pay them on the nomination day at night before voting.

1573. What was that balance to be?—They was on the same principle that we was, that whatever we would give they would give the same.

1574. Still you have not answered my question; I should be glad to know about your own party; how long before the day of nomination had you agreed to offer money to the voters?—I think it was on the 8th of June; I think that was the first time that I ever saw Mr. Welch or any of those gentlemen about the election. I think it was on the 8th of June.

1575. Do you mean June or July?—I do not just remember when the election was.

1576. (Mr. Newton.) How long was it before the election?—Perhaps a week before the election.

1577. It would be in July, then?—Perhaps it was in July.

1578. (Mr. Barstow.) Can you swear that it was not a fortnight before the election?—No, I cannot swear it, but I think it was not a fortnight; to the best of my knowledge it was not a fortnight.

1579. When you first met these gentlemen had you any conversation about bribing the Morecambe voters; I mean on the first occasion of your meeting whenever it was?—On the first occasion of our meeting I have no doubt the conversation would be, "What is your Morecambe people going to do this time?" and I should probably say, "The same as they have been doing for generations—getting bribes."

1580. You probably would say so?—It is most likely I should knowing that they had been in the habit of doing it.

1581. What answer did that remark lead to?—Well, "We must do what the others is doing."

1582. Well?—I believe the first thing I did after I got home was, I went and told them that whatever the others would give them we should give them the same.

1583. You are speaking of the day on which you had this first conversation?—Yes, about a week or ten days before the nomination, perhaps; I cannot speak positively to it.

1584. Did you promise the money after you had had the first conversation with these gentlemen?—I promised that those that voted for the Liberal candidates should be paid the same as what the others were receiving from the Conservatives.

1585. Did you pay them any money before the nomination day?—Perhaps half a dozen of them I did.

1586. What sums did you pay?—That I cannot exactly speak to now; it would only be a few shillings, or 1*l.* perhaps. Some of them would get two or three days before the election 1*l.* a day, but that was only for their expenses during the day. They would come to me in the morning and say they were short of means.

1587. Some of them would get 1*l.* a day?—Yes, I believe some of them did.

1588. To how many did you give 1*l.* a day?—I think about three; John Bond, William Armistead, and John Edmondson.

1589. Which Edmondson?—John Edmondson; I would not swear that I gave it them every day.

1590. For how many days before the nomination?—Some three or four days.

1591. I understand you to say that besides this you gave others smaller sums?—Yes.

1592. To what others did you give smaller sums?—I cannot exactly say; the accounts I handed over to Mr. Welch after the election, and therefore I only speak now from memory, and I cannot exactly say who they were.

1593. You can mention some of them?—There would be perhaps one or two of the Hadwens; you will find several Hadwens on the list, but that I cannot speak positively to, and some of the other Armisteads.

1594. To about how many altogether do you think you paid smaller sums?—Eight or ten of them perhaps.

1595. Did you go with them to public-houses?—If I did not go with them I ordered them to go, and that I would pay.

1596. And you paid for whatever they had?—Yes.

1597. That was besides this money that you gave them?—Besides this money that I gave them.

1598. At what public-houses did you pay for freemen who had been treated in this way?—I paid at the "Joiners' Arms," at the "Ship Inn," and at the "Queen's;" and I paid some small amounts at one or two others. I do not just remember the amounts; in fact I do not remember the amounts of any of them.

1599. You might perhaps give us an idea of the amount, I will say, at the "Joiners' Arms?"—At the whole of the houses put together I should not spend 50*l.*

1600. May we take it that you spent about 50*l.* altogether?—Well, I should say that that is pretty near the sum.

1601. Does that sum include the last bill that was paid at the "Joiners' Arms?"—It does. It would include all together.

1602. Are these several sums that you paid to the voters before the nomination day, and the sums which you paid at public-houses the whole money that you spent previous to the nomination day?—I will tell you the exact sum of money that I received from Mr. Welch. I believe I received 230*l.* if I remember right, and I gave a statement to some of the Committee—I will not be sure to which of them it was—how I had spent that 230*l.*

1603. You got that money from Mr. Welch?—Yes.

1604. Can you not remember to whom you rendered your account?—I fancy I rendered it to Mr. Welch, either to Mr. Welch or to Mr. Blades.

1605. When did you receive this money from Mr. Welch?—I received it at half-a-dozen times.

1606. Give us the first time?—I have no dates, but I believe that the first sum I received from Mr. Welch was 20*l.*, then I think that the next sum I received was 50*l.*, and I think that the next was 100*l.*; and then the rest was in twenties, if I remember right.

1607. Then you would have received about four sums of 20*l.* each?—Yes.

1608. You cannot remember the first time you received money?—It was the far end of July, I think.

1609. You were in the "Queen's Arms," did you return to Morecambe on the evening of the nomination day?—I did.

1610. Did you go to the "Joiners' Arms"—I did.

1611. Did you go to any other public-houses in Morecambe?—Yes, I did.

1612. Do you remember Mr. Baines, the last witness, coming into the "Queen's," at Lancaster?—I do not remember him, I believe he was there at the time, but I do not remember him, not having known him before.

1613. Did you see any brown-paper parcels given to any one?—I do not remember that there was any paper parcels given; not while I was in the "Queen's Hotel;" I would not say there was not, but I do not remember it.

SECOND DAY.

Mr. Robert Shackleton.

28 Aug. 1866.

1614. Do you remember any one being put under your orders ?—I do not.

1615. Did any one come into the room at the "Queen's" during the time you were there with Mr. Welch and these other gentlemen ?—There were a good many people standing about the door, but I do not remember any one coming into the room, though they might do so, but I should only be in the room myself for a very few minutes, and therefore I cannot speak to that.

1616. You went from the "Queens" to the "Joiners' Arms ?"—I did.

1617. How did you go ?—I rode down with a private gentleman from Morecambe, Mr. Briggs.

1618. How did you ride ?—In a gig with him; he had his gig here, and I went down with him.

1619. Who is Mr. Briggs ?—He is a gentleman of fortune, who happened to be up here at the nomination day, and so I rode here with him.

1620. What other houses at Morecambe did you go into besides the "Joiners' Arms ?"—Very likely I should go into half-a-dozen public-houses that night, to see what was going on among the freemen.

1621. You went to the "Joiners' Arms ?"—That was the first place; that was where we had the Committee-room.

1622. And you went to the "Ship?"—Yes, I went to the "Ship," and to the "Queen's Arms," and to the "West View."

1623. Were there freemen at all those places ?—There were freemen at all those places.

1624. Did you see what they were doing ?—The principal part of them were drinking, those that were not drinking then perhaps had got drunk.

1625. Having been your rounds, did you go back to the "Joiners' Arms"—I did.

1626. How long did you remain there ?—I think, to the best of my knowledge, I remained there all night; at least I should not be absent more than half an hour at a time during the night.

1627. Without pressing you to be accurate, how many freemen were in the "Joiners' Arms" do you think ?—At one time, during the night perhaps there would be 30 or 40 of them, or more than that.

1628. May we say that at one time there were 40 freemen there ?—Yes.

1629. Besides drinking, what passed among them ? The conversation was with regard to the price of the votes, and what they was to have.

1630. Was that conversation addressed to you?—Yes.

1631. Of what kind was it ?—Saying that we was not offering sufficient, that we was not giving as much as the other side was giving, and that if we did not give what the other side gave they would leave us.

1632. Did you try to make them abate their demands ?—I tried the best I could, but they have not got very great consciences.

1633. We may take it that a regular bargaining went on ?—It was so, and about some 14 of the freemen left us that night, because they could get 2*l.* more on the Conservative side than what we would give them.

1634. Did they give that reason to you ?—They did.

1635. What was the state of the market when these men left you ?—Our price was 10*l.*, and I believe they got 12*l.* each, there were about 14 who would leave us that night.

1636. Did they bring in a price list from the other side ?—No, it was all verbal.

1637. How long did this continue ?—It continued during the night, more or less of it.

1638. In consequence of this did you go to Lancaster ?—I did not.

1639. You remained there the whole time ?—I remained at Morecambe the whole time, I do not know that I remained in that house the whole of the time.

1640. Did you make any arrangements to meet these increased demands ?—I did not.

1641. Did you take any steps in the matter ?—I took no steps in the matter. I said, "If that is your price it is not ours, and therefore you may take leave to go."

1642. In the course of that night, did you see the last witness ?—I saw him about 2 o'clock in the morning; you may perhaps want to inquire whether I knew of Dr. Carruthers walking to Lancaster or not; I did not see him before he set off, but I believe that Dr. Carruthers, Christopher Hartley, and John Edmondson, walked up to Lancaster on the railway to apply for money.

1643. About what time would this be ?—I did not see them at the time they started, but I should say that it would be from 10 to 11 o'clock; I did not see them when they started, nor did I know that they had come to Lancaster at the time.

1644. Did you see them on their return ?—I saw Mr. Edmondson and Mr. Baines about half an hour after they got down to Morecambe.

1645. What time in the morning was that ?—From 3 to 4 o'clock, I should say, I cannot exactly speak to the time now.

1646. I suppose they made some communication to you ?—They did, they told me they had brought down a gentleman with some money.

1647. At this time had you any funds in your hands ?—I had not.

1648. I presume you were introduced to this gentleman ?—I was, at least I made an introduction to him, or he made one to me, but we did get introduced.

1649. He did not take it for granted that you were Mr. Shackleton ?—The landlord would tell him where Mr. Shackleton was, but whether he found me out, or whether I found him out, I do not just remember.

1650. What arrangements did you make with him ?—Well, I told him what kind of a lot of freemen we had to do with, and that it would be rather an expensive game, and knowing that there was a good many of the Lancaster people looking after what we were doing, as well as we were looking after them, I said, "We shall have to be very cautious what we do."

1651. What plan of operations did you settle ?—I told him to take one room, and I would take the other.

1652. (Mr. Newton.) Was this at the "Joiners' Arms ?"—It was all at the "Joiners' Arms."

1653. (Mr. Barstow.) What arrangement did you make about his paying the freemen ?—That the freemen should come to me first, and that I would write their names on a piece of paper, and the amount that I had bargained with them for. There was no particular paper, for I believe it was all tobacco paper; it was just wrote on little bits of paper with a lead pencil.

1654. Did you see what the freemen did with these papers ?—I did not; as soon as they got the papers they left the room in which I was, and I never saw anything more of them.

1655. They left the room, and you do not know what became of them ?—I do not; at least, at that time I did not see where they went to.

1656. Was anyone in the room with you ?—Well, I do not know that there was anybody in the room.

1657. I do not mean anyone coming in and out, but was anyone sitting in the room with you ?—No.

1657*a*. Dr. Carruthers was not ?—No.

1658. Was he in, or about the house ?—I do not know. I was upstairs, and he might be down below; that I cannot speak to.

1659. Were the freemen upstairs or downstairs ?—They was in and out of the house, and knowing where I was they came to me, and wanted a ticket, and I gave it to them, and I staid up there.

1660. I suppose they had some place of assemblage? —They make a regular practice of it; there was the "King's Arms," the Conservative house, and although they were receiving money from us, they would get some from them. I have no doubt that some of them did.

1661. You say you were upstairs. Did they come upstairs to you ?—They did.

1662. Was the room in which the gentleman was who came from Lancaster upstairs ?—Upstairs.

1663. Perhaps the rooms were facing each other?—No, they were not. Both rooms were in front, at the top of the first stair landing.

1664. Did you initial these pieces of paper?—I would not speak confidently about it. I might do so, but I do not think I did.

1665. How was the gentleman from Lancaster to know that these were authentic documents?—He could not know, because he had never seen my handwriting before.

1666. Then you did not settle any mode with him?—No further than saying I would write on a slip of paper the amount I had agreed with each of the voters for, and that they should then take it in to him.

1667. Can you tell us what names you wrote down?—I cannot.

1668. You probably can tell us a large number of them?—Perhaps I could if I saw the book, but there are a good many Edmonsons, and a good many Armisteads, and so on. There is only about half-a-dozen different families.

1669. Could you take a list of the voters at Morecambe and mark those to whom you gave money?—No, I do not think I could.

1670. I will just put in your hand a list?—If you will allow me to look at the register I should be better able to judge—or one of the polling lists.

1671. Here is one (handing a polling list to the Witness).—They are all mixed up together here. I think Mr. Clark handed you a list.

1672. Just look at this (handing a paper to the Witness).—This is an old one; it refers to the election of Saunders and Fenwick.

1673. Give it to us in the best way you can. Look at that polling list; there is Richard Armistead, of Poulton-le-Sands, fisherman?—He got money.

1674. (Mr Hill.) Is he the son of James?—It is not mentioned who he is the son of.

1675. He is a fisherman, and not a labourer?—He is a fisherman; but I think that if you take the whole of the Morecambe voters you will come at it much better than I can point out to you. I would say the whole were paid, with the exception of a very few.

1676. (Mr. Barstow.) No doubt in a few days we shall have your parallel from the Conservative side. Richard Armistead, fisherman, of Poulton-le-Sands, you have told us of. What did you give him?—I cannot speak to that. I have no accounts at all. I have said before that I handed the accounts over: I thought you asked me to point out which of the Armisteads it was that had money, but I cannot state the amounts.

1677. (Mr Hill.) What we want to know is those who received money through you from the stranger in the other room?—That is, the voters.

1678. The voters to whom you gave tickets to go in to the stranger?—You may take the first two Armisteads, James Armistead, and Richard Armistead.

1679. (Mr. Barstow.) Then there is William Armistead, senior, of Poulton-le-Sands?—That I cannot speak to.

1680. Then there is J. Armistead, of Poulton-le-Sands, blacksmith?—I think he got money.

1681. (Mr. Hill.) Then there is John Armistead, of Poulton-le-Sands, husbandman?—Well, I do not know which he would be, but I have no doubt that he would get it as well as the others.

1682. From you?—Certainly; he would get a ticket from me to go to Mr. Baines with.

1683. Before we leave the Armisteads, there is William Armistead, senior. Do you not recollect anything about him?—No; he was dead, if I recollect right.

1684. If he was, somebody voted for him?—I do not remember anything about him. I am not here to keep anything back, I should be very sorry to do so.

1685. Then there is T. Baxter, of Bolton-le-Sands, husbandman?—We have no Baxter that I am aware of at Morecambe, a freeman.

1686. Thomas Bennison, of Bolton-le-Sands, weaver?—Bolton-le-Sands that is. Here is John Bell, of Poulton-le-Sands, fisherman.

1687. First of all there is Beesley, of Poulton-le-Sands, tailor. Do you know him?—Yes, I know him very well, but he votes for the Conservatives.

1688. John Bell, of Poulton-le-Sands, fisherman?—Yes, I know him.

1689. Had you any dealings with him that night?—I believe he was paid.

1690. Then there are James and Daniel Bell?—I have no doubt that our Conservative friends will speak to them.

1691. Then there is Edmund Bond, of Poulton-le-Sands, engineer. Had you anything to do with him?—I had not.

1692. John Bond, of Poulton-le-Sands, fisherman. Do you remember him?—Yes.

1693. Did you give him a slip of paper?—I did. He was a turncoat, unfortunately, but the other side refused to pay him in good time.

1694. But he seems to have voted all right?—So he did.

1695. (Mr Newton.) How was he a turncoat, then, if he voted all right?—He was not a turncoat, only he had been employed by Mr. Clark on behalf of the Conservatives.

1696. (Mr. Barstow.) William Briggs, of Poulton-le-Sands, broker?—He did not get any.

1697. He got nothing?—No.

1698. Henry Casson, of Poulton-le-Sands, husbandman?—Yes, he was paid.

1699. You do not happen to know anything of the Heysham voters, do you?—No, I had nothing to do with the Heysham voters.

1700. Then there is R. Christopherson, of Poulton-le-Sands, mariner. What do you say to him?—I think he got nothing. To the best of my knowledge he did not.

1701. You did not give him anything?—To the best of my knowledge I did not.

1702. Then we come to the Edmondsons: first there is Daniel Edmondson, junior, of Poulton-le-Sands, fisherman?—Yes, he was paid, but he, at that time, was residing at Annan, at Scotland. He was one who gave evidence in London, and I will explain the grounds on which he was paid. He was residing at Annan, in Scotland, and I went over there to see him. He said that the fishing was very good, and that they were getting plenty of salmon, and that he was getting 1*l.* a day; and I said to him, "You have always been a Liberal, and if you will come and give your vote you shall have 1*l.* a day when you come." The price that he was to have had was 6*l.*, but one of the Conservatives that morning went to his house and left 12*l.* on his table, and said, "You must come and vote for the Conservative candidate, and there is 12*l.* for you." On the morning of the election I went to see him, and he let me see the 12*l.*; he showed it to me, and I advised him to take it back again, and he took it back again to John Curwen.

1703. Was 6*l.* all that he received from you?—It was all that he had to receive, but when he had got 12*l.* I said, "You are only a poor man, you shall have the same as they would give, but stick to your principles." He said, "I am only a poor man, and I have as much right to have 12*l.* as anybody else has," and then I said he was to have it.

1704. Did you give him 6*l.* as the balance?—No, I had paid him 2*l.* when I was in Annan, and I gave him his expenses to come over with.

1705. How much were his expenses?—I do not justly remember, but he was a fisherman and he left his fishing-boat and had to go back again. When he came over a day or two before the election Mr. Curwen, the Conservative captain, as you call him, had been to him, and he gave him this 12*l.*

1706. What I asked you was what sum you paid; whether you paid him a further sum of 12*l.* or only the balance?—Only the balance between the 12*l.* and the amount he had received before.

1707. That would be 6*l.* and 6*l.*?—No, it would be 12*l.*, but I cannot speak to that exactly now; he was to have 12*l.* 10*s.*, the same as he had been offered by the Conservative party.

SECOND DAY.

Mr Robert Shackleton.

8 Aug. 1866.

1708. Then you made up the difference?—Yes, I made it equal to the others.

1709. Then he received 12*l.* plus his expenses?—Yes.

1710. Then there is Jonas Edmondson, of Poulton, fisherman?—Yes, he is the father to Daniel, I believe. He did not get anything, if I remember right, but that I would not speak positively about; he has been a Liberal all his life, and never voted for any but the Liberals, and he will not do.

1711. Then there is Thomas Edmondson, of Poulton, fisherman?—I think that Thomas Edmondson got nothing to the best of my knowledge, for he was away in Ireland, connected with the steamboats, and he was sent over by them; I think he was not paid anything for his vote.

1712. You did not pay him anything, at all events?—I think I did not, I would not speak positively to that, but I think I did not.

1713. Then there is Thomas Edmondson, of Poulton, fisherman?—We have got over that.

1714. No, there is Daniel Edmondson, junior, of Poulton, fisherman, he was the one I asked you about first?—I thought you said Jonas, that was the one I was speaking of.

1715. Daniel Edmondson, junior, of Poulton, fisherman?—He is the landlord. Daniel, of Poulton, is the father of Daniel of Poulton, fisherman, and Daniel of Poulton, fisherman, is the landlord of the "Joiners' Arms."

1716. Who was the man from Scotland?—That was Daniel.

1717. (Mr. Hill.) The son of Jonas?—Yes, the son of Jonas; there are so many of the Edmondsons that I cannot classify them exactly.

1718. (Mr. Newton.) It is not Daniel, junior?—Daniel, junior, is the landlord of the "Joiners' Arms." There is Daniel Edmondson that they put in yeoman, and Daniel Edmondson, junior, who is put in fisherman, that is the landlord of the "Joiners' Arms."

1719. Then there is another Daniel Edmondson without any junior to it, who is the son of Jonas, and who is the one of whom you have given us this account down at the bottom here?—Yes.

1720. Is that the one that you went to Scotland about?—It was Daniel, the son of Jonas, that I went to Scotland about, but there are so many of them, as I said before, that I cannot classify them.

1721. The next is Jonas Edmondson, of Poulton, fisherman?—That is the father of Daniel. I think he did not get anything, as I said before, he was a Liberal, and had been all his life. I will not swear that he did not get anything, but I do not remember that he did.

1722. Then the next is Thomas Edmondson, of Poulton, fisherman?—That would be the Thomas Edmondson that I was speaking of as being on one of Belfast boats; I think he got nothing.

1723. You gave him nothing, at all events?—I think I did not, but I would not be positive of it; I will speak to the best of my recollection.

1724. The next is John Edmondson, of Poulton, fisherman?—John Edmondson was paid; he was a witness in London.

1725. Then there is James Green, of Poulton, shoemaker; what do you say as to him?—I did not give him anything; whether he got anything or not I do not know; I did not give him anything, and he was not paid by Mr. Baines; whether he got anything from anybody else I do not know.

1726. Then Mathew Hadwen, of Poulton, fish-dealer?—Yes.

1727. Tobias Hadwen, of Poulton, labourer?—I did not pay him; whether he got anything or not I do not know.

1728. He was in London, was he not?—He should have been in London, but he was poorly at the time.

1729. Joseph Hadwen, of Poulton, labourer?—No doubt he would be paid.

1730. William Hadwen, of Poulton, fisherman?—I have no doubt he would be paid.

1731. Then the next is R. Fletcher Housman?—There is only one Housman, and he votes for the Conservatives at Poulton.

1732. There is Richard Hall, of Poulton-le-Sands, druggist?—I did not pay him.

1733. There is A. Henderson, of Poulton-le-Sands, shoemaker?—I cannot speak positively about him, as to whether he was paid or not.

1734. Did you see him in the house?—No, he is a teetotaller, and he does not patronize public-houses.

1735. (Mr. Hill.) You are doubtful as to him?—I am; I cannot speak as to him not having any papers or the book.

1736. Then James Jackson?—He did not get anything.

1737. Then John Kitchen, junior, he is the next one; did he vote?—He was not paid for voting by me; I have no doubt that he would be paid, but who by I do not know.

1738. The next is Joseph Knipe, of Poulton, husbandman; what do you say to him?—I think they was paid.

1739. You think that both Joseph and George Knipe were paid?—I think so.

1740. Then William Lord, of Poulton-le-Sands, spinning master?—As far as he is concerned I will not be positive about him, but I think he got paid.

1741. The next is Edward Francis Manby, of Poulton-le-Sands, clerk, and J. R. G. Manby, of Poulton, clerk?—They did not get paid.

1742. They voted for the Conservatives?—Yes.

1743. David Moore, of Poulton-le-Sands, gentleman?—They did not get paid.

1744. Nor Bernard Moore?—No.

1745. Then John Overend, of Poulton-le-Sands, gentleman, he is the next?—He did not get paid.

1746. William Parkinson, of Poulton-le-Sands, painter?—He did not get paid, 1747. Then there are four Threlfalls; first, Henry Threlfall, fisherman?—He was not paid by the Liberals that I am aware of; I have no doubt that all the other Threlfalls was.

1748. Not by the Liberals, though?—No, not by the Liberals, only a part of it.

1749. Were there any that you paid who voted against you?—There were some who got about 2*l.* apiece, I think that voted against us, and either two or three of the Threlfalls I think got 2*l.* apiece and they voted against us; I suppose they got more tempting offers.

1750. That, of course, would be before the nomination day?—It was the nomination day, at night, when we would not give them as much as they got from the other side, or as much as the other side promised to give them, they then turned about and left us.

1751. But the money had been paid to them before?—Perhaps it would be on the morning of the nomination day to bring them here.

1752. A sort of retainer?—Just so.

1753. Are there any others that you paid?—No, I think you have gone thoroughly through the book.

1754. I am sure, from the way in which you have given your evidence, that you will tell us if you can?—Yes, I will.

1755. There is one question that I omitted to ask you in the proper place; the 50*l.* that you paid for public-houses was only for drink?—Only for drink.

1756. That was exclusive of any Committee-room?—Yes.

1757. There was no payment for any Committee-room?—No, there was no payment I think for any Committee-room, not where we were drinking at.

1758. To whom did you give the accounts of the sums that you paid?—I think to Mr. Henry Welch, either to Mr. Welch or to Mr. Blades, I will not be sure which, to one of the two; not only that but they were perfectly satisfied with them.

1759. (Mr. Barstow.) You made out a regular account of all the sums you paid, and who you paid them to?—Yes.

1760. Did you receive any remuneration?—No, not a farthing.

1761. (Mr. Hill.) You said that the conversation that took place on the night before the nomination was to this effect, "What are your Morecambe people going to do?" and that your answer would be, "They "will be doing as they have been doing for generations "—taking bribes?"—Perhaps I went too far, but my meaning was that they would take money for their votes.

1762. What was the price of votes at this last election as compared with previous elections?—The price was much higher than I had ever known it before.

1763. To what price had you known them go before?—5l. was always considered a great price.

1764. So that your instructions originally would not at all have authorized you to go beyond 5l. without further instructions?—No.

1765. When were you first spoken to as being authorized to pay money at this election?—I think I gave the answer about a week or ten days before the election.

1766. Had you ever been concerned with paying at previous elections?—Only on a very small scale at the election before between Mr. Saunders and Mr. Fenwick; I was chosen for that purpose no doubt being a resident there and not having much else to do, and because they could depend upon my doing their work well.

1767. As one they could trust?—As one they could trust their money with, and not only from that but from principle.

1768. You are a staunch Liberal?—Yes, I always was and always shall remain so.

1769. Who first mentioned the subject of your being employed in distributing money?—Our Liberal friends in Lancaster and myself have been intimate for years, and knowing that I was residing at Morecambe, they considered that I was the most suitable party to look after their interests.

1770. Can you give us an idea who first spoke to you about the amount of money that would be given you?—I was sent for, and met Mr. Welch and Mr. Blades, and no doubt they would be the parties that I should have the first conversation with.

1771. It would be with Welch and Blades?—Yes, no doubt.

1772. That would be some time before the election?—A week or ten days, as I said before.

1773. You do not know where the money came from at all that was found in the parcels in that room?—I never saw any and never got any.

1774. But you saw the brown-paper parcels there, did you not?—No, I did not see them.

1775. What was the amount of the bill that you paid at the "Queen's" at Morecambe?—If I remember right it was 24*l.* I think so, and there was a smaller bill afterwards.

1776. I speak of the bill that you paid on the morning of the election?—That was 24*l.*

1777. Did you pay that out of your own pocket at the time?—At the time I borrowed the money to pay it with, and I told Mr. Welch the amount, and he refunded it, but that is included in the 230*l.* I have named.

1778. And there is included in that the sum of money that you sent to Mr. Baines in the next room?—All together is included in the 230*l.* that I received.

1779. All that you paid out of your own pocket you received again from Mr. Baines?—Yes, the 230*l* includes what I paid at the public-house, what I advanced myself, and what I had borrowed from other parties.

1780. You have paid for the admission of freemen have you not?—In some few instances I have.

1781. Did you pay for the admission of freemen in 1864?—I am not aware that I did unless it was for one party. I think I paid for the admission of Matthew Hadwen and one or two of his sons, and I believe that Mr. Clark before the last election told him that if he would vote for the Conservatives he would refund the money for him to me. Mr. Clark before the election went to solicit him (at least the man told me so) for his vote, and said if he would vote for the Conservative candidate he would refund the money I had advanced for their freedom being taken up.

1783. That would be considered the proper thing to do as they turned against the person who got them on to the list?—People do not always go by what is proper.

1784. How many people have you paid for?—Perhaps half a dozen.

1785. And by whom have you been repaid?—By the Liberal agent.

1786. What Liberal agent?—Mr. Moser.

1787. To the amount of some six altogether?—I think not more than six or eight.

1788. Most of them were in 1864, were they not?—Yes, I should say that would be quite the outside in 1864.

Mr. Henry Kirby Baines sworn and examined.

Mr. H. K. Baines.

1789. (Mr. Newton.) What are you?—I am a clerk.

1790. To whom?—To the Barrow Hæmatite Steel Company.

1791. How long have you been an iron founder?—The company has only existed since the 1st of January last; before that I was in the employ of Schneider, Hannay and Company for the last seven years, in fact for the last ten years.

1792. As what?—In the first instance as a mining agent, and in the second instance as a clerk at the iron works at Barrow.

1793. Were you confidential clerk to Mr. Schneider?—No.

1794. Do you know anything about the last election in 1865?—No, nothing.

1795. Are you a Lancaster man?—I was born in Lancaster, and lived there until I was 16 years old.

1796. And where did you go to then?—From there I went to a place at the foot of Coniston Lake, where I resided for 15 years.

1797. And you say that you know nothing about the election in 1865?—Nothing.

1798. Where were you in last July?—At the time of the election at Lancaster I was shooting at Wimbledon.

1799. What were you shooting for?—For various prizes.

1800. Were you a volunteer?—Yes.

1801. There were better prizes at Lancaster?—I am sorry I did not get one if it had been in a good cause.

1802. (Mr. Newton.) I suppose you are a Liberal?—My politics not having been tested I cannot say, not being a voter.

1803. Were you ever at the "White Lion" in this town?—No; I do not know where it is.

1804. A house kept by Peter Moore?—I do not know him.

1805. Have you got another brother?—Yes, I have.

1806, What is his name?—Thomas Carter.

But none besides him?—No. none.

1807. You and your brother who was here to-day are the only two?—Yes, the only two brothers in the family.

1808. When did you go to Wimbledon?—I cannot give you the date, but you will know the date of the election, and I went the Saturday before by the night mail.

1809. Where did you take the night mail?—At Carnforth.

1810. How did you get from Barrow to Carnforth?—I came by the ordinary train to Carnforth, and took the night mail, and was in London the next morning at 6 o'clock, and never left there till the Saturday night following, at a quarter-past nine.

1811. You were there the whole week?—Yes; I believe the election was on the Wednesday, and I got to Wimbledon on Wednesday morning.

SECOND DAY.

Mr. H. K. Baines.

28 Aug. 1866.

1812. What is that you have in your hand ?—It is the ticket that entitled me to shoot in the St. George's Challenge Vase competition.

1813. The mail train stops at Lancaster ?—Yes, a few minutes.

1814. Did you remain in the train those few minutes ?—Yes.

1815. You did not get out ?—I am not aware of it.

1816. You are not aware ?—In fact I will swear I did not.

1817. Did you see anyone that you knew ?—I do not remember that I did.

1818. Did you bring anything with you ?—Nothing but my own luggage and rifle and some Volunteer straps.

1819. I put it to you, you being sworn to speak the truth, did you or did you not ever bring any money from Barrow to Lancaster ?—I am on my oath and I will swear I never did beyond the money for my own expenses.

1820. You never brought any money that was dropped at Lancaster ?—No. I never paid a penny for any Lancaster election.

1821. Do you know anyone who did ?—No.

1822. At that time were all Mr. Schneider's clerks at Barrow ?—Yes, there was not one absent.

1823. Do you know of your own knowledge, or have you been told that any of them came over to Lancaster during that week ?—Not one of them to the best of my knowledge : in fact, I can state at that time we were rather short-handed; my being away in London, none of them could leave so that the business could be carried on with any degree of comfort.

1824. Have you ever heard of your being accused of bringing money to Lancaster ?—No; I never heard that I was accused of that. I was sent for to London in the spring, but what for I never knew.

1825. To attend the Committee in the House of Commons ?—I never knew what I was sent for.

1826. Did you make any inquiry ?—No, I did not consider it my duty. My expenses were paid.

1827. That is not the question. Did you make any inquiry to ascertain what you were sent for ?—I believe Mr. Clarke was the gentlemen who sent for me, and he never vouched any explanation of his conduct.

1828. (Mr. Hill.) Who first said anything to you or asked you any question about this matter ?—I was never spoken to upon the subject until I was served with a summons to attend in London.

1829. To attend the Committee ?—Yes.

1830. We have got certain evidence of yours written down to be heard before that Committee. Did you ever give any evidence to anybody or make any statement to anybody ?—No, none.

1831. Are you sure of that ?—Yes, I am certain of it. I was never called.

1832. (Mr. Barstow.) The learned Commissioner means, did you make any statement to any person previously with a view to your statement being taken down in writing and put in a brief ?—I am not aware of it.

1833. You never made any statement to Mr. Clarke ?—No.

1834. (Mr. Newton.) Who served you with the subpœna ?—Mr. Clarke's son.

1835. When he served you with the subpœna, did you make any observation ?—I am not aware that I did, of any importance.

1836. Did you ask him what it was for ?—I read it, and saw what it was for.

1837. Did you ask him why you were to go up to London ?—I do not recollect what passed. A few words might pass, but nothing of any moment.

1838. Did you take it as a matter of course that you were to go up to London about this Committee ?—Of course ; I took it as a matter of course when I got this subpœna, but I knew nothing about the subpœna before.

1839. You knew nothing about the subpœna, but you knew about the election petition ?—I saw it in the papers.

1840. Has anybody accused you of paying money ?—No, nobody.

1841. Or bringing money ?—Nobody accused me of anything until the summons was served upon me to go to London.

1842. What were you accused of then ?—I was accused of nothing but what was stated in the paper.

1843. What was stated in the paper ?—I saw that my name was mentioned the first in the list in the opening speech of the counsel. That was the first time that I saw my name mixed up with the election.

1844. That was in the London papers ?—Yes.

1845. Was that the first time you knew what you were had up to London for ?—Yes.

1846. Your curiosity was not excited, and you asked nobody ?—Where I was there was nobody to give me information.

1847. Mr. Clarke was there, was he not ?—Not in my district.

1848. But he was in London ?—Yes; but I was not admitted where he was.

1849. He was in the lobby of the House of Commons ?—I very seldom saw him ; and when he was out he appeared so busy that I had no opportunity of speaking to him.

1850. You did not ask him ?—No.

1851. What was your reason for not asking him ?—I had no reason.

1852. You must have a reason. No man would go up to London upon such an errand without knowing what he was taken up for ?—I was subpœnaed to bring up certain books and papers.

1853. You were examined ?—No.

1854. (Mr. Barstow.) Did you remain about in the lobby ?—Yes ; I was never away from the place for the whole three days.

T. C. Baines.

THOMAS CARTER BAINES recalled and further examined.

1855. (Mr. Hill.) You gave us a very straightforward account of everything that took place. You have been living at Barrow, near to your brother, talked to him, and you are on good terms with one another, I suppose ?—Yes.

1856. To the best of your belief has he had anything do with this election ?—I should say nothing whatever.

1857. Do you believe that there is no truth in the statement when it is stated that he brought over money to Lancaster from the works ?—I believe it is entirely false. I do not believe that he had anything to do with the election in any way or shape.

1858. In fact, at that moment he was going to shoot for the Challenge Vase ?—Yes; and in fact, our confidence is such, that if he had any transaction in the election he would have told me of it, and also would have told you of it now.

1859. He is a straightforward fellow ?—Yes.

1860. (Mr. Newton.) Did you bring over any money ?—No.

1861. Do you know of anybody who did ?—No.

1862. Did you ever hear of anybody who did ?—No.

Mr. Newton (to Mr. Henry Kirby Baines.) Of course, upon this I can only say that I am very sorry to have put those questions which I felt it my duty to put to you. We must have been misinformed ; and pray do not suppose that I disbelieve you. On the contrary, I believe you to be the witness of truth.

(The witness.) I am very glad to have given my evidence.

(Mr. Newton.) You ought to be very glad to have had the opportunity of clearing your character from the imputations cast upon you.

(The witness.) I had no more to do with the election than this lamp-post.

Adjourned to to-morrow at 10 o'clock.

THIRD DAY.

Lancaster Castle, Wednesday, 29th August 1866

PRESENT :—

MR. BARSTOW. | MR. NEWTON.

MR. HILL.

THIRD DAY.

Mr. H. Welch.

29 Aug. 1866.

Mr. HENRY WELCH sworn and examined.

1865. (Mr. Hill.) Are you a grocer ?—Yes.

1866. Where do you reside ?—At the Greaves, in Scotforth.

1867. Where is your shop ?—In Cheapside, one ; and Damside Street the other.

1868. Have you been in trade for some time in Lancaster ?—I have been in Lancaster since 1834, and in business since 1851.

1869. You are a freeman, are you not ?—Yes, of the borough.

1870. Have you, during the time you have resided in Lancaster been connected with, or have you taken interest in any of the elections for members to represent Lancaster in Parliament ?—Well, to some extent, since 1846 ; but more so perhaps within the last seven years.

1871. The first election with which you were more immediately connected was in 1847 ?—Yes ; but I had not much to do with that ; I was only an outsider then.

1872. On behalf of which party have you interested yourself ?—On the Liberal side always.

1873. For what candidates did you interest yourself at the last election ?—Fenwick and Schneider.

1874. Had you been interested on behalf of Mr. Fenwick in the preceding election, when he stood against Mr. Saunders ?—Yes, I was.

1875. In what character have you been interested for Mr. Fenwick ?—In pretty much the same way as the last time, being the cashier.

1876. Mr. Schneider, as we know, had a walk over at the preceding election ?—Yes, he had.

1877. At the last general election was it well known that Messrs. Fenwick and Schneider were standing together ?—Yes, well known.

1878. In the same interest and assisted by the same parties ?—Certainly.

1879. Where you endeavouring to split the votes and to bring them both in together ?—We were doing all we could to get everybody to vote for them both.

1880. So that at the last election you were equally the agent of Mr. Schneider as of Mr. Fenwick ?—I suppose so. I had the same interest in the one as in the other personally.

1881. All your arrangements were made equally for both parties ?—Yes, they were.

1882. You say you occupied the position of cashier. What do you understand by that ?—I understand by it having some cash to pay in a manner that I believe is illegal.

1883. What sums of money did you receive on behalf of the last election ?—The first sum of money that I received was 710*l.* and 10*s.* in gold.

1884. When did you receive that ?—Perhaps a fortnight or three weeks before the election ; three weeks I should think it would be.

1885. From whom did you receive that?—I found it.

1886. You found it yourself ?—It was left on the counter in my absence, and I do not know where it came from or who brought it.

1887. You have no idea who left it ?—No, not at all.

1888. Were you out of your shop when it was left there ?—Yes, I was.

1889. Who was in the shop when you left ?—Only a boy of mine.

1890. What is the boy's name ?—I think it would be William Hutchinson.

1891. Is he still in your employment ?—Yes, he is ; he is an apprentice of mine. I am not certain it was him, but I think so.

1892. Have you any other person who could have been in the shop at the time ?—I had a young man at that time in the shop of the name of Alfred Tinker, but he is now in Liverpool. I am not sure which of them it was in the shop, but I think it was the young one.

1893. That, you say, was about three weeks before the election ?—Yes.

1894. At which shop was it left ?—At the one in Cheapside.

1895. In what sort of parcels, or how was it packed ?—It was tied up in a brown-paper parcel.

1896. At what time of the day ?—I think it was in the afternoon, but I would not swear it.

1897. Some time about dinner-time ?—I think it was in the afternoon ; I am almost sure of it. It would be between dinner and tea time.

1898. Had you been out of the shop for some time ?—Yes, I had been down at the other shop in Damside Street.

1899. During the morning ?—Yes, during the morning.

1900. When had you last been in the shop before you found the money ?—Perhaps two hours.

1901. You came in and found this one parcel lying on the counter ?—No, I did not find it lying on the counter ; it was put on a shelf on one side, and I was told that it was left during my absence, and they were to give it to me.

1902. Who told you that ?—The young man in the shop.

1903. William Hutchinson ?—Yes, I think it was him ; it was one of the two I named. I asked him who left it, and he said he did not know, it was a boy, and that he had said, " Give that to Mr. Welch when he comes in."

1904. Did you ever speak to anybody afterwards about that parcel ?—No.

1905. Nor tell anybody that you had received the parcel safely ?—I think I should tell Mr. Wearing, my next door neighbour.

1906. That you had received the parcel safely ?—No, not that I had received it safely, but that I had received a parcel, and that it contained so much money.

1907. You have no doubt that you did tell that to Mr. Wearing ?—I do not think anything occurred to either of us during the election that we did not tell to one another.

1908. No doubt you told him, it being an important feature in the election ?—I have no doubt at all that I did.

1909. What did you proceed to do with the money at that time. Did you keep it in your own hands, or did you pay it into the bank ?—I kept it in my own hands.

1910. What was the next sum of money you received ?—500*l.*, left exactly in the same way.

1911. Were you in your shop at that time ?—No.

1912. At what date was that left ?—That would be about ten days after the first.

1913. At the same time of day ?—I could not be certain ; it was in the course of the day ; it was daylight.

1914. I only ask that with reference to this point.

THIRD DAY.

Mr. H. Welch.

29 Aug. 1866.

Where you also down at your other shop when this second parcel was left?—I cannot say that. I am a good deal out of the place during the day, on other people's business sometimes.

1915. Did you also find that on the shelf?—Yes, it was put on the shelf in the shop when I came in.

1916. Did the same boy, William Hutchinson, or Alfred Tinker tell you that it was left for you?—Yes, one of them would. I have no one else to tell me, unless they brought it in when my brother was in the shop, but I do not think he was.

1917. Have you a brother who looks after the shop?—Yes.

1918. What is his name?—William Welch.

1919. Did you mention to any person besides Wearing that you had received this 500*l.* also?—No, I do not think I should.

1920. What was the next sum of money that was left?—The next was a sum of 500*l.* I was told to call for it at Mr. John Sanderson's, in St. John Street.

1921. At what date was that?—Perhaps a week before the election.

1922. Who is Mr. Sanderson?—He is a clerk in the Lancaster Banking Company.

1923. What is his Christian name?—John.

1924. At what date was that?—About a week before the election.

1925. That would be about the 5th of July?—Some time in the beginning of July.

1926. Who had told you to call for that?—I believe Mr. Sanderson left word at my shop that he had a parcel for me at his house, if I would call for it.

1927. Was that parcel packed similarly to the other ones?—500*l.* in gold tied up in a brown-paper parcel.

1928. In the same way?—Yes, folded up in hundreds.

1929. The same class of parcel as the other?—Yes, the same parcel. It was 500*l.* tied up in either fifties or hundreds; I think it was fifties, and the others were tied up in hundreds; it was, I know, tied up in fifties.

1930. What was the next money that you received?—I got another 500*l.* from the same person.

1931. In the same way as the last?—Yes.

1932. You were told by Mr. Sanderson to call, and you called for it?—I was told when I got the first to call again for a similar parcel.

1933. You were told by Mr. Sanderson when you got the first 500*l.*, that you received in that way, that you were to call again?—Yes, that there would be another similar parcel for me in a few days. I could not swear to the exact circumstances of the language I am relating to you, but, to the best of my belief that was the way of it.

1934. You were to call in a few days?—I did not call for the next parcel, I sent a person for it.

1935. We are upon the second parcel you received at Sanderson's house?—I sent a person for it, I did not receive it myself.

1936. When you received the first 500*l.* he told you that there would be a similar parcel for you in a few days?—I could not say whether he told me that then, or a few days afterwards.

1937. How long before the election was it that you received from Mr. Sanderson's house this second parcel of 500*l.*?—On the nomination day.

1938. What was the next money that you received?—The next money I saw I found.

1939. How much did you find?—I did not count it, it was tied up in a brown-paper parcel in a cupboard in a room we occupied at the "Queen's;" how it came there I do not know.

1940. Who directed your attention to that cupboard?—Nobody.

1941. Was it in the room in which you were sitting?—It was a room I was in in the evening.

1942. Let us have the day on which that discovery took place?—That was on the nomination day.

1943. Was anyone sitting in the room with you at the time you saw it?—I cannot tell, but I daresay there would be.

1944. Had you ever visited that cupboard before?—I had never been in that room before that afternoon, it was merely a kind of sideboard. I do not know whether it was a bookcase at the top and a cupboard underneath.

1945. Did you accidentally look into the cupboard? Was it a mere accident?—I cannot relate to you how it was I found it, but I went to the cupboard to put away the monies that I had left out of the other.

1946. There you found a brown-paper parcel?—Yes.

1947. You knew what was in the brown-paper parcel?—I felt it and I knew, at least I suspected what it was.

1948. You knew before that did you not?—No.

1949. You knew that the parcel was somewhere about the room?—No, I had never been told a word about it.

1950. What was the bulk of the parcel?—I took it to be 1,000*l.* from the size of bags I saw with 1,000*l.* in.

1951. (Mr. Barstow.) Was it all in gold?—Yes.

1952. (Mr. Hill.) You felt that this was a parcel made up with bags inside it?—No, it was tied up in a paper and all folded together; tied up in fifties or hundreds.

1953. When did you open that parcel?—That afternoon or that evening, some of it was taken out.

1954. Where did you open it?—In that room.

1955. Who was present?—Mr. Wearing was present and Mr. Blades.

1956. Charles Blades?—Yes, I do not think there would be anyone else present at the time, there was no secret about it, it was a mere matter of business, it was not opened with any formality, it was only opened when it was wanted.

1957. What was the next money you received?—The next money was received on the morning of the election, it was a bag with 1,000*l.* in it I suppose.

1958. Where did you find that?—Mr. Wearing brought that into the room.

1959. Into the room at the "Queen's?"—Yes.

1960. What was the next money you received?—There was another bag of 1000*l.* brought in shortly afterwards by Mr. Barton.

1961. What is Mr. Barton's Christian name?—I do not know.

1962. What is he?—A gentleman.

1963. Residing where?—At the top of Church Street, in Lancaster; Church Place I suppose they would call it.

1964. What time of the day did he bring that in?—It would be about 9 or 10 o'clock in the morning, about 10 o'clock I should think.

1965. What time was the previous bag brought in by Wearing in the morning?—Perhaps half an hour before.

1966. What was the next sum of money you received?—That is all I got.

1967. Until the settling up of accounts, which we will come to by-and-bye?—Well, I had more than I wanted.

1968. That makes 5,210*l.* 10*s.*?—Yes.

1969. Did you hand back any balance to anybody when you finally came to settle up accounts?—One of the bags of 1,000*l.* was never touched on the day of the election.

1970. We will come to that presently. Out of this money which you received what was the first money which you distributed?—I suppose I should pay about 1,000*l.* previously to the election, somewhere thereabouts, quite 1,000*l.*

1971. Into whose hands did you pay that?—In sums of 1*l.*, 2*l.*, 3*l.*, 4*l.*, and 5*l.* into the hands of the captains appointed to the different districts for the canvassing expenses, and at the week's end wages for messengers, runners, and all sorts of people that there are at an election who want money.

1972. Have you a list of the captains to whom you paid those sums?—I have not.

1973. Can you give me no list?—I cannot give you a list, but Mr. Maxsted handed you in a book yesterday with the districts and the captains appointed to each district.

1974. You can tell me, looking at that, about what sums each of them received?—I could not tell you what they received, but I can tell you the names of the parties in the district to whom I paid it.

1975. Do you recollect what was the first date at which you paid any money at all?—It was sooner than I would have liked to have commenced, but it was a fortnight after the other side had been spending money and treating in public-houses.

1976. (Mr. Newton.) You say it was sooner than you liked to begin?—Yes, I know it is a troublesome business when you once begin, and I kept it off as long as I could; we were goaded into it by our party coming and telling us what they were doing on the other side; they commenced on the other side with a system of opening one public-house in one place one night, and another another night.

1977. (Mr. Hill.) I will take you through their system presently, you commenced sooner than you liked, but you were goaded into it by being told what they were doing on the other side?—Yes.

1978. When were you goaded into it, how long before the election?—I think a fortnight or three weeks before the election, three weeks I think it would be.

1979. I find from the book to which you referred me that the borough was divided into districts, and that there were captains and assistants set over each district?—Yes.

1980. Now I find in Skerton that there were as captain and assistants, William Towers, John Ireland, and Edward Bradley?—I do not know John Ireland and Edward Bradley. I only dealt with the captain; it was his business to distribute to his subordinates and other people. William Towers was the captain.

1981. When did you first pay William Towers?—I cannot say.

1982. Would he be about one of the earliest?—There was no difference in the earliness, when they began they began altogether.

1983. What sums of money did you, on the whole, pay William Towers?—Do you mean for the preliminary canvassing expenses, or altogether?

1984. For the preliminary canvassing expenses?—I do not know. I should think perhaps 15*l.* or 20*l.* altogether, up to the time of the election.

1985. Can you tell me what you gave him altogether for other purposes?—I think 100*l.* was all that he had for other purposes, both for voters and public-house bills, and hire of committee rooms. I think so, either 100*l.* or 150*l.* I cannot be sure but he will tell you.

1986. Do you know any other person that you dealt with at Skerton?—No.

1987. Heaton-with-Oxcliffe, Middleton, Overton, Sunderland, and Heysham, for that district I see the names of the captains are Mr. Wise and Mr. Bagot, did you look to them?—No, I did not give them any money.

1988. Who looked to them?—That district you have named I think was two districts.

1989. What were the names of the two districts?—Heysham I think was a district of itself, or Heysham and Heaton; but in Heaton-with-Oxcliffe, there were only one or two voters, and they are farmers, and they have to vote the way their landlord tells them, so that they do not want much looking after.

1990. From whom can we gain information as to those two districts?—As to what?

1991. As to money paid to persons residing there?—John Albright went down to Overton, and not Thomas Albright, as Mr. Clark told you yesterday.

1992. Did he receive money from you?—Yes.

1993. How much did you pay to John Albright?—I think it was either 70*l.* or 80*l.*, it was one or the other.

1994. Altogether for preliminary canvassing and other expenses?—He did not go down on the preliminary canvass, in fact very little preliminary canvassing was done at Overton on our side, the other side did more of it.

1995. We shall come to the other side by-and-by?—They are a very bad lot, we did not trouble them very much.

1996. Was there anybody else who looked after Overton, besides Albright?—John Bagot went down once or twice, and I daresay took some money with him.

1997. Did you give him any money?—I gave him a sovereign when he went down, to spend amongst them.

1998. Did you give nothing else to John Bagot, besides this 1*l.* to spend amongst them?—He would go three or four times.

1999. Did you give him 1*l.* each time?—1*l.* or 30*s.*

2000. What did you give him altogether, 5*l.*?—Yes, not more, he went down three times.

2001. Shall I say 5*l.* in round numbers?—Yes, it would be about that, not more.

2002. Did you give anybody else anything for Overton?—No.

2003. Did you do anything at all for Heaton-with-Oxcliffe?—No.

2004. Who looked after that?—I do not think anybody else looked after that, as I have told you; there were only four voters there, two Cottams and two Balls.

2005. Did either of them receive any money?—Not from us.

2006. Not from the Liberal party?—No, I do not know that any of them voted for us.

2007. Was there no money spent by the Liberal party at Heaton-with-Oxcliffe?—Not that I am aware, not to the best of my knowledge.

2008. The two Balls appear to have voted on your side?—Yes, I believe they did, and the two Cottams voted on the other side, Adam Cottam and John Cottam; they are respectable farmers.

2009. You do not know of any money being spent upon them by the Liberals?—No, I do not.

2010. Then, as regards Middleton?—I do not know Middleton at all; it is classed, I daresay, with some of the others.

2011. You do not know who acted; it is put down Mr. Wise and John Bagot, in the book?—Mr. Wise would go down to canvass them, if it is classed with Heysham they would come up with the Heysham voters.

2012. We shall learn, then, about that from Mr. Wise?—Yes, Mr. Wise and Lawrence Crook.

2013. They will also speak, as I understand, as to Heysham?—Yes; Heysham is the principal place, Middleton would be tacked to it.

2014. Then Sunderland?—That is tacked to Overton.

2015. Would that be under John Albright's care?—I do not think anybody went to Sunderland, I believe there were only one or two voters there. And they are not men to be looked after in that kind of way.

2016. They are not men who would take money, is that what you mean?—I think there are only two voters there; one is Mr. Walker, a solicitor, at Preston; he would not want looking after; and I believe there is one fisherman, and he would come to Overton when there was anything to drink.

2017. Therefore we can refer to Mr. John Albright for him?—Mr. Albright was never down there, excepting on the morning of the election to bring them up.

2018. Do you know of any money that was given to that Sunderland fisherman, or given to anybody on his account?—He did not vote for us, he always had done before, but he did not that time.

2019. What is his name?—I forget his name, but I was told by Albright that they could not get him, that he had gone over to the other side.

2020. Now we will come to Poulton-le-Sands. We have heard something about it. I find that with Poulton, Bare and Torrisholme are classed ?—They are.

THIRD DAY.

Mr. H. Welch.

29 Aug. 1866.

2021. They are the same township ?—Yes.

2022. The head of affairs there was Mr. Shackleton ?—Yes.

2023. What monies did you give to Mr. Shackleton ?—About 200*l.* altogether.

2024. He has told us that you gave him 230*l.* ?—I daresay that will be correct; I know it was somewhere about 200*l.*

2025. You heard the evidence he gave as to that, and you have no reason to correct it ?—No ; I believe he told the truth.

2026. Did you give any money to anybody else for Poulton-le-Sands ?—Nobody else. Baines took some money down when he went the night before the election or the morning of the election.

2027. To Baines also you gave 230*l.* altogether ?—Baines took 200*l.* down with him. He had 150*l.* first, and he came for 50*l.* more. He had heard so much about the expensiveness of the place, and thought it would not be enough; and he took another 50*l.*

2028. And Mr. Shackleton he told us lent him an additional sum of 50*l.* ; and he paid 20*l.* out of his own pocket ?—Yes. I repaid him a few days after, the balance of his account, and Mr. Shackleton received his.

2029. So that altogether there would go to Baines and Shackleton 460*l.*, according to their account, which you have no reason to doubt ?—No ; I believe it to be correct.

2030. Besides that did you pay any money to anybody else on account of that district ?—Some parties from Lancaster, when they went down would take 1*l.* or 2*l.* with them to spend; but I did not give anybody much money to go down to Morecambe. I thought Shackleton was spending quite plenty.

2031. To what extent shall we say they had money besides ?—Perhaps, at different times it may have been 10*l.* or 15*l.*

2032. That was for drink and refreshment ?—Yes.

2033. Now we will come to Bolton. I see the name that stands first at Bolton is William Slinger ?—He did not vote.

2034. Thomas Irving ?—He did not do anything.

2035. Robert Stackhouse ?—He did.

2036. Edward Jackson ?—I do not know him.

2037. Robert Beattie ?—He did not go there.

2038. The only person you did anything with at Bolton was Stackhouse ?—Huntington went down with Stackhouse.

2039. Did you give any money to any one else for Bolton except Stackhouse ?—John Huntington and Stackhouse had 5*l.* each to go down with.

2040. To do what with ?—To pay the expenses of the voters, to give them their breakfasts in the morning and to bring them up.

2041. Was that the first sum of money that you sent down to Bolton ?—No, I think that Stackhouse would have 3*l.* or 4*l.* to spend before that—perhaps 5*l.*—I cannot say to a pound or two.

2042. We may say 5*l.* ?—Yes.

2043. Did Huntington receive any monies from you besides that ?—Huntington had 2*l.* or 3*l.* from me when he went down before that.

2044. 3*l.*, shall we say, or 2*l* ?—I do not know how many times he went down. I gave him 1*l.* each time he went down—perhaps 3*l.* altogether.

2045. Besides that, did Huntington receive any money ?—No.

2046. What monies did Stackhouse receive on account of the voters for bribery ?—There were not many voters down there. I do not know whether Stackhouse voted two or three out of that district. He did not vote many I know.

2047. What money would he receive on account of those men ?—He got 15*l.* for one, and I think 10*l.* for another.

2048. What was the name of the fifteen-pounder ?—He was a man that he brought up into the room—a man that they had up in London.

2049. Was it Bennison ?—No, it was not Bennison.

2050. Baxter ?—Yes ; he brought Baxter up into the room where we were at the "Queen's," and told me that the man would not vote unless he got 15*l.* I asked who he was, and said that he must not bring him there ; that we could only deal with the captains, and that he must send him away : and Stackhouse took 15*l.* for him.

2051. He took 15*l.* from the room for him ?—He did ; and took 10*l.*, I think, for Bennison.

2052. Thomas Bennison ?—Thomas Bennison.

2053. That was the gentleman who was to vote for Schneider and Lawrence, but who did in fact vote for Schneider and Fenwick ?—I believe he did so.

2054. Who was the third voter ?—I do not think he voted anybody else ; but he came for some money for a third voter ; and when he got the man to the polling booth, the man had voted previously ; and so he brought the money back again. I think those were the only two voters that Stackhouse polled.

2055. And they were the only two men who, so far as you know, were bribed at Bolton ?—As far as I know—that is, on our side.

2056. Now we will pass on to the next district, Over Kellet and Nether Kellett. I see Mr. Joseph Wilson's name connected with that district ?—Yes, I believe so.

2057. Was he the person who looked after that district ?—He went to see them, but he did not look after the Kellet voters.

2058. I suppose we may take Over Kellet and Nether Kellet as one ?—Yes ; there are only two voters in one of the Kellets, and they are both gentlemen who do not want looking after.

2059. Did Joseph Wilson receive any money from you to go down ?—I gave him some money for his expenses to go down.

2060. Nothing more than that ?—Nothing more than that for Kellet.

2061. Were there any voters paid at Kellet ?—There were.

2062. How many ?—I really cannot tell: not many.

2063. To whom did you give money for Kellet ?—To Hewitson.

2064. J. W. Hewitson ?—I do not know what his Christian name is.

2065. What money did Hewitson receive for Kellet ?—He took 50*l.*, I think, and brought some of it back.

2066. How much did he bring back ?—He brought a little back. I do not know how much ; but he will be able to tell you.

2067. He had somewhere about 50*l.* ?—I think 50*l.* exactly he took with him.

2068. But you say he brought some back ?—Yes ; but I cannot remember how much he brought back ; perhaps 5*l.* or 10*l.*

2069. Do you know of any other money that was paid on account of Kellet ?—Yes ; I paid Lawrence Lawrence 10*l.* myself for his services. It was badly looked after, and I engaged him to attend to his neighbours, as he could do it better than anybody in Lancaster ; and I gave him 10*l.* for his services.

2070. For his services in looking after voters ?—Yes.

2071. Lawrence Lawrence is a voter, is he not ?—Yes.

2072. Is he resident at Kellet ?—Yes.

2073. Did he receive any money from you for his vote ?—I gave him 10*l.* after the election, which I had agreed to give him before if he would help us all he could at Kellet, and do his best.

2074. But beyond that you gave him nothing ?—Nothing.

2075. Which Lawrence was it, senior or junior ?—It was the old man. The young man came from Liverpool. I gave the father 10*l.* for his son's expenses for coming from Liverpool besides.

2076. Did either of them receive any other money ?—No.

2077. Did you pay money to any other persons than those you have mentioned; Hewitson 50*l.*, and each of the Lawrences 10*l.* on account of voters resident in the Kellets?—No; I do not think it was 50*l.* that Hewitson got, but he will tell you.

2078. Now we come to Warton and Carnforth; they both go together?—They do.

2080. I understand you to say with regard to Kellet that Joseph Wilson only had his own expenses for going over?—That was all.

2081. To what amount?—He would go to Kellet when he was going to Carnforth and Warton, and spend a few shillings at public-houses.

2082. Then there was no special money given him for the Kellets?—No.

2083. You say that Joseph Wilson received monies for that district?—70*l.* or 80*l.*, to the best of my recollection.

2084. Did anybody else receive money for voters there?—No.

2085. How many voters are there in that district? I really do not know.

2086. Did Joseph Wilson render you an account of monies paid to the voters for that district?—In the lump, but not particularly.

2087. Was there any other money paid to any other persons on account of that?—Not for that district, except a pound or two for expenses when they went down there; that is all.

2088. Just to look up the voters and give them refreshment?—That is it.

2089. Now then we come to Hest Bank and Slyne. I find the names put against that in the book are Joseph Albright, Isaac Greenwood, and Alfred Tinker. Alfred Tinker would be your apprentice, would he not?—He was an assistant of mine.

2090. Which of those three did you deal with in the matter of the Hest Bank and Slyne voters?—I do not think there was anybody down there to deal with. I do not think we got any voters there that were paid.

2091. Neither in the way of refreshment nor in any other way?—Joseph Albright went down there either once or twice, and I think he only took half a sovereign with him when he went down. There are no voters there to look after. They get among the Morecambe people there.

2092. Would not Alfred Tinker look after any voters there?—No; many of the names that were set down in that book were set down by parties at a meeting, and in the absence of the individuals. Many of them never interfered at all.

2093. Then there would not be above a sovereign on that account altogether?—There was nothing spent there of any amount that I remember.

2094. Then we come to Aughton-with-Halton?—Aughton-with-Halton or Halton-with-Aughton.

2095. The names set against that are Joseph Smith, Thomas Scurry, and James Gardiner. Who looked after that?—James Gardiner lives at Halton, and Joseph Smith has a farm there.

2096. To whom did you give money on account of the voters there?—Mr. Smith should have taken some money down for there, but he said it was of no use going down; that the other side were giving so much money he would not go, but would take the chance of finding them when they came the next day; and he did not go at all.

2097. Did anybody else go?—No; Gardiner lives there, but he went with Hewitson I think.

2098. Was any money given to any voter in that district?—Mr. Smith got something, but how much I do not remember: not much.

2099. 5*l.* or 10*l.*?—I have no recollection what Mr. Smith got.

2100. But there are voters there; there are Crossfield and Gudgeon?—Did they not vote for Mr. Lawrence?

2101. You are quite right?—I do not think we got any there. We had not much money there.

2102. Pedder and Richmond?—I think Pedder would vote for us. He is a farmer, and a respectable man; he would not have any money. He did not get anything.

2103. George Nathaniel appears to be the only other person?—I do not know him at all. I do not think we got anybody from Halton. They all went to the other side.

2104. Joseph Smith had 5*l.* or 10*l.*?—I did not give Joseph Smith anything. What he spent he spent out of his pocket, and told me after the election, and I gave it to him.

2105. 5*l.*?—I do not remember, for it would be some time after the election before he told me what he had spent.

2106. Ellel and Galgate; they both come under the district of Galgate?—Ellel is a very wide township. I think they were separate.

2107. Who looked after Ellel?—The township of Ellel?

2108. Yes?—John Birchall.

2109. What moneys did John Birchall receive from you?—I think I gave him 50*l.*

2110. Did you give to anybody else anything on account of Ellel?—A man named Rawes had something, I do not know what. He brought most of it back again.

2111. Shall we say 5*l.*?—No, I think he took 30*l.* or 40*l.*, and he brought about 20*l.* back.

2112. Then he had 10*l.* or 20*l.*?—Somewhere thereabouts.

2113. What was that for?—He paid either one voter or two. One voter I think it was.

2114. I should think in all probability it would be nearer 20*l.* than 10*l.* if there were two voters?—I do not think they paid them so much up there. I think he paid the two voters 16*l.*, and brought 24*l.* back out of the 40*l.* I think it was so.

2115. Did anybody else receive anything at Ellel besides those which you have mentioned?—Not except for expenses.

2116. What would be paid for expenses?—Perhaps 5*l.* or 6*l.*

2117. Do you know who were the two voters to whom Rawes paid that 16*l.*?—I do not.

2118. Now then, we will come to Galgate. Who looked after Galgate?—Edward Bradshaw, junior.

2119. Was he a resident there or did he go from Lancaster?—His father lives there, and has a tanyard and a house, or had at that time at Galgate, and a currier's shop at Lancaster; and the son was backwards and forwards.

2120. You say that he has a shop; that is the father?—The son is with the father in the business.

2121. What money did you give to Bradshaw for the Galgate voters?—I do not remember. He would get a good deal—100*l.* I should think, or more.

2122. What shall we put down as your nearest approximation to the sum?—I should say about 150*l.*, speaking from memory.

2123. When did you give him that money?—On the night before the election, and on the day of the election, I think.

2124. Did he give an account to you of what he had done with the 150*l.*?—He did make out a piece of paper of what he had paid.

2125. Did you give anybody else any money for Galgate?—No; nobody got any money for the Galgate voters except Bradshaw.

2126. Was any money paid to Bradshaw besides the 150*l.* for expenses?—Yes; some few pounds.

2127. May I say 5*l.*?—Yes, 5*l.* or 10*l.*, or, I should say, perhaps more. I should think that the expenses at Galgate would be 20*l.* before the election.

2128. Did you give any other persons any monies for going down to Galgate to look up voters?—Nobody but Bradshaw, so far as I recollect. He undertook it with the assistance of another young man.

THIRD DAY.

Mr. H. Welch.

29 Aug. 1866.

2129. Who was the young man who assisted him?—He was some person at Galgate that he selected for himself.

2130. I will mention some names: Robinson, Illingworth, Pilkington?—It was either Pilkington or Illingworth, I am not certain which.

2131. But you did not pay that assistant anything?—No; I am not sure whether he did not get a few pounds for expenses. I think he did.

2132. Do you know whether he was in the employment of some silk mill down there?—He was in the employ of the silk mill. It was either Illingworth or Pilkington. I believe they are both in the silk mill. It was either the one or the other of them. I only saw him once, and gave him 2*l.* or 3*l.* for expenses.

2133. You have nothing else to say about Galgate?—Bradshaw had the management at Galgate.

2134. Now we will come to a district containing a very great many names: Ashton-with-Stodday. Do you know anything of that?—The voters in Ashton-with-Stodday, I think, are farmers that were not looked after in that kind of way.

2135. Cockerham?—Henry Simpson was appointed for Cockerham, I think.

2136. Can you say anything about Ashton-with-Stodday?—No one went there, I believe, unless the Cockerham people called upon them; but I think there are only one or two voters. They are farmers.

2137. I see in this book there are a great many districts all bracketed with Ashton-with-Stodday: Cockerham, Glasson, Thurnham, Forton, and I need scarcely read the other names?—There are a good many of them.

2138. Did the same person look after those districts which are so bracketed together?—Henry Simpson looked after Cockerham, and John Bircham looked after Thurnham.

2139. Then those districts we need not separate, but you can give me an answer as to all of them, can you?—Yes. It was much the same as it was with the others.

2140. What monies did you give to William Welch?—William Welch and Henry Simpson were co-partners together. I think they spent about 50*l.*

2141. That district included Ashton-with-Stodday, Cockerham, Glasson, Thurnham, Forton, Cleveley, Over Wyresdale, Nether Wyresdale, Dolphinholme, Holleth, Cockersand Abbey, Aldcliffe, Lunecliffe, Tarnwater, Conder Green?—There are many of the places named there at which there are out-voters; but they are not parties to be looked after. It is not so formidable a district as it appears to be on paper.

2142. Against that district I find the names put of William Welch, Henry Simpson, John Birchall, and Henry Rawes?—Yes; I think they distributed the district as I told you before. Birchall and Rawes went to Dolphinholme and other places where they are all scattered, and Henry Simpson and William Welch went to Cockerham and Forton.

2143. To which of those four names did you give money on account of the voters resident in that district which I have read to you?—I paid Birchall and Rawes for the Ellel district.

2144. Which Rawes is that—Henry Rawes?—I think so.

2145. Birchall and Rawes received money on account of that district?—Wyresdale and Ellel outside. There is Ellel and Galgate-with-Ellel. The township adjoins up to Wyresdale.

2146. What money did you give to Birch and Rawes for that district?—I think I gave Rawes 40*l.* as I told you before, and he brought 24*l.* back, and Birchall had, I think, 60*l.*

2148. The sum given to those two would be 60*l.*? It would be 100*l.* for the two.

2149. But we have already dealt with the 40*l.* to Rawes?—I think Birchall's was 60*l.*

2150. We have already dealt with Rawes's 40*l.* as regards Ellel, so that the only sum we have now to deal with is the 60*l.* that Birchall received for Wyresdale?—Yes.

2151. Did those persons receive any other monies besides the 60*l.* and the 40*l.*?—No; I do not think they did. Birchall paid money out of his own pocket when he went canvassing. I do not know whether the 60*l.* he got paid him. I think he brought me some money back.

2152. At any rate you know he had no more than you have mentioned?—No more.

2153. Was that 60*l.* for the payment of voters?—And expenses.

2154. Did you pay to any other persons besides Birchall and Rawes any other sums of money on account of that district?—I paid a man of the name of Davies perhaps 5*l.* or 6*l.* altogether for expenses up there; a man who lives up there.

2155. Any other person?—No.

2156. What was Davies to do?—To look after voters in his neighbourhood. He is a farmer. He lives up there, and some of the voters live near him.

2157. Is he a voter himself?—No.

2158. As to the rest of the district, who looked after that?—Henry Simpson and William Welch.

2159. That is your brother?—Yes.

2160. What sums of money did you give those two on account of voters?—I did not give them any until afterwards, and I think it was about 50*l.* that they spent.

2161. Was that the whole of the money that they spent on voters?—The whole of the money they got.

2162. There was no extra money for refreshments or expenses?—They paid it out of their own pocket, and an account of the whole was rendered afterwards.

2163. Did you give anybody else anything in all these districts?—Nobody else.

2165. Now, then, we will come to the district which is named Scotforth, Springfield Terrace, Pointer, Alma Road, &c., Lower Greaves, Parkfield Terrace, Greaves, Pointer Road, Burrow House, West View, Deep Cutting; and I find set against that district the names of John Welch, Col. Yeadell. Is that Colonel Yeadell?—His name is set down there, but he never interfered.

2166. Josiah Ball, Robert McKinley, and Robert Parker, with which of those persons did you deal in that district?—Josiah Ball and a man named John William Jackson, of Scotforth.

2167. That is not one of the names that is put down?—No, those names were put down at a meeting, and most parties were absent, and many of them had nothing to do with it.

2168. You put down the names of persons who were known adherents of the Liberal cause?—Yes, parties who had assisted at other times.

2169. To which of those men, Josiah Ball and William Jackson, did you give money in the matter of this election?—Both of them.

2170. Did you give it to them in one sum, or in separate sums?—I gave it to them in one sum each.

2171. What sum did you give to each?—I think they had 30*l.* each.

2172. 60*l.* for the two?—Yes.

2173. Are they voters?—Yes, both of them.

2174. Was the money they received for their votes?—No.

2175. But to deal with others?—To deal with others.

2176. Was that for the purpose of paying voters?—That was for the purpose of paying voters; there would be a few pounds for expenses besides.

2177. Shall we say 5*l.*?—Yes; I daresay they would have 4*l.* or 5*l.* pounds each, not more.

2178. That would be about 10*l.* for the two?—I think that would be the outside.

2179. We will say about 8*l.*, and that will be within the mark?—Yes, I think that will be near it.

2180. Was there any other money paid to any other person on account of that district?—I think I gave John Welch either 2*l.* or 3*l.* for expenses—2*l.*

2181. Did you give anybody else anything?—Nobody else in that district that I remember.

2182. Did you give nothing to Robert Parker?—No.

2183. And nothing to Robert McKinlay?—No; Josiah Ball had two or three assistants. I did not send the money to them all, I gave it to Ball.

2184. I have taken it that on account of Scotforth you gave 60*l.* to Josiah Ball and William Jackson, 8*l.* for their expenses, and 2*l.* to John Welch?—Yes.

2185. That is about it?—Yes.

2186. What William Jackson is it?—He is an innkeeper and blacksmith at Scotforth.

2187. Now we come to Bulk. The names set against that are Charles Blades, James Wadsworth, and Martin Ireland; which of those people did you deal with as regards Bulk?—I do not remember that anybody went to Bulk.

2188. Had Charles Blades the looking after the people in Bulk?—I do not know; I never gave him any money for that purpose. There are only four or five voters in Bulk.

2189. You gave no money?—I do not remember that I did. I do not think that any of them voted for us. There are only four or five voters there.

2190. Caton and Brookhouse. The names set against that district are Edward Baker, R. W. Blades, and James Lamb; did you deal with any of those persons in that district?—James Lamb received some money for expenses there, and R. W. Blades got some money for what voters they had there.

2191. James Lamb, you say?—Yes.

2192. What money did James Lamb receive?—He only received a few pounds for expenses.

2193. 3*l.* or 4*l.*?—3*l.* or 4*l.* I think it was 3*l.* 10*s.*; 3*l.* or 4*l.*

2194. Then we will call it 3*l.* Edward Baker?—No.

2195. Blades?—R. W. Blades.

2196. What did he get?—I think it was 50*l.* or 60*l.*, but I do not remember whether it was that much or not.

2197. For voters?—Yes.

2198. Anything for expenses besides?—No; I gave it to him altogether; he will tell you what it was, but it was somewhere thereabouts.

2199. Was there anything given to anybody else on account of Caton and Brookhouse?—Nobody else.

2200. Now as to Littledale. I see the names against that are W. Bradshaw and Mark Standring. Did you deal with either of those two men in the matter of Littledale?—I do not think that anybody went to Littledale. It is a very outside place, and hard to get at.

2201. No money was paid in respect of Littledale?—I do not remember any.

2202. Then we come to Quernmore and Claughton. Against that there are James Mills, Thomas Kelsall, and Thomas Atkinson. Did you deal with either of those men?—Yes, Mills got some money.

2203. B. Mills?—Yes.

2204. What money did you give Mills?—I think it was 25*l.*

2205. Did you give him anything for expenses extra?—Nothing. Kelsall had 1*l.* or 2*l.* for expenses.

2206. What do you say Kelsall had?—Perhaps 2*l.* or 3*l.*

2207. May I say 3*l.*?—Either 2*l.* or 3*l.*; I daresay he would have 3*l.*

2208. Thomas Atkinson?—Nothing.

2209. There was no other money spent on account of Quernmore and Claughton except the money you have mentioned?—That is all.

2210. They are very outlying districts, are they not?—Claughton is, the other is not very far outside. I think there is only one voter at Claughton, and he is a tenant of Mr. Fenwick's.

2211. Mr. Fenwick has a considerable property there?—Yes, nobody would go there.

2212. The next district is Church Street, Cheapside, St. Nicholas, St. Margaret Street, and Anchor Street; that is in Lancaster?—Yes.

2213. So that we are now coming into Lancaster itself?—Yes.

2214. The names set against that district are Thomas Bradley, Thomas Kirby, and Thompson Broadley?—I do not know any such name as Thompson Broadley in Lancaster. Would it be Thomas Bradley written twice, do you think?

2215. It is not very material if you do not know the name. Then there is J. S. Baxter. Which of those persons do you recognize with regard to that district?—Bradley.

2216. Thomas Bradley?—Yes.

2217. What money did you give to Thomas Bradley?—I have no idea about it at present; I cannot say.

2218. You have not any account to which you could refer?—No, I have not; Bradley will be able to tell you.

2219. He will tell us?—I have no doubt he will.

2220. About what sum should you say?—It was not a very expensive district. I do not think it would be above 50*l.* or 60*l.*; but I really could not say.

2221. Did you give anybody else anything for voters resident in that district?—I think I gave Kirby 3*l.* or 4*l.* for expenses.

2222. Thomas Kirby?—Yes.

2223. Anybody else?—Nobody but Kirby and Bradley, I think, in that district.

2224. Kirby, you say, was for expenses?—Kirby was for expenses.

2225. The expenses would be taking a few voters occasionally to the public-house?—Yes, and treating them.

2226. Paying for their drink, and so on?—Yes.

2227. The next district is Bridge Lane, St. George's Quay, Lune Street, Pot Houses, Union Street, Union Square, Fleet Street, Cable Street, Marsh Lane, and New Road; and the names set against that district are Jacob Moser, Thomas Williamson, George Hatfield, Benjamin Long, James Charnley, William Atkinson, and James Barsby: which of those persons did you deal with in regard to that district, which I will call the Bridge Lane district?—I did not give money to any of those parties for voters, except for expenses. I think 150*l.* went down there for voters.

2228. Who received that?—I do not remember who received it.

2229. 150*l.*?—Yes. Somebody came to the room. I paid the money under the instructions of Mr. Wearing and Mr. Blades. They estimated the value of the districts, and said what money should go, and I paid it. I do not recollect who took the money.

2230. 150*l.*?—I think it was 160*l.* I did not give it to any of those men.

2231. Did you give any of these men anything for refreshment to voters?—Yes, I gave Moser something.

2232. Jacob Moser?—Yes; and Long had a few pounds for expenses.

2233. How much do you say for Jacob Moser?—I think he had 5*l.*

2234. And how much for Long?—I daresay they would be all alike.

2235. Did you give anything to any of the others?—I gave Hatfield 2*l.* or 3*l.*, but I gave him perhaps 10*s.* or a sovereign at a time, just as he spent it.

2236. 2*l.*?—He might have 3*l.* or 4*l.* or 5*l.* altogether at different times.

2237. 5*l.* I may say about?—Yes.

2238. Anything to any of the others?—What other names have you?

2239. Thomas Williamson?—I did not give him anything.

2240. Charnley?—I do not know Thomas Charnley.

2241. James Charnley?—I do not know him.

2242. William Atkinson?—I do not know him.

THIRD DAY.

Mr H. Welch.

29 Aug. 1866.

2243. James Barsby ?—Barsby would have 2*l.* or 3*l.*

2244. 2*l.* or 3*l.*, which shall I say ?—He had very little ; he might have 3*l.* I do not know. You may say 3*l.* if you please.

2245. Was there anything paid to anybody else on account of the Bridge Lane district ?—Not except the 150*l.* that somebody took away.

2246. Nothing else ? — Nothing else that I can remember.

2247. The next district is the Green Area district ; that includes Parliament Street, Back Parliament Street, Chapel Street, Cross Street, Nile Street, Germany Street, Factory Hill, Sugarhouse Alley, Pitt Street, Spring Court, Damside Street, Mason Street ; and the names put against that district are James Turner, Mansergh Bell, Mr. Fothergill, and William Shaw : which of those persons did you deal with with regard to that Green Area district ? — James Turner.

2248. What money did James Turner receive ?—I think it was either 60*l.* or 70*l.*

2249. Was that for voters ?—Yes, for voters.

2250. Did Turner receive anything for expenses ? —He would receive 2*l.* or 3*l.* at different times for the two or three weeks before the election.

2251. What would that be altogether, 10*l.* or 15*l.* ? —Yes ; I should say that altogether.

2252. Did anyone else receive anything on account of that district ?—Mansergh Bell had something for expenses, but not much. Turner paid for everything.

2253. What had Mansergh Bell, 5*l.*?—That would be the outside.

2254. Did Mr. Fothergill have anything ? — No, nothing.

2255. Or anything to distribute ?—No.

2256. William Shaw ?—I do not know him ; I did not deal with anybody but Turner in that district.

2258. What did Isaac Vickers receive on account of the voters for that district ?—It was not much ; it would be about 30*l.* or 40*l.*

2359. There are only a very few voters ?—There are some voters in China Lane, some expensive men ; but we did not get any of them ; they went to the other side.

3260. We will come to the other side presently. Did Robert Powell receive any money ?—Only a few pounds for expenses.

2261. Had Vickers any money for expenses besides the 30*l.* or 40*l.* for the voters ?—3*l.* or 4*l.*

2262. Which shall I say ?—I do not think it would be more than 3*l.*, and Fothergill had 3*l.*

2263. Do I understand you to say that no other money was paid for the voters in that district except this 30*l.* or 40*l.*?—Not by Vickers, unless some of the other voters got into other districts, as they do sometimes.

2264. Nobody else had any money ?—No, not for voters.

2265. Now China Lane ; that includes Castle Park and Castle Grove ; and the name put against that is William Bleasdale ?—He did not have any money.

2266. Who did receive any money for that district? —We did not get any voters in China Lane, and the Castle Hill voters are not men who want money.

2767. Nor Castle Park nor Castle Grove ?—No ; they are not men of that class.

2268. Were there no voters who received anything from your party in China Lane ?—No.

2269. Whether they voted or not ?—No ; none that I am aware of.

2270. Nor, as far as you know, in Castle Park or Castle Grove ?—No.

2271. Were you too late in China Lane, or what was it ?—I fancy our captains were rather modest, and would not come up to the mark of the other side.

2272. There was only William Bleasdale to that district, I see ?—That China Lane district was included in the district you named before.

2273. The Castle Hill district ?—Yes; with Vickers, Powell, and Fothergill.

2274. That is so. Then the next district is Fenton Street, Cawthorne Street, High Street, Middle Street, King Street, Upper King Street, Penny's Hospital, Windy Hill, Common Garden Street, Russell Street, James Street, Queen Street, Queen Square, Queen Place, and Spring Garden Street ; and the names set against that district are William Stephenson, John Gardener, Roger Wright, David Wright, John Robinson, and Edward Robinson: which of those persons did you deal with with regard to the Fenton Street district ?—Nearly all those persons you have named had money for their expenses, but Roger Wright had the money for the voters.

2275. What money had Roger Wright for the voters ?—He would have about 50*l.*

2276. Do you know that it was 50*l.*?—It would be about 50*l.*

2277. Had no one else money for voters in that district ?—No one else.

2278. What money had Roger Wright for expenses? —He had not any ; he never came near till the day of the election.

2279. What money had William Stephenson for expenses ?—He would have 5*l.* or 6*l.*

2280. Shall I say 5*l.* or 6*l.*?—He would have 5*l.* at different times.

2281. John Gardiner ?—He would have about the same, and a man of the name of Robinson.

2282. David Wright ?—I do not remember David Wright interfering ; he might be amongst them.

2283. John Robinson ?—Yes ; he would have 5*l.* or 6*l.*

2284. Edward Robinson ?—I think there was only one Robinson in that district.

2285. There are two Robinsons put down here ?— I do not remember ever having anything to do with more than one Robinson in that district.

2286. Now New Street district includes Sun Street, Wood Street, Little John Street, Rosemary Lane, North Road, Ashfield House ; and the names against that district are John Bell, John Watson, Edward Fisher, Edward Lewtas : which of those persons did you deal with for that district ?—John Bell.

2288. For voters ?—Yes.

2289. Did any of the others receive anything for the voters ?—I am not sure whether Watson did not receive something for one or two voters.

2290. What would that be ?—It would be 10*l.* for each voter ; it was either one or two. I think it was someone who came out of another district.

2291. Did anyone else receive anything on account of voters ?—Nobody else but Bell.

2292. Did Watson receive anything for expenses ? —I do not know, I did not give Watson anything for expenses. I gave it to Bell, Bell paid.

2293. Was that paid out of the 80*l.* ?—No, he got money previously.

2294. How much did Bell get for expenses ?—I do not know, 5*l.* or 6*l.* or 7*l.*, from 5*l.* to 10*l.*

2295. Was that for his own expenses, or for the expenses of the district ?—The expenses of the district.

2296. There are four of them, it would be 10*l.* would it not ?—I think Watson had 2*l.*

2297. And Bell would get 6*l.* or 7*l.* ?—Yes, quite 7*l.*

2298. Did Fisher or Lewtas get anything ?—I do not know them.

2299. You do not remember anybody receiving anything in the district except Bell and Watson ?— No, no one in that district.

2300. The next is Penny Street district, including

Henry Street, Aldcliffe Street, Canal Side, Ann Street, Brock Street, Mary Street, Moor Street, Stonewall and Britannia Street, and the names against that district are, in fact, one for each street. I do not know whether that is intended?—No, I think not.

2301. The names are John Marsden, John Bleasdale, Anthony Bleasdale, James Tomlinson, Thomas Anderson, Robert Fort, Thomas Jackson, William Bleasdale, T. F. Thompson, Christopher Clarkson, and R. Hind; who did you deal with in that district?—John Bleasdale and John Marsden.

2302. Did you pay John Bleasdale and John Marsden together or in different sums?—I paid Bleasdale chiefly, but they had money separately at the election.

2303. How much did you give John Bleasdale on account of voters?—It is an expensive district, I think they would get between 200*l.* and 300*l.*

2304. Did Bleasdale keep it?—Bleasdale and Marsden.

2305. How much did Bleasdale get?—Sometimes one came and sometimes the other.

2306. Bleasdale and Marsden between them got 200*l.* or 300*l.*?—Yes.

2307. Which would it be, 200*l.* or 300*l.*?—It would be between 200*l.* or 300*l.*

2308. Shall I say 250*l.*?—I daresay it would be.

2309. Did any other person receive anything in that district on account of voters?—Nobody else on account of voters.

2310. Had Bleasdale and Marsden anything for expenses?—Yes, they had money on account of expenses, a good deal, but I cannot say what.

2311. What would that district cost you altogether on account of expenses?—You do not mean public-house bills as well.

2312. Have you been giving me public-house bills in the expenses of the other districts?—No.

2313. Then do you not include public-house bills; how much did that district cost you?—I should think the district would cost 10*l.* a week for three weeks.

2314. That would be 30*l.*?—Yes.

2315. That would be paid to all these men?—Chiefly to Bleasdale and Marsden.

2316. I will take it that preliminary expenses for the district would be 30*l.* for three weeks?—Yes.

2317. Was there nothing else paid on account of that district?—Some of the other men would get 1*l.* or 2*l.* I should think.

2318. Some of what other men?—Some of the other names you have read in that district.

2319. You mean that Bleasdale and Marsden received 30*l.*?—Bleasdale and Marsden would spend about 10*l.* a week for three weeks.

2320. What other person received any money? By Bleasdale you mean John Bleasdale?—Yes.

2321. Did Anthony Bleasdale receive any money?—I do not remember it.

2322. Did James Tomlinson receive any money?—Yes, he would have 2*l.* or 3*l.*

2323. Which shall I say?—3*l.* I should think.

2324. Thomas Anderson?—He would have the same.

2325. Robert Fort?—I do not know him.

2326. Thomas Jackson?—I do not remember that name; I do not remember ever having given any money to a Jackson.

2327. William Bleasdale?—I do not remember giving any to William Bleasdale, I fancy he would have two or three the same as the others, but I cannot remember it.

2328. I will put a query against him, you are not sure about it?—No, I am not.

2329. T. F. Thompson?—I do not know him.

2330. Christopher Clarkson?—I do not know Clarkson, but I have some recollection of that name.

2331. You do not remember paying him anything?—No.

2332. R. Hind?—He does not live at Lancaster.

2333. Did he get anything?—He was not there until the day of the election.

2334. How came he to be put down?—He is a voter and occupies a place in Lancaster and always comes over to elections.

2335. He received nothing on account of voters?—No, he was not here, he got some money on the day of the election.

2336. For himself or other people?—He took up three or four voters to vote for which he would get 30*l.* or 40*l.*

2337. Out of this district?—Yes, I think it would be that district.

2338. He would not have anything for expenses?—I remember now that he had a few pounds for expenses for going to Manchester to see after a voter or two. I think he had an uncle at Manchester who he went to fetch, and he had his expenses for going to Manchester.

2339. What would that be?—Perhaps 3*l.*

2340. Can you remember anything else with regard to him?—No, that is all I remember his doing previously to the day of the election.

2341. Had the uncle anything for coming?—For voting do you mean?

2342. Yes?—I do not remember whether he was paid for voting or not; I think not. Robert Hind paid him, and I think he gave him 5*l.* for expenses coming from Manchester and back again; he did not want paying.

2343. Is that all you have got to say about Hind?—Yes.

2344. Now we come to Dalton Square district which includes Friar Street, Gage Street, Great John Street, Monmouth Street, Bath Street, and Court and Plum Street, and the names attached to that district are Richard Nixon, Thomas Liver, Thomas Calvert, and Anthony Richardson, which of those persons did you deal with as regards Dalton Square district?—Richard Nixon.

2345. What did he receive for voters?—It is not a district with a deal of the lower class of voters, he would not have more than 50*l.*

2346. Shall I say about 50*l.*?—Yes.

2347. Did anyone else receive anything for voters?—Nobody else in that district.

2348. Did Richard Nixon receive anything for expenses?—He would have 5*l.* or 6*l.* besides.

2349. Did Thomas Liver receive anything?—No.

2350. Thomas Calvert?—No.

2351. Richardson?—No, it is only a small district, and they do not want looking after.

2352. They can look after themselves?—Yes.

2353. There are a good number of voters there?—Yes; but there are not so many in the district of the classes we are talking about.

2354. Look at that list (handing a list to the witness) and see whether you think 50*l.* would cover Nixon's expenses?—Many of these would get into other districts, they do not always stop in their own.

2355. I want you to say whether you think 50*l.* is enough?—I see several names here that I believe others paid in other districts, none of these down here are men that get anything, he had not more than 50*l.*

2356. The George Street district includes Back George Street, Lucy Court, Thurnham Street, Upper Thurnham Street, Robert Street, Upper Robert Street, Albert Place, Marton Street, Moor Street, Brewer Street, Nelson Street, Sulyard Street, Rose Street and Court, Greenfield, Brewery Yard, Brewery Lane, East Road, Primrose Hill, and the names attached to that district are Thomas Cleminson, James Crook, Benjamin Hartley, Edward Whiteside, J. B. Cleminson, Luke Dillon, Thomas Harrison, Thomas Whiteside, which of those persons did you deal with in regard to that district?—Thomas Cleminson and Thomas Harrison.

2357. What did Thomas Cleminson receive on account of voters?—I think it was 150*l.*

2358. Between the two?—Yes, either 100*l.* or 150*l.*, but I think 150*l.*

2359. Did any other person in that district receive any money on account of voters?—Nobody else.

2360. Did Thomas Cleminson receive anything for

THIRD DAY.

Mr. H. Welch.

29 Aug. 1866.

preliminary expenses?—He paid them out of his own pocket and settled it out of the money he got. Some of the other men you have named got a few pounds.

2361. Then, that 150*l.* was for voters and Cleminson's preliminary expenses?—Yes.

2362. Did Thomas Harrison receive anything for preliminary expenses?—No.

2363. Did James Crook receive anything?—He would have a few pounds for expenses.

2364. What shall I say would be the expenses in that district?—They might all get from 10*l.* to 20*l.*

2365. 20*l.* each?—No, all concerned in it from time to time.

2366. Are you sure that would be sufficient for these names which I have read over to you?—Yes. several of them I never saw.

2367. Now, Bath Street district includes Bath Mill Houses, Frechold, Quernmore Road, and the names against that district are George Shaw, George Bowness, Thomas Greenall, Thomas Sheils, which of those did you look to?—Shaw and Bowness.

2368. What sum did you give them on account of voters?—I do not think they had more than 50*l.*, it is only a small district.

2369. Do you mean the two together?—Yes.

2370. Did either of them receive anything for preliminary expenses?—They would have about 5*l.* a-piece.

2371. Do you mean that those two would, or all four of them?—No, I never saw anyone else but those two.

2372. Nobody else received anything in that district?—No.

2373. Now, Edward Street District includes Alfred Street, Lodge Street, Adelaide Street, St. Leonard Gate, and the names against that district are W. King, Richard Charnley, Robert Whiteside, Edward Johnson, Edward Cutts, B. Wright, and J. Swindells, which of those persons did you pay there?—Edward Johnson.

2374. What did you give Edward Johnson on account of voters?—I think it was 150*l.*

2375. Did you give anybody else anything on account of voters?—Yes, William King had something in that district.

2376. What had William King?—I do not know whether he would have 100*l.* or not, it would be somewhere thereabouts.

2377. Did anyone else receive anything besides King?—Robert Whiteside had something.

2378. It is a very large district?—Yes it is.

2379. Would it help you to know how much was paid, by looking at this paper?—No, not at all, I do not know the men they gave it to.

2380. You think Johnson had 150*l.* and King 100*l.*?—Yes.

2381. Who else had some money?—Robert Whiteside.

2382. What was that?—I think it was about 40*l.*

2383. Did anybody else have anything?—No, I think not.

2384. Did those three persons Johnson, King, or Whiteside have anything for expenses?—Johnson had, he was captain of the district.

2385. How much had Johnson?—I should think he would have 20*l.* at least for preliminary expenses in that district, perhaps 30*l.*

2386. Shall we say 30*l.*?—Yes, I would say it would amount to 30*l.*

2387. Had King anything?—I do not remember giving King anything for expenses, if I did it would be a mere trifle.

2388. Had Whiteside anything?—No.

2389. Had anybody else anything?—Several of the parties would come for 1*l.* or 2*l.*

2390. What other expenses would there be for that district?—I should think 30*l.* would cover the expenses altogether excepting the public-house bills.

2391. Now we will go to the Golgotha district, and that includes Workhouse Lodge, Bowerham Haverbricks, Asylum, Moor Road, Highfield, Hedgeberry, Quarry Street, and the names against that district are, Edward Riley, J. Wearden, William Riley, and Hesketh Riley, which did you deal with as regards that district?—Edward Riley.

2392. What did he receive?—That district was not much; I believe it was 30*l.* he got.

2393. For voters?—Yes.

2394. Did anybody else receive anything for voters?—No.

2395. Had Riley anything for expenses?—Yes, he would have 5*l.* or 6*l.* for expenses and Wearden the same.

2396. Had anybody else anything for expenses?—I do not remember anybody else in that district, it is very small.

2397. Now we have come to the end of the districts; we will go if you please to the public-house bills; to whom did you pay sums of money for the public house bills?—I cannot tell you in particalar.

2398. Did you pay them all to one person in a lump, or did you pay them as the bills were sent in?—Many of them were not paid until some time afterwards.

2399. Do you know at all what sum of money was paid for public-houses in a lump?—I should think 1,000*l.*

2400. Was that for refreshment and public-houses, or for them as committee rooms?—It was included; when the bills came in there were bills for refreshments with amount for the use of the house as a committee room.

2401. Can you divide them at all, and tell me how much would be for committee rooms and how much for refreshments at the public-houses?—I think it would be about 1,000*l.* altogether, as we should have between 30 and 40 public-houses as committee rooms, and they had from 2*l.* to 10*l.* each; some beer-houses where the men were not voters, had perhaps 2*l.* or 3*l.* for the use of a room, and beer-houses generally 5*l.*, and some of the public-houses 7*l.* 10*s.*, 8*l.*, 9*l.*, and some 10*l.* for the committee room.

2402. That was for the use of them as committee rooms?—Yes.

2403. Did any of them go higher than 10*l.*?—I do not know that anybody got more than 10*l.*

2404. Would the average price of the thirty or forty houses be 7*l.* 10*s.*?—I think it would take about 300*l.* to pay for the committee rooms.

2405. Then there would be refreshments about 700*l.*?—I daresay it would be somewhere thereabouts, somewhere very near upon 1,000*l.* for the whole.

2406. You cannot give me any more detail?—I think I have a reason for believing that I am right in what I say to you, and the reason is this, that after the election was over I had between 200*l.* and 300*l.* left, and a bag with 1,000*l.* untouched, and it all went after the election in settling with public-houses as committee rooms, and their bills, and some other payments; I fancy the other payments would amount to 300*l.*, and the 1,000*l.* would go to the publics.

2407. What were those other expenses of 300*l.*?—Expenses of messengers and runners that were not included in Mr. Tilly's list.

2408. Have you told me as near as you can recollect all you have to say with regard to the expenditure of money at the last election?—There would be some public-house bills paid previous to the election, that would amount to 200*l.* or 300*l.* I should say.

2409. Were those public-houses in Lancaster or the out-lying districts?—In Lancaster chiefly.

2410. Were they for refreshments or Committee-rooms?—For refreshments.

2411. Is there anything further that you have to add with regard to the expenditure?—I do not know that there is.

2412. There is one head we have left untouched, namely, conveyances?—They are included in Mr. Tilly's list.

2413. All of them?—Yes, I think so, 300*l.* or 400*l.* was set down for them, I think.

2414. Did that list include the whole of the expenses for conveyances both previously to the election and at the time of the election itself?—Yes, the whole of the conveyances.

2415. You returned them all?—I had nothing to do with those expenses, they are included in Mr. Tilly's list.

2416. Did you pay Isaac Vickers any money after the election beyond the sum you have given us?—I paid Isaac Vickers all his money after the election.

2417. Did you give him any specific sum for any particular purpose?—No, I paid him after the election.

2418. The sum that was paid to him would be either 30*l.* or 40*l.* and 3*l.* for expenses?—It might be 50*l.*, I cannot speak for a certainty, it would not be more, and I think 40*l.* would be about the sum.

2419. That is all I need ask you with regard to expenses, and I will now put a few general questions to you with regard to the election. Where were you principally engaged on the day of nomination?—I was not anywhere specially on the day of nomination until that afternoon.

2420. Where were you on the afternoon of that day?—At the "Queen's Hotel."

2421. Was Mr. Schneider in the "Queen's Hotel" that afternoon?—Not in my presence, where I was was in the back part of the "Queen's Hotel," the "George and Dragon;" the house now is one house and it formerly was two; the "Queen's Hotel" proper faces into Market Street, and the "George and Dragon" into the Square, and there is an entrance door into the "George and Dragon" in that Square, and it was in at that door that I went into a room upstairs; Mr. Schneider was never there to my knowledge, he might be in the "Queen's," at the other end, but it was a separate place.

2422. Did Mr. Fenwick come in at all to that place?—No, never.

2423. You neither saw Mr. Fenwick nor Mr. Schneider on that day?—Excepting on the hustings.

2424. I should have rather said on the afternoon of that day?—No, I never saw them on that day.

2425. On the next day, the polling day, where were you?—In the same room from 6 o'clock in the morning until 4 in the afternoon.

2426. Excepting the time when you went out to vote?—Yes, excepting that, which would be about 10 minutes or a quarter of an hour.

2427. Did you see Mr. Schneider at all on the following day, except when you went out to vote?—I never saw him on that day at all.

2428. Nor Mr. Fenwick?—No, nor Mr. Fenwick.

2429. Did you go down at all to The Vicarage on either of those two days?—I never was in The Vicarage but once in my life, and that is seven or eight years ago, when I went to collect the vicar's annual subscription for the dispensary.

2430. You were still sitting in that room in the "Queen's," when Dr. Carruthers came at night to tell you that the Morecambe men were pressing for their money?—Yes, I was.

2431. We are told that a parcel of money was given to Baines; you were present then, were you not?—I was present when the money was given to Baines. Baines spoke literally the truth when he said it was put upon the table and he took it up.

2432. Was that part of the money you received which you have told us of to-day?—Yes, it was; those men came up because Baines was not down there. Baines' instructions had been to go down there in the morning, and Shackleton was told that he would be there in the morning. These men came up without consulting Shackleton; they were impatient, thinking that nobody was coming with any money; he could not keep them together, they saying they could get plenty of money on the other side.

2433. Was there any other paymaster at the election for illegal expenses except yourself?—None that I am aware of.

2434. Had Wearing any other money except that which came through you?—None.

2435. I understand you to say you cannot at all tell me who the sums of money you received were paid by?—I have told you of several that brought the money.

2436. You cannot tell me from whom they came to the person who paid them to you, namely, Mr. Sanderson?—No, I do not know at all.

2437. You cannot tell me out of whose pocket they originally came?—No, I cannot, I have no knowledge at all.

2438. Have you any reasonable belief as to whether they came from Fenwick or Schneider?—As far as reasonable belief is concerned I have none; I cannot tell. I have no knowledge of how they came. Mr. Sanderson never told me how these two five hundreds came.

2439. And you were careful not to ask?—I was rather careful not to ask.

2440. Had you heard anything at all said as to the proportion of expenses that were to fall upon Fenwick and Schneider relatively?—I had heard Mr. Fenwick himself say that if it was to be expensive he would not pay more than 1,000*l.*

2441. "If it was to be expensive" means, I suppose, if voters were to be bought?—Yes.

2442. Was that to be 1,000*l.* beyond the legitimate expenses?—1,000*l.* altogether.

2443. Did you hear Mr. Schneider make any declaration on the subject?—Never to me.

2444. You never heard Mr. Schneider say that the election should cost the opposition candidate 10,000*l.*?—I did not; that is stated to have been said as he was leaving the hustings, I believe, and I was not at the hustings at all.

2445. Can you give me any calculation as to the number of voters that were employed for the purposes of the election on your side?—It would be very vague indeed; it would be only a guess; there are parties who could tell you better than I can.

2446. Can you give us an idea in round numbers?—There were a great many of them, very nearly all fancy that they are employed.

2447. Of course I mean receiving money for their employment?—Yes, and when they get money for voting, they like to take it as payment for wages for work they wish you to understand as having been done and not as a bribe.

2448. What number of persons do you say were—I will not say "bought"—but "paid" on the Liberal side at the last election?—I should think about 200.

2449. And certainly not less than that on the Conservative side you will say, I suppose?—I should say above 400 on the Conservative side, and I think I am very near the mark.

2450. Now I will give you the opportunity you were asking for at the beginning of your evidence?—I do not seek for any opportunity.

2451. We will hear now a little of what the other side have been doing. Have you formed any reasonable idea of what the sums spent on the other side were?—I heard Mr. Clark say yesterday morning that it was about 8,000*l.*, and I have heard parties previously say that their expenses were 8,000*l.*, and I should say it was that at the very least.

2452. In fact you would rather suggest that it was something more than 8,000*l.*?—Well, it would be rather more, but 8,000*l.* is a deal of money; but there is a deal of money goes in other ways besides what the voters get.

2453. How is that?—Well, I daresay some of it sticks by the way, and I fancy that on their side they had not as good men as we had on our side to distribute the money, and I think that a larger proportion of it would stick on their side than on ours.

2454. There was rather more expensive management on their side?—Yes, I think so.

2455. Do you say that the voters at the last election received about equal sums on either side?—I should say that 10*l.* was the average.

2456. Both paid by the Conservatives and the Liberals?—Yes, both paid by the Conservatives and the Liberals.

THIRD DAY.

Mr. H. Welch.

29 Aug. 1866.

2457. You think that the sums that were paid to staffmen, for committee rooms, and all other expenses of the election were about equal on both sides?—I should think so from the appearance of the people about the committee rooms.

2458. Did the price paid for votes rise as the day proceeded?—I do not know; I had nothing to do with paying voters.

2459. That we shall get better from the captains?—Yes; I had nothing to do with paying voters.

2460. Do you look upon this last election as having been an extraordinarily expensive election?—Very extraordinary for Lancaster.

2461. Were the prices that were paid higher than they had been at the preceding contest between Fenwick and Saunders?—A good deal.

2462. What was the average price of a vote in that election?—About 3*l.*; to some as much as 5*l.* would be given, I daresay.

2463. 5*l.* would be the topping price, would it?—I think 5*l.* would be the top price.

2464. To what do you attribute the rise in the price of votes at the last general election?—One reason is that the idea of the election was in existence so very long before the election really took place. At the previous election we only heard of it on the Wednesday and the election took place on the following Wednesday; and therefore there was not much time and it was all done in a hurry and over, whereas in this case I should think that some five or six weeks before the election there was a general stir about the election, and parties were running about; and when a thing of that kind continues day after day and week after week it increases in intensity as you go on. We were also told, and it was generally reported, that Mr. Lawrence was a very rich man, and that Mr. Wilson was a great man at Liverpool; that there had been a meeting, and that they had subscribed large sums among the Conservatives at Liverpool, and that they were coming here with plenty of money. Everybody understood that Mr. Schneider had plenty of money, and that he would not mind parting with it.

2465. What led to that belief?—The idea of his great riches; and of course freemen who want money take advantage of these things to enhance the price of their votes; that is my idea.

2466. They were, in fact, going to test Barrow against Liverpool?—I fancy that was their idea, and Mr. Wilson told us that if we did not understand electioneering in Lancaster, he would come and show us how they did things in Liverpool. All these kind of things increased the desire of the people for money.

2468. Something has been said in the course of the evidence that you ought to have had an opportunity of answering. A statement was made as to one of the voters being bottled, and as to your having had something to do with it. Dixon was the name of the party referred to?—That is the matter which you seemed to say I was anxious about, and if you had not asked me I should have called your attention to it. I heard Mr. Clark make the observation yesterday, and at the time I thought he did not believe what he was saying. I do not mean to suggest that he was not informed of it; but I do not think he will say that he believed it when he did hear it. I do not think he would believe that I would get a voter and bottle him.

2469. You did not do so, in fact?—Certainly not, and there is rather a curious circumstance about that, that I should like to mention; Mr. Clark said yesterday that I had a man named Dixon confined somewhere in my premises on the day before the election. Now, everybody who had anything to do on the Conservative side on the day before the election knew that this Dixon was helplessly drunk at the "New Inn" public-house.

2470. I do not remember the exact account of the matter that Mr. Clark gave?—I should wish to tell you, if you will allow me, how they carried that matter out, and the unpleasant way in which they did it.

2471. What Mr. Clark appears to have said is that he learned you had a voter named Dixon locked up adjoining your premises. That you say is not so?—Certainly not; in the afternoon of the day of the election they sent from the committee room at the "King's Arms," a posse of men down to my place in Cheapside, on the pretence that there was somebody in the warehouse, or cellar, locked up. My next door neighbour allowed them to come through his shop, and got some ladders, and they got over the yard, and went into the premises, and made a great stir in the place. There was nobody in the house but my brother's wife, and an old lady, who was staying there, and Mr. Parkinson's wife, from the other side of the street. These women were very much alarmed at the proceedings of these men, and at their roughness. I think it was an abominable shame, and if it had occurred at any other time than during a general election, more, probably, would have been said and done about it. If they were looking for Dixon, as they said they were, they knew perfectly well that he was at the "New Inn;" they could not therefore come there to look for Dixon.

2472. Was this a Liberal or a Conservative house in which it was alleged that Dixon was drunk?—It was a Liberal house.

2473. Is there anything else you wish to tell me that I have omitted to ask you?—I do not know that there is, except that Mr. Clark laid great stress yesterday on my being personally on particularly friendly terms with Mr. Fenwick. I think you put it to him whether he meant politically or personally, and he said personally. I do not think he was stating that which was strictly correct. I have no personal friendship in these things with either one candidate or the other. What I have done for them has been done entirely on political grounds.

2474. I did not understand Mr. Clark to mean what you suggest?—I understood him to make this observation as in some way accounting for the part that I took in the election.

2475. Have you known Mr. Fenwick for some time?—The first time I knew him I was introduced to him by Mr. Clark himself, in 1859; Mr. Clark was Mr. Fenwick's election agent at that time, and my introduction occurred at the "Queen's." Mr. Clark could not find anybody to second Mr. Fenwick, and he begged and prayed of me to do it, and I consented. That was my first introduction. I have never been in his house since, except at a public dinner that he gave to the Corporation of Lancaster two or three years ago.

2476. I believe that was on the occasion of his son coming of age?—No; I had no invitation when his son came of age.

2477. Has Mr. Schneider ever been at your house?—Never.

2479. What was that?—It was with reference to the previous election. He said he understood that I had had the payment of the illegal expenses at that time, and that he hoped I would undertake it for him, along with Mr. Fenwick, whenever another opportunity should occur.

2480. That was said at the "walk over?"—Yes, and I said that I would much rather not.

2481. He said he hoped you would undertake it. What did you add?—He said he hoped I would undertake the same business whenever there should be another contest. He never named the subject to me afterwards, and I told him then that I would much rather he would get somebody else, as it was a job I did not like.

2482. However, you did undertake the job ?—I did, with great reluctance.

2483. At whose request was that ?—Generally, of the party in Lancaster with whom I act.

2484. Did any particular persons press you to undertake it ?—No.

2485. Only the party ?—Only the party.

2486. Have you any subscription in Lancaster for looking after the register between the elections ?—No; I never had anything to do with the register. There is an agent for each party, who is paid by somebody.

2487. Who is the agent ?—Mr. Moser.

2488. Is that Jacob Moser ?—No; R. P. Moser, I think. It is a matter that I have never had anything to do with. I do not know who pays him.

2489. We have heard of freemen being admitted. Do you know anything about the payments for their admission ?—I never had anything to do with that but once.

2490. When was that ?—That was in 1864.

2491. That was the admission of freemen on the register upon which this election took place ?—Yes.

2492. Several freemen were admitted; 134, I think, were admitted on that occasion ?—Above 100 I know.

2493. How many did you pay for ?—I paid 35*l.* for about 27 or 28 freemen.

2494. By whom was that money repaid to you ?—It was repaid to me by Mr. Fenwick.

2495. Has it been a long standing practice that a candidate pays for the persons who have been admitted on his own side ?—I have heard that said; but I never had anything to do with it before that time.

2496. Do you know who had paid it before ?—No, I do not.

2497. Who paid for the rest of the persons besides those that you paid for on that occasion ?—I believe that somebody would pay for Mr. Gregson about the same amount that I paid for Mr. Fenwick. There were about between 50 and 60, to the best of my recollection, taken up at that time by the Liberal party. One half was paid by Mr. Fenwick, and the other by Mr. Gregson, the two sitting members; and I should suppose that about as many were paid for by the other side.

2498. Can you tell me what was the cost to Mr. Fenwick of that contest with Mr. Saunders ?—I had 1,500*l.*

2499. For illegal expenses ?—Yes.

2500. Do you recollect what the legal expenses were ?—I do not; but they were somewhere about 1,000*l.*, or less, I think. I think they were under 1,000*l.*, but on that way.

2501. And the expenses on the other side; have you any notion what they were ?—Well, I have the same kind of notion that Mr. Clark gave you yesterday as his notion of what we had done. He said he had been informed that our expenses at the last election were 15,000*l.*; and if I were to begin to give my notion it would be as baseless as his notion was about it. I have no idea except from hearsay. I have heard it said that it cost them between 3,000*l.* and 4,000*l.* by parties who are likely to know.

2502. Legal and illegal ?—Legal and illegal.

2503. (Mr. Barstow.) You have told us that you had been agent for illegal expenses on a previous occasion ?—Yes.

2504. With reference to the money that was left at your shop—had you any intimation that money would be left ?—No.

2505. Had you no hint of it from anyone ?—No hint from anyone.

2506. What do you suppose induced them to leave the money at your shop ?—If I were to say, it would be entirely suppositions on my part. Whoever left it I have no doubt knew what it was for.

2507. At the time it was left was there an understanding that you would undertake the illegal expenses ?—There never had been any understanding that I would.

2508. I thought you said that you undertook them at the request of the Liberal party ?—Yes. Our own friends pressed me and were anxious I should do so; but I objected a good while, and they said they wished I would do so; and I consented to do so.

2509. Was it after you had given that consent that the money was left at your shop ?—It was.

2510. (Mr. Newton.) Will you tell me, if you please, of whom this Liberal party consists ?—I really cannot. I would say of the parties who generally act with us at an election.

2511. Who are they ?—I do not know that there was any special meeting about a thing of the kind.

2512. You said that after reluctance you consented to be the illegal agent ?—I was asked by parties belonging to our side at different times.

2513. I want to know who those parties were ?—Our party. There was Mr. Storey, and Mr. Wearing, and Mr. George Cleminson. I daresay I was asked by a score of people if I would not do it again.

2514. If you would not do what ?—What I had done at the previous election, pay the money for illegal expenses.

2515. Was there any term that they made use of ?—I do not know any term except that they would say, "to take the money," "to be cashier."

2516. How long before the election was that ?—I do not know, I cannot say; perhaps a month or six weeks.

2517. Then at that time you knew that money was going to be spent ?—I expected that money would be spent, or else we must give it up.

2518. Did you know where the money was to come from then ?—No, I did not.

2519. Somebody must have brought the money ?—There is no doubt about that.

2520. Did you ever make inquiries as to where the money was to come from ?—I did not; I did not want to know.

2521. When was your first acquaintance with Mr. Schneider ?—At the walk over in 1865.

2522. Had you never seen him before ?—Never.

2523. Did you get a commission upon all this ?—No, not a penny; I should be very sorry to take it.

2524. Your services were all gratuitous ?—Perfectly. I would not be hired to do such a job.

2525. It must have given you a great deal of trouble ?—It did, more than I should like to undertake again.

2526. Then perhaps I may be allowed to ask your motive ?—Politically.

2527. For the good of the cause ?—For the good of the cause solely.

2528. If you had ever wanted more money, to whom should you have applied ?—Well, the circumstance never having arisen I could not say.

2529. But it might have arisen; to whom should you have applied ?—It would have been too late to apply when the election came.

2530. Supposing you found you were running short on that day what should you have done ?—I suppose I should have done the best I could with what we had.

2531. Should you have gone to anybody to apply for it ?—I do not think I should.

2532. Then you would have been beaten ?—We should.

2533. You would not have liked that ?—I should not.

2534. Then you would take measures to stop it, would you not ?—But I should have been at a loss how to set about it.

2535. Should you not have gone to Mr. Wearing ?—Mr. Wearing was with me all the day.

2536. Or to Mr. Cleminson or to Storey ?—I should not have known where to find them.

2537. Or the clerk at the bank; should you not have gone to him ?—I should have left it to somebody else to go there.

2538. You would not have gone to Mr. Schneider ?

THIRD DAY.

Mr. H. Welch.

29 Aug. 1866.

—I would not have gone to anybody. If anybody else had gone and fetched it for me I would have distributed it, but I would not have asked anybody.

2539. (Mr. Barstow.) Who went in your room at the "Queen's Hotel" with you?—Mr. Wearing and Mr. Blades.

2540. No one else?—No one else.

2541. On the day you are speaking of?—The evening of the nomination and the day of the election.

2542. (Mr. Newton.) You were a sort of secret committee?—I daresay they would have called us that.

2543. (Mr. Barstow.) Did nobody else come into your room then?—The captains of the districts came into the room when they wanted money.

2544. As, for instance, Stackhouse?—Yes. The captains came into the room frequently during the day; they came for money.

2545. (Mr. Newton.) They all looked up to you as the person to give them money?—Yes.

2546. (Mr. Hill.) You told me at the beginning of your evidence that you paid money to captains before the election to the extent of 1,000*l.*?—Yes, about 1,000*l.*

2547. Were those captains the same ones whose names I gave to you, and as to whom you have spoken to me of having paid them money for voters and refreshments?—The same.

2548. And that 1,000*l.* was—for what shall we say?—It all went in drink.

2549. Entirely apart from the preliminary expenses which have been spoken of?—What do you mean by "preliminary expenses?"

2550. You told me that you paid several sums to different persons, sums of 6*l.*, 5*l.*, and 4*l.*?—That is included in the 1,000*l.*

2551. Pardon me; that cannot be. Your figures will not come right if that is so?—I paid about 1,000*l.* to the captains previously to the election; perhaps 200*l.* or 300*l.* more than 1,000*l.* It would be a little over 1,000*l.* for their canvassing expenses. Some of them had some money for expenses; 5*l.* in the afternoon of the nomination day, in addition to the money they took to pay the voters.

2552. That 1,000*l.* must be entirely apart from the other sums which you have given me, and which I have taken down seriatim?—Some of the monies that I have told you of, 2*l.* and 3*l.* given to different parties previous to the election are included in the 1,200*l.* or 1,300*l.*

2553. That cannot be. I have added up the sums you gave me. You say that the sums paid to the public-houses were about 1,000*l.*, and the monies paid after the election came to about 1,300*l.*?—About 1,000*l.* was paid to public-houses after the election.

2554. And about 1,300*l.* besides?—Yes.

2555. That would make altogether 4,100*l.*; whereas the sum you received was 5,200*l.* Therefore if we add to the 4,000*l.* the 1,000*l.* paid to the captains before the election it will come to very nearly the sum?—I have given it as nearly as I can remember it. I shall no doubt be wrong a few pounds in many instances, but I have given it you as nearly as I can remember.

2556. I think it right to give you the result of the statement so that you may see how the matter stands?—I am much obliged to you; perhaps you will allow me to say that in telling you the monies which I gave to different people, I was guided by the names that you read to me and I did not think of parties whose names were not upon that paper; it has just occurred to me that Anthony Knowles Allinson whose name you never gave me received from me about 200*l.* I think.

2557. When was that?—I paid him money for expenses previously to the election and money for voters on the day of the election; altogether about 200*l.* and I paid (I do not know whether you have that down) some staff men and messengers monies which are not included in Mr. Tilly's list.

2558. I do not think you gave the amount paid to the staff men?—I do not know what the amount would be; there would be a good many of them.

2559. It is desirable that we should have a sum of some sort down; to the best of your belief what would that amount to?—I do not know whether I should pay more than 50*l.* on that head or not, but Allinson's being an amount rather large it occurred to me that I had better name it.

2560. (Mr. Hill.) That was before the election?—About 50*l.* before the election and 150*l.* at the election; about 200*l.* altogether as nearly as I can tell; I think it was 130*l.* something at the election. He rendered me an account.

2561. And 70*l.* before the election?—Yes; then there were his bills; he keeps a public-house; that would make it about 150*l.* and I think I should give him about 50*l.* before the election.

2562. You have not included his bill in the public-house bills?—I paid his bill along with his expenses.

2563. There is no other person that you think of?—No, but that was rather a large amount and it just occurred to me that I had better mention it.

2564. (Mr. Barstow.) Did you give any other person money on the day of the election besides Anthony Knowles Allinson and Stackhouse?—I really cannot tell, it was a very busy day.

2565. When you were in your room in the "Queen's"?—I think it would be very trifling if I did, because I was careful only to deal with the captains of the district for fear of its being paid twice over. I do not remember that I did. Yes, I recollect now that I paid a man a few pounds,—a Quaker for his expenses in coming from Cockermouth.

2566. What was the name do you remember?—Pickard

2567. You paid him personally?—I did.

2568. His expenses from Cockermouth?—Yes.

2569. What was the amount?—I gave him five guineas he wanted ten.

2570. (Mr. Staveley Hill.) He got 10*l.* I think?—No he wanted 10*l.* but he only got 5*l.* and he afterwards brought 3*l.* of it back again.

2571. (Mr. Newton.) Out of the 5*l.*?—He brought either 3*l.* or 2*l.* out of the 5*l.*

2572. How long afterwards?—Perhaps three weeks or a month.

2573-4. That is all you can remember?—That is all I can remember.

Adjourned for a short time.

Mr. C. Blades.

Mr. Charles Blades sworn and examined.

2575. (Mr. Barstow.) I believe you are a builder in Lancaster?—Yes.

2576. How long have you lived here?—Between 30 and 40 years.

2577. Have you been generally an active political partizan?—Yes on the Liberal side.

2578. On the occasion of the last election I believe you seconded Mr. Schneider's nomination?—I did.

2579. I believe you have been concerned in what has been called the secret committee?—You have given it that term this morning.

2580. You understand what I mean?—I do.

2581. Is that so?—It is, that is the truth.

2582. You were with Mr. Welch in the room at the "Queen's"?—Yes on the evening of the nomination and the morning of the election day.

2583. Were you besides one of those we call captains?—No.

2584. Your functions were rather general?—I took no part in the election until the day of nomination; perhaps I may be allowed to explain a little; I took no part beyond going up to Mr. Maxsted's every evening and going through the book with him. I had always done so at previous elections, and we had canvassed the matter together; beyond that I took no part whatever.

2585. On what day of the week was the nomination?—On Tuesday, I believe; I am not quite certain.

2586. How were you yourself personally employed in the evening of the nomination day?—In the evening of the nomination day Mr. Welch sent for me and asked me would I be good enough to assist him in distributing the money.

2587. I think you say you took no part in the illegal expenditure of money until that day?—No, I took no part whatever in the election.

2588. Except looking over the canvass-book?—No.

2589. You say that Mr. Welch sent for you to desire you to assist him in distributing the money?—To consult with him. I had nothing whatever to do with the money.

2590. Did he consult you?—He did.

2591. Did you then advise with him as to the distribution of it?—I did.

2592. Then I am to understand that you advised him as to the distribution of the money which he has mentioned here to-day?—I did, more or less,—not in all cases, but generally.

2593. Did you yourself give any money to any captain?—None whatever.

2594. Nor to any voter?—Nor to any voter.

2595. We have heard of a sum of money being found in a cupboard in a room in which you were?—Yes.

2596. Were you there when that money was found?—I cannot say I was present when it was found, but I know that such a sum of money was found.

2597. Did you know of its being placed there?—I did not.

2598. Had you anything to do with arranging that Mr. Welch should have that room?—Well, I should think, in a general way, I had,—I believe I considered that the room would do for us among the rest of the party; I do not know that I engaged the room myself, but I believe I was a consenting party to it.

2599. With whom did you agree that the room would do?—With Mr. Welch and Mr. Wearing.

2600. With anyone else?—I think not.

2601. Had you seen the room before Mr. Welch established himself there?—I would not speak positively to that.

2602. Just recollect yourself?—I might have; but I could not say that I had not, nor that I had. Probably I had.

2603. If you had not seen it you would hardly have known that it would suit you?—I was in the room with Mr. Welch, when I said it would suit.

2604. You found Mr. Welch there?—I found Mr. Welch there.

2605. Why did you think the room would suit you?—Well it was central; it was one of the rooms of the house belonging to the candidates.

2606. Was that all;—had it any other qualification?—None that I know of.

2607. Did you examine the cupboard?—I did not.

2608. The fact of the cupboard being there had nothing to do with inducing you to take the room?—No; in fact I did not observe that the cupboard was in the room; it was, as Mr. Welch has stated, a piece of furniture.

2609. Were you there when Baines came in?—I was.

2610. Did you see him take anything when he was there?—I cannot say I did. I believe I was in conversation with Mr. Wearing; but at all events I saw Mr. Baines come into the room.

2611. What did he do when he was in the room?—I think very little. I suppose he took the money off the table.

2612. Tell us what you saw him do?—I did not see him do anything.

2613. Did he come in and walk out again?—He would remain a few minutes in in the room.

2614. What did he do when he was there?—I think he had some conversation with Mr. Welch, and probably he might have with myself; I cannot say.

2615. Did you give any directions about refreshments?—I did not.

2615. None whatever?—None whatever.

2616. Did you take the canvass-book as well to Mr. Maxsted's?—No, I never had it in my possession.

2617. You looked over it with Mr. Maxsted?—Yes, with Mr. Maxsted.

2618. Is that all you can tell us of your part in the election, as far as your side is concerned?—As far as I was concerned personally, myself, I took no part in the election, except on the day of nomination and the day of election; and, as I have stated before, I consulted with Mr. Welch as to disbursing the money to the different captains, and on any other matter that he might ask me about.

2619. Is that the whole of the part you took?—No, I have a small farm in Bulk, and a number of those in Bulk are voters in Lancaster, and I believe I saw most of the tenants.

2620. Did you say anything to them about the price of their votes?—Certainly not.

2621. Nothing of the sort?—Nothing of the sort.

2622. And gave them no refreshment?—Never; so contrary was it to that, that during the day of the election Martin Ireland had promised to vote for Fenwick and Thomas Huntington, or William Huntington, I am not certain which, came into the room. Martin Ireland was spokesman, and he said, "We have had 10*l.* offered to us on the other side, and unless you will mend it we shall not vote for that."

2623. They came into what room?—Into the room where Mr. Wearing, myself, and Mr. Welch were.

2624. Thomas Huntington?—I am not quite clear as to the Christian name; he is a farmer in Bulk, he is in the Bulk list of voters. (The witness refers to the polling list.) I see it is Henry Huntington; both those men had promised to vote for Fenwick and Schneider. I ordered them out of the room at once, and they left.

2625. We have heard of various sums of money being left at Mr. Welch's house, do you know anything of that?—No, nothing whatever.

2626. Did you speak to Mr. Schneider on the day of the election?—I did.

2627. On the polling day?—I did.

2628. On the subject of the election?—Generally on the subject of the election.

2629. What was the nature of the conversation?—It was as to how we should get on; what were the other side doing; were we going to win; and so forth.

2630. Was anything said as to the means it would be necessary to take in order to win?—There would be something said about that, but I declined to have anything to do with the money.

2631. When you say there would be something said, do you mean that you said something?—I did; I said that the other side were spending very large sums of money and that I was afraid it was going to be a very costly election.

2632. This was to Mr. Schneider?—To Mr. Schneider.

2633. And you were afraid you say?—Yes, I said I was afraid that it would be a very costly election.

2634. What did Mr. Schneider say to that?—Well, he was afraid so too; he had been told by the other side that they were prepared to spend 10,000*l.*, I believe that Mr. Starkey had told him so, and he replied to him that they would have to spend it before they would win.

2635. Just repeat that if you please?—He said that Mr. Starkey said, the other side were prepared to spend 10,000*l.*, and Mr. Schneider said, "From the state of our canvass they will have to do it before they can win." I believe those to be the exact words as near as possible.

2636. Was anything said about the money you

THIRD DAY.

Mr. C. Blades.

29 Aug. 1866.

would be required to spend at that time?—No; I believe there was something said as to the money Mr. Fenwick brought; had Mr. Fenwick brought any money?

2637. Was that in this conversation?—In this conversation.

2638. Can you tell us more explicitly what that was that was said?—I believe I replied, "I think he has brought 1000*l.*"

2639. Why did you think so?—I am not quite clear, but I think I heard Mr. Wearing say so. I believe he was the party who brought the money, I am not quite clear about that.

2640. By "the money" you mean this 1000*l.*?—Yes.

2641. Did Mr. Schneider say anything upon that?—No, I think not.

2642. Do you know at all where that money came from?—I do not, I had nothing whatever to with it, and never handled a shilling of it.

2643. (Mr. Newton.) Was this on the day of polling?—This was on the day of election.

2644. At what time?—I should fancy it would be about 11 o'clock in the morning.

2645. At that time were you in a majority or minority?—We never were in a minority and I said, "It is all right the others have flown their kites?"

2646. You meant the other party?—Yes.

2647. You say you heard from Wearing that Mr. Fenwick had 1000*l.*?—I think so, but I would not be positive about it.

2648. Do you know what became of the 1000*l.*?—Mr. Welsh disbursed the whole of it.

2649. How did Mr. Welsh get it?—Mr. Wearing brought the money I understood.

2650. When did he get the money?—I cannot say, sometime in the morning I presume.

2651. Where did he find it?—I cannot say, or whether he found it at all.

2652. I think you know?—No, I do not, and I am here to tell you all I know.

2653. You have a suspicion, have you not?—I have not indeed; I have not the slightest suspicion where Mr. Wearing got it from, it was there, and beyond that I do not know anything.

2654. Were you in Court during Mr. Welch's examination?—Yes.

2655. Do you know of your own knowledge of any other money being given towards the expenses of the election?—I do not.

2656. (Mr. Hill.) You say that you believe 1000*l.* came to Mr. Fenwick on the day, do you mean on the nomination day or polling day?—On the polling day, I am not quite clear about it, but I believe so.

2657. Mr. Welsh said there was 1000*l.* brought by Mr. Wearing into a room at the "Queen's?"—Yes, I believe that was the fact.

2658. Had Mr. Schneider been about on the nomination day?—He was there on the platform on the hustings.

2659. Besides that had he been what you call going about?—I cannot say, not taking any part in the canvass, but I should say he would be.

2660. You were not shut up in this room all the time, were you?—No, I was away in the afternoon on my own business.

2661. You did not see Mr. Schneider about?—I think I saw him in the evening, and I believe I said to him "Well, you have had enough to do to-day, and you will have enough to do to-morrow; you had better go home and get your rest.

2662. Did you see Mr. Fenwick about that evening?—Yes, Mr. Fenwick was at the "Queen's" all that night I believe.

2663. He looked in at your little room?—No, certainly not.

2664. Did Mr. Schneider come in?—No, certainly not.

2665. Who lived in the house?—Mr. Fenwick.

2666. (Mr. Barstow.) Do you know nothing particular of the New Road district?—I know all the districts in the town pretty well.

2667. Did Mr. Welch pay the money that he paid in respect of that district under your directions?—I cannot say whether he did or did not, but in all questions of difficulty he applied to me, and I believe all I said was final upon the subject, and Mr. Wearing along with me. I may say, for I suppose you want the whole truth, that at about 1 o'clock in the morning the captains of the various districts came into the house.

2668. All the captains?—Several of them men in whom I had the fullest reliance; they stated that it was no use our going on with the election if we intended to win, for money was floating about like water on the opposite side.

2669. What captains were they?—Mr. Bradley was one and Mr. Bell was another, and Mr. Turner was another, there were several others as well.

2670. Think of some others if you please?—Mansergh Bell was another; we talked the matter over and I said, "Well, I felt quite satisfied that under any ordinary circumstances we shall have a very large majority," for I had gone carefully over the book that evening with Mr. Maxsted, and in giving the opposite side 125 votes who would not promise, and 100 parties who had not been seen, still we should have a majority equal to the figures Mr. Maxsted stated to you, and that unless they spent a very heavy sum indeed they could not win and had no chance of it. Mr. Bradley said, "If you say so well and good, you have had a great deal to do with it, we are quite satisfied you are right and we will go out again."

2671. Did they go out?—They went out again and returned, and stated that it was of no use, that they could do nothing with the means given them, and if I would not believe it, would I go down to the "White Horse" and look at what was going on.

2672. Where is the "White Horse?"—It is a house belonging to a Liverpool firm of Penn, Hill, and Company, very extensive dealers, or, rather, they are the takers of it, and the owner of it as trustee is Mr. Wilson Barker, who was the treasurer of Mr. Lawrence's party.

2673. That does not answer my question: where is it?—At the bottom of Church Street.

2674. You went down?—Yes, I went down to look for myself.

2675. What did you see?—I saw a large number of parties there, and I believe amongst the rest Mr. Lawrence's brother; and I was quite satisfied from a glance that they were taking those steps the captains stated.

2676. (Mr. Barstow.) We have not had in any very definite language what these steps were?—In the first place the captains stated that they were offering not less than 10*l.* per man.

2677. Anything else?—That they had a large number of men at the spirit vaults behind the building, which I believe was the fact.

2678. Did you see these voters?—I did not go inside to them.

2679. At the time that the captains stated the Conservatives were offering 10*l.* per man, what were your side offering?—There had been no definite sum fixed, but our own idea was from 3*l.* to 5*l.*

2680. Do you mean that the general rate was not higher at that time?—Not up to 1 o'clock in the morning, on our side; not that I know of. You may not be aware that I had nothing to do with the election prior to this evening, and I do not know what was done previous to that time.

2681. At what o'clock in the morning was this?—About 1.

2682. How did you know that from 3*l.* to 5*l.* was the current rate at that time?—I only knew from the conversation we had amongst ourselves that that was the rate we should offer.

2683. Then I may take it from you that from 3*l.* to 5*l.* was the rate the Liberal party were offering at 1 o'clock on the polling morning?—Yes, just so.

2684. You say you saw at a glance that they were taking the steps the captains had stated?—Yes.

2685. Did you see at a glance that they were offering 10*l.*?—That I knew nothing of; I only knew what the captain had stated, and judged it to be true from the drinking that was going forward, and the crowd of people that was about the place.

2686. What did you really see?—I saw the front room entirely filled with electors and non-electors, and partisans of the Conservative side.

2687. Did you see anything else?—No; I came back again to the "Queen's" afterwards, after just taking a turn through the town.

2688. Are we to understand that from seeing the front room filled with electors and non-electors you concluded that the captain's statement was correct?—Yes.

2689. You took no other means of verifying that statement?—Not beyond questioning them.

2690. Seeing a thing at a glance is one thing, and questioning them is another. That is all you saw at a glance?—Yes, it is.

2691. I suppose you returned to the "Queen's?"—I did.

2692. Did you give the result of your inspection to Mr. Welch?—Yes, I did.

2693. What did you resolve thereupon?—We resolved that the captains should be at liberty to take any steps they thought proper; we had confidence in them.

2694. What steps did you propose that the captains should take?—Of course there was a more lavish expenditure.

2695. Did you furnish them with the means of making a more lavish expenditure?—Mr. Welch did.

2696. In your presence?—I cannot say in all cases, but in some, no doubt.

2697. Is that all that you know of your own knowledge of what was doing on the Conservative side?—I do not know, but if any questions strike you I shall be very glad to answer them.

2698. That is a question: Is that all you know of your own knowledge that was doing on the Conservative side on the polling day?—Certainly not, on the polling day.

2699. Do you know of your own knowledge of any act of bribery committed by a Conservative captain?—I have named Mr. Martin Ireland, and Mr. Huntington.

2700. You did not say who bribed them?—They will be able to tell you. Thomas Brown, of Dolphin Lee in Bulk, came to the committee room, and said he had had 10*l.* offered, and unless we would give it to him he should vote on the other side.

2701. For Mr. Lawrence?—Yes.

2702. When did he come?—It would be some time before 12.

2703. On the polling day?—Yes.

2704. When you say committee room, you mean the room in which Mr. Welch was?—Yes, the room Mr. Welch, Mr. Wearing and myself occupied.

2705. Did you make him a higher offer?—Certainly not. I ordered him out of the room.

2706. Did he state who had offered him the money?—Not to me.

2707. Why did you order him out of the room?—Because a man in his position ought to be above such a thing, and he had promised myself to vote for Fenwick and Schneider.

2708. (Mr. Newton.) What is he?—A very respectable fellow.

2709. Is he in any profession or trade?—He is a farmer.

2710. (Mr. Barstow.) What is the extent of his holding?—Perhaps upwards of 200*l.* a year.

2711. (Mr. Hill.) Rent?—Yes; I think so; I will not speak positively.

2712. (Mr. Barstow.) Can you give us any more information of Conservative bribery of your own knowledge?—I cannot name the names, but I think I can put you in the way of getting them. There was Mr. Wilson's brother-in-law, Isaac Jackson, of Liverpool; he was principally operating in the Carnforth district, and I believe if you ask him when you get him in the box he will be able to tell you of a number of other Liverpool gentlemen who were here on the same errand.

2713. Do you know whom he bribed?—No, I do not; but our captain will be able to tell you the parties.

2714. Any one else?—Oh, yes. I can give you some more. There are the Messrs. Stirzakers, cousins of H. T. Wilson, of Liverpool, gardeners at Skerton, who furnished from their wishes for the welfare of the cause, a few hundred pounds. How it was dispersed they will be able to tell you.

2715. How do you know they furnished money?—It is well known; they went to the Lancaster Bank for money, and drew it out in their own names.

2716. What bank is that?—The Lancaster Joint Stock.

2717. The Lancaster Banking Company?—Yes.

2718. How do you know they did that?—It is a general rumour in the town, and I believe it is a true one, because at that time the other side was short of money, and it was got in that way.

2719. (Mr. Hill.) When was it got?—Some time during the day.

2720. (Mr. Barstow.) I was asking you with regard to the acts of bribery that you knew to have been committed of your own knowledge?—I am merely giving you the channel that leads to it, and it is for you to inquire.

2721. Have you any other information to give of the same kind?—On the morning after Mr. Lawrence's address in the Palatine Hall, I met Mr. Henry Wilson on the platform of the railway station.

2722. At what time was his address?—About 8 o'clock in the evening.

2723. (Mr. Hill.) On the nomination day?—No, prior to that, about the middle of June, I fancy.

2724. Where did you meet Mr. Wilson?—On the platform at the Castle Station. He said, "Well, what did you think of Mr. Lawrence last evening?" I said, "Oh nothing, but very well," and he said, "Yes, you will find some different work now in Lancaster on the Conservative side; the Conservatives never before knew how to work an election." And I said, "Do you not be so boasting as that; there is quite as much common sense in Lancaster, and quite as much honesty as there is in Liverpool;" and he said, "I did not mean it in that sense;" and I said, "I thought you implied it."

2725. Anything more?—No, not at that time.

2726. Was nothing said about how they meant to win it?—Of course it was well understood.

2727. Was anything said?—No, it was merely implied.

2728. They did not say what it should cost them, or what it should cost the opposite party?—Certainly not to me; it was spoken of very often in the town.

2729. (Mr. Barstow.) Do you know of any other case?—No; the Conservative captains will be able to tell you what has been done as they come before you.

2730. You say that these "Stirzakers" furnished a few hundred pounds for the Conservative side; do you know of any one on the Liberal side who furnished any money for that cause?—I do not.

2731. (Mr. Hill.) What was the name of the house that you went down to upon this representation of the captains?—I am not sure what the sign of it is, but I believe it is the "White Horse;" it is at the bottom of Church Street.

2732. You went down there to see whether what the captains had told you was correct?—Yes.

2733. And there you found a vast number of people?—Yes.

2734. And you presumed from the number of people buzzing about there that there was some honey in the pot?—Yes.

2735. What time of night was it?—Somewhere about 1 in the morning.

THIRD DAY.

Mr. C. Blades.

29 Aug. 1866.

2736. About what number of voters should you think there were?—A considerable number, both voters and non-voters.

2737. What do you mean by "a considerable number?"—Perhaps over 50.

2738. 50 voters?—No, I will not say voters.

2739. How many voters would you say?—Probably one half of them might be voters.

2740. How long were you down there?—Not many minutes; it was the enemy's quarters.

2741. Could you hear what the buzz of conversation was about?—Of course I could not swear to any conversation.

2742. You have no doubt that the conversation was about what was the price of votes?—Yes, no doubt.

2743. Men were pretty well on and talking in a whisper, I suppose?—No.

2744. (Mr. Barstow.) Did you hear anything?—Nothing that I could swear to.

2745. (Mr. Hill.) At that time, when you went down, how many captains went with you?—None.

2746. You went by yourself?—Yes.

2747. How many people did you leave at the "Queen's?"—Mr. Welch and Mr. Wearing.

2748. I mean how many persons did you leave about the house drinking?—It was in the other part of the "Queen's;" I do not know.

2749. Which was the house on the Liberal side which would most correspond with this house, the "White Horse," where this drinking and asking about the price of votes was going on?—I do not know.

2750. Did you see Mr. Wilson at his house that night?—I am not aware; I think not; I missed him that morning.

2751. He was on the move too?—Yes.

2752. Did you see any others of that same party on the move that night?—Mr. Lawrence, I think.

2753. Do you know what is his Christian name?—John, I think.

2754. He is a Liverpool man?—Yes; it was the battle of Liverpool against Lancaster after the "Wennington Bull" was down.

Mr. S. W. Wearing.

Mr. Stephen Wright Wearing sworn and examined.

2755. (Mr. Newton.) What are you?—A shoemaker.

2756. Where?—In this town.

2757. In what street?—Cheapside.

2758. How long have you lived in Lancaster?—All my life.

2759. Your politics, I believe, are Liberal?—Yes, they are.

2760. Have you taken an active part in the election?—Yes, I have.

2761. Since when?—I began as a boy, in the year 1837, taking a great interest in it.

2762. Are you a freeman?—Yes, and a householder.

2763. Have you proposed and seconded candidates at elections?—No.

2764. In what position did you consider yourself at the last election; as one of the secret committee?—Yes.

2765. You considered that you belonged to it?—I acted with Mr. Welch throughout the entire election, the previous election, and in the interval between the other elections.

2766. You were acting also with, I presume, Mr. Blades?—Yes.

2767. Had you known Mr. Schneider before he stood for Lancaster in 1864?—Not personally.

2768. Did you know Mr. Fenwick before he became member?—Yes.

2769. When did you first make his acquaintance?—I think it would be about the year 1857 or 1858; I am not certain which.

2770. He was returned in 1859?—No, he was not returned in 1859; he was then defeated and returned in 1864.

2771. Your acquaintance increased, I suppose, when he became member?—No, I do not know that it increased.

2772. Did you consult with Mr. Blades and Mr. Welch previous to the election, as to what means were to be taken to win it?—I should.

2773. Did you?—Yes.

2774. Mr. Welch has told us that he was disinclined to become the cashier of the election?—Yes, he was.

2775. Did you press it upon him?—I pressed it individually, and I believe others did.

2776. By the word "cashier" what do you mean?—I mean the person who has the money, and distributes it for the various purposes connected with the election, whether they are legal or illegal. If an illegal expenditure takes place, the treasurer, I apprehend, pays that as well as the legal expenses.

2777. In this case it was illegal expenses?—I fancy he would pay illegal expenses as well as expenses that would be properly charged to the legal expenses account.

2778. When was the first conversation you had with any gentleman about spending money at this election?—I cannot say.

2779. Can you give us any notion?—I should think it was some time previous to the election.

2780. How long?—I should think more than a month.

2781. When had you any conversation?—The conversations were quite incidental.

2782. Who with?—Mr. Welch.

2783. Will you state what sort of conversations they were?—The purport of them would be as to what the other side were doing, and what we should have to do to meet it.

2784. Did you come to any determination as to how you were to meet it?—No, I supposed it would be understood. We had been together at the previous election; we had been associated together.

2785. There was no secret between you; you both knew exactly what was going to happen?—Yes, certainly.

2786. That you would have to pay for voters?—We expected that.

2787. When was the first time a voter was paid?—I do not know that any voter received anything until the morning of the election.

2788. Do you mean the election or the polling day?—The polling day.

2789. Who gave money on that occasion?—I cannot say.

2790. Then how do you know it? I ask you whether you know, of your own knowledge, of any money being paid, and when was the first time you knew it?—Are you alluding to the last election?

2791. Yes, I am speaking all about 1865. You have stated that you consulted with Mr. Blades and Mr. Welch previous to the election?—I should converse with Welch, but not with Blades certainly more than two days before the election. I do not recollect the subject having been named by Mr. Blades previously to that time, or in his presence.

2792. What was the purport of your conversation with Mr. Blades?—On the Monday previous to the election it was reported in Lancaster that money had come from Liverpool; that the captains on the Conservative side were extremely active; that some of the voters who had promised the Liberal Conservatives, had gone over to the other side, and that they were offering large sums of maney, in some cases as much as 20*l.*

2793. Anything more?—Other matters of that kind. I do not recollect anything in particular.

2794. Were any names specified as regards voters receiving these large sums ?—I do not recollect, but I should think that would be the result of any conversation with Mr. Blades.

2795. I bring you now to the occasion of any money having been spent ?—Not that I am aware of before the morning of the election.

2796. Be good enough to tell us what was the case that you know of money being paid to any voter ?—I know of none previous to the election.

2797. I ask you what is the case of which you are aware of money being paid to any voter ?—The captains will be able to tell that. I do not know.

2798. You told me just now that of your knowledge you knew of money being paid ?—I did not know of any money being paid previous to the morning of the election.

2799. And I now ask you what the case on the morning of the election ?—I should know it from the captains having spent the money.

2800. Give me any individual case you know of money being paid ?—I do not recollect.

2801. You must recollect ?—I do not recollect.

2802. You say you did not know till the morning of the election of any money being paid ?—I have no reason to suppose that the captains engaged on the Liberal side of the election paid any money.

2803. Did they pay any to your knowledge on the morning of the election ?—I have no doubt of it, but I have no knowledge of it. They received the money the day before for the purpose.

2804. Who did they receive it from ?—Mr. Welch.

2805. Were you present when they received it ?—Certainly.

2806. Where at ?—At the "Queen's," in the room Mr. Welch and Mr. Blades spoke to.

2807. The captains came into that room ?—Yes.

2808. At what time of day ?—It would be about 3 o'clock in the afternoon of the nomination day.

2809. What did the captains say ?—I do not know that they said anything. Previously to their coming in Mr. Blades and myself with Mr. Welch consulted as to the amount the district was likely to require.

2810. And you settled it ?—Yes, we settled it, gave the money to the captain, and away they went.

2811. Where did Mr. Welch get the money from ?—I took him 1,000*l.* on the morning of the election.

2812. Where did you get that 1,000*l.* from ?—I got it from Mr. Fenwick ; at least I suppose it was 1,000*l.* ; he told me it was. It was in a black bag.

2813. That was the morning of the election ?—Yes.

2814. At what time did you get it ?—I should think it would be about 9 o'clock, perhaps a few minutes before. I could not say whether it was a few minutes before or after.

2815. What time did you get it up ?—Immediately I suppose it would take me to take it out of Mr. Fenwick's room to where Mr. Blades, Mr. Welch and he were, half a minute.

2816. It was in the "Queen's ? "—Yes.

2817. Had you asked Mr. Fenwick for it before ?—No, but Mr. Fenwick in a conversation with Mr. Welch and myself a few days previously said there were rumours about their offering money on the other side, and he said he should not pay more than 1,000*l.* towards the expenses ; he said that he did not think the legitimate expenses of the election ought to cost more than 2,000*l.*, and that 1,000*l.* was as much as he ought to be called upon to pay, I do not know whether he said that the legitimate exenses of the election ought not to be more than 2,000*l.*, or whether he said 1,000*l.* was quite as much as he ought to called upon to pay.

2818. Up to that time had he paid any money ?—No, not that I knew of.

2819. Did you go to his room that morning ?—Yes.

2820. And asked him for the money ?—No, certainly not.

2821. What did you go for ?—To say "Good morning" I suppose.

2822. Were you in the habit of going to his room every morning ?—Very frequently, and every evening.

2823. You went to his room to say "Good morning ? "—I do not know that I went to say that, but very likely I did say so.

2824. What did he say ?—He said, "Oh, I have, got the money that I spoke to you and Welch about."

2825. He gave it to you ?—Yes.

2826. And you took it off to the room where Welch was ?—Yes.

2827. And Blades ?—Yes, and placed it on the chair and left it there.

2828. Did you make any remark ?—I do not think I did ; I might do.

2829. Were you in and out of that room all day ?—Yes, I was.

2830. Did anything else come to your knowledge as to money that was paid away by Mr. Welch or anybody else ?—There was money being paid away during the day. If the captains ran short they came for more.

2831. If you did not speak to Welch when you put this money down on the chair, how was he to know what was inside it ?—I suppose he would know pretty well.

1832. Was it a common black travelling bag ?—Yes.

2833. How was he to know that it contained money ?—I did not think it necessary to say anything.

2834. Does every black travelling bag contain money ?—No.

2835. How did Mr. Welch know it ?—I have no doubt that he did know it. He saw me bring it in and he knows I brought it in, he said so this morning.

2836. What conversation took place ?—I do not think there was any conversation.

2837. Did he know you had gone for the money ?—No, I think not.

2838. Something must have taken place ?—No, because when I left the room I did not know that I should have the money given me.

2839. Did it rattle in the bag ?—No, not at all, it was too heavy for that.

2840. Was it locked up ?—No, the bag was open.

2841. How was the money put in ?—I cannot say. I did not look into it. Mr. Fenwick will be able to tell you all about it.

2842. Mr. Fenwick was not present ?—He will be able to tell you the amount, there was no conversation respecting it.

2843. Surely you must have said "Here is Mr. Fenwick's money ? "—Perhaps I might, but I do not think I did.

2844. He took it for granted that because you brought a black bag into the room it therefore must contain money ?—I should say so. We might have had a conversation afterwards during the day.

2845. I mean at the time you brought the bag in ?—No, I think not.

2846. Did anybody else go in and out of that room ?—No, not unless with our permission.

2847. Was the bag locked ?—No.

2848. Do you mean to say you left a bag open with 1,000*l.* in it in the room ?—There was more money there. Mr. Welch, I think, had some money in the window-seat in the room, at the back of where he sat.

2849. Was that in paper ?—I think it was rolled up in brown paper.

2850. 50*l.* at a time ?—Yes ; and then he had some loose in a canvass or leather bag.

2851. Was anybody else besides Welch in the room when you brought it in ?—I think Mr. Blades would be there, but I am not certain. I am certain Mr. Welch was there.

THIRD DAY.

S. W. Wearing.

2852. You say no conversation took place ?—Not that I recollect. It is quite possible I might say, "I have got this from Fenwick," but I do not think I did; I do not think I said a word.

2853. Can you give us any more information as to any occurrences that took place that day which were not strictly legal; I am not talking about the other side ?—I can only give you my impression. I am morally certain that money was spent for the purpose of paying voters.

2854. Can you give us any information with respect to the other side ?—Of my own knowledge, nothing.

2855. Do you know of no single case ?—No, not a single case.

2856. Not of any sort ?—I saw nothing of the kind. I knew what was going on.

2857. When did you first know what was going on ?—I knew it all the day. The first return of the voting was quite sufficient for any one who knew anything at all about elections.

2858. How did the first return show you what was going on ?—It showed that a considerable number of parties who were expected to vote for us had voted the other way.

2859. Had you been canvassing yourself ?—I was canvassing with the candidates two or three days.

2860. And some of those you had canvassed voted wrongly ?—I could not give you the names, but I should think there were some who had been canvassed when I was present, and who had promised Mr. Fenwick and Mr. Schneider to vote for them, and they voted the other way.

2861. When the captains came in that morning you were consulted as to how the money was to be distributed ?—I did not say so. Mr. Blades said so. I think you misunderstood me. We consulted what each captain should receive for the district; I do not know that we consulted with reference to all the districts previous to the captains coming in, but Mr. Welch would say, "What must so-and-so have," or something of that kind.

2862. Is that what you mean by "consulting ?"—Yes.

2863. I want to know how you formed a judgment as to what each captain should have ?—We had some slight idea from previous elections which districts were venal, and which were the most respectable, and where the largest number of voters who would require paying lived, and we judged accordingly.

2864. Did you go over the list of voters in the district with the captains ?—I had done that previously myself with several captains.

2865. At this time were you consulted ?—No.

2866. That had all been settled before ?—Yes, to some extent.

2867. Did you go into any details as to who wanted money ?—The plan I took with regard to the captains I saw was to take one of the printed lists you have of names in his district, and as to those parties who did not require calling on, and who were good men, either on one side or the other; I took my pencil and crossed the name through. Those parties that I knew nothing about I left, and as to those parties that were bad, I made a cross opposite to them; I know I did that with several of the captains' lists, but which of them I do not know.

2868. We were told by the last witness that up to 1 o'clock in the morning of the polling day the sum that was proposed to be given on each side was from 3*l.* to 5*l.* ?—I never heard any sum mentioned previously.

2869. But do you confirm that; that that was the sum that was proposed to be given ?—I cannot indeed.

2870. What is your opinion ?—My own opinion on the day of nomination, and the day previous was that something like 10*l.* would be required for these men who wanted money, and who were determined to have it.

2871. (Mr. Hill.) You arrived at that opinion on the nomination day ?—No, the day before, from the rumours I had heard with respect to what the other side were offering; I had no data to go upon, but rumour and reports as to what had been offered.

2872. What did you do upon forming that opinion ?—I did nothing except express it to Mr. Welch.

2873. And to Mr. Blades ?—I do not think I did to Mr. Blades, I think I had no conversation with Mr. Blades respecting it in detail; not until the day of nomination.

2874. On the day of nomination did you express that opinion to Mr. Blades ?—I think I did.

2875. Did you take any steps in consequence of that opinion ?—No, we took no steps at that time; Mr. Blades says it was about 1 the next morning, but I think it was about 11 o'clock at night when the captains came, and on that occasion Mr. Blades said he did not think that on any account more than 7*l.* should be given, which was a considerable increase upon what Mr. Blades had previously thought ought to be given.

2876. (Mr. Hill.) Was that when, or before the captains came ?—That would be after the captains came.

2877. Did you take any steps to procure money ?—We had the money; we had a considerable sum of money at the time, but what amount I do not know. I supposed at the time that it was sufficient for the emergency.

2878. You say you had a conversation with Mr. Fenwick some time previous to the election ?—Yes; several days previously.

2879. At which you mentioned the probable expenses of the election ?—No.

2880. But that the election would probably be expensive ?—I do not recollect anything of that kind being said, but I quite understood so myself, and I think it very likely that something would be said with respect to the election being expensive.

2881. And was it then that Mr. Fenwick said he should not spend more than 1,000*l.* ?—Yes.

2882. And on the morning of the polling day he gave you that 1,000*l.* in a black bag in sovereigns ?—Yes, I expect it was in sovereigns.

2883. On the morning of the poll ?—Yes, I did not see them; but from the weight I should say there were a thousand sovereigns.

2884. You have said that when you brought the bag into the room you did not tell Mr. Welch what it was ?—I do not think I said anything about it.

2885. Mr. Fenwick had told you what it was ?—He did when he gave it to me.

2886. Why should you not tell Welch ?—That I cannot tell; he might be busy or might not.

2887. You say it was a mere accident that you did not tell him ?—I should think it was. It was not from any wish to keep the matter secret from him that I did not tell him, but as a matter of fact I do not think I did.

2888. I want to know your reason for not doing so ?—I have no doubt he knew that Mr. Fenwick would provide 1,000*l.*

2889. You have no doubt that he expected that Mr. Fenwick would provide 1,000*l.* that morning. Is that your answer?—Yes; I should think so; I do not know it, but I should think so.

2890. You were present when Mr. Maxsted made his statement as to the approximate numbers he thought would be polled ?—Yes.

2891. At that time there were also present Mr. Fenwick, Mr. Schneider, Mr. Charles Blades, Henry Welch, and Mr. Cleminson ?—I do not recollect being there at the time; I might have been.

2892. What room was it in ?—The room Mr. Fenwick used as his private room.

2893. It was not in this room where the money was ?—No, I never saw either Mr. Maxsted, Mr. Schneider, or Mr. Fenwick there.

2894. You are quite sure that before you went to Mr. Fenwick's room in the morning you had said nothing to Mr. Fenwick about being ready with money the next day?—I am quite sure of it.

2895. Nor had anything been said by him in your presence?—Nothing.

2896. You went to him early in the morning?—Yes, I suppose it would be about 9 o'clock.

2897. That parcel of 1,000*l.*, we are told, was not opened until after the election?—So Mr. Welch told me. Sometime during the day I said to Mr. Welch, "I put Mr. Fenwick's 1,000*l.* upon the chair."

2898. Some time during the day?—Yes, some time during the day.

2899. You drew his attention especially to the fact that that was Mr. Fenwick's 1,000*l.*?—I named it.

2900. Now tell me as nearly as you can and as accurately as you can, considering the distance of time and the difficulty of remembering a conversation, what Mr. Fenwick said when he gave you the bag?—I can tell you what the substance of it was.

2901. Tell us as nearly as you can; I have a special reason for asking you to do so?—"I have got the money for you," or, "A thousand pounds;" he might use one phrase or the other, but that was the effect of it; and I took it.

2902. But what was said? Was it said that that ought to be sufficient?—Not a word was said at that time, but simply, "I have got the money for you."

2903. Then when was it that the conversation took place as to what would be sufficient?—Several days before.

2904. Tell me what it was?—Something after what I have previously said.

2905. I want you to repeat it, if you please, for I am not sure that I took it down correctly?—He did not intend to pay more than 1,000*l.* towards the expenses of the election.

2906. Mr. Fenwick would say, "I do not intend to pay more than 1,000*l.* towards the expenses of the election?"—It was to the general effect that he considered that was sufficient.

2907. Did he say, "That will be sufficient for my share?"—I cannot say the exact words he used, but that was the meaning.

2908. You knew at the time you received this 1,000*l.* that there had been more than 4,000*l.* paid already?—Mr. Welch would tell me he had received certain money; in fact I took one of the bags he spoke about this morning to Mr. Welch. It was left at my house by a man of the name of Wright, who was in Mr. Milner's employment as a shopman.

2909. One of the bags containing 1,000*l.* was left for you?—I do not say it was 1,000*l.*; I do not say what was in it. It was one of the parcels that he said was left at his shop, and he did not know who left it. He spoke of two or three parcels being left at his shop, he did not know by whom.

2910. There was one three weeks before the election, he says, and another ten days afterwards; that will be about eleven days before the election?—I should think about that time.

2911. And another about a week before the election. You think it might be the middle one?—I think so.

2912. He said that that was left at his shop in Cheapside?—Yes, next door but one to my home.

2913. And did you leave it?—Yes.

2914. He said it was left in the same way as the previous parcel had been?—I knew nothing about how the others were left. I was satisfied that Mr. Welch would tell me he had the parcels left he spoke of this morning.

2915. You say that in all probability the centre one of those three parcels was left by you. Mr. Welch says that it was left in the same way as the former one, but you say that you did not leave the former one?—Certainly not.

2916. Did you instruct anyone else to leave it?—Certainly not; and I knew nothing of it further than what I heard from Mr. Welch at the time.

2917. From whom did your receive that parcel?—A young man of the name of Wright, who was a shopman with Mr. Milner, of the "Guardian" office; he went into my house; he went forward without saying a word, and when he came out again he said, "I have left three parcels for you." I guessed what they were intended for, and placed the three parcels into one and folded them up; and the next morning I took them into Mr. Welch's shop while Alfred Tinker, his shopman, was in the shop, and a boy might be in at the same time. I took it under my coat-tail and went and chatted a little bit with the young man in the shop, and while doing so I contrived to place the parcel on the shop counter; and after chatting for a few minutes I left without saying anything to Tinker about it. He asked me afterwards what parcel it was that I had left.

2918. And you told him that it was no business of his, I suppose?—I evaded the question in some way.

2919. You say that Wright walked into your house and then walked out again?—Yes.

2920. He said nothing about what the parcel contained?—No, he had left three parcels.

2921. On your sofa?—Yes.

2922. How did you know what they were?—From the weight I guessed what they were.

2923. How did you know they were to go to Mr. Welch?—I took that for granted.

2924. But why?—Because I knew that it could only be left for such a purpose.

2925. But you would not take every heavy parcel that was left to Welch. Had you had no conversation about it, or how came it to be so well understood?—I understood that he was the treasurer, and that that sum of money would be taken to Mr. Welch without his knowledge. I judged from the fact of his having told me previously that he had had one or two parcels of money left; and very likely the suggestion would come from Mr. Welch as to my acting by taking it in the way I did.

2926. He would tell you what to do with it if you found a heavy parcel on your sofa?—No; but if he told me how the one had been placed in the shop without his knowing anything about it, I should judge from that what was intended.

2927. He would tell you what had been done with other parcels?—Yes. If he had two parcels previously to this one I feel satisfied that he would have named it to me.

2928. How did you know that Wright was likely to have such a parcel?—He was one of the captains, and I took it for granted that it was intended to be placed to Mr. Welch's credit.

2929. You are quite certain that those parcels came from Wright?—I am quite certain of it.

2930. Beyond this, had you any conversation with anybody about these parcels?—No.

2931. Or about money; where the money was to come from?—No.

2932. Had these parcels any particular mark upon them?—No.

2933. No address of any sort?—No, none whatever. Whether there were three bags or not I could not be certain, or three paper parcels.

2934. Was any other parcel ever left with you?—Never.

2935. That was the only one?—Yes.

2936. And you yourself have not heard and do not know how the other parcels got into Mr. Welch's possession?—I do not know at all, and I have not heard.

2937. Did Mr. Fenwick say at this time that that was the whole of his share?—Yes; that he would not pay more than 1,000*l.*

2938. You knew that something like 4,000*l.* had been already paid on behalf of the election, or had been handed over to the treasurer on behalf of the election?—I did not know the amount.

2939. You knew that it was something like that?—I do not know that I did.

2940. You felt sure the night before that there was money?—Yes.

THIRD DAY.

S.W. Wearing.

29 Aug. 1866.

2941. You felt sure that there would be something like 4,000*l.*?—Yes, I should think that I had come to that conclusion at the time.

2942. When you heard this from Mr. Fenwick the next morning you knew that Mr. Fenwick had given no money previously himself?—Not to my knowledge.

2943. You had reason to believe that the whole of the rest of the money had come from Mr. Schneider?—I should say so. Do not take it for granted that I knew it came from Mr. Schneider, but I took it for granted that it came from Mr. Schneider.

2944. Did you understand that Mr. Schneider was to bear the bulk of the expenses of the election?—I certainly had that impression.

2945. And did you understand that if any other money was wanted it was to come from Mr. Schneider and not from Mr. Fenwick?—I believed that it would be so.

2946. By what principle did you understand that Mr. Schneider was to contribute so much greater a proportion of the money that was necessary for the purpose of that election than Mr. Fenwick?—I had rather not answer that question unless I am compelled to do so.

2947. But I want an answer to it particularly?—If I am compelled, the reason why I came to the conclusion was that one was a very rich man, and the other was not so rich.

2948. That was your reason?—Yes.

2949. Was it your only reason for thinking so?—That was my only reason, coupled with what Mr. Fenwick had stated, that he would not pay more than 1,000*l.*

2950. Was there not this further reason, that Mr. Fenwick had already stood an expensive contest with Mr. Saunders?—Yes, that was another consideration.

2951. That would enter largely into the reason in your mind, would it not?—Certainly.

2952. And the fact also, that Mr. Schneider had had a walk over for his seat?—Yes.

2954. And that idea would be carried out further when Mr. Fenwick told you that 1,000*l.* was all that he intended to spend or expected to have to spend?—I think I should say that previously to the election, I think from six weeks to two months previous, but I am not certain as to the exact time, perhaps six weeks would be nearer, I called on Thomas Wise, who had taken an active part in all previous elections in Lancaster.

2955. (Mr. Newton.) On the Liberal side?—On the Liberal side, and I wished to retain his services, I think he was dissatisfied with what he had got at the previous election.

2956. You wished to retain his services for what?—For canvassing and making himself generally useful; at the election previously he had not been satisfied with what he had received, and he seemed to be standing a little aloof from the party, and I agreed to give him 25*l.* for his services, and I paid him the 25*l.* after the election, and I think he earned his money if money is earned at elections.

2957. Where did you get that 25*l.* from?—I got it from Mr. Welch, he was cognisant of the arrangement that I had made.

2958. Is there anything else that you would like to say?—There are also other parties that I engaged as committee-men previous to the election and as canvassers or door-keepers; there were two or three of them I recollect.

2959. Do you recollect their names?—Yes, one was an old man of the name of George Wilson, I spoke to him three or four months previous to the election and asked him if he would vote for the sitting members, and he said he did not object, and would I find him a place at the election as a door-keeper or some easy place, as he was an old man; and I agreed to engage him for a fortnight, at 5*s.* a day; on the Monday previous to the election he called on me, and said, he had been offered 10*l.* by the other side, and as a poor man he could not afford to lose it, or he ought not to lose it. I told him that I had made an arrangement with him, and I was prepared to carry out my part of it, and I expected he would do the same. I found, however, that on the morning of the election, very early, he voted for Fenwick and Schneider, and I think a day after the election, or two days after the election, I took him the 3*l.* I had promised him.

2960. That was for being door-keeper?—He was door-keeper and messenger, and did anything he was required to do, he attended from the time the committee room opened.

2961. That was to include the 5*s.* a-day?—Yes, whether he received his 5*s.* a-day from Mr. Tilly I do not know, I have never ascertained or asked the question, it is probable he might; there was a man named William Ralph who called upon me a fortnight before the election and he wanted to be engaged as a canvasser, I asked him what he expected, he talked of 15*l.* I said that was quite out of character; he was lame at the time, and the only thing I could promise him would be 10*s.* a-day from that time to the election, which would have amounted to about 7*l.*, he intended to canvass voters in public-houses, he could not walk very well; he was then walking on a stick or two sticks, but he wanted something to go on with, and I gave him a sovereign.

2962. Which way did he vote?—I gave him a sovereign for expenses.

2963. Which way did he vote?—For Lawrence a plumper. On the Saturday before the election he wanted to be paid 10*s.* for each day he had been engaged, I gave him 2*l.* more on the morning of the election; I made the same arrangement with two of his nephews, one of them came on the Saturday night. I told him he had been at work. They also voted for Lawrence, a plumper, on the morning of the election.

2964. You had not given the nephews anything?—No, I took care of that. I have no doubt that they had a consideration, more than 7*l.*, all three of them. I do not think they would have voted as they did without it. There was a young man, a draper, of the name of Fort; several weeks before the election I spoke to his father; he was at Newark, in Nottinghamshire; and I arranged to give the father 3*l.* or 3*l.* 10*s.* He did not like to appear in the public list of parties receiving expenses, and I gave him 3*l.* 10*s.* or 3*l.*

2965. Was that for travelling expenses?—Including expenses 30*s.* or 2*l.*

2966. Is the father a voter?—He is not.

2967. Were Ralph and the other man Lawrence freemen?—Yes, freemen.

2968. And Wilson?—Wilson is a freeman. There are three Ralphs; one of the Ralphs I think I did not see, but I made an arrangement with his brother.

2969. Which was your Ralph?—William, a painter on Castle Hill.

2970. The nephews Robert and John both plumped for Lawrence?—Yes.

2971. Are both of them painters?—Yes. There was also a man down at the Foundry (they had a number of voters there) of the name of Robert Roberts; I asked him previous to the election if he would look after the men working at the Foundry, and I would arrange with those parties through him who did not receive anything from anyone else. After the election was over I understood there were three only who had not received anything from any other party, and I think about a week after the election I took down to his house 20*l.* for himself and the three others. He was not at home, and I left it with his wife. The next morning he called upon me and said he could not receive anything for himself; he brought me the 5*l.* back, and said he had given the other 15*l.* to the three other parties, and on the following night, after he had seen the other three, he brought me back the 9*l.*

2972. He kept 6*l.*?—No; the three men had lost a week's work. They had been actively engaged in the election, and did not think there would be anything wrong in their accepting what they would have received as wages if they had been at work. I mention that as an instance that ought to be mentioned.

2973. He kept 6*l.*?—No, he kept nothing; the other three men kept 2*l.* each.

2974. (Mr. Hill.) What were those men's names?—I do not recollect; I thought it was very creditable to them.

Mr. JOHN SANDERSON sworn and examined.

Mr. J. Sanderson.

2975. (Mr. Hill.) What are you?—Cashier to the Lancaster Banking Company.

2976. How long have you been with them as cashier?—About 7 years.

2977. And you were cashier at the time of the election in 1865?—Yes.

2978. Did either Mr. Fenwick or Mr. Schneider keep an account with the Lancaster Banking Company at that time?—No; Mr. Fenwick kept a trust account at our Kirby Lonsdale branch, but no private account at Lancaster, nor did Mr. Schneider.

2979. You are acquainted with Mr. Henry Welch?—Yes.

2980. A week before the election did you go to Mr. Welch?—Yes.

2981. Did you see Mr. Welch when you called?—I think not.

2982. Did you leave a message that he was to call upon you?—Yes.

2983. And did he call upon you?—Yes, I think he did.

2984. And did you give him a parcel?—Yes, I remember giving him one parcel.

2985. What did that parcel contain?—500*l.* in gold.

2986. From whom did you receive that parcel?—I got it from the bank.

2987. From whom did you receive that parcel?—Mr. Coulston gave me instructions to pay the amount to Mr. Welch, and to see him about it.

2988. Did you make up the parcel?—Yes.

2989. By Mr. Coulston's instructions?—Yes.

2990. Mr. Coulston is the manager?—Yes.

2991. Where did you obtain the money from which you put into that parcel?—I debited the amount to Mr. Coulston's separate account.

2992. That parcel you then delivered to Mr. Welch?—Yes.

2993. Did you deliver it to him at the bank?—I remember delivering one parcel to him at the bank, but I paid him 1500*l.* in all.

2994. You made up a second parcel?—Yes.

2995. Was that also 500*l.*?—Yes.

2996. And was that also delivered to Mr. Welch?—Yes.

2997. And was it also debited to Mr. Coulston's separate account?—Yes.

2998. And you made up on the nomination day a third parcel?—Yes.

2999. Did that contain 500*l.* also?—Yes.

3000. And did you debit that in the same way to Mr. Coulston's separate account?—Yes.

3001. And delivered it to Mr. Welch?—No, I think he sent for it.

3002. That is the parcel which he says he received? Yes, no doubt.

3003. What instructions had you from Mr. Coulston as to debiting this money?—Simply that I was to debit it to his separate account.

3004. That is all?—That is all.

3005. Those were the only instructions he gave you?—Yes.

3006. And Mr. Coulston's instructions were that those parcels should be delivered to Mr. Welch?—Yes.

3007. Did he say at all for what purpose?—No.

3008. You knew yourself, I suppose?—I had merely to follow Mr. Coulston's orders.

3009. Had any sum been paid in recently to Mr. Coulston's separate account?—I believe there was no payment at all into the separate account.

3010. I do not exactly follow you?—I mean that those amounts I have mentioned remain still at Mr. Coulston's debit in the separate account.

3011. There has been no money paid in to meet them?—No.

3012. Neither before nor since?—No.

3013. Then that is still a debit from Mr. Coulston to the bank?—Yes.

3014. Does Mr. Coulston then pay interest upon that money?—The interest forms a debit item as well as the other.

3015. You make up the interest I presume after each transaction?—No; on the 30th June and the 31st of December in each year.

3016. Have you not a column in your banking book in which you make up the interest after each transaction?—No; that is one system of banking, but it is not ours.

3017. I thought that in most of the banks they followed that practice now?—No I think not.

3018. You do not do it?—No.

3019. You merely take the account as it stands from half year to half year?—Yes.

3020. Does the bank hold any security as against Mr. Coulston for his separate account?—Mr. Coulston is an exceedingly wealthy man.

3021. I know that, and that is the reason why I hesitated to ask the question?—There has been no security given that I am aware of.

3022. I did not ask the question from any doubt that Mr. Coulston himself could meet it. Do not let anything of that kind be supposed for a moment. Answer this question, "Yes" or "No." Have you received any instructions at any time from Mr. Coulston, or rather any information from Mr. Coulston, at any time as to the person against whom he intended eventually to debit that sum of 1500?—I do not remember his saying anything about it.

3023. Has he mentioned Mr. Schneider's name to you in connexion with that?—I do not remember anything of the sort.

3024. I think you would have recollected it if it had occurred?—Yes, most probably I should, but I do not remember anything of the kind.

3025. Did you during that election debit Mr. Coulston's separate account with any other sums of money?—Yes.

3026. With what?—1000*l.* on the nomination day.

3027. What did you do with the cash which you so placed against Mr. Coulston's account?—I gave it to Mr. Schneider.

3028. On the nomination day?—Yes.

3029. 1000*l.* into his hands?—Yes.

3030. What was it in?—Gold.

3031. Was there any further sum of money paid from the bank to Mr. Schneider?—No, not on that account. I changed him a 500*l.* note I think previous to the election.

3032. You gave him gold for it?—Yes.

3033. You placed that last 1,000*l.* to Mr. Coulston's separate account also?—Yes.

3034. That made that separate account on the bank 2500*l.*?—Yes.

3035. There being nothing on it before?—No.

3036. Was the account increased in any way during the election?—No.

THIRD DAY.

Mr. J. Sanderson.

29 Aug. 1866.

3037. Does it still remain 2,500*l.*?—The present balance is about 3,555*l.*, exclusive of interest.

3038. Where does that extra 1055*l.* come from?—In August I paid 500*l.* to Mr. Welch, according to Mr. Coulston's instructions, and the same in October, I think.

3039. Will you tell me what that is in October?—I cannot from recollection. It would be about the middle of August I think, and about the 12th or 14th of October perhaps.

3040. Have you paid anything else?—In December, I do not know the exact date, 55*l.*

3041. So making the total 3,555*l.*?—Yes.

3042. Have there been any further sums to the best of your belief drawn from the bank for the purposes of this election?—Do you mean by Mr. Welch?

3043. I mean by any one?—I remember Mr. Richard Stirzaker coming for 400*l.* on the day of the election, and Mr. Wilson Barker also on the day of the election for 500*l.* I do not remember any further sums.

3044. Can you say whether or not on looking through your books you should be able to find any further sums?—Of course with such a multitude of transactions it is impossible to say.

3045. Of course they would not be in small sums. Are there any further sums you believe to have been drawn from the bank for the purposes of this election?—I could not tell without looking through the books carefully.

3046. These two last sums would have been drawn out on behalf of the Conservative party?—Yes, I suppose so.

3047. There were some cheques paid to Mr. Tilly, or signed by Mr. Fenwick payable to Mr. Maxsted; did these go through your book?—I do not remember.

3048. (Mr. Hill.) Mr. Maxsted keeps an account at your bank?—Yes, he does.

3049. There were cheques for the amount of 300*l.* drawn on your bank, and paid July 8th, July 11th, and July 13th?—Drawn by Hannay and Schneider?

3050. (Mr. Maxsted.) Drawn by Schneider in my favour, and paid to my account.

(Witness.) They would be drawn on our branch?

(Mr. Maxsted.) They were all drawn on Mr. Schneider's private account.

3051. (Mr. Hill.) Had Mr. Schneider a private account at your bank?—No, I think not; in fact I may be quite sure upon that point.

(Mr. Maxsted.) I may be wrong; they might be drawn by Hannay and Schneider, but they were drawn in my favour.

3052. (Mr. Hill.) My object in asking this question was that I could not reconcile Mr. Tilly's evidence upon that point with your saying that there was no account kept by Mr. Schneider at your bank?—No doubt they would be drawn by Schneider, Hannay, and Company on our Barrow Branch.

3053. Has Mr. Fenwick at the present time any account with your bank?—No; he has the trust account at our Kirby Lonsdale Branch.

(Mr. Maxsted.) Allow me to explain. The cheques were given by me to Mr. Tilly, and therefore they are in my private account. I received the money from Mr. Schneider.

3054. (Mr. Hill.) They were cheques drawn by Messrs. Hannay and Schneider against their account with the Barrow Branch of the Lancaster Banking Company, and I presume it would appear in the bank books what they were?—If Mr. Maxsted received a cheque from Mr. Schneider it will appear in his account if he paid it in to his account.

3055. Would the particulars of the cheque appear? Yes; we should have a copy of it.

3056. You could refer to that?—Yes

3057. (Mr. Tilly.) The cheques were drawn by Mr. Maxsted on my account—Mr. Maxsted's private account.

(Mr. Maxsted.) Yes, that is so, excepting the cheque for 500*l.* drawn on the Preston Bank.

3058. (Mr. Hill.) I understood Mr. Maxsted to say that they were drawn by Messrs. Hannay, Schneider, and Company?

(Mr. Maxsted.) That is what the witness said, and I stated in answer to it that I do not recollect whether they were Mr. Schneider's own cheques, or Messrs. Schneider, Hannay, and Company's cheques.

3059. (Mr. Hill.) As you received them so you paid them into your account?

(Mr. Maxsted.) Yes; and therefore a reference to my account would show what they were.

3060-1. (Mr. Barstow to Mr. Maxsted.) You said in your evidence that with the exception of 500*l.*, which you said was sent by Mr. Fenwick, all the rest of the sum of 1,404*l.* 2*s.* 2*d.* was paid by Mr. Schneider.

(Mr. Maxsted.) 1,000*l.* in fact was paid by Mr. Schneider, and 500*l.* by Mr. Fenwick. The last cheque for 300*l.* was handed over as a cheque to Mr. Tilly without going through the bank.

Adjourned to to-morrow at 10 o'clock.

FOURTH DAY.

Lancaster Castle, Thursday, 30th August 1866.

PRESENT:

MR. BARSTOW. | MR. NEWTON.

MR. HILL.

FOURTH DAY.

W. Towers.

30 Aug. 1866.

WILLIAM TOWERS sworn and examined.

3062. (Mr. Barstow.) What is your business?—a grocer.

3063. Do you live in Cheapside in this place?—Yes.

3064. How long have you lived in Lancaster?—Fourteen years nearly.

3065. Have you been pretty active at election times?—Since 1859.

3066. On the last election I believe you were a a Captain?—Yes, I believe I was known by that name.

3067. What district did you work?—I took Skerton under my charge.

3068. What sum of money did you receive from Welch?—Altogether I received a little over 170*l.*

3069. How did you disburse that money; first of all we will take the voters whom you paid?—Well, if you will be kind enough to hand me the Skerton list I will tell you.

3070. Edward Bradley of Main Street?—He kept a beershop.

3071. Did you give him any money?—Not for his vote I did not.

3072. I will only ask you at present what money you gave for votes. Did you consider yourself to be agent for votes. You know quite well what that means?—I do.

3073. George Cowell, Main Street?—No.

3074. John Cowperthwaite, Lime Street?—He was working, and I believe at present he is working at Wolverhampton, I gave him 10*l.* and 2*l.* 10*s.* for expenses in coming from Wolverhampton and returning.

3075. Thomas Rowlandson Dunn?—No.

3076. John Ellershaw?—No.

3077. George Loxham, Captain's Row?—Yes, I shall have a statement to make afterwards, but I gave him 6*l.*

3078. William Mathers?—Not for his vote.

3079. Samuel Pickard?—No, I believe Mr. Welch dealt with him.

3080. John Redshaw?—No.

3081. Richard Smelley?—No.

3082. Simpson Todd?—No, but there are lots of freemen that are not down there.

3083. The first in this list is Matthew Bailey?—I did not pay him anything: I shall have something to say respecting him after a bit.

3084. Robert Bull, coachman?—No.

3085. William Barrow, cabinet-maker?—Not for his vote.

3086. Edmund Boardley, woolcomber?—No.

3087. James Bond, husbandman?—No.

3088. C. T. Clark, attorney?—No.

3089. Christopher Gudgeon, twine spinner?—No.

3090. William Gudgeon?—No.

3091. William Helme?—No, he broke faith.

3092. John Herbert?—He was dead.

3093. R. F. Housman, Esq.?—No.

3094. William Housman, gentleman?—No.

3095. Edward Jackson, barrister?—No.

3096. James Jackson labourer?—Yes.

3097. How much?—10*l.*

3098. Joseph Jackson, labourer?—He broke faith.

3099. William Lamb, silk-spinner?—Yes.

3100. How much?—12*l.* There was another Lamb, a brother of his, that was residing at Skerton at the time on the register for some other part of the town, and I also dealt with him at the same time, 3101. What is his Christian name?—I believe it is John.

3102. John Lamb, Moor Lane, silk comber?—Yes.

3103. You dealt with him you say?—Yes.

3104. How much?—12*l.*, I might as well explain to you at this time that if I have not actually given them the money myself but have arranged with anybody else I take it for granted they have given them it. If I have placed the money in the hands of somebody to pay them I have the responsibility of paying them. I did not hand them the money myself, but I gave somebody else the money to give them.

3105. To whom did you give the money for those two?—I believe they call him Thomas Wilson.

3106. Edward Marshall Smith?—He broke faith; I did not pay him anything.

3107. Thomas Middleton, stonemason?—No, I did not pay him.

3108. James Pennington, stonemason?—I paid him 10*l.*

3109. William Redhead, joiner?—Unfortunately he broke faith with me and I did not pay anything.

3110. Thomas Roberts, ironfounder?—I engaged him.

3111. Do you mean as a runner or something?—I will tell you afterwards; I paid him.

3112. Is that Roberts of Leonardgate?—No, of Skerton.

3113. Henry Smith?—I did not pay him anything.

3114. Robert Smith, cotton spinner?—Nothing beyond a shilling or two.

3115. Henry Stirzaker, gardener?—No.

3116. Richard Stirzaker, gardener?—No.

3118. Is that Thomas Taylor, of Skerton, labourer?—I ought to explain that Thomas Taylor, of Skerton, labourer, is not recorded as having voted. He came to live from Bolton to Skerton, and was on twice, a duplicate, and he voted as residing at Bolton. Thomas Taylor, of Bolton, coming to live at Skerton, lived there two or three weeks, and afterwards came to live in Market-street, Lancaster.

3119. Thomas Gardener Thompson, miller?—Nothing.

3120. John Thompson, miller?—Nothing.

3121. James Walker Cotton, spinner?—He cost me a little money. I did not give him anything for his vote, which I will afterwards explain.

3122. C. Lawson Whalley?—No.

3123. William Wilcock?—Did he vote for us?

3124. Of Skerton, tailor?—I did not give him anything.

3125. Isaac Wilkinson?—I did not give him anything.

3126. Richard Willacy?—He voted against us.

3127. Robert Wilson, cabinet maker?—That is another worse still.

3128. George Wilson, cabinet maker?—No.

3129. Thomas Winder?—No.

3130. Michael Woodman?—I believe I engaged him for something.

3131. You did not pay him money down as a voter?—He did get paid, but it was an arrangement.

3132. What was it, then?—Previous to the election some person engaged him to do anything he could in promoting our cause, and undertook that he should be paid, I believe, 6*l.* I did not do the matter myself, but I paid him. I was told previous to the election that he was engaged, and that that was the price that we should pay to him, as I did not engage him myself.

3133. (Mr. Hill.) And he had not been engaged?—I never asked him.

3134. (Mr. Barstow.) J. S. Carruthers?—No.

3135. Then the names that follow on this list are those that I have gone over before. Can you remember bribing anyone else in Skerton?—I cannot.

3136. You were going to tell us something about Bailey?—I believe, in fact I am sure, that Bailey was one of those that had his freedom taken up in 1864, paid for by Mr. Welch. I was under the hope that I should be able to get his vote without money, beyond a shilling or two which he got a few days previous to the election. I did not succeed. I gave him a shilling or two, and I did not succeed in getting his vote. I found that he was one of the very first to go from Skerton and poll for Lawrence.

3137. What is Barrow?—He keeps the "Red Cross" at Skerton, a public-house which is the head-quarters of the Liberal party. I engaged him to work, and I also engaged his house at the same time. I believe I agreed to give him 5*l.* for his services and 7*l.* for the use of his house as a committee room.

3138. That is 12*l.*?—12*l.* together.

3139. I presume he received something for refreshments?—Yes, he received something for refreshments, but not till after the election.

3140. Perhaps you did not pay him?—I did.

3141. How much?—I believe I paid him 25*l.* 10*s.* altogether. I never paid him any money but once, except a few pounds that I might spend and pay at the time in the house.

3142. Was that the whole of the money that Barrow received from you?—It was, or from anybody else respecting the election.

3143. To your knowledge?—To my knowledge.

3144. What did you do with Boardley?—He was a very good Liberal, put on to assist me in the district. I engaged him myself some five weeks previous to the election, and agreed he should be paid 5*l.* for his services, which he was paid afterwards by me.

3145. And nothing else?—And nothing else.

3146. Roberts?—Roberts I engaged about five or six weeks previous to the election, and he volunteered to get any information that might be of service to me from the enemy's camp. I did find him of service, and for rendering those services I afterwards paid him 10*l.*

3147. Did he keep a shop?—No, it is Roberts, of the iron foundry.

3148. James Walker?—James Walker, I believe, was paid for his freedom at the time that Bailey's was taken up, but on the morning of the election I could not manage him; he was past my skill.

3149. Had you given him any money?—Nothing beyond probably 12*s.* I had been to him at different times previous to the election; but on the morning of

FOURTH DAY.

W. Towers.

30 Aug. 1866.

the election 10*l.* would not touch him, and I thought if he was so priceable the others should have him.

3150. Are those the names of all the persons to whom you gave money except for their votes?—No, you have not asked me several; you have not gone through the list of the householders.

3151. Bradley is a householder, is he not?—He is.

3152. And Barrow?—No, Barrow is a freeman.

3153. The alphabetical list ends with "Woodman, Michael, labourer," and then it goes on Aldrew, Armstrong, and others. That, I suppose, is the 10*l.* list?—It is.

3154. Then I will go on with that list. Now we are on the householders, I observe that Aldrew, Armstrong, Atkinson, Atkinson Robert, and Atkinson William, voted for Lawrence?—They did.

3155. Have you anything to say about those?—No, only so far as one of them is concerned; he has always been a Liberal before, but the screw was brought to that pressure this time that he told me he was really compelled to vote as he did.

3156. Which was that?—Robert Atkinson.

3157. Edward Bradley, of Main Street?—He keeps a beershop, and he is a small farmer as well; he farms under Mr. Thomas Dunn.

3158. What did you pay him?—I paid him 5*l.* for the use of his house as a committee room, and I paid him for refreshments 2*l.* 10*s.*, altogether 7*l.* 10*s.*

3159. George Cowell?—He also keeps a public-house.

3160. What did you pay him?—I paid him for the use of his house 6*l.*, and I afterwards paid him 7*l.* 10*s.*

3161. And for refreshments?—For refreshments I believe it was 7*l.* 10*s.*, 15*l.* altogether I am nearly sure.

3162. John Cowperthwaite?—I have already told you I paid him 12*l.* 10*s.* to come from Wolverhampton.

3163. Gilbert Hall?—He also keeps a public-house.

3164. What did you pay him?—I paid him 7*l.* 10*s.* for the use of his house.

3165. Anything for refreshments?—A few pounds, but I cannot tell you exactly how much; but it was not much. I had no bill there.

3166. We should like to take down some figure, if you can tell us about how much?—I am sure it would not exceed it.

3167. What do you think we ought to put down?—I think you might put down 5*l.*, but I am sure it would not exceed it.

3168. William Howson, of Lune Street?—He did not reside at Skerton then. I did not pay him anything. He was residing at Kendal, I know now.

3169. Mathers?—Mathers was paid for the use of his house, for refreshments, and for coming from Rochale.

3170. Is he a publican?—Yes, he is a wool-sorter at Rochdale and working there, and he had to come from there here and to go back again, and altogether I paid him about 14*l.*

3171. John Redshaw, Main Street?—Nothing.

3172. Richard Smalley?—Nothing.

3173. James Todd?—No; I think there is a Burrow on the List you have not asked me about.

3174. He voted for Lawrence?—He did.

3175. What have you to say about him? Did you pay him any money?—I paid him no money; he promised, or partially promised, to vote for us for a sum, but it was not enough. I apprehend he got more on the other side.

3176. It will be convenient for us to exhaust the payments first?—I think you have done so now.

3177. You think that is all the money you paid?—No, it is all the money I paid for Skerton.

3178. What other money did you pay?—I engaged a young man that works at the foundry, of the name of Richard Garth, to go with me to Skerton to be of any assistance to me that he possibly could, and for those services I paid him 10*l.*

3179. Is he a voter?—Yes, he is down as residing in Germany Street?

3180. Is he a freeman?—Yes.

3181. Anyone else?—All the monies that I paid; that is, all with one little exception.

3182. What is that?—I also engaged another man, a voter named John Ireland, to accompany me on all occasions when I went to Skerton.

3183. What did you pay him?—And for those services I paid him 3*l.*, after the election considerably, a fortnight or three weeks perhaps.

3184. Do you know Skerton very well?—I do.

3185. How many public-houses and beer-houses are there there, do you know?—Six.

3186. How many had you engaged?—Four.

3187. Now, you think you have told us all the money you spent?—I have told you all the money I spent; that is, that I gave to voters or to anybody else, I believe.

3188. Does this include all public-house bills?—It does.

3189. To whom did you account for the money?—To Mr. Henry Welch.

3190. What was the mode of your accounting?—My mode of accounting was that I made use of that list that you have before you, the street list; and against each of the names that I paid money to I put the amount, and one of those lists I handed in.

3191. Did you receive any remuneration yourself?—I did not, and I should like to take this opportunity of protesting against an assertion made by Mr. Maxstead on Tuesday, in answer to your question, "Were the captains paid?" He said, "No:" he is reported to have said so, and I heard him; but he said, "Do not you be misinformed by my answer: the managers are of such a class that they will not give their services unless they get some remuneration. Against that I protest. What I have done is this: I have never received anything for it, and I would not have done it if it had been offered; and I think after it is done it is very wrong that observations of that kind should come from a gentleman who professes to have the conduct of the election, and will walk off with the loaves and fishes.

3192. But people who undertake duties of this sort subject themselves to remark?—Yes, but it ought not to come from the quarter it did come from.

3193. Do you know of your own self any act of bribery committed by the other side? I do not wish for rumour, because we have had quite as much of that as we wish for. We have now come to more solid substance?—I think they would take care that if any act of bribery was committed they would not let me see it.

3194. (Mr. Newton.) Did you pay all these sums down at once to the voters, or did you pay them down at different times?—I paid them at different times after the election. I did not pay any man a single shilling before he voted.

3195. (Mr. Hill.) You mean for his vote?—Certainly.

3196. (Mr. Newton.) Then we are to believe that you entered into an agreement that if they voted for Fenwick and Schneider they would have 10*l.* for their vote, and if they did not vote for Fenwick and Schneider they were to have nothing?—I think I ought to tell you that I did not commence that game until very late upon the night previous to the poll.

3197. Which game?—The game of offering them so much for their vote. I had always evaded it, and the result was that I lost some five or six that we had always had before, or that if it was the first time they voted we had paid for their freedom. It was not till after 5 o'clock that I offered any of them 10*l.* I could not get them for the sum I was instructed to offer them previously, and that was the reason why I missed several.

3198. You went into the market late?—I went into the market late.

3199. What were your instructions as to the amount you were to offer them ?—My instructions on the eve of the poll were—

3200. Before the eve of the poll what instructions had you ?—I had none.

3201. On the eve of the poll what were your instructions ?—On the eve of the poll I was instructed that we ought to win with a gallop, and not pay more than 6*l.* to any person, from the state of the canvass.

3202. That you would win ?—Yes.

3203. If you only paid 6*l.* ?—Yes.

3204. Who gave you those instructions ?—Mr. Blades.

3205. How was it that you increased your price ?—Early on the morning of the poll.

3206. You tell us this was all going on on the evening of the nomination ?—I told you my instructions were that I had no occasion to offer anybody more than 6*l.*

3207. But you were offering these men on the evening of the nomination 10*l.* ?—No, I did not until the morning of the poll; about 5 o'clock I sent a messenger over with instructions to this effect, that I did not think it was of any avail to give sums of 6*l.*

3208. You sent a messenger over to Lancaster ?—Yes.

3209. Whom ?—I believe it was Wilson.

3210. Which Wilson ?—Thomas Wilson.

3211. You sent him over to Lancaster with a message ?—I sent him over to Lancaster with a message for further instructions.

3212. What message ?—A message to the effect that I was of no use, that I could not get these men to vote for anything like the sum I was prepared to offer them.

3213. You said they must have 10*l.* ?—I said that a great deal of them I could not get for less.

3214. That was to Mr. Blades ?—I do not know that it was particularly to Mr. Blades, but it was more directly to the three gentlemen who you learned yesterday sat in the room at the "Queen's."

3215. The council ?—Call them what you like.

3216. The secret committee; what answer did they send you back ?—The answer they sent me back was that I was to use my own discretion and do as well as I could, that we were sure to win, and that I was to poll my worst first, and reserve the better of the voters until afterwards.

3217. Then you took upon yourself to offer the 10*l.* ?—I did from that moment.

3218. What time did that answer come back to you ?—About 5 o'clock.

3219. You sent off at 5 o'clock I thought you said ?—I merely speak from memory; it might be at 4 that I sent off, but as far as I can judge it would be about 5 when the man came back again.

3220. Where did you find these men John Lamb, William Lamb, Jackson and Cowperthwaite, at that hour in the morning ?—Cowperthwaite arrived from Wolverhampton the evening before. I saw him then. I did not give him any money then. He voted, and after he voted I paid him. I saw him when he got up next morning, about half-past 8, and he went and voted and I afterwards paid him.

3221. You told him before he voted ?—Yes, I had made the arrangement previously by letter.

3222. Had you stood any drink to all these people before ?—Very little; the chief part of the drink was paid for in those bills I have told you of at the public-houses.

3223. But all the direct sums of money for votes were promised to be given on the morning of the poll ?—They were.

3224. And were there many others that you promised to give money to that did not vote for you ?—There is one other man I remember now whom you have omitted asking me about, that is Thomas Knowles, of Skerton, a householder.

3225. (Mr. Barstow.) He voted for Lawrence ?—Yes.

3226. What about him ?—He waited upon me early in the morning, perhaps by 4 o'clock.

3227. (Mr. Newton.) Was that before you sent off to Lancaster ?—I cannot possibly say, and he said there was himself and six more prepared to go either way for the most money, that they asked 100*l.*; he asked me that himself.

3228. He was modest enough to ask 100*l.* for the seven ?—Yes.

3229. Who is Knowles ?—He is a man there who I believe is the owner of considerable property in Skerton, and it was the first time he had ever had the privilege of voting, I believe.

3230. A householder ?—Yes, a householder; he promised to vote for Fenwick and Schneider, and also told me he would vote for them till the evening before the polling.

3231. What do you call a considerable property ?—The property, I believe, that he lives on is his own.

3232. What is it worth do you suppose ?—It must be worth 10*l.* a year, or else he would not be qualified for voting.

3233. Does he follow any trade ?—He is a pot dealer.

3234. Who were the other six ?—He did not tell me who the other six were.

3235. Do you think there were six ?—Well, I thought since that there were not. I had no faith in his statement at the time. I did not listen to it, and I was not prepared to carry out any sort of arrangement.

3236. He wanted 100*l.* for himself ?—No, I do not think that, because I know that some that we lost did; I saw them go with him and I suspect that the other side had come to a sort of arrangement with him.

3237. In the meanwhile ?—Yes.

3238. That was before he came to you ?—No, afterwards, after I repudiated it.

3239. You would not have anything to say to it ?—No.

3240. Were there any others besides Knowles who came to you for the same sort of proposal ?—No others came to me. There was James Redhead, and Wilson.

3241. What Wilson ?—Robert Wilson I believe his name is. They waited on me about 7 o'clock in the morning.

3242. What house were you at ?—I was all night at Mathers's house, till about half-past 6 in the morning; that, and walking about from place to place.

3243. Where were you when Redhead and Wilson came ?—I was in Mathers's, and there was another or two came with them, and they asked me 12*l.* a piece. I told them that I could not give it.

3244. Did any men come to you besides those ?—William Redhead promised to vote for us, and afterwards broke it; he did not get any money, neither did I talk to him about any money.

3245. (Mr. Hill.) Did you make any bid to Thomas Knowles; when he came and offered seven votes for 100*l.* did you tell him what you would give him ?—I did not. To tell you the truth, my candid opinion was that I could not put any confidence in him.

3246. Did you make any bid to the others who asked 12*l.* ?—Yes, I offered them 10*l.*

3247. Did they accept 10*l.* down on the nail ?—No, the next question they asked was, would I pay them before they voted, and I said no.

3248. Well ?—Would I deposit the money with the landlady, they said; and I cannot exactly say what my answer to them was as to that, but I did not do so. I broke off the negotiation.

FOURTH DAY.

W. Towers.

30 Aug. 1866.

3249. They were not very keen on 10*l.* then?—No, they were not.

3250. They seemed to have an idea that they could get a larger sum?—Yes, but my idea was that they would have been very glad to have got hold of some of my brass, and then they would have made as good use as they could of their votes afterwards.

3251. You have not told us when you received the money from Welch?—The first money I received from Welch was 7*l.*; I received it perhaps eight or ten days previous to the election. Perhaps eight or ten days previous to that I was desired by Mr. Welch to go to Skerton, and to tell them I was coming again, and from my going at that time up to the time of receiving this 7*l.* from Mr. Welch, I had spent it out of my own pocket.

3252. That was a repayment to you of money that had been already spent by you?—It was.

3253. What was the next money that you received?—The next money I received was 13*l.*

3254. When did you receive that?—It would be three or four days after that.

3255. Were these sums paid you in gold or notes?—In gold. The next money I received was 100*l.* on the morning of the nomination; when that was done on the election morning I brought away with me what remained of my voters that required money from Skerton, and I got other 50*l.*

3256. You brought them to Lancaster?—I brought those men from Skerton to Lancaster whom we had not already polled, and I left them in charge of some of my staff that was with me, and I went and got 50*l.* more.

3257. You came up to the Queen's for it?—I did.

3258. And there you saw Welch, Wearing, and Blades in the room and you got 50*l.*?—I got 50*l.* from them.

3259. And you went back to the men you had left in charge?—Yes, and polled them.

3260. And then paid them the money?—Yes.

3261. You paid them all their money after they were polled?—Yes.

3262. Did you pay them as they were polled?—No, before I left Skerton I paid them, when they got back to Skerton, when they returned from polling. Before I left Skerton in the morning as the men went from Skerton to poll when they came back I paid them.

3263. Some of them had got back from Lancaster before you started?—Yes, three or four lots. Those men I took to poll myself. The last that I brought from Skerton I paid them. I took them to a place where I got this Wilson the money to pay them with after they had polled.

3264. How did you send your men up from Skerton?—In carriages.

3265. How many in a carriage?—Four generally.

3266. And how many carriage-loads were there?—I cannot positively say, perhaps sometimes there would be three go and sometimes probably five; but I think I had two carriages and two trips would be made, I believe, before I left Skerton.

3267. How far is it from Skerton to Lancaster?—To the polling booth perhaps it is three-quarters of a mile.

3268. You brought five men up yourself, did you?—No.

3269. How many did you bring up yourself? You wanted 50*l.*, you know, for them?—I believe that two was all that I paid that day out of that 50*l.*

3270. What did you do with the other 30*l.*?—10*l.* of that I paid to Thomas Roberts about a week after. That is the one that I had engaged that I have already told you of.

3271. I thought it was Robert Roberts?—Thomas. I paid him about a week after the election, and with the balance that I should have I got the bills from the public-houses and went to Mr. Welch a few days after the election and we squared the account up, and I took the money and paid them. I had not sufficient money. I was not in possession of sufficient money to pay these bills, and Mr. Welch gave me the difference some few days after the election.

3272. That is to say, you had received at that time 170*l.* What was about the balance that you received?—That I afterwards received?

3273. Yes?—I cannot tell, but my impression is that it was not a great deal.

3274. Was it a 10*l.* note?—I am under the impression that it was about 13*l.*

3275. When was that balance received from Mr. Welch?—Shortly after the election; perhaps a week after, or probably nine days.

3276. You say that none of this money stuck to your fingers at all?—No.

3277. But did you afterwards receive any present?—No.

3278. Neither from Mr. Fenwick nor Mr. Schneider?—No.

3279. (Mr. Barstow.) I hope you did not understand when I asked you whether you had received any remuneration, that I meant to suggest that you had diverted any of the money you had received to your own use?—No, I did not so understand you. I wish to say that I received no payment for my services either from Mr. Welch or from anybody else. There is one thing I should wish to mention. I gave 6*l.* to George Loxham, and if you will allow me I will tell you the circumstances how that came about. He is a very good man, a man who I believe will not sell his vote. He promised to vote for Fenwick and Schneider, and on the nomination day my attention was called to a man who had come over from Skerton, who said he knew of a voter who would go against us unless he was paid, and when my attention was drawn to that, I asked the man's name. He said "I cannot give his name but I know it is a fact; but if you will provide me with 6*l.* I will undertake that he shall vote for you." I said I could not do anything of the sort, that I knew the Skerton voters as well if not better than himself, and that I could not enter into any such arrangement. He afterwards told me it was George Loxham. I said to this man that I knew George Loxham so well that I had every reason to believe he would not receive the money, but as the morning of the poll wore on I had my apprehensions that perhaps this man might be persuaded at the last moment to receive money, and if 6*l.* would prevent him from voting on the other side I thought it would be better to give it, and I sent a messenger down telling him that if he required 6*l.* I would give it to him. He afterwards came up to me, and this man with him; this man wanted the money, but I would not give it him. I gave it to George Loxham himself, but George Loxham told me that this man wanted some of the money, and afterwards got some of it from George Loxham's daughter.

3280. George Loxham received the 6*l.*?—Yes, I would not pay it to anybody else.

3281. Who was this man that you saw?—I cannot tell his name, but he lived in the house with George Loxham. I believe that George has always been very sorry ever since that he should have been induced to take it.

3282. However, he took the money?—He took the money. Perhaps the Commissioners will allow me to tell what I have had to contend with; I should like to tell you what was going on on the other side.

3283. How do you know what was going on?—I did not see it myself, but I had it from the lips of parties who did see it.

3284. Give us, if you please, the names of the parties who did see it. In the first place say as shortly as you can what it was that you saw?—The two Lambs were living on green peas and lamb for about nine days previous to the election at the "Black Bull," and it was an open house from the commencement till the finish.

3285. Is that at Skerton ?—Yes.

3286. The "Bull" was Lawrence's house ?—It was; and the "Hand and Heart." James Carruthers, Mr. Mitchell, William Atkinson, Robert Aldren, junior, were my chief opponents as managers on behalf of the Conservative side. I on one occasion went to Kellet, that was on the first occasion that anybody went there on our side at the late contest, and I took with me the gentleman who was afterwards the captain, J. W. Hewitson; the parties who were the agents for the Conservative side there were Mr. Thomas Taylor, a spirit merchant, in Lancaster, and George Coulston, a gentleman, of Lancaster; I went through to Carnforth on that day, and our opponents at Carnforth were Mr. Jackson, who lives at Carnforth, Mr. James Hodgson, John Whormby, an auctioneer, and a man of the name of Clarkson, a stonemason; William Sharp was at Halton.

3287. What is Mr. William Sharp ?—I believe he is a solicitor in Lancaster. I could name many who took a very active part indeed on the Conservative side.

WILLIAM HUTCHINSON sworn and examined.

W. Hutchinson.

3288. (Mr. Newton.) Where do you live ?—In Moor Lane, Lancaster.

3289. What are you ?—I am an apprentice with Mr. Welch, a grocer.

3290. Has he a shop in Cheapside ?—Yes.

3291. Were you in his employment a month before the last election ?—Yes, I was.

3292. Do you remember anyone on any day coming into his shop and leaving there a brown-paper parcel with a message ?—No.

3293. Did you ever hear any conversation about such a circumstance having occurred ?—No.

3294. Who else had Mr. Welch in his service in the shop ?—A young man of the name of Alfred Tinker.

3295. Did you ever hear him speak about it ?—No, I can tell you the circumstance of the parcel being left.

3296. That is what we wish to know.—On the morning a parcel was left this person, Alfred Tinker, was down at the other shop in Damside Street; Mr. William Welch was away on a journey, I believe.

3297. He is a brother of the other Mr. Welch ?—A brother of Mr. Henry Welch: he was away on a journey; Mr. Henry Welch had not come down from his house at the Greaves'; at least, I had not seen him that morning. I left the shop to go into our warehouse behind the shop for a parcel of some description, I cannot recollect now what it was. Whilst I was away some person or persons unknown left the parcel. When I came back into the shop the parcel was there on the counter.

3298. How do you know that it had been brought there ?—It was there when I came back, and it was not there when I went out.

3299. What sort of parcel was it ?—It was a parcel wrapped in brown paper.

3300. What was the size of it ?—I cannot exactly tell what the size of it would be, perhaps as large as that book beside you.

3301. Was the parcel directed ?—It was not directed.

3302. Was it done up with a string ?—It was tied with string.

3303. Was it sealed ?—I did not see any seal upon it.

3304. What did you do with it ?—I took it off the counter and placed it on a shelf.

3305. About what time was this ?—In the forenoon, I fancy it was between the hours of 10 and 11, but I am sure it was some time before dinner.

3306. What did you do with it afterwards ?—I never touched it afterwards.

3307. Did you leave it there ?—I left it there.

3308. Did you know what was inside it ?—I did not open it to see.

3309. But did you know what was inside of it ?—No, I do not.

3310. Did you know what was inside of it ?—No, I did not know what was inside it.

3311. When did you next see Mr. Welch after this ?—In the afternoon, directly after dinner.

3312. And what did you do with the parcel then ?—I never touched it, I merely mentioned the circumstance that the parcel had been left in the shop.

3313. You told him of it ?—I told him.

3314. Did not your curiosity prompt you to see what was inside it ?—No, it did not.

3315. Were you shopman ?—I am an apprentice.

3316. Attending in the shop ?—Waiting in the shop.

3317. It might have been goods, or something of that sort ?—It was not my place to open it whatever it was.

3318. Did you expect any parcel of that sort to come ?—I never expected any parcel to come.

3319. Did you see anybody about the shop that morning ?—No, I did not see any one about the shop before I went to the warehouse.

3320. I mean just before you went to the warehouse ?—No, not any one in particular that I recollect. I might have had some customers in. I do not know that I had any customers.

3321. Do you often have brown-paper parcels left on your counter without any direction upon them ?—No, not often.

3322. Only at election times ?—I never saw one before.

3323. What did you say to Mr. Welch when you told him of that ?—I said, "There was a parcel left this morning in the shop."

3324. What did he say ?—I cannot recollect now.

3325. What did he do with it ?—He never touched it.

3326. Did you show him where it was ?—I pointed to it.

3327. Did he take it up in his hand ?—No; I believe the parcel was there when I went at night, and the next morning it was gone.

3328. It did not rattle about ?—No, it was tied.

3329. But if you shook it did it not rattle about ?—No, it was tied together.

3330. (Mr. Barstow.) Do you often leave your shop without any one to take care of it ?—Our shop is rather inconvenient; and if any person comes in for stores of sugar, or rice, or anything of that kind, it is necessary to go into the warehouse to get those things, and I might have gone off to get a store of rice, or sugar, or something.

3331. Do you tell me that you are in the habit on such occasions of leaving your shop without any one in it ?—Yes, we cannot do it different.

3332. The warehouse is upstairs ?—We go up the passage behind the shop.

3333. Can you see from the warehouse into the shop ?—No, we cannot.

3334. You left the shop, and when you returned you say you saw the parcel ?—Yes, in the shop. I found it directly afterwards.

3335. After you had found the parcel you left the shop again ?—No; after I found the parcel I did not leave the shop again.

3336. I understood you to say that when you returned at night you saw the parcel there ?—It was; it was there when I went home at night, but in the morning it was gone from the shelf on which I had left it.

FOURTH DAY.

W. Hutchinson.

30 Aug. 1866.

3337. Did you see any one about your shop before you left it to go to the warehouse?—I did not.

3338. And you tell us that you have no notion whatever who left the parcel there?—No, I have no notion whatever who left it there—not the least.

3339. (Mr. Hill.) Did you know what was in the parcel?—I did not open it to see.

3340. Did you know what was in the parcel?—No, I did not open it to see.

3341. You knew it was money, did you not?—I suspected it.

3342. You could not have any doubt that it was money from the weight of it, could you?—It lifted like money; it lifted heavy.

3343. You knew, then, that it was money?—I could not be sure that it was.

3344. Had you any doubt in the world that it was money?—Well, I did not open it to see.

3345. Had you any doubt that it was money that was in that parcel?—It weighed like money.

3346. Had you any doubt that there was money in the parcel. Answer my question, yes or no?—Yes.

3347. Then tell me what doubt you had?—I could not tell what it was till I looked into it; no one could.

3348. If you had handed that parcel over to anybody, should you not have said to him, "There is money in that parcel?"—Perhaps I might.

3349. There were 710 sovereigns in it; what was the weight of it?—I do not know.

3350. Had you seen money made up into brown-paper parcels before?—Yes.

3351. Knowing that, had you any doubt in the world that there was money in that parcel, and heavy money?—There is no doubt but what it was money.

3352. That being so, did you not say anything to Welch about its being a money parcel?—I did not.

3353. Who had you last seen about that shop?—I cannot tell that.

3354. Just think; who had been last in that shop with you?—I have no idea, not the least.

3355. You must have some idea?—I cannot recollect after the space of 15 months who was in the shop.

3356. But there was a special fact which would draw it to your attention; who had been last in that shop with you?—I cannot tell.

3357. When you found that a money parcel had been put on the counter with nobody to guard the shop, do you mean to say that you do not for a moment know who had been last in the shop. Come, speak the truth, because we shall get at it in some way?—I am speaking the truth; I do not recollect who was in the shop.

3358. Who had been last in the shop with you?—I do not know; any customer that we had might have been.

3359. Tell me who had been last in that shop?—To my knowledge the last person in the shop is he who was with me always, Alfred Tinker.

3360. How long before that had Alfred Tinker been in the shop with you?—Some five minutes perhaps; he had just gone down to the other shop.

3361. Had you taken the opportunity of his having gone away only five minutes before to go into the warehouse?—No, I did not.

3362. What had you gone into the warehouse for?—I cannot tell exactly.

3363. Was it for something to supply a customer with?—It was for something to supply a customer with; some orders that we had down in a waste-book that we have.

3364. Had you had any customers in the shop that morning?—Yes; no doubt we had.

3365. Can you tell me the name of any customer that you had in the shop that morning?—I cannot tell, indeed.

3366. When did Alfred Tinker come back to the shop?—Some five or ten minutes, perhaps, after the parcel was left.

3367. What did you say to Alfred Tinker about the parcel?—I said the parcel had been left in the shop.

3368. You did not say "the" parcel. This was a money parcel, you know, and you knew, or had reason to believe, that it was a money parcel?—I do not know that I said anything to Alfred Tinker specially about it.

3369. Did you not say somebody has been leaving money in the shop?—I might say so, but I do not know that I did.

3370. Did you not say to him anything about the parcel being a money parcel?—I do not recollect that I did.

3371. Just try and remember. Did you not say something to him about its being a money parcel?—I do not recollect that I did.

3372. Who came next into the shop, of the people connected with the shop after Alfred Tinker?—Mr. Wright Wearing.

3373. How soon afterwards did Mr. Wright Wearing come into the shop?—Directly after Alfred Tinker came in.

3374. What did he come for?—I do not know that he came for anything.

3375. He did not come to buy groceries?—He did not come to buy groceries. He did not say anything to me when he came in. He never asked me anything at all 3376. How long did he stop in the shop?—Perhaps two or three minutes.

3377. Did he look round the shop?—I cannot tell whether he did or not.

3378. Did you see him?—I cannot say.

3379. Can you say whether his eye rested on the brown-paper parcel?—No.

3380. Did you put it where he could see it?—Yes, anyone could see it.

3381. Who came in next after Stephen Wright Wearing?—I do not know; I am sure I cannot tell.

3382. Did any other person come in for business that morning that you recollect?—Not that I recollect.

3383. Then, as far as you know, Mr. Wearing was the only person connected with election matters that came into the shop?—He was.

3384. And he came in within ten minutes of the parcel being left?—Yes.

3385. And he had an opportunity of seeing the parcel if he chose to look for it?—Yes.

3386. Did you say anything to Mr. Wearing when he came in?—I do not recollect that I did.

3387. Did you hear Tinker speak to Wearing?—They stood together close to the desk, and if they spoke I could not hear them, for I was in the other part of the shop altogether.

3388. Wearing came in and spoke to Tinker?—I believe he did.

3389. It is a small shop, is it not?—Yes.

3390. If he spoke to him he did not speak in a loud tone of voice?—If he had spoken in a loud voice I must have heard him.

3391. Did Mr. Wearing speak to you?—He did not.

3392. Was Tinker the only person in the shop?—Yes.

3393. So that unless Wearing spoke to Tinker he spoke to nobody?—No.

3394. And you say he was in the shop two or three minutes?—Yes, he was.

3395. Did he seem to you to be waiting for anybody?—No, he did not.

3396. Wearing's shop is the next door, is it not?—The next door but one.

3397. Had you ever seen Wearing and Tinker talking together before?—Yes, many a time.

3398. Tinker was an older person than you, was he not?—Yes, he was.

3399. What age was Tinker about that time?—Perhaps 22.

3400. And how long had Tinker been in Lancaster?—Four or five years; I cannot tell exactly.

3401. He knew Mr. Wearing pretty well, I suppose?—He never knew Mr. Wearing before he came to Mr. Welch's shop.

3402. But he knew him very well, he having been next door but one to him for so many years?—Yes.

3403. Had you ever seen Mr. Wearing speaking to Tinker before?—Yes; I had seen him many times.

3404. Were you and Tinker much together out of shop-time?—Yes; when Mr. Welch was not in the way, we were always together.

3405. You slept in the same room at night?—No, I lived at home in Moor Lane.

3406. Did Tinker talk to you about election matters?—He did not. He never spoke to me about election matters.

3407. He never spoke to you at all about the election?—No. He was a very reserved young man, and never spoke about anything almost.

3408. He was a sort of man to trust a secret to?—I should not trust secrets to him myself.

3409. He was a reserved young man you say?—Yes.

3410. Was Tinker employed in the election so far as you know?—I believe Mr. Welch mentioned that he was a captain for the Slyne district.

3411. (Mr. Newton.) What was the last thing you said to Tinker before he left the shop?—I cannot tell.

3412. Yes you can. Let us have no more fencing. Tell me directly what was the last conversation he had with you?—I cannot tell. It might have been about business. He might say, "Get So-and-so's parcels of stuff ready," or he might have said a dozen things.

3413. Did he order you to go to the warehouse?—He did not.

3414. That you are prepared to swear?—Yes.

3415. He did not order you to go to the warehouse so as to leave the shop empty?—No; he did not.

3416. Did not Tinker know that you were going to the warehouse?—He did not know that I was going to the warehouse.

3417. How was that?—As I have said before, there were some orders in the waste-book, and I found out that I must get them ready, and I went into the warehouse for something connected with these orders. There is no doubt about that.

3418. Did not Tinker know that you had to get those orders ready?—I daresay he would know it.

3419. Do you know that he did know it?—No, I do not.

3420. Do you also know that he knew you were going to the warehouse?—I do not know that he knew I was going to the warehouse.

3421. Were you making up those orders that were in the waste-book before Tinker had left?—I was.

3422. You were occupied in that way?—I was occupied in that way.

3423. Tinker would therefore know that you had to go to the warehouse to complete your orders?—I do not know, I am sure. It just depends on whether he knew what orders there were.

3424. Tinker did not say to you, "Now go out to the warehouse and leave the shop empty?"—He did not.

3425. Where did he go?—To our other shop.

3426. What did he go for?—I cannot tell.

3427. Yes you can?—No, I cannot.

3428. If you remember that he went to the other shop, how comes it that you do not remember what he went for?—He said to me that he was going to the other shop.

3429. To go to the other shop would he have to go past Mr. Wearing's windows?—He would.

3430. How long was he away altogether?—I cannot tell exactly; perhaps a quarter of an hour.

3431. You had reason to expect, had you not, that a parcel was coming?—No, I had not.

3432. Take care?—I had no idea of it whatever.

3433. We shall have Tinker here?—I do not care; I had not the least idea.

3434. You expected a parcel to come?—No, I did not.

3435. You expected it to come, and you knew what was inside the parcel?—I did not expect a parcel to come.

3436. I see there is a man of the name of Hutchinson who lives in Moor Lane, a voter. Is that your father?—That is my father.

3437. Edward Proctor Hutchinson?—Yes.

3438. Had he anything to say as to the election?—He is with Mr. Welch.

3439. What is he there?—He is down at our other shop on the Damside Street; he is constantly there.

3440. Employed in the shop?—He is employed in the shop.

3441. Did he take any active part in the election?—I believe he did.

3442. Did you tell him of the parcel being left at your master's house?—I did, some few weeks after the election, and at the same time I told him that I did not know who had left it.

3443. Now I will put this question; perhaps you do not know who left it, but who do you think left it?—I have not the least idea.

3444. Upon your solemn oath?—I do not know who left it.

3445. You have never thought about it?—I have thought about it, and I have often wondered who did leave it.

Mr. William Welch sworn and examined.

Mr. W. Welch.

3446. (Mr. Hill.) Do you reside in West Street, in this borough?—No.

3447. Where do you reside?—In Cheapside, No. 7.

3448. You are the brother of Mr. Henry Welch?—I am.

3449. And you are a grocer?—Yes.

3450. You are a Liberal, are you not?—Yes.

3451. And you have been actively engaged on behalf of the Liberal party?—Yes.

3452. At how many elections have you been actively engaged for the Liberal party?—At the last two particularly, and at one before that a little; but very little.

3453. You mean the last two contested elections?—Yes.

3454. At the first election that you were engaged in, when, as you say, you were only a little engaged, as what did you begin?—I had no office at all.

3455. Not looking after voters?—Well, I believe I did go with one man, John Armistead to voters.

3456. What was your engagement at the contest between Mr, Fenwick and Saunders?—I had the same engagement as I had at the last election.

3457. What was that?—Mr. Simpson and I were selected to go down to Cockerham and Forton, being natives of these neighbourhoods, and Hollin's Lane, which I believe is in Forton, about two miles from where I was born.

3458. By whom were you engaged to go to Cockerham and Forton?—There was a list made out at committee meetings of parties they thought most suitable, and in that list my name was put down without my knowledge along with Henry Simpson.

3459. When was that list made out?—I do not know. We should have a meeting, and then there was a meeting fixed for the appointment of captains. That would be just at the commencement of the canvass, about three weeks before the election.

3460. At the time this appointment was made, was anything said about what money would be required for the election?—Not that I am aware of.

FOURTH DAY.

Mr. W. Welch.

30 Aug. 1866.

3461. It was not discussed among the captains at that time ?—No, not at all.

3462. It was not discussed what would be the price of votes ?—No.

3463. At that time was there any plan laid down for you to follow in the way of opening public-houses? —We had no public-houses opened in the districts into which I went.

3464. In the way of engaging public-houses ?—No, there was only one house that we stopped at in Cockerham, but we merely stopped there one night—the night before the day of nomination.

3465. Then you engaged no public-houses in that district ?—Not at all.

3466. When first did you begin to work on the canvass ?—We should first make a preliminary tour round to see the voters, about three weeks before the election.

3467. About how many voters were there in your district ?—Not a great many, I could scarcely tell you how many, but you have the list, I think.

3468. Your district did not exactly correspond with the street list district ?—No, that is a very wide area.

3469. You do not know how many voters there were in your district ?—I should say that in Hollin's Lane and that neighbourhood there are about seven or eight.

3470. Would those be all the voters that you had to look after ?—No, we had Cockerham, as well.

3471. But in Hollin's Lane ?—That would be all, they are principally foreigners ; there are only four or five voters that really want looking after ; there are some gentlemen in the neighbourhood who do not want looking after ; they are old Conservatives.

3472. In Cockerham how many voters are there ? —I should say about the same number ; Mr. Simpson, my colleague, is a native of Cockerham, and I fancy he will be better able to describe the voters there than I am.

3473. Do you wish to confine your evidence to Hollin's Lane and the district there ?—No, I give my evidence as regards Cockerham as well, for I shall have certain explanations to give that will enlighten you a little.

3474. What was the first money that you received ? —The first money I received would be for preliminary expenses ; we went with a conveyance. Mr. Clark told you yesterday or the day before that we went in a conveyance.

3475. Where did you get the money ?—I should get it from my brother.

3476. Henry Welch ?—Yes.

3477. Can you say about what sum ?—I should say about 2*l.*, 30*s.* or 2*l.*, I cannot say exactly.

3478. What was the next money that you received ? —I do not recollect receiving anything else till we went round.

3479. I want to get first of all the moneys you received, and afterwards we will come to the way in which you expended them ?—I do not recollect receiving anything except on the nomination day ; perhaps I am in error there. Mr. Simpson received the expenses when we went out ; I did not receive anything till the day of the election.

3480. Then what you said as to preliminary expenses comes out ?—Yes.

3481. Just give me the money that you absolutely received yourself ?—I did not receive anything till the day of the election, unless it was a mere trifle.

3482. The day of nomination ?—No, I did not get anything on the nomination day. Mr. Simpson was considered captain.

3483. What money did you receive on the election day ?—I received money for voters.

3484. From Henry Welch ?—Yes.

3485. How much ?—I believe I received about 50*l.*

3486. Is that the exact sum ?—That is the exact sum I received for voters ; there might be some few pounds for other expenses besides.

3487. How much would you say ?—I might receive perhaps a couple of sovereigns ; I would not be certain how much.

3488. What shall we call it, for expenses ?—Yes, voters that we brought up. We were continually meeting them and other parties as well.

3489. Did you receive besides that 2*l.* and the 50*l.* any other sums on account of the election ?—I believe I did pay a man in Lancaster 10*l.* after that ; I thought when I read the evidence that my brother had given to you that he was very correct ; but I afterwards thought of one butcher that I paid 10*l.* to which I got from my brother.

3490. That was the whole money you received ?— Yes, I believe so.

3491. 62*l.* ?—Yes.

3492. Now we will go, if you please, to the way in which you laid out that money ?—Mr. Simpson and I started off the night before the election with a conveyance.

3493. Before we come to that, I will ask you whether you paid anything yourself for preliminary expenses ?—No.

3494. You say that Mr. Simpson and you started off the night before the election ?—Yes, Mr. Simpson and I started off ; it being in the country we had, of course, to stop all night ; the first place we called at would be the "Bay Horse," which was engaged by the opposite party ; we generally used to call there ; they are friends of mine as well ; I am friendly with many of the opposite party. We went in and had a glass, and Mr. Simpson reconnoitred behind the house and he spied two faces out of a window, and they were two Whitesides in Hollin's Lane, the only two of that name I believe that had votes.

3495. W. Whiteside, of Forton, is that one of them ? —Yes.

3496. And which is the other ?—They are two brothers ; one is a tailor, I think, and the other a husbandman.

3497. They are both put down here as husbandmen; there is one of Forton, tailor?—That is the one. These two men had been locked up in that room, I am sure, from the Monday morning, by Mr. Rodwell, or Mr. Harris Thompson, or Robert Lawson, a surveyor or agent, who acted on the opposite side.

3498. These men were looking out of a window you say ?—Yes; we had voting cards which we wished to give to our parties; we had voted them the time before, but they were locked up and imprisoned there for two or three days from the Monday morning till the day of the election.

3499. They had been imprisoned since Monday ?— Yes; I know it was Monday.

3500. They were locked up in that room all the time ?—Yes.

3501. Were they locked up in a room in the "Bay Horse ?"—Yes.

3502. And you saw them looking out of a window inside ?—Mr. Simpson did.

3503. You and Mr. Simpson were together ?—Yes, we were.

3504. Mr. Simpson called your attention to them ? —He did ; he said he had seen them ; the landlord locked his bar door, and would not even serve us.

3505. When you saw them what did you do; did you go to them ?—We could not get to them ; that was what we wanted to do.

3506. You did not succeed in getting to them ?— No, never.

3507. Did they poll ?—They polled for Mr. Lawrence, a plumper.

3508. Were they crying for help ?—No; I daresay that they were very comfortable.

3509. They have brought no action for false imprisonment since ?—No ; I daresay they kept them pretty quiet ; they gave them plenty of honey, as was described last night by Mr. Blades. They are men of that sort that they would be happy if they had plenty.

3510. What did you do ?—We went on then to Hollin's Lane, and called on John Towers, a labourer :

he has a brother and a father at Dolphinholme, who are voters too.

3511. Did you see them?—Towers was not at home, and we let the driver go in the conveyance. They told me he was working in a hay field.

3512. Did you see him?—Yes; the man fetched him from the hay field, and they said he was paying a shilling a day more to this man just to sweeten him for his vote.

3513. Who was?—Mr. Rodwell, a very active man of the Conservative party.

3514. When you saw Towers, what did you say to him?—Our conveyance went and fetched him, and when he came we asked him to vote for us.

3515. What did Towers say?—Towers said he had voted for us before, and would do so again on certain conditions, you know.

3516. Now give us the conditions.—The conditions were 10*l.*

3517. He said that he would vote for 10*l.*?—Yes.

3518. Did you promise him the 10*l.*?—I believe I promised it to him. We had no chance of getting another in that lane, and I thought we might as well have one.

3519. Did you poll him the next day?—Yes; he came up and polled without fetching, and I paid him the 10*l.* in the "Bear and Staff" the next day, and I felt pleased that he did so without looking after at all. Then there were two others—Abraham Pedder and Richard Smith, two men that would contaminate a whole neighbourhood.

3520. By that description of them I suppose they did not vote for you?—No; they never did.

3521. What have you to say about them beyond the general allegation you have made?—I made them offers, but it was not of any use at all.

3522. Did they rise in price or not?—No; I was perfectly disgusted with them, and would not have anything to do with them. At the election before we went and tried to get their votes. The next day I met Smith at the "Queen's Hotel," in a private room, and offered him 5*l.* to vote for Fenwick. That was at the election between Fenwick and Saunders, and he voted for Saunders on that occasion.

3523. You tried to get them this time also?—Yes.

3524. But they remained staunch to their former colours?—Yes, they did.

3525. Did you offer them anything?—No.

3526. Did they say what their price was to be?—I daresay they did, but I knew they were such outrageous chaps that I could have nothing to do with them.

3527. Outrageous as regards their demands for money?—Yes.

3528. Now go a little further and tell us who you came across.—The next would be Henry Cottam, of Forton, Moor Head.

3529. I only want the names of persons to whom you gave something. First we come to Cottam.—He voted for us.

3530. What is his Christian name?—Henry.

3531. What did you give to Cottam?—I gave him 10*l.*

3532. When?—At the "Queen's Hotel," on the morning of the election, coming downstairs.

3533. Then we come to Cockerham.—There are some Armers at Cockerham. I believe there are five of them.

3534. Thomas Armer voted for Lawrence?—Yes.

3535. And John and William Armer both voted for Fenwick?—Yes.

3536. Did you give them anything?—Yes.

3537. What did you give to John Armer?—I did not give anything to themselves, but I gave the old gentleman's wife 10*l.* each for the three; there are five of them; the other two voted for Mr. Fenwick.

3538. To each of them you gave 10*l.*?—Yes; at least, I gave it to the old lady for them. Mr. Simpson ought to have paid them, but they were so very busy at the "Queen's Hotel" that when he went up there he could not get the money. That will explain why Mr. Simpson did not have any money. He was the captain, and ought to have had it.

3539. What other monies did you give?—That is all.

3540. Those are the whole of the voters you paid?—Yes; that 10*l.* for the butcher my brother did not calculate when making his statement yesterday.

3541. What other monies did you pay?—I do not know that I paid anything else.

3542. Now let us have the butcher.—I fancy his name is Hodgson—Thomas, or John. There is another Hodgson, a butcher—Septimus, I think, is his name; but he voted on the other side.

3543. When did you pay him?—On the day of the election. I believe he waited in our warehouse while I fetched the money. I live in Cheapside, on the premises.

3544. You gave him 10*l.*?—Yes.

3545. In this 60*l.* did you spend any money for refreshments?—No.

3546. You spent no more money that you know of in that election?—No.

3547. And received no more?—No.

3548. Do you know anything about this parcel we have been talking about this morning?—No more than the explanation you have had.

3549. We want to know who left it at the shop?—I do not know. Very likely the boy knew it was money, but who left it I do not suppose he knew; I was away from home at the time, and I daresay when I got home they told me that there had been a suspicious looking parcel left; but I had no idea of where it came from.

3550. Do you say that you had no idea of where it came from?—No, I had not the least idea; but I could suppose where it came from.

3551. Where do you suppose it came from?—I suppose it was found by the members.

3552. From whose hands did it come?—I had not the least idea as far as that goes; how it got there I have not the least idea; really I would not say so if I knew.

3553. We know all about the other parcels, so that would not be very material for any person to keep it back?—No, not at all; and I would say if I knew.

3554. You do not know?—No.

3555. (Mr. Barstow.) When did you first hear of its being left?—I daresay I might hear of it that night, before I got home.

3556. Did you expect any parcel to come?—No.

3557. You did not know that any was to come?—No. You may shake your head, but it is quite right; if you wish to put any more questions to me I shall be ready to answer them; I should be sorry to leave the box leaving you under the impression that I was withholding anything. The boy gave his answers as correctly as I could have expected.

HENRY SIMPSON sworn and examined.

H. Simpson.

3558. (Mr. Barstow.) What are you?—A draper.

3559. How long have you lived in Lancaster?—About 28 years.

3560. A pretty keen electioneerer?—A little.

3561. Nothing compared to those who have given their evidence?—No; not so much. I have been electioneering perhaps since 1847 a little.

3562. At the last election you were captain of the Cockerham district?—Yes, along with Mr. Welch.

3563. You heard Mr. Welch's evidence?—Yes, I have.

3564. You did not pay anybody with your own hands in that district?—No.

3565. You had some money for preliminary expenses?—Yes; between 2*l.* and 3*l.*

3566. For treating voters, I suppose?—Not so much of that. Of course there were refreshments. The whole of the money that I had in my hands for the election was between 2*l.* and 3*l.*

FOURTH DAY.

H. Simpson.

30 Aug. 1866.

3567. What sum shall I put down?—Between 2*l.* and 3*l.* It was not more than 3*l.*

3568. As you were captain, how came you not to have the money to pay these men?—I do not know any reason at all for that. I went round canvassing with them, and I never thought about the money at all. I made up my mind not to have anything to do with money.

3569. Were you engaged at the "Queen's Hotel" on the day of the election?—No; I was in the country. I went the night before the election down into the country, and, as you will see by Mr. Welch's statements, the "Bay Horse" was the first place we called at. There were one or two we missed getting—the Armers; and the reason why we did not get them was that they wanted 15*l.*, and the parties electioneering on the other side were Jacob Nelson, William Lambert, and John Simpson; and there is a man named Threlfall on the Cockerham List who had to do with them.

3570. (Mr. Hill.) Which of the Threlfalls was it?—There is only one Threlfall in Cockerham.

3571. What is his Christian name?—I do not know.

3572. (Mr. Barstow.) They had to do with the voters on the Conservative side?—Yes; and there was a person unknown there, but I believe his name was Parker, from Liverpool: he had to do with them during the night.

3573. (Mr. Hill.) A Conservative Jenkins?—Yes, no doubt.

3574. Which of the Armers was it—the man that voted for Lawrence?—They were Anthony and Thomas Armers, and they were offered 15*l.* Of course we left them. It was offered by Jacob Nelson.

3575. (Mr. Barstow.) You did not hear Jacob Nelson offer it to them?—No; but they told me.

3576. The Armers told you?—Yes; they told me personally.

3577. (Mr. Hill.) When did they tell you so?—The night before the election. I saw them all the night before.

3578. Did they ask you to give them 15*l.*?—Yes.

3579. Were they of liberal tendency naturally, do you know?—I cannot say. They generally went for the money; no doubt for what they could get. I think they voted both ways.

3580. We shall hear from them when they come.—Yes, they voted both ways.

J. Bleasdale.

JOHN BLEASDALE sworn and examined.

3581. (Mr. Newton.) Where do you live?—In Penny Street, Lancaster.

3582. How long have you lived there?—I have lived there all my life.

3583. Have you been much mixed up with elections?—Partly; these last three elections.

3584. On the Liberal side?—Yes.

3585. At this last election in 1865, I believe you were what is called a captain?—Yes.

3586. Being a captain, did you obtain money from any one?—Yes.

3587. From whom?—From Henry Welch.

3588. You were captain of the Penny Street district?—Mr. John Marsden and I were together. It was a large district, and we divided it. He took one half and I took the other.

3589. Did he take the money, or did you?—We both had.

3590. What had you?—I think I had 125*l.*, and I think he would have the same, or somewhere about the same.

3591. We will talk about you first, and we will have Marsden afterwards. How was it paid to you?—I think I got 50*l.* on the morning of the election.

3592. On the polling day?—Yes; and then I got 50*l.* on the same day soon after; that is 100*l.*; and then we got another 50*l.* between us; 25*l.* each, I think it was.

3593. On the same day?—Yes.

3594. Was 125*l.* all you got?—Yes, during that day.

3595. You were paid something for expenses?—Yes, there was part for expenses.

3596. How much?—I had got part before the election, I do not know how much, perhaps about 15*l.*; but I do not know exactly.

3597. Was that for preliminary expenses?—Yes.

3598. From Mr. Welch?—Yes.

3599. How was it paid—at one time, or at several times?—I think it would be paid in several times.

3600. Were you not to have so much a week?—No; there was no agreement about it. When we had a meeting of a night anywhere, I went to Mr. Welch, and he gave me the money.

3601. He gave it you, as you wanted it?—Yes.

3602. And the whole of the amount you got before the election was 15*l.*?—Somewhere about that. It might be 20*l.*

3603. What did you do with that 15*l.*?—Most of it was spent at public-houses at night, and part of it was given to voters.

3604. You spent it in drink?—Yes.

3605. (Mr. Hill.) We have only got two sums of 125*l.* and 15*l.* Did you get any other sum?—I got some after the election to pay some public-house bills. I daresay that was a month after the election.

3606. (Mr. Newton.) How much did you get?—There were four bills I paid. I think one was about 50*l.*, and I think the other was 40*l.*

3607. What for?—For refreshments, breakfasts, and drink supplied on the nomination and election days.

3608. The other bill was 40*l.*?—Yes; 40*l.* odd. 42*l.* I think it was.

3609 Was that also for refreshments?—Yes.

3610. How soon after the election?—I think it would be about a month after the election, as near as I could say.

3611. Did you receive anything more?—There were two small bills for about 2*l.* each, for public-houses that I paid. The larger bill was for the "Prince William Henry."

3612. We will come to that presently. You received no more money?—No.

3613. Be good enough to tell us what you did with the first 50*l.* you received on the morning of the election.—It was all paid to voters that I got on the day of the polling.

3614. Tell me who were the voters that you paid.—Yes, as far as I can, I will. The first was Robert Wilson, in Penny Street, and his son.

3615. What did you give to Robert Wilson?—10*l.*

3616. What did you give to his son?—11*l.*, and 1*l.* was for his expenses.

3617. What was his son's name?—I am sure I forget what it is. I think he was living at Carlisle at the time, and I gave him 1*l.* for his expenses.

3618. "Robert Wilson, Penny Street, tailor?"—Yes.

3619 What is the son?—I fancy he works in a mill, but I am not certain.

3620. (Mr Barstow.) Is the son "John Wilson, Penny Street, piecer?"—Yes, that is him.

3621. What did you give to him?—11*l.*

3622. On the morning of the election?—Yes.

3623. Who ordered you to give this money?—I do not know that any anyone did in particular. I knew what it was for.

3624. Did you get any instructions to pay anyone?—Yes.

3625. From whom?—From Mr. Welch and Mr. Blades. They were there, and it was generally understood what we had to do with it.

3626. Tell me another voter you paid.—Another man was Calvert.

3627. What did you pay him?—I think I paid him 12*l.*

3628. "Thomas Calvert, joiner, Plum Street?"—No; he is a porter on the railway.

3629. "R. Calvert, railway signalman?"—Yes; that is the man.

3630. Tell me another.—Another was Stirzaker, a painter.

3631. What is his Christian name?—I think it is Henry.

3632. "Henry Stirzaker, Penny Street, painter?"—Yes.

3633. What did you pay him?—10*l.* I think it would be.

3634. Whom else did you pay?—There was a man in Henry Street; Townley, I think, they call him.

3635. "John Townley, Henry Street, labourer?"—Yes.

3636. What did you pay him?—10*l.*

3637. What did you pay anybody else?—I forget, there were so many of them. There was William Jackson, Penny Street, twine spinner; he would have 10*l.*; and there were one or two men out of other districts I paid, but I do not remember the names. There was one John Thompson, of China Lane.

3638. There is no Thompson in China Lane.—Yes, there is; perhaps he is amongst the householders.

3639. Yes, you are right. How much did you give him?—I gave him 15*l.*

3640. What made you give him 15*l.* and the others 10*l.*?—It was later on in the day, and he had 15*l.* offered by the other side, and I did not want to lose him.

3641. Did the fact of his being a householder make any difference?—No; I do not think it did. One was as good as the other.

3642. What time of day was this?—I daresay it would happen about 1 o'clock, perhaps. He was, I think, the last man I paid. It might be before 1; I could not tell exactly.

3643. Did you pay anybody else?—Yes; there was another one or two, but I cannot call the names to mind. There was John Harrison, a butcher.

3644. Where does he live?—He lived in Church Street, I think.

3645. That is not in Penny Street district.—No; I have already said that I paid several out of the district.

3646. (Mr. Hill.) He is a householder?—No; it is not that one.

3647. (Mr. Newton.) "John Swainson Harrison, Church Street, labourer?"—Yes, that is him.

3648. What did you pay him?—I think 6*l.* I gave him.

3649. Is there anybody else that you can recollect?—I cannot call to mind any now. I think there would be one or two more. I did not make any memorandum of them, and I cannot call them to mind now.

3650. See if you can recollect any more.—I cannot call to mind any more just now. There were perhaps one or two out of other districts, but I could not call them to mind.

3651. You have paid two Wilsons, Robert Calvert, Stirkazer, Townley, Jackson, Thompson, and Harrison; that is eight.—I think, during that day, I would give Mr. Robert Hind something. He wanted 5*l.* for a man. I do not know who it was for, but I think I gave it him.

3652. (Mr. Hill.) Was that for a voter?—Yes; for a vote.

3653. (Mr. Newton.) Did you know who the voter was?—No.

3654. Can you recollect anybody else?—There is John Hodgson. I do not know whether Jackson Gardner got something for him, or not; I am not quite sure about that. And then there is William Turner, a tobacconist.

3655. Wait a moment. Who was the man who came and asked for Hodgson?—I do not know whether it was at this election or the other; it was either this election or the election before that that I paid something for him.

3656. You mentioned some name just now to whom you gave some money for Hodgson.—It was Jackson Gardner, but I do not know whether it was this election or not; but I think it would be this election.

3657. If it was this election, what did you give him, do you think?—I am sure I could not tell. I not think it was so much.

3658. What sum shall I put down?—I do not think it was above 2*l.* or 3*l.*

3659. Shall I put down 2*l.*?—Yes.

3660. Then there was some other that you paid?—Yes; there was William Turner, tobacconist. I think he got 8*l.*

3661. Where does he live?—In Penny Street.

3662. Is he a householder?—I think he will be. That is all I can remember.

3663. Have you looked through the list?—Yes.

3664. You cannot call to mind any more?—No; I cannot.

3665. Where were you when you paid all this money?—I was at the "Prince William Henry," in Penny Street.

3666. In the committee room?—Yes; it was a room I had to myself.

3667. Did you hire a room?—No; I did not hire the room.

3668. Who did?—I fancy it would be Knowles Allinson, but I am not certain.

3669. What is the name of the landlord?—John Huntington.

3670. How did these men know that you were there? Why did they come to you?—They would know I was there; and that there were several men that were assisting us on that district. It was a large district, and some of them would most likely bring them to where I was.

3671. "Runners," and that sort of thing?—Yes.

3672. They would say, "Go to Mr. Bleasdale?"—Yes.

3673. Did they bargain with you?—Yes; I dare say they would; and some of them would bargain with the men that brought them.

3674. Did you pay them then and there, before they voted?—No; I did not pay one man till after he had voted.

3675. How did you know they voted right?—We got a list sent up to every committee room after every half-hour—the runners would bring it up—to see who everyone in that district voted for. We checked it.

3676. Were there any you promised to give money to who voted wrongly?—There were several that did. They said they could get more money on the other side, and I said I would not give any more. They had always voted our way before.

3677. Give me the names of some.—I promised I would give them money if they voted on our side, but I did not give them any. There was John Hind, shoemaker, Penny Street. He was one, and his father.

3678. What is his father's Christian name?—I cannot remember. I saw him several times. He lives just opposite to where I do.

3679. Had you promised him?—I promised that I would give 20*l.* for his father and him, but he said he could get much more on the other side, and he had been getting 30*s.* a week as a committee-man; but he had always been at work every day, so that I do not know that he had been doing much for that.

3680. Can you give me another one?—There was William Norman, labourer. I had seen him several times, and he voted against us.

3681. When did these men come to you when you made these promises?—I would see them almost every day.

3682. When was the last time you promised them?—I do not know that I mentioned any particular sum to them. It was the morning of the election.

3683. When was the last time you saw Norman?—Perhaps the day before the election.

FOURTH DAY.

J. Bleasdale.

30 Aug. 1866

3684. And you then told him that you would give him 10*l.* if he voted ?—No; I did not tell him that. I told him I would give him the same as anyone else would get.

3685. I want to know what sort of terms you were on with the people. Did you tell him that they would have the same as the other side ?—Yes; that he would have the same as we gave anybody else.

3686. That arrangement was not only with Hind, but with Stirzaker, Townley, Jackson, and all these other people ?—Yes. Then there is John Swainson, butcher; I had partly arranged with him, but he was in hand with several other butchers. They were all in hand together.

3687. The butchers went wrong this time ?—Yes; I think three or four voted for us last time, but we could not manage them this time. I think it was Mr. Backhouse; but he will tell you. Then there is Richard Swainson, Penny Street. I do not know whether I told you that I paid him.

3688. What did you pay him, 10*l.* ?—Most likely it would be 10*l.*

3689. What is he ?—He is a ship carpenter.

3690. When did you pay him ?—It would be after he voted.

3691. That afternoon ?—I do not know whether it would be the forenoon or the afternoon. I believe it would be the forenoon. I believe he voted early.

3692. Had you got any bills to pay for refreshment ?—I paid as I went on till the election day.

3693. To the landlord of the public-house ?—There were several public-houses. The Conservatives had three or four at the top end of the town, and we had three or four; and we were sometimes some nights at one, and other nights at another.

3694. I should like to know what you paid for refreshment ?—I should pay nearly all the 15*l.* or 20*l.* before the election, and after the election I paid bills that came in.

3695. Can you tell me what bills they were ?—Yes, I have already told you. John Huntington's bill was 50*l.* at the "Prince William Henry."

3696. That was for refreshment ?—Yes.

3697. He is the landlord of this public-house ?—Yes.

3698. Who else did you pay for refreshments ?—William Jackson, at the "Malt Shovel."

3699. How much did you pay him ?—40*l.* or 42*l.*

3700. Then you told me something about two small bills ?—Yes; one was at the "Fox and Goose," in Queen Street, for 2*l.*

3701. Who is the landlord of that house ?—Foxcroft was at the time.

3702. What was the other ?—At the "Mason's Arms," in Mary Street.

3703. Do you know the name of the landlord ?—Benjamin Hartley it was at that time. I do not know whether it was 2*l.* or 3*l.* I am sure it was either 2*l.* odd or 3*l.* odd.

3704. Did you pay anybody else ?—No.

3705. Those are the only payments you made for refreshments ?—Yes.

3706. 50*l.*, 42*l.*, and two 2*l.* ?—Yes.

3707. And 15*l.* before the election ?—Yes.

3708. Did you account to anybody afterwards for the payment of these monies ?—I got receipts for them from the landlords and sent them down to Mr. Welch. I either sent them to him or gave them to him when he called at our shop.

3709. Mr. Welch authorized you as well as Blades to buy these votes ?—I do not know that there was anything particular mentioned about it. It was understood. Blades was there at the time I got the money, and their instructions were to make it go as far as I could. They made themselves more sure of winning than I was. They were not out to see what was going on on the other side the same as we did.

3710. If you had wanted more money should you have gone to them for it ?—Yes, but I did not; I had some left.

3711. How much had you left ?—About 11*l.*, either 7*l.* or 11*l.*, I cannot tell which, but I think it was 11*l.*

3712. When did you return that ?—I think it would be the day after the election.

3713. To whom ?—To Mr. Welch.

3714. Is that the time when you went through the accounts ?—No, I do not know that ever I did go through the accounts.

3715. You merely got the receipts ?—It was a month after the election that I paid these public-house bills for which I got the receipts.

3716. I need not ask you if you returned this 7*l.* or 11*l.* You kept nothing for yourself ?—No.

3717. Nor did you get any remuneration ?—Yes, Mr. Welch left me 10*l.* at our shop, perhaps a week after the election.

3718. Mr. Welch brought it to your shop ?—Yes.

3719. As a sort of fee ?—He says, "Here is this for you for your services." I did not expect anything, but he brought me that. There are some more who had promised, but who did not keep their promise. There was Robert Woodhouse, who keeps a beershop in Penny Street. I partly engaged his house. Then there is his brother-in-law and father-in-law, John Towers and Christopher Towers, and a painter that often goes there.

3720. What is his name ?—Edward Bond. I think they had all promised both Mr. Fenwick and Mr. Schneider to vote for them.

3721. And they went the other way ?—Yes.

3722. How had they voted on previous elections ?—I think they have always voted on the Liberal side. I had seen them the day before, and they said to me they were getting what drink they could from the other side, but that they would be all right on the day, and that I need not bother them; but on the morning, going down Penny Street at about 4 o'clock, I saw Woodhouse coming out of a house with two bottles of champagne, one in each pocket. He was coming out of Booth's, the spirit merchant. He was the captain of the district. I thought that was more than we could afford, and I thought it looked a bad job with them then.

3723. What did he do with these bottles of champagne ?—He took them into his own house in Penny Street. He keeps a beershop, and there were other voters in the house. Mr. Booth was in the house at the time, for I had seen him go in. Then there was a beershop just opposite our house kept by a man of the name of Ellershaw. They had had a man locked up there all the night before the election.

3724. What is the name of the house ?—"The Traveller's Rest," I think, it is called; and I should think they had not less than 50 men from the shipbuilding company minding the house all night.

3725. How did you know somebody was locked up there ?—They had him upstairs. The house was shut up part during the night, and he had been kept there all day. He was in bed.

3726. What had he been kept there for ?—I suppose they were keeping him safe for the polling time.

3727. Do you know his name ?—Yes; Metcalfe. There were two of them, but one got out.

3728. What was the other man's name ?—Hodgson.

3729. Metcalfe, you say, was in bed ?—Yes, so I was told.

3730. Was the house-door locked ?—Yes; sometime it was. We tried to get in two or three times to get him out.

3731. What for ?—Because we thought we had as much right to him as them.

3732. If you had got him you might have locked him up ?—I do not think he would have wanted it. He would have voted as he did last time.

3733. Perhaps he would have voted for you this time ?—He was locked up and was drunk, I daresay.

3734. Do you say that he was drunk, and that they made him vote the wrong way ?—I do not know. I know that he voted for the other side.

3735. How many were there at your house, 50 ?—A good many.

3736. About the same number that there were at

Ellershaw's ?—I do not know; but we did not keep them locked up in the same way.

3737. Can you tell us anything more ?—No, I do not know that I can.

3738. (Mr. Hill.) Was this Metcalfe a man of known Liberal views ?—He voted for the Liberals the time before. That is all I know.

3739. Did you see him poll ?—No.

JOHN ALBRIGHT affirmed and examined.

3740. (Mr. Hill.) You are a Quaker ?—Yes.

3741. And a Liberal ?—Yes.

3742. What are you by trade ?—A tobacconist.

3743. An active man in elections ?—Yes; I have enjoyed it sometimes.

3744. How do you take your enjoyment at elections; in what form ?—A sort of excitement.

3745. Were you one of the captains ?—I have been in all sorts of shops at different times. I was a captain, I suppose, this last time.

3746. Over what district ?—Overton.

3747. In company with anyone else ?—John Bagot, of Lancaster, had been captain previously. I only went down the night before the election. The fact is that is the only time I was there.

3748. You were appointed to the Overton district in company with John Bagot ?—Yes.

3749. What monies did you receive ?—I think it was about 80*l.*

3750. Shall we say it was 80*l.* ?—Yes.

3751. From Mr. Welch ?—Yes, from him and Mr. Wearing, at the committee room.

3752. At the committee room at the "Queen's ?"—Yes.

3753. When ?—On the nomination night, the day before the election.

3754. Was that all you received for the purposes of this election ?—Yes.

3755. Did you receive nothing for preliminary expenses ?—No, nothing whatever. That was the amount I received altogether.

3756. Did you pay any bills afterwards ?—No.

3757. You received nothing for that ?—No, nothing whatever.

3758. How did you lay out that 80*l.* ?—I gave a man named Thomas Woodhouse, of Heaton, 12*l.*

3759. What is he ?—A fisherman.

3760. When did you give it to him ?—I gave it him the next morning as we came back at Snatcham's.

3761. Is that a public-house ?—Yes, a public-house on the roadside as you go to Overton.

3762. Did you give it to him after you had polled him ?—No, after we came back from Overton; fetching the voters up, we called at Snatcham's to refresh them a little.

3763. You called at this public-house, and took him along with you ?—Yes.

3764. Did you give it to him before the polling ?—Yes, I gave it to him before he polled to put confidence in him.

3765. Having raised his confidence with the 12*l.* you polled him successfully ?—He went himself. I did not follow him afterwards.

3766. To whom else did you give anything ?—To a son of his, who is called Richard Woodhouse. He was drowned a few days afterwards accidentally.

3767. How much did you give him ?—12*l.*

3768. When ?—On the same day and in the same house.

3769. At the same time ?—Yes.

3770. He polled all right ?—Yes.

3771. Who else ?—Tobias Hadwen, of Overton, 10*l.*

3772. When did you pay him ?—In Lancaster on the day of the election.

3773. After he had polled ?—No, before. Then there is a son of his, and he had the same amount. I think he is called Joseph Hadwen.

3774. Did you pay him at the same time ?—Yes.

3775. And the same sum ?—Yes. Then there is another man, called Thomas Caton, of Overton. I gave him 10*l.* in Lancaster at the same time, on the day of the election. Then William Jackson, of Middleton; I gave him 4*l.*

3776. How came he only to receive 4*l.* ?—He was a young chap, and I wanted to make up the difference of what I had given to the others. I wanted to pull in a bit.

3777. The young ones were caught more easily than the old ones ?—Yes, a good deal.

3778. With your chaff at any rate ?—Yes. Then there was Ralph Jackson, a brother of his. I gave him 4*l.* in Lancaster the morning of the election day.

3779. After he had polled ?—No, before; they would not go without. I should have lost all the lot if I had not paid them. I was hard set to keep them together by showing them money. Then Thomas Nelson, of Overton, 4*l.*

3780. Was he a young man, too ?—Yes, he was; but he was older than the others. He had got something on the other side, and was going to give me a vote, and so make what he was going to get a bigger sum.

3781. He had been bought by the other side ?—Yes; he had been settled with before. I gave him 4*l.* for one vote, and I tried his brother, but he would not have anything to say to me, and seemed quite shocked.

3782. Who is the brother ?—He has an older brother, a shoemaker.

3783. Did you know that he was only going to give you one vote when you gave him this 4*l.* ?—Yes.

3784. Did he tell you how much he had from the other side ?—No; he did not do as I wanted him after.

3785. What was that ?—I told him to vote for Mr. Schneider. I was not asking for Fenwick at that time, but he voted for Fenwick. A deal of them said it was such a queer name that they could not think of it.

3786. So he voted for Fenwick, a name he knew better ?—Yes.

3787. There was no particular reason for preferring Fenwick to Schneider ?—No; but a deal of them, when you told them they had done wrong, shook their heads and said, "We could not think of his name; we never heard the name before."

3788. Did these other two Jacksons, who got 4*l.* each, vote right ?—Yes, for Fenwick and Schneider.

3789. You were looking out for both Fenwick and Schneider ?—Yes.

3790. Equally ?—Yes. When I got to Overton I found the voters so difficult to manage that I tried to get as many as I could for Schneider, thinking Fenwick did not want so much help.

3791. You thought half a loaf was better than no bread ?—Yes.

3792. Who is the next to whom you gave money ?—Thomas Woodman, a stonemason.

3793. What did he get ?—10*l.*

3794. Did he vote for Fenwick and Schneider ?—No, he divided, he gave one to Mr. Lawrence and the other to Mr. Fenwick; he could not think of the name of Schneider either, and I told him it about two minutes before he went to vote, but he forgot it.

3795. Had he had a refresher on the other side ?—I do not know. I talked with him some time, and he said—"I have one vote to dispose of." I said "Do you feel at liberty ?" and he said, "Yes; but I must have the same amount as the other side have given me, or else I will not stir."

3796. What had he had on the other side ?—I asked him what the sum was and he said 10*l.*

3797. Now, who is the next person ?—That is the last of my lot.

3798. What other moneys did you lay out for this election ?—76*l.* that comes to, and I had 80*l.* I cleared out the rest.

3799. It was spent in refreshment ?—Yes. I was

FOURTH DAY

J. Alb ight.

30 Aug. 1866.

out all night with these men at Overton, and they will not drink ale, they only drink brandy, and they also brought their friends, wives, and daughters, and you have to be very civil to them.

3800. (Mr. Barstow.) Are you a temperance man?—No; I am neither drunk nor temperance; when I am on a job of that sort I always keep particularly sober.

3801. (Mr. Hill.) Is that all that you have to tell us on your own side?—Yes.

3802. Did you witness any act of bribery on the Conservative side?—No; I saw a strange gentleman coming from Overton with a conveyance, and he had a man inside who used to vote always for us.

3803. Who was that?—Joseph Woodman who comes from Sunderland.

3804. (Mr. Barstow.) Is he a Liberal?—Yes, I think he is.

3805. (Mr. Hill.) Did you find that the voters were asking higher prices this time than they had done at previous elections?—Yes, it was quite a different thing altogether. I have gone there for years, and used to get them for 40*l.* or 50*l.*, and then it was generally more spent in feasting than in giving money.

3806. This was quite a different election to any one previous?—Yes, quite; it was more like buying cattle.

3807. Except that the cattle fixed their own price?—Yes.

3808. 40*l.* or 50*l.* used to be the price?—Yes.

3809. Has it been getting worse—was the election before worse than the preceding one?—At Mr. Gregson's election there was a good deal of money spent, but that was more in giving suppers and feeds.

3810. That was in 1847?—Yes; but there was not that asking for money that there is now.

3811. You think from that time down to the present it has been getting worse and worse?—Decidedly so.

3812. Both in the number of persons taking bribes and in the price they ask?—Yes.

3813. Have you formed any estimate as to the number of persons that in one shape or another took bribes at this last election?—Do you speak of the whole concern?

3814. Yes.—I should fancy if you were to put them in a corner, it would not take a very large corner to put them in who did not take bribes.

3815. You think a great proportion took bribes?—Yes.

3816. How many should you say out of the 1400?—I cannot say; that would be all guess work.

3817. Does your answer apply both to householders and freemen?—The freemen were decidedly the worst.

3818. They generally occupy the lower ranks?—You would be surprised if you went down to Overton, they are like a little lord, quite a different class to what the householder is.

3819. Independent, are they?—Yes, and you have to be very cautious what you say to them, and how you tackle them.

3820. How do you mean "cautious?"—They will not be approached in a common way.

3821. What is the uncommon way in which you approach them?—First of all you must give them a lot of brandy before you tell them what you want.

3822. What is the next step?—You begin to hint a bit, and then they will say "What do'st want? What's the figure?" You tell them, and then it will require several days before they will give you an answer; they want to see what t'other party says.

3823. And so they go on waiting?—Yes; first one and then the other gives a lift.

3824. Bidding up?—Yes.

3825. Until it comes to election time?—Yes.

3826. And, even then, I suppose you cannot make sure of them?—No, it is a very doubtful thing.

3827. Have you anything else to state?—I went after that man from Sunderland, followed the conveyance up, and I said to him, "You are going by our house this time; what is the reason of your deserting our party?" and he said, "I have had little attention paid me by your side this time, they have neglected me." And I said, "Indeed! can we make it up now?" and he said "No; the job was done last night; I cannot hear anything you have to say."

3828. (Mr. Newton.) Did he say what he got?—No, he did not, he went away into the house.

3829. That was in Overton?—Yes.

3830. Was it 10*l.*?—He did not name any sum. I have omitted to mention that a man named Gorst was the agent on the other side; and he is a flour dealer.

3831. In which district?—Overton.

3832. What is the name of the opposition house?—The "Ship," I think it is called.

Adjourned for a short time.

Mr. H. Welch.

Mr. Henry Welch recalled.

3833. (Mr. Barton.) We understand that you wish to make a statement?—Yes.

3834. What is it?—After reading Mr. Sanderson's evidence last night it is necessary for me to explain. It would appear from his statement that I had received from him two sums of 500*l.* after the election in addition to what I told you yesterday. That is not so really. I thought it better to come and explain. I told you yesterday that in the course of the day of the election Mr. Barton brought a bag into the room with 1,000*l.* in it. I also told you that after the election was over I had a bag with 1,000*l.* in it untouched. You did not ask me what I did with that bag in which the 1,000*l.* remained; that is what I did with it at the time, I sent to Mr. Sanderson to come to the bank. I wanted to leave a parcel with him. I went to the bank and took that bag to the bank for them to take care of, and it was the same bag that Mr. Barton had brought to me in the course of the day.

3835. (Mr. Newton.) From Barton where did you take it to?—To the bank.

3836. (Mr. Barton.) You paid it in I suppose?—No; I took it to Mr. Sanderson and told him to take care of it.

3837. You did not pay it to any account?—No; it was after booking hours. I drew that 1,000*l.* back again at the dates named to you by Mr. Sanderson in five hundreds at a time. It does not make any difference in the amount, but it would appear from Mr. Sanderson's statement that it would have done so. I also drew 55*l.* in addition to those two five hundreds I told of yesterday. I was 55*l.* short in paying those bills I told you of, and I wrote to Mr. Schneider about that, and he gave me a written order on the bank for 55*l.*

3838. An order?—Yes.

3839. A cheque?—No, it was not a cheque. He told me to call on Mr. Sanderson and get it.

3840. Have you destroyed that order?—Yes; it was merely in a letter to say that if I would call on Mr. Sanderson and tell him to give me 55*l.* he would do so.

3841. I suppose you had forgotten that?—I had forgotten to make that statement as to the 55*l.*

3842. I am sure that your statement was so full that we cannot find any fault with you for so slight an omission?—There was another omission. I could not call to mind everything at the time. I was under an impression that I had only received two five hundreds from Mr. Sanderson, and that the other 500*l.* I named to you had been left at the shop. I knew that two parcels had been left there, and I was under the impression yesterday that one of those five hundreds had been left.

3843. You were under the impression that you had only received two sums of 500*l.* from Mr. Sanderson?—Yes; I told you of three which I really got, but I thought one of them had been left, and I sent for Mr. Wearing last night, with whom I had always been in consultation during the election to rub up his memory and mine as to what took place at the time. I thought that I must have been wrong in some way, and on turning the matter over it came to my mind that I had received the sum of 300*l.* the first time I received, whereas I told you yesterday it was 700*l.*

3844. That I think you say was before you received the 710*l.* 10*s.*?—Yes.; I believe I have made out exactly the date of that 300*l.* I believe it was on the 13th of June.

3845. Can you tell us the manner in which you received it?—That is one of the parcels that was left.

3846. What do you mean when you say it was "left?"—Somebody brought it into the shop, and left it on the counter.

3847. Was any one in the shop at the time?—Our people say not, which is correct, I believe.

3848. We have to add that amount of 300*l.*?—Yes, and 55*l.*; 355*l.* is to be added to the sums I gave you yesterday.

3849. (Mr. Newton.) The first sum you received?—Yes.

3850. (Mr. Barstow.) Where did you find this sum?—On a shelf in the shop.

3851. Had you any account from any one as to who put it on the shelf?—My apprentice put it on the shelf from the counter.

3852. Hutchinson?—Yes.

3853. (Mr. Newton.) That is this other sum of 300*l.*?—Yes.

3854. (Mr. Barstow.) At what time did you take that parcel from the shelf?—As soon as it came into the shop the boy told me there was a parcel for me.

3855. You did not leave it all the day there?—No, I took it away.

3856. At what time was it left?—In the morning.

3857. And at what time did you remove it?—Some time before dinner.

3858. With regard to the parcel containing 710*l.*, did you remove that as soon as you saw it?—Yes.

3859. It was not kept there the whole day?—You mean in the shop?

3860. Yes?—I removed it when I came in.

3861. At what time was that?—I really cannot speak as to the time of the day.

3862. But could you say whether it was before dinner or after dinner?—I could not from my own knowledge now swear whether it was before dinner or after.

3863. Between dinner and tea?—My idea is that it was after dinner, but I could not swear to it.

3864. Do you dine in the middle of the day?—About 1 o'clock.

3865. About what hour was it do you think?—Well, it is more than twelve months, and I really could not swear to the time.

3866. It was before your place of business was shut up?—Yes, in the course of the day.

3867. What did you do with this parcel of 300*l.* that you have told us of?—I took it into the house upstairs and opened it, and put the money into my pocket.

3868. And how did you apply the proceeds?—In preliminary expenses previous to the election—distributing it to the captains.

3869. At what time did you distribute it—immediately after you received it?—Oh dear no. I distributed it as occasion required. We did not commence until about three weeks, I think, before the election. It would all go in treating at public-houses.

3870. You kept this 300*l.* by you for some time?—I should think it was some days, perhaps a week, before any of it was paid.

3871. And then you began to pay it away for the purpose of treating?—Yes; and it went very fast when it did begin.

3872. Then you began to pay away money for the purpose of treating about the 20th of June?—As near as I can remember about three weeks before the election.

3873. Is there anything else that you wish to state?—Yes. I believe you never asked me yesterday who got the money for the purpose of paying the Heysham voters. Edward Hutchinson paid the voters.

3874. Is that the father of your apprentice?—Yes.

3875. What sum did he pay?—He had 100*l.*, he had 150*l.* given to him. He paid the Heysham voters, and paid a man named Cunningham 10*l.* besides the pension money, and he gave me back out of the 150*l.* 39*l.* He would have 111*l.* altogether. There was 101*l.* went to the Heysham voters, and 10*l.* to Cunningham. I can speak more particularly to that, because Edward Hutchinson was a servant of mine, and I was rather particular in examining his account, and I know the amount exactly.

3876. The balance, I suppose, went to the general fund?—Yes, it went to the general fund.

3877. Do you know who Cunningham is?—He is a cork-cutter, or was.

3878. (Mr. Newton.) Is he a voter?—He must have been a voter, or else he would not have got the 10*l.*

3879. (Mr. Barstow.) Is there anything else that you wish to state?—Yes. I gave to Mr. George Cleminson 50*l.*, which I did not tell you of yesterday, and I gave 50*l.* to Christopher Hartley, which I did not tell you of yesterday.

3880. What had Cleminson the money for?—For the purposes of distribution.

3881. What district was he assigned to?—He was not assigned to any district specially:

3882. And Christopher Hartley the same?—Christopher Hartley the same.

3883. (Mr. Hill.) His name was down for some district?—He was down for Morecambe, and went to Morecambe occasionally. He is on the list that Mr. Maxsted gave you, of Morecambe men. He is a man who knows a good deal about the voters, and he was generally useful.

3884. (Mr. Barstow.) Is that all you wish to say about the money?—No. There is another 50*l.* that Alfred Tinker came to the room for, and whether he got more than that 50*l.* or not I cannot remember, but he will tell you.

3885. Can you give us Tinker's address?—He is with Wright, Crossley and Company, of North John Street, Liverpool.

3886. Have you anything more to say to us on the subject of money?—That is all I remember at present.

3887. Do you happen to remember now who was the captain at Bridge Lane. You said that you appointed a captain at Bridge Lane under the instruction of Mr. Waring and Mr. Blades?—Yes. I told you yesterday that I could not remember who took the money for the Quay district. I believe the man was a stranger that took it; I never saw him before.

3888. A stranger to the town?—A stranger to the town; and I have every reason to believe, from inquiries I have made, that it was a Mr. Slater from Barrow.

3889. (Mr. Hill.) You tell us this morning that this 300*l.* was brought to your shop on the 13th of June, and you say that it was spent very quickly, and that you had come to an end of it three weeks before the election?—No, I did not say that. I said it was about three weeks before the election when we commenced to spend money.

3890. How soon was it spent then?—I do not know. It was going on for a fortnight I daresay.

3891. Was it spent before the sum of 710*l.* 10*s.* reached you?—I am not quite sure whether it was or not. I scarcely think it was, because I had it some time before I commenced to distribute it.

3892. To whom had you intimated that it was going fast, and that you should shortly be in want of some further money?—To nobody.

3893. Had you not hinted it at all to any person

FOURTH DAY.

Mr. H. Welch.

30 Aug. 1866.

connected with the election ?—If I did say anything to anybody about it, it would be to Mr. Wearing, but I do not remember saying anything about it.

3894. Did you expect an additional sum of money to be left for you about the time when the 710*l.* 10*s.* parcel reached you ?—Not about the time ; but if I were to say that I did not expect that some money would reach me, I should not be saying that which I think, because I did expect that some money would come in some way or other, but in what way I could not tell.

3895. And did Mr. Wearing know that you would be expecting it ?—Wearing would be expecting as well as I.

3896. Was Wearing receiving any money at all ?—No, none. Any money that Wearing paid he received from me. I should pay to Wearing.

3897. From whom did that 300*l.* parcel come to your shop ?—I have no more knowledge than my hat.

3898. Did you make any inquiries of your boy, Hutchinson ?—I should ask him who left it, but I do not remember. He told me that there was a parcel.

3899. He has told us, under a very strict cross-examination by myself, that he was quite certain that the 710*l.* parcel was the first parcel that ever was left at your shop ?—Hutchinson does not know what quantity of money there was in either parcel that was left.

3900. You are sure he knew that that parcel had been left at the shop ?—Which parcel ?

3901. The parcel containing the 300*l.* ; are you quite sure that Hutchinson knew of that parcel ?—That was the parcel that he speaks to.

3902. No ; he speaks to the 710*l.* parcel ?—He could not speak to 710*l.*, because he never knew what the parcel contained.

3903. He speaks to a parcel being left at about the time that the 710*l.* parcel was dated by you, and he speaks to a parcel being left at the time when your brother was out on a journey ?—Yes ; and on going back to the book I find that that was on the 13th of June. That was the day upon which my brother was off on a journey.

3904. How many days after that do you yourself fix as the date of the 710*l.* parcel ?—The 710*l.* parcel, as nearly as I can recollect, would come from ten days to a fortnight, or less than a fortnight, before the election.

3905. Have you ever spoken to Mr. Wearing about these two parcels ?—I spoke to him last night to refresh my memory.

3906. Did you enter into any conversation at all as to where you believed this 710*l.* parcel came from ?—That is the parcel that he says that he left in the shop. He said his errand man, of the name of Wright, left it ; but I never knew till last night that he had had anything to do with it.

3907. Then we may take it from you that a man named Wright left this 710*l.* parcel with Wearing, and that Wearing brought it to your shop ?—Mr. Wearing said that in his evidence last night.

3908. What Mr. Wearing said, according to the report which is before me, which, no doubt, will be borne out by our shorthand writers' notes, in his examination by Mr. Newton, was this—" You heard " Mr. Welch say certain parcels of gold were left at " his shop ?—Yes. Do you know who left them ?—" I left the second one, but I know nothing of the " others." That second one would be the 710*l.* parcel ?—Yes.

3909. Then it was with regard to that that he gave us the account of putting it under his coat tails, and said that Tinker did not see him leave it ?—That was the 710*l.* he told me last night.

3910. You now put it thus—that the 300*l.* was left while everybody was out of the shop ?—Yes.

3911. And that the 710*l.* parcel was left when Tinker was in the shop, but, according to Mr. Wearing's account, without Tinker seeing him ?—Yes ; but did not Mr. Wearing tell you where he got it ?

3912. Yes ; he said he got it from Mr. Wright, at Mr. Milner's ; we have been treating that as the first parcel ?—Yes ; that was my mistake yesterday.

3913. We now know where the 710*l.* came from ?—From Mr. Wearing.

3914. And it came to Mr. Wearing from Mr. Wright, at Mr. Milner's ?—So Mr. Wearing says.

3915. Now that all that has been brought before you, you know nothing as to how the 300*l.* parcel came to you ?—No ; I do not know anything at all about it.

3916. Then I understand you to say that, in addition to that, you received three parcels of 500*l.* from Mr. Sanderson ?—Yes, instead of two parcels, and one "left." I stated yesterday that I had received two parcels of 500*l.*, and that one parcel of 500*l.* had been "left."

3917. But you state now that you received three from Mr. Sanderson ?—I must have received three. I was under the impression that one of the five hundreds had been "left," and Mr. Sanderson says that he gave me the whole three. I knew that two parcels had been left, and I forgot about the 300*l.* which came first. There was only the 300*l.* and the 710*l.* left.

3918. I will go categorically through these parcels, and then you will see whether I have your evidence correctly. There was a parcel of 300*l.* on the 13th of June left at the shop ?—Yes.

3919. By an unknown person ?—Yes.

3920. Deposited by Wearing 710*l.* 10*s.* ; and from Sanderson three parcels of 500*l.* each ?—Yes.

3921. How do you say each of these parcels came to you ?—I called at his house for two of them, and one was fetched from his house.

3922. By his directions, I think, you say ?—Yes.

3923. That is all the money that was paid before the election day. Now, on the 12th of July, the election day, there was a parcel in the cupboard at the "Queen's ?"—Yes.

3924. Have you found out anything at all about that since we saw you last ?—Nothing.

3925. You know no more about it now than you did yesterday ?—No.

3926. We want you, if you can, to fix very accurately the hour at which it was found in the cupboard ?—It was in the evening.

3927. The evening of the nomination day ?—The evening of the nomination day.

3928–9. But you cannot tell us at what time ?—No, I cannot ; but it would be after 4 o'clock, I think. I do not know whether it would be after 4 o'clock or not. I could not speak to that.

3930. That was 1,000*l.* ?—I never counted it. I told you yesterday that I did not count it, but I presumed it to be 1,000*l.*, comparing that with other bags.

3931. Did you pay out from it ?—Yes, I did.

3932. Then there was the bag that was brought to the "Queen's" by Barton ?—Wearing's bag came before Barton's, if you take them in order.

3933. The bag that was brought by Mr. Wearing from Fenwick ?—So he said yesterday.

3934. At what time of the day did that come in ?—I should think about 10 o'clock.

3935. Earlier than that ?—It was in the morning after the polling.

3936. Then there was the bag brought in by Barton ?—That came in afterwards.

3937. How long afterwards ? Was it before 10 o'clock that it came in ?—No, it would be after 10 o'clock that it came in ; I fancy it would be about 11.

3938. Do you know at all where that money came from ?—Mr. Sanderson told me this morning that it was the same bag.

3939. What same bag ?—The same bag that I took back ; that the bag that I took back after the election was the same bag that Mr. Barton had brought.

3940. Had brought where ?—To our room.

3941. Do you know where that money came from to Mr. Barton ?—He brought it from the bank, I am told.

3942. Mr. Sanderson forgot to tell us of that ?—

Yes, because it went back again; that was the bag that I had left when we had done, and I took it to the bank, and he tells me to-day that it was the same bag that Barton had taken in the morning, and therefore it was never entered till it was paid to me afterwards in two five hundreds.

3943. You understood from Mr. Sanderson that Barton brought 1,000*l.* from the bank?—Yes.

3944. But it was never debited against Mr. Coulston at the time as the others had been, and was first debited to him when it was paid out in two five hundreds?—Yes, that is it.

3945. That you say was returned to the bank?—Yes.

3946. You say you understood from Mr. Sanderson that he gave the bag with 1,000*l.* in it on the morning of the nomination day to Mr. Barton?—No, I do not say that. I was at the bank on business this morning and saw Mr. Sanderson, and we were talking about it, and I understood him to say that the bag I brought back at night was the same bag that Mr. Barton had taken from the bank in the morning.

3947. With what in it?—With 1,000*l.* in it.

3948. That is what I say?—Yes, but Mr. Sanderson did not say that he gave it to Mr. Barton.

3949. But that he had taken it from the bank?—From the bank.

3950. As you understood Mr. Barton was the person who had taken the 1,000*l.* from the bank?—Yes.

3951. Then the 1,000*l.* that was taken back by you was afterwards split into two five hundreds, and when it was split in that way it was debited against Mr. Coulston's account?—Just so.

3952. You took it back after bank hours?—After 4 o'clock.

3953. Now we will see if we are quite right about the two dates of the five hundreds; you had 500*l.* in August, 500*l.* in October, and 55*l.* in December?—Certainly.

3954. Did you draw out those two five hundreds upon a letter, or did Mr. Sanderson know that this was part of the 1,000*l.*?—I told Mr. Sanderson when I gave it to him that it would be wanted back again before all the bills were paid.

3955. In fact, you deposited it with him for safe custody?—Yes; I told him I should want it before I had done paying, and I asked for it at twice.

3956. (Mr. Barstow.) Do you know Mr. Sanderson's private residence?—Yes.

3957. Where is it?—In John Street.

3958. (Mr. Hill.) Let me read this over to you, and tell me whether my note is correct? "June 13. left at shop by unknown person 500*l.*"—Yes.

3959. "Deposit by Wearing at shop, 710*l.* 10*s.* 0*d.*; from Sanderson, three parcels of 500*l.* each?"—Yes.

3960. "I called at his house for two, and one was "fetched from his house, 1,500*l.*; nomination day, "evening, after 4 p.m., parcel in cupboard at 'Queen's,' "1,000*l.*; 9.10 a.m., on the election day, bag brought "by Wearing from Fenwick, 1,000*l.*; after 10 o'clock, "bag brought in by Barton, 1,000*l.*; returned to bank "by me untouched?"—Yes.

3961. "August, I drew out of bank on account of that 1,000*l.* 500*l.*?"—Yes.

3962. "August 12 to 14th, another 500*l.* December, on an order, 55*l.*?"—Yes.

3963. That is a full, true, and particular account of all the money received?—Yes, that is all the money that I had.

3964. 5,565*l.* 10*s.*?—Yes, that is the amount.

ROBERT STACKHOUSE sworn and examined.

R. Stackhouse

3965. (Mr. Barstow.) You are a maltster in Bolton?—Yes, I have been these last two years.

3966. When was the first time that you busied yourself with the Lancaster election?—I cannot tell you exactly the date; it was this last election.

3967. None but the last election?—No.

3968. I believe you were what is called a captain for the Bolton district?—Yes, something of that name.

3969. What money did you receive altogether from Henry Welch?—To pay voters with?

3970. We will take the gross sum you received first, both to pay voters and for preliminary expenses?—About four or five-and-thirty pounds, I daresay. Well, sir, I got 10*l.* as I took him back; that would make 45*l.*

3971. You had 45*l.* altogether?—I took him 10*l.* back again.

3972. Did you receive it all at once?—No.

3973. What was the first sum you received?—3*l.*

3974. How did you spend that?—I daresay I spent it in drink, the chief part of it.

3975. What other sum did you receive for expenses?—I think next time he gave me 2*l.*

3976. Can you tell us shortly the whole sum you received for expenses, separate from that which you received to pay voters with?—Yes, I got 3*l.*, 2*l.*, and 5*l.*

3977. What did you do with the balance of the sum of 35*l.*, I will call it?—I paid Thomas Bennison 10*l.*

3978. Where did you pay this money to Bennison?—I paid him at the Old Sir Simon's.

3979. That would be on the election day?—Yes.

3980. After he had voted?—Yes.

3981. And you paid a man named Baxter, did you not?—I did.

3982. What did you pay him?—15*l.*

3983. Was that after he had voted?—Yes.

3984. I believe that he returned you a small sum?—He did.

3985. How much was that?—A sovereign.

3986. That was for yourself?—Yes.

3987. Was that all the money you paid to voters?—Yes.

3988. Did you retain or receive any money for yourself?—No, only what I told you—3*l.*, 2*l.*, and 5*l.* I got.

3989. For expenses?—Yes.

3990. Had you any remuneration for your services?—I had nothing only what I have told you.

3991. What do you mean by what you have told us?—3*l.*, 2*l.*, and 5*l.* I got, barring what I paid to voters.

3992. How did you dispose of those 2*l.*, 3*l.*, and 5*l.*?—I paid some for breakfastings on the election morning, and the other went in what we call allowance in Bolton.

3993. What is "allowance?"—Drink, I suppose.

3994. What did you spend in drink, or where did you spend it?—I spent money at the "Black Bull," the "Blue Anchor," the "Packet Boat Inn," the "Royal Oak," and the "Fat Scot."

3995. How did you spend it?—Any person as wanted anything to drink we gave them it.

3996. To whom did you give drink?—Oh, I do not know; a good deal of people.

3997. I suppose you drank with them?—A little now and then.

3998. Do you mean to tell us that you spent all that 10*l.* in treating during the election?—No.

3999. What became of the balance of it?—I paid some for breakfasting—16*s.* 6*d.* for 11 breakfasts.

4000. What other sum did you spend out of this, 10*l.*?—I do not know; chiefly in drink, I suppose, and I gave a sovereign to a man named William Parkinson.

4001. Who is he?—He is a joiner. I do not know where he is at present. I think he is at Barrow.

4002. Where was he then?—He was at Lancaster then.

4003. Was he a voter?—No.

4004. What made you give him a sovereign?—Stephen Shaw said he would not vote unless I would pay him for his vote because he could get plenty from the Blues; and I gave this Parkinson a sovereign to get him out of the way. He would not vote without I would pay him beforehand.

4005. Who was it who would not vote?—Stephen Shaw.

FOURTH DAY.

Robert Stackhouse.

30 Aug. 1866.

4006. Who is Stephen Shaw?—I think he works at Carnforth now.

4007. Where did he live at the time of the election?—He was in Lancaster when I saw him. He is a Bolton man I believe, but he works now at Carnforth.

4008. And do you tell us that you gave Parkinson 1*l.* to get him out of the way?—Yes, he took him away with him, I think.

4009. Did you spend all this 10*l.*?—Yes, and some besides that I have never got yet.

4010. You spent that money and some out of your own pocket as well?—Yes.

4011. How much did you spend out of your own pocket?—I could not say.

4012. You can say about how much?—Not so very much.

4013. How much?—Well, I would not say to a shilling or two—perhaps 10*s.*

4014. Perhaps you spent 10*s.* of your own?—Yes.

4015. Have you mentioned that sum to anybody?—No.

4016. Have you never made any application to have it returned?—Yes, I sent in my bill, but I never got anything; they thought I had got enough.

4017. To whom did you send in your bill?—I sent it to Mr. Welch.

4018. And did Mr. Welch say he thought you had had enough?—Aye, he thought I had.

A. K. Allinson.

ANTHONY KNOWLES ALLINSON sworn and examined.

4019. (Mr. Newton.) What are you?—I am an innkeeper.

4020. An innkeeper where?—In Moor Lane.

4021. In Lancaster?—Yes.

4022.—I believe you are a Liberal in politics?—Yes, I am; I have always been so.

4023. How long have you been in Lancaster?—About 40 years.

4024.—How long have you kept an inn?—Eleven years.

4025. We hear that you took an active part in the last election?—Yes.

4026. We wish to know what part you took; did you act as a captain?—No, I assisted Mr. Stewartson with the canvass.

4027. What else did you do?—I do not know that I did anything particular, except what I was told; any orders that were given to me I carried out.

4028. Did you engage the public-houses?—I did.

4029. In Lancaster and in the country?—Not in the country; in Lancaster I did.

4030. By whose orders did you do that?—Mr. Welch gave me orders to engage them.

4031. When were those orders given?—I am not quite sure; I think, perhaps, a week or a fortnight before the election.

4032. On receiving those orders did you go about to the different public-houses that you knew were Liberal?—I went to all the houses, whether they were Liberals or Conservatives.

4033. And how many did you engage?—I think I engaged about 40.

4034. Do you know at all how many public-houses there are in Lancaster?—I believe there are near 100 public-houses and beer-houses. I speak of beer-houses as well as public-houses when I say 40. I engaged some who afterwards broke their engagement. I engaged up to 40 I think at first altogether.

4035. You say there are about 100 altogether in Lancaster?—Yes, I believe so.

4036. What was the price you were to pay for them?—They varied from 3*l.* to 10*l.*, and I believe in one instance 15*l.* was offered for one; that was the "Golden Ball," in Market Street, where 15*l.* was offered.

4037. Was that the only one at which 15*l.* was offered?—Yes, that was the only one.

4038. The others were 10*l.*?—From 3*l.* to 10*l.*

4039. What was the name of that house?—The "Golden Ball," in Market Street; Richard Barton.

4040. I suppose that was a better sort of house?—I think not; perhaps it was the man more than the house that we were looking after on that occasion; he was rather a dangerous character.

4041. He was likely to go against you?—Yes.

4042. You say "we?"—Perhaps I should have spoken in the singular number.

4043. You thought he would be rather a shifter?—He has always been so.

4044. When you engaged these 40 as you say, did you give in a list of them to Mr. Welch?—I did.

4045. And did you tell him what you were to pay?—Yes, I could go up to 10*l.* I believe except in this instance, and he did not object to it; or perhaps I did not tell him that I had offered 15*l.* for this house. I am not quite sure, but I could go up to 10*l.* in some instances.

4046. What was the whole amount of those 40 that you engaged?—Do you mean the whole amount of the money that was paid?

4047. Yes?—I did not pay them.

4048. But you engaged them?—Do you mean the whole amount that was paid for them?

4049. I should like to know, as you engaged all these houses, what you engaged this house, that house and another house for; have you any list?—No, I have no list; I wrote the names on a piece of paper yesterday, but I do not think I can tell you correctly what I gave for each house. (The witness refers to a paper.) There is Mrs. Ralph's, of St. Leonard Gate, I think that was 7*l.*

4050. What is the sign?—The "Swan." I am not quite sure whether it was 5*l.* or 7*l.*, but I think it was 7*l.* Mrs. Dickenson's 5*l.*, that is in St. Leonard Gate, the "Shakespeare."

4051. How much?—I think that was 5*l.*; George Lund, in St. Leonard Gate; I am not quite sure whether I engaged that house or not.

4052. What is the sign?—That is the "Cabinet-makers' Arms."

4053. How much?—I am not certain whether I engaged that house or not.

4054. Was it on the other side?—No, he voted for Fenwick and Schneider.

4055. Why are you doubtful about it?—Because I am not certain whether I engaged the house or not.

4056. Was he paid?—Yes, but I do not know whether I engaged him.

4057. What money was he paid?—I do not know. Mr. Edward Johnson, the captain of that district, will very likely tell you.

4058. Now the next?—Mr. James Townley, of the "Black Cat."

4059. What did you pay him?—10*l.*

4060. What street?—St. Leonard Gate.

4061. Then?—Mr. Richard Batty.

4062. What is the name of the house?—I do not know the sign.

4063. Where is it situated?—In Leonard Gate, it is the "Crown."

4064. How much?—I think that would be 10*l.* The next is William Butterworth, of the "White Lion," in Leonard Gate.

4065. What was the amount?—10*l.* Then Mrs. Wright, Wood Street; I think it is the "Plasterers' Arms."

4066. The amount?—5*l.*

4067. Now the next. Thomas Jackson, Yorkshire House, Green Area—how much?—10*l.* Samuel Dobson, Damside Street, the "Craven Heifer;" I do not know the amount of that house; I did not pay for it; I think it would be 10*l.*

4068. Was he paid?—Yes, he was paid; John Bradley, "Dalton's Arms," Bulk, 10*l.*; Richard Nixon, the "Sawyers' Arms," in Plum Street.

4069. The amount?—I do not know; I did not pay for that. Mr. Cleminson was captain of that district, and Thomas Harrison also had to do with it. A. K. Allinson, of the "Golden Lion," Moor Lane, 10*l.*

4069. Well?—John Wearden, of the Plough Inn, Moor Lane; Edward Gardener, Mile Street.

4070. The name of the house?—The "Station Inn."

4071. The amount?—I did not pay that bill; I think Mr. Hutchinson would pay that, Edward Hutchinson.

4072. Was he captain?—Yes; I think he had to do with Overton or Heysham; he was with Mr. Welch.

4073. Mr. Welch's men?—Yes, James Ellershaw, of the "Carpenters Arms," Bridge Lane.

4074. How much?—I did not pay for that; very likely the captain of that district will tell you.

4075. Who was the captain?—Slater.

4076. Who was the next?—Richard Baines, in Bridge Lane; I do not know the name of the house.

4077. How much?—I do not know; I think Mr. Welch would pay him; he would take his bill to him.

4078. How much?—I do not know, I think it was 4*l.* or 5*l.*

4079. Robert Curwen, "St. George's Tavern?"—St. George's Quay; that Mr. Slater very likely would pay, I did not pay it. Thomas Sanderson, Chapel Street, the "King's Head," 10*l.*; William Lawson, of the "Three Tuns," China Lane, 10*l.*; E. C. Riley, Church Street—I think it is Edward Cleminson Riley, the "Mitre;" I did not pay that, but I believe it was paid. There was a little difficulty about it before the election; the other side got hold of the house, and then they turned over again. I think it was paid after all; but the captain of the district will be able to tell you.

4080. Who is the captain?—I think Thomas Bradley, but I am not sure.

4081. Yes, that is right; now who is the next?—Mrs. Dixon, of St. George's Quay, the "Blue Bell."

4082. How much?—Mr. Slater will have to do with that; I do not know the price. Then John Hodgson, the "Blue Anchor;" I think it is St. George's Quay.

4083. How much?—Mr. Slater will pay for that. Henry Richmond, "Commercial Inn," Market Street, 10*l.*; John Parkinson, "New Inn," Market Street; Peter Moore, Penny Street; I did not pay for that. I fancy Mr. Welch paid for it.

4084. What is the name of the inn?—The "White Lion;" John Atkinson Bibby, the "Bear and Staff," Penny Street; I think that was 10*l.*, but I did not pay for it; I think he would take his bill to Mr. Welch—very likely. Henry Pilkington, "Warpers' Arms," James Street; I did not pay for it, I think Mr. William Welch paid for that house. Robert Smith, "Prince William Inn," Thurnham Street, 10*l.*

4085. (Mr. Hill.) Who paid that?—I believe I paid it, but I am not quite sure whether it was 10*l.* or not. John Huntington, the "Prince William Henry," Penny Street, 10*l.*; that was the arrangement I made with him, but I did not pay him.

4086. (Mr. Bleasdale.) That was included in the bill that I told you was paid for refreshments?—(The witness.) I arranged for these houses, but the captains paid for some of them.

4087. (Mr. Newton.) Now, what is the next?—William Jackson, at the "Malt Shovel," Penny Street, 10*l.*; James Crook, Brook Street, the "Horse and Farrier," I did not pay for that; Mr. Thomas Cleminson was captain of that district. James Patterson, "Wheat Sheaf," Penny Street, I did pay that.

4088. How much was paid?—10*l.*

4089. Who was that paid by?—Either by Mr. Henry Welch, or by the captains of the district.

4090. Who was the captain?—John Bleasdale.

4091. Then the next?—John Long, in the Freehold, I am not sure whether he was there engaged or not; I merely wrote these lists out from memory.

4092. What is the name of the house?—It is a new house, the "Rose Tavern."

4093. Whereabouts?—In the Freehold, Ulswater Road.

4094. You are uncertain about that?—Yes, I am not sure about it; then John Farraday, the "Spink Bull," in China Lane—I think it was 3*l.*, I am not quite sure. Mrs. Charnock, the "Nag's Head," Church Street; I am not sure of the amount, but Mr. Stewartson would pay, I think. Benjamin Hartley, the "Rose and Crown," in Mary Street; I do not know the amount, I did not pay for it.

4095. Who would pay for it?—I fancy Mr. Thomas Cleminson would be the captain of that district. John Forrest, Mary Street; I am not sure whether his house was engaged or not.

4096. What was the name of the house?—The "Fat Scot."

4097. (Mr. Hills.) They were drinking down there, so we may take it for granted that it was engaged?—I called to engage the house, but did not see Mr. Forrest.

4098. They were drinking pretty freely?—Very freely.

4099. Who would be the captains of Mary Street district?—Thomas Cleminson, and Thomas Harrison.

4100. Now the next?—Edward Robinson, in Common Garden Street, the "Bull's Head;" I engaged the house, but I did not pay for it.

4101. Who did?—I think John Gardner would be the captain of that district.

4102. Now the next?—Lofthouse, the "Old Sir Simon," Market Street; the house was engaged for 10*l.*, but I believe Mr. Lofthouse received something for his services besides.

4103. You engaged it for 10*l.*?—Yes.

4104. Who would pay that?—I am not sure.

4105. Mr. Welch?—Very likely he might; I did not.

4106. You are tolerably certain, are you not?—No, I am not; I think he had something given to him for his services.

4107. Now the next—Michael Murphy?—Michael Murphy, "Queen's Head," Church Street, 5*l.*; I am not quite sure about that, but I think that was the amount. John Foxcroft, the "Fox and Goose," Queen Street, 3*l.* I engaged two more houses, but afterwards they turned over to the other side; one was Richard Townley, in Queen Street; I had his house for a week, but he found out that a lot of money was being spent on the other side and very little on our side, for we had no orders to do so, and so he let his house to the other side; also Richard Burton, of Market Street; I think he turned over about the night before the election.

4108. What were you to give to them?—One of the houses, the "Golden Ball," I offered 15*l.*, and 10*l.* to the other house.

4109. The highest priced one went over?—That was the highest priced, I believe; I did not engage any house above 10*l.* except Burton's.

4110. Have you any more?—I believe there was another house engaged in the Freehold.

4111. By you?—No, I believe it was engaged by George Shaw, the captain of that district; the "Freeholders' Arms" I think it is called.

4112. Any more?—No.

4113. When you say you engaged these houses, what do you mean by that?—I engaged them as committee rooms.

4114. Did you engage one room in the house?—No, the whole house.

4115. For the use of the captain?—For the use of the captain, and to have meetings; in fact the house was engaged up to the election, and if a committee was held they could have any room in the house that they thought proper.

4116. Did you take any part in the election except engaging public-houses?—Yes.

4117. What other part did you take?—I assisted to vote as many as I could on the day of the election.

4118. How much did you pay yourself for these different public-houses that you engaged?—I cannot tell, they were paid for at various times.

4119. First all, let me ask you what money did you receive?—For the election?

FOURTH DAY.

A. K. Allinson.

30 Aug. 1866.

4120. Yes?—I got 200*l.* from Mr. Welch.

4121. When?—On the morning of the election, but this had nothing to do with paying public-houses, this was on the morning of the polling day.

4122. Who paid these public houses?—They were paid at different times.

4123. By you?—Most of them; Mr. Welch, if he got six or seven bills in would send for me.

4124. You got 200*l.* from Mr. Welch on the morning of the polling day?—Yes.

4125. At what time?—About 6 in the morning.

4126. Is that the first time you got any money from him?—Yes.

4127. You are sure of that?—Yes, certain, I beg your pardon,—I got 150*l.* from him on the election morning, but I got 50*l.* from him before; I had spent during the fortnight before the election something like 30*l.*; he paid me that and also a bill that was owing me.

4128. When did you get the 50*l.*?—Two or three days before the election; this was for money I had spent.

4129. In what way did you spend it?—In the fortnight before the election, in going round with a lot of different captains to different places to see the voters; it was spent in the regular way, treating, and leaving a pound here, and a pound there, to be spent.

4130. Did you go round with the captains?—Yes, some of the captains, and various other people.

4131. Were you the gentleman called the "general" by one of the witnesses?—Where was that?

4132. Here?—No, I should think it must be some one else.

4133. You went round with the captains and stood drink?—Yes, In fact I had to go round every day, there was such a move made in engaging public-houses; if I engaged them one day I had to go round and engage them afresh the following day; they grumbled that no money was spent. The opposite side commenced their business long before we did in the way of opening the houses.

4134. You spent in the fortnight before the election 50*l.*?—No, 30*l.* I spent in the fortnight, and 20*l.* was for refreshments provided for voters on the nomination and election days, voters having their breakfasts and dinners and so on at my own house.

4135. That made up the 50*l.*?—Yes.

4136. What is the next sum you got from Mr. Welch?—I did not get any more.

4137. You got 150*l.* on the morning of the election?—Yes, I have mentioned that; that is all the money I got from Mr. Welch.

4138. Where did he give it to you?—At the "Queen's," in one of the rooms upstairs, or the lobby upstairs. I got some more money than that; I got some from Thomas Harrison, but that was later on in the day.

4139. What did you do with the 150*l.* you got from Mr. Welch?—I gave it to the voters as I voted them.

4140. You had better state all the money you received that day?—I got over 100*l.* from Thomas Harrison, I had no money and I wanted to pay several voters.

4141. What time in the day was that?—I think it would be between 10 and 11.

4142. Who was he?—He was captain along with Mr. Thomas Cleminson; I also got 36*l.* from Mr. Thomas Cleminson, to pay four voters that he wished to vote.

4143. What other sums did you receive?—That is all the money I got.

4144. 336*l.* altogether?—I am not sure whether it was 125*l.* from Mr. Harrison or not, but I think it was.

4145. That would make 361*l.* altogether?—Yes, I do not remember receiving any further sums of money.

4146. Now tell us how you spent this money?—Yes, I will, to the best of my recollection. William Atkinson, Penny Street, shoemaker, I gave 10*l.*; Matthew Barrow, Lodge Street, 9*l.*

4147. Is he a shoemaker?—Yes. Thomas Calvert, Plum Street, joiner, 10*l.*; Henry Croft, Elmore Road, 3*l.*

4148. What is he?—He is a draper, but I think he is with Mr. Storey, a warehouseman, or something of that sort. Thomas Edmondson, Moor Lane.

4149. What is he?—He is put down gentleman, and I gave him 7*l.* James Edmondson, Nicholas Street, engine fitter, I think I gave him 9*l.* Edward Gaffney, Edward Street, 10*l.*

4150. What is he?—He is a shoemaker, but I may say that he had assisted me for a good deal a fortnight before the election, and this was in payment also for that. William Gibson, Quernmore, a husbandman, 8*l.*, but he was living at that time somewhere near to Burton Lonsdale; this was for the expenses of conveyance, and also the money that was given to him for his fare back again.

4151. I must ask you upon that, was the money given to the other men you have mentioned given for votes or for expenses?—Mostly votes, and some few for assisting.

4152. Could you distinguish the two, voting and expenses?—I have done so, Gaffney is the only case, this man Gibson did not assist at all; I gave him 8*l.* for his vote, and for the expenses of his coming and going back again; altogether I suppose out of the 8*l.* he would get 7*l.*

4153. (Mr. Hill.) Including 1*l.* for fare?—Yes. William Gunson, Leonardgate, 3*l.*

4154. What is he?—A cabinetmaker. Henry Harrison, stonemason, Moor Lane, 5*l.* Then John Huntington, I gave him 23*s.*; he took up his freedom himself, and I promised him if he would take it up I would give it him back again, and I gave it him back at the election. William Jackson, Chapel Court, labourer, 8*l.*—I did not give him the money, but I gave the money to somebody to vote him; I gave it to Thomas Sanderson to give him.

4155. Do you know that he got it?—Yes, he got it, I have no doubt of it. John Varley Jackson, shoemaker, Castle Hill, 10*l.*; John Jackson, Adelaide Street, iron turner, 7*l.*; George Kitchen, stonemason, from 10*l.* to 13*l.*, but I am almost certain it was 13*l.*

4156. What shall we say?—I think if you put down 13*l.* you will be right. Charles Lupton, Rose Court, labourer, 9*l.*, but he assisted me for about a fortnight before the election. Robert Mashiter, wheelwright, Golgotha, 10*l.*; William Noble, Upper Robert Street, farmer, 3*l.* or 4*l.*—I think it was 3*l.*; he was living at Preston, and I gave him 3*l.* or 4*l.* for his expenses and for his trouble.

4157. Was it 3*l.* or 4*l.*?—I think it was 3*l.* Robert Parker, Elmore Road, tin-plate worker, 13*l.*; John Richard Raby, 5*l.*

4158. Where does he live?—In Market Street, and he is a whitesmith. James Simpson, St. Mary's Place, painter, 13*l.*; Solomon Sykes, senior, cooper, Church Street, 5*l.*; John Edmondson, Stone Well, shoemaker, 9*l.*,—this was for his services as well, he assisted me for a fortnight before the election. Richard Tomlinson, joiner, 10*l.*—I did not pay the money myself, but I gave it to Mr. Riley to pay to him.

4159. Have you any doubt about his receiving it?—None at all.

4160. Where does he live?—He has died since then; he did live in Henry Street. Thomas Tomlinson, Penny Street, shoemaker. 10*l.*,—I paid that to Riley also, but I have no doubt that each of them got it. James Thornton Whalley; this is one of the four that Mr. Cleminson wished me to vote.

4161. Where does he live?—He lives in Martin Street, and is a weaver.

4162. Mr. Cleminson gave you 36*l.*?—Yes.

4163. How much did you give to him?—9*l.* I gave to the four 36*l.*:—Thomas Whalley, Morton Street, mechanic, 9*l.*; Thomas Whalley, Morton Street, labourer, 9*l.*; John Whalley, Morton Street, weaver, 9*l.*; Isaac Wilkinson, Skerton, railway porter, 10*l.*,—this was also for assistance for a fortnight as well. Edward Winder, Mary Street, painter, 13*l.*

William Winder, Elmore Road, labourer, 13*l.*; that is one of the men Mr. Clark was so anxious that I should give information about.

4164. Had he always voted for you before?—Yes, he voted with me before. John Winder, Castle Street, joiner, 13*l.*; that is another Mr. Clark named.

4165. Have you any more?—I now come to the householders:—Daniel Dawson, Church Street, 13*l.*; John Morland, 7*l.*

4166. (Mr. Hill.) What is he by trade?—An innkeeper.

4167. What sort of an innkeeper, a licensed victualler, or is it a beer-house?—It is a licensed house; he keeps the "White Horse" now; at that time he was a farmer; I think he was not in business as an innkeeper.

4168. (Mr. Newton.) What is the next?—John Kerr, Nicholas Street.

4169. What is he?—He has been an invalid for many years.

4170. Has he any trade?—He is a joiner by trade.

4171. How much did you give him?—7*l.*; Richard Walch, I gave him 1*l.* but I fancied some one had paid him before; he had voted at the wrong booth; he had voted at Saint Thomas' booth, which was wrong, and his vote was not taken, and I voted him again at the Town Hall, and gave him 1*l.* for it.

4172. You fancied he had received something before?—Yes, I think so, but I do not know that he had.

4173. Where does he live?—He did live in the Freehold, Ulswater Road?

4174. Is there anybody else?—I think that is the last; I have taxed my memory a good deal to give you those. There is another I have forgotten, Thomas Barrett, Moor Lane.

4175. Is he a householder?—Yes; he is a shopkeeper.

4176. What sort of a shop does he keep?—A grocer's shop.

4177. Whereabouts?—In Moor Lane, No. 13 or 14.

4178. How much did you give him?—3*l.* 10*s.*

4179. Do you know if you have omitted anyone?—I do not think so.

4180. If you should by to-morrow morning find out that you have omitted any perhaps you will come and tell us? You have given us the names of 38.—Yes.

4181. Where were you when you gave this money?—After I had voted the men I took them into some of the committee rooms and paid them. I paid some at my own house, and at various other places. We had various houses up and down the town and I would call in at any place.

4182. I suppose you went up to the poll with them?—Yes, I took them up to the poll.

4183. And saw them voted?—Yes; I saw them voted, and then paid them.

4184. I suppose you voted yourself early in the morning?—I think I was about the second that voted in the morning. I always voted early.

4185. You voted early so that you might devote your services to the good of the cause for the rest of the day?—Yes, certainly.

4186. Did they come to you, or did you go to them?—In many cases they came to me; and when I saw any of them I would ask them if they had voted, and if they had not voted I would do my best to vote them.

4187. What did they say?—It was always a question of money. They knew that money was being spent, and they would say "What is the amount you can give me?" and I would say "5*l.*," to begin with, very likely, or less; and then they would say, "Oh, we have had 10*l.* or 15*l.* offered on the other side."

4188. And then you would strike a bargain with them?—Yes, if I could.

4189. Were some of them very hungry?—Yes; some of them were very bad to deal with, and wanted a good deal of money.

4190. Which were the worst, the householders or the freemen?—I think there are only two or three householders in the list.

4191. You have given me five?—I am sure I cannot say now which were the worst.

4192. We have heard that the country freemen are very audacious in their demands?—I think there is no difference as far as that goes.

4193. What time in the day did you begin paying away?—I was up all night. I did not get the money from Mr. Welch till about 6 in the morning.

4194. The poll opens at 8?—Yes.

4195. And you went and polled directly?—It is always a rule of mine to poll as many as I can early in the morning?

4196. What time did you begin to pay away?—As soon as the poll was opened. I paid none before I had voted them.

4197. Did you tell anyone what you were doing? Did you tell Mr. Welch?—No; I do not think I did. I had not time. I never saw Mr. Welch after I saw him in the morning. Perhaps I saw him in the afternoon; I am not quite sure about that, I rather think I did in the afternoon.

4198. Did you see Mr. Blades?—Yes; I saw Mr. Blades after that.

4199. All this money was given to you expressly to buy the men on that day?—Yes; and for expenses.

4200. When you went to Mr. Welch in the morning about 150*l.* you knew you were to buy voters?—He did not tell me it was to buy voters only. He left it to me.

4201. To your discretion?—Yes; if it was necessary to spend any money I should do so.

4202. It was left to your discretion?—Yes.

4203. (Mr. Barstow.) This list of houses you have given us is exclusive of Skerton?—Yes; I had nothing to do with Skerton.

4204. (Mr. Newton.) Or any other place?—No; I think not.

4205. (Mr. Hill.) What was the reason that some of the men received so much less than the others?—It is so in most elections; some men want a little money at a time like that, and they imagine they are not being bribed if they take 2*l.* or 3*l.* I fancy it was a pretty good price, 3*l.* or 4*l.*

4206. The men taking 3*l.* or 4*l.* thought that really represented their wage?—Yes, to a certain extent. They always calculate to lose a week or so, and they take it for the loss of time and the money they spend.

4207. I will take the very first name that occurs to me—Henry Croft, Alma Road; in what position is he?—He is with Mr. Story, but he had been employed in the committee room for some time, filling up the voters' papers and so on, and would get his pay as a clerk, I fancy, and this was in addition to that.

4208. How long had he been employed?—I should say for a fortnight, over a week certainly.

4209. Was he employed solely in the committee or was it only out of business hours?—He was solely employed. He got leave from his master to write in the committee room.

4210. Would he be getting his wages in the meantime?—No, I think not. I think, perhaps, he would get about 7*l.* for his work in the committee room, and this 3*l.* was to make it up to 10*l.*

4211. So with Mr. William Gunson?—No; that is all the money he got.

4212. In what position is he?—He is dead now.

4213. In what position was he at that time?—I fancy he had just a comfortable living, but he was quite an invalid, and I thought to make him a present of it. He would not have asked me for it, and very likely would not have taken it, but I thought I would make him a present. He did not ask me for any money at all, and I believe he never took anything for his vote at any election.

4214. So also with Henry Harrison?—He was a young man, and he just asked me for that 5*l.* and he said he should want to be spending some money.

4215. John Huntington, 23*s.* That was for taking up his freedom?—Yes.

4216. William Noble Farmer, 3*l.*; was for his expenses from Preston ?—Yes ; and some little money he would spend in the day.

4217. The only other one is Thomas Barrett, of Moor Lane, 4*l.* ?—That is a similar case.

4218. What was that ?—He would very likely spend a little more money at this time. That was all the money he asked me for.

4219. In what position is he ?—He is a very old man, his father keeps a shop. I think the shop is not his. He lives with his father.

(Mr. Newton.) If you should find out that you have omitted to furnish us with any names or any further information we shall be very glad to receive it to-morrow.

Adjourned to to-morrow 10 o'clock.

FIFTH DAY.

Lancaster Castle, Friday, 31st August 1866.

PRESENT :

MR. BARSTOW. | MR. NEWTON.

MR. HILL.

FIFTH DAY.

J. Bleasdale, jun.

31 Aug. 1866.

JAMES BLEASDALE, jun., recalled.

4220. (Mr. Newton.) We understand you wish to make some statement with regard to what you said yesterday ?—Yes, there is a thing or two that I have got to mention. The sums that I told you yesterday I had paid to voters did not quite come up to what I had received from Mr. Welch, and you asked me to tell you if I could think of any more. I have thought of it since, and I remember I paid James Bland 2*l.* on the day of the election ; and I think there were six men that were engaged working in the same district that I gave 1*l.* a piece to on the morning of the election for expenses and for what they would want during the day.

4221. In what district would that be ?—In the Penny Street district ?—I think that would just make about the sum I received ; I think it will balance with it.

4222. Do you remember what the six men were ?—I can remember their names. There was Thomas Anderson, Christopher Robinson, and Thomas Jackson.

4223. (Mr. Hill.) Which Thomas Jackson ?—Tinman, in Penny Street. James Cornthwaite, and Wm. Beasdale, a hairdresser, and I think there would be James Tomlinson.

4224. (Mr. Newton.) You say for expenses ?—Yes ; they were going about during the day looking after the voters, first in one house and then in another.

4225. Runners ?—Yes ; and then about a week after the election there were three men. I do not know whether they sent any account or not, but they told me that they had been so much out of pocket, and I paid them 10*l.* each ; I got the money from Mr. Welch. They were three tradesmen of Lancaster who had been about during the election.

4226. Who were those three men ?—There was Thomas Jackson.

4227. The same Jackson ?—Yes, and Christopher Robinson, a coal dealer.

4228. (Mr. Hill.) The same ?— Yes, and James Cornthwaite, a hairdresser.

4229. The same ?—The same. That is all, I think.

4230. (Mr Newton.) That was 10*l.* each ?—Yes.

4231. What was that 10*l.* given for ?—For their services, and what they had been out of pocket.

4232. Was it for their votes ?—No, I should think not. They had been engaged during the election, and had been very active men.

4233. It was not for votes ?—No.

4234. Then how could Jackson have gone to the expense of 11*l.* ?—I do not know. They had been out and that was for their services as well ; they had spent some money of their own they said, and that was for their services as well.

4235. Anything else ?—No, that is all.

4236. At what time did you receive this money from Mr. Welch ?—On the same day that I paid it.

4237. (Mr. Hill.) You had not told us about that money before ?—No, I forgot it.

4238. That applies only to the 30*l.* and not to the other 8*l.* ?—No, it applies to the 30*l.* that is all. The 8*l.* was paid on the day of the election.

4239. (Mr. Newton.) You had about 205*l.* ?—No, I had 125*l.* on the day of the election.

4240. But you accounted yesterday for 205*l.* ?—No, I could not account for that much.

4241. You first had 50*l.* on the morning of the election ?—Yes.

4242. You had 50*l.* afterwards ?—Yes.

4243. And 25*l.* the same day ?—Yes.

4244. That is 125*l* ?—Yes.

4245. Then you had 15*l.* for election expenses ?—That was before the election.

4246. Then you got 50*l.* for refreshments ?—Yes.

4247. And about a month afterwards you got about 42*l.* ?—Yes.

4248. Then there were two small sums of 2*l.* each ? Yes. I did not get anything more than just what the bills were. The bills came to me and I took them to Mr. Welch, and he gave me the money to pay them with.

4249. The 8*l.* was included in the 125*l.* ?—Yes, all the 8*l.* was.

4250. But the 30*l.* was not ?—No, I got that after the election.

4251. Have you talked this matter over with Mr. Welch since last night ?—No, I have not seen him.

4252. Then what you have stated now is merely from your own recollection ?—Yes.

A. K. Allinson.

ANTHONY KNOWLES ALLINSON recalled.

4253. (Mr Barstow.) I understand you wish to make a statement ?—Yes. I forgot in the evidence I gave yesterday to name Richard Casson, a householder. I paid him 13*l.*

4254. Was that for a vote ?—Yes.

4255. (Mr. Hill.) What is he ?—A joiner.

4256. A householder ?—Yes, in Damside Street.

4257. What class of house does he live in ?—He keeps a pawnbroker's shop as well.

4258. Where is his joiner's shop ?—I think he is employed on the Lancaster and Carlisle Railway.

4259. What is about the rent of his house ?—I should think 20*l.* a year, from 15*l.* to 20*l.* ; I stated that I paid all the voters on the day they voted. I was mistaken in saying so, for some of them I had to pay afterwards, and I got 30*l.* from Mr. Welch to pay them with.

4260. (Mr. Newton.) How soon after ?—I think it would be a fortnight after.

4261. Does that include the sum that you told us of yesterday ?—No, that would be an extra sum.

4262. You have nothing else to mention ?—The 10*l.* I gave to Robert Mashiter I received back again from Edward Riley.

4263. When ?—I think he gave it me back the same day.

4264. The day of the election?—The day of the election. Mashiter was in his district.

4265. In Riley's district?—Yes, and he returned me the money so that he might keep his account correct. I told Riley that I had voted Mashiter, and had given him 10*l.*, and he said "He is in my district, I will give you the money back again."

4266. He would have paid him if you had not done so?—He would have paid him.

4267. It was merely a settlement of account between you and Riley?—That is so.

4268. Have you anything more to say about Mashiter's vote, and Riley?—No.

4269. Now give us the next?—I paid William Slinger 3*l.* for money that he had spent, and for his expenses in going to Bolton-le-Sands, and other places in the country.

4270. Anything else?—I stated yesterday that I had paid Henry Harrison 5*l.*, I believe it was only 4*l.* 10*s.*. I should mention also that I engaged John Ball's house, the "Red Lion," in Church Street.

4271. What was the amount?—7*l.* I paid William Abbot 30*s.* for assisting on the day of the election.

4272. What is he?—He is a plumber on the Lancaster and Carlisle Railway. He is not a voter.

4273. What did you pay him the 30*s.* for?—For assisting me on the nomination and election day.

4274. Is he a young man?—A young man about 22 or 23.

4275. Has he any relation a voter?—I think not. I paid William Jackson 30*s.*

4276. What is he?—A carder at the mill; and his son James Jackson 30*s.* for assisting at the election, at least not for assisting, it was in the morning; but later in the day he voted the other way I believe.

4277. Did they both vote?—I believe they both voted, and I think Jackson voted for Lawrence. I think the son voted, one for Fenwick and one for Lawrence.

4278. (Mr. Barstow.) The other voted for Fenwick and Schneider?—Then that is right.

4279. (Mr. Newton.) How much did you give James Jackson?—30*s.*

4280. And how much did you give to the son?—30*s.* There was a man called William Hartley, I gave him 30*s.* for taking out circulars and assisting in the country.

4281. Is he a voter?—Yes he is.

4282. Anybody else?—That is all. I made an arrangement with Burton, as I told you yesterday, at the "Golden Ball," in Market Street. He voted against us. I had to see him about 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and he said he would go with me to vote if I would give him 16*l.*; that he must have the money before he voted.

4283. What did you say?—I said, "If you will go along with me I will make it all right on the day." Just about that time a lot of the opposite side came in and handled me rather roughly.

4284. Was this at your own house?—At Burton's house.

4285. At the "Golden Ball"?—Yes. He was taken away and they voted him. I think Mr. Hatch voted him.

4286. Who is he?—He is a joiner and builder in Lancaster.

4287. He is one of the Conservative captains?—Yes. I am sure he will tell you the amount if you ask him that he gave.

4288. Is there anybody else?—Yes; I agreed with John Bainbridge of King Street.

4289. What is he?—He is a retired cab proprietor.

4290. Is he on the householders' list?—Yes. He came to me and wanted to arrange about his vote. He said he would take 10*l.* for it, and I said, "Very well, it is a bargain." He was afterwards voted by Mr. Lawrence.

4291. Who took him?—Mr. James Wilson was the Captain of that district, I think.

4292. (Mr. Hill.) He said he would take 10*l.* for it?—Yes.

4293. He made that offer himself?—Yes.

4234. (Mr. Newton.) And you agreed with him?—Yes.

4295. And then he polled for Lawrence?—Yes.

4296. And Mr. James Wilson took him?—I do not know that he took him; he was the captain of the district.

4297. Where did you come across John Bainbridge?—He came down to my house.

4298. You did not call on him, he came to you?—He came to me; he came with Matthew Garth.

4299. On what day did he come?—I do not know whether it was the election day or not. It was a day or two before the election, I think. I do not remember the day correctly.

4300. Was it before the nomination?—Yes; it was either the nomination day or the day before, I think.

4301. Did Garth make any arrangement with you?—He came with Garth, and Garth said, "Mr. Bainbridge wishes to speak with you."

4302. Was Garth a voter?—No. I said, "What does he want?" He said, "He is inclined to vote for Fenwick and Schneider, but he wishes to see you first;" so I went and saw him, and he told me what he wanted.

4303. Garth said he was going to vote for Fenwick and Schneider?—That he wished to do so.

4304. What did you say?—He said, "Will you go and see him?" I said, "Yes;" and I did go to see him, and he told me he would do so if I would give him 10*l.* He was in another room. I was in the kitchen and he was in one of the front rooms.

4305. And then this conversation took place?—This conversation took place with Garth and myself in the kitchen. The conversation with Bainbridge was in one of the front rooms of my house.

4306. Who first proposed the 10*l.*?—He proposed it himself.

4307. Is there anybody else you can mention?—There is Francis Jackson. He was the landlord of the "White Horse" at the time of the election, and I think he will be able to give you some information. I believe he is now living in Liverpool. He was not a voter, but he was very active at the time of the election.

4308. On which side?—On Mr. Lawrence's side.

4309. Was he a captain?—I think he was. He was a general, and I suppose he had to do all he could.

4310. He was a general?—A general.

4311. I asked you yesterday if you were the general?—Mr. Towers was our general; I was about serjeant-major.

4312. I omitted to ask you a question yesterday which I will put now. Was there anybody on the opposite side corresponding to you, employed in engaging public-houses, and who took the same active part that you appear to have taken?—I believe Mr. Danson engaged the other houses for the other side.

4313. The auctioneer?—Yes, the auctioneer. I frequently met him.

4314. Because you must have run up against him sometimes?—Yes, frequently. In fact I had to go about every day to see some of them.

4315. And you found that he was buying up houses as well as yourself?—They had a spree at some of our houses some nights, and I had to go next morning to see what had been done, and to make it as right as I could and to spend a shilling or two with them.

4316. Was he the gentleman who took away some of the houses that you had hired?—No doubt. They were taken from us.

4317. He would be the gentleman who took them?—Yes, he would make the arrangement for taking them.

4318. Did you take away any houses from the Conservative side, from the enemy?—No. I could not manage that.

4319. They kept them so fast and strong?—Yes. I think the figure was a little higher.

4320. What sort of figure did they give?—I do not know; but I fancy they gave more than we did.

FIFTH DAY.

4321. When you tried them what sort of sum did they stand out for?—They said the house was engaged, that they were good spenders, and that we were doing very little on our side. They begun to spend money before we did.

4322. You began to spend money the day before the nomination?—I should think two or three days before that.

4323. What was the market price of votes before the nomination?—I think there were very few agreements made until late on the nomination day, and during the night.

4324. You told us that you agreed to give Bainbridge 10*l.*?—I believe that that was the only instance.

4325. How came you to agree with him?—Because he came to me.

4326. Did anybody else come to you?—No; I saw most of them myself. I took a list and went to them.

4327. How did you come by that list?—I just picked out the names of men who I generally voted. I voted them at the last election, for Fenwick.

4328. Were these all paid in the previous election?—I am not sure they were.

4329. Were these all paid in the election of Fenwick and Schneider?—I do not know. I have no doubt that some of them were paid. They were on the committee, and they were paid as staff men and committee men.

4330. When did the market price get from 3*l.* to 10*l.*?—They commenced with 10*l.* and said there are two candidates in the field and we must have 5*l.* a piece for them.

4331. Then in truth and in fact if there had been two candidates at the election in 1864 the sum would probably have been double what it was?—I have no doubt it would.

4332. I understood you to say that most of the men you paid money to on this occasion were paid money in 1864?—They would receive something in 1864 as committee men and for taking out placards and voting papers and so on.

4333. Would those men have voted either way without being paid?—If there had been no money on either side I have no doubt they would have voted.

4334. Then the notion of their being money about and brown-paper parcels and so forth, made the people ask for money?—There were many reports about before the election, it was reported that there was a tremendous sum of money coming from Liverpool; in fact it was said, that a small steamer was coming with money and the voters were quite upset.

4335. Was there any report of money coming over from Barrow also?—We said, if there is money coming from Liverpool we shall have something coming from Barrow no doubt.

4336. The captains said so?—They might say so, it was more in joke than anything else.

4337. But that gave a tone to the market?—It did no doubt, it made the men expect a good deal more money.

4338. Was there less talk about money in 1864?—No, I do not think there was, there was not much talk about money in 1864, it was done more on the night before the election and election day I think.

4339. There was no money talked about beforehand?—No.

4340. Were these houses engaged at that time?—Yes.

4341. And the same staff of captains and runners and staff men and so on?—Pretty nearly the same, but I think not so many houses.

4342. I do not think you were asked yesterday, and I will ask you now, did you receive any remuneration or any pay for your trouble?—Yes, I did along with Mr. Stewartson and Mr. Moser 25 guineas.

4343. A piece?—Yes.

4344. When did you receive that?—I received mine from Mr. Tilly, I am not aware where Mr. Moser received his from.

4345. When did you receive it?—It would be some little time after the election, perhaps a fortnight.

4346. What was that for?—I was engaged to assist in the canvass, to assist at the election, to attend to the voters and to the voting list.

4347. Like serjeant-major?—Yes.

4348. Was any arrangement come to between you and Mr. Tilly before the day of election?—Yes, it was long before the election, I am not quite sure whether Mr. Tilly made the arrangement, I think he did, and it was arranged that Mr. Moser and I should receive the same.

4349. How long was that before the election?—It would be some time, three weeks perhaps, but I am not quite sure, I always assisted Mr. Fenwick's party.

4350. Did you go to Mr. Tilly or did Mr. Tilly come to you?—He sent for me.

4351. And then you made this arrangement?—Yes, Mr. Tilly made the arrangement, I did not ask him for any money.

4352. He told you what you were to get?—Yes.

4353. What did you get in 1864?—I think I got 15 guineas or 15*l.*, I am not quite sure, Mr. Clark first engaged me, I knew nothing about election matters, and he first engaged me in the first election to perform the same duties as I have done in this. I am not sure what Mr. Tilly gave me the last time.

4354. About what was it?—15*l.* I think.

4355. How long before this election do you think it was when Mr. Tilly sent for you?—Two or three weeks just when the election commenced he gave me orders to commence as usual, I do not know whether there was any sum named before the election or not, we were all paid alike; I scarcely knew what I was to have until Mr. Tilly sent for me.

4356. Until he sent for you to pay you or sent for you to begin?—Until he sent for me to pay me.

4357. Did you see Mr. Tilly at his office?—Yes, I believe it was in his office.

4358. Was anybody else there?—No, there was no one in Mr. Tilly's room, Mr. Johnson has an office upstairs, but I am not sure whether he was in his office or not.

4359. The only person you saw on that occasion was Mr. Tilly?—Yes, except the clerk who opened the door.

4360. What was the sort of arrangement made on that day? What conversation passed between you?—I do not know that there was anything in particular except that the election was coming on and he expected that I would take the same post as I had done before, and I said, "Yes."

4361. Was "expected" the word made use of?—I think so, but it has almost slipped my memory, and I scarcely remember the conversation, but that is pretty nearly the substance of it.

4362. Mr. Tilly was agent in 1864?—Yes.

4363. And you did in 1864 I suppose, what you did at this last election?—Yes.

4364. You paid voters then?—Yes.

4365. When Mr. Tilly said that you would undertake the same post now as you had done previously, Mr. Tilly would require that you should pay voters?—I do not think Mr. Tilly knew that I ever did pay any.

4366. What makes you think that?—It was always kept from the agents, anything that was to be done in that way was mostly done amongst the captains. It was only known to them.

4367. Surely it was known to everybody that there was bribery in 1864?—He would have to find it out the same as other people, but he did not know it from me.

4368. He would not know it from you unless you told him?—I did not tell him.

4369. He must have known that you were one of those that bought voters in 1864?—Perhaps he might think so, but I did not tell him.

4370. Nothing was said as to paying voters on this occasion when you went to him three weeks before the election ?—No.

4371. (Mr. Hill.) With regard to John Bainbridge a retired cab proprietor, does he live on his own property ?—He is a man pretty well to do, he has no trade, and he has a very nice living.

4372. A good income ?—Yes, a nice income; he is a man that lives in a very respectable way.

4373. Has he an income of 200*l.* a year ?—Not as much as that I should think, I have no doubt that he could if he liked live at 100*l.* a year.

4374. What sort of a house does he live in ? What would it let for ?—I should think 12*l.* or 14*l.*

JOHN WINDER HEWERTSON sworn and examined.

4375. (Mr. Hill.) Are you a freeman ?—Yes.

4376. What was your business at the last election ?—I suppose you would term it captain.

4377. Yes, we had better keep to terms we know; what was your district ?—Lower Kellet.

4378. In company with whom ?—There was Mr. Gardner's solicitor.

4379. Anybody else ?—He was the only one appointed with me to Lower Kellet.

4380. Who else looked after that district with you ?—No one else, only him.

4381. Joseph Wilson ?—I think he had a general survey round there, but I was never with him.

4382. He was appointed to the district of Kellet and Nether Kellet, was he not ?—I think he was more at Carnforth and Warton.

4383. He was appointed to Kellet with him, was he not ?—I was never in company with him there.

4384. You were never in company with him on canvass ?—No; I went with Mr. Towers, a grocer of Lancaster, one afternoon.

4385. Were you present at any meeting of the Liberal party before your appointment ?—I was at several meetings before my appointment, like any other voter, to hear the addresses of the candidates.

4386. Those are not the meetings to which I refer; were you present at any meeting as to the appointment of captains, and generally as to arrangements that were to be carried out at the forthcoming election ?—I remember being at one.

4387. Where was that ?—It was in a room in Nicholas Street.

4388. At a public-house ?—No.

4389. Who else was there ?—There were several parties there; there was Mr. Welch, and several of the committee.

4390. Mr. Towers ?—Yes, and many others that I do not know.

4391. Were the ex-members there ?—No, I did not see them at all.

4392. How long before the election was that ?—I should say about a fortnight; of course I cannot speak accurately to a few days.

4393. What was the subject of discussion at that meeting ?—It was principally to appoint captains to the various districts. Of course there was no discussion respecting politics; it was only to make arrangements.

4394. I take it for granted you were all on the same political side there ?—Yes, of course.

4395. Besides appointing captains, what else did you do ?—Nothing more that I am aware of.

4396. Was anything said at that meeting about what sort of election it was likly to be ?—No.

4397. Was anything said about its being necessary to have good men for captains ?—Of course the committee would know that.

4398. What should you know by "good men ?"—I should mean honest and honourable men.

4399. Honest in what particular point ?—In taking care of what money they had, and returning all the surplus; and of course men who knew the voters, and who would do the best for the candidates.

4400. Were the men who were selected for captains men of known qualification in that character ?—I was quite a novice. It was the first time I was on.

4401. They trusted to your countenance and your repute. With regard to the older birds, were they men of known qualification in that respect ?—Yes, I expect so.

4402. Men who had discharged their duties in the same way before similarly well ?—Yes.

4403. Was it said to what extent those qualities were likely to be tested ?—No; no particulars were entered into respecting the various candidates at all.

4404. Was there some talk about that it was likely this would be a very expensive election ?—I do not remember, only rumours that were circulated about the Tory candidate having so much money that it would be something rather extraordinary for Lancaster. Of course such rumours as those do circulate.

4405. After that meeting, when you received your appointment, what was the first step you took in the election ?—I took very little steps. I certainly went with a few other captains up and down the town trying to use our influence with the various voters.

4406. When did you go and pay a visit to your own more especial district, Nether Kellet ?—I was only there once, with the exception of the polling day.

4407. You only paid one canvassing visit to Nether Kellett ?—That was all.

4408. Who went with you ?—Mr. Towers.

4409. Did you address a meeting of voters, or was it a house-to-house visitation ?—The men were in the fields and we called them, and of course they were glad enough to come when they saw us and knew our errand. There was only one inn or public-house in the village.

4410. Did you gather them into the public-house in the village ?—We got them to come down; they were mowing.

4411. You got them together ?—Yes.

4412. Did you get pretty well all the voters there ? There were not many altogether; we got perhaps three or four.

4413. Having got them together, you sat down and smoked your pipes, and had your little drop of drink together ?—Some of them had.

4414. What was the subject of conversation ?—We spoke respecting our candidates that we wanted in, and extolled all their excellencies we possibly could.

4415. You enlarged upon their excellencies ?—Of course.

4416. Were those excellencies principally of a political or pecuniary character ?—I found that speaking in a political way it was the wrong side, and that they liked to talk more about money matters.

4417. You began on politics ?—Yes.

4418. And you found that that did not command your audience's attention ?—Yes, just so.

4419. And so you went into money ?—Yes; there was nothing definitively fixed.

4420. What were the general topics you urged as to the peculiar excellencies of Messrs. Fenwick and Schneider ?—They fought very shy, and seemed very indifferent about voting for our party. They said that Mr. Lawrence was a very wealthy man; that he had plenty of money, and went on in that strain.

4421. What did you reply to that, or what was the nature of your reply ?—We thought we would not be far behind hand with them.

4422. You said that to them ?—Yes; I cannot give you it word for word.

4423. You said, "You will not find us far behind him in that respect ?"—Yes, to be sure.

4424. Did they say then what was the price they hoped to command ?—No, it was not mentioned at all. Perhaps it was a week or ten days before the election when I was there.

4425. Nothing was said beyond vague generalities as to the price that was likely to be given ?—There were no prices named at that time. It was more about the position or wealth of the different candidates that was talked over.

4426. What they would be likely to spend?—Yes.

4427. They said Mr. Lawrence was a wealthy Liverpool merchant, and you said Mr. Schneider is an enormous iron manufacturer?—Yes, something in that style.

4428. After a short visit there you returned to Lancaster?—Yes. During the time we were there the opposite party drove up. It was a Mr. Coulston, of Lancaster, and of course he began to extol the excellencies of Mr. Lawrence.

4429. Did he come into the same room?—He was in the kitchen, and we were in the parlour. We had most of the freemen; and of course when they knew he was there they crowded round the place. He spoke about different matters.

4430. What did he speak about?—He was rather speaking against Mr. Towers than anything else.

4431. He tried to lower Towers?—Yes.

4432. And tried to raise Lawrence?—Yes; of course he would. I believe he had been a Liberal before himself, and he turned this time.

4433. Did he give a reason for his having turned?—Not that I remember at all. He was making a speech on something of the kind in the kitchen, but I was not there at the time.

4434. Did he enter into Mr. Lawrence's wealth?—He might do so, but I could not say for certain.

4435. In fact, the political questions of the day were not much discussed?—No, not very much; in fact, it was useless there.

4436. You left Mr. Coulston there and came away, or did all come away together?—No; I think they went another route about the same time. I think they went to High Kellet.

4437. When you left Nether Kellet were the greater number of voters in your favour or in favour of Coulston?—I would not be a judge of that. It was more a money question, and it depended upon the price offered on the day of the election. That is my opinion.

4438. When you came back to Lancaster, the time that elapsed between that visit to Kellet and the election, were you engaged in canvassing in the borough?—I was not much, only just with a few friends walking about the streets.

4439. What moneys did you receive on behalf of this election?—I received the night before the election 30*l.*

4440. From whom?—From Mr. Welch.

4441. What other moneys did you receive?—That was the only money I ever received.

4442. Did you not receive any money for expenses?—I had been giving out of my own pocket, but that is accounted for.

4443. What were you repaid by Mr. Welch; what money passed to you?—30*l.*

4444. Was something paid to you for expenses?—No, nothing. I made a balance-sheet out, a debtor and creditor account.

4445. For Mr. Welch?—Yes; I sent it to him.

4446. What was the balance due to you upon that account?—I had a surplus; I returned something, in fact, and I have a copy here of the account if you would like to see it.

4447. Did you not receive 50*l.* from Mr. Welch?—No, only 30*l.* He made a great mistake when he said I received 50*l.*, and if he has got my account he will see it.

4448.—How did you lay out that 30*l.*?—There were only two men that I got to vote for us from there, and the price averaged 12*l.* They said they could get 12*l.* each.

4449. Who were the two men?—One was Matthew Garth.

4450. Is he a freeman?—Yes.

4451. What is he?—I suppose a labourer; but I do not know I am sure.

4452. What did he get?—11*l.* He said he had been offered 12*l.* by the other party, but that he would sacrifice 1*l.* for the sake of his principles, because he had always voted for the Liberal side. Then there was another freeman, Moses Mawson; he is rather an elderly man. He said he would have what the others had, and I told him he should have what the others had, and gave him 11*l.*

4453. Had he been offered 12*l.* by the Conservatives?—He did not pass any remark. He is a very inoffensive, quiet old man, and did not say anything about it.

4454. When did you pay these two persons?—On the morning of the election.

4455. After they had voted or before?—They were very dubious about voting, and I paid them before. Of course I had to trust to their honour, if they had any.

4456. When did you make the arrangement as to the price of the votes?—On the morning of the election.

4457. Down at Kellet?—Yes.

4458. You went down to Kellet on purpose?—Yes. I went down to Kellet early in the morning.

4459. And met them by appointment?—They would expect us to come down, of course; but Mr. Gardner went there the night before.

4460. He had looked them up the night before?—Yes.

4461. Had he made any arrangement as to the price?—He told me about the prices that were offered on the other side, and that unless we could come out pretty freely it was of no use.

4462. Besides this 22*l.*, what did you credit yourself with payment of?—I gave 5*l.* to Mr. Gardner the night before. He said that he had only a few shillings in his pocket to go up to Kellet with.

4463. Did Mr. Gardner use the whole of that 5*l.*?—I did not ask him.

4464. Did he return to you any of it?—No.

4465. You gave that to Mr. Gardner to pay expenses?—He said he wanted some money to go up to Kellet with; that it was no use his going without money; and I thought he had as much to do with it as I had, and I gave him 5*l.*

4466. What other moneys did you credit yourself with the outlay of?—There were various expenses during the canvass, for a fortnight or three weeks before the election, which I ran up to 1*l.* 6*s.*, and that I credited myself with.

4467. (Mr. Barstow.) What is the Christian name of this Mr. Gardner?—James.

4468. Is he a solicitor?—Yes. I returned a balance to Mr. Welch of 1*l.* 14*s.*

4469. Did you ever ask Mr. Gardner to account for that 5*l.*?—No; I trusted to his honour to account for it to Mr. Welch himself. I did not ask him.

4470. What money did you receive as remuneration for your own services after the election?—I never received a farthing, of course not.

4471. Have not ever had anything?—No, never. Of course not.

4472. I do not see why "of course not." You had a great deal of trouble, and the last witness, Mr. Allinson, had some money?—They were more busily engaged than I was, and it was more in their line. I did not devote so much of my time to it as they did, and besides I should hope I had better principle than to take money in a case of that sort.

4473. Whether for better or for worse, you had no money?—No, I had no money.

4474. Nor any promise of any?—No, never a promise of anything.

4475. What are you by trade?—I am a wood hoop maker and timber dealer.

4476. How many men have you in your employment?—It varies according to the time of year. Sometimes I have a great many men out in the country—between 30 and 40, I may say, altogether.

4477. How many voters do you employ?—I had only one at that time.

JOHN BIRCHALL sworn and examined. FIFTH DAY.

J. Birchall.

31 Aug. 1866.

4478. (Mr. Barstow.) What is youro ccupation ?—I am an agent at Glasson Dock for the Lancaster Canal Company.

4479. How long have you lived in Lancaster ?—I have never lived in Lancaster.

4480. How long have you lived in the neighbourhood of Lancaster ?—I have been in that situation something like 26 or 27 years.

4481. Where do you live ?—I live at Glasson Docks, 5 miles from Lancaster, in the township of Thurnham.

4482. You have been there 26 years ?—Yes, within a short time either one side or other.

4483. Have you taken a pretty active part in politics ?—Yes.

4484. On the Liberal side I suppose ?—Yes.

4485. Have you been engaged for them in many elections ?—Yes, ever since the year 1847. That, I think, was my first commencement.

4486. We hear that you were a captain at the last election ?—I cannot term myself a captain. Of course I looked after the district for them.

4487. What district do you consider you looked after ?—I began at Glasson Dock; went through Cockerham, Thurnham, Forton, Cleveley, Over Wyresdale, and Nether Wyresdale, and some part of Ellel.

4488. When were you appointed to superintend those districts ?—I do not really know that any person appointed me.

4489. When did you undertake to do it ?—Perhaps a month previous to the election—when I knew there was an election going to take place.

4490. What did you then do in furtherance of your design ?—I went and visited the freemen as usual in that locality.

4491. When you say "as usual" do you mean as usual at election times ?—Yes.

4492. I suppose you did not confine your attentions merely to visiting them ?—Yes, that was all my business—simply visiting them.

4493. Did you not say anything to them about the forthcoming election?—Yes ; I generally passed a free joke with them and told them we should want them again.

4494. I should be very glad if you would pass us a joke here. What did you say ?—I cannot exactly tell you that. I said so very much. At all events I asked them to support Messrs. Fenwick and Schneider.

4495. You joked with them about the election and asked them to support Fenwick and Schneider?—Yes; —something to that effect.

4496. Did they promise you pretty freely ?—Well, some odd ones did, and the others would not say anything. They would "see about it," and this, that, and the other, and so on.

4497. Did you treat them at all the first time ?—No, I was never in the habit of treating them much ; very little. Of course if I met them near a hotel I had a glass with them of something.

4498. You did not call them together to treat them? —No.

4499. Not at any time between this first time and the election?—You mean this last election, do you not?

4500. Yes ?—I do not remember ever calling them together to any inn.

4501. Or anywhere ?—Or anywhere, to the best of my recollection. I might meet with them at an inn and so on, but not to call a body of them together.

4502. It was only when you met anyone casually ? —Yes.

4503. Did you receive any money for this election ? —Yes.

4504. From whom ?—From Mr. Henry Welch.

4505. When did you receive the first sum?—I do not know. I cannot refresh my memory. I think I met him in the street in Lancaster, and he asked me how matters were going on. He simply said this : "You will want some money," and I said, "Oh, no, "not at present. I have enough money of my own, "sufficient to carry me on. I will see you again."

4506. Did you receive any money from him at that time ?—Yes; I received a few pounds, but I cannot exactly say what it was. It might be 10*l.* or something like that at that time.

4507. How many weeks before the election was that ?—I should say it was not more than a day or two previous to the election ; that is, to the best of my recollection.

4508. What money you had spent before that was out of your own pocket ?—Yes.

4509. About how much had you spent before that ? —I cannot say.

4510. Give it to me quite roughly.—I will tell you how it was : when I went out of a morning I counted my money, and when I got back at night I took an account of what I had spent—that is, in refreshments.

4511. You must see that that conveys no information to us; I only want to know about how much money you spent before this ?—Perhaps 3*l.* or 4*l.*, but I cannot say exactly; I should not say it was more, and scarcely that.

4512. What was the next sum you received from Mr. Welch ?—50*l.*

4513. When was that ?—On the day of the election, something like 11 o'clock in the morning.

4514. Did you ever at any time receive any other sum from Welch except these two sums of 10*l.* and 50*l.*?—I do not recollect as ever I did.

4515. What did you do with the money received ; to whom did you pay it ?—First there was a person of the name of Davis—he lives in Ellel, I think ; he came and said, Would I give such a person 10*l.* ? "What is it for ?" said I ; and he said, "For his vote."

4516. (Mr. Hill.) Davis is not a voter?—No; I said, "I shall not give anything like such extravagant "sums ; but if you want 10*l.* I will give you 10*l.*, "and you can do what you think proper with it."

4517. That is what you said to Davis ?—Yes.

4518. I suppose that you would rather that Davis should be guilty of the sin of extravagance than you ? —I had not anything at all to do with it, not any more than giving him the money.

4519. Did you give it to him ?—I did.

4520. What did he do with it ?—I do not know, and did not ask him ; I have not seen the man since, and he was something like a stranger to myself.

4521. Do you remember the name of the man for whom he asked for the money?—It struck me it was a Parker, of Dolphinholme; but I did not see Parker.

4522. Mathew Parker, of Dolphinholme, joiner ?—No ; Mathew did not vote, I think. There was John Parker, a farmer, and there was Mathew Parker, and another ; I do not know his name.

4523. (Mr. Hill.) Was it Thomas Parker, of Dolphinholme, joiner ?—Yes, that is the man.

4524. That was 10*l.* What did you do with the rest of the money ?—I gave 6*l.* to John Richmond.

4525. Was that for himself or for a voter ?—For his vote; he never asked me for anything for his vote. He voted, and afterwards I gave him the money. Then there was William Richmond, a gamekeeper, 6*l.*

4526. Was that for his vote ?—Of course if he had not voted I should not have given it to him.

4527. Whose gamekeeper is he ?—He goes by the name of Gamekeeper. I think he formerly was agent for the Duke of Hamilton, but since then he is dead.

4528. A dog breaker ; is that the man ?—Yes ; he was something of that sort.

4529. Now give us the next ?—Richard Richmond —I gave 6*l.* to him.

4530. Does he live at Forton ?—Yes, I think he lives in Forton, but I am not sure.

4531. Anyone else ?—Yes ; 6*l.* to a man whose name I think is Thomas Richmond of Dolphinholme.

4532. A roller coverer ?—Yes; that is the man.

4533. Did you pay him after the election in the same way?—Yes; all those four Richmonds never asked me anything, but they came to the poll, and I met them afterwards, and I gave them this money.

FIFTH DAY.
J. Birchall.
31 Aug. 1866.

4534. (Mr. Barstow.) Any other voters?—Yes. I cannot exactly say to a pound; it was not more than 6*l.*, at all events, it might be less, I cannot say, I have forgotten, to a person of the name of Henry Ball; I cannot say exactly how much, but it was not more than 6*l.*

4535. Anyone else?—Yes; to a man who is the last on the list as a freeman.

4536. J. D. Yeates?—Yes; I gave it to his wife. I cannot exactly say what it was, whether it was 5*l.*, 5*l.* 10*s.*, or 6*l.* It was just in the hurry of the moment on the day of the election. I gave it to his wife; I did not see him.

4537. I think 6*l.* seems to have been about your price. We may take it that it was 6*l.*?—Yes; 6*l.* was about my price. I would not go any more.

4538. Was that the last?—No; I gave 3*l.* to a man of the name of James Birkett.

4539. James Birkett, junior, of Over Wyresdale?—Yes, that is the man—3*l.* to him.

4540. How does it happen that he only got 3*l.*?—I do not know. I met him in the street, and he said he thought he should have some trifle for his trouble, and I gave him 3*l.*, and he appeared perfectly satisfied with it.

4541. That was after he had voted?—Yes. I did not pay any before they had voted.

4542. Anyone else?—Joseph Threlfall; it strikes me it was 4*l.*; but I am not quite positive.

4543. Is that Joseph Threlfall of Conder Street?—Yes, I told you I did not pay any before voting; I beg pardon, I gave it him before voting, but he did not ask me for anything. I gave it to him voluntarily.

4544. How much?—I think 4*l.*, but I am not sure.

4545. He voted for Schneider and Lawrence?—Yes.

4546. Was that all?—What does that make?

4547. Never mind what it makes?—The remainder was for sundry expenses.

4548. That is about it. Now, with respect to this Threlfall; where did you see him first?—You mean Joseph Threlfall, of Conder Green.

4549. Yes. When did you first see him about his vote?—I met him the day before the election, on what they call Conder Green, as I was coming to Lancaster.

4550. Did you canvass him?—I simply stopped him and said, "Can I get a vote of you this time?" and he said, "You know how I am situated, I live "under Mr. Starkey, and I do not wish to offend him, "and I am afraid I cannot give you one."

4551. What did you say upon that?—"Well," I said, says I, "consider the matter, and I will see you to-morrow in Lancaster." He asked me at what time, and I arranged a day for him, and met him; and that was something like 12 o'clock.

4552. Did you meet him?—I did.

4553. At that time had he polled?—No.

4554. What did you say to him?—I asked him if he had considered the thing over, and he said "Yes;" and he said, says he, "I will give you one, but I must give the other to Mr. Lawrence."

4555. Did you make any agreement with him then as to what you would pay him?—No, I put my hand into my pocket, and I think I gave him four sovereigns. He did not ask me for anything, and I said, "Now," says I, "go and vote for Mr. Schneider, and never mind Mr. Fenwick."

4556. Why did you ask him to vote for Mr. Schneider?—Because I thought we were safe of carrying Mr. Fenwick, and I had doubts about Mr. Schneider, and so I selected him as my man.

4557. (Mr. Newton.) When you met Mr. Welch in the street, what did you talk about with him as to the election?—He was simply asking me how I thought we stood in our locality.

4558. And then he gave you the 50*l.*?—No; I went on the day of the election at about 11 o'clock to him and I asked him, I think, to the best of my recollection, for 30*l.*; and he said, Well," will that do for you?" and I said, "Will you give me 50*l.*"

4559. When you went to him what did you say to him when you first saw him?—You mean when he gave me the 50*l.*?

4560. You say you went and saw him, and he gave you 50*l.*?—Yes.

4561. What did you say to him then?—I told him I wanted a little money.

4562. Did you say what for?—No, he never asked me.

4563. I suppose he knew well enough what you wanted it for?—He was well aware of that, and he said, "What will do for you?" and I said, "Give me 30*l.*"

4564. He knew perfectly well that you were going to buy votes?—I do not know whether he did or not I am sure. He was well aware, you know, that money was wanted.

4565. Were you employed in the election in 1864 as a captain, or in any way?—Yes. I did not exactly spend that, I took him something back again.

4566. You do not understand my question. Were you employed as a captain or in looking after voters in the election which took place between Mr. Fenwick and Mr. Saunders in 1864?—No, I do not know that any person did employ me; I went voluntarily.

4567. Did you volunteer this time?—Yes.

4568. Then you were employed in the same way in 1864 as you were at this time?—Yes.

4569. Did you pay voters in 1864?—Yes, to a small amount, but very trifling.

4570. What was the average price in 1864?—You mean at Fenwick and Saunders's election?

4571. Yes?—Perhaps 20*s.* or 25*s.*; I should say I never gave more than 30*s.*; I should think not.

4572. You gave no such extravagant price as we have heard of here?—No, I never gave anything of that sort: I never gave more than 6*l.* to any person in my life to my recollection.

4573. You seem to have got them cheap?—I always went among good sample, you know.

4574. (Mr. Hill.) You say the average price was from 20*s.* to 30*s.* in 1864?—It did not exceed that, but I was never paid for anything; in fact I never looked for it.

4575. (Mr. Newton.) We have been told that 13*l.* was paid for a vote?—Well, I cannot speak to that, but what I state is the truth.

4576. I only want to know how you got your voters cheaper than the others did?—I do not know indeed. I did not bargain with them. I gave them what I thought proper, and they appeared to be perfectly satisfied. Some of them I gave 6*l.* to. That is William Richmond; he said, says he, "A person "named Nelson came last night and offered me a "10*l.* note to vote for Lawrence;" a person of the name of Nelson, from Craig, he is—Ellel.

4577. He offered him 10*l.* you said?—Yes, he offered him 10*l.* I said, says I, "What did you say "to him, William?" He said, says he, "Do you "suppose for a moment that I am going to sell my "principles at these years?"

4578. That is at his time of life?—Yes.

4579. What is his age?—As I have previously told you, he was a kind of a keeper or dog-breaker, but since then he is dead. He was in a very poor state of health at that time.

4580. What answer did you make to him?—I did not make him any answer. I was perfectly satisfied with what he said.

4581. And then you gave him 6*l.*?—No, I did not.

4582. You promised it to him?—No, I did not promise him anything, and he did not ask me for anything.

4583. Then what made you do it? Did you put your hand in your breeches pocket and chink the money?—No, I did not chink the money in my pocket.

4584. Did either of the other captains say anything to you?—No, there was four of them, and they never named money to me in any way. They all told me that they had had the other parties offering money very freely.

4585. Then the house of Richmond was not to be bought?—They are a better sample than that.

4586. Did Ball say anything about the other side?—Yes, he told me he had 20*l.* offered for his vote.

4587. (Mr. Hill.) Did he say who by?—Yes, he told me, but I really forget who it was.

4588. (Mr. Newton.) What did the other man, "Yeates," say?—I had not any conversation with him. I met his wife, you see, and gave it to her.

4589. You merely gave it to him because he had voted right?—Of course.

4590. Did he always vote right; did he vote right in 1864?—No, he said he had made a mistake in 1864, and voted for Saunders.

4591. When did he tell you that?—I cannot exactly say. It may have been a few days before the election or something.

4592. Did he express his intention of voting right this time?—No, not exactly; he said that his father was very much opposed to that sort of politics.

4593. Schneider and Fenwick?—Yes, and he did not wish to offend his father; he said he was got an old man and he wished to give him his wish.

4594. Did he offend his father by his vote?—I do not know, I have not seen him since or spoke to him.

4595. You merely dropped the 6*l.* into his wife's hand?—Yes, something like 6*l.*; I cannot exactly say; it might be less; but it was not over 6*l.*; I do not recollect the amount or else I would tell you.

4596. (Mr. Hill.) Who was looking after these voters and seeing them besides yourself?—I in general went alone; but on one occasion I had a person of the name of Rawes with me.

4597. Was Rawes making reports to you, or did he come and tell you how matters were going on?—No, I met with him and he asked me what part I was taking, and I told him, and he said I will accompany you,

4598. Davis also saw some voters did he not?—He told me he was looking after the voters, as Mr. Welch had wished him to do it.

4599. Who is Davis?—He is a farmer in Ellel.

4600. Is he there now?—For anything I know he is. I should not know the man if I was to meet him now, he was a complete stranger to me, but I was along with him with Mr. Welch previously, and I thought he was all right.

4601. You had seen him with Mr. Welch?—Yes.

4602. And that was the reason why you trusted him with the 10*l.*?—Yes.

4603. Who else saw these Richmonds besides yourself?—I do not know, I cannot speak positively to that; I never was with them when any other person was there besides myself.

4604. But you would hear?—They told me that they had had Mr. Lamb.

4605. On your side?—No, against us.

4606. But who else saw them on your side?—I do not think anyone went near them, I think not.

4607. Who else had seen Yeates besides yourself?—I never saw any other person.

4608. Who was looking them up as well as yourself?—In that district?

4609. Yes?—Well, I might meet Henry Simpson.

4610. These others were seeing the voters as well as yourself in that district?—Yes, of course.

4611. And were arranging with them about their votes?—I cannot say what they did, I can only speak for myself.

4612. You have no doubt, however, that they were arranging about their votes?—I cannot speak to that.

4613. You do not mean to say you have really any doubt about it?—I think if they had not been they would not have been there.

4614. (Mr. Barstow.) Can you tell us who you consider to have been the Conservative captain of that district?—You mean for Forton?

4615. The same district that you had?—Who was on the other side?—A person of the name of Rothwell of Foxholes; he is not a freeman. I saw him and was in company with him at different times, and a person of the name of Robert Lawson, a land surveyor here in Lancaster.

4616. Did you see anyone else on the other side?—Not to the best of my recollection.

4617. (Mr. Hill.) What is the Christian name of Mr. Nelson, of Craig?—I do not know; it is Nelson of Cragg Ellel. There is only him in Ellel of that name.

4618. Is he a voter?—Yes.

HENRY RAWES sworn and examined.

H. Rawes.

4619. (Mr. Newton.) Where do you live?—In Margaret Street, Lancaster.

4620. What are you?—A draper.

4621. Have you been in court while Mr. Lawson has been examined?—Yes, the whole of the time.

4622. We have heard that you went to him?—On one occasion, on the nomination night.

4623. What were you?—I do not know what I was I am sure, I can scarcely tell you that; I suppose they put me down as a captain, if you like to call me so, but I do not know that I was one.

4624. In what district?—The district I went through was called Dolphinholme Lower Wyresdale.

4625. When did you first go there?—I believe, as nearly as I can remember, I went on the 13th of June with two gentlemen from Lancaster.

4626. Who were those two gentlemen?—Mr. William Welch and Mr. William Towers.

4627. Where did you go to?—To Dolphinholme and to the "Fleece Inn" there, that was the first place we went to; from there we went across the fields to a man named Davis.

4628. When you got to the "Fleece Inn" did you find any voter there?—No, we went across the fields to farmer named Davis; I do not know the name of the place, but the farmer's name is Davis.

4629. Who did you find at Mr. Davis's farm?—As near as I can remember we saw nobody but his wife. Some of us asked for Mr. Davis, and I think his wife said he was somewhere in the fields, if I remember right, and that she would fetch him. However, we saw him.

4630. When you saw him what conversation took place between you?—I think there was a little said about furthering the cause of Messrs. Fenwick and Schneider, as far as I can remember; I think that was the principal subject, and we presumed that he had an influence in the district and that he would exercise that influence for the benefit of the members; I think that is all.

4631. Did anything pass between you as to the payment of money?—Not a word.

4632. Not a word was mentioned about money?—No; I kept aloof from all that.

4633. Did you see anybody else at that place that day?—Yes, we saw the landlord of the "Fleece."

4634. Was he a voter?—No.

4635. Did you see any voters?—Not one, to my knowledge; not there. In fact I am sure of it.

4636. Did you arrange to take the "Fleece" Inn that day?—I believe we did arrange to take it; at least we arranged with the landlord not to let it without seeing Mr. Welch.

4637. What is the landlord's name?—I forget it. I ought to know it very well, but I do not remember it at this moment.

4638. You did not hire the "Fleece?"—No, we did not, I believe.

4639. Did you hire any inn at all there?—No; there are only two in the village.

FIFTH DAY.

H. Rawes.

31 Aug. 1866.

4640. And they were both taken by the other side?—I do not think the "Fiddle" was taken at all. It is a very scanty place, and there are but two public-houses in it.

4641. When was the next time you went over?—I believe the next time was when I went during the time the members were canvassing. I think I went with them also.

4642. Did you see any electors then?—Yes, we saw two.

4643. Was anything said about money on that occasion?—Not a word was mentioned at all. The subject was never broached at all.

4644. Did you go again?—On the night of the nomination, but I did not go up as far as there; I only went to Dolphinholme the night of the nomination. I think that was the furthest place we went to. The day I went with the members along with other gentlemen we went a little further. We went another way altogether.

4645. Where did you go to on the day of the nomination?—I went to the "Fleece," and from there to Dolphinholme.

4646. Who did you see at the "Fleece?"—It was of no use. The house was taken by the Tories. We had not a shadow of chance; we could not get in. They would not even let us put our horses up.

4647. Where did you go from there?—To Dolphinholme, and Mr. Birchall called to see one or two voters there.

4648. Was anything said about money to those two voters you have mentioned?—I did not hear anything. Mr. Birchall, I think, had known them very well before. I kept aloof; I did not want to hear anything about money.

4649. Did you see Mr. Henry Welch that evening?—Yes.

4650. Where did you see him?—I saw him in the committee room at the "Queen's Hotel."

4651. Was that before you went over?—Yes; about half-past 4 I saw him, Mr. Blades, and Mr. Wearing all in one room.

4652. Did they give you any directions?—No, they did not give me any direction at all. I suppose it was left to my own discretion what I was to do.

4653. You were to do what?—I suppose to look after voters and to go about the district; at least I take it for granted it was so.

4654. Did they give you any money?—Yes.

4655. Was that the first money you had ever received?—It was the first money I ever touched in my life belonging to an election.

4656. What did they give you?—20*l.*

4657. Who was it that gave it to you; was it Mr. Welch?—I think it was; I could not swear it, but I think so.

4658. Was it in gold?—In gold.

4659. Then you went off to Dolphinholme?—Yes; I met Mr. Birchall on the road.

4660. What was the next time that you received any money?—About half-past 11 on the day of the election.

4661. How much did you receive then?—20*l.* in gold.

4662. From whom?—Mr. Welch, I think.

4663. When was the next time you received any money?—I got no more. I did not want any more.

4664. You had only 40*l.*?—No, that was all.

4665. How did you spend that 40*l.*?—I returned 24*l.* 6*s.* of it.

4666. What was the first payment you made?—In what respect?

4667. What was the first payment you made out of the 40*l.*?—I do not understand you exactly.

4668. You received 20*l.* the night before the election?—Yes.

4669. You received 20*l.* the following morning, and now I ask how you disposed of that?—On the night of the nomination Mr. Birchall and I went round to a place called Kirkhams and Forton.

4670. What did you do there?—I did nothing. I left Mr. Birchall there to stay all night. I went home and went to bed. Next morning I went by the first train to the "Bay Horse" station, and there I met Mr. Davis and a man called Parker and a man called Towers, and I think there were two or three women.

4671. I am asking you first when you paid any of this money?—I shall come to it presently. I gave 15*l.* to a woman who came with us to get the two voters, Towers and Parker. I gave it to her in three 5*l.* notes.

4672. Who was the woman?—I cannot tell you who the woman was.

4673. Do you know the woman or not?—No, I do not.

4674. You gave it to a woman?—Yes.

4675. What did she ask you for?—Nothing. I put it into her hand and said, "Give that to Parker and Towers."

4676. Had the woman been with Parker and Towers before?—I think she had.

4677. Did she seem to be a friend of theirs?—Yes, I think she was.

4678. What made you give that money to Parker and Towers?—Because they were voters. I brought them and had them to pay.

4679. Why had you them to pay?—Because, like the rest of the voters, I supposed they would want money to vote.

4680. Did you talk to them about paying them?—I think that when I saw Parker he gave me to understand that he would want money, and I said we would pay as well as the others. He said he had not got paid by the Conservatives before.

4681. No sum was mentioned?—No.

4682. (Mr. Hill.) Had he voted for the Conservatives before?—I think he had, as near as I can remember.

4683. He said he had not been paid by the other side before, and therefore he would not vote for them again?—I think it was something to that effect.

4684. Did he say that if he voted for you he must have something?—Not directly. He gave me to understand so.

4685. What did he say?—"You will pay as well as the other side," or something like that, and I said, "Yes," words to that effect. I cannot remember the exact words.

4686. Did you then make any arrangement as to the price?—No.

4687. Then it was entirely voluntary on your part that you gave him the 7*l.* 10*s.*?—Yes, exactly so.

4688. Did you tell him that he should have 7*l.* 10*s.*?—No, I did not.

4689. What was your conversation with Towers?—I had no conversation at all with Towers.

4690. Why did you give the woman money to give to Towers, unless Towers knew that he was to have it?—Because I understood I was to pay them, having taken them from the "Bay Horse."

4691. Were you to pay every voter that came from the "Bay Horse?"—We had only two from there.

4692. You were to pay both of those 7*l.* 10*s.* each?—Yes.

4693. Who told you that?—I did it according to my own discretion from the money I had. Nobody told me to do it.

4694. Who told you that you were to pay these two voters?—No one told me.

4695. How did you know that they would vote for you?—They had voted.

4696. But they might have voted without your paying them?—I do not think they would do that exactly.

4697. At what time did you give the money?—About quarter-past 9.

4698. They had been there and voted when you gave them the money?—I took them to vote.

4699. Do you know Towers's Christian name?—I do not know his Christian name. I think he lives at Dolphinholme.

4700. (Mr. Newton.) Was William Welch with you this morning ?—No.

4701. Did you ever tell him that you had paid Towers any money ?—No, I never said anything to him about it.

4702. It was proved to us yesterday that William Welch had paid John Towers money. Is that the same man that you paid ?—I do not know. I presume he would be.

4703. Then he got paid twice ?—I presume he would.

4704. You do not know his Christian name ?—No, I do not.

4705. You believe it was John Towers ?—I do not know. I never saw the man before or since.

4706. And there was no conversation between you and him before this payment to the woman ?—No, not the slightest.

4707. And you do not know the woman's name ?—No, I do not.

4708. Do you know Parker's Christian name ?—No, I do not. He is a joiner.

4709. You have now accounted for 15*l.* What became of the remainder of the money ; what was the next payment that you made ?—I made no other payments, only 14*s.* expenses.

4710. Is that all the money ?—Yes.

4711. And have you paid the balance back to Mr. Welch ?—Yes.

4712. When did you do that ?—On the 22nd of July.

4713. In the course of your canvass, and when you were going about, did you come across the captain on the enemy's side ?—No ; I do not think that I did. I do not remember having done so. I think I did not.

4714. (Mr. Hill.) You have not spoken to William Welch on the subject of the two persons you paid ?—No, I have not.

4715. You do not know whether the Towers you paid was the same person that William Welch paid ?—I think he would be.

4716. He has had 17*l.* 10*s.*, then, altogether ?—I do not know what he has had, but I know I gave the money in the "Bear and Staff" to pay the two voters that came with us.

Josiah Ball sworn and examined.

4717. (Mr. Hill.) What are you ?—A coal dealer.

4718. Living in Lancaster ?—Yes.

4719. Are you a Liberal ?—Yes.

4720. Were you a captain at the last election ?—Along with William Jackson.

4721. Over what district ?—Scotforth.

4722. Which Jackson was it that you were captain with ?—William Jackson, of the "Boot and Shoe," Scotforth.

4723. Was John Welch also looking after that district with you ?—I saw John Welch there.

4724. When did you first visit your district ?—I think it would be perhaps 10 days or a fortnight before the election took place.

4725. Did you meet voters there ?—I suppose there would be part voters there and part non-voters.

4726. Did you have a meeting there ?—We met there.

4727. Where ?—At the "Boot and Shoe," in Scotforth.

4728. Were the candidates with you on that occasion ?—No.

4729. Only your brother captains ?—Only those.

4730. Was there a large meeting of the electors ?—Yes ; pretty fair, I think.

4731. You addressed the meeting, I suppose ?—No, we did not address the meeting at all.

4732. You addressed them separately ?—Yes.

4733. You put forth the claims of your candidates ?—Yes.

4734. In a political and pecuniary point of view ?—Yes.

4735. Afterwards had you any separate conversation with any of them as to the price of votes upon that occasion ?—I had, with three only.

4736. Who were those three ?—The first was James Row, his brother William, and Isaac Winder.

4737. What was said to James Row about the price of his vote ?—Nothing was said until the nomination day.

4738. There was nothing said at these times about a specific price ?—No, nothing at all. Nothing was mentioned about it.

4739. What monies did you receive for the purposes of that election ?—I received, I think, about 70*l.*

4740. Was that from Mr. Henry Welch ?—Yes.

4741. When was the first sum ?—The first sum was on the 11th of July, I think.

4742. How much was that ?—That would be the nomination day.

4743. How much ?—I think it was 50*l.*

4744. What was the next sum you received ?—The next was on the election day ; 20*l.* I think it was—it was thereabouts—18*l.* or 20*l.*, I forget which.

4745. Did you receive anything for expenses ?—Yes ; I received about a fortnight before the election a small sum of 10*s.* or 1*l.*

4746. How much did you receive altogether ?—Altogether about 3*l.*

4747. Before the election ?—Yes.

4748. For election expenses how much shall I put down ?—About 3*l.*

4749. That was all you received, was it ?—Yes.

4750. Of any sort or kind ?—Yes.

4751. 3*l.*, 50*l.*, and 20*l.* ?—Yes.

4752. Making altogether 73*l.* or thereabouts ?—Yes.

4753. You say you laid out for expenses before the election about 3*l.* ?—About 3*l.*

4754. What was the next money that you paid ?—I paid 12*l.* to Isaac Winder.

4755. Was that for his vote ?—Yes.

4756. What is Mr. Winder ?—A joiner.

4757. Where at ?—At the "Pointer," in the township of Scotforth.

4758. In what position of life is he ?—He is a working man.

4759. You gave him 12*l.* ?—Yes.

4760. Who is the next ?—William Smith Row, a printer.

4761. How much did you give him ?—12*l.*

4762. Then the next ?—James Row.

4763. What is he ?—He is a brushmaker.

4764. 12*l.* ?—Yes.

4765. Who is the next ?—I gave 3*l.* to George Jackson, of Scotforth.

4766. What is he ?—I think he is a blacksmith.

4767. How came he only to have 3*l.* ?—I cannot say.

4768. How did he vote ?—He voted all right.

4769. Did he fix the sum of 3*l.* or did you ?—I think he fixed it himself.

4770. Was it early in the day, or what ?—It was early in the morning.

4771. You can give me no particular reason why it was 3*l.* instead of 12*l.* ?—No, I cannot.

4772. Who was the next ?—The next was William Sharples, shoe maker, in Galgate. I gave 10*l.* to John Robinson for that voter.

4773. (Mr. Newton.) Robinson is not a voter ?—Yes, I think he is a voter.

4774. He is a householder ?—Yes, he will be a householder.

4775. (Mr. Hill.) Who is the next ?—The next is William Lawson, China Lane, 10*l.*

4776. What is he ?—I think he keeps a public-house in China Lane.

4777. He will be a householder ?—Yes.

4778. That was not for his house at all ?—No.

4779. Who was the next ?—The next was, I think,

FIFTH DAY.

J. Ball.

31 Aug. 1866.

a man of the name of Richmond, to whom I gave 8*l.* 10*s.*, at least I gave it to Mr. Helme, junior, for his vote.

4780. What is Richmond's Christian name ?—N. G., I think.

4781. (Mr. Newton.) He voted Lawrence ?—No, he did not manage it well; he ran away after he had got the money I paid; he is a turncoat.

4782. (Mr. Hill.) Is Mr. Helme a voter ?—No.

4783. Are those the voters you paid ?—Yes; and then my expenses for refreshments would be about 6*l.* or 7*l.* altogether.

4784. For refreshment of voters ?—Yes, for voters.

4785. And personal refreshments ?—Yes, for their wives and so on, I gave them a good breakfast. The expenses for refreshment would be about 7*l.*, not more.

4786. That makes 77*l.* 10*s.* You say you received 73*l.*, where did you get the 4*l.* 10*s.* from ?—I said I thought I received about 70*l.*

4787. Where did you get the difference between 73*l.* and 73*l.* 10*s.* ?—I did not spend 77*l.* 10*s.*

4788. I make it so ?—It might not be as much as 7*l.* for refreshments. I cannot speak to a pound or two.

4789. You think it would about balance ?—Yes.

4790. If we make that 7*l.* which you put for refreshments 3*l.*, that would be right ?—Somewhere about 3*l.*—3*l.* or 4*l.*

4791. You did not pay any money out of your own pocket ?—I did at the early part.

4792. You were repaid ?—Yes.

4793. I may make this note—"The sums ought to balance, as I received all that I paid ?"—Yes.

4794. Besides that, did you receive anything for yourself, for your own trouble ?—No.

4795. Did you receive no remuneration at all ?—No; I should be very sorry to take anything of the sort.

4796. Who was the Conservative captain that you found opposed to you in your district ?—I heard of Mr. Quarne, the editor of the "Gazette," addressing the electors, and Mr. Halsted, a gardener.

4797. They were addressing the electors on the other side ?—Yes.

4798. Do you know any other names on the Conservative side who were active in that district ?—No, I do not remember any others.

W. Jackson.

WILLIAM JACKSON sworn and examined.

4799. (Mr. Barstow) What are you ?—I am a blacksmith by trade.

4800. Where ?—At Scotforth.

4801. Did you take an active part for the Liberal party at the late election ?—Yes, I did a little for them.

4802. What money did you receive from anybody for the purposes of the election ?—I received 30*l.* from Mr. Welch.

4803. When did you receive that ?—On the nomination day, in the morning.

4804. Is that all you received ?—No.

4805. What did you receive besides ?—I do not know exactly the amount; it was somewhere between 8*l.* and 9*l.*

4806. When did you receive that ?—About a month or five weeks after the election.

4807. That sum of 38*l.* or 39*l.* is the whole you received ?—Yes.

4808. How did you spend it ?—I gave it to voters.

4809. To whom ?—There was 10*l.* to James Birkett.

4810. What is he ?—A labourer.

4811. "Scotforth, wool comber ?"—Yes, that's the man.

4812. How much did you give to him ?—I did not give it to him, but I gave it to a person who gave it to his wife.

4813. To whom did you give it ?—Anthony Downham.

4814. Is there anyone else ?—Yes, George Marshall.

4815. Who is he ? Is it "George Marshall, Scotforth, farmer ?"—He would be down as a farmer. He is a poor man, and keeps a small piece of garden, and gets his living that way.

4816. How much did you give him ?—8*l.*

4817. Who is the next ?—George Jackson.

4818. What is he ?—He used to be a blacksmith at Scotforth.

4819. How much did you give him ?—3*l.*

4820. Who next ?—Joseph Kellsall.

4821. What is he ?—A farmer.

4822. How much did you give him ?—I cannot remember whether it was 1*l.* or 2*l.*, but it was either the one or the other.

4823. We must take a figure. What shall we say ?—You may take it as 1*l.*, but I will not be confident about it.

4824. Who next ?—I think that was all.

4825. Did you spend any money in expenses ?—Yes; I gave 10*s.* to Anthony Downham.

4826. What was the whole amount you spent in refreshments and the like ?—This 10*s.* was not for refreshments exactly. I gave it to Anthony Downham to fetch a voter from Boland.

4827. What was the voter's name ?—James Birkett.

4828. Did you pay anything else ?—Yes; there was another sum of 10*s.* I gave to a man of the name of Richard Hardman.

4829. What was that for ?—For refreshments and assisting the night before the election and during the election day.

4830. Is he a voter ?—No, he is not.

4831. Anyone else ?—No, I think that is the whole of the persons to whom I gave money.

4832. Did you spend any loose money in refreshments ?—Yes; I perhaps might spend 25*s.* or 30*s.*, but I cannot speak to a few shillings.

4833. What shall I write down ?—You may say 30*s.*

4834. Do you think that is all ?—Yes, I think it is.

4835. What became of the balance ?—I think that sum that I got from Welch, about five weeks after the election was for a committee room at my house.

4836. That is the 8*l.* ?—No, it was not all for that. He wanted to know what I should want for my trouble during the election, and I said I did not know. I did not like to name a figure; and he said "Will 5*l.* suit you ?" and I said "Yes, I shall be perfectly satisfied." That was about five weeks after the election.

4837. (Mr. Hill.) How much of the 8*l.* was for this, and how much for the committee room ?—I think I was told I was to have 4*l.* for the committee room.

4838. 4*l.* for the committee room and the balance for yourself ?—Yes.

4839. That is the account of all the money you received ?—Yes.

4840. Do you know anything about George Jackson having any other money besides this 8*l.* ?—No, I do not.

J. Welch.

JOHN WELCH sworn and examined.

4841. (Mr. Newton.) Where do you live ?—At Scotforth.

4842. What are you ?—A farmer.

4843. We hear that you were captain of this district ?—I assisted in it.

4844. How much money did you receive from Mr. Henry Welch previous to the election ?—I received nothing before the election.

4845. How much did you receive after the election ?—2*l.*

4846. When ?—About three months after the election.

4347. What for ?—It was for money that I had expended for different parties.

4848. To repay you for what you had spent?—Yes; he asked me what I had expended.

4849. You had spent it in refreshments ?—Yes, at the different committee meetings we had.

4850. Are you a voter ?—Yes.

4851. (Mr. Hill.) This was in refreshments of voters ?—It was for refreshment at the different meetings we had.

4852. Of voters ?—Yes, of course of voters.

JAMES LAMB sworn and examined.

J. Lamb.

4853. (Mr. Hill.) What are you ?—A shoemaker.

4854. Where ?—In Mary Street, Lancaster.

4855. Are you a labourer ?—Yes.

5856. Were you engaged at the last election ?—I assisted at the last election. I was not particularly engaged.

4857. Have you generally assisted at the elections previously ?—Yes.

4858. On the Liberal side ?—Yes.

4859. Since when ?—I really cannot tell you the year. Since the first time Mr. Gregson put up.

4860. That would be 1847 ?—Yes, it would be about that year.

4861. What moneys did you receive for the purposes of the last election ?—2*l.* 10*s.*

4862. From whom ?—Henry Welch.

4863. When, before or after the election ?—Before —and 10*s.* from Robert Blades.

4864. When was that ?—Before the election.

4865. Did you receive any other moneys ?—No.

4866. Not at all ?—No.

4867. 3*l.* was all the money you received for the purposes of the election?—Yes, that was all I received from any one.

4868. How did you spend it ?—I spent it in refreshments.

4869. In refreshments of voters?—Yes, of voters and myself.

4870. Where at?—At Caton, and other places in Lancaster as well.

4871. Anything more ?—I spent some of my own money.

4872. How much did you spend of your own money ?—Well, I could not exactly tell.

4873. Did you not receive it from the candidates, or anybody on their behalf ?—I have never received it yet.

4874. How much money did you so spend, about, should you think ?—I could not get nearer than somewhere about 10*l.*

4875. How did you spend that ?—Principally in refreshments and looking up votes.

4876. You mean by refreshments, payments of public-houses ?—Yes, payments of public-houses.

4877. And in the carriage of voters?—Yes.

4878. You spent about 10*l.* ?—Yes, that is the nearest I can get.

4879. Have you sent in your bill for that ? —Yes.

4880. To whom ?—I took it to Mr. Tilly, and he handed it over to Wright Wearing.

4881. Have you heard anything of it since ?—No.

4882. Have you applied for it ?—Yes.

4883. Have you not been paid for it ?—No.

4884. Did you make out a regular bill of it ?—Yes.

4885. Have you got a copy of it here ?—No.

4886. Can you bring us another copy of it ?—No, I cannot; I have not booked it.

4887. You cannot make a copy of it ?—No, not to make it correct.

4888. Did you put down item by item ?—No.

4889. Merely the sum of 10*l.* ?—Yes.

4890. Then you can make a copy of the total ?—Yes, I can make a copy of it.

4891. Did you not give to them the items ?—No.

4892. Did you ever make it out with the items ?—No.

4893. How do you know it comes to 10*l.* ?—I can only tell from my books at home what I had received and what I spent.

4894. You knew what money you ought to have in your pocket at the time ?—Yes.

4895. You put down all the money you receive and spent, except this ?—Yes.

4896. That is the only way you can arrive at it ?—Yes; 10*l.* is as near as I can possibly come to it.

4897. Have you talked to Wearing about it ?—Yes,

4898. Has he promised to pay it ?—No.

4899. Has he given you any hopes that it will be paid ?—No, he wanted to know who put my name down to work, and I said I could not give it.

4900. You were not one of those who partook of the cannibal feast of lamb and green peas, you were not one of those that were kept so long on lamb and green peas ?—No.

4901. At what houses did you spend this money ?—There was the "White Lion," the "King's Arms" in Chapel Street, and a number of different public-houses, but I cannot mention the names of them all.

4902. You must have had some good payments to make up the 10*l.* ?—I was canvassing from the first commencement.

4903. By canvassing you mean giving drink ?—Yes, giving drink, and being amongst the voters.

4904. Drink got further than the arguments ?—Yes, a good deal.

4905. When did you first send in your bill ?—I should think it would be about a few weeks after the election.

Adjourned for a short time.

JOSIAH BALL recalled.

J. Ball.

4906. (Mr. Barstow.) I believe there is some statement that you wish to correct ?—Yes, as to Mr. Richardson—Mr. Helme simply took him down to vote, I paid him the money myself.

4907. How was it that Richmond escaped your clutches, and ran away after receiving the money ?—Mr. Helme ought to have looked better after him.

4908. You paid him the money ?—Yes.

4909. And he slipped through Mr. Helme's fingers and voted for Lawrence ?—Yes, I also forgot to name that I had two runners that I paid 10*s.* a piece to.

4910. Who were those two ?—I cannot give you their names.

4911. They were not voters ?—No, they were not. Then, as to my expenses, I think you put them down twice over.

4912. (Mr. Hill.) I put down expenses before the election 3*l.*, and expenses for refreshment of voters 7*l.* ?—Not besides the 3*l.*, it ought to be only 4*l.*

4913. That will make your account still too much for the money you received—that was your account 75*l.* 10*s.*, so there is 2*l.* in excess of the sum you received ?—Then I am out of pocket that much.

4914. Or else you have had it?—No, I have not had it.

FIFTH DAY.

Mr. ROBERT WILLIAMSON BLADES sworn and examined.

Mr. R. W. Blades.

31 Aug. 1866.

4915. (Mr. Barstow.) You live in Dalton Square, Lancaster?—Yes.

4916. What is your occupation?—A joiner and builder.

4917. Are you brother to the gentleman of the same name who proposed Mr. Schneider?—I am.

4918. Have you been an active partizan at elections here?—I have.

4919. On the Liberal side?—On the Liberal side.

4920. At the last election we have been told you were captain?—I was, for Caton and Brookhouse.

4921. When did you receive your commission?—Perhaps 10 days before the election.

4922. From whom?—I believe Mr. Tilly, but I will not be certain.

4923. When did you visit your district first?—I resided there at the time.

4924. What money did you receive altogether; give us the gross sum?—65*l.* 18*s.*

4925. What was the first sum you received?—25*l.*

4926. Who was that from?—Mr. Welch.

4927. At what time was that?—The evening of the nomination.

4928. When was the next time you received?—Two or three days after the election.

4929. How much did you receive?—The balance.

4930. That is 40*l.* 18*s.*?—40*l.* 18*s.*

4931. What was the first money you spent?—32*s.*

4932. First of all, I will ask you what money you spent in bribery?—60*l.*

4933. Then the rest you spent in refreshments?—With the exception of a runner, 24*s.*, and Mr. James Lamb, 10*s.*

4934. What did you give James Lamb 10*s.* for?—I believe by Mr. Welch's orders for him to go over to Caton for some purpose or other.

4935. To whom did you pay money for their votes?—John Sherson.

4937. Well?—Edward Hartley, of Brookhouse, a silk spinner, 10*l.*

4938. Now the next?—William Hartley, a silk spinner.

4939. The next?—Christopher Hartley, a wheelwright.

4940. The next?—James Hartley of Caton, wheelwright; all the others had 10*l.*

4942. (Mr. Hill.) How did he vote?—He voted for Lawrence and Schneider.

4943. (Mr. Barstow.) Anybody else?—No.

4944. How did James Hartley vote?—He voted for Fenwick and Schneider.

4945. Had you any conversation with Masheder about his vote?—Yes.

4946. When was that?—On two or three occasions.

4947. Take the last before he voted?—I do not know anything in particular, he spoke about a cow being dead.

4948. Tell us anything that he said to you about payment for his vote?—I do not know that he said anything, but that he was a poor man, that he had had a cow that was dead, and that he would require money.

4949. Did he say anything to you about having promised the other side?—One vote only.

4950. What did you say upon that?—I asked him if he could give me his other vote.

4951. Upon that what did he say?—He said he would.

4952. Did he say he would, or did you make him an offer for it?—I did not.

4953. Did he ask you for which Liberal candidate you wished him to vote?—Yes, I told him who I wished him to vote for.

4954. Did you make it a condition of his receiving 5*l.* that he should vote for Schneider?—No, I said I would pay him.

4955. You did not say more than that you would pay him if he voted for Schneider?—Yes, if he voted for Schneider.

4956. I suppose you would not have paid him if he had voted for Fenwick?—No, I would not.

4957. (Mr. Hill.) Is that so?—Yes.

4958. (Mr. Barstow.) Whom do you consider to have been the conservative captain of this district?—I really do not know.

4959. Did you never hear?—No, I never heard.

4960. Did you never see any Conservatives going about there canvassing?—No.

4961. Have you received anything by way of remuneration for your trouble?—No, not anything.

4962. You received 68*l.* 18*s.* and you have accounted for 61*l.* 14*s.*, what became of the balance?—The refreshments were 4*l.* 4*s.*

4963. That is 4*l.* 4*s.* plus the sum you have already mentioned?—Yes.

4964. (Mr. Hill.) Refreshments to voters?—Yes, that includes breakfasts, and also hay and corn for the horses, lodgings for the drivers, and the toll bar.

4965. For voters and carriage?—Yes.

4966. (Mr. Barstow.) When did you pay these men, before or after they had voted?—Some before and some after, and some half before and the rest after they had voted.

4967. Did any of those that you paid vote the other way?—No, they did not, I polled all that promised me.

T. Bradley.

THOMAS BRADLEY sworn and examined.

4968. (Mr Newton.) What are you?—A tin-plate worker.

4969. Are you a freeman or a householder?—A householder.

4970. Were you captain of the district?—Yes.

4971. Of which district?—Of Church Street district.

4972. When were you first made captain of that district?—Well, I cannot tell the date, perhaps it may be ten or twelve days before the election.

4973. By whom were you appointed?—There was a committee meeting but I did not attend it, I did not wish to have anything to do with it, but I had been on the same district several elections previously.

4974. You must know who made you captain?—No, I do not, they brought me a paper.

4975. You were made captain at a meeting?—Yes, but I was not at the meeting.

4976. How much money did you receive altogether?—68*l.*

4977. From whom did you receive it; was it all from one person or from different people?—From Henry Welch.

4978. When first did you receive any money?—On the 1st of July I received 2*l.*, on the 10th of July 3*l.*, on the night of the nomination I received 25*l.*, and on the morning of the election 38*l.*, that is all.

4979. What did you receive that money for?—Well, for general purposes to carry on the election I suppose.

4980. To buy voters?—They did not say what I was to do with it.

4981. They knew what you were to do with it?—They thought I understood the business.

4982. How did you spend it?—On the 1st of July, not exactly on that morning, but I spent, previously to the election, the 5*l.* I had received.

4983. When was the first payment that you made?—I do not know whether it was the same evening or not that I called the voters together and gave them some refreshment.

4984. Where at?—At the "Golden Ball," in Saint Nicholas Street.

4985. How much was spent there?—Well, I could not tell to a few shillings. I should say better than a pound. I could not tell exactly.

4986. May we call it 1*l.* 5*s* ?—I could not tell to a few shillings; indeed there was not a great deal spent there.

4987. Perhaps it will be better if you will tell us the whole amount that you paid for refreshments? —5*l.*

4988. Altogether?—Yes, previous to the election.

4989. What did you do with the remaining 62*l.* ?—I paid the voters.

4990. Who did you pay?—I paid Bryan Cumpsty, of Anchor Street, tailor.

4991. How much did you pay him?—10*l.* He said he would not vote for less, as his master (that was Mr. George Pease, a master tailor) had promised him that amount.

4992. On the other side?—Yes; or he had promised to vote for 8*l.*

4993. Who was the next man you paid?—William Cumpsty, his son, 10*l.* He said he could get it on the opposite side if I would not give it.

4994. Who else?—Thomas Cumpsty, another son.

4995. How much?—10*l.* William Bleasdale, a joiner, Market Street, 8*l.* Allen Kirk; a cabinetmaker, 5*l.* for his vote and two weeks services in delivering out circulars and voting papers.

4996. (Mr. Hill.) Only 5*l.* altogether?—That is all.

4997. That included his services?—Yes.

4998. (Mr. Newton.) Who else?—Enoch Monks, Cheapside.

4999. (Mr. Hill.) Is he a householder?—Yes.

5000. How much did you pay him?—10*l.* He had agreed to vote for 8*l.*, but the other party had been at him, and offered him 10*l.*, and so he changed his mind.

5001. You raised your price?—I was obliged to or else lose my man.

5002. Can you mention anybody else?—Yes, Samuel Taylor, a tin-plate worker, in Church Street.

5004. Anybody else?—Henry Berry, a householder.

5005. Where does he live?—In Church Street.

5006. How much did you pay him?—5*l.*

5007. That is all?—That is all.

5008. Had all these men promised you before?—They did, and all did vote.

5009. Did any men promise you their votes who did not vote, but had been got at by the enemy?—No.

5010. Do you know a man named Kirby?—Yes.

5011. Did you ever pay him anything?—If I did it was out of this money that I received for refreshment.

5012. You have accounted for all the money you received. You received 68*l.* and you have given us an account of the payment of 68*l.* ?—But it was amongst this money that I had received for refreshments. I gave him money to give the voters something to refresh themselves.

5013. Did you spend any money yourself out of your own pocket?—I think I did, but I could not tell what; I think it would not be much, if it was any.

5014. How much would you say?—I do not know. I had money in my pocket at the time. I should think it would be under 1*l.*

5015. Then if Kirby had been paid he would have been paid out of the 5*l.* for expenses?—Yes.

5016. Might Welch have paid it?—I do not know, I cannot tell that. I can only give an account of the money I received myself.

5017. Who was the Conservative captain on your beat?—I do not know.

5018. Did you never come across him or see him?—No, I do not remember it.

5019. I do not know whether you have told me whether you paid these men before or after they had voted?—After they had voted; I never paid a man before he had voted.

5020. (Mr. Hill.) In what position was this Enoch Monks?—He keeps a clogger's shop in Cheapside.

5021. What sort of a house does he live in?—I think they live at the back of the shop; it is only a very small place rented at about 20*l.* I should think as near as I can guess.

5022. How came Allen Kirk to receive only 5*l.* for all his services and everything?—Well, I do not know; we bought them as low as we possibly could.

5023. How came he to take so little when others were getting so mue hmore?—I do not know I am sure. I asked him if it would satisfy him and he said yes.

5024. How came Henry Barrow, a householder, to take 5*l.* only instead of asking for 10*l.* ?—I offered him 5*l.* I asked him if it would satisfy him and he said yes.

5025. What sort of a house does he keep?—He keeps a shop; he is a stonemason by trade; his wife looks after the business. I do not suppose he has anything to spare.

5026. He is not very well off?—No.

JAMES TURNER sworn and examined. J. Turner.

5027. (Mr. Hill.) What are you?—A cabinetmaker.

5028. Where do you live?—In Damside Street.

5029. Are you a Liberal?—Yes.

5030. And were you engaged as a captain at the last election?—Yes.

5031. Over what district?—The Green Area district.

5032. And you were appointed at this meeting of the Liberal committee?—Yes.

5033. In company with Mansergh Bell, Mr. Fothergill, and William Shaw?—Mansergh Bell, and Mr. Fothergill, but not William Shaw.

5034. What money did you receive at the last election; tell me first of all the sum you received, from whom, and at what date?—For preliminary expenses probably it would be a sovereign, from Mr. Welch.

5035. At what date?—That might be a fortnight or three weeks before the election.

5036. What was the next sum you received?—It would be perhaps 2*l.* or 3*l.*; I cannot recollect exactly the sum, but it was close previous to the election; I should think I should get the short side of 10*l*; it would be under 10*l.*

5037. Then other sums, previous to the election, 9*l.* ?—Yes.

5038. Making altogether, before the election, 10*l.* ?—Yes.

5039. Now, then we come, to what other sums you received?—On the nomination day, at night, I received some money.

5040. The evening of July the 11th?—Yes.

5041. What did you receive then?—100*l.*

5042. From Henry Welch?—Yes.

5043. What was the next sum you received?—I did not receive any other.

5044. Then was 110*l.* the total sum you received for that election?—Yes.

5045. You did not receive anything after the election?—No.

5046. Now we will come to the sums which you spent if you please. What sums did you spend before the election?—They were chiefly for refreshments at public-houses.

5047. To what amount?—To the amount of 10*l.*

5048. For voters and yourself, is that so?—Yes.

5049. What other sums did you spend?—None previous to the election. I think the first sum I paid would be to William Kitchen, he is down for Leonard Gate, a labourer. I think he is on the register.

5050. How much did you give him?—I think I gave

FIFTH DAY.

J. Turner.

31 Aug. 1866.

him 9*l.* ; his vote was 10*l.*, but he made an arrangement with another man that got the other sovereign.

5051. But you gave him for his vote 10*l.* ?—No, 9*l.*, and the other man I gave a sovereign to.

5052. For himself 9*l.*, and for the other man how much ?—The other 1*l.*, making the 10*l.*

5053. To whom did you give the 1*l.* ?—Edward Gardner.

5054. Was that for bringing him up ?—For some outlay or some arrangement they had made. I do not know what it was.

5055. What is the next sum you will give me as having paid ?—The next sum would be paid to Richard Garth.

5056. What is Richard Garth ?—A shoemaker.

5057. Where does he live ?—I think he is on for Germany Street.

5058. How much did you give Richard Garth ?—5*l.*

5059. How came he only to have 5*l.* ?—Well, I fancy he had received a little more from another source. I think so.

5060. He had received something from whom ?—I do not know that he had done so, but I think he would.

5061. From whom ?—I do not know, I think he would be put on as a "time" man or something.

5062. How much did you give him altogether ?—I gave him 5*l.*

5063. Who was the next man ?—Thomas Greenall.

5064. What is he ?—A whitesmith I think.

5065. How much did you give him ?—5*l.*

5066. How came he only to receive 5*l.* ?—Well, that was all I arranged with him for, and I fancy that he would be on for time previous to the election independent of that.

5067. Who was the next ?—Willam Fober.

5068. What is he ?—A shoemaker.

5069. Where ?—He would be on for Damside Street.

5070. How much did he get ?—5*l.*

5071. Had he anything besides as a runner ?—I think he would.

5072. Who was the next ?—Richard Wolfendale.

5073. What is he ?—A butcher.

5274. Where ?—He is on for Damside Street.

5675. How much did he get ?—He did not receive it personally, it was his mistress ; 5*l.*

5076. He is a householder, is he not ?—Yes, he is.

5077. Is he in a good way of business ?—Yes, I should think he does a very good business.

5078. Who was the next ?—I think that is all, directly for their votes.

5079. Now then for the indirectly ?—The first is one of my assistants, Mansergh Bell.

5080. For vote and assistance ?—No, for assistance. For his services during the time.

5081. How much ?—5*l.* ; but I am not sure whether it was 5*l.* or 6*l.*, I am not positive about it, but 5*l.* I may safely say.

5082. Who else ?—Mr. Christopher Fothergill.

5083. Is that Mr. Fothergill of China Lane ?—No.

5084. Where does this Christopher Fothergill live ?—In Damside Street.

5085. Is Mansergh Bell a voter ?—Yes.

5086. Is he a householder ?—Yes.

5088. What was that for ?—Assisting me.

5089. What is the next ?—I paid Robert Whiteside.

5090. Is he a freeman ?—Yes, but it was to give to another party.

5091. Who was it for ?—Mr. Fawcett.

5092. What is his christian name ?—I do not know ; he is since dead, I believe.

5093. How much did you give him ?—5*l.*

5094. What was that for ?—To give to Fawcett for his vote.

5095. That was for a vote ?—Yes, I missed that item before.

5096. What is the next ?—Then I paid where I had my committee room a bill of 10*l.* for refreshments.

5097. What house was that ?—Yorkshire House.

5098. How much was that ?—10*l.*

5099. Then the next ?—That is all that I can think of at present.

5100. You have not accounted for all your money by a good deal ?—Perhaps I shall. I sent a return in. I handed a balance in of 40*l.* ; I returned that.

5101. What did you do with the rest of the money ?—I returned a balance of 40*l.* to Mr. Welch.

5102. 40*l.* exactly ?—Yes.

5103. Then there is 5*l.* left ?—There were runners and messengers, and other small items that I could not specify exactly what I paid.

5104. Were those runners, messengers, and so on, voters ?—No ; there is a man named William Barrow, a cabinetmaker ; I gave him a sovereign, but that was not for his vote.

5105. Is he a voter ?—Yes, he is a voter.

5106. Was that for assistance ?—Yes.

5107. Now give me some other item, if any ?—The other was in small items, for refreshments. I had three or four public-houses under me.

5108. Were those refreshments after and during the election ?—Yes.

5109. Did you lay out any other money during the election out of your own pocket ?—No.

5110. What remuneration did you receive for this? None.

5111. You received nothing at all ?—No.

5112. Have you made a claim for anything ?—No.

5113. Do you intend to make a claim ?—No.

5114. Have not these persons to whom you paid only 5*l.* made a further claim upon you for something ?—No.

5115. Were they quite satisfied with the 5*l.* when they heard that so many of the others had had 10*l.* ?—Yes ; they have made no application to me for any more.

5116. Who were the Conservative captains who were working in this Green Area district ?—There was a man of the name of Thomas Capstick who was very busy.

5117. Anybody else ?—And another man of the name of Francis Miller.

5118. Anybody else ?—I do not know of anyone else who was very busy.

5119. Those were the principal Conservative captains that you met with in your rounds ?—Yes ; I might mention, perhaps, a name or two that might give you some information ; there are one or two that I missed that had voted for us before.

5120. Had they promised ?—Yes.

5121. Who were they ?—One was a man of the name of John Leighton.

5122. What is he ?—He is on the register, I believe, as a policeman ; I think so. We lost him, and I could almost say I had ocular proof of his being bribed. Then there was John Dobson, Richard Harrison, and John Nichol.

5123. Anyone else ?—No, I think not.

5124. They, you believe, were bribed by the other side ?—Yes, and William Kew, I might mention.

5125. Is Leighton a policeman still ?—No.

5126. What is your reason for thinking that the ex-policeman was bribed ?—I had voted him the election previously.

5127. Had you had any conversation with him about this election ?—Yes, I had.

5128. Had he promised ?—Yes.

5129. For how much ?—There was no specific sum.

5130. What was to be the figure ?—There was no figure mentioned, not about that time.

5131. At any time ?—Close up to the election I offered him 10*l.*

5132. Had he agreed to accept 10*l.* ?—No, he kept holding me on by saying that he would always vote for us, and I began to be very suspicious, and I found out that it was only going to be one vote: that he was going to split and give one for Mr. Fenwick, which I did not want.

5133. Now as to Dobson, what reason have you to believe that he had been bribed by the other side?—He voted for us at the previous election, and I tried him this last election and could not manage him.

5134. He did not promise you?—No, not exactly.

5135. Was anything said about the price?—I told him I would satisfy him and look to his being paid, but he was in rather a different position to what he was at the last election.

5136. You had not tested his power of requirement?—Not exactly; I tried his missus.

5137. What did the "missus" agree to take?—She did not agree to take anything, but she promised to do her best.

5138. She had not got sufficient hold upon him?—No.

5139. Why did you promise the policeman 10*l.* if he always voted right?—He wanted paying when he voted right previously.

5140. Had he been a man pretty resolved about his price previously?—He would always be up to the mark; he was one of the top-priced ones.

5141. Dobson you promised to satisfy, and his wife promised also to do her best?—Yes.

5142. Now with regard to Harrison?—Harrison had not voted for us before, but just previous to the last election he appeared to be very much dissatisfied with different things that had taken place, and came to me to join our party, and wished to be engaged and so forth.

5143. Had he promised?—Yes.

5144. Did you name a price to him?—No.

5145. Did he name a price to you?—No.

5146. Then Nicholl?—He voted for us before.

5147. Did he name a price to you?—No, not this time; I understood I had not altogether satisfied him the time before.

5148. What did you give him the time before?—Something like 4*l.*, and he said he would not be Turnered the next time.

5149. Being Turnered meant being bought at a small price?—Yes.

5150. You had bought them pretty cheap?—I think it was 4*l.* I gave him.

5151. (Mr. Newton.) What did you give Leighton on the former occasion?—4*l.* or 5*l.* I think his son had a good deal to do with him this last election.

5152. (Mr. Hill.) Then William Kew, how came you to think he had been bribed by the other side?—I have reason to think he would not vote without being paid.

5153. Was he a top-priced man?—Yes, I think he would want making right before he would vote; he wanted to sell us one of his votes.

5154. How did you make him right in 1864?—He did not vote for us.

5155. He voted for Saunders?—Yes.

5156. Did you make him any offer this time?—I did not; I do not know whether any of our party did or did not.

5157. Did he make you no charge?—No, I think he offered us one vote.

5158. For how much?—It was not to me; the other vote he would have given to Mr. Fenwick; we had that information from the other side.

5159. He offered to sell one vote?—Yes.

5160. You knew Kew might be bought?—I have a strong impression he was bought.

5161. You know he was a man likely to be bought?—Yes.

5162. He was in the market?—Yes.

5163. (Mr. Newton.) He would not vote without being paid?—No.

5164. Leighton the same?—Yes.

5165. And Nicholl the same?—Yes.

5166. They would not vote without being bought?—No, I think not; not if there was money stood in at all.

JOSHUA MANSERGH BELL sworn and examined.

J. M. Bell.

5167. (Mr. Barstow.) What is your business?—A grocer and warehouseman; I carry on both trades.

5168. Have you been in the habit of taking part in elections?—Very little.

5169. Were you ever engaged before this election? No.

5170. What money did you receive?—I received about 9*l.* altogether.

5171. I do not allude now to what you received from Turner?—That is included; altogether I received 4*l.* from Mr. Welch, as near as I can give it, and 5*l.* from Turner.

5172. When did you receive the 4*l.* from Welch?—I received 1*l.*, I should think, about a fortnight before the election, another 1*l.* a week after, and 2*l.* a day or two before the election.

5173. What did you do with the money?—I spent it at the public-houses; we had four public-houses in the district, and as I was appointed second captain to Mr. Turner I went along with him and treated the voters and anyone at these places with this money.

5174. And you went by yourself also, I suppose?—Yes, occasionally; I went to the "Station Inn" occasionally by myself, and treated anyone that was there.

5175. You drank up the money in treating voters?—Yes, that is the way it went; a few shillings to one party and a few shillings to another. It all went that way.

5176. You laid out the money in treating voters?—Yes; the 5*l.* I got I did not retain for my own vote, I gave it to another party.

5177. What party is that?—Nathan White.

5178. Who is he?—He keeps the "Temperance Hotel."

5179. There was no treating there, I suppose?—Oh, yes! I had a bottle of wine out on't.

5180. How came you to give this money to Nathan White?—He had been kept a great part of the night before at the "Sawyers' Arms," and the Liberal lot took him away from them to his own house. The "Sawyers' Arms" was a Conservative house. I went in the morning to see him. He was left in my care.

5181. What was he doing that night?—He got him to bed about 12 o'clock the night before.

5182. What was he doing at the "Sawyers' Arms"?—They had him there trying to get him over to the other side,—the Conservative side,—and the other party took him away, and I went to his house early in the morning.

5183. What did you do then?—I asked him if he was not going to vote for the Liberals, and he said, "Yes, I shall vote for them if I be paid my expenses." He had come out of the country, where he had been working as a mason. He said at the same time he had had 10*l.* offered him by the other party, "But," he says, "if you will give me 5*l.* I will vote for you."

5184. Who keeps this house of his when he is away?—His wife.

5185. She is the temperance part of the establishment?—Of course.

5186. He goes to the "Sawyers' Arms," or any other arms?—Yes, I daresay, occasionally.

5187. (Mr. Hill.) The other 4*l.* was for refreshment?—Yes.

5188. (Mr. Barstow.) Was the 9*l.* all the money you received?—Yes, everything; I did not receive anything else.

5189. You kept nothing for yourself?—Not a halfpenny. I daresay I shall be the other way.

5190. How came you to take this money for your vote?—I did not take the money for my vote.

5191. (Mr. Hill.) Was that 5*l.* which Turner gave you all the money you had from him?—Yes.

FIFTH DAY.

J. M. Bell.

31 Aug. 1866.

5192. What was given to you for assistance was really given to you for White's vote ?—5l. was all I had from Turner.

5193. (To Mr. Turner.) That 5l. you gave to this witness was for Nathan White's vote, sent by Mansergh Bell ?—I did not give it to him for that.

5194. You recognize it as the same ?—Yes.

5195. (Mr. Newton.) You thought you were buying his vote for 5l ?—No.

5196. What did you give it to him for ?—For general purposes; we could not be always giving, and he would require money.

5197. You gave it to him for the assistance he rendered ?—Yes. I may state the names of a few captains on the other side. There was Thomas Hill, a whitesmith; a man called Parkinson; another man called Gardner, he is a freeman. and has something to do with the registration; there is another man called Henry High, of Castle Hill; and there was Richard Harrison, who was very busy representing the Conservatives on the morning of the election; and Dobson, who kept the "Sawyer's Arms," he was very busy, he is not a voter.

I. Vickers.

ISAAC VICKERS sworn and examined.

5198. (Mr. Newton.) Where do you live ?—In Market Street.

5199. Are you a watchmaker ?—Yes.

5200. Were you captain of a district at the election ?—Yes.

5201. What district was that ?—China Lane.

5202. Was anybody with you ?—Yes.

5203. Who was that ?—Robert Powell and Thomas Fothergill.

5204. When did you get your appointment ?—Two or three weeks before the election.

5205. Did you spend any money in refreshments before the election ?—Yes.

5206. How much ?—I had before the election 2l.

5207. I suppose, at that time, you had not received anything ?—Yes; I spent it as soon as I received it. That 2l. did for about 10 days.

5208. Whom did you get the 2l. from ?—Robert Powell gave me 1l. and I had the other 1l. from Henry Welch.

5209. Did you get any more money before the election ?—Yes.

5210. Did you get any money at all ?—Yes; on the election day.

5211. How much was that ?—On the nomination day I got 20l.

5212. Who from ?—Henry Welch.

5213. Did you get any more ?—After the election I received 18l.; that would be about three days afterwards.

5214. From whom did you get that ?—Mr. Henry Welch. I had altogether 40l.

5215. You had spent the 2l. ?—Yes; but I had received it.

5216. What did you do with the 38l. ?—I gave Robert Powell 6l. 10s. for election expenses, you know.

5217. What do you call that ?—To go and buy votes with.

5218. Did you give it to him for him to buy votes with, or did you give it to him for his votes ?—Oh, dear, no! not for his vote. I gave Thomas Fothergill 6l. 10s.

5219. For him to go and buy with ?—Yes.

5220. Do you know how many they bought ?—They did not buy any; the price was too high, they could not touch them; they could not do anything whatever with that money.

5221. What became of the 6l. 10s. ?—I do not know, they will have to account for it themselves; they could not buy anyone with it, unless they got a lot more money.

5222. You have not got it back again ?—No.

5223. They were much too high a price for that? —The lowest price was 10l. in our district; they were all about 12l., that was the average price they got ?

5224. How did you get rid of the rest of the money ? —There is a man of the name of Briscow.

5225. He is not a voter, is he ?—Yes; and I gave him 8l.

5226. Is that Richard Briscow, cotton spinner ?—Yes; that is the man.

5227. That was a capital buy ?—Yes.

5228. Did he vote ?—Yes; he voted.

5229. That was very cheap ?—Yes; he did not get his pay till after the election. I had a great many men I used to set down as having offered so much, and they used to get it after they had voted; they would trust me after this time; there were a great many on the other side that crept in and took them away from me.

5230. Who else ?—The next gentleman that I got hold of was a lawyer.

5231. What is his name ?—Edward Rawlinson, attorney.

5232. On what list is he ?—The Castle Hill list.

5233. Is he a freeman ?—Oh, yes! he is a freeman. We never asked householders; at least I did not.

5234. What did he want for his vote ?—After I had finished with all the men in China Lane as I could get hold of, I thought I would go up into the churchyard and meditate amongst the tombstones. So I spies this gentleman, and I goes up up to him. There was two of us did it. It took two of us, mind you, to do it.

5235. Who was with you ?—A man of the name of Chandler.

5236. He was with you ?—Yes; he was acquainted with him. I did not know much of the old gentleman; he was blind. So I goes up to him, and says, "How are "you going to vote ?" "Well," he says, "I am going to "vote for Mr. Fenwick. I know him very well; and "Mr. Schneider I know nothing about him. Mr. Law- "rence is the man; for I went to give him a guinea "the other day, for a subpœna; but I did not want "him, and I went and asked him for the guinea back "again, and he says, 'No! there is no refunding.' "So I thought he was a clever fellow, and I thought "I would give him a vote." I says to him, "You had "better not. If you will vote for Fenwick and "Schneider, I will give you 10l." He says, "It is a "deal of money." "Ah, but," I says, "I mean it; "and I will give it to you." And I says to Chandler, "You bring him down to vote, and I will give him "the money." A little while afterwards, Chandler comes down to me, and says, "The old gentleman "will not come without he gets the money;" and I says, "Well, I will not lose him; I will go and get it." So, I goes and says to Henry Welch, "I want 10l. "I have got a man I want to vote." And says Henry Welch, "That is too much; you must not "give such prices as them." I says, "All the others "are off, and this is the only one I have left." He says, "You must do nothing at all of the sort; let him "stop a bit." So I gave Chandler a gold watch to give him as security, and then he came and voted all right, and in two or three days after I got the 10l. from Henry Welch, and took it to him, and got back the watch.

5237. I hope the watch was none the worse ?—Oh, no; none the worse. He was to give Chandler 10s., but he would not give him anything.

5238. What else did you do with the remainder ?—All the remainder was spent. That was all I got.

5239. You have only accounted for 30l.—All that was left was 25s.

5240 You got two sums—20l. and 18l.—from Henry Welch; that makes 38l.; and 2l. for refreshments—making in all 40l., and you have only accounted for 30l.—All the rest was spent in drink but 25s.

5241. With whom did you drink ?—Oh, there was lots of people to drink with.

5242. Voters?—Yes; there is a great many that knows me. 10*s.* I gave to a man named Bleasdale; and there might be others, but I cannot recollect them.

5243. (Mr. Hill.) Is that William Bleasdale?—Yes.

5244. (Mr. Newton.) Do you think there is anybody else?—Perhaps I might give Powell something if he was anyways short.

5245. (Mr. Hill.) The balance was 25*s.*?—Yes; I kept that. I thought I might have that for myself.

5246. As a sort of remuneration?—Yes.

5247. (Mr. Newton.) Welch told you to keep it?—No, I told him I would keep it.

5248. And you did?—Yes.

5249. Did you know one of the Stirkazers?—Yes.

5250. A married man with a family?—Yes.

5251. Has he got a daughter?—I do not know that he has a daughter.

5252. Stirzaker's wife has got a daughter, has she not?—Yes; I believe so.

5253. I daresay she is good-looking?—I daresay.

5254. You gave her a watch, did you?—No; no such thing. That is a bit of Tory scheme.

5255. Did you give her a watch?—I never spoke to her.

5256. That is no answer to my question. Did you give her a watch?—No.

5257. Did you ever give any voter's daughter a watch?—No; nobody.

5258. Did you ever give any voter's daughter a watch?—No; I never gave no voter's daughter a watch. Never; not one.

5259. Did Wilson ever give you a watch to give to her?—No.

5260. Do you know Joseph Wilson?—Yes.

5261. Did he ever give you a watch to give to her?—No.

5262. Are you quite sure?—Yes.

5263. We shall have Wilson here some day.—Well, it's all right.

5264. Did he ever give you a watch to give to Stirzaker's daughter?—No; he did not.

5265. Now, you have told us all about your side. Can you tell us a little about the other?—Yes.

5266. Who were the captains on the other side?—I put them all down as I went round, and this is the list of paper. First of all I will take China Lane. There was Thomas Foster, a very active man. He did a very heavy stroke of business in that lane.

5267. Where does he live?—I think he is not in the town now, but he is in court. Then there was Isaac Jackson, from Liverpool; he was at the "Lord Nelson." I do not know anybody else in that lane.

5268. Have you got anything more to say about China Lane?—Here are all the men in the lane, and I can tell you the prices offered, if you like.

5269. Do you know all about China Lane?—Yes.

5270. How do you know the prices?—We offered 10*l.*, and that was not high enough.

5271. You did not find the attorney in China Lane?—No.

5272. He is the only one you gave 10*l.* to?—There was one man in China Lane that got 24*l.*

5273. What is his name?—His name is Robert Harrison. He was paid twice. It was a mistake.

5274. From whom did he receive it?—From Christopher Foster, I believe.

5275. How do you know?—It was one of their own party that told me.

2576. One of the Conservative party?—Yes; and the other 12*l.* he got from Robert Hodgson.

5277. You do not know anything of your own knowledge?—No; only what I have been told. We offered them good prices.

5278. They were offered better prices in China Lane than you were giving?—Yes.

5279. Who were the captains in the other places? You say you have got a list of them?—There was a man of the name of William Cumpsty, a tailor. He was left in the hands of a man of the name of Briggs.

5280. Where does Cumpsty live?—In Castle Hill.

5281. He was a captain?—No; he was not a captain. He told Briggs on Sunday night before the election that he had had 13*l.* offered, and if he gave the same sum he could have him.

5282. Who is Briggs?—An omnibus driver.

5283. One of your side?—Yes.

5284. That is all hearsay?—Yes.

5285. Have you got anything more direct?—No; I have not anything direct: not as I saw them do it.

5286. I daresay William Cumpsty will come and tell us the same thing that you have told us?—Have you got anything direct?—No.

5287. Have you got anything more to say?—No.

5288. (Mr. Hill.) What is that piece of paper you are looking at?—There are a lot of names on it: captains, I suppose, they were. Isaac Jackson, at the "Lord Nelson;" he was a very active man. Christopher Foster, John Hargreaves, Mr. Dickenson.

5289. What is his christian name?—I do not know: William I think. He is an attorney's clerk, or something of that sort. James Wilson and John M'Cann. I do not know anybody else.

5290. These were all active men?—Yes.

5291. (Mr Newton.) In and about China Lane?—Yes. There was also John Marshall; a very active man he was.

ROGER WRIGHT sworn and examined.

R. Wright.

5292. (Mr. Hill.) What are you?—A joiner.

5293. Where do you live?—In King Street.

5294. Are you a Liberal?—Yes.

5295. The captain of Fenton Street district?—I think not the captain.

5296. A captain?—I was not aware that I was a captain; I was assisting there.

5297. You were looking after the Fenton Street district?—Yes.

5298. Have you been engaged in elections since 1847?—I never took an active part before as I have done in this.

5299. Did you receive monies for the purposes of this election?—Yes.

5300. What was the first money you received?—28*l.*

5301. Is that the first you received at all of any sort?—Yes.

5302. From whom did you receive that?—From Henry Welch.

5303. And when did you receive that?—On the election day, in the morning.

5304. What was the amount?—28*l.*

5305. What was the next sum of money you received?—10*l.*

5306. When did you receive it?—The same morning.

5307. From the same person?—Yes.

5308. What was the next?—I received no more.

5309. Is that all the money you received?—Yes.

5310. You are sure that that is all?—Yes.

5311. Mr. Welch said he gave you 50*l.*—Yes; he was wrong,

5312. Have you kept an account so as to know that you are correct?—Yes; I kept an account and took it in, showing a balance.

5313. We will come to that by-and-bye. What was the first money you expended during that election?—5*l.*

5314. When?—On the election day, in the morning.

5315. What for?—Paying James Jackson.

5316. What is he?—A groom I think he was.

5317. A freeman?—Yes.

5318. Of Sun Street; is that the man?—Yes; I paid him 5*l.* through Henry Pilkington.

5319. Had you agreed with Jackson yourself to take that money?—No.

FIFTH DAY.
R. Wright.
31 Aug. 1866.

5320. Had you seen Jackson upon the subject of his vote ?—No.

5321. Who was the next person?—John Dickinson, shoemaker, Spring Garden Street.

5322. Did you pay him yourself ?—Yes.

5323. How much did you pay him ?—5l. for his vote and assisting in working.

5324. Was there anything besides the 5l. paid to him ?—I paid him 5l. for assisting and working and going about.

5325. 5l. was all the money paid to him ?—Yes.

5326. It included assistance ?—Yes.

5327. How long did he assist you ?—He had been assisting me for a week and better.

5328. Who was the next ?—Edward Bradshaw, block maker, Queen Street.

5329. Did you pay him yourself ?—Yes.

5330. How much did you pay him ?—8l.

5331. Was that for anything more than his vote ?—No.

5332. Had you agreed with him beforehand ?—No; I did not agree with anyone.

5332*a*. Who was the next person ?—George Scales, shoemaker, Penny's Hospital.

5333. Did you pay him yourself ?—No; I paid it to John Robinson, joiner.

5334. How much did you give him ?—5l.

5335. Had you agreed with him as to the price of his vote?—No.

5336. Who was the next ?—I paid no more for votes.

5337. What else did you pay for refreshments ?—I spent about 4l.

5338. Refreshments for voters and for yourself ?—For treating the voters and these men that were assisting.

5339. What did you do with the other 6l.?—I took it to Henry Welch with a list of what I had laid out.

5340. Making altogether 38l. you received from him?—Yes.

5341. Did you come across any busy Conservative captains agitating your district ?—No; I looked after my own, to get as many votes as I could.

5242. Were you asked any higher prices than these sums which you paid ?—None, except that which you have had before.

5343. In what position in life was James Jackson, the groom ?—He was in very poor circumstances; in fact he is dead since.

5344. Then Dickenson, shoemaker; is he in humble life ?—He is a young man just out of his time, working as journeyman.

5345. Then Bradshaw, the block maker ?—I do not know anything about him. He is a young man; and I think he would be working at the paint works.

5346. George Scales ?—He is an old man in the hospital.

5347. Richard Tomlinson ?—He is an old man in the hospital.

5348. Is this the freemen's hospital ?—No; I think not. It is Penny's Hospital. They were all freemen I think that I paid money to.

Adjourned to to-morrow 10 o'clock.

SIXTH DAY.

Lancaster Castle, Saturday, 1st September 1866.

PRESENT :

MR. BARSTOW. | MR. HILL. | MR. NEWTON.

SIXTH DAY.
John Bell.
1 Sept. 1866.

JOHN BELL sworn and examined.

5349. (Mr. Barstow.) Where do you live ?—North Road, Lancaster.

5350. What is your occupation ?—A corn dealer.

5351. Have you been taking an active part in election ?—Yes, for the last three elections.

5352. I need not ask if that was on the Liberal side ?—It was.

5353. I believe on the last election you were commanding the New Street district ?—I was.

5354. Tell us first if you please the gross sum of money you received ?—129l.

5355. From Mr. Welch perhaps ?—Yes.

5356. When did you receive the first sum ?—About three weeks before the election, or 17 days, somewhere about that time.

5357. What sum of money was that ?—2l.

5358. When was the next sum after that ?—About a week after or 10 days.

5359. How much was that ?—3l.

5360. Did you receive any more before the election ?—Not any more before the nomination day.

5361. Did you receive any more for preliminary expenses ?—No more.

5362. At what time on the nomination day did you receive any further sum ?—In the evening.

5363. How much was that ?—100l.

5364. Was that from Mr. Welch ?—Yes, it was.

5365. At the "Queen's Hotel ?"—Yes.

5366. When did you receive any more after that ?—The day of election.

5367. How much ?—24l.

5398. From Mr. Welsh at the "Queens ?"—Yes.

5369. At what time of day ?—About 9 o'clock.

5370. In the morning ?—Yes, in the morning.

5371. How did you dispose of that money ?—On the evening of the nomination day I gave to Mr. Watson, who was in connexion with me, 30l. out of the 100l.

5372. That would probably not be for his vote ?—No, for working, to work on.

5373. In fact to give other voters ?—To give to other voters I suppose.

5374. What did you do with the rest ?—I had spent part of my own money, and I took that out, about 3l. or 4l.

5375. That would be for preliminary expenses ?—Yes.

5376. What is the next sum that you paid away ?—I paid 8l. to John Gibson.

5377. Who is he ?—I think he is a mill hand and a freeman.

5378. Of Moor Street, cotton spinner ?—Yes, that is the man. Lawrence Gibson his brother 8l., John Clark, fireman, 8l.: he would be down for Lodge Street.

5379. John Clark, silk piecer ?—He may be down in the list in that capacity, but he is a fireman now and has been for some years; Edward Dawson Fisher 8l.

5380. Is he a tailor ?—Yes, since dead, I gave it to his wife; Thomas Crane, senior, 5l.

5381. Is he a hairdresser ?—Yes, I gave it to his wife, I never saw him; Robert Fell, Lodge Street 5l.

5382. What is he ?—Warehouseman; and 2l. I gave to Isaac Nevatt for another voter.

5383. Is Nevatt a voter ?—Yes, he is, but it was not for himself, he had arranged with a party.

5384. He is a householder ?—Yes.

5385. Isaac Nevatt, Church Street ?—Yes.

5386. (Mr. Hill.) What was the name of the voter ?—Harrison of Church Street.

5387. What is his Christian name ?—I do not know, I never looked at the register.

5388. Which Harrison is it ?—The dentist.

5389. John Harrison, Church Street ?—I think it is Edmund Harrison, he is a householder.

5390. Who next ?—That is all the money I paid to voters.

5391. There was a balance left ?—I paid 3*l.* to six men that I had on the nomination day and election day.

5392. Runners and the like ?—Yes, 10*s.* each : James Bell, Newton, Townson, Henry Huntington, two Parkers.

5393. Where they voters ?—No, and a man at the "Queen's Head," Murphy, he had no vote and I engaged him.

5394. (Mr. Newton.) Is not Henry Huntington a voter ?—No, and I returned to Henry Welsh 42*l.*

5395. (Mr. Hill.) 5*l.* you spent in preliminary expenses ?—Yes, money I got independent of the nomination day and election day.

5396. There is 1*l.* not accounted for ?—It may have gone in the spending, I cannot say exactly to a pound or two, I did not think anything about it until I heard that a commission was going to be held.

5397. Is Watson a voter ?—Yes, he is.

5398. Your assistant ?—Yes, my assistant.

5399. Do you know anything about Harrison ? Did you canvass him ?—No, I did not ; I never saw him directly.

5400. Now give us the name of your Conservative opponent ?—The "White Horse" was the head depot in my district, and the landlord was very busy ; Jackson they called him.

5401. Had he any assistants ?—He had a good many I daresay, they had a regular depot at that place.

5402. Do you know who assisted him ?—I think Mr. Wilson was there all that night ; I was up at 12 o'clock and he was there ; Mr. William Story I have seen there, and I believe Mr. Lawrence's brother was there.

5403. Are those all the names you can think of ?—There were so many, they had a posse of ship-building men there to guard the house.

5404. Did you at any time receive any money for your own remuneration ?—Not anything ; I think Henry Welch gave me 5*s.* when I returned the money to treat myself with, I think that is all that ever I got.

5405. Did you find that those voters who promised you came pretty well to the poll ?—Yes, they did.

5406. Did you lose any ?—Not one. There was one I lost, who promised me the night before, I offered him 10*l.*, and he said he could get 12*l.* on the other side, but he had not voted with us before, he has been in my district the whole of the elections I have had to do with.

5407. Who was that ?—William Thornton, and I have no doubt that he got the money he said he could get.

5408. Thornton, of Little John Street, butcher ?—Yes, that is the man.

5409. When was the price of 8*l.* fixed by you ?—In the morning.

5410. In the morning of the election day ?—Yes.

5411. (Mr Newton.) By you or by the voters ?—By the voters, they asked me that.

5412. That was your price ?—Yes, and I did not hesitate to give them it because I knew the other side was giving 10*l.*

5413. (Mr. Hill.) Were any of these persons you bought householders ?—No, none but Harrison.

5413*a*. How came Harrison to take so little as 2*l.* ?—I cannot tell, Mr. Nevatt will explain it to you, it was a split vote to Mr. Schneider, and I thought it was cheap.

JOHN WATSON sworn and examined.

John Watson.

5414. (Mr. Newton.) What are you ?—A pawnbroker.

5415. Where do you live ?—No. 4, North Road.

5416. Do you take an active part in elections ?—In the last election I was a little engaged.

5417. And in the election before ?—A little, but a very little in the election before, less than I was in this considerably.

5418. You were assistant to Mr. Bell ?—Yes.

5419. When did you begin to work ?—10 or 12 days before the election.

5420. How much did you receive ?—I think I received 32*l.* altogether from Mr. Bell. I think it was 32*l.*, but I am not sure to a pound what I did receive.

5421. Is it correct that you received it on the evening of the nomination ?—Some of it.

5422. How much ?—30*l.* I got then, and I think he gave me 2*l.* before ; I think so.

5423. Did you get any money from anybody else ? Not a penny. I believe Mr. Welch said in his evidence that he gave me money, but Mr. Bell can say that it all came through him, and it would appear that I had had two sums, if they were added together.

5424. Mr. Welch said he gave you 20*l.* ?—Yes, and the money came through Mr. Bell ; I thought it necessary for me to explain that.

5425. What did you do with the 30*l.*, how did you spend it ?—I spent 6*l.* at Mrs. Wright's, in Wood Street, among the voters and their friends.

5426. What is the sign of the house she keeps ?—I do not think there is any sign to it, I never saw any, Mr. Bell says it is the "Plasterers' Arms."

5427. What did you spend there ?—6*l.* I spent there.

5428. In refreshments for voters ?—Yes, and their friends, there were lots of them, there was a regular jollification for two or three nights, and they swallowed drink as fast as it could be brought in.

5429. What next ?—I spent 5*l.* to various voters, who promised to vote for us, but they were stolen away from us by the other party ; they came every morning and got 2*s.* or 3*s.* for about 10 days before the election ; they were all fuddling about, expecting the election, and catching what they could.

5430. They got a few shillings at a time ?—Yes.

5431. Can you name anybody who got some of that ?—Yes, Robert Wilson, of Skerton, a freeman.

5432. How much did he get out of this 5*l.* ?—I think Wilson got about 1*l.* 10*s.* at various times, and Marshall got about the same ; he is a freeman, a blacksmith.

5433. Where does he live ?—He lives at Skerton.

5434. How much did he get ?—About 1*l.* 10*s.* 0*d.*, in various sums of 2*s.* and 3*s.* a day for ten or twelve days before the election ; they promised they would vote for the Liberals, but ran away.

5435. That is 3*l.* ?—Yes. There was another man they called Gudgeon, he is a freeman, a rope-maker, I think.

5436. How much did he get ?—He got about 1*l.* altogether, in various sums.

5437. Did he vote for you ?—No, he voted for the Tories, we could not find him the night before the election.

5438. Anybody else ?—Yes, another man, named Edward Smith, got 12*s.* or 14*s.*, and there were other men who got 1*s.* or 2*s.*

5439. And you put them all down at 5*l.* ?—I kept 5*l.* separate in a drawer, and spent every farthing among them in that way, on different days.

5440. For 10 or 12 days before the election ?—Yes.

5441. Had you seen this Robert Wilson very often ?—Many a time.

5442. I suppose he used to come in and out of your house ?—In and out of the shop ; I am a pawnbroker, and he used to come and beg 1*s.* or so when he was dry.

5443. And Marshall the same ?—Yes.

5444. Money was going pretty freely from your house ?—I was instructed to do all I could to promote

SIXTH DAY.

John Watson.

1 Sept. 1866.

the cause of the Liberal members with the money I had got.

5445. You only got the money you have told us from Mr. Bell, the night before the election?—But I had money of my own, and deducted it when I got the whole amount.

5446. I suppose you expected to be paid?—I expected it. On the last occasion I was something behind, but I got it again; I wanted the Liberal members to be elected if possible, and I was instructed to use my influence. Those are men who were in the habit of coming to my shop to pledge at other times.

5447. They are some of the lowest class of the electors?—They are men that are often fuddling about; they are chiefly freemen.

5448. They used your shop for pledging very often?—Yes, they do at times, not every day or every week, but occasionally they do.

5449. They are fellows who would be very glad to get a penny or a sixpence?—Yes, many a time they would be glad to get a penny, and they do now, and they come and fetch it.

5450. Can you give me the names of any more?—No, not particularly, though there are other men that might get an odd shilling or a sixpence.

5451. How did you spend some more of this money?—George Waters got some money. He is not a freeman, but a householder; I think Mr. Bell had spoken to him about helping us a little and he complained of being short of funds, and I handed 5*l.* to him, not for his vote, but for getting up other voters, and going from one public-house to another, and I suppose he would use it.

5452. Mr. Bell did not mention him?—But I think he spoke to his assisting us.

5453. He assisted you?—Yes, he did.

5454. That money was not for his vote?—No, not at all.

5455. How had Waters voted at previous elections?—I do not know, I fancy he has not had a vote very long.

5456. Anybody else?—I gave a freeman 12*l.*, he was an old Tory who had never polled for the Liberals before.

5457. What is his name?—Timothy Lawrence; he was rather bad to catch.

5458. He got 12*l.*, did he?—He did.

5459. Did you make an agreement with him?—Yes; he could get 12*l.* from the opposite party, but he said, if I would give the same he would vote for us. In fact I saw him the night before, and I could not touch him at all, but he came to my house the next morning voluntarily, and said that if I would let him have 12*l.* he would poll for us, and as the other party were giving as much, I thought we would do the same.

5460. Anybody else?—No more voters; I think I paid 10*s.* to two young men that we call "runners," one Townson, and the other Huntington; during the election day that was.

5461. What did you give them?—I gave them 5*s.* a-piece.

5462. Anybody else?—No; I think that was all the money I gave. I spent at different public-houses during the election day, going about, about 1*l.*

5463. Now there are 2*l.* to account for?—I returned 2*l.*, I think, to Mr. Bell. I think I gave Mr. Bell 2*l.* back again, a day or two after the election. I think Mr. Bell will tell you that I returned him two sovereigns.

5464. If that is not true, Mr. Bell, who is in court, will probably correct it?

(Mr. Bell.) I have no doubt that he did.

5465. (Mr. Newton to the Witness.) Were there many promises besides these?—No, I do not think I had many more. Those were men that I fully expected would poll. After the nomination day I could not get to see them at all, I think they must have been bottled somewhere.

5466. How came you to get hold of the old Tory?—It was rather fortunate. He came and knocked me up about half-past 3 in the morning, he had changed his mind, he said, and if I would be the same money "out" as they would, he would poll for us. I believe he never did poll for the Liberals before. I believe that was the first time.

5467. You caught him this time with the 12*l.*?—Yes, he could get it elsewhere, he said, and I thought I ought not to lose him at any rate.

5468. Can you give us the name of any Conservative captain in your district whose name we have not already had?—No. I did not take much notice of them. I did the best I could to promote the election of the Liberal candidates, and I did not interfere much with anybody else.

5469. There are no Conservative agents whose names you can give us?—No; I was with Mr. Bell at the time he saw these men moving about, and he saw them himself, and therefore if I were to give you the names it would be merely a repetition of what he has already said.

5470. What was the name of the house where you got these voters?—The "White Horse Inn," Church Street.

5471. Kept by Jackson?—Yes; I think Jackson kept it then. It has changed hands, I think, since then, but I think Jackson kept it at that time.

5472. What has become of Jackson?—I do not know, I am sure, what has become of him, I fancy he has gone to Liverpool, but I am not sure.

5473. Did you take anything for yourself?—Not a farthing; I think I was out of pocket.

5474. Did you expect anything?—No, not I. I did not expect anything.

5475. (Mr. Hill.) I suppose these fuddling electors who came after shillings in the morning had been up with the drink all night?—Yes. They were creeping in at any corner they could, and in the morning they wanted something to renew it again.

5476. And this was going on for 10 days?—More than that, I think. The Tories began it first. They were at it a week or 10 days before the Liberals were. The Liberals were pulled into it.

5477. In the meanwhile these men were away from their homes doing nothing, idling about and living on the shillings they got from you?—Yes; I have no doubt of it.

5478. Did they come to pledge much at that time?—No; because they could get plenty without that.

5479. They probably took things out of pawn then?—There is plenty of money generally going at election times.

5480. You have nothing more to say about the 2*l.*, have you?—No; I think it is right.

R. Dixon.

RICHARD DIXON sworn and examined.

5481. (Mr. Hill.) Are you a freeman?—No.

5482. A householder?—Yes.

5483. Where do you live?—In Bulk.

5484. Are you a Liberal?—Yes.

5485. Were you a captain in the last election, on the Liberal side?—I did not vote at all.

5486. Were you a captain?—No.

5487. You were not engaged at all?—No.

5488. Were you not looking after Dalton Square?—No, nor the "Dalton Arms" either.

5489. Did you receive any money?—No.

5490. For the purpose of the last election?—No.

5491. Is there another Richard Dixon?—Not that I am aware of.

5492. In Lancaster?—Yes, there is in Lancaster, but not in Bulk. There is one in Lancaster.

5493. Are you the man who was "bottled?"—No; I was not bottled at all.

5494. Which way did you vote?—I did not vote at all.

5495. (Mr. Barstow.) Were you in Lancaster at the time of the election?—I was.

SIXTH DAY.

Richard Dixon.

1 Sept. 1866.

5496. (Mr. Hill.) What were you doing?—Well, I do not think that is a proper question.

5497. Were you doing anything connected with the purposes of the election?—No, not at all.

5498. You know nothing about the election?—I was in the town all day.

5499. But you knew nothing about the money that was going?—No; I know I did not get any.

5500. Was that the reason why you did not vote?—It was all out of my own pocket.

5501. Was that the reason why you did not vote?——No.

5502. Why did you not vote?—Because I was not going to poll.

5503. Why not?—I do not think that is a proper question.

5504. Yes, it is; and it is a question to which I shall have an answer; and therefore the sooner you give me an answer the better?—It was not my intention to vote.

5505. Did you come into Lancaster with the intention to vote?—I did not.

5506. Did you ever intend to vote at the last election?—No.

5507. Can you tell us what you were doing on that day?—Yes.

5508. What?—I can tell you where I was.

5509. Where were you?—At the "New Inn."

5510. All day?—Yes.

5511. Were you sober?—Yes; as sober as I am now.

5512. All day?—Yes.

T. Cleminson.

THOMAS CLEMINSON sworn and examined.

5513. (Mr. Barstow.) What is your occupation?—A joiner and builder.

5514. Where do you live?—In East Road.

5515. Is that in Lancaster?—Yes.

5516. Have you been much engaged in elections at Lancaster?—Yes.

5517. At the last election you were the captain of the George Street district?—Yes.

5518. For the Liberal side?—Yes.

5519. Tell us first of all the gross sum of money that you received?—I received 110*l.* up to the election day at 4 o'clock.

5520. Anything after that?—Yes; but not during the election. I received from Mr. R. P. Moser a few days after the election—say a week or so—about 5*l.* I think the total amount was about 5*l.* 2*s.* 6*d.* to pay seven men that had been engaged during the election.

5521. From whom did you receive the 110*l.*?—I received 10*l.* from my brother George.

5522. (Mr. Hill.) Was that the first sum?—Yes; and if you will please to permit me to read the balance sheet over I will do so. This (producing an account-book) is the book I kept during the election, and I have a copy of the money expended. I handed the written statement to Mr. Henry Welch immediately after the election; and of course I kept a copy, which I now present, and I have no doubt that Mr. Welch will have the others.

5523. Is 115*l.* 2*s.* 6*d.* the gross amount that you received?—No; I received about three or four weeks after the election, or perhaps it might be more, I cannot speak to a week, between 20*l.* and 30*l.* from Mr. Henry Welch. I forget whether I met with him or he sent for me to his shop at Cheapside. He said, "Mr. Cleminson, I have a good deal of work on hand respecting this election; and I wish you to pay for me a few of the public-house accounts in regard to the committee rooms that have been engaged."

5524. Was that 30*l.*?—No; I did not receive so much. I think, to the best of my recollection, it might be 24*l.* I do not think it exceeded 24*l.*; but of course I have not seen Mr. Henry Welch for several weeks, and have not spoken to him on the subject; and consequently I am not positive about it.

5525. Is that the whole amount you received?—Yes.

5526. Now tell us how you spent it. Give us the order in which you received it first? (Referring to book) July 3: cash received from Mr. George Cleminson, 10*l.* July 11; received from Mr. Henry Welch, at the committee room, Market Street, 100*l.*

5527. Is that the second amount? Yes; that is the second amount received. That makes 110*l.* I received the 100*l.* on the nomination day.

5528. Now give us the next receipt?—5*l.* 2*s.* 6*d.* from Mr. Moser: that I mentioned before. I believe that was the amount.

5529. What was the date?—I cannot name the date; I did not keep any account of that.

5530. Now the next receipt? There was the 24*l.* I have mentioned.

5531. From Mr. Henry Welch?—Yes.

5532. When was that?—That was four or five weeks after the election. I have no date. I did not keep a memorandum of it, because I paid him the balance over afterwards.

5533. That was all, was it?—That was all.

5534. Now about the spending of it?—I will dispose of the 10*l.* first, if you please, because I have a special written balance-sheet for the 10*l.* (The witness again refers to the book.) "Paid for note-paper, binding two district lists of voters, and postage stamps, 3*s.* 3*d.*"

5535. You need not read out all the items; just let me look at your book (the book is handed by the witness to Mr. Hill.) "Paid sundry expenses of canvass, 1*l.* 11*s.* 9*d.*; refreshment, 6*l.* 8*s.* 5*d.*; cash, 15*s.*; for sundry non-electors, 1*l.* 4*s.* 9*d.* Just look at your book, and see if that is correct. That accounts for 10*l.* Now the next item seems to be a payment to Harrison?—Yes; 41*l.* 10*s.* to Mr. Thomas Harrison. He was sub-captain. He worked a part of the district—the Moor Lane district.

5536. That was given to him to pay other voters?—It was; that is, for the voters and for any expenses they might incur with regard to attending committee rooms. It was a very large district the one that we had to manage, and of course it required a great deal of looking after. It is the most extensive district in the town, and we had a very large committee—I should say between 20 and 30, not only electors, but non-electors.

5537. Now go to the next item?—I paid Mr. James Patterson, of the "Wheatsheaf" in Penny Street, for refreshment during the election, his house being where the central committee-room was held; and his bill amounted to 21*l.* 18*s.* 8*d.*, which I handed over to Mr. Henry Welch.

5538. Did you say you handed it to Mr. Welch to pay him?—No; I handed Mr. Welch the receipted account; and I have a copy of the bill here, if necessary, that I handed over to Mr. Henry Welch.

5539. Now give us the next item?—I paid to Mr. James Crook, who keeps a public-house in Brock street, called the "Horse and Farrier," 2*l.* 1*s.* 6*d.*; the receipted bill for that I handed over to Mr. Henry Welch; and likewise 1*l.* 16*s.* 6*d.* to Robert Smith, who keeps a public-house in Robert Street. I think they call it the "Prince of Wales." Mr. Welch will have the receipt of that account, I have no doubt. Then I have got down, "Paid Mr. Benjamin Hartley," but I handed it over to his wife. She happened to complain that no one had expended much at the house, and I gave her half a sovereign. Of course I had no bill to show for that. I told her that she could expend it as she thought proper. Her husband I believe was not a voter—at least he was not on the list of voters. It was half a sovereign in gold that I gave her.

5540. Now the next?—The next item I paid was for distributing voting cards and members' addresses, and other little things connected with the election. I paid this amount to electors and non-electors—1*l.* 5*s.* I paid at sundry times to canvassers, 2*l.* 15*s.* Now I come to the paid voters, 18*l.* 5*s.*

5541. Who did you pay?—There was a person of

SIXTH DAY.
T. Cleminson.

the name of Robert Park, coachman, that was paid through my hands—at least I did not pay him, but I wished him to be paid. I am not positive, but I think the amount was 8*l.* 10*s.*; it did not exceed 9*l.* I have not seen him since. He is a person who came from Liverpool; but I believe he has now come to reside in the town. Suppose you put down 8*l.* 10*s.*; my impression is that that is what I paid him. He is now in Lancaster, but he was at Liverpool at the time, and this was paid for his vote and his expenses coming from Liverpool. I am not certain whether it was 8*l.* 10*s.* or 9*l.*, but you had better say the lesser sum. Of course he will be able to answer for himself.

5542. By whom did you pay him?—I think, to the best of my recollection, it was a younger brother of mine who was on my committee, but he was not a voter.

5543. What is his name?—J. B. Cleminson. He waited on me after arriving in Lancaster from Liverpool, and I arranged with him that he should have 7*l.* for his vote; and of course he left me with that impression on the nomination day: and on the morning of the day of election he called at my office, and gave me to understand that the other parties had been offering him considerably more; and he expected that I should advance on the sum we had agreed on the night previous. I said, "Well," says I, "which way are you desirous to vote?" "Well," he said, "I am a Liberal, and I should wish to vote for the Liberals; but at the same time I should wish more money." "But," I said, "as you are a Liberal, and wish to vote for the Liberals, you do not want to be paid to the amount they have offered." And then he said, "I will take part;" and I cannot say positively whether I did not advance 30*s.*

5544. Now go on to the next?—Then there are the four Whalleys—James Whalley, a weaver; Thomas Whalley, a mechanic; Thomas Whalley, a mechanic, the son of Thomas, senior; and John Whalley, a weaver.

5545. What was paid to them?—I do not remember paying any more than 1*l.* to each of them, and I think I gave it to the father to distribute among them.

5546. 4*l.* for the lot?—4*l.*

5547. What was the 1*l.* for?—1*l.* each; they had attended very regularly the committee rooms where we had been, and I think if I remember right, they said to me, "We ought to have something for our attendance."

5548. Now go to the next?—I paid to a voter, Thomas Whiteside, 5*l.*

5549. What is Thomas Whiteside?—He is a tailor, he was not in our district.

5550. (Mr. Barstow.) There is no Thomas Whiteside here (referring to Register)?—I think they call him Thomas; he is a tailor; Edward, perhaps it was.

5551. Is he a householder or a freeman?—A freeman; the 5*l.* was not given for his vote; he was very active at the election.

5552. Who is the next?—I believe, to the best of my recollection, I paid 15*s.* to his father for two days' work.

5553. What is his father?—Edward Whiteside, a cabinet maker, in Market Street; I believe that would be the amount, but I am not quite certain to a few shillings.

5554. Now the next?—That is all.

5555. Did you pay anybody directly for their votes?—No, not one.

5556. You did not with your own hands pay anyone?—No, and I never have done so in any elections that I have been engaged in, except municipal ones; I have done a little in that now and then.

5557. That would leave a considerable balance?—Yes, I have no doubt of that, but then there is the committee to pay; those that were engaged on the committee, 6*l.* 4*s.* 6*d.* Of course, I kept them separate in the balance-sheet. I paid two members of the committee and clerks 6*l.* 4*s.* 6*d.*

5558. What next?—Paid runners and door-keepers of No. 5 General District Committee Room 1*l.* 3*s.* 6*d.*

5559. What next?—Sundry expenses among electors and non-electors during the election, 2*l.* 10*s.* 4*d.*, making a balance of 100*l.*

5560. What is the next item?—That is all, except the 5*l.* 2*s.* 6*d.*; I have not the names of the parties, but I gave them to Mr. Moser at the time.

5561. You have given us the 5*l.* 2*s.* 6*d.*?—Yes, but this was after the election; I have given you all that I had up to the election.

5562. Now go on and tell us what you had after the election?—I received 5*l.* 2*s.* 6*d.* from Mr. Moser.

5563. How did you spend that?—There were either six or seven men that came to me after the election; I expected that they had all been paid, but they told me that they had been engaged two or three days, and I mentioned the circumstance to Mr. Moser, and of course I wished him to pay them, and he said, "I will give you the amount, and you had better pay them."

5564. (Mr. Newton.) How much was it?—Some I paid two days', and some three days' work.

5565. (Mr. Barstow.) How much did you pay them altogether?—I paid them the balance.

5566. How much was the balance?—5*l.* 2*s.* 6*d.*

5567. Were they electors and non-electors?—No, they were non-electors.

5568. For running?—For assisting at the election? Then there is the 24*l.* that I stated before with regard to the money I received for paying the public-houses.

5569. Spent in public-house bills 24*l.*?—No, I did not pay the whole of it; I paid 6*l.* for Mr. Smith.

5570. Who is Mr. Smith?—Of the "Prince of Wales" Inn.

5571. (Mr. Newton.) You have given us his name already?—Yes; but this was for the use of the committee room, the other was for refreshments.

5572. (Mr. Barstow.) What did you pay Robert Smith?—6*l.*

5573. Now give us the next?—Paid 6l. to James Crook.

5574. Was that for a committee room?—Yes.

5575. Who next?—I paid 6*l.* to the widow of the late Richard Nixon, called the "Sawyers' Arms;" he was living during the election, but he has died since.

5576. (Mr. Newton.) Was that for committee rooms?—Yes; and I believe the amount that I paid to Mr. Hartley was 2*l.* that is to Mr. Hartley's mistress.

5577. That was the "Masons' Arms?"—Yes.

5578. In addition to the 10*s.*?—Yes; I think it was not more than 2*l.*

5579. (Mr. Barstow.) What else?—That is all the balance I handed over to Mr. Welch with the receipts.

5580. How much was the balance?—If I received 24*l.* from him there would be a balance of 4*l.*; I am not certain exactly what I got from him, but Mr. Welch will be able to state it.

5581. (Mr. Hill.) Is that all?—Yes.

5582. (Mr. Bastow.) What assistance did Edward Whiteside, junior, render that he should have 5l.?—He was not only a voter, but he did a great deal in the writing department; we had a great deal of writing in connexion with our district.

5583. Was that what you paid him 5*l.* for?—Yes, it was.

5584. What was the nature of the writing that he had to do?—Every night we arranged for going out canvassing, and there were strips of paper that had to be sent out, there was a list of voters, and we kept sending out three or four of the electors and non-electors to go to the various parts of the districts to see the different voters.

5585. This man is a tailor, is he not?—Yes.

5586. How came you to go to a tailor to get writing done?—Because I had had him before, he is a good scholar, and a very good writer, and not only that he is a distant relation of mine, and of course I had been acquainted with him some time.

5587. How came you to have these committee rooms?—Mr. Welch desired me to do so; a few weeks after the election he asked me if I would take the trouble just to pay them for him; of course it did not belong to my department to look after them at all.

5588. You knew that Mr. Tilly was agent for expenses?—Yes, but Mr. Tilly never paid me any money.

5589. Why did you not take the bills to him?—If a person gives me any money to go and pay a bill, it is my duty to hand the bill to the person I receive the money from. It is not reasonable to expect that I should give the bills to Mr. Tilly.

5590. Did you know, or did you not know, that Mr. Tilly was the agent for Messieurs Fenwick and Schneider's expenses?—I was not positive or certain that there was a single bill to go to him in regard to public-houses, till the last.

5591. Were you aware that Mr. Tilly was the agent for the liberal candidates for election expenses?—I cannot say that positively; I did not know whether it might be Mr. Tilly, or Mr. Maxsted, in fact I never thought anything at all about it.

5592. You never gave the agent for the expenses a thought?—No.

5593. Did you know that there was such a person as an agent for the candidate's expenses?—To tell you the truth, I had so much to attend to on my own account with regard to the part in the election that I took, that I did not think either about Mr. Tilly or Mr. Maxsted at the time.

5594. Did you know that there was such a person as an agent for the Liberal candidate's expenses?—Well, I cannot say that I did for a positive truth; I have learned so since.

5595. You never knew that there was such a person, but you have learned so since?—Yes.

5596. What were the services that were rendered by these sundry non-electors?—The services they rendered were by assisting in going round to the different districts. I organized a committee that were well known in the district, and that were well acquainted with it, and of course they were men who were well qualified to reason with the electors. They were men of excellent characters, and men that I had engaged before for similar purposes, and in my opinion they do the business a great deal better than many of the voters do. You can get a great deal more work out of them for less money.

5597. You went round to the electors, and these men reasoned with them?—Yes, but I could not go in all cases; I was frequently attending the committee room to give them orders to go to different parts of the district.

5598. And these men were kept to reason with the electors?—Yes.

5599. And for their services you paid them 5l.2s.6d.?—Paid to members of committee and clerks 6l.4s.6d.

5600. After the election, "paid to sundry electors, 5l. 2s. 6d."?—They were principally runners. They were not men that I had engaged particularly myself, except perhaps three or four of them.

5601. What services were rendered for the different sums you have mentioned?—A good deal, and some of them that did not get so well paid did more than others. I gave the names to Mr. Moser, and I wished him to pay them, and he said, "I will give you the sum in total, and you had better pay them yourself."

5602. Did you take any receipt from them?—No, they were only in small sums, they were for two or three days' work 5s. or 10s. a day. They were merely working men that had lost their time during the election. There was the nomination day, and the election day, and they had been overlooked when the other payments were made. Generally cases of that kind occur. You cannot settle all up at one time.

5603. How many men in all did you pay for their services as runners and canvassers in your district?—I should think I paid upwards of, say 30.

5604. How many committee rooms had you in your district?—Well, I cannot say positively.

5605. Surely you can tell us?—There were about six committee rooms in the district that regularly attended.

5606. Does that include the Moor Lane committee room?—No.

5607. (Mr. Newton.) Just tell me how it was that you happened to pay 21l. to Mr. James Patterson. How came you to pay to him that large sum?—The 21l. in his bill was for 56 breakfasts for men employed by the committee at the election. Now these breakfasts I did not order; they are included in the bill.

5608. Have you got the bill there?—Yes, a copy of it.

5609. But not the items?—No.

5610. How came it to run to 21l. 18s. 9d.?—Mr. Patterson can explain that. There was a great deal of expenses. It was the central committee room, the principal room where the business was done, and we had several meetings there.

5611. But you had hired the room?—I had nothing to do with paying for the room. These were for the refreshments.

5612. You did not hire the room?—No, I had nothing to do with hiring the rooms.

5612*a*. (Mr. Hill.) What is the name of Patterson's house?—The "Wheatsheaf."

5613. Did you ever pay any voters for Atkinson?—No.

5614. Did you ask him to pay some voters?—Yes, I asked him to pay some.

5615. Who were they?—The four Whalleys.

5616. Did he ever ask you to pay any voters for him?—No.

5617. You have given as 21l. for refreshments at the "Wheatsheaf," the central committee room. Was that only for breakfast?—Fifty-six breakfasts were included in the amount.

5618. When were those breakfasts given?—They were very early in the morning.

5619. On what day?—On the morning of the election. The men had been out all night I understood.

5620. The polling day?—Yes.

5621. Were there voters and non-voters breakfasting?—No; I believe they were all non-voters.

5622. You do not know then whether Patterson's bill was right or not?—I could not positively say, I considered myself that it was a very reasonable amount.

5623. How long had you been using that as a committee room?—We had been using it several days.

5624. How many days?—I cannot say. We might have had it a week or two; but of course we were not there every night except perhaps once or twice for half an hour or so, and then we would remove to another public-house.

5625. You were a moving body?—Yes.

5626. You had not a committee stationary at each room?—No.

5627. You had not so many told off to form a committee at the "Wheatsheaf," and another committee at the "Mason's Arms"?—No.

5628. You went about?—Yes; but the "Wheatsheaf" was the principal house where we had our general business done.

5629. You did not send these accounts to Mr. Tilly? Did you ever hear that Mr. Maxsted was the election agent?—No. I cannot say I ever did.

5630. Did you ever hear that Mr. Tilly was?—No.

5631. Were you employed at the election in 1864?—I have been employed in every election.

5632. Were you or were you not employed in the election in 1864?—I do not know for certain whether there was one in 1864 or not.

5633. I can tell you that there was. Were you employed in that?—Yes.

5634. As what?—I was employed at the late Mr. Gregson's election.

5635. As what were you employed in the election of Fenwick and Saunders?—There was Mr. Gregson.

5636. What were you?—I was the captain of the same district.

5637. Did you then return any accounts to anybody?—Yes.

5638. To whom?—I believe to Mr. Henry Welch.

5639. In the same way?—I think so.

5640–1. Then according to that your accounts were

SIXTH DAY.
T. Cleminson.
1 Sept. 1866.

never audited by the election auditor in 1864 ?—I cannot say whether they were or not.

5642. What was the amount of the account that you handed in to Mr. Welch in 1864 ?—I had only a very small sum, I think not more than 50*l.* or 60*l.* at the election on that occasion, it was quite unnecessary to expend money, you could get them without.

5643. Did you ever discuss this question with Mr. Tilly about these expenses ?—No, not in the least.

5644. Or with Mr. Maxsted ?—No, I never said a word to him on the subject.

5645. You have with Mr. Welch?—No, I have never spoken to Mr. Welch respecting the expenses since the election further than what bills I gave to him and the statement which I have submitted to you.

5646. What I want to know is this—these were all illegitimate expenses, because they were not returned to the election auditor ?—That I cannot say ; I returned them to the party that I considered was the most proper person.

5647. The fact is that you looked on Mr. Welch as the agent and not Mr. Maxsted ?—No, if Mr. Tilly had paid me any money and wished me to pay accounts with it, I, of course, would have returned the receipts to him.

5648. (Mr. Hill.) You have told us that you yourself did not pay voters absolutely for their votes at these elections ?—I do not know that I was particularly a captain before. The election between Mr. Saunders and Mr. Fenwick was I believe the first.

5649. You said "except at municipal elections," what are the sums that you have paid at municipal elections ?—I do not know that I ever paid more than half a crown a vote.

5650. That is the ordinary price at municipal elections ?—That is what I paid.

5651. What number of votes do you ordinarily buy at municipal elections ?—As many as I can get hold of in the district ; I cannot mention the number.

5652. Tell me the number at the last municipal election ?—I had nothing to do with it.

5653. Tell us the last you had anything to do with? —I have not had to do with one the last 10 years or more.

5654. How many votes do you suppose you bought ; tell us within 50 ?—I cannot say, I do not think I ever bought 50.

5655. How much money did you spend ?—At a municipal election ?

5656. Yes, at the last municipal election for which you had the control of the money ?—I might spend altogether 20*l.* or 30*l.* perhaps.

5657. In half-crowns ?—Yes.

5658. That would be if the sum was 30*l.* 240, that is the sum of money that you then spent in buying votes ?—Yes, but I do not consider that buying ; I consider it merely paying for a man's trouble and loss of time in going up to vote.

5659. You consider that the man's wage ?—Yes.

5660. And is it the practice for each side to pay the wages of those who vote for them ?—I have always understood it to be so ; I never directly paid a man for his vote. That is what you may term bribery for voting at a municipal election, but it is merely for time.

5661. What is about the number of voters in a municipal election for Lancaster ?—I cannot tell the number.

5662. You know nearer than I do a great deal ; tell me about the number ?—I cannot tell what the number is.

5663. I want the number as compared with the constituency for electing members to Parliament ?—There are considerably more.

5664. May we say three or four times as many ?—I should think so.

5665. Would there be four or five thousand ?—Yes, that or more I should think.

5666. Five or six thousand ?—You are asking me a question that I am not prepared to answer.

5667. You know nearer than I do ; may we say about 5000 ?—I should say so.

5668. Out of those 5,000 how many do you suppose require their wages ?—I should think perhaps 1,400 or 1,500, or perhaps not as many or say 1,000.

5669. Are these men looked after in clubs, or divided up into clubs at all ?—They are managed somewhat similar to what the elections for the borough are managed, by forming committees of working men.

5670. With committees and captains ?—Yes.

5671. Are the captains at those elections the same persons as those who are captains at the other elections ?—No that is not always the case. I can only say that as regards the St. Ann's district, I have been a captain of that district for the municipal elections, and I have been a sort of captain for the borough elections. I happen to be best acquainted with the electors. I have always lived in that part of the town.

5672. Do voters at the municipal elections go according to Liberal and Conservative politics ?—Yes, it is generally politics.

5673. They are divided according to politics ?—Yes.

5674. Divided into two parties ?—Yes, into two parties generally.

5675. And the head persons belonging to each political party look after those that belong to their own party at the municipal elections ?—Yes, generally speaking.

5676. Which has been the stronger party in the municipal elections of late years ; the Liberals or the Conservatives ?—The Liberals.

5677. Very much so ?—Three to one, and more than that, particularly in the district where I reside, that is the St Ann's ; there is no trouble there.

5678. Three to one do you say ?—Yes, I should say three to one ; the fact is, it is a Liberal Town ; there is no necessity to have any Conservatives.

5679. But even although that is the case you are obliged in order to keep your party together for municipal elections to give them their wages ?—Yes, because the other parties are on the look out, and are not very particular about what they pay, I daresay, if they can only gain their ends.

5680. What is the qualification for a vote at the municipal elections ?—Paying the rates.

5681. Anybody who lives in a house and pays rates has a vote ?—Yes.

5682. (Mr. Barstow.) Who was the Conservative captain of your district ?—Do you mean the captain.

5683. Yes ?—I cannot say.

5684. Was there none ?—No doubt of it, but it was not my business to look after them. I was looking after the voters.

5685. Do you mean you never heard who he was ? — I cannot say that I ever did.

5686. Did you see any one on the other side active in your district ?—No,—well I met with one individual delivering papers out. I happened to be at Whalley's in the evening and he brought the voting papers from him. I took them from him ; he was that tipsy he did not know what he was doing ; he was one of the Conservative party ; he handed the papers to me, and of course I kept them to burn them.

5687. Did you receive any remuneration for your services ?—No, except I think I received a couple of books of the register, and then there was the remnant of six quill pens and a postage stamp, which I have preserved.

5688. Did you receive any money for your services ?—No, not a penny.

5689. (Mr. Newton.) What are you ?—A tradesman.

5690. What is your trade ?—A joiner and builder.

5691. Has anybody employed you since in giving you a job ?—No, I can say the best supporters we have in regard to business are the Conservatives a job! I could do without Conservatives if it was necessary.

THOMAS HARRISON sworn and examined.

5692. (Mr. Newton.) What are you?—A stone mason.

5693. Where do you reside?—In Moor Lane.

5694. You were the sub-captain for this district under Cleminson?—Yes.

5695. How much money did you receive for the purposes of the election altogether in a lump sum?—I received 41*l.* 10*s.* for Mr. Thomas Cleminson, and 100*l.* from Mr. Henry Welch on the day of the election.

5696. When did you receive the money from Cleminson?—It was on the nomination day at night, excepting a little I received before; about 30*s.* I think it was, altogether making 41*l.* 10*s.*

5697. You received from Welch 100*l*; when was that?—On the election day.

5698. At what time?—I think about 10 o'clock; between 10 and 11.

5699. Is that all you received?—I received I think about 5*l.* or 6*l.* a week or 10 days after the election.

5700. From whom?—From Mr. Henry Welch.

5701. Was it 5*l.* or 6*l.*?—I think it was between the two.

5702. Shall I put it 5*l.* 10*s.*?—Yes, I think that would be right.

5703. Is that all the money you received?—Yes.

5704. 147*l.*?—Yes.

5705. Be good enough to tell us how you spent that 147*l.*?—I paid Mr. Knowles Allinson 125*l.*

5706 When?—About 11 o'clock on the election day.

5707. Soon after you got the money from Mr. Welch?—Yes.

5708. What did you next do with the money?—I paid Welch, a man in the Freehold, 7*l.* for the let of his house.

5709. What is his Christian name?—William, I think.

5710. Is it Richard Welch, Ullswater Road?—Yes, that is the man.

5711. What is he?—He keeps a beerhouse, and is a stonemason.

5712. He is a householder?—Yes.

5713. (Mr. Hill.) What is the name of his house?—I do not know.

5714. (Mr. Newton.) How much did you pay him?—I paid him 7*l.*

5715. What was it for?—We made use of his house in the district. We hired it for that district.

5716. When did you pay him?—I paid him on the election day.

5717. In the evening?—No, it was about the middle of the day.

5718. Had he voted?—No, he had not.

5719. You paid him in fact for his vote?—It was considered part of it I daresay.

5720. That was a direct bribe for his vote. Who else did you next pay?—Mr. Wearden of the "Plough Inn."

5721. What is his Christian name?—I do not know. He lives in Brier Street.

5722. What did you pay him?—3*l.*

5723. What was that for?—For refreshments.

5724. Who had the refreshments?—There were a good many in the place at the time.

5725. Did voters have it?—There might be part of them voters.

5726. Was it for refreshment for voters?—Yes.

5727. When did you pay that?—It was paid the day after the election, I think.

5728. Is there anybody else?—I handed 4*l.* to William Warbrick.

5729. What for?—He was on the same committee, and it was for him to make the best use of he could amongst the voters.

5730. To spend among the voters?—Yes.

5731. Had he voted when you paid him?—No, he had got it the day before the election: we were engaged in public-houses during the night and he had it for that.

5732. He got it on the day of the nomination?—Yes.

5733. Who was the next?—It cost me 30*s.* amongst men I had hired to protect the booths.

5734. How many men?—There might be between 20 and 30.

5735. 20 and 30 men had one 1*l.* 10*s.* a piece?—No, 1*l.* 10*s.* amongst them.

5736. What was that for?—They were men we had to protect the booths.

5737. Anything more?—I paid about 6*l.* amongst some men who got from 7*s.* to 10*s.* a-piece.

5738. (Mr. Hill.) How many men?—I gave the names to Mr. Henry Welch. I cannot say exactly how many there were. They come to 6*l.*

5739. (Mr. Newton.) How many were there?—There might be nine or 10 of them.

5740. What had they done?—They were to protect the booths. They were non-voters.

5741. Why should the 10 men be paid more than the 20 or 30 who had a shilling a-piece?—That was for refreshments for the same men.

5742. You say you paid nine or 10 men 6*l.*?—Yes. This 30*s.* was divided amongst them for refreshments during the day

5743 You say there were 20 or 30 men amongst whom you paid 1*l.* 10*s.*?—Yes, that was for refreshments.

5744. Then there are nine or 10 other men to whom you gave 6*l.*, are they the same men?—The same men.

5745. You gave 6*l.* to them?—Yes.

5746. Is there anything else?—No, I think that is all

5747. Then with the exception of Richard Welch you never bought a vote?—No, I did not.

5748. You have accounted for 146*l.*, there is a balance over of 1*l.*, what did you do with that?—I cannot exactly tell to what amount the refreshments were exactly. I gave the bills in to Mr. Welch.

5749. (Mr. Hill.) The balance, if any, was spent?—Yes.

5750. (Mr. Newton.) Did you receive any remuneration for your trouble?—No, not a farthing.

5751. You did all this gratuitously?—Yes.

5752. All for the love of the cause?—Yes.

5753. Do you know anybody on the other side who was an assisting captain?—I do not recollect them, that was in the same district I was.

5754. Do you mean to say you cannot tell us the name of anybody you saw going about?—I can recollect a deal going about.

5755. You cannot give us one name?—I do not recollect anybody in particular that was in the same district we were.

GEORGE LAWSON SHAW sworn and examined.

G. L. Shaw.

5756. (Mr. Hill.) What are you?—A joiner.

5757. Where do youlive?—In Moor Lane.

5758. You are a Liberal?—Yes.

5759. And were engaged in the Liberal cause at the last election?—Yes.

5760. As a captain of a district?—Joint captain.

5761. Of what district?—Of the Freehold.

5762-3. We have not any district named the Freehold district?—It will be in the Bath Street district I think.

5764. What was the first money which you received at all to spend upon the first election?—10*s.*

5765. When?—A little over a week before the election.

5766. You received that from whom?—Henry Welch.

SIXTH DAY.
G. L. Shaw.
1 Sept. 1865.

5767. What was the next sum which you received?—30*s.*

5768. When was that?—A few days before the election.

5769. Was that from Henry Welch?—Yes.

5770. What was the next sum of money which you received?—12*l.* 16*s.*

5771. From whom?—Henry Welch.

5772. At what date?—A few days after the election.

5773. What was the next sum of money you received?—That is all.

5774. Did you not receive anything more at all?—No.

5775. No more than 14*l.* 16*s.*?—No.

5776. Are you sure that is all you received from Welch?—Yes.

5777. Are you aware that he said he gave you 50*l.*?—Yes.

5778. Is he mistaken?—Yes.

5779. Who had the greatest share of the money in your district?—George Bowness.

5780. Are you quite sure that all you received was 14*l.* 16*s.*?—Yes.

5781. How did you spend it?—The 2*l.* was spent in refreshments.

5782. Before the election?—Yes.

5783. At public-houses?—Yes.

5784. Refreshment of voters?—Voters and others.

5785. What was the next sum you expended?—John Long, "Rose Tavern," his bill for his house and refreshments was 4*l.* 12*s.*

5786. What other sum?—Richard Walch.

5787. Did you not pay John Long something else?—No.

5788. That was all?—Yes; I got a receipt for the money, and gave it to Mr. Welch.

5789. What was the next sum?—Richard Walch.

5790. There is only one Richard Walch, is there not?—Yes.

5791. The man who lives in Ullswater Road?—Yes.

5792. What did you pay him?—4*l.* 19*s.* for his house and refreshments.

5793. Was that a bill?—Yes; I got a receipt for it, and then I paid John Parkinson of the "New Inn" 5*s.* for two dinners.

5794. For voters?—For one voter and one non-voter.

5795. On the election day?—The dinner was on the election day, but I paid him afterwards.

5796. What was the next?—I spent no more.

5797. Is that all you spent?—Yes.

5798. 11*l.* 16*s.*; there is 3*l.* wanted somewhere?—Mr. Welch gave me the remainder for myself after the election.

5799. You had for yourself 3*l.*?—Yes.

5800. That was for your exertions?—Yes.

5801. You exerted yourself for the Liberals and you voted Fenwick and Schneider?—Yes.

5802. Did you receive any other monies?—No.

5803. Nothing except this 3*l.*?—No.

5804. Did you spend any other monies than those of which you have told us?—No.

5805. Did you know who were the Conservative captains working in your district?—Bond the Joiner was one.

5806. Do you know anyone else?—No one else except James Bond.

5807. No one else except those whose names we have heard of?—No.

G. Bowness.

GEORGE BOWNESS sworn and examined.

5808. (Mr. Barstow.) What is your occupation?—A watchmaker.

5809. Where do you live?—In North Road.

5810. Have you been a pretty active electioneerer?—I took a part in it.

5811. In previous elections also?—In only one; I was very slightly mixed up with the one previously.

5812. You are a Liberal, I suppose?—Yes, I am.

5813. Were you a captain of the Bath Street district?—Joint captain with George Shaw.

5814. From whom did you receive money to work that district?—Mr. Henry Welch.

5815. What was the first sum you received?—I think about 10*s.*

5816. When was that?—About a fortnight before the election.

5817. When did you next receive any money?—A few days before the election.

5818. From Henry Welch?—Yes.

5819. How much?—I can scarcely say; I made no memorandum of it at the time. The sum was very small.

5820. We must take some sum; how much should you think?—Perhaps about 25*s.*

5821. When did you next receive money?—On the evening of the nomination day.

5822. From Henry Welch?—Yes.

5823. How much?—18*l.* 10*s.*

5824. Did you ever receive any money after that?—About a week after the election I received 2*l.* or 3*l.*; I cannot speak to the exact amount.

5825. Was that from Mr. Welch?—Yes.

5826. Shall I say 3*l.*?—I do not think I received 3*l.* quite.

5827. 2*l.* 10*s.*?—About that.

5828. Was that all the money you received?—Yes, it was.

5829. From Welch or anyone else?—Yes.

5830. What was the total sum you received?—About 28*l.*

5831. You must have received some sum of which you have not told us?—I have got the amount 28*l.* 10*s.*, but I cannot speak to the exact sum, because I made no memorandum of any money I received from Mr. Welch at all.

5832. The items you have given us are a considerable sum short of the gross amount. Cannot you think of any more?—That is all the money I received.

5833. You have not accounted for the receipt of it: can you account for the disbursing of it?—Yes, the statement made by Mr. Welch the other day was not correct that we received 50*l.* and 5*l.* for expenses; it was a very great mistake.

5834. How did you spend the money?—The money that we received before the election was spent in refreshments for voters, and part out of my own pocket. I had not sufficient.

5835. What amount did you spend in refreshments for votes before the election?—I should think I spent over 2*l.*

5836. Altogether?—Yes.

5837. What sum shall I take; you say, "over 2*l.*?"—I cannot speak to a few shillings: say 50*s.*

5838. Did you pay any one for their vote?—I paid 10*l.* to the wife of a voter named Mounsey.

5839. What is Mounsey?—He is a labourer in Bath Street.

5840. William Mounsey?—Yes. I may state that this man was in a very great state of destitution at the time; in fact, he had been better in the workhouse.

5841. Is there anyone else?—I gave 5*l.* to the son of a freeman named Hargreaves.

5842. What is his Christian name?—Thomas Hargreaves, cabinetmaker; and I returned 7*l.* to Mr. Welch.

5843. Are those the only voters you paid?—Yes.

5844. You returned the balance to Mr. Welch?—Yes; that was intended for a voter named Simpson, but the Conservatives had got hold of him before.

5845. You intended to bribe Simpson, but the Conservatives got hold of him before you, and you could not manage it? I suppose it was intended for that purpose.

5846. Is that a full and complete list of your disbursements?—No; I gave 15*s.* to a non-elector named Jackson, whom we employed for three days, and I gave 5*s.* to a non-elector named Greenall whom we employed for one day.

5847. Anyone else?—I also gave half a sovereign to an old man named Day who was a voter.

5848. John Day, Moor Lane, cooper?—Yes.

5849. What was that 10*s.* for?—I suppose it was to please the old man. He had voted during the day; he was an old man, and a cripple, and went on crutches, and I thought it would be a very nice thing to please him, and keep him in a good humour.

5850. You gave it to him after he had voted?—Yes.

5851. Have you any other expenditure to tell us of?—I do not recollect anything else except what was spent at the public-houses.

5852. We want to know that?—Shaw paid the bills, but previous to the election, and on the election day, I also paid money which I had in my pocket.

5853. Out of your own pocket?—Yes.

5854. How much?—I do not remember; it was not very much—not very many shillings.

5855. How many shillings?—It was less than 1*l.*

5856. 15*s.*?—Yes, about that perhaps.

5857. Is your account complete now?—Yes, I think it is.

5858. Were you ever repaid this 15*s.*?—Yes, I was.

5859. You repaid yourself?—I got some money from Mr. Welch a few days after the election, which he said was for expenses, and remuneration for my trouble.

5860. What amount was that?—About 2*l.* or 3*l.*—2*l.* 10*s.* I should say.

5861. That was for expenses, and for your remuneration?—Yes.

5862. Who was the Conservative captain in your district?—Bond, I believe.

5863. The joiner?—Yes; I believe he received money from Mr. William Storey. Allow me to state that Mr. J. L. Bradshaw was the Conservative captain over the Freehold.

EDWARD RILEY sworn and examined.

Edward Riley.

5864. (Mr. Newton.) Where do you live?—In Moor Lane.

5865. What are you?—A grocer.

5866. You are a Liberal?—Yes.

5867. And took part in the last election?—Yes.

5868. What district did you take?—Golgotha, and the Asylum district.

5869. How much money in a whole sum have you received for the purposes of the election?—32*l.*

5870. From different people?—No; from Mr. Henry Welch.

5871. Have you received any money from anybody else?—No.

5872. When did he first pay you that money?—He paid me 2*l.* three days before the election, and then 30*l.* the night before the election.

5873. Be good enough to tell us how you distributed that 32*l.*?—The first 5*l.* I gave to Joseph Gardener, of Workhouse Lodge.

5874. What is he?—He is a tailor.

5875. What did you give him that money for?—For his vote.

5876. At what time in the day?—About 9 o'clock.

5877. In the morning?—Yes.

5878. What is the next payment you made?—I gave 10*l.* to Mr. Knowles Allinson.

5879. What for?—For what he had paid Mr. Robert Mashiter, of Golgotha.

5880. Did he come and ask you for it?—No; Mashiter came to ask me what I was going to give him, and I said 5*l.* He said that would not do; he must have what the others were having. I said, "What is that?" and he said, "10*l.* 12*l.* and 14*l.*" And I referred him to Mr. Allinson, because I had no orders to give anything like that sum. Mr. Allinson told me what he had given him, and I turned over the 10*l.* to him.

5881. Who is the next person you paid?—I gave Mr. Allinson 5*l.* to give to Mr. Joseph Gardener for his son, John Gardener.

5882. What is he?—A clerk.

5883. Where does the son live?—I cannot say where he lives, but he has a situation somewhere up in London.

5884. Does he live in Church Street?—No, he did live with his father at Workhouse Lodge before he left. He was a pupil teacher at the Royal Grammar School. Mr. Allinson thought he would be useful to him, and he sent for him. He is not a voter, but he has had his freedom taken up since.

5885. He found it so good a thing that he could not help having it taken up, I suppose. That 5*l.* was for helping Allinson?—Yes.

5886. What was the next payment?—I did not pay any more money for voters.

5887. Did you pay anything for refreshments?—I paid 2*l.* to William Riley for assistance.

5888. Is he your brother?—No, he is my father.

5889. Is he a voter?—Yes, a householder.

5890. What is he?—He is a cotton dresser.

5891. In what sort of a house does he live?—He lives in the toll-house, not far from the Royal Grammar School.

5892. Does he pay rent for the house?—Yes.

5893. How much?—13*l.* a year; 13*l.* or 15*l.*, I cannot say which.

5894. It is William Riley, East Road?—Yes.

5895. You gave him 2*l.*?—Yes; that was for helping me taking out circulars and so on, and I gave William Warbrick 2*l.* for his services.

5896. Is he a householder?—Yes, a householder in the Freehold Park, Windermere Road.

5897. What is the rent of his house?—About 10*l.* a year.

5898. Anybody else?—I gave Hesketh Riley, for his services, 1*l.*

5899. What relation is he to you?—Brother.

5900. Is he a voter?—No.

5901. Anything else?—I gave James Tomlinson 10*s.*, and John Moore 5*s.*

5902. Were they voters or not?—He is the son of a voter.

5903. Are they young fellows?—Yes, young men.

5904. What did you give it to them for?—For their labour and service.

5905. Are they both sons of voters?—No, John Moore is not.

5906. Is James Tomlinson's father a householder or freeman?—A freeman.

5907. Anybody else?—I gave George Forrest 5*s.*

5908. What for?—For his service.

5909. (Mr. Hill.) Is he a non-voter?—Yes.

5910. (Mr. Newton.) Is he the son of a voter?—No, he is a married man with a family.

5911. Anybody else?—There was William Wearden, the son of John Wearden.

5912. Is he a voter?—His father is.

5913. What did you give him?—5*s.*

5914. For his services?—Yes.

5915. Anybody else?—Not that I recollect.

5916. You have accounted for 26*l.* 5*s.*, and you told us you received 32*l.*; what did you do with the balance?—The 2*l.* I received I spent at the house I was stationed at, and about 3*l.* I spent the night before the election; it was better than 2*l.*; I did not allow any bill to run up at the house I was stationed at; anything that came in, spirits, bread and cheese, and beer, and so on, I paid for.

5917. (Mr. Hill.) Refreshments before the election, 2*l.*?—Yes, and between 2*l.* and 3*l* the night before the election.

XTH DAY.
dward Riley.
Sept. 1866.

5918. That makes a sum of 31*l.* 5*s.*, leaving a balance of 15*s.*?—Yes, which I handed over to Mr. Welch.

5919. (Mr. Newton.) Have you received any remuneration for your services in any way whatever?—No, if anything I am out of pocket.

5920. You were rather out of pocket?—I thought so a day or two after the election.

5921. You did it all for love of the cause?—Yes, I respected the members.

5922. Had you known Mr. Schneider before?—No, it was Mr. Fenwick I respected.

5923. You respected Mr. Schneider through Mr. Fenwick?—Yes.

5924. You do not know anything of any Conservative captain that has not been named?—No; I went to the asylum a time or two to see the voters there, and I saw William Dugdale there.

5925. Was he a captain?—No.

5926. Do you know of any Conservative captain?—No; they told me they had been up, but they did not tell me their names.

Mr. R. Hinde.

Mr. Robert Hinde sworn and examined.

5927. (Mr. Hill.) Where do you live?—In High Bentham, in Yorkshire.

5928. What are you?—I live upon my own farm, and follow the occupation of a manure agent.

5929. You farm your own land?—Yes.

5930. You are a Liberal in politics?—Yes, and always have been.

5931. What is your connexion with the Borough of Lancaster?—I am a freeman of the borough.

5932. What was your employment at the last election?—I came down, having received three letters; the first two I did not reply to.

5933. Who sent for you?—The letters were signed by Mr. Moser.

5934. When did you come to Lancaster?—The day but one before the nomination day.

5935. That would be July the 9th?—I do not remember the day of the month.

5936. Where did you go to on arriving at Lancaster?—I went to a house where I have a furnished bedroom of my own, and on the following morning I went to Mr. Welch.

5937. And discussed the preliminary matters of the election with him?—Yes.

5938. And also especially directed your attention to the pecuniary part?—No, he requested me to go to Manchester.

5939. Did you go?—I went the following morning by the first train.

5940. What did you do at Manchester?—I went to see a voter, Henry Stirzaker, whose address I got.

5941. Where did you find him?—I found him down in Hulme; I cannot state exactly the street, for I was in a great hurry.

5942. Did you ask him for his vote for Fenwick and Schneider?—Yes; he was a painter, and I asked him for his vote for Fenwick and Schneider.

5943. What did he say?—He said he was favourable to them. There was another voter in Manchester whom I could not find, and I asked Stirzaker if he knew where he lived, and he said he did, and I took a cab and went with Stirzaker to see him.

5944. Did you see him?—Yes.

5945. What was his name?—I cannot say; I could not make anything of him. The Conservatives had been there before me, and he said he would have nothing to say to me.

5946. What did you offer Henry Stirzaker?—Nothing then.

5947. Did he say he would come over to Lancaster and see you?—Yes, he did.

5948. From what you saw of him you knew he was a man who would require payment?—I thought he was. I afterwards saw another voter.

5949. What was his name?—Christopher Hinde.

5950. Did you do anything with him?—Yes.

5951. What did you do?—He came back with me in a cab; I then joined Henry Stirzaker and his wife, and we all came back together by the train to Lancaster.

5952. Is Christopher Hinde a voter?—Yes, a freeman of the borough.

5953. You are described as chemist and druggist upon the register?—Yes.

5954. By virtue of being a manure agent?—No; I had served my time with a chemist and druggist.

5955. And Christopher Hinde, too?—No; he is an old man in very poor circumstances.

5956. How is he described on the register?—As of 57 Aldcliffe Street, gentleman, he is an uncle of mine, and we almost supported him for some few years.

5957. We do not want to go into family matters; you looked him up, and brought Stirzaker and him back to Lancaster?—Yes.

5958. When you got to Lancaster what did you do?—Stirzaker went to his own house, and my uncle went to my mother's house.

5959. After that, did you busy yourself with the matters of the election?—Yes; the following morning.

5960. What monies did you receive from Henry Welch?—40*l.* on the morning of the election; but before that he gave me 5*l.* for expenses to go to Manchester.

5961. On July the 12th how much did you receive?—On the morning of the election I received 40*l.*

5962. Did you receive any other monies?—No.

5963. Neither before or after?—No.

5964. That is the whole money that you received, 45*l.*?—Yes.

5965. How did you spend it?—I went to the "Prince William Henry," that is the house where I was stationed.

5966. How much did you spend on your Manchester journey, first of all?—I had a great deal of cabs to hire.

5967. How much, about, did you spend?—About 8*l.*; that is to the best of my recollection.

5968. That is a good deal of money to expend in going to Manchester and back in one day?—I had all the fares to pay, and Stirzaker would not come without his wife and one child.

5969. Did you all travel first class?—No, we all came third.

5970. And you spent 8*l.*?—Yes; I think so, to the best of my recollection.

5971. You had some dinner, I suppose, there?—Yes, of course.

5972. And made things pleasant to them?—I was obliged to do so.

5973. Did you have a champagne dinner?—No, we had not.

5974. (Mr. Newton.) Perhaps lamb and green peas?—No; only bread and cheese, and porter.

5975. (Mr. Hill.) And you spent 8*l.*?—Yes; including railway fares, cabs, and so on.

5976. What was the next money you spent?—I met Anthony Knowles Fox, at the "Prince William Henry," between half-past 8 and 9.

5977. On what day?—On the day of the election.

5978. What did you do with him?—I tried to secure his vote.

5979. How did you succeed?—He said he had had 10*l.* offered by the Conservatives, but as he was in favour of the Liberals he would vote for them for 8*l.*; his brother Andrew was likewise along with him, and he said the same.

5980. Did you give Anthony Fox the 8*l.*?—No; we went down to poll, all three of us polled at the same time, we came back to the "Prince William Henry," and I gave them 8*l.* each.

5981. Did you spend anything else?—I then went and saw Christopher Hinde.

5982. Your uncle?—Yes; I took him to poll, he said nothing at all about the remuneration then, but I mentioned it afterwards; and he likewise received 8*l.*, which I gave him.

5983. What is Anthony Fox by trade?—I believe he worked at the Canal Office, as a sort of joiner, or ship-builder.

5984. And your uncle is a gentleman?—Yes.

5985. Did you spend any other sums of money?—I spent about 2*l.* in refreshments at the "Prince William Henry."

5986. Anything else?—I went afterwards and saw Mr. John Bleasdale, of Penny Street, and there was a Mr. Garnett, a farmer, who came into his shop, and said that he had a voter who would poll for 5*l.* Mr. Bleasdale said he had no money. I then said that I had; and Bleasdale said, "He is a respectable man, you may trust him with 5*l.*;" and I gave him 5*l.*

5987. What was the name of the voter?—I do not know; Mr. Bleasdale said Mr. Garnett was a respectable man, and could be trusted with the money, and I gave it to him.

5988. What is Mr. Garnett's christian name?—I do not know.

5989. You did not know anything of him?—He is a farmer, and comes into town every morning, I think, with milk.

5990. You gave John Garnett for a voter 5*l.*?—Yes.

5991. Is there any other sum of money that you expended?—There was one of the men who assisted me who got his coat torn.

5992. Was he a voter?—No.

5993. How much did you give him?—1*l.*

5994. His coat got torn in a scuffle, I suppose?—Yes.

5995. Is there anything else?—No.

5996. That is the whole of the money you expended?—Yes.

5997. That is 40*l.*, and you received 45*l.*; what did you do with the other 5*l.*?—I took the remainder to Mr. Henry Welch, at the "Queen's Hotel."

5998. Did you have any remuneration for yourself?—Mr. Welch gave me the 5*l.* back; he said, "That will buy you a new suit of clothes;" and that is all the money I received. I had been away from home four days and nights.

5999. You had it back the same day, I daresay?—Yes.

6000. (Mr. Newton.) Do you know of any Conservative captain in that district?—Mr. John Booth.

6001. Anybody else?—Mr. George Clark.

6002. Anybody else?—There was a Mr. Jackson, who was very busy; those are the three that I know of.

JOHN MARSDEN sworn and examined.

6003. (Mr. Barstow.) What are you?—A brush-maker.

6004. Where do you live?—Upper King Street.

6005. How long have you been engaged in elections at Lancaster?—This is the first time.

6006. You were engaged for Fenwick and Schneider?—Yes.

6007. Can you tell us at once what was the gross sum you received?—I can tell you about. It was about 133*l.*

6008. From Henry Welch, I suppose?—Yes, a great part of it.

6009. What is the first sum you received?—It would be perhaps about 9 or 10 days previous to the election.

6010. How much money?—Perhaps a couple of pounds, I do not know exactly.

6011. When was the next sum?—In a day or two after that again.

6012. How much?—About the same amount, 2*l.*

6013. Did you receive any more before the election?—Yes, I received about 8*l.* altogether previous to the election.

6014. Then I suppose, like the rest, on the nomination day, you got some more?—No, on the morning of the polling day.

6015. How much did you get?—I got 50*l.* first, and then 50*l.* again, and then 25*l.*

6016. Is that the whole of the money you received? Yes.

6017. First and last?—Yes, first and last.

6018. That is to say you received 133*l.*?—Yes, about that sum.

6019. How did you dispose of it first, before the election?—The money I had before the election was all spent in treating, and the like.

6020. What did you do with the rest of the sum you received?—I paid voters with it.

6021. Who did you pay?—Thomas Barrow Taylor, Upper King Street, 12*l.*

6022. What Taylor is that?—A stonemason.

6023. Is he a freeman or householder?—A freeman.

6024. Who next?—John A. Coulston.

6025. Is he a freeman?—Yes, 10*l.*

6026. Who next?—William Leighton, Alma Road, tailor.

6028. Is that T. M. Gudgeon, Marton Street?—Yes, very likely.

6030. What is he, a householder?—Yes.

6031. What is he by trade?—A wheelwright and joiner I think. Thomas Jackson. This is for the payment of two voters.

6032. Give us the names of the voters first?—Two Richardson's, sons of the Richardson I named before.

6033. Do you know their christian names?—One is James, a labourer, and the other is a joiner, I think.

6034. How much did you give them?—16*l.* between them.

6035. You paid them through Jackson?—Yes.

6036. Who next?—Thomas Parkinson, shoemaker, 12*l.*

6037. Is that Thomas Parkinson, Penny Street, householder?—Yes, that is the man.

6038. Is that all?—Yes, that is all, I have omitted one party. Kelsall 8*l.*, I do not know his first name.

6039. We have had his name before I think?—No, I think not.

6040. What is he?—He is a farmer out of Wyresdale.

6041. Was it for his vote?—Yes.

6042. Do you recollect which Kelsall it was?—No, I do not, I was only told it was one of the Kelsall's, that he had not voted, and I got him to vote.

6043. There was a trifling balance?—Yes, and 2*l.* of that balance was spent in refreshments on the day of election, and 1*l.* of it was returned to Mr. Welch, and he gave me 9*l.*, back again in addition to the 1*l.*; I had several parties to pay; runners, and such like.

6044. (Mr Hill.) What did you pay in the way of runners?—I cannot say.

6045. (Mr. Barstow.) I asked you very particularly whether you had received anything more?—It was not then in my mind.

6046. Was that 10*l.* for your services?—It was for my services, and to pay a few runners, and such like.

6047. (Mr Hill.) How much was for your services, and how much for the runners?—I cannot say.

6048. Would there be 7*l.* or 8*l.* for yourself?—Hardly I should think; perhaps half?—Yes, perhaps half of it.

6049. 5*l.* for yourself?—Yes, perhaps so.

6050. (Mr. Barstow.) You have accounted to us for 141*l.*?—Yes.

6051. That is what you spent?—Yes.

6052. (Mr. Newton.) You got 10*l.* for your services?—For my services, and for the payment of runners, and so on.

Adjourned to Monday at 12 o'clock.

SEVENTH DAY.

Lancaster Castle, Monday, 3rd September 1866.

PRESENT:

MR. BARSTOW. | MR. NEWTON.
MR. HILL.

SEVENTH DAY.

G. Slater.

3 Sept. 1866.

GEORGE SLATER sworn and examined.

6053. (Mr. Newton.) Where do you live?—At Barrow.

6054. Were you living there in July, 1865?—Yes.

6055. What were you at Barrow?—Clerk.

6056. To whom?—I am now clerk to the Barrow Hæmatite Steel Company. It was then Schneider, Hannay, and Company.

6057. Are you in their employment at this time?—I am with the Barrow Hæmatite Steel Company at present. The firm was then Schneider, Hannay, and Company, but it was changed in January.

6058. You are now clerk in the same establishment, but it is a different firm?—Yes.

6059. How long have you been in Mr. Schneider's employment?—Nearly seven years.

6060. Was yours a confidential post?—No.

6061. Were you at the head of your department?—No.

6062. We understand that you came over here about the election?—No, I did not.

6063. Were you not in Lancaster on the 11th of July?—No, I was in Barrow.

6064. Were you not in Lancaster on the 12th of July?—No.

6065. Did you take any part in the proceedings of the election?—No, not the least; not at all.

6066. Is your father alive?—Yes.

6067. Where does he live?—At Park Farm, in the parish of Dalton.

6068. What is his christian name?—William.

6069. What is he?—He is manager, for Schneider and Company, of the farms.

6970. Do you know of your own knowledge whether he took any part in the proceedings of the election?—I was not there at the time.

6071. Do you know of your own knowledge whether he took any part in the proceedings of the election or not?—Well, I believe he was here; I cannot say for certain.

6072. Where were you at the time of the election?—At Barrow.

6073. Did you you see your father on either of those two days?—No, I did not.

6074. How far is Park Farm from Barrow?—About five miles.

6075. Is your father in the habit of coming over to Barrow every day?—No.

6076. Are you in the habit of seeing him every day?—No; I do not see him between Monday morning and Saturday afternoon.

6077. But you say you believe he was here during the election?—Yes.

6078. Do you go home on Saturdays to see him?—Yes, I go home on Saturdays.

6079. Have you ever written to anybody concerning this election Commission?—No.

6080. You have not written?—Except on Friday to the chairman to say I could not come on Saturday till a quarter-past 1 from Barrow, but nothing previous to that.

6081. What made you write that letter?—Because I could not get away from my work until that train.

6082. When were you summoned?—On Friday afternoon.

6083. What was your observation when you received the summons?—That that was not my proper name that was on the summons.

6084. In what name were you summoned?—John.

6085. I understand you were served, and that you undertook to deliver the summons to your father, and that the name in the summons was altered to William?—Yes.

6086. What explanation have you to give of that?—I had a telegram from the chairman to say that I was to come to-day at 12 o'clock.

6087. I am informed that you undertook to deliver the summons to your father, the name upon the summons having been altered?—Yes, I did.

6088. What explanation have you to give of that?—I delivered it to him.

6089. When?—On Saturday evening.

6090. Is he here?—No.

6091. Will he be here?—No.

6092. Why not?—In consequence of a telegram being received that I was to come here to-day.

6093. At what time did you receive the telegram?—At a quarter-past 9 on Saturday morning.

6094. Your father, you say, is not here to-day?—He is not here to-day.

6095. Did you see him on Saturday?—I shall see him to-night.

6096. Did you see him on Saturday?—Yes.

6097. Did you tell him that you had had a telegram sent to you?—I did, and showed him a copy of it.

6098. What did he say?—That I was to come.

6099. What did he say about coming himself? You knew perfectly well when you were served with the summons that it was not you that we wanted, but your father?—Yes.

6100. You thought probably that your father might escape coming by your coming this morning?—No, I should not have come myself unless I had received the telegram.

6101. When did you give the summons to your father?—On Saturday, about 4 o'clock.

6102. You knew perfectly well when you received the telegram that it was for your father, and not for yourself?—No; the telegram was in my own name.

6103. But you knew that it was a mistake in the proper name?—The telegram was in my proper name, George.

6104. But you knew that it was intended for your father?—No, I did not. I have a copy of the telegram myself (producing a paper).

6105. Let me look at it, if you please?—It is a pencil copy (handing it to the Commissioners).

6106. (Mr. Barstow.) Did you write a letter to us on Friday?—Yes.

6107. To say that you could not come?—To say that I could not come till a quarter-past 1 that day.

6108. Why did you write that letter?—It was inconvenient for me to get away from the works.

6109. But you were not wanted. You had not been summoned, in fact. There were not two summonses delivered?—The summons was not in my father's name.

6110. But it was altered by the summoning officer?—It was not altered until after my letter was written.

6011. (Mr. Newton.) At 4 o'clock on Saturday you saw the summoning officer?—On Friday.

6112. In the presence of Mr. Schneider?—Yes.

6113. And Mr. Schneider said that the summons was for your father, and not for you?—He did.

6114. The summons was then altered into William, and you got a telegram on Saturday morning to come here, which you knew perfectly well was for your father, and yet you come here when you know you are not wanted?—I did not know that I was not wanted. The telegram was in my name.

SEVENTH DAY.

G. Slater.

3 Sept. 1866.

6115. At what time did you write that letter?—About 4 o'clock.

6116. On what day?—Friday.

6117. Was that before you saw Mr. Schneider and the summoning officer?—Yes.

6118. (Mr. Barstow.) But what made you write the letter at all if you wrote before you were summoned?—I wrote it after I was summoned. I should get the summons about 3 o'clock, I think.

6119. Why is not your father here?—You saw him yesterday?—Yes.

6120. Why has he not come?—In consequence of the telegram being received that I was to come.

6121. He knew just as well as you did that you were not the man we wanted?—The summoning officer told me I need not come unless I was telegraphed for, and I received the telegram on Saturday morning at a quarter-past 9.

JACOB MOSER sworn and examined.

J. Moser.

6122. (Mr. Hill.) What are you?—A pawnbroker.

6123. Where do you live?—At No. 10, New Road, Lancaster.

6124. You are a Liberal?—Yes.

6125. What part did you take in the last election?—I worked for the Liberal cause.

6126. You were captain in what district?—In the St. George's Quay district.

6127. That is what we have called the Bridge Lane district?—Yes.

6128. Did you distribute any monies or make any payments at the last election?—Yes.

6129. For that purpose what moneys did you receive?—I received 23*l.* from Mr. Slater, I think they call him. I saw his name in the paper, but I was not aware of his name when I received the money from him.

6130. When did you receive that?—On the morning of the election.

6131. July the 12th?—Yes.

6132. Would that be from William Slater?—I could not tell you his christian name.

6133. Did you receive it all in one sum?—Yes.

6134. What other sums did you receive?—I also received about 12*l.* for two more voters.

6135. From whom?—From the same gentleman.

6136. And on the same day?—Yes.

6137. Was that later in the day?—About a quarter of an hour afterwards.

6138. Did you receive any other sums?—Not during the election.

6139. Did you receive after the election any sums?—I received about 9*l.* that I had spent out of my own pocket.

6140. From whom?—From Mr. Welch.

6141. How long after the election was that?—About three or four days.

6142. Did you receive any other sums?—No.

6143. Were those three sums of 23*l.*, 12*l.*, and 9*l.*, all the monies you received?—Yes, that was the whole sum.

6144. How did you lay out that money?—In the first place I paid 8*l.* to Mr. Whitaker, a farmer.

6145. What is his Christian name?—I think it is William, but I am not quite positive.

6146. Is he a freeman?—No, a householder.

6147. William Whitaker, Lime street?—Yes.

6148. What did you pay him?—Between 10*l.* and 11*l.*

6149. On the election day?—Yes.

6150. Was that for the purpose of his vote?—Yes; he stated that he would have voted for the Liberals if he had not got any money, but he thought as the other party were receiving such sums he did not see why he should not.

6151. To whom did you give any money?—I gave 5*l.* each to Thomas Butcher, Richard Butcher, and William Warbrick.

6152. Are they freemen?—Yes.

6153. What is Thomas Butcher by trade?—He is a tailor by trade, I believe, and also the son.

6154. That is Richard Butcher?—Yes.

6155. What is Warbrick?—He used to be a carter, I think.

6156. Is he an old man?—Yes, he is an old man, and does not follow any calling now, I think.

6157. What other sums did you expend?—The other sums that I expended were out of my own pocket, for which I received upwards of 9*l.*

6158. In what way did you spend the 9*l.*?—In refreshments, and giving various men small sums of money during the week previous to the election.

6159. Refreshments preceding the election?—Yes, and on the day of election.

6160. Small sums of money to whom?—To Stephen Winder I gave something like 1*l.* in various sums, 5*s.* at a time.

6161. Is he a freeman?—Yes.

6162. What is Stephen Winder's occupation?—A watchmaker.

6163. Who were the other persons to whom you gave small sums?—Richard Wilkinson; I am not quite sure about his christian name.

6164. What is he?—A freeman.

6165. Brushmaker, Bridge Lane?—Yes, that is the man.

6166. How much did you give to him?—I gave him half a crown one time, and 1*l.* another. He had lost the week from his work, and he said he should want something to keep him over the week until the election.

6167. He was out on the drink all the week?—Yes, and running different errands.

6168. So you gave him 1*l.* 2*s.* 6*d.* altogether?—Yes.

6169. Who else?—I paid Richard Baines, who keeps a public-house in Bridge Lane, 23*s.*

6170. Was that for refreshment?—Yes.

6171. Refreshment of voters?—Yes.

6172. Is he a voter himself?—Yes, he is a freeman.

6173. Did you give him anything for himself, or was that 23*s.* all for refreshments?—That was for refreshments.

6174. What else?—I think that is all I gave in money, and the other was spent in different places when I was visiting.

6175. What else did you spend?—I paid various smalls bills to Miss Hodgson, who keeps the "Blue Anchor."

6176. Who else?—I do not know anybody else.

6177. What did you pay her?—Several sums each evening we used to meet there.

6178. What did they come to altogether?—2*l.* or 3*l.*; I could not tell exactly.

6179. How much do you say you laid out altogether small sums?—9*l.*

6180. You have given us 3*l.* 5*s.* 6*d.*; where would the balance be?—The balance would be paid to Miss Hodgson, except some few shillings I might give away in the street.

6181. What other sums did you lay out?—I do not know of any other sums.

6182. What did you do with the balance?—The balance was paid away at different houses when I was visiting the voters.

6183. That cannot be so; there is too large a balance left?—I was at Miss Hodgson's every night to see these voters for the week, and I should think I should pay something like 10*s.* or 12*s.* each evening.

6184. You have only accounted for 32*l.*; what have you done with the other 12*l.*? How much have you kept for yourself?—No, I never got a halfpenny; I am out of pocket.

6185. What have you done with the rest?—I have forgotten the two voters that I gave money to Mr. Barsby to pay.

6186. Who were the two voters?—Stephen Winder and Tomlinson.

6187. Is that Stephen Winder, the watchmaker?—Yes, the same man.

6188. How much did you give him for his vote?—I gave the money to Mr. Barsby and he paid them. I think he told me that he paid one 7*l.* 10*s.* and the other 5*l.*

6189. Who was the other man?—Tomlinson, a tailor.

6190. What is his christian name?—John, I think; he is a tailor, and lives in Bridge Lane.

6191. Did you pay him by Barsby, too?—Yes.

6192. How much?—I think I gave Mr. Barsby 5*l.* for him.

6193. That makes 44*l.* 10*s.* expended. Are there any other payments you made?—Not that I can recollect.

6194. You say the balance, if any, was out of your own pocket?—Yes; I was about 10*s.* out of my own pocket when I received the 9*l.* from Mr. Welch.

6195. If your account is correct you would be. Do you mean to say you did not receive any remuneration for your own work?—No; not a farthing.

6196. We have been told of one or two Conservative people who were busy on the Conservative side in that district. Can you give me any other names than those we have been told of?—There is Mr. Stanton. I should have got a voter but for him.

6197. What is his christian name?—Richard.

6198. Who did he prevent your getting?—An old man of the name of Moses Mawson; the agreement with Mr. Bell and him, I think, was about 10*l.*

6199. Bell was to have voted Mawson for 10*l.*?—Yes.

6200. Can you name any other Conservative captain whose name we have not got?—I do not know of any in our district.

6201. (Mr. Newton.) What sort of a house is this that William Whittaker lives in?—It is only a small house, but the land is the thing.

6202. What acreage is the land?—He was telling me that he farms about 100*l.* a year; but I do not know what quantity there is.

6203. That is the man you gave the 8*l.* to?—Yes.

6204. You bribed him with 8*l.*?—Yes.

Mr. B. Long.

Mr. Benjamin Long sworn and examined.

6205. (Mr. Barstow.) What are you?—A wood turner.

6206. Where do you live?—In Moor Lane.

6207. How long have you lived there?—16 years.

6208. Are you a pretty active electioneerer?—No, not particularly.

6209. You were busy this time, I suppose?—I did a little.

6210. On the Liberal side, of course?—Yes.

6211. In what district?—I was down in the Quay district.

6212. Bridge Lane?—Yes.

6213. First of all, tell us what money you received?—I received no money there, in that district.

6214. I did not say in that district, but from anyone?—Yes; I received 30*l.*

6215. From whom?—From Mr. Welch.

6216. Did you receive any money from anyone else?—No, not to my recollection.

6217. Besides this money, did you receive any money for expenses?—No.

6218. Is 30*l.* the whole sum that you received?—Yes, I think so.

6219. First and last?—Yes.

6220. When did you receive it?—On the night before the election.

6221. All in one sum?—Yes.

6222. In sovereigns?—Yes, in sovereigns.

6223. How did you spend it?—In the first place, I gave James Miller 5*l.*

6224. Is that J. E. Miller, Moor Lane, cabinet-maker?—Yes.

6225. Who else?—Edward Cooper, 5*l.*

6226. What is he?—A cabinet-maker.

6227. Who else?—Robert Fawcett, 5*l.*

6228. Who else?—Edward Whiteside, 2*l.*

6229. Is that Edward Whiteside, Marton Street, cabinet-maker?—Yes.

6230. Who else?—Thomas Whiteside, 2*l.*

6231. Who else?—William Barrow, 2*l.*

6232. Where does he live?—In Damside Street.

6233. Who else?—George Sergeant, 30*s.*

6234. Is he a voter?—Yes.

6235. Of Penny Street?—Yes.

6236. Is he a householder?—Yes, I think he is a householder.

6237. Anybody else?—John Hartley, 30*s.*

6238. What is he?—A cabinet-maker.

6239. Where does he live?—He has his shop in St. Nicholas now.

6240. Is he a freeman, or householder?—He is a freeman.

6241. What is his trade?—A cabinetmaker.

6242. Who next?—That is all, I think.

6243. Besides that, did you pay away money for refreshments?—Yes; I spent about 1*l.*, I think.

6244. What became of the balance?—I got 5*l.* for my own services.

6245. That is all?—Yes.

6246. You seem to have got your voters very reasonable?—Yes.

6247. Can you give us any explanation of that, beginning with James Miller? How did you happen to get him for 5*l.*?—We had some talk about which way he was going to vote, and he said he was going to vote for the Liberals, and I said if he was, I could get him his expenses.

6248. Was that also the same with regard to Cooper and Fawcett?—Yes; it was the same with all of them.

6249. That, I think, we must have a word about. Now Edward Whiteside and Thomas Whiteside; what did you say to them?—It was the same thing. I said if they were going to vote that way I could get them a little for their expenses for the time they would lose.

6250. Did they tell you about anyone else having paid them?—No.

6251. Did you know that anyone else had paid them?—No.

6252. Did you, at the time you paid them this 2*l.* believe that was all they got for their votes?—Yes; I did not know of any other.

6253. How came you to give so small a sum as 30*s.* to George Sergeant?—He said he should be satisfied with that; it was all he wanted; and that if he got paid for his time that he would lose, it would be sufficient.

6254. In what sort of a house did George Sergeant live?—It is a very respectable house.

6255. Can you give us a guess at what the rent would be?—Yes; perhaps 16*l.* or 12*l.*

6256. Do you know John Robert Hartley's house?—Yes.

6257. At what sort of a rent would that house stand?—Perhaps 14*l.*, as near as I can say; but I do not know.

6258. Do you know Barrow's house?—Yes.

6259. About what would be the rental of it do you think?—Perhaps 9*l.*

6260. Do you know of any Conservatives who were busy in this district?—No; I do not know that I do.

6261. Did you hear who the Conservative captain was?—No, I do not know of them.

6262. Did you never hear?—No.

6263. Was that 5*l.* all you received for yourself?—Yes.

6264. (Mr. Hill.) Are these cabinet-makers all in the employment of one master?—Yes.

6265. By whom are they employed?—They are in the firm of Messrs. Gillow.

6266. Do you do work for Messrs. Gillow?—Yes.

6267. Are you in their employment?—Yes.

6268. Are you under anybody particularly? Is there any person over your department?—No; I take the whole of the work in my department.

6269. What class of work is it?—Wood turning.

6270. Do these people work under you whom you have mentioned?—No; they do not work under me.

6271. Do you pay them their wages?—No; I do not pay them anything.

6272. Do you pay any wages yourself?—No; I have a son of mine apprenticed to me. That is all.

6273. You have no men immediately under you?—No.

6274. But you are the head of the wood-turning department?—Yes.

G. Hadfield.

GEORGE HADFIELD sworn and examined.

6275. (Mr. Newton.) Where do you live?—At Skerton.

6276. Within the precincts of this borough?—I am sure I cannot tell you. It is near Lancaster.

6277. I wish to know whether you live within the borough or not?—I am sure I do not know. It is close to Lancaster, over the water.

6278. That is no answer to my question. Are you within the precincts of the borough of Lancaster?—I am sure I cannot tell you.

6279. I cannot tell you. You do not know where you live, except that you live at Skerton?—Yes; it is near Lancaster.

6280. Have you a shop in this town?—No.

6281. Are you a voter for this borough?—I am not.

6282. How long have you resided at Skerton?—About three years.

6283. Have you ever taken an active part in election matters in this borough?—Yes, I have.

6284. When was the first election in which you took any part?—I came here as a stranger in the election of Fenwick and Saunders.

6285. The answer to my question, then, is this—that the first time you took part in an election would be the election which took place in 1864 between Mr. Fenwick and Mr. Saunders?—Yes.

6286. What part did you take in that election?—Very little.

6287. What part did you take in that election?—I can scarcely tell you.

6288. I asked you the question whether you took an active part, and you said "Yes." Then I ask you what part you took, and you say, "Very little." Never mind, go on. What part did you take?—I can scarcely tell you. I took so very little part.

6289. What were you?—I was nothing. I can scarcely tell you what part I took in it. I certainly did take some part in it, but very little.

6290. I ask you what part you did take?—The utmost part I took was bringing some voters over to Lancaster to vote.

6291. Where from?—From Skerton.

6292. Did you canvass?—No, I did not.

6293. If you did not canvas, how came you to take up the voters?—I was just asked to come with them in an omnibus to Lancaster to see them voted.

6294. By whom were you asked?—I believe by Mr. Towers. I was a stranger here at that time.

6295. Just answer my question, and do not run on and make observations. If you do not do that, you and I will agree very well. You believe Mr. Towers asked you?—Yes.

6296. You brought the voters up to poll?—Yes.

6297. You did not canvass?—No, I did not.

6298. Did you take any part in the election of 1865?—Yes, I did.

6299. If you took a part in the election of 1865, which you say you did, what part did you take?—I was captain over the Vigilance Committee.

6300. Had this Vigilance Committee any place of meeting?—They had several places of meeting.

6301. Tell us where they met?—They met at Mrs. Dixon's, on the Quay.

6302. What is the name of the house?—I am sure I cannot tell you. It is either "The Blue Bell," or something of that kind; and we met at Mr. Hodgson's.

6303. Where is that?—That is some other "Blue," but I cannot tell you what.

6304. The "Blue Anchor?"—Yes; I believe so.

6305. Where is that?—It is next door to Mrs. Dixon's.

6306. On the Quay?—Yes.

6307. Anywhere else?—At Mr. Curwen's, on the Quay.

6308. What is the name of his public-house?—I do not know.

6309. Perhaps I can tell you. Is it the "Saint George's Tavern?"—I am sure I do not know.

6310. Where else?—Nowhere else, I believe.

6311. You were only at these three houses?—I do not say I was only at those three houses.

6312. Where else was the Vigilance Committee held?—Only at those three houses.

6313. Who instituted the Vigilance Committee?—I did.

6314. What was its object?—It was reported that the opposite side had got up a lot of staff-men, of which I daresay you have heard previously; and the object of those staff-men, I believe, was to get hold of our voters, and either bottle them or by some means or other get them away. That was my impression, and the Vigilance Committee was appointed to look after these voters and take care that they were not taken away.

6315. How long before the election was this committee started?—Perhaps a week.

6316. Had you a Vigilance Committee in 1864?—No; I know nothing at all about the election in 1864.

6317. I ask you a question—had you or had you not a Vigilance Committee in 1864?—No; certainly not.

6318. Did you meet every night?—Certainly not; not every night. I believe not.

6319. How often did you meet?—I am sure I cannot tell you.

6320. Did you meet seven times?—I should think so.

6321. Your first meeting must have been a week before the election?—I cannot recollect exactly; it might be.

6322. I should wish you to recollect?—I cannot recollect. I will tell you the truth as far as I know.

6323. How long before the election was the first meeting?—I cannot tell you; indeed I cannot.

6324. You say you met seven times?—I cannot say whether it was seven times or not.

6325. Who formed the committee besides yourself?—A number of working men.

6326. Tell me their names?—I will be very straightforward with you.

6327. I hope you will?—I shall indeed.

6328. It is my intention that you shall be?—I will give you a list of them: there (producing a paper) is the text.

6329. Is it printed?—No; it is written down.

6330. Just read the names so that everybody in court may hear them; but let me look at the list first?—I think it had better be handed in, because it contains the accounts that were paid (handing the paper to the Commissioners). I shall be perfectly straightforward with you.

6331. What are the names that are run through with a pen?—You will find all the remarks there.

6332. What are the names that are run through with a pen?—I do not know; but if you will give me the paper I will tell you.

6333. Whose handwriting is this? (pointing to a part of the paper.)—That is the writing of Mr. Cole.

SEVENTH DAY.

G. Hadfield.

3 Sept. 1866.

6334. Who is he?—He is a person who was engaged with me in canvassing in the Quay district. He paid those men.

6335. Is that in his handwriting?—Yes; that is his handwriting.

6336. Then you do not know much about that paper?—They were the men or part of the men that were engaged.

6337. How does that come into your possession?—A copy was given to me after he had paid the money.

6338. Was he your secretary?—No.

6339. Did he manage the accounts?—He did not.

6340. How comes it into your possession?—I gave him a list of the names, and he paid them.

6341. Did Cole account to you?—He did.

6342. He sent in the account to you?—He gave me that account.

6343. What is Cole? What is his christian name?—Arthur Cole.

6344. Where does he live?—He lives on the Quay.

6345. Is he a voter?—He is a voter, I believe.

6346. Were those payments made before or after the election?—They were made after the election.

6347. Are most of the persons whose names appear there voters or not?—They are non-voters; there is not a voter amongst them, at least I believe not.

6348. There is not, to the best of your belief, a voter among them?—To the best of my belief there is not.

6349. Now be good enough to tell me the names of some of the committee besides yourself?—Some of what committee?

6350. This Vigilance Committee?—There are the names (referring to the paper). The Vigilance Committee consisted of men that took care of the voters on our side.

6351. And you put yourself at the head of them?—I did.

6352. And what were your duties?—My duties were to take care that none of the voters were run away with.

6353. How did you proceed to perform those duties?—To look after the men that were going to vote, to see that they were not got hold of by the opposite party.

6354. Were would you go to see that?—We had a certain number of men to watch every voter.

6355. There are 52 names appearing on this list?—Yes.

6356. Were they all?—They were all for the Vigilance Committee.

6357. What is that other list that you have there?—I shall give it to you presently; it is my expenses during the election.

6358. Were there any more than 52 men belonging to this committee?—There were not, I believe.

6359. So many were told off in a party?—Yes; these papers will explain everything.

6360. So many were told off in a party to go and watch certain districts, I suppose?—Certainly.

6361. Used you to go with these parties?—I did.

6362. Had you anything to say to the Morecambe district?—No, nothing at all. I did not know a single party in Morecambe, and I never was near Morecambe, I believe.

6363. Nor in any other district in the town?—No, not in any other district in the town. Mr. Carruthers told an infamous lie about me.

6364. You had nothing to say to any other district but the Quay district?—Certainly not.

6365. You were going to say something about Mr. Carruthers?—Any question you like to ask me I will answer.

6366. For the purposes of the election what money did you receive?—I have an account of it all.

6367. Be kind enough to tell us?—I will hand in this account.

6368. (Mr. Hill.) Have you been in Court on any other day?—No.

6369. You have been in Court this morning?—Yes.

6370. Our practice is to make the witnesses tell us what money they have received, who from, and when they received it. How much did you receive in gross for the purposes of the election?—I cannot tell you in gross.

6371. Was it so much that you cannot tell us?—I cannot tell you what it was.

6372. Was it so much that you cannot tell us?—No, it was not so much.

6373. Then why can you not tell us?—I have got my accounts here.

6374. Then tell us what those accounts amount to?—One amounts to 39*l.* 2*s.* 9*d.*, and there is another that amounts to 50*l.* 5*s.*

6375. That is money that you paid?—This is what I received and what I paid—a debit and credit account.

6376. (Mr. Newton.) I want to know how much money you received from anybody for the purposes of the election?—I cannot tell.

6377. Yes you can?—No I cannot.

6378. You can, and I intend that you shall?—I will speak the truth as well as I can.

6379. How much money did you receive for the purposes of the election?—I cannot tell you.

6380. Why not?—Because I cannot recollect.

6381. But you have it written down there?—A certain amount I have.

6382. Just read what you have written down there?—I received 5*l.*

6383. Who from?—Henry Welch.

6384. When did you receive that?—I cannot tell; I have no dates.

6385. How long before the election?—It was after the election.

6386. You received 5*l.* from Henry Welch after the election; what more did you receive?—10*l.*

6387. Who from?—Henry Welch.

6388. When?—I cannot tell you.

6389. When?—After the election.

6390. Go on?—5*l.*

6391. When?—After the election.

6392. Who from?—Henry Welch.

6393. Now the next sum?—5*l.*

6394. Who from?—Henry Welch.

6395. When?—After the election.

6396. Now go on?—I shall have to go on to another account now. I received 23*l.* 15*s.* from Henry Welch.

6397. When?—After the election.

6398. Any further sums?—I paid Mrs. Dixon.

6399. Did you receive any further sums from anybody before the election, or for the purposes of the election?—Certainly not before the election.

6400. After the election?—After the election I received 18*l.*, or something like that, from Mr. Welch to pay Mrs. Dixon.

6401. Any further sums?—I received 22*l.* to pay Curwen from Mr. Welch.

6402. After the election?—Yes, some months after the election.

6403. Go on?—And I received 15*l.* to pay Mr. Hodgson.

6404. From Henry Welch?—From Henry Welch.

6405. After the election?—Yes.

6406. Any further sums?—I believe that is all, except what is included in these accounts.

6407. But I want you to read what is included in those accounts?—I have read what is included in these accounts.

6408. So you believe that is all that you received?—I believe that is all I received.

6409. Did you receive any money from anybody else for the purposes of the election?—I did not.

6410. Not from anybody else?—From no one else—not a shilling.

6411. How was that money paid to you?—I received the money to pay the accounts that I have given you the list of.

6412. Those four last items, 23*l.* 5*s.*, 18*l.*, 22*l.*, and 15*l.*?—The 23*l.* 5*s.* is accounted for in this paper.

6413. 18*l.* ?—I paid that to Mrs. Dixon. I received it and paid it.

6414. How was that paid to you ?—I received the bill from Mrs. Dixon and handed it to Mr. Welch, and then I received the money and handed it to her.

6415. How did he give you the money—in cash, or money, or how ?—In cash, of course; I do not see the difference between cash and money.

6416. He did not draw a cheque ?—No, certainly not. He asked me to pay it for him.

6417. How were the other five items paid ?—They were paid in cash. I had spent money out of my own pocket, and he afterwards repaid me.

6418. Now be good enough to tell us how you spent the first money for the purpose of the electiou ?—It was among this Vigilance Committee.

6419. How did you spend it ?—In giving them something to eat and something to drink.

6420. How do you account for the first 5*l.* ?—I cannot tell.

6421. Yes you can ?—The accounts will show it.

6422. Tell us how you spent the first 5*l.* ?—I cannot tell how I spent the first 5*l.*

6423. What was the first money that you paid away for the purposes of the election ?—I cannot tell.

6424. (Mr. Hill.) Read the account, man, and tell us what money you paid ?—I paid at Baines's 15*s.* 6*d.*

6425. Who is Baines ?—He keeps a public-house in Bridge Lane.

6426. What is his christian name ?—I do not know.

6427. What is the sign of the house ?—I do not know. They are houses I am not in the habit of going to to.

6428. The "Carpenter's Arms ?"—I do not know. I cannot tell.

6429. What was the amount ?—15*s.* 6*d.*

6430. What was the next sum you paid ?—I paid over at Skerton 3*s.* 9*d.*

6431. To whom ?—I cannot tell you ; that was the amount I put down at night. I am sure I cannot tell you where I spent it.

6432. Go on ?—I paid at the "Blue Bell," Quay Side, during the whole of the election altogether 5*l.* 16*s.* 8*d.*

6433. Tell us the next payments ?—I paid at Mr. Hodgson's 2*l.* 3*s.*

6434. Well ?—I paid at Curwen's 2*l.* 7*s.* 4*d.* I paid at Barrow's, over at Skerton, 16*s.* 8*d.*

6435. Now the next sum ?—9*s.* 6*d.*

6436. To whom ?—The same place; and to the same place 2*l.* 15*s.* 4*d.* Then I got tired of it and I gave him 10*s.* and said "I will not pay any more."

6437. Gave whom 10*s.* ?—Barrow.

6438. Go on ?—I have spent at Jackson's, the "Yorkshire House," 2*l.* 16*s.* altogether.

6439. Is the "Yorkshire House" the sign of the public-house ?—Yes ; and I paid at Sam Dobson's 2*l.* 5*s.* altogether.

6440. Well ?—That is all I paid in expenses.

6441. Then taking this list with the names and the sums the amount would be 23*l.* 5*s.* ? You paid that also ?—Yes, 23*l.* 5*s.*

6442. Did you pay that sum ?—No, I did not myself. Mr. Cole paid it, but I got the money from Mr. Welch for it.

6443. And you gave it Cole ?—Certainly.

6444. And you gave it to Cole for the Vigilance Committee ?—Yes.

6445. (Mr. Newton.) Is that included in the 103*l.* ?—Yes.

6446. Then you got three separate sums from Mr. Welch—18*l.*, 22*l.*, and 15*l.*, to pay those three public-houses—Dixon's, Curwen's, and Hodgson's ?—Yes.

6447. (Mr. Hill.) Was Dixon's for refreshments and committee room ?—Yes.

6448. For both ?—Yes.

6449. (Mr. Newton.) Was Curwen's the same, for committee room and refreshments ?—Yes.

6450. And Hodgson's the same ?—Yes.

6451. The two accounts very nearly balance I find. Are there any other sums that you paid ?—I think not.

6452. Try and recollect ?—I do not think I did, for I was exceedingly particular in making out my accounts, and if you will be kind enough to look at them I think you will see that I was very particular. I will not hide anything from you.

6453. Did you make an agreement with these 52 men as to what they were to be paid ?—We paid them as little as we could.

6454. Did you make any agreement with them is my question ?—I do not think that any one did. We got off with as little as we could. Anyone who would take 5*s.* we did not pay 10*s.* to.

6455. About 46 of them I see were paid 10*s.* ?—You have all the account there that I can give you. I have given you the original accounts.

6456. Did you or did you not bribe any voter to go to vote ?—I did not.

6457. You know what I mean by bribing a voter to vote ?—I did not.

6458. Do you know of any instance of any voter being bribed to vote ?—Not personally, I did not.

6459. What do you mean by "personally ?"—I could not swear that any man was bribed.

6460. Does that answer refer to the opposite side as well as to your own side ?—I could not answer for any side.

6461. Pray answer the question. Does that answer refer to the opposite side as well as to your own ?—To both.

6462. Did you receive any money for your services ?—No, not one penny.

6463. What are you ?—I am a chemist.

6464. You were called a consulting chemist in the House of Commons. Are you a consulting chemist now ?—Yes.

6465. Was there anybody on the Conservative side who answered your description as chairman of a Vigilance Committee, or chairman of a body of staffmen ?—Not that I am aware of.

6466. Can you tell us the names of any Conservative captains who were active on the Quay side ?—I do not know anyone that I am aware of.

6467. I am afraid that you did not do your business well ?—Perhaps not.

6468. You were not vigilant ?—I do not believe there was anyone there.

6469. Then what was the use of your Vigilance Committee ?—I will tell you what the use of our Vigilance Committee was; it was to look after the voters, and see they were not taken away.

6470. You have told us that already. I ask you to give the names of any captains on the Conservative side. Yon tell us that you do not know the name of anyone ?—I believe we were so strong there that they dare not come near us.

6471. You say you do not know the names of any Conservative captains ?—No.

6472. Does that refer to that district only ?—I do not know anything at all about the Conservative captains.

6473. And you decline to give us any information upon the subject ?—No, I do not decline. Do not misunderstand me. If I knew anything I would tell you.

6474. The reason of your declining is that you know nothing about it ?—If I did know anything about it I would tell you so directly.

6475. Do you know the name of any captains in any other part of the borough except Quay side ?—No, I do not, with the exception of over at a Skerton; there was a person there I understood.

6476. Go on if you please ?—I forget the name.

6477. What were you going to say just now ?—I will tell you directly. I forget his name. There was a party there, a friend of Mr. Clarke's who was engaged there.

6478. He was active at Skerton ?—Yes.

6479. Can you give us any further information ?—I cannot.

SEVENTH DAY.

G. Hadfield.

3 Sept. 1866.

6480. (Mr. Barstow.) Are these accounts that you have handed in in your own handwriting?—They are duplicates of the accounts that were handed in to Mr. Welch.

6481. I ask you if they are in your handwriting?—Yes; the name of the party over at Skerton, I recollect now, it was William Atkinson.

6482. Did you hand to Mr. Welch an account in your handwriting?—I did.

6483. Whose handwriting is that (showing one of the papers to the witness)?—Mr. Cole's.

6484. You know it, do you?—Yes.

6485. Were you at night with these men who were on the Vigilance Committee?—I was with them sometimes in the evening.

6486. What did they do themselves?—They just protected our voters from being taken by the other party.

6487. I want you to tell me precisely what they did?—They did nothing but assist in protecting the voters.

6488. How did they protect the voters?—By keeping them together.

6489. How did they keep them together?—Well, perhaps one is a voter and he has a great many friends, and they kept with them to prevent their being taken by the other party; they are all working men altogether.

6490. Perhaps you will tell me where they kept them together?—At the various houses I have told you of.

6491. (Mr. Newton.) Before the election?—Before the election.

6492. They would go to bed at night, I suppose?—Yes.

6493. You would not keep them together then?—No.

6494. (Mr. Barstow.) Were they there night and day?—No, certainly not; he would be a very barefaced man who would go into a man's house and take him away from there.

6495. All the Vigilance Committee did was to drink with them in the daytime?—No, perhaps in the evening.

6496. (Mr. Newton.) And to make them drunk?—No, I should be very sorry to make a man drunk or to allow anybody else to make a man drunk.

6497. Did they watch the voters' houses?—No, they did not, not that I am aware of.

6498. Were you ever with them when they had your voters together?—I was occasionally with them.

6499. How much were you with them?—Well, I cannot tell you exactly.

6500. At what time in the day were you there?—Generally in the evening.

6501. From what o'clock to what o'clock generally?—Well, I should say they gave over at 6 o'clock; I should say from perhaps 7 to 8 o'clock.

6502. And did the men leave off drinking at 8 o'clock?—I cannot tell you that.

6503. Tell us what you think about it?—I cannot tell you; I generally left them.

6504. How long were the men together in the evening in these houses?—I cannot tell you, I cannot indeed.

6505. You have told us that they did not sit up all night?—Certainly not.

6506. (Mr. Hill.) This was a Vigilance Committee of non-electors?—Non-electors.

6507. You call them working men?—Yes.

6508. Did they first of all come together at their different committee rooms?—They came first to one room and then to another.

6509. Were these three houses employed for them?—They were not employed for them particularly.

6510. What were these three houses employed for then?—It has been the custom in Lancaster to open houses at the time of an election.

6511. There were three houses at which the Vigilance Committee met; did the Vigilance Committee of non-electors take their various friends to these three houses?—Yes.

6512. And each of these men had an opening to the houses, and was allowed to take as many persons there as he pleased?—I do not understand the question.

6513. We will take the first name that occurs on the Vigilance Committee list; I will take, for instance, James Smythies. Would James Smythies take any of his friends to one of these three houses? He had no right to take any of his friends there.

6514. Then how were these bills at these three houses run up?—They were run up in various kinds of expenses.

6515. Mostly in drink for voters?—No; decidedly not.

6516. Drink for whom, then?—Decidedly not for voters.

6517. Was it for vigilance men?—Yes; I do not mean to say that some of the voters were not there occasionally.

6518. The vigilance men, besides being paid the 23*l.* 5*s.*, ran up bills to the extent of 55*l.*?—I do not know that they did exactly.

6519. 18*l.*, 22*l.*, and 15*l.* make together 55*l.*?—Principally they did.

6520. That was principally spent on the Vigilance Committee?—Certainly.

6521. And their friends?—Yes.

6522. Had these vigilance men any particular order or ticket which admitted them for drink?—No order and no ticket.

6523. Could a vigilance man introduce any friend of his who was an elector to one of these public-houses?—He had no right to.

6524. Did he?—Not that I am aware of.

6525. Do you know how that 55*l.* was spent at these public-houses?—I do not certainly.

6526. Did you make the arrangements with those three public-houses?—I did not.

6527. You knew that each one of these Vigilance Committee men was drinking more or less in a public-house every night?—More or less.

6528. That was his duty?—It was not his duty to drink.

6529. It was his privilege?—I told them to keep sober.

6530. It was his duty to go there and take any friend who was a voter?—No, certainly not.

6531. It was his duty or privilege to go round to public-houses, and to look after those who were in these three public-houses?—Certainly.

6532. Then the Vigilance Committee spent on themselves and their friends, and were paid themselves, to the amount of 78*l.* 5*s.*?—Certainly not; do not misunderstand me.

6533. There was 23*l.* 5*s.* first paid to the Vigilance Committee themselves?—Certainly; that was for wages. I do not mean to say that all the money that was spent at those houses was paid for the Vigilance Committee; but that was all that I had to do with them.

6534. How much of the 55*l.* was not spent on the Vigilance Committee?—I cannot tell you.

6535. Tell me to the best of your belief?—I cannot tell you.

6536. You saw the bills?—I saw the bills.

6537. Then you can tell me better than anybody else how much of that 55*l.* belonged to the Vigilance Committee, and how much did not?—I cannot recollect; if I could I would.

6538. Do you mean that you cannot separate the two sums?—I could not.

6539. To the best of your belief would it be four-fifths?—I do not know.

6540. How much was each of those houses paid for a committee room?—Nothing.

6541. Then it was all for refreshments?—Yes; except what you will see stated in my accounts. It is but due to the proprietors of those houses to say that they did not receive money for their houses.

6542. They received nothing except for refreshments supplied by them to different persons?—Just so.

6543. Who are the persons whose names appear upon this account—Brown, Cole, and so on?—They belonged to the Vigilance Committee.

6544. Then what are these sums that are set down against their names?—The sums they received for their services.

6545. They are additional to this list?—Certainly.

6546. Then the Vigilance Committee altogether consisted of these two lists?—Yes.

6547. They consisted of 52 on this list, and 16 on the other?—Yes.

6548. So that there was a Vigilance Committee of 68 altogether—52 and 16?—I do not know the number; those are my accounts. That is all I have got to say.

6549. The accounts you have given to my brother Commissioner, Mr. Newton, would scarcely tally with those you have produced. The Vigilance Committee consisted of 68, and there was spent the sum of 53*l.* 10*s.*, namely, 23*l.* 5*s.* and 30*l.* 5*s.*?—I did not say that the whole of that amount was spent upon them.

6550. Was paid to them?—Yes.

6551. These two lists?—Yes.

6552. Then the Vigilance Committee were paid 53*l.* 10*s.* You say that the names in this "C" list are not voters?—No, those are not voters. They were none of them voters.

6553. They were all non-electors?—Certainly.

6554. Besides the payment to the Vigilance Committee of 53*l.* 10*s.*, you paid those three houses, Curwen, Dixon, and Hodgson?—Yes.

6555. And those are all the payments that you made?—Yes.

6556. Then the account would more properly stand, Vigilance Committee 53*l.* 10*s.*, Dixon 18*l.*, Curwen 22*l.*, and Hodgson 15*l.*?—Yes.

6557. That makes 108*l.* 10*s.* How do you reconcile those two accounts?—I cannot reconcile anything but what I have given you.

6558. You have given an account which comes up to 100*l.* 3*s.* 9*d.*?—There were some other accounts that were paid at the time that are not down there.

6559. Paid to whom?—I think there were three accounts paid that are not included in those items.

6560. What accounts are they?—I gave them to Mr. Newton, I think.

6561. That can scarcely be so?—Then you must have added them up wrong, I think.

6562. No; you may add them up yourself—23*l.* 5*s.* and 30*l.* 5*s.* make 53*l.* 10*s.* Just add them up yourself?—I gave Curwen's account 22*l.*; I gave Mrs. Dixon's 18*l.*; and Mr. Hodgson's 15*l.*

6563. If you add those sums together you will make them come to 108*l.* 10*s.*, whereas the sums you gave before only come to 100*l.* 3*s.* 9*d.*?—Perhaps you will read the items over, then, and I will tell you if you are wrong.

6564. Where are the items that you have given which only come to 20*l.* 18*s.* 9*d.* Where shall I find those; are they in this bill?—Very likely they are.

6565. Tell me whether they are or not?—You have all the books.

6566. Just look at that (handing one of the accounts to the witness)?—What are the items you want?

6567. I want to know whether those items in that bill are entirely separate and distinct from the payment to the Vigilance Committee and the payments to Dixon, Curwen, and Hodgson?—There is no doubt about that. The difference is explained there exactly.

6568. Are there any of the items there which were in Dixon's bill, first of all?—There is 5*l.* 16*s.* 8*d.*

6569. That was in Dixon's bill?—Certainly, independent of the 18*l.*

6570. Are there any items in that bill which were in Dixon's 18*l.* bill?—Certainly there are; there is 5*l.* 16*s.* 8*d.*

6571. Was that included in the 18*l.*?—Certainly not.

6572. You see a certain number of items upon that bill?—There is 5*l.* 16*s.* 8*d.*

6573. Do you see a certain number of items in your own handwriting on that piece of paper?—I do.

6574. Were any of those items included in Dixon's 18*l.* bill?—Certainly not.

6575. Were any of them included in Curwen's 32*l.* bill?—Certainly not.

6576. Were any of them included in Hodgson's 15*l.* bill?—Certainly not.

6577. Then the whole of the items in that account have to be added to Dixon's, to Curwen's, to Hodgson's, and to the Vigilance Committee?—Certainly.

6578. Now give me the amount of that bill?—Which do you mean?

6579. The whole amount?—39*l.* 12*s.* 6*d.*

6580. If you deduct 14*l.* 12*s.* 9*d.* from 39*l.* 12*s.* 9*d.* that leaves 25*l.* Then 25*l.* has to be added to the 108*l.*?—You have all the figures there.

6581. (Mr. Newton.) You must have received a great deal more than you have told us of?—No.

6582. (Mr. Hill.) Just listen to me and let there be no mistake about this. You paid the Vigilance Committee two sums—one of 23*l.* 5*s.*?—Yes. There may have been a misunderstanding, but there is no intention on my part to mislead.

6583. The total amount you paid to the Vigilance Committee was 30*l.* 5*s.*, instead of 53*l.* That is it. That was the whole that you paid to the Vigilance Committee?—30*l.* 5*s.*

6584. Besides that you paid bills of 18*l.*, 22*l.*, and 15*l.*?—Yes.

6585. And besides that you paid this bill?—Yes.

6586. Just look at it, and make quite sure that you are right. How much is that?—39*l.* 12*s.* 9*d.*

6587. Minus what?—14*l.* 12*s.* 9*d.*

6588. That leaves 25*l.*?—Yes.

6589. The items expended on that bill come to 25*l.*?—Yes.

6590. Are you quite sure of that? Look at your bill so that there may be no mistake. You are quite sure of it?—Yes.

6591. That makes 110*l.* 5*s.*?—Those are the only accounts I can give you.

6592. You have accounted for 110*l.* 5*s.*, and you have produced your bills for that, and you say you received 103*l.* 5*s.* Where did you get the other 7*l.* from?—I do not know. There must have been some mistake. I have nothing but those accounts.

6593. But, my good man, look at these accounts, and add up the figures and see what they come to?—I have nothing but those accounts. I happened to keep duplicates of what I paid and what I received.

6594. We are going to adjourn now for ten minutes or a quarter of an hour, and in the meantime just look at those accounts?—These accounts ought to tally.

6595. Just see how they do tally, and tell us when you come in again.

6596. Have you been looking through the accounts?—Yes, I make the amount 110*l.* 5*s.*

6597. Tell me how you make that up?—You had better take those accounts (handing them back to the Commissioners.)

6598. Have you at all altered this account since I gave them back to you?—Certainly not.

6599. Yes, you have, to some extent, because you have written the word "duplicate?"—That was to guide you; there is cash received 30*l.*, "A" account.

6600. I want to know about these payments. Did you pay the Vigilance Committee 30*l.* 5*s.*?—No; you will find there is a balance due to me.

6601. Have you expended 110*l.* 5*s.*?—Yes.

SEVENTH DAY.

G. Hadfield.

3 Sept. 1866.

6602. How did you receive that 110*l.* 5*s.*?—I received cash 30*l.*

6603. How did you receive that cash?—I received it from Mr. Welch.

6604. Then there was 5*l.* more than you have told us of?—I think not.

6605. The cash you received from Henry Welch was 5*l.*, 10*l.*, and two fives, that makes 25*l.* to my mind?—Certainly, that I have separate here.

6606. Now tell us what cash you received?—You have the account there marked A; I received 30*l.* on that account.

6607. From Mr. Henry Welch?—Yes; I received on account of account B 5*l.*, 10*l.*, 5*l.*, and 5*l.* I received from Mr. Henry Welch for Mrs. Dixon 18*l.*, for Mr. Curwen 22*l.*, and for Hodgson 15*l.*; that makes altogether 110*l.*

6608. How came you to omit that 5*l.* before?—I do not think I have omitted anything.

6609. Yes, you did?—I could not do so, because I spoke from the documents which you have in your hand.

6610. You certainly did omit it?—If I did it was unintentional on my part.

6611. That is the whole of the money you received?—To the best of my knowledge, it is all the money I received.

6612. (Mr. Barstow.) As chairman of this Vigilance Committee, I suppose you are pretty well acquainted with their proceedings?—With the proceedings of what?

6613. The Vigilance Committee; are you well acquainted with the proceedings of the Vigilance Committee?—Well, I cannot say that I am altogether; I can only speak from my own instructions to them.

6614. I do not want to know about your instructions; you were actively engaged in this district?—The St. George's district.

6615. Can you tell how many Liberal electors there are in that district?—I cannot tell.

6616. You do not know at all?—No, I do not, indeed.

6617. You say that this Vigilance Committee were there for the purpose of watching that voters were not abducted by the other side?—Certainly.

6618. Can you give me the name of any one voter they had occasion to watch?—That who had occasion to watch?

6619. The Vigilance Committee?—No, I cannot.

6620. (Mr. Newton.) You do not live in the borough?—I do not know whether I live in the borough or not.

6621. How is it that you were employed on this Vigilance Committee?—I was not employed; I organized the Vigilance Committee on my own account.

6622. How was it that you were employed upon it? You are not a voter?—I was asked to assist in the election.

6623. By whom?—By Mr. Wearing.

6624. Was there anything said about what you were to do?—No, there was not.

6625. Do you mean to tell us that you did all this for nothing?—I did, and I would scorn to take a penny piece from any man for my services.

6626. All this watching at night?—I would scorn to take a penny piece from any man, and I would not mind stopping up for three months together night and day to serve the Liberal party.

6627. And you would not mind going among the people and treating them at public-houses?—I do not mean to say that I did that.

6628. How came you to spend 18*l.* at Dixon's then?—I did not spend the whole of that at Dixon's.

6629. You or your committee did?—What committee.

6630. The Vigilance Committee?—No, they did not.

6631. Then what was Dixon's bill for?—It was incurred by other parties, as well as myself.

6632. It was all for drink?—For drink and refreshment.

6633. What refreshment besides drink?—Bread and cheese.

6634. What was Curwen's bill for?—Pies, and bread and cheese; something for the men to eat and drink.

6635. What was the 22*l.* at Curwen's for?—Something for the men to eat and drink, you cannot expect to engage men and not to give them something to eat.

EDWARD BARSBY sworn and examined.

6636. (Mr. Hill.) What are you?—A grocer.

6637. Where do you live?—In Green Area.

6638. You are a Liberal?—Yes.

6639. And you took part upon the Liberal side at the last election?—Yes.

6640. With what districts were you connected?—Well, I was partly in the Quay district.

6641. What we call the Bridge Lane district?—Yes, partly that way.

6642. Were you connected with any other district?—I was canvassing most part of the time with the gentlemen who were elected members.

6643. What districts were you canvassing?—All over the town.

6644. With the members?—Yes.

6645. How long were Messrs. Fenwick and Schneider over here on their canvass?—I think 11 days.

6646. Did you have a house-to-house visitation with them?—Yes.

6647. What moneys did you receive for the purposes of the last election?—The total amount.

6648. Give me first what you received, from whom, and the date?—A sovereign from Mr. Hadfield.

6649. What was the date?—About two days before the election.

6650. That would be about the 10th of July?—Yes.

6651. From George Hadfield, the last witness?—Yes.

6652. What was the next sum you received?—5*l.*

6653. From whom?—I do not know.

6654. Do you mean to say you have forgotten?—I never knew his name; it was a gentleman on the Quay. I never saw him before and have never seen him since, and I do not know his name.

6655. How much did you receive?—5*l.*

6656. What sort of a looking man was this stranger?—I think he was a stoutish gentleman.

6657. What aged man was he?—He might be 40 or 45, I could not say.

6658. How was he dressed?—I could not say.

6659. Was he well dressed?—Yes.

6660. You say you had never seen him before?—No, never.

6661. Nor since?—No.

6662. What did he say when he gave the money to you?—He gave me 5*l.*, and asked my name, that was all.

6663. Did he say what it was for?—It was for my expenses.

6664. Did he know who you were?—Yes.

6665. Have you ever inquired since who that man was?—I have.

6666. Who have you asked about it?—I asked Mr. Hadfield.

6667. And what did Mr. Hadfield tell you?—He did not know.

6668. Have you asked anyone else?—No.

6669. On what day did you receive the money?—On the day of the election, in the morning.

6670. Was it a man who lives in Lancaster?—I do not know, I do not think he does; I never saw him before and I have not seen him since.

6671. Was it Mr. Schneider?—No.

6672. Was it Mr. Fenwick?—No.

6673. Do you know William Slater by sight?—I do not, I do not know anyone of that name.

6674. Do you know Baines, who has been here, by sight?—No.

6675. How long have you lived in Lancaster?—About six years.

6676. Then you can tell me, pretty well for a certainty, that it was not a Lancaster person?—I am sure I had never seen him before in Lancaster.

6677. Did you tell Mr. Welch that you had received this sum?—No.

6678. He came up to you on the Quay, you say?—He was in at Mrs. Dixon's, and I went up into the room, and he gave me 5*l.*

6679. Were you sent for into the room?—Yes.

6680. By whom?—I do not know.

6681. Come, tell us?—I do not know the gentleman at all.

6682. Was it at Dixon's?—Yes.

6683. Were you at Dixon's when you were sent for?—Yes.

6684. Who else was there?—Mr. Hadfield.

6685. Did Hadfield hear you sent for?—I think he did.

6686. Was that why you asked Hadfield who it was?—No, I did not ask Hadfield who it was until last night.

6687. Did you not ask anybody at the time who it was?—No, not to my knowledge I did not.

6688. Did you go up to a room to him?—Yes.

6689. And you saw him there?—Yes.

6690. Was he sitting at a table?—He was.

6691. And had he any other money before him?—That I could not say.

6692. Tell us exactly what took place between you and him?—All that took place was that he gave me 5*l.* and asked me my name. I took it and went out of the room.

6693. Had he any book or any papers before him?—I believe he had.

6694. He was in an upstairs room at Mrs. Dixon's?—Yes.

6695. Did you see any other persons go up to him?—I think I did.

6696. Who?—Mr. Hadfield.

6697. Who else?—I do not know of anyone else. Moser—I think I saw him go up.

6698. Jacob Moser?—Yes.

6699. Anyone else?—No.

6700. Are you sure of that?—Yes.

6701. So nobody else went up while you were there?—I think not.

6702. Just try and consider?—I do not think anyone else did.

6703. How many of you were sitting at Dixon's?—I could not tell you, there might be a score or there might be 30.

6704. How long were you in Dixon's with these people?—I was in and out during the whole night and that morning.

6705. What time in the day was this?—As near as I can tell between 9 and 10; it might be earlier.

6706. Morning or evening?—The morning of the election.

6707. Had you voted at that time?—No.

6708. How long were you upstairs with this man?—About a minute.

6709. Did Hadfield go up before or after you?—I think he went up at the same time. I would not be sure.

6710. Was he in the room at the same time as you were?—Yes.

6711. What did Hadfield get?—I did not see him receive a penny.

6712. He saw you receive the money?—I think he did.

6713. What did Moser get?—I do not know that he got anything. I did not see him get anything.

6714. Did he see you receive the money?—I do not think he did; not that amount he did not, I am sure.

6715. What amount did he see you receive?—He saw me receive 5*l.* afterwards I think.

6716. Was that from the same person?—Yes.

6717. Now tell me about the second receiving of money; what time in the day was it when you received the second 5*l.*?—Well, it might be about 10 o'clock. I could not say.

6718. A few minutes after the first?—It would not be long after the first.

6719. Did you go upstairs again to him or did he send for you again?—I rather think it was brought down to me, but I will not be sure.

6720. Who by?—I think by Mr. Hadfield, but I will not be sure whether I went up and received it or Mr. Hadfield gave it to me.

6721. But you think that Mr. Hadfield brought it down?—I think so.

6722. What was that first 5*l.* given to you for?—Expenses.

6723. Had you made any claim for expenses?—Yes.

6724. To whom had you made a claim for expenses?—I had asked Mr. Hadfield for expenses. I had spent a good deal out of my own money and had received nothing.

6725. You asked Mr. Hadfield for expenses, and Mr. Hadfield took or sent you into the room where this man was?—Yes.

GEORGE HADFIELD recalled and further examined.

6726. (Mr. Hill.) Who was this man upstairs?—I do not know.

6727. Nonsense; who was this man upstairs?—I do not know. If you had not called me I should have asked you to do so.

6728. When did you first see this man?—I saw him down on the Quay in the morning.

6729. When?—It must have been from 9 to half-past 9; I cannot say exactly.

6730. What sort of looking man was he?—He was a stout man.

6731. A well dressed man?—Yes.

6732. From 40 to 45?—I cannot tell his age.

6733. When did you first see him?—At Mrs. Dixon's, on the morning of the election, from 9 to half-past 9.

6734. Did you see him upstairs?—I did.

6735. On the Quay?—Yes.

6736. Do you call Mrs. Dixon's "on the Quay?"—Yes.

6737. Do you mean that you first saw him in Mrs. Dixon's or outside?—In Mrs. Dixon's.

6738. Upstairs?—Yes.

6739. That was the first time you saw him?—He breakfasted with us in the morning.

6740. Where?—At Mrs. Dixon's, I believe.

6741. And it was at breakfast that you saw him first?—It was.

6742. Who else breakfasted with you?—I cannot tell you, there were a great number.

6743. Tell me the names of some of them?—I cannot indeed.

6744. Yes you can?—I cannot; if I could I would.

6745. Was Barsby there breakfasting?—I do not know, he might or might not.

6746. Do you mean to tell me that you do not know the names of any of the persons breakfasting there?—I do not.

6747. Not of any one of them?—I do not.

6748. Be careful?—I am careful.

6749. Because, recollect, we have heard something of you before?—I really do not know.

6750. Was Moser there or not?—I do not know.

6751. Was Long there?—I do not know; I saw Moser and Barsby and Long there, they went up.

SEVENTH DAY.

G. Hadfield.

3 Sept. 1866.

6752. Upon your solemn oath you do not know who breakfasted there that morning ?—I do not.

6753. You cannot tell me the name of a single person who breakfasted in that room that morning ?—No, I cannot.

6754. How many were there ?—I do not know.

6755. Nine or ten ?—More.

6756. A dozen or 20 ?—There would be perhaps 20.

6757. You saw this man first of all at breakfast ?—I did.

6758. Was he sitting near you ?—He was not.

6759. Was he talking to you ?—He was not.

6760. Was he talking about the election ?—He was not.

6761. What time did you breakfast ?—I believe about 9 o'clock.

6762. When was the first time you went up to the upstairs room to him ?—I was told there was a man there.

6763. Who told you ?—I cannot tell.

6764. Nonsense ?—I cannot tell you who told me.

6765. (Mr. Newton.) What were you told ?—I was told that there was a man come down there to pay the voters.

6766. Who told you that ?—I cannot tell; if I could I would; if I were to give you any name it would be a wrong one.

6767. Was it a man or a woman ?—A man.

6768. A person connected with the house ?—I do not think it was.

6769. Was it one of the persons who had been at breakfast ?—I cannot tell you.

6770. Was it one of the persons at the table who told you that there was a man upstairs ?—I do not know.

6771. Did you see a man go from the breakfast table ?—I did.

6772. And you pretend that you never spoke to him about the election ?—I do not think I did.

6773. Did you see him go upstairs ?—I did not.

6774. Who first went upstairs to him ?—I cannot tell you.

6775. How soon did you go upstairs ?—It would be a few minutes after I heard he was there.

6776. What did you hear he was doing upstairs ?—I understood that he was come there to pay the voters.

6777. What did you hear he was doing upstairs ?—I did not hear that he was doing anything upstairs.

6778. What made you go upstairs to him ?—I went upstairs because he was there. I will tell you all about it. I was told he was upstairs. I am not going to tell any lies.

6779. I sincerely hope, for your own sake, you are not ?—You will not catch me out in any.

6780. That is a different thing ?—I was told he was upstairs; Mr. Moser went up there to him and Benjamin Long and the last witness.

6781. Who went up first of you four ?—I cannot tell you. I was there with them in the room; that is all I know.

6782. You were with the whole three in the room ?—The whole three.

6783. What money did you receive there ?—Not a halfpenny.

6784. What money did you see Barsby receive there ?—I saw Barsby receive 5*l.* from him.

6785. Did you see Moser receive anything ?—I do not know what money Moser received from him.

6786. What money did you see Moser receive ?—I do not know.

6787. Did he receive any money there ?—I believe he received 5*l.* there.

6788. Did you see Moser receive money ?—I have no doubt that Moser did receive money, but what it was I cannot tell.

6789. You saw Long receive 5*l.* ?—Yes.

6790. And you have no doubt that Moser received it ?—I have no doubt that Moser received it and I saw Mr. Barsby receive 5*l.* Mr. Barsby states that I paid it. I say that is false. I never touched a penny piece.

6791. You say that what Mr. Barsby states is false ?—Certainly I never touched a penny piece and never gave him anything but what appears in those accounts, which is a sovereign.

6792. You say that you never received money yourself ?—Not a penny piece.

6793. You say you paid Barsby ?—I paid Barsby a sovereign, which is in those accounts I have given you.

6794. When did you pay Barsby a sovereign ?—I cannot tell you exactly.

6795. How long were you upstairs with this man ?—Perhaps two minutes.

6796. Did you tell Mr. Welch that you had received money upstairs ?—I never received money upstairs.

6797. Did you tell Mr. Welch there was a man paying money upstairs ?—No.

6798. You never mentioned it to anybody ?—No.

6799. When was the first time you mentioned having seen this man upstairs at Mrs. Dixon's ?—I cannot tell. No doubt it would be generally known that there was a man upstairs paying money.

6800. Do you know who that man was ?—No.

6801. Have you heard who it was ?—I have heard it stated that it was Mr. Slater.

6802. Have you any doubt that it was Mr. Slater ?—I do not know Mr. Slater. I never saw the man before and have never seen him since.

6803. Did you hear of any other persons going upstairs besides these three ?—No.

6804. Had this man got any book ?—I do not know I am sure. I never saw any book.

6805. How did this man know where to send for you ?—I do not know that he sent for me at all.

6806. (Mr. Newton.) What made you go ?—I heard there was a party up there.

6807. Suppose you did—what then ? Why should you go if you heard there was a party there ?—I do not know why I went.

6808. Oh yes you do ?—No, I do not indeed.

6809. You do perfectly well. Did you not go there to receive money ?—No; not a halfpenny.

6810. Take care; we shall have him here.—I do take care. I never received a farthing.

6811. Did you not go there to receive money ?—I did not; not a farthing.

6812. Take care; he is coming here.—Let him come; I do not care who comes here.

6813. Did you not receive money from him ?—No; I did not receive a halfpenny. What I state is truth, and you may take what I say to be the truth.

6814. (Mr. Barstow.) You know what you said before the Committee in the House of Commons, so do not take that high line. You confessed yourself guilty of a gross untruth. You are not entitled to take that high line.

6815. (Mr. Hill.) You say this man went upstairs, that you had no reason to go up yourself, and did not go to receive money. Did you go upstairs to tell the man whom he was to pay ?—No.

6816. Did you give him any names ?—No; I gave him no names, not one single one.

6817. Nor direct any persons to him as they went in ?—I did not.

6818. Why did you not tell us about this man upstairs when your were giving your evidence just now ?—I was never asked.

6819. That was the only reason you did not mention it ?—Certainly.

6820. (Mr. Newton.) Have you got anything else you can tell us you have forgotten ?—No; I have not.

6821. Do not come and tell us that you have not been asked. I ask you again, is there anything connected with the election you have not told us to-day ?—I cannot say.

6822. Take care.—I shall be here and happy to answer any questions put to me.

SEVENTH DAY.

E. Barsby.

3 Sept. 1866.

EDWARD BARSBY recalled and further examined.

6823. (Mr. Barstow.) Have you heard all that Hadfield has said?—Yes.

6824. Have you yourself any doubt in your mind that it was Mr. Slater?—I could not say. I do not know Mr. Slater from any of you gentlemen there.

6825. How long were you upstairs with this man?—Not above a minute or two at the outside. I might know the gentleman again if I saw him.

6826. You say Hadfield took you up into the room?—I went up with Mr. Hadfield, and I believe he took me up, but I will not be confident about it.

6827. You say the first 5*l.* Mr. Hadfield brought you down?—No: it was the second. I said I thought Mr. Hadfield did, but I would not be certain whether I went up into the room to receive it or whether he brought it down to me.

6828. That was the second 5*l.*?—Yes.

6829. Making altogether 10*l.* at that time?—Yes.

6830. What was the next sum of money you received?—12*l.* 10*s.*

6831. From whom did you receive that?—Jacob Moser.

6832. When did you receive that?—Somewhere about the same time; I could not say exactly.

6833. The same day?—Yes.

6834. In the forenoon?—I do not think there would be half an hour between all three amounts.

6835. When was the next money you received?—That was all.

6836. Was the whole sum of money you received for the purposes of that election 23*l.* 10*s.*?—Yes. I received, I think, 5*l.* 10*s.* from Mr. Tilly some days after the election, which I gave him a receipt for?

6837. Anything else?—No.

6838. Is that all that you received?—Yes; that is all.

6139. What monies did you lay out upon that election?—I could not tell you exactly, but I paid 5*l.* to Thomas Bulfield.

6840. What for?—For his vote.

6841. How did he vote at that election?—Fenwick and Schneider.

6842. What is Bulfield?—A tailor, since dead.

6843. Who else did you pay?—John Tomlinson.

6844. What is he?—A tailor.

6845. Is he a freeman?—Yes.

6846. What did you give him?—5*l.*

6847. From whom did you receive that 5*l.*?—From Jacob Moser.

6848. What else did you pay?—7*s.* 10*s.* to Stephen Winder.

6849. Who else did you pay?—No one else.

6850. What did you spend the balance upon?—Upon refreshments during the canvass.

6851. How much did you spend on refreshments?—I could not say exactly.

6852. About?—4*l.* or 5*l.*

6853. Was that before or during the election?—Before the election.

6854. I will give you the benefit, and say it is 5*l.* Upon what else did you spend any money?—I might spend something on the day of election, 1*l.* perhaps.

6855. And the balance you had for yourself?—I do not think there was any. I had 5*l.* 10*s.* from Mr. Tilly, but I do not reckon that in at all.

6856. 5*l.* to Thomas Bulfield, 5*l.* to Tomlinson, 7*l.* 10*s.* to Stephen Winder, and 5*l.* 10*s.* on refreshment before the election, and 1*l.* spent on refreshments during the elections. Is that all?—Yes.

6857. What did you do with the balance of 5*l.* 10*s.*?—That I kept for my own services.

6858. Why did you not say so before?—I said so; I said that I did not reckon in the 5*l.* 10*s.* I received from Mr. Tilly.

6859. Did you receive any other monies besides that?—No.

6860. Did you pay any other monies besides that?—No.

6861. What work had you been doing during the election?—Assisting in canvassing. I was paid that 5*l.* 10*s.* for those services during eleven days; I suppose it was 10*s.* a day.

6862. You were one of those who went out canvassing with the ex-members?—Yes.

6863. When they were canvassing was anything said to you about money?—No; not to me.

6864. Did you hear anything said?—About money?

6865. Yes?—No; I should think not.

6866. They kept it quiet?—Yes; I should think so. I never heard anything.

6867. Have you got anything else to tell us?—No.

6868. Who were the Conservative captains at work in your district?—William Bond, a beer-house keeper, Bridge Lane, and John Swainson Harrison, St. Mary's Parade.

6869. Is he a householder?—I believe he is a freeman.

6870. Anybody else?—No; not in that district.

6871. Have you any other name to give us that has not been mentioned?—I do not know what names have been mentioned.

6872. You do not know anybody particularly in your district?—No.

6873. Are you a voter?—I am now; I was not then.

6874. You were not on the register?—No; I was not.

J. Wilson.

JOSEPH WILSON sworn and examined.

6875. (Mr. Barstow.) What are you?—I am described by Mr. Clark as ex-tailor.

6876. Late in business as a tailor?—Yes.

6877. Where do you live now?—At Morecambe.

6878. Where did you live in 1865, at the time of the election?—I lived in a place called Holme, in Westmoreland.

6879. What was your post town?—It would be Burton, a mile and a half or so from Holme.

6880. Did you then carry on any business?—Well, I was a little in the farming line.

6881. Are you a great traveller?—No; not particularly.

6882. Were you much away from home in the spring of this year?—Yes.

6884. You do not like going to London, perhaps?—I do not.

6883. Did you hear that you were wanted there in the spring?—I did.

6885. We know that you did not go there?—I did not go. I did not want to go. I went out of the way on that purpose. I judged that there would be what they call a Speaker's warrant for me, and I went away on suspicion that something was going to take place.

6886. You went out of the way to evade the Speaker's warrant?—Yes, I did. I may state that I never expected such a thing, but I had said to my wife previous to this——

6887. Never mind that. What you did yourself I should be very glad to hear. I believe, lately, you have been away from home?—Yes, I have.

6888. I hope you have no objection to meet us here?—Well, I did not like it.

6889. Now you have seen us, I hope you will not think us very formidable?—No; you look like three very nice gentlemen, but I think you are very severe. I did not expect that you would put the witnesses through such a very severe ordeal.

6890. That depends upon the witnesses themselves?—Yes, sure.

6891. If you answer a plain question in a plain manner depend upon it you will not be put through a severe ordeal?—I came here on purpose to do so.

6892. Now let us see how well you can do it. I think I may say you were active for the Liberal members at the last election ?—Yes; I was. I did my best.

SEVENTH DAY.

J. Wilson.

6893. I believe you have for some time been a pretty keen political partizan at elections for this borough ?—Well, I got dragged into it, and then I got alive in the work.

6894. That is no answer to my question. Have you been a keen political partizan at elections for this borough ?—Yes.

6895. Elections at Lancaster are not carried without a great deal of money ?—No.

6896. And some one must distribute that money to the voters ?—Yes; that is true.

6897. I believe you were one of those somebodys who did distribute at the last election ?—Yes, I did, and the time before, and all.

6898. That money was not from your own pocket ?—No, it was not.

6899. From whom did you receive it ?—Mr. Henry Welch.

6900. Please to give me the gross amount, first, that you received from Mr. Henry Welch ?—Well, about three weeks or a month before the election I received ——

6901. Give me the gross amount, first, if you can; if not, I will take the items separately ?—About three weeks or a month before the election I received some 6*l.*, 7*l.*, or 8*l.*, perhaps.

6902. Now, tell me the gross amount you received ?—Altogether ?

6903. Yes ?—No; I cannot do that.

6904. Then we will take the details. Three weeks before the election you received how much ?—Some 7*l.* or 8*l.*

6905. We must take a figure. Which will you say ?—I will say 8*l.*

6906. What was the next sum you received ?—The next sum I received was on the nomination day—on the night of the nomination day.

6907. July the 11th ?—Yes.

6908. How much did you receive ?—I think something like 70*l.* or 80*l.*, but I cannot state exactly.

6909. Give me about the sum if you cannot tell exactly; but, however, some witnesses have been very exact ?—You may put it down at 70*l.*; and I may say, here, that I must crave indulgence at your hands, though I think you will find me correct from the beginning to the end when you have done with me. My memory does not serve me quite so well as it used to do, and I kept no particular account of these things. I was earnest, zealous, and alive, you understand, and I did not exactly keep a proper account of these things at the time.

6910. You are not an old man ?—55 or 56.

6911. The memory is good enough, then, or I hope so, at least ?—It is not so good as it used to be.

6912. When was the next occasion on which you received money after that ?—The next morning, at the time the election was going on.

6913. At what time ?—Between 10 and 11; a little bit after 10 o'clock, I think it would be, or somewhere thereabouts.

6914. How much money did you receive ?—I think it would be about 50*l.*—45*l.* or 50*l.*

6915. What shall I write down ?—Say 50*l.*

6916. From Henry Welch ?—Yes; Mr. Wearing, Mr. Welch, and all of them were in the room at the time.

6917. Who gave it to you ?—Mr. Welch.

6918. Did you receive anything after the election ?—Yes.

6919. Did you receive any more on the election day ?—Not a farthing.

6920. After the election ?—Yes; after the election I received 5*l.*

6921. From Henry Welch again ?—Yes.

6922. Then I suppose these four sums of 8*l.*, 70*l.*, 50*l.*, and 5*l.* are the whole sums you received from Henry Welch ?—Yes.

6923. Did you receive any money from anyone else ?—No; not a farthing.

6924. Not a farthing from any other person whatever ?—No; from nobody whatever.

6925. That you avow distinctly ?—Yes, distinctly; not a farthing from anybody.

6926. Now, how did you dispose of this money, and I come first of all to the 8*l.* you received before the election ?—This 8*l.*, you see, I received some fortnight before the election.

6927. You told us three weeks before the election ?—Yes; I received it in two or three sums.

6928. By the way, I have not asked you whether you were a captain at this election ?—Well, I suppose I was; I did not know it till after the meeting for the purpose of making or forming these captains had taken place, and they said, "We tell you, Joseph, now, you are captain over Kellet, Carnforth, and Warton." The first removes me from Kellet, and said, "We "think you will have quite enough to do at Carnforth "and Warton," and I found I had.

6929. You were only captain over Carnforth ?—Carnforth and Warton.

6930. Are they one township ?—Perhaps they are, I think so.

6931. Did you confine your exertions to that district ?—I did principally; nearly altogether to Carnforth and Warton.

6932. Now, about this 8*l.*; how was that spent ?—You know I had my horse and conveyance moving about, and that requires money, and I require money myself, though I confess before you to be a very careful electioneerer.

6933. That is giving no account of how the money was spent ?—When I got into Carnforth I called the people together and visited them.

6934. A man may call people together and visit them without spending a farthing ?—Yes; but we do not do it that way at elections.

6935. In what way did you do it at this election ?—Now, during the election——

6936. Answer my question shortly ?—I tell you that during the election I spent a good bit on myself; I was away from Holme, where I live, twelve miles from Lancaster.

6937. How far from Carnforth ?—Eight or nine miles from Carnforth.

6938. Is it as much as that ?—Yes; I think so, if you reckon.

6939. You have not yet told us how you spent this 8*l.* ?—I had to live on it myself and put up my horse and conveyance.

6949. Do you wish the Commissioners to take it that you spent 8*l.* in horse hire and beds in Carnforth, or rather in stabling for your own horse and gig ?—No; I spent part of it.

6941. How much of it ?—I cannot exactly say you know.

6942. I do not ask you exactly ?—I treated the men sometimes and gave them a shilling or two.

6943. Is that really what you spent, the 8*l.* in refreshment and for yourself and voters ?—I think out of it I gave one Joseph Miller a sovereign.

6944. Then it will be refreshment for self and voters 7*l.* ?—Yes.

6945. Who is Miller ?—He is a freeman.

6946. (Mr. Newton.) Of Carnforth, yeoman; is that the man ?—Yes, and I said "Now thou can treat our friends," he pretended to be a great friend of ours.

6947. Did you give anybody else anything out of this 8*l.* ?—I think I did give 10*s.* to somebody, but I cannot say exactly who it was, I think I did, it strikes me so; but however the money went in that way, spending, treating, and on myself, up to the time of election.

6948. In treating yourself and voters at Carnforth ?—Yes, in getting something to eat for myself and others up to the time of election.

6949. Refreshment for self and voters up to the time of election ?—Yes.

6950. What did you do with the first sum you received, the 70*l.* ?—I took it down with me that night to Carnforth, kept it in my pocket until morning, then

I got all my friends together as well as I could into the conveyance and brought them up to the "Nag's Head" in Church Street.

6951. Is that in Lancaster?—Yes.

6952. How many voters were there?—Well, I think there would not be above six.

6953. That does not matter so long as you are prepared to give us the names?—I will try to do so.

6954. I suppose I may say that you gave them the money after they had voted?—I paid them every one before they voted, and I think that is rather singular because I have read the evidence. I paid them every one before they voted.

6955. I want now the names of the voters and the sums you gave them?—If you will furnish me, or any gentleman present, with a list of the Carnforth voters I think I could do it.

6956. (Mr. Hill.) You can give them to us without the list?—There was a John Mashiter, this little man lived in the town at the time, but I think he worked at Carnforth.

6957. You have got the list before you so you can see?—He is not here, he had been a husbandman.

6958. What did you pay Mashiter?—5*l.*

6959. Who next?—Two Whormbey's.

6960. (Mr. Newton.) What are their christian names?—Richard Whormbey and Thomas Whormbey.

6961. (Mr. Barstow.) What did you pay them?—15*l.* each.

6962. Who next?—Joseph Miller.

6963. Of Carnforth, yeoman?—Yes.

6965. Exclusive of the 1*l.* of which you have told us already?—Yes, but that was given some weeks before perhaps.

6966. Who next?—John Mashiter joiner.

6967. How much did you give him?—15*l.*

6968. Who next?—I think I have done here.

6969, That is only five, and I think you said six?—No; these others here I think got money from the other side; they voted with me the election before quite quietly and nicely, but they went astray this time.

6970. Is there not a sixth gentleman, there ought to be another?—Aye; Richard Nelson, here he is. Richard Nelson, coachman.

6971. How much did you give him?—14*l.* It is rather a high figure, but I could not help it, they overpowered me, they did indeed, this capped all the elections that I ever met with.

6972. Was there anyone else in Carnforth?—No.

6973. Are you quite sure?—Not a penny.

6974. You did not spend a penny more in Carnforth?—No.

6975. (Mr. Hill.) What was the trade of the first Mashiter you mentioned, to whom you gave 5*l.*?—He was a farm labourer I think.

6976. (Mr. Newton.) How came you to give that first Mashiter only 5*l.*?—He is a quiet sort of man, and our object in electioneering is to get them as cheap as we can, and I said, "Johnny, you can have no more than 5*l.*"

6977. What was the occupation of Joseph Miller?—Farmer.

6978. (Mr. Barstow.) You paid all these voters in Lancaster?—Yes, every one of them in Lancaster.

6979. But before they voted?—Yes.

6980. Go on with the next, there is more money to dispose of?—Yes. Now we go to Warton; there is Joseph Emley, of Warton.

6981. How much did you give him?—10*l.* Then there is an elderly man living at the back of the public house in Warton, I cannot remember his name; will it be James Shaw? I declare I cannot remember, but I know these gentlemen when I see them.

6982. (Mr. Newton.) Who is likely to know?—If there are any Warton people present they can tell me directly.

6983. (Mr. Hill.) Where does he live?—At Warton.

6984. Whereabouts?—Just at the rise, at the back of the public-house, I went and had a conversation with him and he said he should want 10*l.* or 12*l.* I think it must be this James Shaw. I should know the man if I saw him in a moment.

6985. (Mr. Newton.) Did he vote for you?—Yes.

6986. James Shaw did not, was it Henry Shaw?—No.

6987. John Shaw, Moor Lane, gentleman?—No.

6988. (Mr. Barstow.) Was his name Stirzaker?—No, it must be this James Mashiter, farmer, I know the old man very well when I see him.

6989. Are you sure he lives in Warton?—Yes, he is a farm labourer; at least he might be said to be a farmer, but he is only a poor man; he said Mr. Fenwick owed him a bill of 10*l.* or 12*l.*, and if I could get it he would vote for me. I said "Is this true? How happens Mr. Fenwick to owe you this?" And he says "Oh, it is 18 years ago," and I says, "It is a long time, how do you make it out?" and he said, "I make it out that I led stones and did various other things at that time, and never got my money to this day, and I will not vote unless you pay me." Well, I said, "I will inquire into it, and if it be correct, you shall have the money."

6990. How much money did you give him?—10*l.* I think it was, either 10*l.* or 12*l.*; but if you have him up here he will tell you I daresay.

6991. Who was the next?—I only got two I think out of Warton; I must stop.

6992. Did you give anybody else money for his vote?—No, not in the country.

6993. In the town?—Now we come to the town. There are some people called Stirzakers.

6994. What are they?—Gardeners.

5995. John Stirzaker, Meeting House Lane?—Yes.

6996. And T. H. Stirzaker, Meeting House Lane, gardner?—Yes, they are father and son; they received about 13*l.* from me. I took 20*l.* down, but I think the son brought me some 7*l.* or 8*l.* back the next morning.

6997. (Mr. Newton.) Which of them brought you the money back?—The young man.

6098. How much did young Stirzaker bring you back?—I cannot tell you exactly, it might be 8*l.*

6999. (Mr. Hill.) You paid them 13*l.*?—Yes, I took them down 20*l.* the night before the election.

7000. Is that all that the Stirzakers received from you?—Yes it is.

7001. Now go on to the next?—I think I must stop, I think I have finished.

7002. That is all the money you spent in paying voters, is it?—Yes, it is.

7003. There is a balance, as you are aware, how was that disposed of?—How much is there?

7004. 18*l.* You have accounted for 115*l.* as against 133*l.*?—Well, I know I spent a good lot that day one way with another. After all the large sums I gave for voting they said they must have something to eat and drink. I believe I advanced a good deal in things of that description.

7005. How much?—I cannot say exactly.

7006. About how much?—I think I had about 8*l.* or 9*l.* left in my pocket at the finishing up.

7007. You think you spent 8*l.* or 9*l.* in treating all these men that voted for you?—I do not think I spent it all on them, in one way and another I spent it. We were all cheerful and joyful at having won.

7008. How much shall I say, 8*l.* or 9*l.*?—Yes.

7009, Upon refreshments?—Yes, in refreshments and such like.

7010. You kept the balance perhaps?—Kept it?

7011. Yes, for yourself, I mean?—No. I saw Mr. Welch and was quite ready to give it up.

7012. You were ready but not willing perhaps?—Yes I was.

7013. Mr. Welch told you to keep it?—Mr. Welch said, "You have been at a good deal of trouble with this horse and gig, knocking about; I think you ought to have something." Upon which I said, "I think so too," just in that way. I may mention here, and I wish this court distinctly to understand me, that it is the first time I ever received 6*d.* for electioneering, for my services, or even for my horse and gig ; it is not to be said it was for services, and I have had to do with electioneering some 25 years.

SEVENTH DAY.

J. Wilson.

3 Sept. 1866.

7014. You had the balance for your horse and gig ?—Yes.

7015. (Mr. Newton.) How much did your horse eat ?—I cannot say, I put it up in Lancaster, at the "Old Sir Simon."

7016. How much did you pay for the horse's keep ?—I cannot say, a good deal.

7017. What did Welch give you for the horse's keep ?—He gave me 6*l.* or 7*l.* at the first, and this would be the finishing up that we are coming to now.

7018. After the election you got 5*l.*, what did you do with that ?—That was, and think on it now, besides the 8*l.* or 9*l.* I had left in my pocket, he handed me 5*l.* in a bit of paper, and said, "That, I think, will satisfy you." And I said, "Yes, much obliged to you."

7019. That is besides the balance ?—Yes, that was for my horse and gig.

7020. Nobody would suppose you would take anything yourself ?—It was for my horse and gig.

7021. (Mr. Barstow.) You were paid at both ends for your horse and gig ; you were paid 8*l.* at the beginning, you had the balance of 9*l.* and 5*l.* besides, there is not a better trade than keeping a horse and gig, I should think ?—I was obliged to get it all tidied up, and I did so. It was nearly knocked to bits.

7022. Is that all you can tell us about the money spent by you ?—Yes, it is.

7023. When you say you went to see Stirzaker, whom did you see there ?—The young man.

7024. Not the old man ?—No.

7025. I should like to know, from such an experienced electioneerer, what you said to him to induce him to vote for you ?—They always had voted for our side.

7026. Answer my question ?—I had seen him two or three times before during the three weeks I was moving about ; I had met him in Market Street.

7027. Will you tell me what you said to him when you saw him the evening before the election ?—I said, "Well, now, come ; I have brought the 20*l.* down, and that will do for the father and thee."

7028. Did he say it would do for him ?—I think I recollect him saying "My father never does get anything, Joseph."

7029. He took the 20*l.* ?—He took it, and he said, "Do you know, Joseph, you have bothered me frequently to work for you ?" and I said I had. I said, "You are a great stout fellow, come down and help me." But he kept putting me off, and saying, "There is plenty of money on the other side I can get if I want it." I said, "No doubt, I have heard so, and that is the reason I have come to you ; I hope the father and thee will do right." And he said "I will see what I can do with it to-morrow." And in the forenoon, between 10 and 11, he came to me at the "Nag's Head," and put into my hands some 7*l.* or 8*l.*, and said, "I have brought this back."

7030. What did the son say to you when he brought back the money ?—He said just that, "I have brought this back, Joseph." There was a great bustle and hurry at the time.

7031. He did not say anything else ?—No.

7032. Was anybody with you when you went to the Stirzaker's ?—No, I went just by myself.

7033. Who was there when you went ?—I suppose the old man and woman would be there ; but I met the young man just by the doorway.

7034. Did you see the candidates at all during this election ?—No, I hardly ever saw them, except on the hustings, you know.

7035. Did you go about with them at Carnforth at all ?—Yes.

7036. Did they visit any of the voters with you ?—Yes.

7037. Before this election did you know Mr. Schneider at all ?—No, I did not.

7038. Had you never seen him until this election ?—I never saw him in my life before, he was a perfect stranger to me.

7039. Had you seen Mr. Fenwick before this election ?—Oh, yes.

7040. Had you always supported him when he was a candidate for Lancaster ?—Yes, ever since he offered himself.

7041. From the first ?—Yes, from the first. Mr. Clark says I was a personal friend of his, and I do not understand it ; there was no friendship, not a bit of it.

7042. You had nothing but an electioneering acquaintanceship with him ?—That is all. I was, unfortunately, at one time, lamed at his place, but I had to pay my own doctor's bill and expenses.

7043. (Mr. Newton.) When did you meet with that accident ?—It will be eight or nine years since now.

7044. (Mr. Barstow.) Who was the Conservative captain of Carnforth, do you know ?—There were two or three.

7045. Who were they, they ought to have two or three against you ?—It is a fact, there were three against one, and I was obliged to come out with more money.

7046. Three against one, and you beat them, what were their names ?—When I say captains, they were men that took a particular interest in Carnforth ; constantly fighting and struggling against me. There was a Mr. Jackson, and a Mr. Thomas Hodgson.

7047. Who is Mr. Thomas Hodgson ?—He is a gentleman that lives just in the Ride at Carnforth.

7048. What is his address ?—They tell me Carnforth Lodge, but I did not know it before.

7049. Who is the other ?—There was one man, called Clarkson, a stonemason, and he took a particular active part.

7050. Is that Robert Clarkson ?—Yes, he has to make wonderful disclosures about me from what Mr. Clark says, and I will try and be here every day because I want to hear these things.

7051. (Mr. Newton.) When did you last see Mr. Schneider previous to the nomination ?—When I went round with him in the conveyance.

7052. What day was that ?—I do not know, three or four or five days before the election.

7053. Between that day and the election you never saw him ?—No, I never saw him.

7054. What conversation took place between you and him that day ?—Very little indeed.

7055. Tell us something that took place ?—I cannot recollect anything particular except "Where are we to go to next, Wilson ?" or something of that sort.

7056. Did he ask you to bring his men over to poll ?—No, I do not know that he did.

7057. Did he ask you to go to Welch if occasion required ?—No.

7058. What made you go to Welch ?—Welch came to me on the first onset.

7059. Where ?—In Cheapside.

7060. What were you doing in Cheapside ?—I come over on a Saturday, or very frequently once a fortnight. This was before the election.

7061. What did he say ?—He said "Well, Joseph, you must help me again," and I said "No, I think not. I have done with it now." I had shifted out of the town to get out of it. He said, "You must do it, we are going to have a serious do of it this time, and we cannot do very well without your services—come and help us ;" and then I got warmed up into these old electioneering feelings, and I said, "Well, I think I shall be obliged to come if that be the case."

7062. When did he mention about the money ?—He gave me part of the money ; he gave me 2*l.* first, and then 3*l.* or 4*l.* which mounted up to 7*l.* or 8*l.* He said, "You will want some money moving on."

7063. Did he tell you to come to him on the day of the nomination ?—Yes, he did.

7064. What were you to go to him for ?—For money.

7065. He told you that on the Saturday?—Previous to the election?

7066. Yes?—No, I cannot say that he told me just then. It seemed a general understanding between us somehow or other, that the secret committee would sit at the "Queen's," and if we wanted money we were to go there to get it.

7067. That was an understood thing?—Yes, it was an understanding amongst us, but I cannot say exactly how it came to my knowledge.

7068. But it was an understood thing?—Yes, amongst ourselves in that way.

7069. That is what made you go there on the evening of the nomination?—Yes, exactly.

7070. When you got that 70*l.* did they tell you to come again?—Yes, they said, "If you be anyways short you must come again." I said, "I do not think "I can manage with this. They seem to want so much. "I cannot understand it. They fight so hard against "me at Carnforth. I have never experienced any-"thing like it before;" and they said, "If you drop anyways short, call and see us to-morrow morning."

7071. Who told you that?—Mr. Welch.

7072. Anyone else?—I do not know. Mr. Wearing was there, and I think Mr. Blades, but they told me (I do not know which of them said so) "Call again;" and I said, "Very well." The carriage was then waiting for me, and I wanted to get away amongst my men for fear the other side would get them all; and lo and behold! when I got there they had got them all into Hodgson's public-house giving them a first-rate supper, and everything else; and next morning they gave them a first-rate breakfast. It was not that I was not willing to treat them but they had got them all.

7073. How much money do you think you spent in treating altogether?—I do not know. I did not spend so much in drink. I do not believe in giving too much for drink.

7074. I make it out that you got very nearly 20*l.* for your horse's keep?—Well, you know, money went on all sides, one way and another.

7075. (Mr. Barstow.) Have you applied to Welch for money since the election?—No, not a farthing.

7076. You never have applied to him?—No, I have never applied to him.

7077. You have been keeping out of the way a good deal?—Yes; lately.

7078. In the spring?—In the spring I was rather longer out of the way.

7079. How long were you away from home in the spring?—About a month.

7080. And for the last few days you have been away too?—Yes.

7081. How long have you been away from your own home this time?—Three weeks I should think.

7082. Seven weeks altogether?—Yes.

7083. All that at your own cost?—This last time every farthing at my own cost.

7084. The first time?—The first time I received, I think, altogether 10*l.*

7085. That was when you were evading the Speaker's warrant?—Yes.

7086. When did you receive the 10*l.*?—While I was away I wrote to Mr. Welch. I never expected to receive a farthing, and this is the real truth; but I wrote to him and said,—"Dear Friend, I am rather short of money. Will you be kind enough to let me have 5*l.*, and when I have sold my bit of property at Holme I will pay you back again, when I come home."

7087. Are you sure that 5*l.* was all that you asked for?—Yes, 5*l.* was all I asked him to lend me.

7088. You asked for it as a loan?—Yes.

7089. Did he send you anything?—Yes, he did. He sent it.

7090. He sent you 10*l.*?—No, he sent me 5*l.*

7091. Was that all the money you received from Mr. Welch?—No.

7092. What was the next?—5*l.* just after I came home again.

7093. When did you come home?—I came home so soon as the business was over relating to the petition.

7094. That would be the end of April?—I should come over the day after I heard that the members were unseated.

7095. (Mr. Newton.) Where were you?—In Scotland.

7096. (Mr. Barstow.) The day after that you received 5*l.* more?—No, some time elapsed before I received it.

7097. Soon after that you received it?—Yes, some time after. I do not know exactly.

7098. Is that all the money you received from Welch?—Yes.

7099. Have you ever made any application subsequently to him?—Never.

7100. Are you quite sure of that?—Quite sure.

7101. You see I press you, because, in answer to a question I asked you just now you said you never applied for any money to Welch, and now you tell me you did apply and received 10*l.*?—No, I applied for it as a loan, I asked him if he would lend me 5*l.*

7102. Have you repaid the 5*l.*?—No.

7103. (Mr. Newton.) You were asked whether you had received any money since the election, and you said, "No," and now when you are asked about your expenses since the election, it turns out that you got 10*l.* Which are we to believe, that you never received any money from Mr. Welch, or that the other statement is true?—I do not rightly understand you. I did not come here to evade one question you put to me. You asked me if I received any money at the time I went away.

7104. No you were not asked that, you were asked whether you had, since the election, received any money from Mr. Welch. The question is, "Have you applied to Welch for money since the election?"—No, not a farthing. It was a loan.

7105. Is not that an application to Welch for money?—Yes, but it was for money on my own account. I borrowed it.

7106. (Mr. Hill.) Do you mean to tell the Commissioners that that 10*l.* is the whole you received for being away a month evading the Speaker's warrant?—Yes.

7107. Have you written to Mr. Schneider on this subject?—Never.

7108. Have you written to Mr. Fenwick on this subject?—Never.

7109. Have you written to either of them?—Never.

7110. Do you know Slater?—No.

7111. Do you not know William Slater?—No.

7112. Have you never seen him?—No, never in my life that I know of. I don't know anything about Slater.

7113. Have you not written to William Slater on the subject of the expenses you were put to by evading the Speaker's warrant in Scotland?—No.

7114. Did you write to anyone during the time you were in Scotland evading the warrant?—No.

7115. You never wrote a letter to anyone?—No.

7116. When was it you wrote to Welch?—Before I went into Scotland.

7117. From where did you go to Scotland?—I went to Scotland from a little place at the outside of Leeds, where my boy goes to school.

7118. I should like to call it by its proper name?—Stop a minute, and I will try to think of it—it was Gildersome, near Leeds.

7119. You wrote to Mr. Welch from Leeds?—No, I wrote, I believe, from Preston to Mr. Welch, to ask him to lend me 5*l.*, if he pleased.

7120. That was on your way to Scotland?—No, I went over to Gildersome to see my boy, who was at school.

7121. Did you write from Preston to Mr. Welch?—Yes.

7122. Was that on your way to Scotland?—I was not on my way to Scotland then, but having received this 5*l.*, I said, "Now then, having sufficient money I will go down and see my son in Scotland."

SEVENTH DAY.

J. Wilson.

3 Sept. 1866.

7123. Gildersome is five or six miles out of Leeds is it not ?—Yes.

7124. With whom did you remain in Scotland ?—With my son.

7125. Did any persons come down to Lancaster to look after you do you know ?—When was that ?

7126. When the matter was on before the Committee of the House ?—That is with respect to the petition ?

7127. Yes ?—No, nobody.

7128. Did you know that they were looking after you ?—Yes.

7129. Did you hear from Henry Welch that they were looking after you ?—No.

7130. From whom did you hear it ?—From my wife.

7131. Your wife wrote to you ?—Yes.

7132. Did your wife tell you that Henry Welch had been to your house ?—No.

7133. You were there from the 25th of March to the 25th of April, about ?—I was not there all the time. I was moving about. I was in Preston seeing a daughter of mine.

7134. You were about a month away ?—Yes.

7135. The greater part of that time you were in Scotland were you not ?—Yes, the better half of the time, perhaps, I was in Scotland.

7136. What monies had you before you started ?—In my pocket ?

7137. Yes ?—Upon 3*l.* or 4*l.*

7138. Did you live on that 3*l.* or 4*l.* for a fortnight ?—Yes.

7139. You went to see your son at school, and wandered about ?—Yes.

7140. You had no money but the 3*l.* or 4*l.* ?—No.

7141. Until you got up to Stirling ?—No.

7142. When you got there to whose house did you go ?—To my son's.

7143. Did you ask your son to lend you any money ?—No.

7144. Your son is in the Excise, is he not ?—Yes.

7145. You did not ask your son for any money ?—No.

7146. You wrote to Mr. Henry Welch to borrow it ?—Yes.

7147. How did he send it to you ?—He sent me a 5*l.* Bank of England note.

7148. From whom did you first hear that a warrant was coming down for you ?—From nobody.

7149. What made you go away ?—I went away on suspicion.

7150. Do you mean us to take that down ?—Yes, take it down, I will tell you the truth : bless you, I will tell you every word I know. It was noised about that there was going to be a petition : a month rolled over and I never heard a word about it.

7151. Why should you go away more than Henry Welch ?—Because I did not want to go to London, because if I was to go there and tell what I have told you to-day, was that not sufficient to go and upset both members ?

7152. So it would be if Henry Welch had done so : why should you go away more than the others ?—I did not want to go.

7153. Were you ever in the Lancaster Bank at the time of the election ?—Never.

7154. Were you ever at Barrow at the time of the election ?—Never at the time of the election.

7155. What do I understand you to mean by "the time of the election ?" what do you call the time of election ?—A few weeks before the election up to the election. I should call that all embracing the election.

7156. During all that time you only saw Mr. Schneider when canvassing ?—Yes, that is all, and on the hustings.

7157. Did you speak to him at the "Queen's ?"—No.

7158. Did you speak to Mr. Fenwick at the "Queen's ?"—No, I never saw them that day.

7159. Were you in the "Queen's" that day ?—I went up for the money you know.

7160. Were you down at the Vicarage at all during the day of nomination ?—I was never at the Vicarage in my life. I know that they have told a great many lies about your humble servant, they have indeed. I have been misrepresented.

7161. Why did you not put yourself straight at once instead of giving us the trouble of sending one man after you to Stirling and another to Ashton ?—I am very sorry that you did it.

7162. Why did you not come to clear your character at once ?—I did ; I wrote to my wife asking her whether anybody had been to my house with a summons and she said no.

7163. What did you go away for ?—I went with my boy to school first.

7164. To Stirling ?—No.

7165. To Ashton ?—No.

7166. What made you go away ?—I went with my boy to school.

7167. (Mr. Newton.) It is convenient to have a boy going to school ?—He had been home for his Midsummer holidays.

7168. (Mr. Hill.) Do you always fetch your boy away from school and take him back ?—Yes, generally.

7169. What age is the lad ?—Eleven.

7170. Although you were not up at the Committee of the House you, I daresay, have read the evidence ?—Yes, I have, the principal part of it.

7171. You appear to know the case pretty well. Do you know that John Mashiter was examined before the Committee of the House ?—Yes.

7172. Were you with him at the "Station Inn" on the morning of the polling day ?—This last election ?

7173. Yes, I am only speaking of that : did you see John Mashiter at the "Station Inn" at Carnforth, about 7 o'clock on the morning of the election ?—No, I did not.

7174. Is that the John Mashiter you spoke of as having given him 5*l.* ?—No, the Mashiter that was examined before the House got 15*l.*

7175. Do you spell his name Mashiter or Masheter ?—I do not know, I am sure, I am not a good speller.

7176. You are sure that the Mashiter who was examined in the House got 15*l.* ?—Yes.

7177. I will read you three or four of his answers. Q. 1776. "Well, now, did Joseph Wilson have any "talk with you ? A. I cannot say exactly.—Q. Did "he give you something ? A. No, nothing at all.—"Q. Did you receive some money from Joseph Wil-"son ? A. No.—Q. Upon your oath ? A. No." That is false, is it ?—He had no right to say it.

7178. It is false ?—Yes ; it is false. I cannot help it. I am very sorry for it ; but you know you brought me here to tell the truth.

7179. The next question is—"Did you receive any "money that morning ? A. No.—Q. Have you said "that you received the sum of 10*l.* for voting. "A. No." And so it goes on. That is false, so far as receiving the money goes ?—Yes.

7180. What time did you pay him ?—In the forenoon of the election day.

7181. At what time, as near as you can give it ?—Between 10 and 11.

7182. Where ?—At the "Nag's Head," in Church Street.

7183. After he had voted ?—Before he voted.

7184. You must be exceedingly careful about this, because, very likely, you will have to give further evidence upon this point on some future occasion. Will you swear distinctly that you gave that Mashiter, who was examined before the House of Commons, 15*l.* between 10 and 11 o'clock in the forenoon, at the "Nag's Head," before he voted ?—I have sworn it.

7185. Will you swear that distinctly ?—Yes.

7186. You know what Mashiter it is ? What is he by trade ?—It says here a joiner.

7187. What is his number on the register ?—573.

7188-9. Do not let us have any mistake about this. Did you read in the paper that it was alleged Mashiter had committed perjury before the House in stating that ?—Yes ; I did. I thought that he had no right to say it. I wish he had not. I would rather he had told the truth.

7190. That was your feeling with regard to it?—Yes.

7191. Mashiter knew well that he had received the money from you—there could be no mistake about the man? He knew you by sight?—Yes.

7192. If Mashiter had seen you in London he could scarcely have said this?—I think he would not have said that, surely.

7193. Then, in consequence of your absence, you led him to commit perjury?—No; I do not see that. Why could he not tell the truth, the same as I am telling you now, and then there would have been an end of it? I feel very sorry for it.

7194. Who else was present when you paid Mashiter?—His wife and him.

7195. Anybody else?—Nobody else.

7196. Was there anybody else in the "Nag's Head?"—This was up in a room.

7197. In what room in the "Nag's Head?"—I do not know; in one of the rooms upstairs.

7198. Had anyone else been upstairs before?—Yes.

7199. To receive money from you?—Yes.

7200. Who was that?—Every one of them came into the room to be paid.

7201. Who came in at the same time as Mashiter?—Nobody; they came in one by one. He and his wife came together. I had a deal of talk with him at that time.

7202. Who was down below in the "Nag's Head" at that time? Give me the name of one person.—Connected with the election?

7203. Yes; all those persons who were paid.—The principal part of them would be there.

7204. Who brought Mashiter up into the room to you?—He came himself.

7205. Who told him to come up, and where to come to?—Myself.

7206. You told them to come up after they had voted?—No; before they went to vote.

7207. You sat in the room by yourself?—I did not sit; I stood in the same way as I am standing now.

7208. They came to you one by one?—Yes.

7209. Can you recollect who came to you before Mashiter?—No; I cannot. I recollect well he and his wife coming in. I said, "Here is 10*l.*" and he said, "Oh, I will not take it. I must have more than that."

7210. What else took place?—I said, "It is an "abomination; I will never have anything more to do "with you fellows as long as I live." He said, "I do "not care; you have paid the Whormbys 15*l.* a-piece, "and I have stuck to you like a man, and I ought to "have it, and I will have it;" and I said, "Well, "take it, and there's an end of it."

7211. You paid it to him in sovereigns?—Yes.

7212. In fact, all the money you paid was in sovereigns?—Yes; all in sovereigns.

7213. (Mr. Newton.) Had you seen Mashiter that morning before you came over?—Yes.

7214. Had he come with you?—Yes; he came in a conveyance with us.

7215. (Mr. Hill.) Do you know how long they were downstairs after they received their monies?—Five minutes.

7216. And then they went off and voted?—Yes; then they went right away to vote.

7217. Then they came back to have something more to drink?—Yes.

7218. Did you take them all back afterwards?—Yes; I saw the conveyance take them back when the election was over that night.

7219. Do you know whether Mashiter went back in the conveyance?—I cannot say rightly.

7220. There was a conveyance for them?—Yes; there was. It is always understood that the conveyance which takes them fetches them back again.

7221. Did his wife go with him?—I do not know.

7222. Did she come over with him in the morning?—Yes; but I cannot say how they got back.

7223. Do you bring wives over as well?—Yes.

7224. To look after the husbands?—They generally bring the wife, and sometimes their children.

7225. What did you do with yourself the remainder of that day after you had polled the Carnforth voters?—I went into the committee room to see how things were going on.

7226. Did you go into the secret committee room at the "Queen's?"—No.

7227. Were you in the "Queen's" at all?—Yes.

7228. On that day?—Yes.

7229. In what part of the "Queen's?"—In the large committee room, where all the bustle was going on, backwards and forwards. I was tired and done up, because I had had no sleep the night before.

7230. Did you give the Stirzakers anything else besides this 13*l.*?—No.

7231. Did you give Miss Stirzaker an order to go to Bell for a watch?—No, never in the world.

7232. Where were you on or about the beginning of October; were you in Lancaster?—I should be at Morecambe, should I not?

7233. I do not know. Where were you?—At Morecambe.

7234. Did you see Miss Stirzaker at that time?—No; I have never seen Miss Stirzaker for four years, I should think.

7235. Do you know William Bell, the watchmaker?—Yes, very well.

7236. Do you deal with him?—No; very little. I do not do much with watchmakers. I buy a watch once, which serves me my lifetime.

7237. Did you ever see a watch and chain in Bell's shop?—It is all false, gentlemen, about that.

7238. You cannot tell whether it is false until you know what I am about to ask you. Did you see a watch at William Bell's at the beginning of October?—No.

7239. Did you see a gold chain there?—No.

7240. Did you speak to him about a watch and chain?—No, never.

7241. (Mr. Newton.) How many Whormbys are there on your list there?—Four.

7242. You have told us that you bribed two of them?—I do not like the word "bribed;" but I gave the money, so I suppose I am guilty.

7243. Did you try to bribe the other two?—No; John Whormby, the auctioneer; I was abused beyond measure by him.

7244. You tried to bribe him?—Never; I never asked him a word about it.

7245. How came he to abuse you?—He met us the day I was going in the conveyance; that was the time.

7246. What is the name of the other Whormby?—Robert Whormby.

7247. Did you try to bribe him?—No.

7248. What is he?—He is a sort of a gentleman. Whether he has been an exciseman, and is a retired man of that description, I am not sure.

7249. Why did you not try to bribe him?—I called and asked him who he was going to vote for, if he would be pleased to let me know. He said, "What "side do you represent?" I said, "I represent the "Liberal side." And he said, "I do not think I shall "vote for you." And I said, "Well, it cannot be "helped; good day, sir."

7250. Did you see Thomas Whormby the night before the election?—Yes, I did.

7251. That is the gentleman who came from here, and was poorly?—Yes.

7252. (Mr. Newton) Did you give him anything that night?—No.

7253. Any paper?—No.

7254. (Mr. Hill.) When Mrs. Whormby says that her son came here, and was so poorly that you did not speak to him, that is not true?—One of them was very tipsy.

7255. They call it "poorly," here, and "fits."—I did not speak to him; he was too tipsy. It was no use talking to him at all.

7256. Did they send to the doctor for him on account of his tipsiness?—They might do that; that was after he came out from the Tory feed, at Mr. Hodgson's, that night. I hope the Conservatives will tell the whole truth.

7257. You say that you did not speak to him?—No, I think not; he was too tipsy to take any notice of it.

Adjourned to to-morrow at 10 o'clock.

EIGHTH DAY.

Lancaster Castle, Tuesday, 4th September 1866.

PRESENT:

MR. BARSTOW. | MR. NEWTON.

MR. HILL.

EIGHTH DAY.
William King.
4 Sept. 1866.

WILLIAM KING sworn and examined.

7258. (Mr. Newton.) What are you?—I am a reporter.

7259. Where do you live?—In Ullswater Road.

7260. Were you captain of the Edward Street district?—I was joint captain.

7261. Who with?—Edward Johnson and Robert Whiteside.

7262. Have you been much engaged in election matters in this borough?—That was the first time.

7263. What monies did you receive for the purposes of the election?—The first sum I received was 2*l.*

7264. Can you give us the amount in gross?—I think the gross amount was 131*l.* 10*s.*

7265. Now be good enough to tell us how you received it and when you received it?—The first sum I received was 2*l.*; that was a short time before the election.

7266. Who from?—Mr. Henry Welch.

7267. How long before the election?—Perhaps ten days; I cannot say to two or three days.

7268. The next sum?—The next sum, I think, would be 2*l.*

7269. When?—A day or two following the first.

7270. From Mr. Welch?—Yes; then I think 1*l.* from Mr. Welch, and 1*l.* from Mr. Edward Johnson.

7271. When did you receive those two sums?—Perhaps three or four days before the election.

7272. At the same time?—Well, they would be about the same time. I was short of money to pay a public-house bill, and he gave me 1*l.* towards it.

7273. Now give me the next item, if you please?—40*l.*

7274. When?—On the polling day, from Mr. Henry Welch; then 12*l.* half an hour after that perhaps.

7275. Who from?—Mr. Henry Welch; then 40*l.*

7276. Who from?—I beg pardon; the 40*l.* was the first; then 12*l.*; and then 55*l.* I think that was the next. That was all the money I received on the election day. After the election I received a sum of 16*l.*

7277. Who from?—Mr. Henry Welch; and a further sum of 2*l.* 10*s.*

7278. From him?—From him.

7279. When was that after the election?—A few weeks; I cannot exactly say the date.

7280. Those were all the sums you received?—Those were all the sums I received.

7281. Those are all the sums you received from Mr. Welch or from Mr. Johnson?—Yes; or from anyone else.

7282. Either for yourself or for anybody else?—Yes.

7283. Were you a voter?—No.

7284. Now be good enough to tell us how you expended that money?—The money I received before the election day, 6*l.* altogether, was spent in public-houses.

7285. In refreshments for voters?—Yes; the money paid for votes was paid to Anthony Richardson, printer.

7286. What did you pay to him?—8*l.*; William Ralph, a smith, 8*l.*

7287. Of Adcliffe Street?—I do not know where he lives.

7288. You paid him 8*l.*—Yes.

7289. Who was the next one?—Joseph Ralph, a tailor.

7290. What did you pay him?—8*l.* William Patterson, or Pattison, a cabinet maker.

7291. What did you pay him?—8*l.*; John Ralph, spinner, 8*l.*; Robert Ralph, a railway porter, 8*l.*; Richard Hardacre——

7292. Is he a householder?—I have had to refresh my memory by referring to one of my assistants. Edward Cutts assisted me; and I have had to refer to him since this Commission sat to get the names.

7293. Who is Edward Cutts?—He was along with me, assisting me.

7294. Is he a voter?—No.

7295. He assisted you in making out these lists?—He assisted me during the election day. He went with the men to the poll, and I had to refer to him to assist my memory.

7296. You think it was Thomas Hardacre?—No, he gave me his name as Richard. I referred to him to assist me to get out the names, to refresh my memory about it.

7297. Lately?—Yes; on Saturday last. I should think it must be Thomas Hardacre, but I do not know.

7298. Cutts gave you the christian name of Richard?—Yes.

7299. I may state that you bribed a voter named Hardacre?—Yes.

7300. For 8*l.*?—Yes.

7301. Do you know where he lives?—No.

7302. Now the next?—William Roberts.

7303. Of Leonard Gate, iron founder?—Yes; I think that would be him; he works at an iron foundry.

7304. What did you give him?—8*l.* Christopher Fawcett, a cabinet-maker——

7305. Where does he live?—I think he lives in Leonard Gate. He is a young man.

7306. What is he?—A cabinet-maker.

7307. Is it Christopher Fawcett, junior?—Yes; he is a man I know very well. There can be no mistake about him.

7308. Is he alive or dead?—He is alive; I saw him a week ago.

7309. What did you pay him?—8*l.*

7310. What is his number on the register?—The number I have here is 261; but I forget where he was living then; he is living now in Wood Street.

7311. (Mr. Hill.) There is one a cabinet-maker and the other a book-keeper?—He is a cabinet-maker the one I speak of, that I am sure of.

7312. Who else?—John Pimm.

7313. Of Lune Street, tailor?—He is a tailor, I believe.

7314. How much to him?—8*l.*; then I paid that young man Edward Cutts for his vote and assistance.

7315. What is Cutts?—A cabinet-maker, I think, in Chapel Street.

7316. You paid Cutts how much ?—8*l.* Richard Cumpsty : I think he is a plumber, or something of that sort. He is a man I did not know.

7317. Richard Robinson Cumpsty, of Leonard Gate, plumber ?—I think that would be the one.

7318. How much did you give him ?—6*l.* Those are all the voters that I paid. I have missed one, I think—Thomas Verden.

7318*a*. Of Church Street, cabinet-maker ?—Yes.

7320. Anybody else ?—No ; I think that is all. I expended about 3*l.* on the election day in refreshments.

7321. Among voters ?—Yes, and non-voters ; and the 16*l.* which I received in one sum I returned to Mr. Welch. He handed it to me to pay a public-house bill, and they would not receive it ; it was not enough.

7322. What public-house was that ?—It was a beer-house.

7323. What beer-house?—The "Swan," in Leonard Gate.

7324. What is the name of the landlord?—I think the name of the landlord there is Helme.

7325. Who was the person you offered it to ?—I offered it to Mrs. Helme, I think.

7326. How much ?—I offered her 16*l.*, and she declined to take it ; it was 1*l.* short of what she charged.

7327. And you gave it back to Henry Welch ?—I gave it back to Mr. Welch ; 2*l.* 10*s.*, which he paid me in one sum, was for my own services.

7328. Did you know all these voters before : were they personal friends of yours ?—No ; not the whole of them.

7329. Some of them ?—Some of them I knew very well ; they were all staying at that public-house ; that was what made me have to do with them—at the public-house, the "Swan."

7330. Were they all using it ?—All using it.

7331. The "Swan ?"—Yes ; and the reason why they asked for the money was they told me they had had 12*l.* each offered them by the other side. They were men most of whom I knew to be always of Liberal politics ; but they said they had had 12*l.* offered on the other side.

7332. You got them for 8*l.*?—They asked 10*l.* at first.

7333. Had they always voted that way before ?—I cannot speak to them all ; but several I knew myself had always voted that way.

7334. Your way ?—Yes ; and I think I ought to state, with reference to one of them particularly, that though he asked 8*l.* along with the rest, he distinctly told me that whether he got it or not he should vote for Fenwick and Schneider. I think it is due to him to say so.

7335. Who was that ?—John Ralph. He said he asked the same as the rest ; but whether he got it or not he should vote for Fenwick and Schneider.

7336. Were these people all at the "Swan ?"—All but one—Cumpsty.

7337. Were all these men very active in getting up other voters ?—They exerted themselves, two or three of them.

7338. Where was your receipt of custom ?—At the "Swan."

7339. You had a room there ?—Yes.

7340. Did they all come to you ?—Yes, singly.

7341. Did anyone bring them in ?—They came in singly, when one went down they told another to come up.

7342. That comes to 130*l.* instead of 131*l.*, the difference is not material as far as we are concerned ?—The balance, I suppose would be spent in refreshment. You will understand that the money got before the election was all spent in treating and public-house bills.

7343. Then am I to understand that you never bought a vote till the morning of the election ?—No, I never bargained with them ; indeed, I had no idea that those men wanted any money till the nomination night, when they said that Mr. H. T. Wilson and Mr. Coupland had been offering them 12*l.* a-piece ; they said there was plenty of money stirring, and they thought they ought to have it the same as other people.

7344. In fact they thought it would have been a hard case if they had not had it ?—They seemed to think so ; they said the money was there, and if they did not get it somebody else would.

7345. They were willing to sell their votes to the highest bidder ?—No, they considered they sacrificed 4*l.* a-piece.

7346. Those were all the votes that you bought ?—They are all.

7347. Do you know who was the Conservative captain in the St. Leonard Gate district ?—I only was one or two I think.

7348. Who were they ?—I think you have not had his name yet, it was Mr. Harrison ; I think they call him Thomas Harrison ; I think there is both Thomas and John there, one of them is in an architect's office ; and I may also name Mr. Richard Booth a very active Conservative captain who had previously been a Liberal captain.

7349. Were these men of a better class of voters or not ?—They were all working men, what I should call the better class of working men.

7350. What is Thomas Harrison's address ?—He lives in Leonard Gate, I think.

7351. A book-keeper ?—Yes, that would be his description, I believe he was a voter.

7352. (Mr. Hill.) You say he was one of the persons active on the Conservative side ?—Yes.

7353. You cannot tell whether these at previous elections had all voted together ?—No, it was a new system I think that voting together.

7354. The system first got into use at this election of getting into clubs ?—As far as I have heard.

7355. (Mr. Newton.) Have you clubs now in existence ?—They are not clubs, they are men just going to the same public-house.

7356. (Mr. Hill.) Is it that the men go together to a public-house and then act together ?—Yes, they agree to say they will have a certain sum.

7357. And that was done extensively at this last election ?—I do not know whether it was done extensively or not, but it was done.

7358. Have those men got some head man who acts for them ?—Of course they have a spokesman between them and me.

7359. Who was the spokesman for these men ?—I think Mr. Joseph Ralph was one of the principal ones.

7360. We will call it the "Swan" club, I suppose that is what you would call it, or the "Swan" party ?—Yes, the only argument they use in favour of having money was that the money was there and that other people were getting it.

7361. They put forward a good reason for getting it ?—Yes, because I told them I knew they were men who professed Liberal principles.

7362. But they were clubbed together for the purpose of all getting the same ; that was the band of union ?—And most of them I believe frequented that public-house.

7363. They were the persons who used the "Swan?"—Yes.

7364. Were there any other persons who used the "Swan" who were not a part of the same club ?—I think two or three of them fell away ; I did not get them enough.

7365. Two or three of them joined the Conservative club ?—Two or three that were in what you call the club went and left me, and got 10*l.* I fancy elsewhere.

7366. Give me the names of those two or three ?—I do not recollect them now ; I know I had 17 at first, and they dwindled down.

7367. You first of all operated for 17, is that so ?—Yes.

7368. And the number was reduced to 13 ?—Yes.

7369. The other four wanted more than 8*l.* ?—Yes, I was rather slow in getting it ; at head-quarters they would not hear of high prices, they believed we could win without high prices.

7370. Up to what time did they believe at headquarters that they could win without high prices?—Towards noon, and then they began to be afraid.

7371. Towards noon on the election day?—Yes.

7372. Then you did not operate on these men till the afternoon?—They voted as soon as I promised them the 8*l.* but did not get paid I think till 2 in the afternoon.

7373. What time in the day did you promise?—I forget exactly.

7374. Was it sometime about noon?—It was before noon, but towards noon I know more liberal prices were given.

7375. As soon as you received authority from headquarters to give more liberal prices you acted upon that authority?—Yes.

7376. When would that be, 10 or 11 o'clock?—After that time, I think a little after noon, there was a rumour that the Tory money was done, so then we had authority to offer higher prices.

7377. I do not follow that logically?—We should then secure the voters before they got more money.

7378. It was only done for the present; until there was another steamer to come in from Morecambe?—They did raise more money at the bank; that was what I understood at the time.

7379. (Mr. Newton.) Do you mean that your people or the others got more money from the bank?—We had plenty.

7380. It was the other people?—It was rumoured so in the town.

7381. (Mr. Hill.) There was never any rumour of your running short of money?—No.

7382. There was no run on your bank?—A very fair run, but it sustained it.

E. Johnson.

EDWARD JOHNSON sworn and examined.

7383. (Mr. Hill.) Were you acting jointly with the last witness in the Edward Street district?—Yes.

7384. Are you a Liberal?—Yes.

7385. And have you been much concerned in previous elections?—The two last elections, and a little with elections previously on the Tory side.

7386. The two last elections on the Tory side?—Yes.

7387. And at the previous ones on the Tory side?—Yes, a little.

7388. What monies did you receive for the purposes of the last election, and what was the first sum you received?—The first sum was 1*l.*

7389. From whom?—Mr. Welch.

7390. Are you a voter?—Yes.

7391. A freeman?—A householder.

7392. At what date did you receive the first sum from Mr. Henry Welch?—About a fortnight before the election.

7394. What was the next sum that you received?—2*l.*

7395. When was that?—A few days afterwards.

7396. From Henry Welch?—Yes.

7397. The next sum?—5*l.*

7398. From the same person?—Yes.

7399. And a few days after?—Yes.

7400. The next sum?—5*l.*

7401. From the same person?—Yes.

7402. When?—The night of the nomination.

7403. July 11th?—Yes.

7404. The next sum?—50*l.* and 5*l.* was received at the same time, 55*l.* that would be; the next sum was 10*l.*

7405. When?—The day of the election.

7406. July 12th?—Yes.

7407. At what time in the day?—About 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

7408. From Henry Welch?—Yes.

7409. Now the next sum?—The next sum was 20*l.*

7410. When?—That would be a little after 3.

7411. Well?—The next sum 1*l.*

7412. When?—A fortnight after the election.

7413. Is that all you have received?—Yes.

7414. And what have you received for yourself?—Nothing.

7415. Have you not received any other monies at all except those you have mentioned?—No.

7416. 103*l.*?—Yes.

7417. Now please to tell us how you spent it?—I gave the first 1*l.* received to Anthony Clark.

7418. For what?—To spend among the voters.

7419. Who is Anthony Clark?—He is a freeman in the Leonard Gate district, the Edward Street district.

7420. What was the next sum?—The next would be an account, or perhaps two accounts paid at the "Black Cat," which were presented to me.

7421. Did you pay them?—Yes.

7422. For voters?—Yes.

7423. For refreshments?—Yes.

7424. How much?—Altogether before the election 8*l.* 10*s.*

7425. What was the next sum that you laid out?—The next sum that I laid out would be 30*s.* the night before the election.

7426. Well?—To give a gentleman a cheap trip.

7427. Where did you give him a trip to and who was the gentleman?—Croft I think his name is, of Leonard Gate.

7428. To go where?—May I explain?

7429. Tell us first where he was to go to?—I do not know. About 7 one evening the night before the election a number of men came to me and said there was a gentleman in Leonard Gate that was not able to take care of himself, and they thought it would be better that some one should take care of him; so I took a cab down.

7430. Who took a cab?—I went down with the cab and he was got into it.

7431. Who else got into it?—Several men; a person of the name of Clark; and I was to give them 30*s.* for expenses, but the cat got out of the bag and voted against us the next day.

7432. Whose house did you go to at Leonard Gate?—The toll bar.

7433. Was this the person who kept the toll bar?—No, this was a gentleman living in Leonard Gate.

7434. But who did you take in the cab?—The only one I knew was a person of the name of Clark, son of Anthony Clark.

7435. Then was the object to get Mr. Croft out of the way?—Yes.

7436. Where did they take him to, do you know?—I do not know where they took him to.

7437. Do you know how he came to bolt?—No; I know he voted against us the next day.

7438. How much did you give for the cab?—30*s.* I think.

7439. What was the next sum you laid out?—The next sum I laid out would be 6*l.*

7440. Who was that to?—That was an amount which was presented to me by a person named Lund who keeps a beer-house in Leonard Gate.

7441. Was that an account for a committee room, or for refreshments?—It would be for refreshments, it was on the morning of the election.

7442. What is Lund's christian name, do you know?—George.

7443. A bill for refreshments was it?—Yes.

7444. How much?—6*l.* about 11 in the forenoon, he refused to go and vote till he was paid; I am not sure whether he voted for us or not; I forget.

7445. (Mr. Newton.) He did not vote at all?—He told me he would go right away and vote; he did live in Pitt Street.

7446. (Mr. Hill.) I think you are wrong, his name must have been Thomas: was he the landlord of the "Cabinet-makers' Arms?"—Yes; there was a good deal of looking after him.

7447. Was he of No. 4 Pitt Street ?—Yes.

7448. Then it was Thomas Lund ?—He keeps a beer-house in Pitt Street.

7449. The name of the public-house is the "Cabinet-makers' Arms ?"—Yes.

7450. What was the next money you laid out ?—I also paid 1*l.* to Mr. William King the last witness.

7451. What for ?—For incidental expenses.

7452. The next ?—I also paid 2*l.* 10*s.* to a man of the name of Atkinson.

7453. William Atkinson ?—He is a voter in the Leonard Gate district.

7454. What was that for ?—It was for expenses that he might be put to.

7455. It was James Atkinson in all probability; is he a cooper ?—Yes, he said there were some voters at Skerton he thought he could catch; but I did not believe him.

7456. How much did you give him ?—2*l.* 10*s.*

7457. You do not know that he took any trouble about anything ?—No, I do not think he troubled himself much.

7458. You knew he was a voter ?—Yes, but I do not know whether he got any other monies beyond payment for some "time."

7459. What was the next ?—The next was a man named Parker of Leonard Gate.

7460. William Parker of Leonard Gate whitesmith ?—Yes.

7461. What did you give him ?—6*l.* 2*s.*

7462. For his vote ?—5*l.* would be for his vote and the other monies he received at different times, 22*s.*

7463. Money laid out by him ?—Yes.

7464. And refunded by you ?—Yes.

7465. What is the next?—The next is Thomas Marshall. I paid that man 15*s.*; that would be previous to the election.

7466. How much besides ?—That is all I paid him.

7467. What was that for ?—There was a man that wanted a good bit of looking after previous to the election. He wanted 10*l.* for his vote, I said it was too much. He got 12*l.* from the other side.

7468. And voted for the other side ?—He voted for the other side. William Atkinson of Skerton.

7469. You had given him, previous to the election 15*s.* ?—Yes, he delivered out some circulars.

7470. The contents of the circulars had not satisfied him as to the Liberal cause ?—No, it had not.

7471. Who was the next ?—Thomas Roberts, 7*l.*

7472. What was that for ?—His vote.

7473. What is the number on the register ?—716.

7474. What is the next ?—Charles Roberts, I think 7*l.* for his vote, and 1*l.* for his expenses. He came over from Barrow.

7475. What was Charles Roberts ?—He was in the employ of Schneider, Hanway, and Company.

7476. What was the character of his employment—a clerk ?—No, he works among the iron—a labourer I think.

7477. He was not a man likely to be entrusted to bring money over ?—He was a working man, but perhaps he might be as honest as any others. On the morning of the election I saw him immediately on his arrival.

7478. He did not bring any of the money over ?—I think not.

7479. Who was the next ?—Whiteside.

7480. Which of the Whitesides. Whiteside, of Leonard Gate ?—I am not sure whether he is of Leonard Gate, or not. He is a mechanic.

7481. Is he a householder ?—No, I think he is a freeman.

7482. There is John, Thurnham Street ?—Yes, that would be the man. He met with a fatal accident. He was killed at the Waggon works three weeks ago.

7483. How much did he get ?—15*l.*

7484. How came you to give him so much more than any of the others ?—It was 3 o'clock in the afternoon; of course the demand was great, the supply was scarce, and consequently the price was higher.

7485. Was anyone present when you gave him the 15*l.* ?—There was a man of the name of George Shaw, a builder, stood alongside of me when we fixed the price. He was captain of the Freehold district.

7486. Who was the next ?—The next was Thomas Fell, a grocer, of Church Street.

7487. Is he a freeman ?—I am not sure whether he is a freeman, or a householder.

7488. It appears that he only gave you one vote ?—Perhaps that may require explanation.

7489. You shall give your explanation presently. How much did you give him first ?—12*l.*

7490. Now for your explanation ?—At 3 o'clock in the afternoon, passing down Cheapside, I met him. I had previously heard that he intended to vote for Fenwick and Lawrence. I said "Have you voted ?"—"No." "How are you going to vote ?" "I think I shall vote Lawrence and Fenwick." "Oh, you have settled about that, have you ?"—Well, he did not know exactly; and I said "Well, would you give it to Mr. Schneider and Mr. Fenwick ?" "Well," he said, he did not know exactly about that. I said, "If I hold out an inducement, will you do it ?" He said he could scarcely tell. I then offered him 10*l.* He seemed to object to that. I then offered him 15*l.* That did not take. I then offered him 20*l.* He said he thought that was a very nice sum, and so I agreed to give it to him. We went to the Town Hall, the place where he had to vote. I stood at the outside while he went in. He said he could trust me to give it to him when he came out. I said, "Yes," he might trust me. He went in to vote, and I followed him. He did not know that I followed him. He went in at one side, and I went in at the other—"Schneider and Lawrence," he said. I hastened out to the place where he had left me. He said, "Well, it is done." I said, "Yes, it is done, you have missed your 20*l.*" He followed me up and down, and I did not give him the 20*l.*, but I said he should have 10*l.* after the election.

7491. He dropped his voice at the word "Lawrence," so that you might not hear it ?—I think he intended to take me in.

7492. He got 10*l.* ?—Yes.

7493. For the half of the promise ?—Yes, it was worth that.

7494. I do not know in what way you appraised the vote ?—It nullified his vote at that time.

7495. Who was the next ?—The next sum I paid was 3*l.* 17*s.*

7496. To whom ?—To a young man of the name of Wright.

7497. What was his christian name ?—I do not know what his christian name is.

7498. Is it Roger Wright ?—No, it is he that is among the parcels; he left a parcel at some of the shops; he is not on the list at all; he is not a freeman; he was employed at Mr. Milner's.

7499. And this was for carrying parcels ?—I did not know that any parcels were stirring. He got 2*l.* the night before the election for any expenses that he might be put to.

7500. What is Wright by trade ?—He was a shopman at that time; he is not in Lancaster now. Altogether I gave him 4*l.* 17*s.* 6*d.*, but he brought me some of it back, which left what he had actually received 3*l.* 17*s.*

7501. How came it to be that odd sum ?—He received 2*l.* before the election, and 2*l.* he got after the election for any expenses he might be put to; he also got 7*s.* 6*d.* I may explain that: on the day of the nomination the Tories opened fire with eggs from the "Royal Oak," and he entered the egg artillery and was 7*s.* 6*d.* out of pocket, and so I gave it to him.

7502. That was spent on eggs ?—Yes.

7503. Did you organize at once an egg artillery ?—No, I was on the hustings and got the benefit of them.

7504. And you returned it upon the Tories pretty handsomely, I suppose ?—Yes, I believe they got it.

EIGHTH DAY.

E. Johnson.

4 Sept. 1866.

7505. You gave them as good as they brought?—Yes, I believe we did.

7506. You did not care about the eggs being too fresh?—No.

7507. What was the next sum?—The next sum was what I paid to Anthony Clark, 8*l.* 10*s.*

7508. You have given Anthony Clark before?—He received 1*l.* He got altogether 9*l.* 10*s.*, but 8*l.* 10*s.* in addition to the 1*l.*

7509. What was that for?—For his services.

7510. And his vote?—And money that he might be out of pocket.

7511. And his vote?—Well, he never asked for anything for his vote. I suppose he would take something for his vote. He is a man that has always been upon the Liberal side.

7512. What is Anthony Clark?—A silk-spinner.

7513. What was the next?—The next was, he had his house papered.

7514. Anthony Clark had?—Yes; that was an arrangement with his wife.

7515. How much did he get for that?—About 30*s.*

7516. And a new dress for his wife?—No, she got a cap.

7517. How much did the cap cost?—I do not know. There were six of them got caps.

7518. He has not got six wives?—No.

7519. Did Mrs. Clark have the half-dozen caps herself?—No, I think she would only get one. It is important to get the wife to say they will, and then they do. 1*l.* 16*s.* was spent altogether for her and others. It appears to have been the practice in the neighbourhood.

7520. How many caps could you get for 1*l.* 16*s.*? I do not want to go into the market, but perhaps you can tell me?—Six, I think.

7521. Were these six caps all for voters' wives?—I do not remember who the others were for.

7522. Did you do the purchasing of the caps?—Yes, I believe I did.

7523. You are considered a man of taste in the cap way. Are you a married man?—Yes.

7524. You got your wife, perhaps, to help you in the selection of the caps?—No, I do not think she had anything to do with it.

7525. What were the Liberal colours for caps?—Rather upon the yellow. They changed them afterwards, I suppose; it was understood that they should do that.

7526. What was the next sum that was laid out?—I think that will be all.

7527. 83*l.* altogether?—20*l.* was returned.

7528. To Mr. Welch?—Yes.

7529. How much did you keep back for yourself?—Nothing. I consider it mock zeal where a man is paid for his services at an election.

7530. Never mind that; you were not paid?—No.

7531. Are you quite sure that you did not get any present yourself of any sort?—I am not sure whether they gave me a sovereign back when I took the 20*l.*, but I do not think they did; if they had offered me a sovereign for myself I should have given it them back again; but it would be for the election if they did. The 20*l.* that I got for Thomas Fell not having been paid him, I took back, and in counting it out to them I had only given them 19*l.* Afterwards I discovered another sovereign, and took that back, in the presence of Mr. Wearing, Mr. Welch, and Mr. Blades, and they said to me, "You may spend that amongst anybody you meet."

7532. Did any other monies pass through your hands for the purpose of that election?—No.

7533. None at all?—No, none whatever.

7534. Can you give us the name of any Conservative captain in that district who has not been mentioned yet?—I may also mention that there was a voter named Thomas Bainbridge; his wife came to me before the election to see if I would stand a chest of drawers for his vote.

7535. Did you send her with an order to Mr. Gillow?—No, I could supply them myself.

7536. What did you do then?—I thought that was very reasonable, and it was agreed that it should be so, only he was to vote before he got them. However, he voted against us.

7537. And he did not get his drawers?—No; I saw her afterwards and she told me that she had got the price of two or three chests of drawers from the other side. Mr. Joseph Storey was very active on the Conservative side, and Mr. Robert Simpson, of Nicholas Street, and John Harrison, a tinner, of Nicholas Street—I am not sure whether his name is John or William.

7538. Is he the man that Mr. King mentioned?—Yes; and William Harrison, tinner, in Nicholas Street, was another captain.

7539. Was he a captain in the Leonard Gate district?—He was very active in it.

7540. He was a captain, then, I will say?—Yes.

7541. Who was the other Harrison?—John Harrison, architect.

7542. What was he?—He was a captain in the district.

7543. Anyone else?—No, I do not remember anyone else.

7544. Had you anything to do with any of these clubs at the public-houses?—I do not know that there were any clubs at the public-houses.

7545. Did you meet and give money to the persons you met at any particular public-houses?—The two Roberts I paid in Lund's house, in Leonard Gate.

7546. But you do not know of any society of persons who were together, and who had a spokesman who treated with you at all?—No, I do not think there was any society.

7547. You heard the evidence that was given by the last witness?—Yes, I did hear the evidence, but I think they were men who had been frequenting that house; they had been companions from their youth, I should think.

7548. In fact, you had no regular price for any particular class of voters?—No.

7549. You operated rather retail than wholesale, as far as voters went?—Yes.

7550. (Mr. Newton.) What sort of a house is Mr. Fell's?—It is a house which perhaps may be worth 15*l.* a year.

7551. What is he?—A grocer; I have heard that he had already got 15*l.* from the other side; I have been informed so.

7552. Where did you pay most of these men?—Two of them I paid in Lund's, in St. Leonard Gate; Thomas Fell I paid in his own shop; John Whiteside I paid in the street.

7553. In gold?—In gold.

7554. So that anybody might see you do it?—No, I think not; I did it very carefully.

7555. Where did you pay Parker?—I wanted him to vote before I paid him, but he objected to that.

7556. Atkinson?—I do not know where he received it exactly; probably it might be in the neighbourhood of the "Black Cat."

7557. But Whiteside was paid openly in the street?—I think it was in the street; either in the street or in a cab.

ROBERT WHITESIDE sworn and examined.

R. Whiteside.

7558. (Mr. Barstow.) What are you?—A grocer.

7559. Where?—St. Leonard Gate.

7560. How long have you lived in Lancaster?—Since 1847.

7561. Have you generally been active in elections?—Not in any till this last and the last but one.

7562. On the Liberal side?—Always.

7563. Will you have the goodness to tell us the gross amount of money you received at the last election ?—53 sovereigns.

7564. In what sums did you receive that ; what was the first sum you received ?—5l.

7565. When did you receive that ?—About 3 o'clock on the day of the election.

7566. From Henry Welch I suppose ?—No, from Mr. James Turner.

7567. Three o'clock in the morning ?—No, in the afternoon.

7568. What was the next sum ?—48*l.*

7569. From whom ?—Henry Welch.

7570. About what time ?—From 7 to 8 in the evening of the day of the election.

7571. (Mr. Newton.) After the polling ?—After the polling.

7572. (Mr. Barstow.) How did you dispose of that money ?—Do you want the generals or the particulars ?

7573. The particulars ; first, preliminary expenses ?—(Referring to a paper.) I paid Thomas Shackleton the first money, 2*s.* 6*d.*

7574. Are you going to give us the list of staff-men and the like ?—I had no staff-men.

7575. Did you receive any money from anyone else ?—No.

7576. What is that list you have in your hand ?—It is a list of the expenses tabulated.

7577. Please to let me look at it ?—(The paper is handed by the witness to the Commissioners.)

7578. Just read it out ?—Thomas Shackleton 2*s.* 6*d.*

7579. (Mr. Hill.) What for ?—For preliminary expenses ?—he said he had spent the 2*s.* 6*d.*, and he came to me to refund it. Thomas Marshall, 2*s.*

7580. For preliminary expenses ?—Yes.

7581. The next ?—William Woodburn, 1*s.* 6*d.*

7582. The next ?—John Mashiter, 8*s.*

7583. (Mr. Hill.) Which John Mashiter is that ?—It is the "easy" man that Mr. Wilson spoke of yesterday.

7584. (Mr. Barstow.) The one who got 5*l.* ?—Yes.

7585. The next ?—Christopher Fawcett, 5*s.*

7586. (Mr. Hill.) Which of the Christopher's is that, the elder or the younger ?—I think there will be some confusion about that. I will explain after you have taken the particulars of the money.

7587. How much ?—5*s.*

7588. The next ?—The next was for a sedan chair, 6*s.* 6*d.*

7589. You did not buy the chair ?—No, but I paid the bearer.

7590. To whom ; do you remember what man paid you ?—I do not know his name, but I will tell you where he keeps his chair if you wish it. I can find the man ; he is stranger to me.

7591. How much did you pay for the sedan chair ?—6*s.* 6*d.*

7592. (Mr. Hill.) Anything else ?—Not for preliminary expenses, not to individuals, the next was spent in refreshments for voters and non-voters.

7593. Before the election ?—Before the election ; a word of explanation will be necessary as to that ; the first item is Mr. James Townley, 16*s.*

7594. The next ?—Mr. George Lund, "Cabinet-makers' Arms," 13*s.* 4½*d.* ; Mr. Richard Batty, of the "Crown Inn," 8½*d.* ; Mr. Butterworth, "White Lion," 17*s.* 3*d.* ; Mr. Peter Moors, "White Lion," Penny Street," 1*s.* 8*d.* : total, 2*l.* 9*s.*

7595. You said you had some explanation to give about James Townley I think ?—It was our custom to go in the evening first to one public-house, and then to another, and have a night of hilarity among ourselves ; the voters were invited, and they took care to bring their friends ; that was the practice throughout the town I believe.

7596. May I ask if you captains also made a night of it ?—I never tasted drink during the election. I had a night with them of course.

7597. You saw them drink ?—Yes, and paid for it.

7598. You kept your own head clear ?—I never take drink.

7599. You are a temperance man ?—Temperance, not a teetotaller ; the custom was to go to one house one night and to another house another night.

7600. To give them all a turn ?—Yes.

7601. (Mr. Barstow.) We now come to the voters ?—James Thompson, householder, Damside Street, 5*l.* ; John Smith, freeman, St. Leonard Gate, 5*l.*

7602. What is he ?—A tailor. Josiah Smith, freeman, tailor, St. Leonard Gate, 5*l.* ; Mr. Richard Carter, householder, Damside Street, 4*l.* 5*s.*

7603. What is he by trade ?—A draper. Henry Smith, freeman, Skerton, labourer, 15*l.* ; Mr. Cuthbert Lewtas, householder, Sun Street, warehouseman, 5*l.* 6*s.* ; Mr. Robert Fawcett, freeman, cabinet-maker, St. Leonard Gate, 5*l.* ; and I think a word of explanation will be necessary on this.

7604. You can give your explanation presently. Who is next ?—That is all.

7605. There remains a balance ; what was done with that ?—I drew 5*l.* as per agreement, to pay Richard Bonnell with. I did not pay it to him, and I returned it to Henry Welch. I agreed to give Richard Bonnell 5*l.*, but he got paid elsewhere, and I returned it to Mr. Welch.

7606. Do you know who paid him ?—I do not. I do not even know that he got paid.

7607. (Mr. Hill.) You believe he got it elsewhere ?—Yes, I believe he would, but I do not know it.

7608. (Mr. Barstow.) He voted all right ?—Yes.

7609. Did you receive any other money than this ?—No.

7610. That is all the money you have paid ?—Yes.

7611. (Mr. Hill.) You were a little out of pocket by the transaction ?—Yes, I always am at elections.

7612. (Mr. Barstow.) Does Richard Carter keep a shop ?—Yes.

7613. Could you give me at a guess what sort of a rent he pays ?—Perhaps from 11*l.* to 12*l.* a year. I cannot say exactly.

7614. James Thompson, what is he ?—A warehouseman.

7615. In what sort of a house does he live ?—It is only a very poor house, but there is an oven attached to it, and the two things will bring him in as a householder, a public oven.

7616. And Lewtas ; in what sort of a house does he live ?—I think 11*l.* a year.

7617. With regard to Robert Fawcett, you wished to say something about this ?—Yes, Mr. James Turner stated in his evidence that I received 5*l.* from him to pay Christopher Fawcett with, which was a mistake. I saw when you were mentioning Fawcett's name before, you were in confusion about it.

7618. (Mr. Hill.) It should be corrected to Robert ?—Yes.

7619. He told us Robert first and then corrected it to Christopher ?—Yes, he was then on the point of death, and the explanation I wish to give is this—the youth would have no money, but he wished before he died to do his duty as a citizen. He wished to vote, and wished us to make arrangements so that he could vote. He lived just opposite the National school, and I proposed that we should obtain a sedan chair.

7620. Not quite so fast. He was at the point of death you say ?—Yes, consumption.

7621. And so received 5*l.* ?—No, stop a bit. He received no money, and I am not aware that he knew that any money had been given on his behalf. I gave it to his mother for refreshment. The youth would have no money I know.

7622. Did his mother pay for the chair ?—No, he wished to make arrangements so as to get him to vote, and we thought a sedan chair would be the best, but afterwards the officers went to his bedside to take his vote.

7623. He did not go and vote ?—No, we arranged with the officers to go across. There were only about 20 yards to go.

7623*a*. (Mr. Barstow.) You seemed to have got most of your voters very reasonably, except Henry Smith, of Skerton. Have you any explanation to give about that ?—We knew as far as we could know

EIGHTH DAY.

R. Whiteside.

morally that Henry Smith had received money from the Conservative party. We knew his previous character, and we thought we should like to steal him if he had got the money. I believe he would get 21*l.* at the "Black Bull," Skerton, and after he had received it they wished to convey him to the poll in a cab, and he said "No, no. I never ride to the poll, I always walk to the poll independently." So in this walk we caught him. Our friends got him into Mr. Batty's, the "Crown Inn," opposite the polling both, and when he was got there he would be paid also before he voted, or he would not vote. Knowing his character, we dare not trust the money with him, so he said he would not poll for nobody except I would promise him that I would pay him when he had voted, and I did so, that was the reason of the high price. He would take no less a sum than 15*l.*

7624. (Mr. Hill.) What time of day was this?—As near as I can think it would be about 2 o'clock; 2 or 3 o'clock.

7625. It was getting on late?—I do not exactly know the time, but it was getting on late. Men we wanted, and men we would have, and we did not mind paying a good price like that when we stole him.

7626. (Mr. Newton.) He got 25*l.*?—I do not know what he had on the other side.

7627. (Mr. Hill.) Stolen goods are sweet, as well as sour?—Yes, always.

7628. (Mr. Newton.) Where did you pay Cuthbert Lewtas?—I never paid him, I paid his wife, and he was not cognizant of the money going to his house.

7629. Did you pay the wife at his own house?—Yes.

7630. How came you to make it 5*l.* 6*s.*?—I gave him the 6*s.* previous to the election.

7631. Richard Carter you gave 4*l.* 5*s.* Why is it that sum?—I bought him a watch that cost that.

7632. As a present?—Yes, as a present.

7633. 4*l.* 5*s.* was the price of the watch?—Yes.

7634. Where did you pay Josiah Smith and John Smith?—In their own homes.

7635. And Thompson?—At his house.

7636. You did not pay any of them in the street?—No, I took a walk after tea, and paid them.

7637. When it was all over?—Yes, except Henry Smith.

7638. And except Richard Carter?—That was a few weeks after the election.

7639. You did not pay Richard Carter any money at all?—No.

7640. You gave him a silver watch?—Yes.

7641. Did you buy the watch of William Bell?—No.

7642. Who were the silver watches bought of?—I do not know who the watches were bought of. I bought mine of Mr. Beesley, in Cheapside.

7643. With a neat little inscription engraved upon it?—Yes.

7644. Presented by whom?—Nothing of that kind.

7645. What was the inscription?—"Joseph Rowley, Lancaster," it belonged to the gentleman who was so long chaplain of this jail. I wanted that watch because I knew it was a good one.

7646. Was that the only inscription?—Yes.

7647. You did not have anything appropriate engraved upon it?—No.

7648. "Presented by Fenwick and Schneider?"—No; I think I can give you a little information, if I am allowed to give it.

7649. Yes, what have you to say?—There were two names which have not been mentioned yet, of people who I believe took an active part in the district wherein I worked. Bartholomew Sharples and George Danson, perhaps, will be able to tell you how Mr. Croft got back again on his cheap trip; Mr. William Woodburn will be able to tell you why he left us and voted for the other side; I gave him 1*s.* 6*d.* when he was thirsty, and he told me that he intended to vote for us; he wanted to know what I would give him, and I said if he voted for us I would give him 5*l.*, and he could get as much as he liked from the other side.

7650. Who do you say will tell us about him?—He will tell you himself, very likely, why he changed to the other side; he promised me to vote for us, and I said he could get as much as he liked from the other side, and I was to give him 5*l.* afterwards for voting for us; and as Mr. Clark told you that he believed that I was almost everywhere, nearly omnipresent, perhaps he will tell you why all these men assembled round his office door for wages previous to the election; that is all the information I have to give.

E. Johnson.

EDWARD JOHNSON recalled.

7651. (Mr. Barstow.) We understand you wish to correct some statement you have made?—Yes, I should be glad to correct a statement of mine. Mr. Shaw has spoken to me since I came out of the box, and says that when I came to speak to Whiteside respecting the 15*l.* for his vote, he stepped back, so as not to hear anything about it.

7652. (Mr. Newton.) You said you paid Whiteside in the presence of George Shaw?—Yes, but he stepped back, so that he did not hear.

7653. (Mr. Hill.) Then no one saw?—No.

W. Slater.

WILLIAM SLATER sworn and examined.

7654. (Mr. Newton.) We summoned you for yesterday, and why did you not come?—I had no order to come.

7655. Did not the summons come to you?—It was contradicted by telegram.

7656. No, excuse me, the telegram was sent to George Slater?—Yes, Barrow.

7657. You are not George Slater?—No, William Slater.

7658. Therefore the telegram could not be for you, you were summoned to attend here yesterday, and you did not?—I beg your pardon, I was not summoned, my residence is at Park, and the summons was Barrow.

7659. You ought to have come yesterday, and you know it, you put us to inconvenience and the public to expense?—I am sorry for that.

7660. Where do you live?—At Park.

7661. What are you?—I am farm bailiff at Park, and land agent for Mr. Robert Hannay, Mr. Schneider's late partner, at Ulverstone.

7662. How long have you been in Mr. Hannay's employment?—Three years on the 10th of August last.

7663. Why did you leave his employment?—I have not left it.

7664. Are you still in his employment?—Yes.

7665. We hear that you took a considerable part in the election of 1865?—Not a considerable part, I was concerned with money matters; I am a stranger in Lancaster.

7666. Had you taken any part in the election of 1864?—No, I never saw an election before this.

7667. We also hear that you came here with money?—Not a farthing was brought over Sands, what I had I obtained in Lancaster.

7668. Who did you get it from?—I do not know who the gentleman was that gave it, I can tell you one gentleman who was in the room when I had it given.

7669. What was that gentleman's name?—Mr. Charles Blades.

7670. Where was the room?—I suppose it to be in the "Queen's," but I do not know.

7671. We will take it to be at the "Queen's." When was it?—On the day of the election.

7672. At what time?—I do not know exactly, but

I think before 7 o'clock in the morning. It was early in the morning.

7673. How many people were there in the room? Do you know who the other men were?—No.

7674. Do you know Mr. Henry Welch?—No, I do not.

4675. Do you know Mr. Wearing?—He has been pointed out to me since that time, but I did not know him then.

7676. Was he the man?—No, he was not the man that handed the money.

7677. Was he in the room?—He was in the room, I think, but I did not know him then. He has been pointed out to me since.

7678. Tell me what made you go to this room at the "Queens?"—Mr. Charles Blades came.

7679. First of all, what made you come over here at all?—A gentleman of the name of Hosking asked me if I would go with him to see the election. Neither of us had seen an election before.

7680. What is his christian name?—Richard Hosking.

7681. What is he?—He is the manager of the Hæmatite Steel Company.

7682. When did he ask you?—It was a few days before the election, I think, but I do not know the exact time.

7683. How long before the election?—I cannot name any particular time, because we were often talking about the election. We were together every day.

7684. You came over in consequence of that?—Yes.

7685. And you went to the "Queen's," by whose directions?—By our own directions. We went there knowing it was a Liberal house.

7686. When did you arrive in Lancaster?—The day before the election. On the nomination day.

7687. At what time?—Between 11 and 12. I came by the same train as I came by to-day.

7688. Was Mr. Hosking with you?—Yes.

7689. Where did you go to?—We went to the "Queen's" when we got to Lancaster, and we ordered some lunch there; then we went on to the hustings. After that we spent our time in the town, anywhere as it happened, nowhere in particular; and then we spent the night at "Old Sir Simon's" opposite, I think that is the name of it, but I am not acquainted very well with the town. We slept there.

7690. Where did you spend the evening?—I do not know anywhere in particular. We went to bed early. I think I was at Mr. Atkinson's, the gunsmith's, the chief part of the evening.

7691. What is his christian name?—Joseph Atkinson. I do not know that I was there at any particular time, but I was there amongst the rest of the places. I was with a friend of mine from Cockerham that afternoon a considerable time, Mr. Harrison.

7692. What is his christian name?—John Harrison of Batty Hill, Cockerham.

7693. Did you see Mr. Welch that evening?—No.

7694. That same unknown gentleman?—No.

7695. Did you see Mr. Blades?—No.

7696. Nor Mr. Wearing?—No.

7697. You went the next morning at 7 o'clock to the "Queen's?"—Mr. Blades came for one of us into the "Old Sir Simon's." He wanted one of us.

7698. When was that?—I think a little after 6 o'clock on the day of the election.

7699. In the morning?—Yes. We had not got up, however. We could not agree which of us was to go; but however, it fell on my lot to go.

7700. And you went?—Yes.

7701. You got there at 7 o'clock?—I am not sure about the time; I think it would be before 7 if anything.

7702. Did he go with you?—No.

7703. Where did he tell you to go to?—To the "Queen's"—I mean Mr. Blades?

7704. Yes. What did he tell you to do when you got to the "Queen's?"—He did not tell me anything particular till I got into the room. He left me to dress, and I followed.

7705. Did he say what you were to do when you got to the "Queen's?"—I do not know how I got into the room. I suppose I was shown in by somebody; but I got in.

7706. Can you remember how you got in? What made you go into the room?—Mr. Blades came and said he wanted one of us, and that he was at the "Queen's."

7707. You were to go to him at the "Queen's?"—Yes.

7708. Did you ask for Mr. Blades?—Yes.

7709. That is what I wanted to know. You are sure you asked for Mr. Blades?—Yes.

7710. And you got into this room?—Yes.

7711. What happened next?—Mr. Blades told them who I was, my name, and all that.

7712. Mr. Blades told whom?—The other two gentlemen who were in the room, and he said I was to be given some money.

7713. What did he say; how did he describe you?—He called me a person from "over sands," and I think he said, a person in whom he had confidence. That was the expression he used, I think.

7714. Did he say that you had come from Barrow?—No, "over sands." That is a term we used, from yon side.

7715. What happened next?—Those three gentlemen consulted as to what would be the amount likely for me to take. The first sum that was fixed upon was 150*l.*; but before I left the room they gave me another 50*l.* At least I found them to be fifties afterwards. They were done up in brown-paper parcels then.

7716. Tied up in fifties?—Yes. Then they told me to go down to a place called the "Blue Anchor." I do not know whether it is a public-house or a beer-house; it is on the Quay; and when I got there I was to inquire for one person called Cole, and another, Moser; and they would tell me what to do. I went into this "Blue Bnchor" and inquired for these two men, and there was a whole lot at breakfast when I got there, and I sat down with them.

7717. How many were there in the room?—I could not say; there looked a good many. It was not a very large room, but it was very full after breakfast was over.

7718. Did they say anything or make any observation on your coming in?—No. After breakfast was over, I do not know whether it was Cole or Moser, but one of them drew me aside. They had, I suppose, an idea who I was, and I believe the first question they asked me was whether I was prepared to pay them before they voted.

7719. What did you say to that?—I said no, I was not.

7720. (Mr. Hill.) Pay them or the voters generally?—The voters.

7721. (Mr. Newton.) Do you mean the voters in general or those two?—The voters in general.

7722. Those in the room?—It might be more than those to pay the voters.

7723. Was any list given to you?—I had a list like this, but I made no use of it.

7724. Were any names marked in the list that was given to you?—No.

7725. You said you were not prepared to pay them before they had voted?—Yes.

7726. What was said next?—They said if I was not prepared to pay them before, they would scarcely get one to vote for them. They said they had already lost three on that account. There is an instance connected with that; shall I repeat it?

7727. Yes?—These three men that had been lost had come and asked to be paid before they voted. They were refused, and they immediately went over to the other side and got 10*l.* with which they came back and shook it in their faces and said, "If you cannot trust us, the other side can."

7728. That is what they told you?—It is only hearsay mind. I said I could not pay the voters before they voted without fresh orders, and then they asked me what money I had got. I told them, and they said it was not enough.

7729. 200*l.*?—Yes. They said I had better go back to the Quay and get fresh orders. I did go back, and saw Mr. Blades, and told him this, and I was taken into his room again, and they gave me another 100*l.*, and told me to go back and use my discretion.

7730. Was anything more said to you?—No, nothing that I recollect. I went back as quick as I could.

7731. Who were the men you found in the room then?—The same three men.

7732. At what time was this?—It would be, I suppose, between 7 and 8 as near as I can tell. I went back, and these men, Cole and Moser, showed me into a room in another house, not the "Blue Anchor."

7733. Did you go back to the "Blue Anchor?"—Yes. I think I met them somewhere about the door.

7734. (Mr. Hill.) They took you into another house?—Yes, not far off—a few doors off—it looked like a beer-house, or something of that kind.

7735. The "Blue Bell," in all probability?—I do not know. I know none of the houses there.

7736. (Mr. Newton.) What did you do when you got into this other house?—They showed me into a room, and I was shut up in this room.

7737. Upstairs?—Yes, and by-and-bye they brought a man in, and he told me what I was to give him.

7738. Who was he brought in by?—By one of these two men I think, but I would not be quite sure.

7739. They were going to act as sort of porters at the door?—Yes, they were door-keepers of course. They were one by one ushered in in that way. I asked them all their names when they came to the table where I was sitting, and put it down in pencil on a piece of paper, and what I gave to each opposite I paid all the money away there in that way but about 30*l.*

7740. Can we have the names and the amounts?—No. I have no names, and no particular amounts. I destroyed the paper.

7741. What became of that paper?—It was merely in pencil. I do not know what became of it.

7742. Was it a piece of paper like that?—No, it was merely a piece of plain white paper on which I wrote with pencil.

7743. You cannot tell us any one you paid?—Not any one in particular.

7744. When was that paper destroyed?—On that day.

7745. When?—On the day of election.

7746. When?—I cannot tell what I did with it, or how it was destroyed; it was not destroyed for any special purpose.

7747. Did you account for the money you had spent to anyone?—Yes.

7748. To whom?—It was to a man Mr. Blades sent to me at the door of the "Queen's." Before that I met Mr. Blades in the street accidentally, and I told him I had some money left, and asked what I was to do with it.

7749. Did you tell him how much you had left?—I did not name to Mr. Blades how much.

7750. What did he say?—He said he would tell a man to look out for me, and he would take it from me.

7751. Was that after the election was over?—Yes, in the afternoon after the election was over.

7752. Did you go down to the Quay to see him?—No, I was in the street, and he came to me and asked me if I was Mr. Slater, and I said, "Yes."

7753. Who was he?—I do not know the man, but he seemed to be a working foreman, or something of that kind; a foreman over some mechanics, or something of that sort.

7754. How was he dressed?—I cannot positively say, but I think he had on a blue square coat, and I do not know what his trousers might be.

7755. What aged man was he?—Upwards of 50, I should think, from his appearance.

7756. What had he got on his head?—A hat, I think; an ordinary hat.

7757. Not a wideawake?—No.

7758. This man came up to you?—Yes, and he told me that Mr. Blades had sent him to take the money of me that I had left. I had an account made out ready in pencil on a slip of paper, and gave it to him. I went into the "Old Sir Simon" to cast up my account afterwards.

7759. You gave it to him?—Yes.

7760. How much?—I cannot say positively how much, but it was over 30*l.* by a sovereign or two, but I cannot swear positively to the amount. It was not 35*l.*

7761. Did you take any acknowledgment of his having taken that money back?—No, nothing.

7762. No receipt?—No, nothing.

7763. (Mr. Hill.) You gave him the account at the same time?—Yes, I gave him the pencil account I had made out.

7764. (Mr. Newton.) At the "Old Sir Simon?"—Yes.

7765. I must take you back to this house on the Quay. You say the accounts were lost, and therefore you cannot tell us the amounts. You can have some recollection of what sums you paid?—Yes, I can; they were principally in sums of 10*l.* I very generally paid 10*l.* for each vote. I should think perhaps there would not be above three, or four, or five that was less.

7766. How many 10*l.* do you suppose you gave away?—According to what I paid away there must have been 26, 27, or 28 10*l.* There was one got 11*l.*, but that was an accident.

7767. You miscounted it?—No, he had been paid a sovereign before, and they did not tell me when he came, or else I should only have given him 9*l.*

7768. (Mr. Hill.) He only got 10*l.* from you?—Yes.

7769. (Mr. Newton.) What was the highest price you paid that day?—10*l.*

7770. You never paid one higher than 10*l.*?—No, never one higher.

7771. What was the lowest sum you paid?—I cannot say positively; I gave a Mr. Moser something, but I think it was for expenses; I do not think it was for a vote.

7772. Was that Jacob Moser?—I do not know his name.

7773. Was it the same Mr. Moser you met at the "Blue Anchor?"—Yes.

7774. What did you give him?—I do not know, but he had some money. He was out of pocket.

7775. 1*l.* or more?—I think it would be more than 1*l.*, but I do not think it was much more than 1*l.*

7776. That was for expenses?—Yes, for money he said he had been out of pocket.

7777. Did you give Cole anything?—Not that I am aware of; I think not; I will not swear that, because I do not know positively whether I did or did not.

7778. You are not certain about Cole?—No, I am not positive; I did give somebody a sovereign for expenses.

7779. You never answered the question I put to you just now. What was the lowest price you paid for a vote?—I cannot tell you; I believe I paid one man 4*l.*

7780. For his vote?—Yes, I think so; at least he said it was for his vote.

7781. How much do you think you paid Moser on the whole?—I do not know; I have no recollection of paying him anything except this little sum I have named.

7782. We had him here yesterday?—So I suppose, but I do not recollect paying him anything more.

7783. Have you seen what he has said?—No, I have not.

7784. Just try and recollect?—I cannot. My son told me yesterday what he had said, and I said, "I do not recollect it."

7785. What did your son say he had said?—He told me that Moser had been saying I had been giving him money, and I said, "I do not recollect it;" and he said he thought Moser said he had been receiving more than I had been talking of.

7786. Moser said he received 23*l.* or 25*l.*?—I have no recollection of giving it to him; I know I gave him something.

7787. It is a pity you were not here yesterday, because you might have heard Moser examined; and he told us yesterday the different hours at which he got the money from you?—I do not know anything about it.

7788. He said that at 12 o'clock he got 23*l.* from you?—I was never there at 12 o'clock.

7789. What time did you leave?—I left at 9 o'clock, as soon as I had done paying; it might be after 9.

7790. Was it before 10?—I cannot swear to the exact time.

7791. Was it before 10?—I left as soon as ever I had done paying, and I should think it was before 10.

7792. When you left, did you pay any more money again that day?—No, not a penny.

7793. That you are prepared to swear?—That I am prepared to swear.

7794. You did not receive any more money?—No, nor pay any.

7795. Something may turn upon this hereafter, so be careful?—I am telling you as far as I know.

7796. I will put the words to you. Jacob Moser was asked, "What money did you receive from Mr. Slater, &c." (Reads a passage from the shorthand writer's notes). He distinctly says that you gave him two separate sums of 23*l.* and 12*l.*?—As late as 12 o'clock in the day?

7797. He distinctly says he received from you 23*l.* and 12*l.*?—I cannot swear what money I gave him; I know I gave him some, but I do not recollect giving him so much as that.

7798. I have made a mistake, I see; it was in the morning: he said that you gave him two separate sums of 23*l.* and 12*l.*, the one a quarter of an hour after the other?—I do not know what I gave him.

7799. Be careful?—I am careful. I am going to tell you nothing but the truth; I am determined to do that.

7800. Did you pay Moser two sums of 23*l.* and 12*l.*?—I do not know that I did.

7801. That is your answer?—I know I paid him money, but I do not remember paying so much.

7802. If he has said so he has not spoken the truth?—I will not say that.

7803. You must remember whether you paid him?—No, I do not.

7804. What do you mean by saying that you only gave him 1*l.*?—I said I thought it was a small sum.

7805. What do you mean by saying that you only gave him 1*l.*?—I did not say so; I said it was a small sum.

7806. Do you call 35*l.* a small sum?—I do not know what it was.

7807. Do not fence with the question?—I do not want to do so; anything but that.

7808. You must recollect whether you paid him 1*l.* or 35*l.*?—I do not.

7809. What do you mean by telling me just now that you paid him just 1*l.*?—I said that I paid him a small sum; I thought not much over 1*l.*; I did not speak positively upon that point at all.

7810. You cannot give me any reason for having told me just now what you said?—No, I cannot.

7811. Will you swear that if Moser says he did receive these two sums from you he swears to that which is not true?—No, I will not.

7812. What sum did you give Cole?—I do not know that I gave him any.

7813. Tell me the name of any man to whom you gave anything except Moser?—I do not know any other name.

7814. Moser is the only man's name you know?—Yes, he is.

7815. To how many men did you give 5*l.*?—Not many 5*l.*; I gave very few less than 10*l.*

7816. Did you bargain with them?——No; not with one.

7817. Who bargained with them?—I did not.

7818. How did you know when they came in what you were to give them?—I asked each man what they were to have. The door-keepers would have told me if I had done wrong, I suppose.

7819. Could the door-keepers hear what you said?—Yes.

7820. In fact, the door-keepers fixed the price?—Very likely: I do not know who fixed it.

7821. You mean Cole and Moser by the door-keepers?—Yes; I think they were the door-keepers. I do not know whether they were always there.

7822. But they were there sometimes?—Yes.

7823. How long did this last, this paying away?—Well, I should not think an hour. An hour would be the outside, however.

7824. What time should you say you left?—I should say I left before 9 o'clock; I think so.

7825. I will tell you what another man has said. A man named Hadfield said that you were there between 9 and 10 o'clock?—It might be; I do not know exactly what time I left, but I know it was early.

7826. Did you ever see a man named Hadfield there?—Not that I know of.

7827. Or a man named Barsby?—No; I knew nobody but those two men that I have named; and them I only saw that morning.

7828. Did you pay odd sums away of 7*l.* and 8*l.*?—No; only in that room. There were very few less than 10*l.*; but how many there were I cannot say. There were a few sums paid less than 10*l.*

7829. When you left where did you go to?—I went into the "Queen's."

7830. What time would it be when you got to the "Queen's."—I cannot speak to the time exactly. I know it was early in the forenoon.

7831. How long did you stay at the "Queen's?"—I stayed there till after the election was over, in one room.

7832. Whose room was that?—It was a room facing the Town Hall, where the votes were issued by the mayor.

7833. Was that the same room which you had been into in the morning?—No; it was not.

7834. A committee room?—No; it was a private room.

7835. Was it Mr. Fenwick's room?—No.

7836. Take care what you say?—No; it was not Mr. Fenwick's room.

7837. What did you do after you left the "Queen's?"—I went into the "Sir Simon's" to make up my accounts that I have spoken of.

7838. Did you stay at the "Queen's" till the election was over?—I did.

7839. When was it that you saw Mr. Blades?—It was some time after. I met him in the street after the election was over.

7840. When?—I cannot say when or where it was.

7841. Was it when you made up your accounts, or after you had made them up?—It was after I had made them up.

7842. Why did you not give them to Blades then? I do not know; he did not seem inclined to take them. What he said to me was, that he would tell a man to see me.

7843. Did you see Mr. Fenwick that day in the "Queen's?"—No.

7844. You knew him?—Yes; I knew him.

7845. Did you see him at all there?—I saw him in the street; but I never spoke to him in my life.

7846. Did you see Mr. Schneider that day?—Yes.

7847. Where?—I saw him frequently when I met him in the street. I never saw him in any particular place, only walking about.

EIGHTH DAY.

William Slater.

4 Sept. 1866.

7848. Did you speak to him?—After the election I did, and congratulated him on his success.

7849. Did you tell him what you had been doing?—No.

7850. You took it as a matter of course?—Yes.

7851. Did he know what you had been doing?—No; I do not suppose he knew what I had been doing.

7852. You took it as a matter of course that he knew what you had been doing?—I never gave it a thought at all.

7853. If you had been paying this money away for an hour you would speak to him upon the subject, would you not?—No; I spoke to him through friendship to my master.

7854. But you told him, did you not, what work you had been doing?—No, I did not; and I have never told him to this day.

7855. Did not he ask you to come over here in the first instance?—No, he did not; he never mentioned it. I had not seen him for months before.

7856. You understand what I mean?—Yes, I do.

7857. Mr. Schneider did not ask you to come over here and pay these voters?—No, he did not; he never mentioned it.

7858. And you have never told him to this day what you had been doing?—No.

7859. Have you talked this matter over with anybody since?—I fancy I have; but I do not know particularly who I have talked it over with.

7860. Just tell us somebody with whom you have talked it over?—I do not know.

7861. Mention some one name?—I have talked it over with Mr. Hosking many a time.

7862. This paying away of money?—Yes.

7863. It has been one of your stock stories during the winter, has it not, how you sat at the receipt of custom?—No; I did not care that much about it to repeat it so often.

7864. Tell me somebody else that you mentioned it to?—I do not know particularly.

7865. Just tell us another name?—I cannot tell you anyone in particular.

7866. You have told us of Hosking?—I have talked it over with Baines.

7867. Which Baines?—T. C. Baines.

7868. He is a clerk, is he not?—No; it is the other one, not the clerk. I mean Jenkins; I believe he went by that name.

7869. You have talked it over with Jenkins Baines?—Yes; in fact I came to Lancaster with him for one; he came with me in the same carriage.

7870. Did he tell you what he was coming to Lancaster for?—No; not for any particular purpose; but he said he was an old electioneerer, and he was coming to see.

7871. Who else was with you besides Hosking and Baines?—There was a man called James Garden.

7872. Who is he?—He is a builder in Dalton; he was with me for one; there were five of us in company.

7873. Now give me the name of another?—John Case, a tinman, of Ulverston. He came over to see the election, the same as I did. He is a master tinman, a tinman and brazier.

7874. Where at?—Ulverston.

7875. You came over together?—Yes, we did.

7876. Is Garden in the employ of Schneider and Hannay?—He works for them occasionally.

7877. And what is the other man; he works for them, does he not?—He does a good deal of business with them in his way; he is a gasfitter.

7878. And Baines we know does work for them?—Yes.

7879. Then you came over to look after the election?—No; we did not know we were going to do anything when we came.

7880. You came to see it?—To see it.

7881. Did you talk the matter over in the carriage?—We talked over what stirs there would be.

7882. What was said about money?—Nothing.

7883. Was Mr. Schneider's wealth talked about?—Yes.

7884. In what way?—In connection with the iron trade, mines, and iron works.

7885. Was it said that he ought to get in because he was a very rich man?—No.

7886. Was anything said about Mr. Lawrence's wealth?—Not that I am aware of. I did not hear anything said about it.

7887. You did not hear the subject at all mentioned?—No.

7888. Was anything said about bribing?—In what way?

7889. Was anything said about bribing?—I told you about the three witnesses; that is all I know.

7890. I am speaking of the time when you came over in the carriage?—Nothing. I did not know at that time that there was such a thing as bribery.

7891. You were quite innocent?—Quite innocent. I never was at an election before.

7892. And you did not know what bribery meant?—No. I might know what the word meant.

7893. What did you get for all this trouble?—Nothing.

7894. You got no remuneration?—No.

7895. Did you go and ask leave of the company to come over here?—No.

7896. You took French leave?—Yes.

7897. But they knew you were coming?—Nobody knew in particular that I know of.

7898. You and the others left without leave?—We did not all leave together, we only met accidentally.

7899. You took French leave, you say?—Yes.

7900. And you got no money, and no remuneration for all this trouble?—No, not the slightest.

7901. Do you know whether Jenkins Baines got anything?—He is his own master.

7902. And Case also would be his own master?—Yes.

7903. And Garden?—Yes.

7904. What was Hosking?—He is manager, and I suppose he took French leave the same as me.

7905. (Mr. Barstow.) When you and your companions came over to Lancaster, did you keep together?—Well, Mr. Hosking and me and John Case kept together.

7906. You all went to the "Sir Simon" together? Yes, we did, we all slept in one room.

7907. Then they were present when Blades came in the morning?—Yes, they were; they were in bed, Mr. Hosking and me were in one bed and Case was in another.

7908. Do you know what became of Hosking and Case?—No, not after I left.

7909. At what time did you leave the "Sir Simon?"—As near as I could tell it would be between 6 and 7; that is as near as I can tell.

7910. When did you meet Case and Hosking again that day?—John Case came to me at the "Queen's," and Hosking I did not see again till after the election was over.

7911. Did Case tell you what he had been doing?—No, he did not.

7912. Did Hosking tell you what he had been doing?—No, not anything in particular.

7913. Did you tell him what you had been doing?—I think I told Mr. Hosking.

7914. Did you keep together till you left Lancaster?—I think we were separated at times, but we went home together at night to Ulverston.

7915. At what time did you leave Lancaster?—I think the train leaves about 7, it was the regular evening train that we went by, the 10 minutes to 7 train I believe it is.

7916. Did either Case or Hosking come to you in the room you were in on the Quay?—No.

7917. They did not know where you were till you told Hosking in the evening?—No.

7918. When you were in this room on the Quay, I mean the second room, how did you pay the voters?—

I was sitting at a table and they all came in to my right hand.

7919. Had you a book and papers before you?—I had the slip of paper I have alluded to; that was all; I put it down in pencil.

7920. Each person who was to receive money came separately into the room?—Yes, and I asked each man himself what he was to have, and he told me.

7921. Did they bring you a ticket, or a slip of paper?—No, nothing.

7922. Was there at any time more than one person in the room besides yourself?—I do not know that there was, only the door-keepers; I do not know that there was any more than one in, but that I will not swear, I was sitting with my back to the door, and I could not see who was in at times when my back was to the door.

7923. Were the door-keepers inside the door?—One was inside occasionally.

7924. Did you give money to anybody except to voters?—Not that I am aware of.

7925. You have told us that you had paid away 25 sums of 10*l.*?—Yes.

7926. More or less?—There would be more than 25 sums.

7927. But sums of 10*l.*?—About that.

7928. Can you tell us about how many sums of 5*l.* you paid?—I cannot speak positively to that. I have not the slightest recollection.

7929. Can you tell how many broken sums of money less than 5*l.* you paid?—I paid only a few; I do not know what number. There were very few less than 10*l.*

7930. Did you pay any sum more than 10*l.*?—No; I did not pay any more than 10*l.*

7931. You are now speaking clearly that you paid no sum over 10*l.*?—Not that I am aware of; I do not recollect it if I did.

7932. 30*l.* odd is a very large sum out of 200*l.*?—300*l.*

7933. 30*l.* is a very large sum out of that, and you made up your accounts immediately after the election?—Yes.

7934. Can you not say positively whether you paid away a sum over 30*l.*?—There is not 30*l.* wanting, is there?

7935. That is not the question. You have been told already that a witness has sworn that he received of you 35*l.*?—I do not recollect anything at all about it. That is Moser that you are alluding to; I do not recollect that.

7936. Is your mind quite a blank upon the subject?—It is that far. When my son told me last night about this, I said I did not recollect anything at all about it.

7937. Did you pay the same man twice or three times?—The same voter?

7938. The same person; I do not know whether voter or non-voter?—Not that I am aware of.

7939. Can you give us any notion of the whole sum that you paid away?—I paid a little under 270*l.*, but how much I cannot positively say. The sum I gave up was over 30*l.*, and therefore it must have been under 270*l.*

7940. Are you aware that you paid away money to any persons except those who were mentioned to you to be voters?—I did not pay any money away except to what were voters, or what I took to be voters. Mind that, what I took to be voters.

7941. Did you pay money to anybody except to a man who, one of the door-keepers told you, was a voter?—Only those people that were sent to me. I did not ask them whether they were voters or not.

7942. (Mr. Newton.) Just tell me again how this was done?—A man was sent into the room to me and I asked him his name generally, and put it down on a piece of paper.

7943. You said, "What is your name?"—Yes; and I said, "How much money do you want?" And then he answered what he had bargained for.

7944. And then you ticked that off?—No; I wrote his name down in pencil.

7945. On this list?—On this list of my own.

7946. And they might not have been voters for all you know?—I took them to be voters. I asked very many of them who they were going to vote for, and they generally said, "Schneider and Fenwick;" that was the answer they gave me. I asked every one of them who he was going to vote for.

7947. (Mr. Hill.) Whom did you see over night when you came to Lancaster?—Nobody particular, only what I have told you.

7948. How did Mr. Blades know that you were at the "Old Sir Simon's?"—I do not know that.

7949. Were you surprised then when he came into your bedroom in the morning?—We were surprised when he knocked at the door.

7950. How did Blades know that you were there?—I do not know. He might have seen me the day before.

7951. How did he know that you were at the "Old Sir Simon's"?—I cannot answer that question. I do not know.

7952. Did he knock at the door when he came?—He knocked at the bed-room door, and as he knocked he walked in and said, "I want one of you."

7953. Did he mention your name?—No, he did not.

7954. Did Blades know you by sight?—He did.

7955. How do you know that he knew you by sight?—I had seen him frequently before.

7956. Where had you seen him?—At Furness Abbey, and at Ulverstone, and at different places. His business leads him over there.

7957. And he has been doing work at the Barrow Works, has he not?—At Mr. Schneider's works?

7958. Yes?—That I do not know; but I believe not.

7959. You have seen him and have often spoken to him upon the subject of this election?—Yes, frequently.

7960. You know him very well?—Yes, very well.

7961. You came over here to the "Queen's," and went and saw him there over night?—No, not over night.

7962. Where did you see him over night?—I do not know that I saw him at all except on the nomination day in the street.

7963. Do you mean to say that you never spoke to him in an hotel on the nomination day?—I do.

7964. You saw him on the nomination day and never spoke to him at the hotel?—Not that I am aware of.

7965. Did anybody come with him to the "Old Sir Simon's" in the morning?—Not that I know of.

7966. I ask you again to tell me who, to the best of your belief, had told Blades that you were sleeping at this house?—I do not know, unless it was Baines.

7967. Had Baines been having some talk with Blades?—Baines had left us then; he did not stay with us.

7968. Where did Baines come to?—I do not know, only from what I see in the papers.

7969. Baines knew where you were staying?—Yes.

7970. Then to your belief Baines would have told Blades where you were?—He might have done so.

7971. You say that there were in the room with you, Case and Mr. Hosking?—Yes.

7972. Who else?—Nobody else.

7973. You have told us you could not agree which of you should go, and that it fell on your lot to go; what do you mean by saying that it fell on your lot to go?—I consented to go, that was all.

7974. Who urged you to go?—Mr. Hosking.

7975. Why did he dislike to go himself; what was the reason why he declined to go?—He suspected what was going to be up, I believe.

7976. Had you any doubt, either of you, what was going to be "up?"—We suspected.

7977. Had you, either of you, any doubt what it was for that you were wanted?—I judged what I was wanted for.

EIGHTH DAY.

William Slater.

4 Sept. 1866.

7978. And that was the reason why Hosking declined to go?—I do not know; he did decline to go.

7979. In what position is Captain Hosking?—They are termed captains over mines; it is a Cornish term.

7980. He is in a good position?—Yes, he is a very respectable man.

7981. That being the reason why Hosking declined to go, you yourself thought that it might suit you to go, and you went?—I had no such object in view; I think myself quite as respectable as Mr. Hosking.

7982. But you agreed to go?—I agreed to go.

7983. And you knew very well what you were going to do?—I judged.

7984. You went from there, first of all, into the "Queen's Hotel?"—Well, I suppose it is the "Queen's;" I did not go in at the front door.

7985. You went into the "Queen's," and there you say you received a sum of money from somebody, you do not know who, but some gentleman in the room?—Yes.

7986. Have you seen that person since?—Not that I am aware of; only Mr. Wearing has been pointed out, but not the other.

7987. Was Mr. Wearing the man who gave you the money?—No, he was not; it was laid on the table, and I picked it up.

7988. Do you know Welch by sight?—I do not.

7989. Have you never seen him?—I have seen him, but I do not know that I should know him again.

7990. Who have you been to see this morning since you arrived in Lancaster?—Nobody.

7991. Have you not spoken to anyone since you came?—I have never opened my lips until I came to this court.

7992. At what time did you come to Lancaster?—I arrived a little after 11.

7993. Who has been to Barrow to talk this matter over with you?—Nobody.

7994. You have not spoken to Henry Welch since the election, to the best of your knowledge?—No, I have not.

7995. Nor to Blades?—No; I saw Blades in London, but I did not speak to him.

7996. Were you in London on the business of the petition?—I got a Speaker's warrant, but was not summoned any further.

7997. You were out of the room and did not hear the evidence that was given before the committee?—No, I did not.

7998. But you have read it, no doubt?—Yes.

7999. Are you the Mr. Slater that is referred to in the evidence?—If there is a Slater referred to in the evidence I am, no doubt; I suppose so.

8000. Were you told at the "Queen's" the plan that would be pursued when you got down to the "Blue Anchor?"—No; that morning I was.

8001. Which do you mean?—I have stated before that Mr. Blades told me to go to the "Blue Anchor," and that I would meet with two persons, one Cole and the other Moser, and that they would tell me what to do.

8002. Did he tell you the plan that would be pursued as to paying voters?—No, not a word.

8003. Did he tell you the number of voters that would have to be paid?—No.

8004. Not when the money was given?—No.

8005. From what part of the room did the brown-paper parcels come to your hands?—There was a large table in the middle of the room, and there seemed to be a lot of them.

8006. A lot of brown-paper parcels?—Yes.

8007. Did you see a black bag there?—No, not to my knowledge.

8008. Did you see anything brought out of a cupboard there?—No.

8009. Will you swear that?—I will; I know nothing about it.

8010. Did you see Wearing bring any parcel into the room?—No.

8011. How long did you remain at the "Blue Anchor?"—Only just while I got a little refreshment—breakfast.

8012. How long were you away from the "Blue Anchor" before you got to the "Blue Bell?"—I do not know; I was as quick as I could be; not many minutes.

8013. Did you take a fly up?—I ran some of the way.

8014. You did not go in a cab?—No.

8015. Did you recognize the faces of the persons who came into the "Blue Bell" as those who had been breakfasting with you at the "Blue Anchor?"—No.

8016. Where any of them the same persons?—I could not speak to one.

8017. Surely you can tell us the name of some one out of all that lot?—No, I cannot speak to one.

8018. Do you mean to tell me that you do not remember the name of a single person who came in there?—I do.

8019. You had a list before you?—I had this list before me, but I did not use it.

8020. By whom was that list given to you?—I do not know where I got it; I think it was given to me at the "Blue Anchor" or at the "Blue Bell; I think so, but I am not certain.

8021. Who would give it to you at the "Blue Anchor," if it was given to you there?—I do not know; either Mr. Cole or Mr. Moser, but I cannot speak to that.

8022. Do you believe that you got it at the "Blue Anchor," and not at the "Queen's?"—I cannot speak to where I got it.

8023. Do you really mean us to believe, standing there, that you were sent upon this business with certain instructions, and that you do not now know from whom you received those instructions?—I received no instructions except what I have told you.

8024. Were not the instructions that you received to pay the persons who were down on the list that was given to you?—No.

8025. Then what was the list given to you for?—I do not know; I do not know whether I got it that day or not, but I had it with me.

8026. If you did not get it that day, when did you get it?—On the previous day.

8027. From whom?—I cannot give the slightest idea.

8028. If you got it at all you must have got it from some one?—I think I got it that morning, either at the "Blue Anchor" or at the "Blue Bell."

8029. Do you doubt at all that that list was given to you on the previous evening?—I do not know whether I had it or not then.

8030. If you did get it on the previous evening from whom could you have had it?—I do not know.

8031. It is possible that you might have had it on the previous evening, is it not?—Yes.

8032. If it is possible that you might have had it on the previous evening, from whom could you have had it?—I do not know.

8033. If it is possible that you could have had it on the previous evening, there must be some person from whom you could possibly have received it?—My strong belief is that I got it down at that place.

8034. If you received it on the previous evening you must have been spoken to about it on the previous evening?—It was never mentioned.

8035. If it was given to you on the previous evening then it was given to you simply as a piece of waste paper?—I cannot tell you whether it was or not.

8036. If it was given to you then it was given to you without instructions?—There is a great "if" in it; I tell you I do not know when or where I got it.

8037. You have told me it is possible that it might have been given to you on the previous evening?—It might have been.

8038. If it might have been given to you on the previous evening what instructions were given to you with it?—My strong belief is that I got it that morning down on the Quay.

8039. Why is that your strong belief?—Because I do not recollect anything about it before.

8040. If you received it on the Quay, from whom did you receive it?—Only from one of these two men.

8041. You received it then either from Moser or from Cole?—I must have done so, because I spoke to nobody else.

8042. So that if Moser or Cole did not give it to you you must have received it on the previous evening?—I swear I do not know who gave it to me.

8043. And you cannot swear whether you received it on the previous evening or on the election day?—I will not swear either way.

8044. You cannot swear then that you did not receive it on the previous evening?—No, nor that I did.

8045. But possibly you may have received it on the previous evening?—I have not the slightest recollection of it.

8046. Is it possible that you did?—I do not know what other answer I can give you than I have given.

8047. Is it within the bounds of possibility that you may have received it on the previous evening?—It is possible, but I do not know that I did.

8048. If you did receive it on the previous evening where should you have received it?—That I do not know.

8049. At the "Old Sir Simon's?"—No.

8050. At the "Queen's?"—No, I was never much in the "Queen's."

8051. Could you have received it at the "Queen's?"—No.

8052. Could you have received it at the "Old Sir Simon's?"—No.

8053. Then at what other places could you have received it?—I called at Mr. Atkinson's and other places.

8054. Did you receive at Mr. Atkinson's?—No.

8055. Where did you see any lists like that for other districts?—I never saw any but that.

8056. Where did you first see it?—I think in the room where I was down on the Quay.

8057. In the breakfast-room?—No, the other room where I was paying.

8058. Was it in the room when you were shown in there?—That I will not swear, but I think not.

8059. Was there a pen and ink on the table, or anything put there ready for you?—I think not, that I will not swear; but I think not.

8060. To your belief you received that list from Moser or from Cole?—I think so; but mind, I will not swear it, nor will I swear from whom I did receive it.

8061. Can you tell me whether you put it into your pocket before you went to the Quay?—No, I cannot.

8062. If you had had it the previous evening, should you have shown it to Hosking and Case, the two other persons who were with you?—I do not know. I do not recollect doing so.

8063. Were you ever at all from them on the previous day?—Yes, on the nomination day I was with a friend of mine from Cockerham at the "Bear and Staff;" Mr. Harrison.

8064. Were you ever by yourself on that afternoon?—I was walking about the streets by myself to get out of the way of the eggs that were going.

8065. Were you ever by yourself in any house?—No, not by myself. I was only in two houses, Atkinson's, the gunsmith, and the "Bear and Staff."

8066. Who was at Atkinson's?—My wife.

8067. Who else?—Mr. Harrison's wife.

8068. And who else?—Nobody.

8069. Did your wife come over with you from Barrow?—No, and I did not speak to her that day either, though she was in the town.

8070. You saw her at Atkinson's?—No, she was there, but I did not see her.

8071. Where did you see Mr. Schneider that morning?—Nowhere.

8072. You never came across him in the street, or saw him anywhere on the nomination day?—I never saw him at all.

8073. Do you mean to say that after the election was the first time you had seen Mr. Schneider on the polling day?—To speak to him.

8074. Now look at the list that is before you, and tell me which of those names you can remember to have seen before?—I do not know whether that is the same list.

8075. Do you mean to tell me that you do not know what list it was that was given to you?—I do.

8076. And you never looked at it?—I might have looked at it, but I do not know what list it was.

8077. Can you not tell me what the names were that were in it?—No.

8078. Then if Cole or Moser gave it to you, they gave it to you for no purpose?—I do not know what they gave it to me for.

8079. Was it pinned together as these papers are?—It was fastened together, but I do not know whether with a piece of string or a pin.

8080. Or with one of those little brackets?—I think it was a little metal bracket.

8081. What was the last time you saw this piece of paper on which you wrote down the names?—I do not know when I did see it the last time; I have no recollection of it in particular.

8082. Did you see it after you left Lancaster?—No.

8083. Did you ever see it after the election day?—That I do not know; I could not if I did not see it after I had left Lancaster.

8084. Did you ever see it after you had given up the 30*l.*?—I cannot say that.

8085. Can you not say whether you saw it after you went to the "Old Sir Simon's?"—It was destroyed.

8086. Do you mean to say that you destroyed it yourself?—Yes.

8087. Then why did you not say so before?—You did not ask me the question.

8088. Do you think that is a proper way of giving evidence, knowing all the while that you had destroyed it to refuse to tell us what had become of it?—I have not refused. I told you that I had destroyed it. I want to give you truthful answers if I can.

8089. I very much doubt it?—I see you doubt it. You think I do not, but I do. I have nothing to keep back.

8090. (Mr. Newton.) If you mean to speak the truth, you had better tell us at once all you know, and not keep back anything?—I came here to tell the truth, that is my object, but I believe that you, gentlemen, want me to tell something that is not true.

8091. (Mr. Hill.) You made a second copy of this paper?—Not the names, only the cash account. I added it up, and made a cash account, and gave it to the man.

8092. Having copied it twice over, you can say distinctly that you never did pay these sums of money we have put to you of 23*l.*, and 12*l.* to Mr. Moser?—I did not copy it. I merely added up the figures, and put them down in one sum. I wish to tell you the honest truth, and if Mr. Moser says it was so, I will not swear it was not.

8093. Had Mr. Moser at any time when you saw him on that day a list of persons in his hand who were to be paid?—Not that I am aware of.

8094. How did they know at the "Queen's" the number of voters who were to be paid?—That I know nothing about; they gave me this money, and I was to take it to the "Blue Anchor," and these men would give me instructions.

8095. When you received the first 200*l.*, you did not know for how many voters it was intended?—No.

8096. From whose information did you arrive at the conclusion that the sum which had been given to you was insufficient?—Cole, and me, and Moser, I think, had some conversation together as to how much money I had, and I said I had 200*l.*, and they said in an off-hand way, that that was not enough, and that I had better go and get more.

8097. Did you say nothing more when you went

EIGHTH DAY.

William Slater.

4 Sept. 1866.

back to the "Queen's," than that they had told you in an off-hand way that 200*l.* would not be enough?—No.

8098. Did not Moser tell you what sum they were asking for votes?—Somebody did.

8099. What did they tell you?—That they were asking 10*l.*, and that they had bargained with some for 10*l.*

8100. Then you having 200*l.*, if you were told that that was not enough, and that the price of a vote was 10*l.*, must have been aware that there were more than 20 voters to be dealt with?—I might have thought that, but I did not think about it.

8101. You knew that there were upwards of 20 persons to be paid?—I might have thought so.

8102. You must have known that when you went up and asked for another 100*l.*?—I did not ask for it particularly, but Mr. Blades listened to what I had to say.

8103. Did you not say that there were a great number of persons to be paid, and that 200*l.* was not enough?—No.

8104. Did they not talk over the matter, and consider how many voters there were to be paid?—Of course there was conversation going on among them, but I do not recollect what passed. I believe Mr. Blades' remark was, "We had better give him another 100*l.*"

8105. But nothing was said about the number of men to be paid?—No.

8106. Did you see any lists either in Moser's, or in Coles' hand?—Not that I am aware of.

8107. Can you not recollect whether the thing was being done in a business-like way or not?—I do not recollect anything at all about that. I was merely put into the room, and these men were sent in, and I gave them what they asked for.

8108. Each man came in?—Yes, and I asked his name.

8109. He gave his name, and told the price?—Yes.

8110. And Moser and Cole stood at the door to listen to what he said, and to see that what he said was correct?—Yes.

8111. That was the plan?—Yes.

8112. Moser and Cole heard and saw all that took place between you and the voters?—I will not say that they were always there, but the chief part of the time they were. I had my back towards the door, and could not see everthing that was going on behind me.

8113. To the best of your belief, however, those two men heard and saw all that took place?—That is my impression.

8114. Was there any other person introducing voters, or taking a leading part besides those two?—Not that I am aware of. They were the only two men that I had any dealings with at all.

8115. When you first saw Blades on the day of the nomination what conversation took place between you? I do not know where I did see him.

8116. What conversation took place between you?—None, that I am aware of, I do not know that a syllable took place between us.

8117. Not at all that day?—Not at all that day.

8118. Have you no recollection what you said to Blades that day?—Not the slightest.

8119. Do you recollect at all what you talked to Jenkins about as he came over in the train with you that morning?—I do not recollect anything in particular.

8120. We have heard that Jenkins was an old electioneerer?—Yes, he said he had seen many dodges.

8121. And he put you up to a dodge or two?—No, not one; and I am glad to say that I did not do any dodges, only what I have told you.

8122. Did he talk to you about paying away money?—No.

8123. Did he know where he was to go to?—No, I think not.

8124. Do you know anything about Morecambe?—No, I know nothing about it, except that I think I have been there once, or I may have been twice.

8125. Did you never come across the ex-tailor, Mr. Wilson?—I do not know him at all.

8126. He is not in your line?—No.

Adjourned for a short time.

8127. (Mr. Barstow.) I understand you wish to make some correction in your evidence?—Yes, I made an error as to the amount of the money, that is as to when I got the money; I stated that I got 200*l.* in the first instance, whereas I only got 150*l.* at first. I have been with Mr. Cole, and he has refreshed my memory.

8128. You have been with him since when?—I have been with him now.

8129. That was the first time you were at the "Queen's?"—Yes; Mr. Cole says that I made a mistake as to the way in which I had got the money; I went down at first from the "Queen's" with 150*l.* to the "Blue Anchor."

8130. (Mr. Hill.) Cole has told you this?—Yes; but I recollect it myself quite well, now.

8131. But you make this correction in consequence of Cole reminding you of it?—Yes; must I state the case through.

8132. If you please?—I told you about going to the "Queen's" and getting 200*l.* in the morning; but I only got 150*l.* Then I went down to the "Blue Anchor," and did just what I have stated in my evidence; I went back to the "Queen's" and got only 50*l.* instead of, as I said before 100*l.* I only got 50*l.* the second time myself.

8133. Did anybody go with you?—No, I found I was getting short, and Mr. Cole went for the other 100*l.* I have spoken of; it does not alter the sum.

8134. You found the money running short, and so Cole went for another 100*l.*?—Yes.

8135. So that it amounts to the same thing?—Yes.

8136. Is it merely the difference as to how it was brought to the "Blue Anchor?"—Yes. I merely made the statement in order that he might not contradict me.

8137. (Mr Barstow.) Is there anything else that you wish to correct?—No, not that I recollect.

8138. (Mr. Hill.) How many men had you paid before Cole went up for more money?—I do not know; I do not know how many I did pay.

8139. Had you begun to pay the men before Cole went up?—That I cannot speak to.

8140. You say "After I got back to the "Blue Anchor" I found I was running short so Cole went for the other 100*l.*" By the words "running short" do you intend us to understand that this was during the course of payment?—I think I was paying at the time he went up.

8141. Have you any doubt about it?—Well, not much, I think he brought it into the room where I was paying however, so that I must have been paying.

8142. You have no doubt about it?—No, I think I have no doubt about it.

8143. (Mr. Newton.) You were still paying when he came back?—Yes, I was still paying when he came back; he brought it into the room where I was.

8144. (Mr. Hill.) Did Cole remind you as to your having only received 150*l.* the first time and not 200*l.*?—Yes, he reminded me when I was out, and I can recollect the circumstance very well now. I told him that I had great difficulty in getting the next 50*l.*

8145. How many men did you pay before you dipped into Cole's 100*l.*?—I do not know.

8146. How many men had you paid when Cole came back?—I do not know.

8147. Did you send word by Cole how many more persons there were to be paid?—No; only that I wanted another 100*l.*

8148. Did you send Cole into the room to say that you were running short?—I cannot tell you whether I did or not; I suppose he had been in the room, and we had been talking about it. I do not know how otherwise it could be.

8149. (Mr. Barstow.) How does Cole know anything about the way in which you got the money ?—I told him where I had got it, and where to go to.

8150. How should Cole know what you had ?—I told him what I had when I went down, he is one of the men that I inquired for when I went down.

8151. As soon as you saw Cole you told him what money you had ?—Yes, he says I told him that I had only 170*l.* that must be a mistake.

8152. (Mr. Hill.) Did not Cole tell you the number of voters that there would be to be paid ?—Not that I am aware of; I have not the slightest recollection of anything of the kind.

ARTHUR COLE sworn and examined.

Arthur Cole.

8153. (Mr Hill.) What are you ?—A painter.

8154. Where do you live ?—In St. George's Quay.

8155. Are you a Liberal ?—Yes.

8156. In what service were you engaged at the last election ?—I was not engaged at all.

8157. Were you active then ?—I assisted.

8158. You assisted as captain ?—Yes.

8159. In what district ?—The St. George's district.

8160. Was the last election the first election you had been engaged in ?—No.

8161. Had you been active in elections the greater part of your life ?—No.

8162. Which was the first election you were engaged in ?—I think the election of Mr. Fenwick and Mr. Saunders.

8163. Had you the same district then that you had last time ?—Yes; just the same.

8164. Did you poll as many men in your district then as you did last time, or about as many?—Yes; I think as many; about the same; perhaps a little less.

8165. When did you first begin to canvass and to busy yourself in the matters of the last election ?—I objected in the first instance to have anything to do with the matter.

8166. That was not doing anything. My question is, when did you first begin to do anything?—Perhaps a week or 10 days before the election.

8167. Who pressed you first of all when you objected ?—Mr. Hadfield.

8168. You then accepted your duties?—Well, no; I had no duty.

8169. You accepted the opportunity of working ?—It turned out that the captains who were placed upon that district could do nothing among the voters, not being so well known to them as myself.

8170. You accepted the work then ?—I accepted the work rather than lose the cause.

8171. And accepting the work, you required some of the sinews of war to go to work with ?—Not at all.

8172. What money did you first receive?—I received nothing.

8173. Did you never receive any money ?—I received 10*s.* from Mr. Hadfield during our canvass.

8174. Is that George Hadfield ?—Yes.

8175. What else did you receive ?—I received upwards of 10*s.* from the same party.

8176. After the election ?—No ; before.

8177. A few days after the first receipt you received ten shillings more ?—Yes.

8178. What other sums did you receive?—Nothing.

8179. Do you mean to say that 1*l.* was all the money that you fingered during the election ?—That was all.

8180. Had you no expenditure in the way of refreshment ?—Only to that amount.

8181. Then the whole of the sovereign was spent upon the refreshment of voters ?—I presume so.

8182. Where ?—On the Quay.

8183. You were well acquainted with the voters in St. George's Quay district ?—Yes.

8184. Do you know all of them by name and most of them personally ?—I do not think I do; I knew most of them by sight.

8185. I suppose that means that you could attach names to them ?—No; I might know a person by sight, and yet not know his name.

8186. However, you do know most of them ?—Yes.

8187. And the reason why you were selected was because the other captains did not know them?—Just so.

8188. Will you tell me, if you please, who were the voters that received money in the St. George's Quay district at the last election ?—I cannot do that.

8189. Tell me the names of some of them?—I think there were two or three Gregsons.

8190. Were they freemen ?—Yes; of Pothouses.

8191. Was there Thomas Gregson?—Thomas Gregson was one.

8192. John Gregson, junior, Pothouses, labourer; James Gregson, Pothouses, labourer; they both voted for Lawrence ?—Yes; James Gregson voted for Lawrence.

8193. Then there would be Mathew Gregson, of the Pothouses, smith ?—Yes; Mathew Gregson.

8194. He was one ?—Yes.

8195. There was a third Gregson; would that be Ben Gregson, of Edward Street, cabinet-maker ?—No.

8196. Just look at that printed list that is before you?—There is Thomas Gregson, a stonemason, he is one.

8197. Did not Ben Gregson vote for you ?—I do not know Ben Gregson.

8198. He is a cabinet-maker, living in Edward Street ?—I do not know him to my knowledge.

8199. Go on, if you please, in your own way, and be as accurate as you can ?—There was William Parker, of Pothouses.

8200. Who is the next ?—There is James Gregson and William Gregson; they voted on the other side.

8201. Now run through the names, and tell me about each of them as you go along ?—William Richmond, of Bridge Lane; he is a wood-dealer.

8202. Who is the next ?—Richard Baines.

8203. What is the name of the public-house ?—I think it is the "Hatters' Arms;" I am not quite sure. Then there is James Ellershaw; that is another voter.

8204. Of Bridge Lane, innkeeper ?—Yes.

8205. He is a householder ?—Yes.

8206. Do you recollect what is the name of the inn ?—No, I do not.

8207. What is the number on the register ?—1107.

8208. What is the next man ? Tell me any name that you have any doubt about ?—There is John Laytham.

8209. He is a freeman, is he not ?—I believe he is, in Lune Street.

8210. What is his number ?—No. 541. I am not quite sure whether he voted off the Quay or not; but he is in that district.

8211. He voted all right ?—Yes; but whether he voted off the Quay or not I do not know.

8212. What do you mean by "voting off the Quay?"—Whether he went and polled from the Quay, or whether he was out of the country.

8213. Who is the next ?— There is William Whitaker.

8214. What is he ?—He is a farmer; No. 1376.

8215. A householder ?—Yes.

8216. Who is the next ?—I think that will be all.

8217. It cannot be all ?—That is all that I can pick out of this list.

8218. That is only eight; Slater operated for 26, 27, or 28 ?—I daresay there would be that quantity altogether; probably from 24 to 27.

8219. Where are we to find the names of the others? —I do not know.

8220. What list would they be in; where did they come from ?—I think there were some from Skerton.

EIGHTH DAY.

Arthur Cole.

4 Sept. 1866.

8221. What list would you like to have put into your hands ?—I do not know.

8222. You know those who were at breakfast ?—No, I do not.

8223. What list would you like to have to look at next ?—There were parties there that I had no acquaintance with.

8224. You heard their names, and you heard them mentioned to Mr. Slater ?—No, I did not.

8225. You were selected as knowing them all, you know ; we must have more than these eight?—There are parties that did not vote.

8226. But I am referring to those who went into this room at the "Blue Bell ?"—I do not know who went in.

8227. But you were at the door, you know ?—No.

8228. Did you hear what Mr. Slater said ; he told us that you were there ?—Yes ; I heard him say so.

8229. Do you mean to tell us that what Mr. Slater says is not true ?—I mean to say that Mr. Slater did not know what he was talking about.

8230. You were not at the door ?—I was not.

8231. Had you nothing to do with it ?—I was with the voters in another room.

8232. Were you in the breakfast-room at the "Blue Anchor ?"—I was.

8233. And you saw the voters there?—There were some of them there.

8234. Were those the same voters who went in to be paid by Mr. Slater afterwards ?—Yes.

8235. You saw those voters afterwards at the "Blue Bell ?"—Perhaps not all of them.

8236. We are right, are we not, in calling the house the "Blue Bell ?"—Yes.

8237. In what room were they at the "Blue Bell?" —The voters when I saw them first were in the front room.

8238. How many were there there ?—I cannot speak to that.

8239. About how many ?—Perhaps there might be 20 altogether.

8240. Did you know most of those that you saw there ?—Not all of them.

8241. Did you know most of them ?—Very likely I should know most of them.

8242. You knew more than half of them at any rate. Now then give me the names of the others. Were these eight you have mentioned all there ?—I cannot speak to that.

8243. How many of these eight that you mention were there ?—Perhaps there might be five or six ; I cannot exactly tell you.

8244. Now give the names of the remainder of the persons who were in this room at the "Blue Bell," and you shall have any list you like to look at to refresh your memory ?—There were two men out of the Church Street district, I believe.

8245. What were their names ?—There was one person of the name of Hornby. I am not acquainted with the district.

8246. Was he a painter ?—Yes ; James Hornby.

8247. Who was the other person ?—A person of the name of Masheder, I think was the other, St. Mary's Place.

8248. James Masheder ?—I think Richard.

8249. Is he a cordwainer ?—Yes.

8250. Those men Hornby and Masheder were there. Who were the others ? Give me the name of another ? —I think there was a man of the name of Smith, from Skerton.

8251. He would be a freeman ?—Yes.

8252. Was it Robert Smith ?—His name is Robert.

8253. Now give me another ?—I do not think I can give you the name of another.

8254. Would you like to have the polling-list to see ?—No, it is of no avail.

8255. First think over the persons you had to do with at the last election ?—I cannot remember any other.

8256. Were there any other Mashiters ?—No.

8257. Anybody else from Skerton besides Smith ? —There was a party or two with him, but they were strangers to me.

8258. Were they voters ?—One was, but I do not know his name.

8259. Was he from Skerton ?—Yes.

8260. Was he one of those in the "Blue Bell ?"—Yes, he was there that morning.

8261. There was another person from Skerton ?—Yes, a person whom I do not know.

8262. Had you seen him at any other time but that time when you met him in the "Blue Bell ?"—Never before to my knowledge.

8263. Did you never hear his name ?—No, not to my knowledge.

8264. Were those two persons Robert Smith and the unknown man, the only two from Skerton ?—Yes, I think so. There was a man of the name of Tomlinson a tailor. He is perhaps on the list for some other place about the town.

8265. Is that Thomas Tomlinson ?—No, he lives in Bridge Lane at present.

8266. A tailor ?—Yes.

8267. He lives in Bridge Lane ?—Yes he did at that time.

8268. Who else was there out of the district ? You did not get anybody out of Penny Street ?—No, not to my knowledge.

8269. Damside ?—In fact I had nothing to do with getting them.

8270. I do not mean getting them, but seeing them there at the "Blue Bell ?"—I really cannot speak to it.

8271. Just try and recollect another name besides Tomlinson ?—I have exhausted my memory upon that subject.

8272. I do not think you have quite ?—Yes, I think so.

8273. Take your memory back to the 12th of July and fancy that you are standing there in about the door of one of the rooms of the "Blue Bell." You had had a breakfast at the "Blue Anchor ?"—I had not.

8274. You had seen them at breakfast. If I asked you to name who were there, whom should you mention besides those you have already mentioned ?—I do not think I could name another.

8275. Just try and take you memory back. There is Mr. Williamson ; he has some works ?—Yes.

8276. What are Mr. Williamson's works ?—He is a table baize manufacturer.

8277. He has some voters in his employ has he not ?—Yes.

8278. First think of the persons that Mr. Williamson employed ?—I think I have already told you three or four of them.

8279. There were another or two, were there not ? —I do not remember.

8280. Try and recollect ?—I was one myself you know.

8281. You did not go into the room to Slater ?—No.

8282. You saw some go in ?—I believe there were some in.

8283. It is no use being fastidious ; we know very well what was going on ?—I do not know that I was particularly interested in this matter at all.

8384. Who else went into the room, just try and think ?—I think I have told you all.

8285. Suppose you were promised a five-pound note for every person you name that was there, and you had done your best to recollect who were there, whom should you give as besides those you have named ?—If it had been done at the time it would have been a lasting impression.

8286. But I mean now ?—No, I really could not do it.

8287. Try and recollect ?—I think I have told as near as I can.

8288. I will tell you whom we have got. We are along way short of the number. Thomas Gregson, Matthew Gregson, William Parker, William Richmond, Richard Baines, James Ellershaw, John Laythan, William Whittaker, James Hornby, Richard Masheder, Robert Smith, John Tomlinson, and the unknown man. Who else was there?—There is Richard Jemmison. He was on the Quay.

8289. You have a capital memory, one of those memories that does not flash upon the thing at the moment, but you recollect a thing when you come to work well at it?—He was a voter but he was not on the Quay that morning.

8290. He was one of those at the "Blue Bell?"—No, I think not.

8291. Why did you mention him?—Because he is in the district.

8292. What made you think of him?—I do not recollect his being there. I just saw his name.

8293. What made you think of him?—He was one of the worthies.

8294. What do you call "worthies?"—Fond of a glass of beer.

8295. Was there a club there called the "worthies?"—No.

8296. What are the "worthies?"—Those that are fond of beer election times.

8297. They are called the "worthies?"—I call them that.

8298. Whom else have you got amongst the "worthies" besides Richard Jemmison?—I do not know any others.

8299. Are the "worthies" on the Quay confined to one?—No. I do not suppose they are.

8300. Tell me another or two; look to your list again?—No, it is no use, I have looked it over.

8301. Give me another?—I cannot.

8302. Is Richard Jemmison the last person you have a recollection of either in or out of the district?—He is in the district.

8303. Is he the only one you can name to me either in or out of the district?—Yes.

8304. What was your work with regard to the "Blue Anchor" first of all. You met the men at breakfast?—Yes.

8305. Who sent the invitations to breakfast?—I do not know.

8306. Who else was busy about this business besides you and Moser?—I had nothing to do with Moser.

8307. You knew Moser was looking after this district?—He was about there.

8308. Who else was looking after the district besides you and Moser?— Mr. Hadfield and I canvassed the district.

8309. Did Hadfield go round with you?—I believe he went by himself in the first instance along with Moser.

8310. What part did you take?— I took no part particularly, only going along with Hadfield. Hadfield called upon me to ask me whether I would assist him in canvassing the voters in that district.

8311. You canvassed with Hadfield?—Yes.

8312. Therefore Hadfield also canvassed with you?—Yes, certainly.

8313. How many voters did you and Hadfield call upon?—I cannot speak to the number.

8314. You saw most of them?—We called upon those we thought would vote.

8315. You called upon all the likely persons?—Yes.

8316. And those were by no means in the minority in the St. George's Quay district?—No.

8317. You called upon a great many voters with Hadfield in the St. George's district?—Yes.

8318. Did you arrange with them at that time as to the price?—No, not at all.

8319. Was anything said about the price?—No, not then.

8320. When did you first hear as to what was the price?—On the morning of the election.

8321. From whom did you hear about the price?—I really do not know.

8322. Was it from a voter or from a captain?—I do not know. I heard it after I was called out of bed in the morning. I really cannot tell the party.

8323. People say that you can recollect things best in the early part of the morning: so you can tell us. From whom did you hear it?—I cannot tell the person who named it in the first instance.

8324. Do you not know the person's name?—I cannot recollect the party.

8325. Where was it—at your own house?—No, on the Quay somewhere.

8326. What was said about price by this unknown person?—I think they were saying something about 7*l.*

8327. The price was said to be 7*l.*?—Yes, that is what I heard when I got up in the morning.

1328. What was the first thing you did on that same morning?—I went up with Mr. Hadfield I think to the "Blue Anchor." There were a good many people about there; voters and non-voters, a majority of non-voters, and I understood that the price was considerably higher on the other side.

8329. On the Lawrence side?—Yes, I understood so.

8330. Who reported it was 7*l.*, or did all of you have it in your mouths together?—No, it was named promiscuously.

8331. You understood that on the Lawrence side it was higher?—Yes.

8332. Did you hear what was the current price?—No, not at that time.

8333. Go on. Tell me exactly what took place?—I heard afterwards that they would not vote under 10*l.*

8334. When did you hear that?—Immediately after. It might be 7 o'clock in the morning perhaps, or perhaps earlier.

8335. You heard that they would not vote Lawrence under 10*l.* Did you hear what price they would vote Fenwick and Schneider? Who told you they would not vote Lawrence under 10*l.*, or do you mean they would not vote at all under 10*l.*?—Yes, that is it.

8336. Who told you that?—I think some of the voters themselves.

8337. Were some of those persons whom you had got already down as persons likely to vote?—I think so.

8338. You kept a list of them?—Not at all.

8339. Did you keep it all in your head? Did you recollect who were your likely persons?—No.

8340. How did you know them?—I knew the parties I had called upon.

8341. How did you know them?—I knew them by sight.

8342. Some of those persons came up and told you they would not vote under 10*l.*?—They did not tell me.

8343. They told some one in your hearing?—It was rumoured about in the place.

8344. How many of those voted for you, and how many turned round?—I do not know the number.

8345. About?—From 20 to 24 probably voted for Fenwick and Schneider.

8346. Of those whom you had canvassed?—I had not canvassed the whole of those who voted.

8347. You say that some 20 or 24 of those whom you had canvassed voted for Fenwick and Schneider?—No, nothing near so many as that of whom I had canvassed, but there were parties from other districts that were on the Quay.

8348. Who were those you met on the Quay? You recollected their names without putting them down you know?—I really cannot tell you.

8349. I shall begin to think you have a convenient memory instead of a good one?—It is not a convenient one at all.

8350. Tell me who they were. You recollected them at the time?—There were several parties in the room at the time.

8351. Give me their names?—There were several parties.

8352. Tell me some of them?—I could tell you three of them, that went away.

8353. They did not vote?—No, they did not vote.

8354. Those are scarcely the persons whom I want to get most from you. Tell me some of those who did vote?—There were the Gregsons.

EIGHTH DAY.

Arthur Cole.

4 Sept. 1866.

8355. I do not want those whose names I have got before ?—I do not know any others.

8356. Are those 20 or 24 people whose names you recollected well at the time and whom you do not recollect now?—I can recollect only a portion of them.

8357. You told me that there were 20 or 24 of those whom you had canvassed, and who had been reported to you whose names you recollected at the time, but whom you do not recollect now?—No.

8358. You kept no list and never ticked them off? —No.

8359. Who did do that?—I think Mr. Hadfield had a book with the names in.

8360. Did you see it?—If there was a book at all I should see it.

8361. Did you see the book with the names in, in Hadfield's possession ?—I think I saw a list of voters.

8362. You have had to do with elections before. Are not elections worked by having street lists and marking down those persons of one way of thinking ? —I think it would be a street list.

8363. Have you any doubt?—No.

8364. You had no street list ?—No.

8365. Never had one supplied to you ?—No.

8366. You knew them well enough without having a street list ?—Very likely.

8367. Now go on. I feel I am taking the wrong tack with you. Go on and give straightforward answers ?—I shall have a pleasure in doing so.

8368. After you went from the Quay where did you go to ? You say you saw these persons on the Quay, and heard that they would not vote under 10*l.* ?—I went to the "Blue Anchor."

8369. Who came to you in the "Blue Anchor ?"— I do not know that anyone came to me; I went to them. I went amongst the lot that was there.

8370. And discussed with them the price at which they would vote ?—I do not know that I discussed with them.

8371. You spoke to them?—Yes, I spoke to them, certainly.

8372. About the price ?—Yes, the price was named.

8373. Who was the spokesman of the "Blue Anchor" party ?—I do not know.

8374. Did they all talk to you ?—More or less.

8375. Was there not one man who spoke more about the price than the others ?—I do not know that there was.

8376. Were they all sticking out for one price?—Yes.

8377. They were all in a band as you say here ?— Evidently so.

8378. The price named to you was 10*l.* ?—Yes.

8379. Give me the name of one of those persons who named the price ?—I really cannot do that.

8380. Was it any of those different names you have mentioned to me ?—I cannot say.

8381. Was it one of the Gregsons?—I cannot say.

8382. What was the next thing that was done ? Did you agree to the 10*l.*?—It was arranged that they should have 10*l.*

8383. Who arranged it ?—I believe there were two or three parties in the room at the time.

8384. Who were they ?—I myself for one, having nothing to do with the matter; I was no captain or anything of that sort.

8385. Who else ?—And Hadfield, I presume.

8386. Who agreed to the price ?—I do not know.

8387. Was it you ?—No.

8388. Was it Hadfield ?—I do not know.

8389. Are you sure it was not yourself who agreed to the price ?—Yes.

8390. Did you say to Moser and Hadfield that you thought that was an exorbitant price ?—No, I do not know that I did.

8391. Did you say you thought it was too much ?— No, I do not think I did.

8392. Did you think it was too much ?—Yes, I did.

8393. Did you express your thoughts ?—No.

8394. Did Moser at all try to beat them down ?— No, I do not recollect it.

8395. Do you not recollect Moser saying it was too big a price ?—No.

8396. Did Hadfield ?—No.

8397. Did Hadfield say they would never get that price ?—No.

8398. Did Moser tell them it was more than they would get ?—I do not remember it.

8399. What was the next thing done when you agreed to give them 10*l.* ?—It was agreed and there was no money to pay them with.

8400. How many had you agreed with then—from 20 to 24 ?—No, there was not that quantity there at that time.

8401. How many were there ?—Perhaps there might be a dozen.

8402. What was the next thing that was done ?—I really do not know.

8403. After you had agreed upon the price what was the next thing done ?—I do not know.

8404. Did you know who was to come down to bring the money ?—I did not.

8405. You say you had arranged the price and there was no money to pay them ?—Yes.

8406. Whom did you look to for the money ?—I thought Moser being the captain would have the money.

8407. Did you say so to him ?—No.

8408. Did you say, "Where is the money Moser ?" —No ; I think I did not exchange half-a-dozen words with Moser. I had nothing to do with them.

8409. You knew him well ?—I know him.

8410. Did you, all of you, sit down to breakfast ?

8411. Did you sit down to breakfast ?—I was there.

8412. Did you sit down to breakfast ?—I do not know whether I sat down or stood.

8413. Is that the kind of answer you intend to give me ?—I do not know whether I sat down or not. I was carving the ham.

8414. You recollect that ?—Yes.

8415. As you have such an excellent recollection of the breakfast, as you recollect carving the ham, can you tell me how many you carved for ?—I cannot tell you that—perhaps a dozen or 15.

8416. And they all took ham ?—I cannot speak to that.

8417. When did Mr. Slater come into the breakfast room ?—Mr. Slater came when I was at the head of the table.

8418. What o'clock was that ?—I think it would be about 7 o'clock in the morning.

8419. You were at the head of the table—he was at the bottom of the table ?—I do not know.

8420. You were presiding ?—I was there.

8421. You were presiding ?—Yes.

8422. Where was Moser ?—I do not think Moser was there.

8423. Where was Hadfield ?—He was there about somewhere ; I do not know whether he was at the breakfast, or not.

8424. You had a ham at the head of the table, and you were carving it ?—Yes.

8425. And then Mr. Slater came in ?—Yes.

8426. When Mr. Slater came in did he speak to you ?—No.

8427. Did you know him ?—No.

8428. Did you know whether he was a Liberal or Conservative ?—I did not know what he was.

8429. Was anything said about him when he came in ?—No, nothing.

8430. Where did he sit himself when he came in ? —At the side of the table, I think.

8431. At your right hand, did he not ?—No, not near me.

8432. Did you hear him inquire for you, or for Moser ?—No, I did not.

8433. He merely came in, and sat himself down ?— Yes.

8434. Can you tell me whether Moser was in the room at that time ?—I cannot say.

8435. How long did Mr. Slater sit at the table ?— He, perhaps, might be there five minutes.

8436. So he might. You know how long he was there?—Five minutes.

8437. Did he eat any breakfast, do you know?—I believe he had a cup of coffee and a piece of ham.

8438. And then he went out?—A person asked me to cut him some ham, and after that Mr. Slater came round to me and asked whether my name was Cole, and I answered, "My name is Cole."

8439. You have given me all this trouble because you did not choose to give me an answer to my first question. You were asked whether Slater inquired for you?—He did not inquire for me in my hearing.

8440. He asked you whether your name was Cole, and you said it was?—Yes.

8441. Go on; is not that inquiring for you?—He said he wanted to speak to me.

8442. When he said that, where did you go to?—I went downstairs.

8443. Did Moser go with you?—No.

8444. Was Moser downstairs?—I believe there was nobody but Slater.

8445. Where did you and Slater go to down stairs?—I think it was in the lobby.

8446. What did Slater say to you in the lobby?—He said he came there to pay the voters.

8447. Did you tell him that you expected him?—No.

8448. Did you tell him it was high time that somebody came?—No.

8449. What did you say to him?—I asked him how much money he had, and I understood him to say that he had 70*l.*

8450. He tells us that that was not so?—I told him it was of no use, and I told him he had better go up to the committee room, and see if he could get some more money before we commenced to operate; he went, and he came back, and if I remember right, he told me that he had got 50*l.* more, and had some difficulty in getting that, and I said I thought by the number of voters that was there, it would not be sufficient.

8451. Did you tell him the number?—No, I do not think I did.

8452. How many were there there?—There, perhaps, might be 20 or 24.

8453. He came back, and then you went with him into the "Blue Bell?"—No, I was standing outside "Queen's;" he went into Mrs. Dixon's instead of Miss Hodgson's.

8454. Who had arranged for him to go into the "Blue Bell?"—I believe it was his own mistake.

8455. Do you mean to say that he went into a house by mistake, and found a room ready for him?—No.

8456. What do you mean?—I mean to say that I saw him go into Mrs. Dixon's.

8457. And you followed him?—Yes.

8458. He had then got only 290*l.*?—I do not know what he had got.

8459. He had been up for the other 50*l.*—Yes.

8460. Did you show him into any room in the "Blue Bell?"—No.

8461. Who else was there?—I do not know.

8462. Was Moser there?—I did not see him.

8463. Do you know that he was not?—I do not know.

8464. How did Slater find his way up to the "Blue Bell" at all?—I do not know.

8465. Do you mean to say that Mr. Slater walked into that house, where, to the best of your belief, he had never been before, and found a room, by accident, ready for him?—I saw him go up the steps out of the street.

8466. Did you see him go into the room upstairs?—No.

8467. Did you go into that room at all?—Yes, I did.

8468. When did you go?—Immediately after.

8469. When you went up was he sitting down?—I do not remember.

8470. You heard him say he was sitting with his back to the door?—Yes, I did hear him say so.

8471. Was that so?—I was only in the room once. I cannot say.

8472. You found him upstairs in a room with nobody else. Did you say, "You have made a mistake Mr. Slater; you have come to the wrong place?"—He was in Miss Hodgson's before going for the 50*l.*

8473. Which is Miss Hodgson's?—The "Blue Anchor."

8474. I am not upon that. That is where you were at breakfast?—Yes.

8475. You say you found him upstairs at the "Blue Bell?"—Yes.

8476. Do you mean to tell us that Mr. Slater went in there by mistake?—Yes, I think he did, being a stranger.

8477. Being a stranger you mean to say he went into a strange public-house and found a room for him ready?—That is all I know about it.

8478. Did you say, "Mr. Slater, you have made a mistake?"—No.

8479. What did you say?—I merely said, "What money have you got?"

8480. Did you say, "What the devil are you doing in the 'Blue Bell?'"—No.

8481. Did you say anything to him about the mistake he had made?—No, I did not.

8482. You left him to sit down upstairs in the room in the "Blue Bell?"—He was in the room when I went up.

8483. You merely said, "What money have you got?"—Yes.

8484. What did he tell you?—I think he told me he had got 50*l.* more.

8485. That made altogether 200*l.* What did you do then?—I thought it was too little for the number of voters there.

8486. What did you do upon that?—I said I thought I could go and get some money, as he said he had a little difficulty in getting it..

8487. You went to the "Queen's?"—Yes.

8488. Who did you see at the "Queens?"—There was Mr. Welch, Mr. Wearing, and Mr. Blades.

8489. You got from them 100*l.*?—Yes.

8490. What o'clock was it?—That would be about 8 o'clock, or a little after.

8491. Had the polling begun?—No, it had not.

8492. Then it was before 8 o'clock, the polling began at 8?—Yes, I think so, it was before that.

8493. Who gave you the money?—I believe Mr. Welch handed it to me.

8494. Had you told him what money you wanted?—I took a note from Mr. Slater.

8495. Do you know what that note said?—No.

8496. You saw Mr. Slater write it?—I did.

8497. In the room at the "Blue Bell?"—Yes.

8498. You knew very well what the contents of it were?—No, I did not.

8499. You knew what the subject of it was?—I told him I would take a note for him, and if I could get him any money it was to be debited to him, and not to me.

8500. That is what you call saying that you thought you could get him some money if he could not?—

8501. You mean that though the contents of the note were that the money was to be debited to him, and not to you, by that it is to be understood that you thought you could get some money when he could not?—He said he had a difficulty in getting it.

8502. You thought you could get it?—Yes.

8503. And therefore you took a note asking them to debit the money to him?—Yes.

8504. Why should they debit it to him, and not to you?—Because I did not want to have anything at all to do with money matters.

8505. The previous 200*l.* had been debited to him?—Yes, I believe so.

8506. He got it?—He got the 100*l.* I brought.

8507. And he had got the previous 200*l.*?—Yes.

8508. Then what do you mean by saying that this further 100*l.* was to be debited to him and not to you?—Because he went and got 50*l.*

EIGHTH DAY.

Arthur Cole.

4 Sept. 1866.

8509. That was debited to him also?—Yes.

8510. What do mean by saying that this 100*l.* was to be debited to him and not to you; there had been none debited to you?—No, not a halfpenny. I took the note, and asked for 100*l.* There was no specified sum in the note, and I asked for 100*l.* Mr. Blades asked what we were doing on the Quay, and I said that they would no nothing without 10*l.*, he said, "Nonsense, you can do it for 7*l.* if you like;" and I told him, "You had better come and try it on." And he said to Mr. Welch, "Will it be right to give Mr. Cole this 100*l.*," and he said "Yes."

8511. The money was given to you?—Yes, 100*l.*

8512. Did you tell them there would be about 30 voters?—No, I did not.

8513. Why did they give you another 100*l.* instead of another 50*l.*; 10*l.* was the price of a voter, and you had got 200*l.* already?—I asked them for 100*l.*

8514. You told them the price was 10*l.*?—Yes.

8515. 300*l.* divided by 10 makes 30 voters?—Yes.

8516. You expected 30 voters?—Not so many.

8517. Twenty-five?—From 20 to 24. Three went away to the other side.

8518. You got back with this extra 100*l.*?—Yes.

8519. What did you do with it?—I gave it to Mr. Slater.

8520. Was that in two parcels of 50*l.*?—Yes.

8521. Did you find Mr. Slater paying money when you got back?—No; I do not think he had commenced paying when I got back with the 100*l.*

8522. Was Moser there?—I do not remember seeing Moser when I came back.

8523. Was Hadfield there?—Yes, I believe he was.

8524. Where was Hadfield when you got back?—I do not remember; he was about the house somewhere.

8525. Did you see Hadfield in the "Blue Bell?"—Yes, I did.

8526. Did you see him in the room upstairs with Slater?—I did not.

8527. Was Slater alone when you went up to him?—Yes, he was.

8528. Were there any voters standing on the stairs?—There were people on the stairs.

8529. Voters?—Voters and non-voters, very likely.

8530. You knew the voters by sight better than anybody else did; had any of those voters, to the best of your belief, been in the room at that time?—I do not know that they had.

8531. Did you see any money on the table before Mr. Slater when you got back?—I did not.

8532. Did you see the 200*l.*?—No.

8533. Did you at any time see the 200*l.*?—I did not.

8534. If Slater has said here that there were several voters paid before you went away for this extra 100*l.*, he has made a mistake?—Yes; he has made a mistake, evidently.

8535. Did you see the voters coming down with the money after they had been paid?—No.

8536. Did you see them begin to go up after Slater had received this extra 100*l.*?—Yes.

8537. How soon after?—Immediately after.

8538. Who took the message down to them to go up?—They went up to vote as soon as they were paid.

8539. Who took the message down to them to go up as soon as this money was received?—They were already up.

8540. In the same room?—On the same landing.

8541. Who gave them the message to go into the room to Slater?—I do not know.

8542. Be careful. Do you mean to tell me it was not you?—It was not me.

8543. You tell me that you had brought this money; you had been alone in the room with Slater, and now I ask you who told the voters to come up?—I do not know.

8544. Who told them? You were alone with Slater, and you must know?—I was not alone.

8545. Now speak the truth; who took the message down to the voters to tell them to go in?—I do not know.

8546. Did they go in of their own accord?—I do not know.

8547. Were you there?—Yes.

8548. Did you see the first one go in?—No.

8549. What became of you after you had taken this money to Slater?—I stopped where the voters were.

8550. Did you see any of them go into Slater's room?—Yes.

8551. By whose orders did they go in?—I do not know.

8552. Who went first?—I do not know.

8553. Who went next?—I do not know.

8554. Did you see any of them go in?—Yes.

8555. Tell me the names of any of those who went in?—I cannot say.

8556. You shall; I have made up my mind to that?—I would do it if I could.

8557. Tell me the names of any of those who went in?—The Gregsons, of course they were there.

8558. You saw the Gregsons go into Slater's room?—Yes.

8559. Where were you when they went in?—In the front room.

8560. That was the room where the other voters were?—Yes.

8561. Who else did you see go in?—I really do not know.

8562. Did you see Parker go in?—Parker was there.

8563. Did you see Parker go in?—No.

8564. Did you see anybody else besides the Gregsons go in?—I saw several parties, but I did not take notice of them.

8565. Did you see any person whose name you have given me here to-day besides the Gregsons go into Slater's room?—I do not know whether I did or not, although I was there.

8566. We have got quite enough against you to have you indicted, and if you do not get a certificate for telling the whole truth, you certainly will be indicted, and unless you tell the whole truth you certainly will not have a certificate?—I will tell the truth.

8567. Now, go on, and then my brother Commissioners and myself will consult whether you shall have your certificate, or whether we shall leave you to the mercies of the criminal court. You are the first man we have had to threaten. Who else was there besides the Gregsons?—I was there present when all the voters went in. I was in the other room.

8568. (Mr. Newton.) What do you mean by saying you did not see Parker go in?—I saw Parker and the Gregsons go in.

8569—72. What did you mean by saying you did not see Parker go in; what do you mean by telling two different stories in two minutes?—I beg your pardon.

Do not beg my pardon, beg Mr. Hill's pardon.

(Mr. Barstow.) I have got down on my note, "I was in the front room, and did not see Parker go in."

(Mr. Newton.) It is a question in my mind whether you ought not to be committed directly; you are prevaricating.

8573. (Mr. Hill.) You have got from now to the end of your examination for repentance. Tell me, without referring back to what you have already said, the truth. You say you did see Parker go in?—Yes.

8574. Did you see the others go in?—Yes; I saw the others go in.

8575. You were standing in an adjoining room?—Yes.

8576. Did you see Moser at that time?—Moser was about there at the time.

8577. Did you see them come out?—No.

8578. Did you see any of them come out of the room?—No, I think not.

8579. Did you not see the Gregsons come out?—No, I was in the front room. I saw them go in.

8580. What became of them when they came out?—They would go and vote.

8581. (Mr. Newton.) If you could see them go in, could you not see them come out?—I did not notice them.

8582. (Mr. Hill.) They came out of the room, and then they went downstairs?—Yes, to vote.

8583. (Mr. Newton.) Did they come out of the same door?—Yes.

8584. (Mr. Hill.) Did you remain in the room until they all had been in?—Yes.

8585. How long were they all going in?—Perhaps they would be three quarters of an hour.

8586. Could you hear what took place when they went into Slater's room?—No, nothing.

8587. You saw each one as he passed out of your room to go into Slater's room?—Yes.

8588. Who fixed the order how they should go into Slater's room?—I do not know.

8589. Did they all make a rush to go at once?—No.

8590. Who went first?—I do not know.

8591. Did they go in alphabetically?—No.

8592. In what order did they go in?—I do not know.

8593. I think you can tell me?—No, I cannot.

8594. Did you count them as they went in?—No.

8595. Who did?—I do not know.

8596. Was there anybody there to count them; did Moser count them?—I do not know that he did.

8597. Did you remain there until they had all finished going in?—I did.

8598. After they had finished going in and all had gone downstairs, where did you go to?—I stopped with Mr. Slater after they had all gone.

8599. You went into the room to him?—Yes.

8600. Did you see his list?—No.

8601. Did you see a piece of paper before him?—There was some paper on the table.

8602. How long did you and Slater remain there?—I think while he balanced his cash.

8603. Was anyone else in the room?—No.

8604. Did not Moser come into the room?—I believe Moser did come in.

8605. Now be careful; who else came, if anybody?—No one else.

8606. Was Moser in there while he was balancing his cash?—No, I think not.

8607. Explain the process which he went through in balancing the cash?—He merely put the money on the table and counted it.

8608. Counted the money that was left?—Yes, and he said he would attend to that afterwards.

8609. Did he add up the numbers of those that were paid?—No.

8610. Did he add up the number of those that had been paid?—No.

8611. Then what do you mean by balancing his cash?—Counting up the money that he had left.

8612. Do you call that balancing, adding up what was left?—I should not do so.

8613. You used the phrase?—He had got some papers on the table.

8614. Did you ever in your life use the phrase "balancing the accounts" for adding up the account only on one side?—No.

8615. Then why do you use it now?—He had some slips of paper on the table, counted up the money, and put them in his pocket, and said he would attend to it afterwards.

8616. Did he put the slips of paper with the names on of those he had paid into his pocket?—Yes, I think so.

8617. Did he add those up?—I do not know.

8618. How many packets had he untouched?—I did not observe one.

8619. Just think?—I do not remember there being a packet on the table; there were some loose papers on the table, and gold.

8620. Brown paper?—Yes, and some few slips of paper.

8621. Were those loose papers the brown paper which had formed the packets in which the coin came?—Yes.

8622. (Mr. Newton.) Were those the slips of paper which he put into his pocket?—No those which he put into his pocket were those with the names on.

8623. (Mr. Hill.) Did you see one single packet untouched?—No.

8624. To the best of your belief, is Mr. Slater right in saying that he spent about 270*l.*?—I should think not that amount.

8625. If they came in packets of 50*l.*, and no packet was left untouched, it would be so. Was there gold about?—Yes.

8626. To the amount of 30 sovereigns?—There might not be so much; there might be 15 or 20, and there might be less.

8627. There was not more than 30?—I should think not.

8628. And there might be only 15 or 20?—Yes.

8629. You say distinctly there was no packet untouched on the table?—Not that I saw.

8630. What was said between you and Mr. Slater at that time?—I asked Mr. Slater where he came from and he told me from over sands, I think he said; and I said I thought he was a north countryman; and he said, "Yes," and I said, "So am I;" and he asked me where I came from.

8631. Never mind that; what was said about the election?—Nothing was said about the election. I left him immediately after that, and went up into the town.

8632. Was there nothing said about how much he had spent?—No.

8633. Nor about the number he had paid?—No.

8634. Nor about whether the coin had held out or not?—No.

8635. You had yourself raised the question as to the money not being enough; do you mean to say after this was all over you never discussed with him how near he had gone to the amount?—No.

8636. You never said a word to him?—No.

8637. To the best of your belief, what sum of money did Thomas Gregson receive?—I believe he would get 10*l.*

8638. What did Matthew Gregson receive?—He would get the same.

8639. Do you believe that William Parker would have the same?—I believe they would all have 10*l.*

8640. All those you have mentioned?—Yes, I believe so.

8641. (Mr. Newton.) Hornby and Masheder, and those people?—Yes.

8642. What do you believe Jemmison got?—I do not know.

8643. Was he one of your club?—There was no club.

8644. Was he one of the same lot, the ten-pounders?—I do not think he was there that morning.

8645. What made you give me his name?—I simply saw it on this list of names.

8646. There are several on that list that you did not see there?—Yes.

8647. Why did you pick him out?—Because he voted for Fenwick and Schneider.

8648. Are there none others there who you did not see who voted for Fenwick and Schneider?—No, I think not, beyond those I have named.

8649. There must be some others; have you got the list before you?—There is William Richmond, he was one.

8650. You have given me his name?—And Tomlinson?

8651. That I have.—Richard Baines?

8652. That I have.—Ellershaw?

8653. That I have.—I think there was a Thomas Newton, a tinman, whose name I did not give to you.

8654. Would he get 10*l.*?—I daresay he would; Reuben Pimm, but he did not vote from off the Quay, although he lived there.

EIGHTH DAY.

Arthur Cole.

4 Sept. 1866.

8655. Did he go into the "Blue Bell?"—No.

8656. What have you got to say about him?—Nothing. Then there is Laytham, I have named him; William Parker, I named him; and I have named Jemmison, but I do not think he was on the Quay that morning.

8657. What money did Jemmison get?—I do not know.

8658. Did he go into the "Blue Bell?"—I do not remember seeing him there. Then Thomas Gregson and Mathew Gregson, I have named them; and there was Parker and a person of the name of Collinson that left our party.

8659. Was he paid?—They came back and showed that they had got 12*l.* a-piece.

8660. Was he paid at the "Blue Bell" before he went away?—No; he left our voters while Mr. Slater was away at the "Queen's," him and two Gregsons.

8661. They were paid by the other side?—Yes.

8662. Who were those two Gregsons?—James Gregson, a painter, and William Gregson, a tin-plate worker.

8663. Were there any others of those who were in the "Blue Bell?"—I have told you of all I can think of.

8664. I will tell you how many I have given you?—I will tell you what I will do; I will make out a list by to-morrow, if that will do.

8665. You cannot recollect the name of the unknown man from Skerton?—No.

8666. Who can tell us?—Robert Smith will be able to tell you.

8667. Who is he?—The man I named from Skerton.

8668. From what will you make out the list to-night?—I have nothing to go by; I will ascertain.

8669. Can you make it out?—I think I can; I will do my best to do so.

8670. Who shall you go to to get the information from?—I shall make inquiries.

8671. From whom shall you inquire?—From some of the voters on the Quay.

8672. From some of those you have named?—Yes. I will do that for you against to-morrow.

8673. (Mr. Newton.) Who stood at the door of the room between the two rooms?—I believe his name was Hardacre.

8674. What is his christian name?—Richard.

8675. Is he a voter?—No, I think not.

8676. Is he the man who wrote down the names?—Not to my knowledge.

8677. He stood at the door?—Yes, I think he was there.

8678. Did he bargain with these men for what they were to receive?—I do not know; he opened the door and let them in.

8679. Who bargained with them as to what they were to receive?—I do not know.

8680. Yes, you do?—I do not know.

8681. Who bargained with them?—I believe there was no bargaining; it was arranged that they were to have 10*l.*

8682. Did they all receive the same sum?—I do not know.

8683. Yes, you do; you know perfectly well?—No, I do not.

8684. Do you know a man of the name of Butcher?—I do know a man of the name of Butcher.

8685. Was he there that morning?—No.

8686. Was a man of the name of Warbrick there that morning?—Not to my knowledge.

8687. William Warbrick?—I think not.

8688. Was there a man named Stephen Winder there?—Yes, I believe there was a person of that name there.

8689. Which Butcher was there?—I know a man of the name of Butcher.

8690. Which Butcher was there?—There was not a man of the name of Butcher there.

8691. Was there anybody of the name of Warbrick there; I will put it to you again?—No, I think not.

8692. Stephen Winder you say you think was there?—Yes.

8693. What did he receive?—I do not know.

8694. Why should you not know, when you knew about these others?—I knew 10*l.* was the amount named.

8695. That is no answer; why should you know what the others received when you do not know what Winder received?—I do not know what any of them received. I knew 10*l.* was the amount fixed.

8696. Then why do you make an exception to Winder?—I do not make any exception; I presume he would receive it.

8697. Did Winder go into the room?—I did not see him go up there.

8698. Was he one of those upstairs in the room?—Yes, I believe he was.

8699. Why should you know what the others received when you do not know what Winder received?—I do not know that they had received 10*l.*; I say it was arranged that they were to have 10*l.*

8700. Then why did not Winder receive the same amount?—I am not sure but that he did receive the same amount as the others.

8701. You think he did?—I have no doubt, but I do not know that he did.

8702. Do you know a man named John Tomlinson?—Yes, that is the person I have named.

8703. Of Bridge Lane?—Yes.

8704. Do you know Bulfield?—No. I know a man of the name of Bulfield.

8705. Thomas Bulfield, a tailor; he is dead now?—He was not on the Quay.

8706. He is dead now?—Yes, I believe so.

8707. Was he on the Quay that morning?—No, I think not.

8708. How was it that Barsby came to give you money that morning?—Barsby never gave me any money.

8709. Did he not give you money to pay the voters?—No, never.

8710. You gave money to Barsby?—No, I did not; I never had any money to give.

8711. You got money from Mr. Slater?—I did not.

8712. Barsby told us yesterday that you gave him 5*l.*?—I did not.

8713. To pay Tomlinson with?—I never did.

8714. Did you give 5*l.* to Barsby?—I did not.

8715. How many doors were there in this room in which Mr. Slater sat?—One.

8716. They came back into the room where you were?—No; they went downstairs after they were paid.

8717. I do not understand it. You say you were in the front room?—Yes.

8718. How many doors were there to the back room where Mr. Slater sat?—One door.

8719. Then they came back to the room where you were?—No, they went downstairs. They came out into the passage.

8720. Then there were two rooms and two doors?—Yes.

8721. How many slips of paper did you see on the table with names written on them?—There might be two or three.

8722. Those he put into his pocket?—Yes.

8723. What sort of paper was it?—White paper.

8724. Do you know a man named Watkinson, Bridge Lane, brush manufacturer?—Yes.

8725. What did you give him?—Nothing.

8726. Was he one of those upstairs?—I do not think he was there at all; he might be.

8727. (Mr. Hill.) Just think, now that the name is put to you, because I forgot to put it to you?—I saw his name on the list, but I do not think he was there.

8728. Richard Watkinson, brushmaker?—Yes.

8729. Was he not up there?—No, I think not.

8730. By to-morrow morning will you make out for the Commissioners a list of the persons you have omitted?—Yes, with pleasure; so far as I can.

8731. (Mr. Barstow.) When you were in the room with Slater was Moser ever in the room with you?—I believe Moser came in after the men had gone to vote.

8732. You, he, and Slater, were in the room together?—Yes.

9733. Was anyone else with you?—Nobody to my knowledge.

8734. Did you see Slater give Moser any money?—Yes, 1*l.*, I believe.

8735. No more?—No.

8736. When was that?—After all the voters had gone.

8737. At what time would that be?—I should think it would be 9 or soon after.

8738. Did you see Slater give anyone else money?—No.

8739. Did you see Slater give Barsby any money?—No.

JACOB MOSER recalled and further examined.

Jacob Moser.

8740. (Mr. Hill.) Have you been in Court during the examination of the last witness?—Yes.

8741. Please to recollect what I told the last witness, and do not let me be obliged to say it again to you. We have heard, and you have also heard, the evidence that has been given to us with regard to what took place on this election morning; first of all, where did you first see Mr. Slater that morning?—I saw him at the "Blue Anchor."

8742. Was the first you saw of him at the breakfast there?—It was previous to the breakfast.

8743. You saw him before he came into the breakfast-room?—Yes.

8744. Where?—It was in the lobby of the house.

8745. Did you send him into the breakfast-room?—No, I did not.

8746. How came he to go into the breakfast-room?—He was invited by some one, but who it was I cannot say.

8747. Was anyone there who knew him?—There was Mr. Hadfield there, he introduced me to Mr. Slater.

8748. Did Mr. Hadfield, to the best of your belief, take him into the room?—He would be the most likely man, but whether he did or not I cannot say.

8749. Were you in the room during the breakfast?—Yes.

8750. After the breakfast was over what was the next thing you saw of Slater?—We all adjourned into the next house, the "Blue Bell."

8751. Did the last witness go with you?—He was there, but I do not know whether he went out along with us.

8752. He came into the "Blue Bell?"—Yes.

8753. And Slater was upstairs?—Yes.

8754. Who took Slater upstairs?—I cannot say.

8755. It was one of you, I suppose?—I did not take him up myself; he went up along with Mr. Hadfield, I think, but I am not positive.

8756. Did you follow upstairs?—Yes, I did.

8757. You went into a room upstairs?—Yes.

8758. And there there was a talk about whether the money was enough?—Yes, I heard it.

8759. Who was that talk between?—Between Mr. Cole, Mr. Slater, myself, and Mr. Hadfield.

8760. What was the result of that talk?—The result was that Mr. Cole went up to the committee room at the "Queen's," to see Mr. Welch to receive more money.

8761. He brought back 50*l.*?—I cannot say how much.

8762. He brought back some money?—Yes.

8763. Where were you while Cole was away?—I was downstairs.

8764. Keeping the men together?—I had nothing to do with the men in the large room upstairs, because I was told distinctly that they would look after them and arrange with them.

8765. Which is the large room?—The large front room.

8766. Upstairs?—Yes.

8767. In the "Blue Bell?"—Yes.

8768. Where Hadfield and Cole were?—Yes.

8769. Hadfield told you not to bother yourself about the upstairs part but to keep downstairs?—Yes; he said, "Do not bother yourself about the men upstairs in the front room;" and I gave Hadfield a list of the men I had arranged with, the same men that I gave you the names of yesterday.

8770. Those were William Vickers, the two Butchers, and Warbrick?—Yes, and Stephen Winder.

8771. You only paid 1*l.* 2*s.* 6*d.* to him?—Yes, but I had agreed with him. He got 7*l.* 10*s.* from Mr. Barsby afterwards.

8772. Was that the whole list you gave?—There was Tomlinson, he received 5*l.* from Mr. Barsby.

8773. You still say that Tomlinson received 5*l.* from Mr. Barsby?—Yes.

8774. Was he on the list that you gave to Hadfield?—Yes.

8775. And Hadfield sent those persons up to Slater?—Yes.

8776. So that Tomlinson got, in addition to this 5*l.*, another 10*l.*?—No, he did not go into the room along with Mr. Slater, he came downstairs to me; he agreed with me on the stairs, and he went to vote.

8777. From whom did Barsby get the money?—From me, I believe.

8778. And from whom did you get it?—From Mr. Slater.

8779. How did you get it from Mr. Slater?—I went into the room and asked him for it. I told him what I had agreed.

8780. You know that this is contrary to what Slater has said?—I did not ask him for 5*l.*, I asked him for an amount for several voters.

8781. What amount?—12*l.*, I think.

8782. The first sum you gave us yesterday was 23*l.*, and the second 12*l.*?—That was for two or three more voters.

8783. What sum did you receive from Mr. Slater first?—Something like 23*l.*

8784. Did you tell him what it was for?—Yes.

8785. Did you give him the names?—Yes.

8786. You gave Mr. Slater the names of the persons to whom the money was to be given?—Yes.

8787. I want to know whether when you went into the room you asked for a lump sum of 23*l.*, or whether you asked for three several sums?—No, not for three several sums, the lump sum. I told him the names and the amount I required.

8788. You gave him both the lump sum and the items; you asked him for a lump sum, and gave him the items?—I asked him for a sum for Tomlinson, Whittaker, and the two Butchers; but with regard to Warbrick, I did not know of him. I got 5*l.* afterwards for him.

8789. The first sum of 23*l.* would be for Whittaker and the two Butchers; you did not know of Warbrick?—No.

8790. Who would the others be to make up the 23*l.*?—There was Tomlinson and Winder.

8791. To make up the 23*l.* there were the two Butchers, Tomlinson, and William Whittaker?—Yes.

8792. Then you got 12*l.*, for whom was that?—In the first place, I cannot say it was exactly 23*l.*, as it was agreed that Whittaker should have 10*l.*, and I got him for 8*l.* afterwards.

8793. Did Slater give you the whole sum?—Yes.

8794. He gave you 25*l.*?—Yes, I think it would be about that.

8795. You got Whittaker for 8*l.*, what did you do with the other 2*l.*?—I took it back, and a man came down for me to go and vote two or three more. I told him what I had remaining, and got the rest to give to this Warbrick and two Butchers.

8796. You had given it already to the Butchers, your 25*l.* went to cover the two Butchers, Tomlinson, and William Whittaker ?—I could not say for a fact which I voted first now.

8797. You are quite sure you received that amount ?—Yes.

8798. You received a total sum of 35*l.* from Mr. Slater ?—Yes.

8799. And amongst the others you paid Winder ?—No, I did not; Barsby paid him, though I got the money for him.

8800. And Tomlinson, too ?—Yes.

8801. (Mr. Barstow.) Did you give Barsby any other money ?—No, I did not.

8802. (Mr. Hill.) You have heard the names given to us by Cole, can you tell me the names of any of the other persons who were there that went into the room; you did not see them go in, but you saw them going upstairs ?—I do not think I could tell you the names of those men. I had nothing to do with them. They did not live in my district. They were principally men from different districts gathered together there, so I did not interfere with them at all. I should scarcely know a man of them.

8803. Did you know the Skerton men ?—No, I did not.

8804. You saw them at breakfast ?—Yes, but they were not all at breakfast at one time, they kept coming in.

8805. Cannot you tell us the name of anyone that you can recollect ?—There was Thomas Binless.

8806. Cable Street, painter ?—Yes; and I believe Richard Jemmison was at breakfast.

8807. You cannot say whether they went into the "Blue Bell ?"—No, I cannot.

8808. What is your belief about that ?—I have no doubt they would go, but I did not see one go into this room.

8809. You have no doubt that Thomas Binless and Richard Jemmison were amongst those who went into that room ?—Yes, but he did not receive 10*l.*

8810. What do yo think Thomas Binless got ?—I think he only received 5*l.*

8811. What makes you think that ?—Because I had arranged with him for 5*l.*, thongh I did not pay him.

8812. He might have got 10*l.* in spite of your having arranged for 5*l.* ?—Yes, he might.

8813. You have not heard him complain since that you tried to drive a hard bargain with him ?—I saw him afterwards, and asked him whether he was satisfied with what he had got, and he said "Yes."

8814. You have no doubt he was paid there ?—I think he was.

8815. He said he was satisfied ?—Yes. He was a man that did not want much pressing, and I do not think he would be very hard.

8816. What do you think Jemmison got ?—I cannot tell. He would get the same as the rest, I believe.

8817. Do you believe he got 10*l.* ?—Yes.

8818. What makes you think he got 10*l.* ?—He was amongst the others.

8819. He was one of that lot, in fact ?—Yes.

8820. You have no doubt that he went in with them ?—I cannot say that he went in, because I did not see him go in.

8821. You did not see the others either ?—No, I did not see one go into that room.

8822. (Mr. Newton.) Did you stand at the door ?—No.

8823. You were not the door-keeper ?—No, a man named Hardacre was the door-keeper.

8824. Had you ever seen Mr. Slater before ?—No.

8825. What was he called ?—I forget the name that was introduced to me.

8826. Was he called by any other name ?—It was some name, but I could not tell you what.

8827. Was it "Slater ?"—I could not be sure. I cannot recollect what name was introduced to me.

8828. You were not in the "Blue Bell?"—Yes, I was.

8829. You were downstairs, but not in the big room upstairs ?—No.

8830. Who was the door-keeper besides Hardacre ?—There was only him. He was told not to allow anyone to go into the room but these voters.

8831. Who told him that ?—Either Mr. Hadfield or Cole, I cannot say which. I did not tell him, but I know that he was told.

8832. Mr. Hadfield was present the whole time ?—Yes, the whole time.

8833. And he was a great deal more than two or three minutes in the room with Slater ?—Yes.

8834. He was at breakfast with him ?—Yes.

8835. And in the room with him afterwards ?—Yes.

8836. Who paid for the breakfast ?—It was paid along with the bill Mr. Hadfield gave you yesterday, 18*l.*

8837. (Mr. Hill to Mr. Slater.) What name did you go by ?—None but my own.

8838. Did you know Mr. Hadfield before ?—No, I never saw him before, his name was never mentioned to me.

8839. He knew well enough what you had come for ?—That I do not know.

Adjourned to to-morrow at 10 o'clock.

NINTH DAY.

Lancaster Castle, Wednesday, 5th September 1866.

PRESENT:

MR. BARSTOW. | MR. NEWTON.

MR. HILL.

NINTH DAY

E. Cutts.

5 Sept. 1866.

EDWARD CUTTS sworn and examined.

8840. (Mr. Barstow.) What are you ?—A cabinet maker.

8841. Where do you live ?—Chapel Street.

8842. On the occasion of the last election you were active on the Liberal side ?—Yes.

8843. In what district were you stationed ?—St. Leonard Gate.

8844. We do not call that a district. Is that Bridge Lane ?—No, Edward Street district, I fancy.

8845. I hope you will give your evidence as well as your principal did. You assisted King ?—Yes.

8846. What money did you receive ?—Two half-sovereigns.

8847. Is that all ?—That was before the election.

8848. From whom did you receive that ?—Mr. Welch.

8849. Where did you receive it ?—In the street, by the side of his shop.

8850. What next did you receive ?—I received 8*l.* on the election day.

8851. From whom ?—From Mr. King.

8852. What else ?—That is all.

8853. 9*l.* altogether ?—Yes.

8854. What did you do with this money you received ?—That was for myself, for my services and vote, 8*l.*

8855. The 1*l.*, I suppose, was to spend in treating ?—Yes.

8856. Is that all the money you received ?—Yes.

8857. You paid no one for their vote ?—No, I had nothing to do with any money.

8858. Is that all the evidence you have to give us ?—Yes.

8859. (Mr. Newton.) Did you assist Mr. King in writing out his list that he gave us yesterday ?—The list of voters ?

8860. Yes, of the voters that he paid ?—Yes.

8861. Were you in Court yesterday ?—Not when he was examined.

8862. Mr. King gave us a list, and he thought it right to tell us that some of it had been made out with your assistance ?—Yes.

8863. That was so ?—Yes.

8864. You refreshed Mr. King's memory ?—Yes.

8865. The only money that you paid was 1*l.* for refreshments ?—Yes.

8866. You did not pay any voter ?—No.

8867. (Mr. Barstow.) Had you anything to do with Cole or Moser at the last election ?—No.

8868. You live in Chapel Street ?—Yes.

8869. When did Mr. King refer to you to refresh his memory ?—Perhaps about a fortnight ago.

EDWARD PROCTER HUTCHINSON sworn and examined.

E. P. Hutchinson.

8870. (Mr. Newton.) What are you ?—A grocer.

8871. Where do you live ?—In Moor Lane.

8872. You are a voter ?—Yes.

8873. And a freeman ?—No, a householder.

8874. You are the father of Hutchinson, Mr. Welch's boy ?—Yes.

8875. Of what district were you captain ?—No district whatever.

8876. What district did you look after ?—I had no district to look after. My name was not mentioned as a captain anywhere.

8877. And you were not a captain anywhere ?—No.

8878. Did you go to Heysham before the election ?—I did not.

8879. What money did you receive for the election ?—I received 150*l.* from Mr. Welch on the morning of the election day.

8880. Is that all the money you received ?—No ; before the election I received 10*s.*, 2*l.*, and 2*l.* again.

8881. Who from ?—From Mr. Welch.

8882. 4*l.* 10*s.* ?—Yes.

8883. How long was that before the election ?—The last would be perhaps a week before the election.

8884. Was that all the money you received ?—Yes.

8885. From Mr. Welch or anybody else ?—Yes.

8886. How did you spend that 154*l.* 10*s.* ?—Shall I begin by deducting expenses first before the election ?

8887. Yes ?—I spent that in giving it to different voters.

8888. How much ?—It would be 1*s.* at a time. I could not give the particulars of it.

8889. Where at ?—If I looked out at the shop door at a time like that, there would be somebody wanting something.

8890. And you would give them 1*s.* ?—Yes, if they asked for it.

8891. What did they say ?—That they were dry this morning and wanted something to drink.

8892. Why should they come to you ?—They knew I was connected with Mr. Welch, and knew that I had money.

8893. How were you connected with Mr. Welch ?—I am a servant of Mr. Welch's.

8894. The electors, knowing that, used to come to get something to drink from you ?—Yes ; I was at various public-houses.

8895. Give us the names of the public-houses ?—I was at the "Yorkshire House" once.

8896. Where else ?—I was at Crook's inn, in Brock Street. I cannot give the name of the house ; and I was in George Lund's, in Pitt's Lane, but he is down for Leonard Gate now.

8897. Did you spend money in those houses ?—Yes, I did.

8898. How much besides what you gave away ; how much do you suppose you paid away altogether before the election ?—I think I had about 1*s.* 6*d.* left when the election was over.

8899. Before the election how much did you pay away in refreshments and treating ?—I really could not tell you.

8900. Give me the amount of money you paid for votes, and then we shall see what you paid for refreshments. Give me a list of all those voters to whom you gave money ?—I paid the Heysham voters.

8901. Why did you pay the Heysham voters ?—Money was given to me to pay them.

8902. Money from Mr. Welch ?—Yes.

8903. You do not call yourself a captain at Heysham ?—No, not at all.

8904. You did not go there ?—I was never there during the election, not once.

8905. The Heysham voters were put under your charge ?—I had to pay them.

8906. Give me a list of them ?—There is Richard Casson, I gave him 8*l.*

8907. (Mr. Hill.) Is he a freeman ?—Yes, they are all freemen.

8908. (Mr. Newton.) Who is the next ?—Richard Casson, junior, 8*l.*, James Caton, 8*l.*, William Jackson——

8909. Where does he live ?—I do not know whether he is in the Heaton or Middleton list, I am sure.

8910. Is it William Jackson, Middleton, farmer ?—I think so, but I would not be sure.

8911. What did you pay him ?—8*l.* ; William Jackson, junior, Middleton, husbandman, 8*l.* ; Ralph Jackson, Middleton, farmer, 8*l.* ; James Sharples, Heysham, shoemaker, 9*l.* ; Thomas Taylor Thompson, Middleton, 8*l.* ; Thomas Woodman, stonemason, 8*l.* He voted Fenwick and Lawrence.

8912. That is rather dear for one vote ?—He had to vote for both. Thomas Woodman, labourer, 8*l.* ; Thomas Bryan Overend, Heysham, husbandman, 9*l.* ; John Harrison. He voted direct against us ; he voted for Lawrence.

8913. Is that John Harrison, Middleton, farm servant ?—Yes.

8914. He voted the other way ?—Yes.

8915. How much did you give him ?—8*l.* That is all the Heysham voters.

8916. Is that all the money you paid ?—That is all the money I paid for Heysham voters.

8917. Heysham and Middleton ?—Yes.

8918. What did you pay for other voters ?—I wish to state that those voters at Heysham I never saw before, and the possibility is that I might be mistaken in one of these names ; but, to the best of my belief, I have given it correctly.

8919. How do you mean you might be mistaken ?—Not knowing them personally, and having taken it from the list, as I had no paper or anything to go by.

8920. From what list did you take it from ?—The voters' list.

8921. The register ?—Yes.

8922. Then this is merely to the best of your recollection ?—Yes, it is.

8923. You have accounted for 98*l.* ; there are some other voters that you bought ?—No, I did not buy them. Robert Shackleton came to me during the forenoon of the election day, and asked for 10*l.* for a voter named Cunningham, who had come over from Ireland that morning. He had brought him over from Morecambe.

8924. Where were you then ?—In the "White Lion."

8925. Did you give it to him ?—Yes, I did. I gave it to Robert Shackleton.

8926. Is that Thomas Cunningham ?—It was for him, but I did not give it to Cunningham myself.

8927. What else ?—I gave 3*l.*, 1*l.* each to three voters' wives.

8928. What were their names ?—There was Mrs. Overend.

8929. Is that the wife of T. B. Overend ?—Yes ; and Sharple's wife, and I believe the other was the daughter of Jackson, but I really cannot tell you exactly 8930. (Mr. Hill.) The daughter of Ralph or William Jackson ?—William Jackson.

8931. William Jackson, senior or junior ?—William Jackson, senior.

8932. (Mr. Newton.) That was all independent of their votes ?—Yes.

8933. 3*l.* each ?—No, 3*l.* amongst them, 1*l.* each.

8934. What else ?—That is all the money I paid during the election.

8935. That makes 111*l.* What else did you pay ?—I paid nothing else during the election.

8936. What became of the remainder ?—I gave it back to Mr. Welch.

8938. When did you give this back to Welch ?—On Saturday night, after the election.

8939. Then you would pay about 4*l.* in refreshments and treating ?—Yes.

8940. Would that 4*l.* include refreshments during the election and before the election ?—Yes.

8941. And giving away shillings here and sixpences there ?—I spent no more. I was not actively engaged in the election.

8942. I do not know what you call being actively engaged ; there are 10 voters you bought. I do not know whether you call that actively or not ?—No ; that was matter of business.

8943. You did not go about beforehand canvassing ?—No, I did not canvass anybody.

8944. Had you seen any of these voters before ?—Any of the Heysham voters ?

8945. Any of those Heysham and Middleton voters ?—No, not one of them.

8946. None at all ?—No.

8947. They all came to you ?—Yes, they all came to me.

8948. You were at the "White Lion ?"—Yes.

8949. Did they tell you their names ?—Yes.

8950. Had you got any list of their names before you ?—I had the list at the time, and I gave it to Mr. Welch.

8951. Who gave you the list ?—The Heysham list of voters do you mean ?

8952. No. Who gave you the list of the voters that you were to pay ?—I had not a list before the day. The men were brought in to me and they gave me their names. They were brought in to me and I paid them.

8953. Let us be clear about this. You were at the "White Lion ?"—Yes.

8954. In a room, I suppose ?—Yes.

8955. Was anybody else in the room with you assisting you ?—No. I believe my son was in a little bit.

8956. Is that the son who has been examined here ?—Yes.

8957. Had you a list ?—I had the Heysham list before me.

8958. Had you a Middleton list before you ?—Yes.

8959. From where did you get that Heysham and Middleton list ?- I got it from the committee room.

8960. When ?—On the morning of the election.

8961. Who gave it to you ?—I really do not know.

8962. Was your list marked in any way ? Was Casson's name or Caton's name marked ?—As I paid the voters I took their names down.

8963. Did you know that these people were coming to you ?—Yes, I did.

8964. Had you got a list of the names of the people who were coming to you ?—Yes, at the time.

8965. Independent of the polling list ?—Yes.

8966. Where did you get it from ?—From the committee room.

8967. You got a list of all the voters you were to pay ?—Yes.

8968. Did you get that list at the same time you got the other list ?—I had no voting list at the time.

8969. You merely got a list of all these voters here—Casson, Casson, junior, Caton, Jackson, and so on ?—Yes.

8970. That was given to you ?—Yes.

8971. Was it written in pencil or in ink ?—In ink.

8972. (Mr. Hill.) Was it a written list or a printed list ?—It was a printed list that I had.

8973. (Mr. Newton.) I want to know how did you know you were to pay Caton, Sharples, Thompson, and all these voters ?—Because money was given to me to pay them with.

8974. But there were other people on the register besides those that you paid ?—There were nothing except Heysham and Middleton voters.

8975. But there were other people on the Heysham and Middleton list besides those that you paid ?—Do you mean that I paid everyone that was paid from Heysham ?

8976. No. I want to know how it came to pass that you paid these people, whether you had a list given to you of who you were to pay, or whether you were to pay the whole lot that came to you ?—I was to pay the whole lot that came to me that were Heysham voters.

8977. How did you know the people you were to pay ?—I did not know them personally.

8978. Supposing I came in and said I was Overend, from Heysham, would you have paid me ?—Yes, I would.

8979. Are we to understand that ?—Yes, you are. I did not know Overend.

8980. Anybody who chose to come in and say they wanted money got it ?—I suppose there was somebody at the door.

8981. Who was that somebody at the door ?—Lawrence Crook would be there.

8982. You knew perfectly well what I wanted to find out ?—I did not, indeed.

8983. Was anybody allowed to come into the room without Lawrence Crook's permission ?—It should not have been.

8984. You did not say anything to them about the price ?—Yes, I did.

8985. Did you bargain with them ?—Yes, I did. 8*l.* was the price given me for all the voters.

8986. You gave two men 9*l.*?—Yes.

8987. Why was that ?—They claimed 1*l.* each for labour, which I gave to them.

8988. What do you call labour, wages for the day ?—Yes, I suppose so.

8989. (Mr. Hill.) Assistants ?—Yes.

8990. (Mr. Newton.) Who else stood at the door besides Lawrence Crook ?—Mr. Wise.

8991. What Mr. Wise ?—Thomas Wise.

8992. Where does he live ?—He lives at Horseshoe Corner.

8993. Is there anybody else ?—No, not that I am aware of.

8994. Did they give these men a card or a ticket, or anything to bring into you ?—No, they did not.

8995. You paid all those that morning in this room ?—Yes, I did.

8996. (Mr. Barstow.) From what committee room did you get this list ?—I took it from the "Queen's" that morning.

8997. Which is the room you call the committee room at the "Queen's" ?—I can hardly describe it to you. It is a room where Mr. Welch, Mr. Blades, and Mr. Wearing were.

8998. (Mr. Hill.) You got the money and the list at the same time ?—Yes.

8999. It was one of these printed street lists ?—Yes, it was.

9000. And there were no ticks upon it or anything to indicate who was to be paid ?—No.

9001. (Mr. Barstow.) Who gave it to you ?—I really could not say.

9002. Who were in the room when you were there ?—Mr. Blades, Mr. Wearing, and Mr. Welch.

9003. Did one of those three give you the list ?—Yes.

9004. (Mr. Newton.) Have you gone over the list with one of those three since ?—No.

9005. Have you gone over it with your door-keeper, Crook ?—Yes, I saw him on Saturday.

9006. And went over it with him ?—Yes.

9007. And you and he settled who it was ?—Yes, as near as we could.

9008. (Mr. Hill.) At what time of day of the 12th did you get your list and your money ?—About half-past 8, I should say.

9009. Were there a good many others coming up for their lists and their money at that time ?—There was nobody in the room when I was there.

9010. Did you see others going up ?—I did not notice anyone particularly.

9011. Did you see Slater ?—No, I did not.

ARTHUR COLE recalled and further examined.

A. Cole.

9012. (Mr. Barstow.) Do you produce the list you were asked for yesterday ?—Yes.

9013. Who wrote this list ?—One of our clerks.

9014. What is his name ?—William Ayrton.

9015. At whose dictation did he write it ?—Mine.

9016. You can write ?—Yes.

9017. (Mr. Hill.) This is a correct list, as near as you can make it, of those to whom you paid money and whose names you were not quite able to give me yesterday ?—Yes. I paid no money.

9018. That you sent into the room to Mr. Slater, or rather that went into the room ?—Yes, that went in.

9019. There are 22 of them ?—Yes, I believe there are.

9020. Are there still one or two left out ?—Not to my knowledge.

9021. Do you believe to the best of your knowledge that this is a true and correct list ?—Yes.

9022. Thomas Gregson you gave us yesterday. He received 10*l.* to the best of your knowledge ?—Yes.

9023. Matthew Gregson ; we have him. William Parker ; you have not given him on the new list ?—He ought to be.

9024. He ought to remain on ?—Yes, of course. He was paid.

9025. He ought to be added ?—Yes, he ought to be added, and I have not got him on this list, which was simply copied over.

9026. He has been left out by accident ?—Yes.

9027. William Richmond ; he is not on your new list either ?—No, he is not.

9028. Was he one of them ?—Yes.

9029. He also ought to be added ?—Yes.

9030. You are quite sure he was there ?—Yes, I am. I named it yesterday.

9031. You have not got him on the list you sent in to-day ?—No, I have not. It took me a good deal of time to come at what I have come at now.

9032. Richard Baines ?—He received nothing on the Quay that morning.

9033. Was he not one of those who went into the room ?—No. I named him only as a voter.

9034. His name must come out ?—Yes.

9035. James Ellershaw ?—I merely named him as a voter, and he was not at the Quay that morning.

9036. He is to come out then ?—Yes.

9037. John Laytham remains on ?—Yes.

9038. And I may take out the query you told me to put against him ?—Yes.

9039. William Whittaker remains on ?—Yes.

9040. Paid by Moser ?—Yes.

9041. James Hornby remains on ?—Yes.

9042. R. Masheder remains on ?—Yes.

9043. And Robert Smith of Skerton ?—Yes.

9044. Then there comes the unknown man of Skerton, who was that ?—That was William Jackson.

9045. How do you describe him ?—I believe he is a spinner, so Smith told me.

9046. Where of ?—I do not know.

9047. A carver ?—I think Smith said he was of Chapel Street.

9048. Of Chapel Street, labourer ?—He said Chapel Street.

9049. A twine spinner of Penny Street ; will that be it ?—No ; he said he was a spinner.

9050. It must be of Chapel Court, labourer ?—Yes. I believe that man voted for Fenwick and Lawrence.

9051. This unknown man from Skerton ?—Yes.

9052. Would it be Joseph Jackson of Skerton, labourer ?—No, it is William Jackson here.

9053. Who can tell us more accurately ?—I do not know, unless Smith could tell you ; the man who told me who it was.

9054. Whoever he was, he voted for Fenwick and Lawrence, did he ?—Yes ; he said it was a mistake.

9055. You put him here William Jackson of Queen Street not Chapel Street ?—He worked at the Queen Street mill ; but I believe he resided in Chapel Street, if I understood Smith right.

9056. Do you know what William Jackson got at all ?—He got 10*l.* Smith told me so.

9057. John Tomlinson ; you put him down here as having got 5*l.*?—Yes, he was paid by Barsby. I believe there is a note put against him.

9058. So I see there is at the side ; then he is to go in for 5*l.*?—Yes.

9059. Thomas Newton ?—Yes.

9060. Stephen Winder ?—Yes.

9061. By Barsby ?—Yes.

9062. 7*l.* 10*s.* ?—Yes.

9063. Paid by Moser ?—Stephen Winder was paid by Barsby.

9064. James Walker ; did he vote for Fenwick and Lawrence ?—No ; I think he voted for Fenwick and Schneider. Smith brought him ; he came along with Smith on the Quay.

9065. To the best of your belief he was one of the 10*l.* ones ?—Yes ; so I was told both last night and this morning, that he was paid that.

9066. Then there is Richard Watkinson ?—He is a brushmaker.

9067. Was he paid by Moser ?—I do not know ; he was down at the house that morning, and the men said they believed he was paid at Mr. Dixon's.

9068. (Mr. Newton.) How much ?—They said 10*l.*

9069. Richard Jemmison ?—Yes, he was there.

9070. Of Lime Street, tinman ?—Yes.

9071. 10*l.*?—Yes.

9072. Thomas Woodman ?—Yes, he lives in Germany Street.

9073. Lawrence Lawrence ?—Yes.

9074. Which of the two is it, the junior, or of Bulk, labourer ; there are three Lawrences ?—He is a labourer.

9075. Did he come from Bulk ?—He lives in the town.

9076. They none of them appear to live in the town ?—He lives in the town at present. I do not know where he is on for.

9077. He would be a ten-pounder in all probability ?—Yes.

9078. John Richardson ?—Yes.

9079. What is he ?—He is a labourer.

9080. Of Brewery Street ?—I believe it is Brewer Street.

NTH DAY.

A. Cole.

5 Sept. 1866.

9081. William Atkinson ?—Yes ; he is a painter.

9082. Of Edward Street ?—Yes, that is the man.

9083. William Newton ?—Yes.

9084. What is he ?—A painter.

9085. William Wright ?—Yes.

9086. What is he ?—I believe he will be on the list as a plumber.

9087. He is not William Wright of Springfield, householder ?—No, he is a freeman.

9088. Of Adelaide Street ?—Yes, that is the man ; I think he is a plumber by trade.

9089. May he be a brass finisher ?—I always understood that he was a plumber.

9090. Thomas Woodman ?—Yes.

9091. Another Thomas Woodman ?—Yes, the son of the other one.

9092. Is this of Germany Street, wool comber ?—He is the son of Thomas Woodman that I gave in before.

9093. Which one will this be ?—I do not know where he is on for, but he is the son of Thomas Woodman.

9094. He is the son of No. 974 ?—Yes, I think so.

9095. He must be of Germany Street, wool comber? —No, that is the father ; the son is working, I believe, at Barrow ; in fact he came over from Barrow to vote.

9096. Have you given us Bulfield before ?—No. I have him down here.

9097. Bulfield from Barsby ?—Yes.

9098. This you have taken from what Barsby has told you ?—No from his evidence here.

9099. Then there is John Horsfield ?—Yes, that is one I have thought of this morning.

9100. A painter ?—A painter..

9101. 10*l.*?—Yes.

9102. There are two to be added to that list, that will make 25 ?—Yes.

9103. Now about Binless ?—I do not know anything about Binless. I think he was on the Quay, but I believe he was taken away by somebody else.

9104. You know nothing about him ?—I do not.

9105. Have you anything else you want to add ?—Nothing else to my knowledge.

9106. Did you receive any other money than this which you have mentioned to us ?—I received 1*l.*, which I omitted to tell you of yesterday, from Mr. Slater after the voters had left the Quay.

9107. What was that for ?—It was for the day's expenses.

9108. You have mended your evidence so far ; did you, during the election, receive any sum of money besides what you have mentioned from any person whatever ?—Not a half-penny.

9109. That you swear solemnly ?—I swear it solemnly.

9110. Did you see any money besides those sums you have mentioned passing from any one person to another during that election ?—I did not.

9111. Any large sum ?—No, I did not.

9112. Had you yourself anything to do with either of the candidates during that election ?—Nothing at all, only when they called to ask me for my vote.

9113. Had you no personal communication with Mr. Schneider except that ?—Not at all.

A. Tinker.

ALFRED TINKER sworn and examined.

9114. (Mr. Barstow.) In July 1865 you were the assistant to Henry Welch ?—I was.

9115. How long had you been his assistant previous to that time ?—About six years and a half.

9116. Were you an attendant in the shop at Cheapside for a month preceding the election in July ?—I was.

9117. For six weeks previous to the election ?—Yes.

9118. You are now, I believe, in the service of Messrs. Crossley and Wright ?—Messrs. Wright, Crossley, and Company.

9119. Of Liverpool ?—Yes.

9120. During the time that you were in Welch's service, some time previous to the 12th of July, do you remember a heavy parcel being left at his shop ?—I do.

9121. About how long before the 12th of July do you think that was ?—About a fortnight.

9122. Can you describe the parcel ?—It was rather a bulky parcel.

9123. How was it wrapped up ?—Wrapped in brown paper and tied with thick string.

9124. Did you take it in your hand ?—I did.

9125. Did it feel heavy ?—It did.

9126. What did you in your own mind at that time conclude it was ?—I did not know at first what it was.

9127. At the time you did not know what it was ?—Not at the time I did not.

9128. What did you do with it ?—I put it on the shelf behind the counter.

9129. Do you know how long it remained there ?—No, I do not.

9130. At what time did you put it there ?—Between 10 and 11 o'clock in the morning.

9131. Did you see anyone bring it into the shop ?—I saw Mr. Wright Wearing come in.

9132. What did he do when he came in ?—He had his hands under his coat tails.

2133. What did he do or say when he was in the shop with you ?—I cannot say what he said ; he did not say anything very particular.

9134. What did he do ?—He went up to the end of the counter ; we have a counter which runs across the top of the shop, and he went along the side of this counter and stood with his back to it.

9135. Did he say anything ?—I do not know what he said exactly, but I think he said it was a fine morning, or something of that sort.

9136. Did he say anything beyond usual trivial conversation ?—Nothing.

9137. How soon after he had gone did you notice anything ?—A few minutes.

9138. What was it that you noticed ?—A parcel.

9139. Where was it ?—It was on the counter, on the edge of the counter, by the side of a gas pipe that runs up the corner of the counter.

9140. (Mr. Hill.) On the edge of the counter you say ?—On the end of the counter.

9141. Was that counter opposite to the door ?—Yes.

9142. (Mr. Barstow.) The same counter to which you observed Wearing go ?—Yes.

9143. Is this the first parcel you remember being left at Henry Welch's shop ?—The only parcel.

9144. Is this the only parcel you ever saw left there ?—The only parcel.

9145. Is this the only parcel you ever heard of being left there ?—Yes.

9146. Have you ever had any conversation with Wearing about the parcel that had been left there ?—I had, the same day.

9147. About this parcel ?—Yes, about this parcel.

9148. Have you ever had any conversation with him about any other parcel ?—No.

9149. Have you read any account of these proceedings ?—Not all of them, I have not.

9150. Did you read Hutchinson's evidence ?—Yes.

9151. Do you remember what Hutchinson said about your leaving the shop on a certain day, and leaving him there ?—Yes.

9152. Do you recollect that day ?—No, I do not, indeed.

9153. Is Hutchinson's account a correct one for all you know ?—To the best of my knowledge it is. I cannot remember the particular day.

9154. Were you in the habit of leaving the shop in Cheapside to go to Damside Street?—Very frequently.

9155. You knew Wearing very well?—Yes.

9156. Did you, before the election, have any conversation with him about the election?—Nothing very particular.

9157. Had you any conversation with him about money matters relating to the election?—Nothing whatever.

9158. Did you ever ask Wearing whether this was the only parcel of the kind he had ever brought to your shop?—No.

9159. Did you ever hear Mr. Welch speak about any other parcel being left there?—No.

9160. Nor Hutchinson?—No.

9161. Who else was in the shop, I mean serving in the shop, except Hutchinson and you?—Mr. William Welch, his brother, occasionally.

9162. Was no mention ever made of another parcel being left there?—No.

9163. Was any mention made of this parcel?—No.

9164. Nothing was said about it?—Nothing was said whatever about it.

9165. You did not say anything to anyone?—I did to Mr. Wearing.

9166. What did you say to him?—When I discovered the parcel left on the counter I went to Mr. Wearing's shop.

9167. What did you say to him?—I asked Mr. Wearing if he knew anything about a brown-paper parcel that I had just found on the counter.

9168. Well?—He appeared astonished.

9169. Did he express his astonishment in any manner?—No.

9170. He did not say anything?—He asked me why I supposed that he left it, or why I should ask him a question about it.

9171. Did he deny having left it?—No.

9172. What did you say in answer to that?—I told him that before he came into the shop the parcel was not there, and directly he went out I found it was there, and that that was my reason for supposing he had left it.

9173. What did he say to that?—He did not say anything very particular to that.

9174. Did he make any answer?—Yes, he made an answer.

9175. What was his answer?—He wanted to know how I could suppose he left it, and I said I thought he had left it.

9176. Did you say anything else?—Yes. I gave him the same answer that I gave him at first.

9177. And did he say anything upon that?—No. I told him I thought it was money.

9178. Anything else?—No, that was all.

9179. He did not say anything upon that?—No.

9180. When did you arrive here?—Last night.

9181. Where have you been staying?—With Edward Hutchinson, in Moor Lane.

9182. Have you seen Wearing?—Yes.

9183. Have you talked over this matter with him?—No.

9184. Have you seen Mr. Welch?—Yes.

9185. Did you talk it over with him?—No. Mr. Welch told me I should be required here this morning, and the instructions he gave me were that I was to tell the truth, anything I knew.

9186. You depose upon your oath that you know nothing of any paper parcel except the one you have described?—That is the only one.

9187. You have never connived at any other parcel being left at the shop?—No.

9188. You have never left the shop for the purpose of leaving it empty so that a person might come in without being seen and leave a parcel?—No.

9189. Have you ever intimated to any person that the shop would be likely to be empty at a certain time?—No.

9190. For the purpose of having a parcel left?—Never.

9191. I believe to go to Damside Street you must pass Wearing's window?—Yes.

9192. Is Wearing generally in his shop?—I think he is, generally.

9193. You were engaged in the election?—Yes.

9194. In other matters?—Yes.

9195. First of all, what money did you receive for the purposes of the election?—Nothing.

9196. Nothing whatever?—Nothing whatever; not direct I did not receive it.

9197. Directly or indirectly?—I received money indirectly.

9198. How did you receive it?—A party of the name of Hosking.

9199. (Mr. Hill.) Is that the person who has been spoken of as Captain Hosking?—Captain Hosking.

9200. (Mr. Barstow.) Do you know who he is?—No, I do not.

9201. When did you receive any money from him?—On the morning of the election.

9202. Where was that?—At the "White Lion."

9203. Where is the "White Lion?"—At the bottom of Penny Street.

9204. What sum did you receive from him?—I cannot say exactly; he kept a list himself, and as he gave me the money I gave it to the voters, and he kept a list of what he did give to me.

9205. Were you in a room in the "White Lion?"—I was,

9206. What part of the house was the room?—It was a room very near facing the top of the stairs; it is a room over the door, I think, as near as I can remember.

9207. An upstairs room?—Yes, an upstairs room; it was a bedroom.

9208. What do you mean when you say you received money indirectly?—I mean as the voters were brought to me I got the money from Mr. Hosking, and paid the voters.

9209. You have told us you received the money "indirectly;" explain what you mean by the word "indirectly?"—If I said directly I should have meant from Mr. Welch.

9210. Then do you tell us on your oath that you now mean that "indirectly" means "otherwise than from Henry Welch?"—Yes.

9211. How was this money given to you, was it put into your hand?—Yes.

9212. By Hosking?—Yes, by Hosking.

9213. I may say, "It was placed by Hosking in my hand?"—Yes, or on the table; I could not swear which.

9214. Can you imagine any more direct mode of giving a person money than by putting it into his hand?—No.

9215. Then why did you use the word "indirectly?"—I said "indirectly" because if I had said "directly" I should have meant that I received it from Mr. Welch.

9216. What sum did you receive from Hosking?—I cannot remember the names; I have a few names that I can remember.

9217. I do not ask you for the names; I say what sum?—I cannot remember.

9218. About what sum?—I should think about 70*l.* or 80*l.*, as near as I can remember.

9219. (Mr. Hill.) From Hosking?—From Hosking.

9220. You are a shopman, and familiar with the handling of money; to the best of your judgment is that what you received?—To the best of my knowledge it is.

9221. How was it given to you?—It was given to me as I required it.

9222. I asked you how it was given you; in what sums was it?—Eights and ten pounds, I think, as near as I can remember.

9223. Did you see the money in Hosking's hand?—The whole of the money?

9224. The whole of the money?—No, I did not see the whole of the money in his hand.

NINTH DAY.

A. Tinker.

5 Sept. 1866.

9225. Where did he produce it from?—I believe from his pocket.

9226. It was in sovereigns, I suppose?—In sovereigns.

9227. Where was Hosking when he gave you this money?—In the room.

9228. In the room with you?—In the room with me.

9229. Was anyone else with you?—No.

9230. Was anyone at the door of the room?—No.

9231. You did not pay it back to Mr. Hosking, I suppose?—No.

9232. What did you do with the money when it was given to you?—Paid it to the voters.

9233. Then the voters were in the room?—No, they were brought to me; I was called out when I was required.

9234. You were called out?—Yes.

9235. How did you know what to give to them?—I knew from the parties who told me, who brought the voters to me; they arranged with them.

9236. What were the names of those parties?—I cannot tell the names of them; Mr. Hoskin kept the names himself.

9237. But the names of the parties who brought the voters?—Thomas Wise brought them to me.

9238. Who else?—Peter Moore.

9239. Who else?—I think that was all.

9240. Can you tell us the gross number of voters that were brought to you?—I really cannot tell.

9241. Now, come, this was a thing that did not happen every day; how many, do you think, were brought to you?—Perhaps eight or ten, about eight I should think.

9242. Did you know the men?—No, I did not.

9243. You had never seen them?—No.

9244. Six years and over you have been in Lancaster?—They were all strangers to me.

9245. Do you know where they came from?—No; there were two men Peter Moore represented to me as having come from Galgate.

9246. Did he say what their names were?—He told me their names, but I do not recollect the names now.

9247. Had you never seen any of those men before?—No, not to my recollection; Wise and Moore knew them.

9248. Did you hear generally where they came from?—I cannot remember that I did.

9249. Did Thomas Wise tell you where they came from?—He told me their names, but he did not tell me where they came from.

9250. How many did Wise bring you?—I cannot say how many he brought; I should say four or five.

9251. Who came into the room to you and Mr. Hoskin to call you out?—They knocked at the door; the door was locked.

9252. You say "they," who do you mean?—Thomas Wise and Peter Moore.

9253. No one else?—No, not that I remember.

9254. You went with them to the other room where the voters were?—Yes.

9255. What sum did you pay?—Do you mean what amounts?

9256. Yes?—In eight pounds and ten pounds, to the best of my recollection.

9257. You tell us you had never seen Hoskin before that day?—Never.

9258. Who introduced you to him?—Mr. Welch sent me for him.

9259. Where did he send you to?—To the "Old Sir Simon."

9260. Where was Welch when he sent you?—At the committee room, the private room at the "Queen's."

9261. You went to him at the private room?—I went to him the first thing in the morning; about seven o'clock on the morning of the election.

9262. Is this money you speak of the only money you received that day?—The only money; I received money afterwards from Mr. Welch.

9263. On that day?—After the day of the election.

9264. Afterwards on that day?—No; after the election day I received money from Welch.

9265. Had you been engaged in canvassing?—I was.

9266. What district had you canvassed?—Slyne.

9267. Did you go alone there?—I went with Joseph Albright.

9268. (Mr. Hill.) Do you mean John Albright?—No, Joseph Albright, the chemist.

9269. Not the Quaker, who has been examined before?—No.

9270. What relation is he?—I believe he is a brother.

9271. (Mr. Newton.) Did you receive any money for the purpose of the canvass?—No.

9272. Did you pay any voters from Slyne?—No, none.

9273. What did you do when you went with Albright?—I went to collect the voters together in the best way we could.

9274. What day was that?—I cannot say what day it was; we went three or four times there. Perhaps it would be a fortnight, or three weeks, before the election.

9275. What do you mean by collecting the voters together?—Getting them together and treating them.

9276. Albright paid for the treating?—No, there was not much money paid at all; there was not much treating.

9277. You have already said that you did not pay, and I asked you if Albright did?—No, I did not say that.

9278. Did you pay for the treating?—We both did.

9279. From where did you get the money to pay for the treating?—It was my own money.

9280. Were you repaid that money?—Yes.

9281. By whom?—Mr. Welch.

9282. When were you repaid that money?—After the election.

9283. How much?—I was canvassing Overton as well.

9284. How much were you repaid?—I think about 3*l.*

9285. What money did you receive after the election?—I received 8*l.* from Mr. Welch for William Jackson, jeweller.

9286. What else?—And 8*l.* for William Harling, of Edward Street.

9287. Were these sums for their votes?—Yes.

9288. Is it William Jackson, junior, St. Nicholas Street, watchmaker?—Yes; he is since dead.

9289. I want to know what is the gross sum that you received first?—I got these sums at different times, as it was required.

9290. I thought, perhaps, you might be able to add the sums together and tell us the amount?—Do you mean the whole I received altogether from all parties?

9291. No; the sum you received from Henry Welch?—19*l.*

9292. That is the whole amount you received?—Yes.

9293. You have accounted for that sum?—No; there is 3*l.* not accounted for.

9294. How do you account for that 3*l.*?—There was another 3*l.* that I paid to Wolfendale, a butcher, in North Road.

9295. Is he a householder?—Yes.

9296. For what did you pay him that?—He had been arranged to have 5*l.* from the captain of the district, and I had promised him 8*l.* the night before the election.

9297. Are you quite sure that is all the money you received from Henry Welch?—Yes, except money for expenses.

9298. How much is that?—About 3*l.*

9299. That sum of 22*l.* is all that you received?—Yes, from Henry Welch.

9300. You never received any other money from Welch at any other time?—No.

9301. That you now swear?—Yes, I do.

9302. What money did you receive from any other person?—None from any other besides Mr. Hosking.

9303. Are we to understand you have received no money except from Mr. Hosking and Mr. Henry Welch?—Yes.

9304. (Mr. Barstow.) You tell us you went into the committee room?—Yes.

9305. Did you receive any money there?—No.

9306. Have you read Mr. Henry Welch's evidence?—Yes, I have.

9307. Have you read his answer where he states that he paid you 50*l.* when you came into the room?—Yes.

9308. Then that, I suppose, is wrong?—Yes, that is wrong.

9309. Can you account for his making that mistake?—I cannot, indeed.

9310. Have you had any conversation with him about it?—No.

9311. Have you not mentioned to him that he had made that answer, and that he was incorrect?—No. I believe I did write to Mr. Welch and tell him so.

9312. You might have said that in answer to my question; it is not very long ago?—I remember it now. I wrote to him and told him.

9313. This sort of inaccuracies makes a witness's testimony suspected always. I asked you very pointedly. You did write to Mr. Welch?—Yes.

9314. You wrote to Mr. Welch to say that his evidence in saying he had given you 50*l.* was inaccurate?—Yes.

9315. (Mr. Newton.) Did he answer your letter?—Yes, he did.

9316. Have you that letter?—No, I have not.

9317. What has become of it?—I do not know; I fancy it is destroyed.

9318. What answer did he make to it?—I told him in my letter that he was wrong in saying he had given me the money, and that I should be glad to explain the matter; and he said in his answer that he would be very glad if I would do so.

9319. Now you have an opportunity of explaining the matter?—The matter is explained by his giving the money to Mr. Hosking. That is the matter that required explanation.

9320. How do you know that?—How do I know that he gave the money to Mr. Hoskin?

9321. Yes?—I saw him give it to him.

9322. Where?—In the "Queen's."

9323. Did Hosking go with you to the "Queen's?"—Yes, he did.

9324. (Mr. Hill.) Did you say that you saw him receive it from Welch?—Yes, I did.

9325. (Mr. Barstow.) Did you come away with Hosking from the "Queen's?"—Yes, I did.

9326. And went with him to the "White Lion?"—Yes.

9327. Who gave you your instructions to act with Hosking?—Mr. Welch.

9328. How long were you paying voters in this room upstairs?—Till about 12 o'clock; 12 or 1 o'clock.

9329. You paid the last voter between 12 and 1?—Yes, I believe so, to the best of my recollection.

9330. Did you and Hosking leave the "White Lion" together?—I went out, and when I came back again I found Hosking had gone. I looked for him, but could not find him.

9331. What time did you go out?—I think about 1 o'clock.

9332. When did you return?—In about half an hour, I think.

9333. Have you told us now all you know about that election?—I have.

9334. Did you receive any money for your services?—No.

9335. (Mr. Newton.) About this parcel of money. Who was in the shop when Mr. Wearing came in?—I think there was a girl in the shop.

9336. What was her name?—I cannot say, she was a customer.

9337. We have heard from Mr. Wearing what took place, and therefore I need not ask you anything further; but I should like to know when you think it was that it did take place. How long before the election?—Do you mean the money being left?

9338. Yes?—About a fortnight; from 10 days to a fortnight, I should think.

9339. Did you talk to the boy Hutchinson about it?—No, I never mentioned it to him.

9340. Are you on terms with him?—Not very intimate.

9341. He said you were a reserved young man. Were you reserved towards him?—I do not understand his meaning.

9342. Nor do I. Were you reserved towards him? Did you discuss matters with him?—No, I did not discuss with him at all.

9343. Do you remember, about 10 days previous to that, having any discussion about something else being found in the shop?—No, I never heard of it.

9344. You did not on that occasion, 10 days previous to that, go on the Saturday morning to Damside, when you were absent about a quarter of an hour, and discuss with Wearing about the parcel having been left in the shop?—No.

9345. Ten days previous to the parcel that was found in the shop a parcel was left in Mr. Welch's shop as well. I want to know whether you heard anything of that?—No, nothing whatever.

9346. Was it your business to attend to the parcels on the counter?—Partially it was my business. If I saw any parcel, and I did not know what it meant, I should take it up and examine it.

9347. Where should you put it if you found it on the counter with no direction?—I should have left it where it was.

9348. Where did you put this parcel that you found?—On the shelf.

9349. What made you put it there?—Because it was very heavy.

9350. What made you put it there?—I cannot say.

9351. You must say; you must know why you put it there. Was it not because you had seen another parcel of that description put there before?—No. That was the only parcel I saw.

9352. Was not the reason why you put this parcel on the shelf because you had seen a similar parcel there before?—No, it was not.

9353. Had you ever seen another parcel not so large put on that shelf before?—No.

9354. I will ask you the same question as I asked Hutchinson. Did you often find parcels in your shop?—No, I never found one before.

9355. And yet you did not discuss it with the boy?—No, I never mentioned it to him.

9356. Have you read Hutchinson's account of it in the papers?—Yes, I have.

9357. Is the evidence he gave correct or not?—I think he gives evidence about another parcel.

9358. Is his evidence correct or not?—I should say it is.

9359. You do not recollect Hutchinson telling you that there was a parcel left in the shop?—No.

9360. Now, about paying this money that morning when you went to fetch Hosking, what did Mr. Welch tell you?—He told me to go and inquire for Captain Hosking.

9361. What were you to do?—I was to take him to the "Queen's," to Mr. Welch.

9362. When you brought him to the "Queen's" did you go into the room with him?—Yes, I did.

9363. And there you found Blades, Wearing, and Welch?—Yes.

9364. What did Hosking or Welch say?—Mr. Welch told Hosking to go with me to the "White Lion," and NINTH DAY. A. Tinker. 5 Sept. 1866.

to give me what money I wanted for voters, and he gave him some money.

9365. You saw Welch give Hosking some money?—Yes.

9366. How much?—I cannot say.

9367. In what form was it?—Rolled up in a brown paper parcel.

9368. How many rolls of brown paper did he give him?—I think there was a large one and a small one.

9369. You say you think there were two parcels?—Yes.

9370. What did Hosking do with those two rolls?—He put them into his pocket.

9371. Which pocket?—His trowsers pocket.

9372. When you got to the "White Lion" did you see him take out those paper parcels?—Not till it was required.

9373. Did you see him take them out?—No.

9374. Did you see them again at all without being broken?—No.

9375. You did not?—No.

9376. The next time you saw money it was out of the brown paper parcels?—Yes.

9377. You did not see him break open either the one or the other?—No.

9378. How do you know that he only got 70*l.* or 80*l.*?—I do not know it.

9379. That is all you know he paid you?—Yes.

9380. He might have got 150*l.* or 200*l.* for all you know?—Yes.

9381. Had you ever seen Hosking before that morning?—No, never.

9382. Do you know whether he was in the habit of going to Mr. Welch's shop?—I never saw him there.

9383. (Mr. Hill.) When was it arranged what part you were to take in this election?—Not until the morning of the election.

9384. And at what time in the morning was it arranged?—Between 7 and 8.

9385. Was that before you went to the "Queen's?"—That was while at the "Queen's;" it was arranged there.

9386. Was the arrangement made in the presence of Hosking?—It was.

9387. Were you the only five who were present in the room?—I believe there was no one else there.

9388. It was there arranged that Hosking and you should distribute the money, and that some person should bring the voters to you?—It was not arranged about the voters being brought to us, and we were to pay the money as we could get the voters.

9389. Was anything said to you as to who would bring the voters?—No.

9390. Nothing?—No, nothing.

9391. When did you first speak to Moore or Wise upon the subject?—Moore told me it was necessary that some one should be down at his house with money, as there were a lot of voters in the house who required dealing with.

9392. When was this?—On the morning of the election.

9393. Before you went to the "Queen's?"—Yes.

9394. It was in consequence of that that you went up to the "Queen's?"—Yes.

9395. It was in consequence of that that you went up to the "Queen's?"—Yes.

9396. You had not then spoken to Mr. Welch about the part that you had to take?—No.

9397. I see in this piece of paper which you have given me you have marked down certain monies received from "H.," and certain monies received from "W." Does "H." mean Hosking, and "W." Welch?—Yes.

9398. You received money from Hosking for William Jackson, of Castle Hill, 10*l.*?—Yes.

9399. Who is William Jackson?—I believe he is a collector for the gas company.

9400. A gas rate collector?—Yes.

9401. Do you know that he received that 10*l.*?—Yes.

9402. Why did you not tell us that before; it is only by accident that I asked you for that piece of paper, because I saw you fiddling with it. You paid him 10*l.*, and you received the money from Hoskin?—Yes.

9403. How do you know that Jackson received it?—I got the money from Hosking.

9404. And you gave it to him?—Yes.

9405. Who wrote it on this piece of paper?—I did, after I knew this inquiry was going on.

9406. This is, in fact, to the best of your recollection?—Yes.

9407. Did you make out this list at Liverpool?—Yes.

9408. Before you left?—Yes.

9409. Without any assistance?—Yes.

9410. From your own memory?—Yes.

9411. (Mr. Newton.) You were asked whether you knew of anybody to whom you paid money, and you said nobody; how can you expect us to believe you?—I was going to give you the list.

9412. (Mr. Hill.) Where does William Jackson live?—At Castle Hill.

9413. Is he a householder?—Yes, I believe he is.

9414. Is he a whitesmith?—No.

9415. Has he died since?—No.

9416. Are you sure his christian name is William?—Yes, I believe his name is William.

9417. However, you paid that money to him yourself?—Yes.

9418. The next person to whom you paid money was James Jackson, a groom?—Yes, of Sun Street.

9419. He is dead since?—Yes.

9420. You gave him 5*l.*?—Yes.

9421. Then there was an old man that you think lived in Leonard Gate, who was brought by Peter Moore, and you think his name was Hartley?—Yes.

9422. John Hartley?—I do not know his christian name.

9423. Is he alive still?—I do not know.

9424. You say you believe he lived in Leonard Gate?—Yes, to the best of my recollection; I heard that when I gave him the money.

9425. Do you think he was a freeman or householder?—I think he was a freeman.

9426. What was he by trade?—I do not know. I did not know the man before I saw him that morning.

9427. Do you not think you are mistaken, and that the man's name was Procter?—I really cannot say; I do not think so. I think his name was Hartley.

9428. What was he by trade?—I do not know.

9429. Had you ever seen him before?—No, never.

9430. You gave him 10*l.*?—Yes.

9431. We will leave that to be supplied by Mr. Peter Moore, or Mr. Wise. Then there were the two Galgate men who were brought by Peter Moore, you gave them 10*l.* each?—Yes.

9432. Then you say, "I paid more men, but cannot "remember how many, receiving the money from Mr. "Hosking for each man separately, and he entered "them, as he paid me the money, in a book?"—Yes.

9433. And then you put down as having from Mr. Welch, as you have told us, 8*l.* for William Jackson, 8*l.* William Horling, and 3*l.* William Wolfendale?—Yes.

9434. And then there is 5*l.* for Turner?—Yes.

9435. You gave it to Turner?—No, I did not give it to Turner; Turner gave it to him.

9436. To whom?—Wolfendale. Turner gave him 5*l.*, and I gave him 3*l.* I had promised Wolfendale 8*l.* before the night of the election.

9437. Now I have a question to ask you as to this parcel. You have told my brother commissioner, Mr. Newton, that you do not recollect having a conversation with Hutchinson?—I never had any with him.

9438. Do you say, positively, that you never had?—Yes.

9439. Or is it that you do not remember it?—I never did say anything to him. I never said anything to him about election matters.

9440. But I am asking you about parcels?—I never said anything to him about it.

9441. Did you know that the parcel left in the shop was on election matters?—I did not know it, but I had a suspicion when I went to think about it.

9442. The parcel you are speaking of is the "Wearing" parcel?—Yes.

9443. Do you remember the day on which you went down to the Damside shop?—I do not remember; I went down so many times.

9444. The day on which you were away about a quarter of an hour, about three weeks before the election, the day on which Hutchinson had to make up some parcels from the waste book?—I do not remember it.

9445. Is this account true given by Hutchinson: he is asked, "When did Alfred Tinker come back to the shop?" and he says, "Some five or 10 minutes, perhaps, after the parcel was left." Then he is asked again, "What did you say to Alfred Tinker about the parcel?" and he said, "I said the parcel had been left in the shop." Then he goes on to describe what Mr. Wright Wearing did in the shop. Do you remember Mr. Wright Wearing coming into the shop on that particular day?—No.

9446. Was Mr. Wright Wearing in the habit of coming into the shop and saying nothing to anybody, and walking out again?—Yes. Sometimes he would inquire for Mr. Welch.

9447. Do I understand you to say that Hutchinson is altogether mistaken in saying that he had a conversation with you about the parcel?—He never said a word to me about it.

9448. Will you swear that, to the best of your knowledge, this was the only parcel that was left in the shop?—Yes, I will.

9449. You read Mr. Welch's evidence?—Yes.

9450. You know that he told us, first of all, that there was only one parcel left, and then afterwards he corrected his evidence as to their being two?—Yes, I remember that.

9451. The first parcel he told us of being 710*l.* 10*s.*, and then afterwards he came and told us that there had been a previous parcel left of 300*l.*?—Yes.

9452. Refreshing your memory by that having been said, do you still say that there was only one parcel left at that shop, to the best of your knowledge?—Only one that I ever knew of.

9453. And you say if there had been a parcel of this sort left upon the counter, and Hutchinson had mentioned it to you, you could not have forgotten it?—No; I should have remembered it.

9454. You will swear, as distinctly as you can about anything, that there never was more than one paper parcel mentioned to you as having been left in the shop?—Yes.

9455. And your memory upon the subject is very fresh?—Yes.

THOMAS PARKER sworn and examined. T. Parker.

9456. (Mr. Barstow.) You came here from Liverpool?—Yes.

9457. I understand you to say that it would be a great convenience to you to have your testimony taken now?—Yes, indeed it would.

9458. What are you?—I am a cabinet-maker.

9459. At Liverpool?—Yes.

9460. You are aware that your name has been mentioned as being a Conservative captain?—I am not aware of that. I saw it in the paper on Saturday last, but not as being a captain. I think I was termed a "Jenkins."

9461. However, that is what was understood, that you were a captain; is it so?—No, not at all.

9462. Were you in Lancaster during the election?—No.

9463. Are you a Lancaster man?—I served my apprenticeship in Lancaster. I am a native of Cockerham.

9464. Are you a voter?—I am not a voter. I have earned my freedom, but never took it up.

9465. Can you imagine how your name came to be mentioned?—Not at all.

9466. You know nothing of the election?—Nothing whatever.

9467. You have not contributed any money to it?—Certainly not.

9468. What are your politics?—I have the character of being a Conservative in Liverpool.

9469. If you were not here during the election, of course you had nothing to do with it?—No, nothing whatever.

9470. Have you any explanation to make?—No, nothing whatever.

9471. (Mr. Hill.) Were you not here the Saturday previous to the election?—Yes, as I am frequently. I frequently come on the Saturday night, and go back on Monday morning. I come here to see my friends.

9472. (Mr. Newton.) How long did you stay?—I came on the Saturday afternoon, and went back on the Monday morning, a thing I constantly do, perhaps a dozen times a year.

9473. Have you got a house here?—No.

9474. Where do you go?—I stay with my friends. I have a number of friends about the place.

9475. Where did you stay on the Saturday night?—I stayed at the only place I do stay at; namely, the "King's Arms."

9476. Did you stay at the "King's Arms" from the Saturday till the Monday?—Yes.

9477. Were any of the Conservative party staying at the "King's Arms?"—None that I know of more than usual, who come there to have a pipe and a glass of grog.

9478. Did you see Henry Threlfall Wilson there?—No, I think not.

9479. You know him?—Yes, I know him.

9480. And Mr. Lawrence?—Yes, I know him by sight.

9481. (Mr. Barstow.) Did you leave the town on Monday?—Yes.

9482. That you swear?—Yes.

9483. (Mr. Hill.) Did you receive any money for the purposes of that election?—No.

9484. Did you pay any?—No.

9485. (Mr. Newton.) Did you go and see Mr. Wilson Barker?—I might see him; I did not go to his house.

9486. Did you see him?—Possibly. I do not know that I did.

9487. Did you have any conversation with him about the election?—None whatever, except the usual casual conversation, the same as other people talk.

9488. (Mr Hill.) Is there any other Mr. Parker at Liverpool connected with Lancaster at all?—No. I think it was myself that was suspected.

THOMAS WISE sworn and examined. T. Wise.

9489. (Mr. Newton.) Where do you live?—I live at Horse-shoe Corner, at the bottom of Penny Street.

9490. What are you?—I am a railway carriage builder.

9491. We hear that you took part in this election?—Yes, I took some part in it.

9492. Are you a voter?—Yes.

9493. A freeman or householder?—I am a householder.

9494. You were not a captain during the election?—I was engaged to look after the Heysham district.

9495. You were a captain?—If you call it a captain, I was a captain in that sense.

9496. Used you to go over there to canvass?—Yes, I canvassed the whole of the Heysham district myself.

9497. Did anybody go with you?—There was nobody appointed to go with me. I might take some

NINTH DAY.

T. Wise.

5 Sept. 1866.

one to go with me for company, but there was no one appointed to go with me.

9498. Did "Tinker" go with you?—No; never that I recollect.

9499. How much money did you spend at Heysham?—I think, from the beginning to the end of my canvass, about 4*l.*

9500. That is during the canvass?—Yes, before the election began.

9501. In refreshments, and so forth, to the voters?—Yes.

9502. How much money did you receive altogether for the purposes of the election?—About 4*l.*

9503. You received that?—Yes.

9504. Not more?—No; that would be quite the outside.

9505. This is money that you paid away in refreshments?—There is 1*l.* which I gave to Thomas Overend; he was a sort of confidential man, and he looked after everything whilst I was away, and I paid him 1*l.* for his services.

9506. He helped you in your business in the election?—Yes.

9507. From where did you get this 4*l.*?—I think I got about 2*l.* from Mr. Welch, and about 2*l.* from Mr. Wright Wearing. I am not quite certain of it, but I think so.

9508. Besides the 1*l.* you gave to Overend, what else did you give away?—The first time I went I filled my pockets with sweets for the children. That cost some money.

9509. You did the "children" business?—Yes; and then I gave the women something, and the men something. That is how I spent the first 1*l.* in going round to the different houses.

9510. How did you spend the second?—The second 1*l.* I spent at the "Swordfish;" some had tea, and some ale.

9511. Was it all spent in refreshments?—Yes; amongst the freemen and non-freemen. We could not exactly say to their friends, "Go out." They brought them with them, and I was obliged to treat them, too.

9512. Do you know the "White Lion," Lancaster?—Yes, very well.

9513. Were you there the morning of the polling day?—Yes.

9514. What time did you go there?—I was partly there all night.

9515. The night previous to the election?—Yes. I left about half-past 2 or 3 in the morning to go to Heysham.

9516. To bring up your voters?—Yes.

9517. What time did you get back from Heysham?—I should think I would get back about 8 o'clock or before, about half-past seven.

9518. Did you find anybody at the "White Lion" when you came back?—The house was full.

9519. Of voters?—Voters and non-voters.

9520. Do you know Mr. Tinker?—I know Mr. Tinker at Mr. Welch's.

9521. Did you find him there?—No, I did not.

9522. Did he come afterwards?—Yes.

9523. How long after you had been there?—It would be nearly 10 o'clock before I saw him.

9524. He did not come until 10?—I think it was nearly 10. First I saw Edward Hutchinson.

9525. At what time did you see Hutchinson, the father?—I do not know the son; it was the father I saw.

9526. What time did you see him?—I should think I saw him before 9 o'clock.

9527. Was there a breakfast going on there?—Yes, there was a breakfast; a large quantity breakfasted there.

9528. Did you tell Hutchinson anything?—No. I think Hutchinson went away to look after some money, and I did not see him for a long time after. I did not see him for a long time after the poll commenced.

9529. (Mr. Newton to Alfred Tinker.) Did you see Mr. Hutchinson at the "White Lion" that morning?—Yes, I did.

9530. Where did you see him?—I saw him in different parts of the house.

9531. Was he ever in the room with you and Hosking?—Not that I remember; I do not know that he was.

9532. (Mr. Newton to the witness.) Did you see Hutchinson pay anybody that morning, any voters?—I cannot say that I did, and I cannot say that I did not; he was in a room by himself, and the voters went in to him one by one.

9533. You were a sort of door-keeper?—No; I do not think I was a door-keeper at all.

9534. You saw the men go into Hutchinson's room?—Yes, I did; I saw them go in and come out.

9535. Had Hutchinson finished paying before Tinker had arrived?—No, I do not think that. I think Tinker assisted him to pay. I know Mr. Tinker asked me once or twice to take the money and go with them to see them vote, and then give it to them after they had voted, and I would not do it.

9536. Was this in the same room that Hosking was in afterwards, or another room?—There were two or three rooms that they went into, but I think they generally acted together, Tinker and Hutchinson.

9537. Was this the same room that Hosking afterwards went into?—I cannot positively say, but I think it was.

9538. Do you know Hosking?—There was another man there who I did not know.

9539. Was he paying?—Yes.

9540. Do you know Hosking?—No, I do not.

9541. Why did you not say so at first?—I am rather deaf, and I did not hear.

9542. You are not a bit deaf?—I beg your pardon; I know better than you do whether I am deaf or not.

9543. Do you know Hutchinson?—No; I do not. I saw a man there.

9544. We will call him the stranger. At what time did the strange man come?—I should think it would be on towards 11 o'clock, as far as I know. I do not think I saw him before.

9545. Who was with him?—I saw no one with him.

9546. Who was with Hosking, this strange man?—He was in a room by himself.

9547. Did you stand by the door?—No; I stood at no door.

9548. Does not Peter Moore keep the "White Lion?"—Yes, he does.

9549. Did he not stand at the door?—No, I never saw him stand at the door; he might do it, but I never saw him.

9550. Who did stand at the door?—To watch the door?

9551. Yes?—If any person stood at the door it would be some of the freemen that would be appointed to do it; but I do not know anything about that.

9552. Did you bring up any voters into the room?—I brought the whole of the Heysham voters to the "White Lion."

9553. Did you bring any voters up to the room where this strange man was?—I cannot positively say; I might do.

9554. Did you?—I think I might do.

9555. Did you bring up any voters to the room where the strange man was?—I think I should do. I was very anxious that they should all get voted, and I should think I would assist to get them all ready.

9556. Yes, you would; that was your district?—I looked after them till they were voted.

9557. Tell us who they were?—I cannot tell exactly. There was Thomas Overend and two Cassons, one Sharples, one Shaw, three or four Jacksons, and there might be one or two more; but I cannot recollect the names.

9558. Shall I help you?—If you can assist me I will tell you with pleasure.

9559. Was there a Thompson there?—Yes, he was one.

9560. Woodman?—There were two Woodmans, but I believe one did not vote for us.

9561. Were there any Mashiters?—No, they were on the other side.

9562. Any Edmondsons?—No, the three Edmondsons were upon the other side; one of them promised to vote for us but he did not.

9563. (Mr. Hill.) Did you take any of these men that you are mentioning to the poll?—Yes, I did.

9564. Which of them?—I took Overend, the Cassons, Sharples, and one or two more of them.

9565. You took them to the poll?—Yes, and saw them vote.

9566. And saw them paid?—No, I did not see them paid.

9567. Did you bring them back to be paid?—No, they were paid before they voted.

9568. As soon as they were paid you packed them off to the poll?—Yes, as soon as ever I could get them into the carriage.

9569. Did you take a carriage full at a time?—Yes.

9570. (Mr. Newton.) Did you take any men up to Tinker's room?—I should do that.

9571. Tell me which of the men you took up?—I cannot recollect.

9572. Were you in Court when Tinker gave his evidence?—No. I was at home when the summons came. I had not been in Court but a few minutes before I was examined.

9573. Who did you take up to Tinker's? Take care what you are doing, and tell us the truth. Which of the men did you take up to Tinker's? We have heard what Tinker said not 10 minutes ago?—I should bring up the Heysham freemen.

9574. Tell us the names of those you took up?—Overend, and the Cassons.

9575. No, that was to Hutchinson; I mean to Tinker?—I do not know that I brought anyone particularly to Tinker.

9576. When the strange man was there?—They were both of them buying, and I brought them to both.

9577. While the strange man was there, what were the men's names you brought up?—I cannot tell you.

9578. Yes, you can?—It is impossible.

9579. He says you brought up four or five?—Mention the names, and I will tell you.

9580. That is just what I want to know from you?—I cannot charge my memory with matters like that; it is impossible. I might bring 10 men up. I brought all I could.

9581. You must remember, you know?—I cannot remember. I brought all the freemen in the house that were not voters; I took them as I lighted on them. I did not confine myself to the Heysham district; wherever I could do anything I did it.

9582. What was the number of voters that you brought up to Tinker altogether?—I cannot tell you.

9583. To Tinker and the strange man?—I cannot tell; it is impossible.

9584. How many do you think?—I should bring a good deal of voters altogether.

9585. But to Tinker and the strange man?—I cannot tell. I could not pretend to say, because if I did it would be only leading you astray, and I do not know. I kept no account of it. I had no money to pay them.

EDWARD BRADSHAW sworn and examined. E. Bradshaw.

9586. (Mr. Hill.) What are you?—A tanner and currier.

9587. Where do you live?—At Farrington, near Preston.

9588. Are you a labourer?—Yes.

9589. Were you engaged at the last election?—Yes.

9590. You were captain, in what district?—Galgate.

9591. Have you been engaged in any election before this last?—Yes.

9592. Which one?—The one before.

9593. Those are the two you have been engaged in?—Yes.

9594. Were you captain in the Galgate district in Fenwick and Saunders' election?—No.

9595. What were your duties at that election?—I was there, but I was not a captain.

9596. Did you canvass the Galgate district at this election?—I went round with Mr. Fenwick and Mr. Schneider, that is all, and introduced them to the voters.

9597. To the Galgate voters?—Yes.

9598. What monies did you receive for the purposes of the last election?—Mr. Welch says he gave me about 170*l.*

9599. Never mind what Mr. Welch says, what monies did you receive?—I never counted the money he gave me.

9600. What monies did you receive?—I should think I got about 20*l.* before the day of the nomination.

9601. For preliminary expenses?—Yes.

9602. How long before the election did you receive that?—I received it in different sums, perhaps some time within three weeks.

9603. From three weeks before the election up to the nomination day?—Yes.

9604. What was the next sum you received after those sums that made up the 20*l.*?—I received the 20*l.* at different times.

9605. After the receiving of those sums which made up altogether the 20*l.*, what was the next sum which you received?—50*l.*, on the night of the nomination.

9606. July 11th?—50*l.* Mr. Welch called it. I did not count it myself.

9607. It was given to you as 50*l.*?—Yes.

9608. At what time in the evening was it given to you?—I should think about 6 in the evening.

9609. What was the next sum which you received?—The next sum I received was on the election day.

9610. July the 12th?—Yes.

9611. At what time did you receive that?—It would be, perhaps, a little after 9 o'clock.

9612. Nine a.m.?—Yes.

9613. How much?—50*l.* again; it was supposed to be 50*l.* I never counted it.

9614. It was a brown paper packet?—No, he gave it to me loose on the election day, and in a paper packet the night before.

9615. What was the next sum you received after that?—50*l.* again. I asked for about 50*l.*, but I did not count it.

9616. Was that on the election day, too?—Yes.

9617. What o'clock?—Perhaps 11 o'clock.

9618. Was that from Henry Welch also?—Yes.

9619. Loose?—Yes.

9620. About 50*l.*?—Yes.

9621. Is was given to you as 50*l.*?—Yes.

9622. What was the next sum that you received?—I received some money after the election.

9623. When?—In the course of a few days. I do not know particularly when it was; some time in the week after I think.

9624. How much?—I think there was about from 18*l.* to 20*l.*; I am not quite certain.

9625. Which shall we say?—About 18*l.* I did not count it; it was to pay some bills with.

9626. What was the next you received?—I did not receive any more.

9627. Now, then, how did you lay it out first before the election?—I spent it in treating the voters.

9628. You spent it in refreshments to voters before the election?—Yes.

9629. Where at?—At Galgate; and tips to fellows for doing this thing and another.

9630. What sort of tips?—A shilling and half-a-crown at a time.

NINTH DAY. T. Bradshaw.

9631. What were those tips given to them for?—It just depended on what they had done; perhaps carrying letters out and such like.

9632. And what else—shillings when they were dry in the morning?—Sometimes, and sometimes only 3*d.*, and sometimes 6*d.*; however, all the 20*l.* not spent.

9633. Sometimes half-a-crown?—I never gave so much as half-a-crown at once. I gave half-a-crown for carrying out letters to voters sometimes.

9634. Where were you to be found during the time of the election?—I live in Lancaster. I only went down in the evenings.

9635. Did they come to you at Lancaster?—Sometimes they came up.

9636. Where did they find you when they went for these threepences, and sixpences, and shillings?—In Wood Street, Lancaster.

9637. Have you a shop in Lancaster?—My father has; at least he had, but he is removed now.

9638. Is he a currier, too?—Yes.

9639. Then the men came to your father's shop in the morning and found you; and these, the men who were on the drink during the election, were supplied by you?—Yes.

9640. In what numbers should you say?—I do not know, I never took particular notice.

9641. Were there 25 or 30 of them?—There are not as many voters as them in Galgate altogether.

9642. Did you only supply Galgate men?—No.

9643. You spent the whole of the money in tips and refreshments in the way you have mentioned, namely, 20*l.*?—Yes; if they went down in a conveyance there was the bar to pay and so on.

9644. Now, then, what voters did you pay at the last election; bring out your list?—I paid No. 644, William Parker.

9645. He seems to have been paid by two or three [illegible]—

9646. What is he?—A joiner, I believe.

9647. A freeman?—Yes, he is sure to be a freeman belonging to Galgate.

9648. How much did you give him?—10*l.*

9649. What is the next?—His brother, John Parker.

9650. What is his number?—643.

9651. What is he?—I believe he is a joiner; I am not certain.

9652. How much did you give him?—10*l.*

9653. The next?—Richard Garth, No. 310.

9654. How much did you give him?—9*l.*

9655. What is Garth?—I do not know I am sure. I did not take much interest in what they were. I think he is a spinner, but I am not certain.

9656. Who was the next?—No. 812, Richard Taylor; he got the same money.

9657. 9*l.*?—Yes, 9*l.*

9658. Now the next?—Robert Threlfall.

9660. Now the next?—557, Edward Mallinson, junior, 10*l.*

9661. The next?—No. 556, his father, 10*l.*; Edward Mallinson.

9662. (Mr. Barstow.) He got 10*l.*?—Yes, the same as his son.

9663. Who is the next?—Thomas Mallinson, No. [illegible]; he got 10*l.* for his vote, and then he had 2*l.* for assisting. I said I would give him 2*l.*; he worked for my father and I said I would give him 2*l.* if he did us well as he could for us.

9664. Who is the next?—603, James Mounsey, 10*l.*

9665. Who else?—John Mounsey, No. 602.

9666. Did he get 10*l.*?—8*l.* 10*s.*

9667. The next?—No. 600, William Mounsey.

9668. How much did he get?—7*l.* 10*s.*

9669. The next?—William Mounsey, shoemaker, No. 605, 10*l.*

9670. Who is the next?—No. 882, John Ward, 8*l.*

9671. Who is the next?—No. 452, Robert Illingworth.

9672. How much did he get?—For his vote and expenses he got 8*l.*; he was an assistant with us.

9673. Including assistance he got 8*l.*?—Yes.

9674. Now the next?—451, John Illingworth, 8*l.*

9675. Is there any assistance included there?—No.

9676. Did he vote for Fenwick and Schneider?—Yes.

9677. That 8*l.* did not include any assistance?—No, nothing.

9678. Who is the next?—1,149, Thomas Harling, householder; he lives in Lancaster.

9679. Is he a householder?—Yes.

9680. How much did he get?—He got 7*l.* 10*s.*

9681. Who is the next?—Thomas Richardson, No. 700, 7*l.* 10*s.*

9682. The next?—I believe that is all.

9683. That is 173*l.*; in what other way did you spend money besides 20*l.* on the voters?—I paid some bills after the election.

9684. What bills did you pay?—There was Richmond, at the "Commercial Inn," at Lancaster, for voters' dinners, and their wives and sweethearts; they all went together.

9685. How much was his bill?—I think it was about 7*l.* I am not quite certain I did not keep an account. I just handed the bill back, but, as near as I can recollect, it was about 7*l.*

9686. Was that a bill that was in Mr. Tilly's account, do you know?—I am not sure; I think it is a bill that I run up on my own ordering.

9687. What is Richardson's house?—The "Commercial Inn," Lancaster; he might charge the money to me and not say anything about it.

9688. You say it was about 7*l.*?—Somewhere about 7*l.*; it might be a few shillings over or under.

9689. What other bill did you pay?—I paid Mrs. Eleanor Hayes, of the "Eagle and Child."

9690. How much?—That was for breakfasts; it was 7*l.*, I think, as near as I can tell.

9691. What other bills?—The Gerrards', of the "Green Dragon."

9692. How much was that?—That was for drink that had been set down, and refreshments.

9693. How much?—That was about 6*l.*

9694. Who else?—I think that was all I paid, as far as I can recollect. I did not keep an account of anything after.

9695. That is all the money you paid?—I think so, except what I spent on the election day, what I had in my pocket.

9696. How much was that?—I cannot say; 5*l.* or 6*l.*

9697. Out of your own money?—Out of my own pocket, but it was Messrs. Fenwick's and Schneider's money; it was from Mr. Welch anyhow.

9698. Where did you get that 5*l.* from; you say out of your own pocket; was it repaid to you?—It was not my own money; it was money I had in my pocket. I did not count what money Mr. Welch gave me, but I spent it.

9699. You kept it apart from your own money and you spent it?—Yes.

9700. It was money to be spent on Messrs. Fenwick and Schneider's election?—Very likely it was.

9701. When you say it was Fenwick and Schneider's money that is what you mean?—Yes.

9702. You say you had this money to pay bills after the election?—On the election day.

9703. A few days after the election you received 18*l.* to pay bills; that was these bills you have spoken of to the amount of 18*l.* or 20*l.*?—I suppose so.

9704. And we understand that the monies you received from Welch you kept entirely for election purposes?—Yes.

9705. And you spent them entirely for election purposes?—Yes.

9706. You did not pay any money of your own?—No.

9707. Where did you pay these voters whose names you have given to us?—I paid them at the "Commercial Inn."

9708. Who brought them to the "Commercial Inn?"—I told them to come there after they had voted.

9709. When did you tell them that?—As we were coming up on the car.

9710. You brought them from Galgate in the morning on the 'bus?—Yes.

9711. And took them to poll?—Yes; but we talked about that place as a meeting place several times.

9712. And you arranged to meet them at Richardson's, at the "Commercial Inn?"—Yes.

9713. When did you fix the price of votes?—When I had gone down of a night they would ask me how things were running in Lancaster like, and what they were doing, and I said I did not know very particularly; I said, I suppose they would have what other people had, and they said, well, they expected they would have.

9714. When did you finally fix the price?—I do not know that it was really definitely fixed. I said they could believe me, any of them could, and they said they would partly leave it to me.

9715. Then who fixed the price?—I fixed the price after and paid them after.

9716. You fixed the price after the election?—Yes.

9717. How long after voting did you pay them?—As soon as I could.

9718. How soon?—I paid them with the money I had in my pocket, and then got some more as soon as I could.

9719. What made you make a difference between those to whom you paid 7*l.* 10*s.*, and those to whom you paid 10*l.*?—We had some talk about it; but it was not definitely fixed what money they should have before. I asked them if such a thing would do for them before they voted; but we did not say it should be that sum.

9720. Did these men all belong to any one party together?—They were Liberals.

9721. But was there some one person who acted as spokesman for the lot?—I do not know that there was. I used to talk to them; we would talk together and meet together frequently.

9722. With regard to William Mounsey, why did you only give him 7*l.* 10*s.*?—The less I could get them for the better. If they were satisfied, I was satisfied; it was no odds to me.

9723. You have given the names of four Mounseys, there are five on the list?—I have something to say about that.

9724. (Mr. Barstow.) There is one James Mounsey?—Yes. I cannot recollect whether I gave him 10*l.* or not. I recollect seeing him there, but whether I gave him the money or not I am not quite certain; and these sums I have here are what I imagine I have given them. I would not swear it is the amount I gave them to a shilling. I kept no account since the election, but it is just what I have drawn up.

1725. But you say James Mounsey?—Yes. I cannot tell whether I gave him any money or who gave him any money; he was one of the same party, but I do not recollect giving him any money. There were four or five of them, and I got rather confused among the Mounseys, and I do not know whether I gave him any money or not.

9726. Was he in the "Commercial Inn" with you?—Yes; he did not come in the same car with me; we had two cars, and some of them came up with the other party.

9727. (Mr. Newton.) Did anybody help you in paying these voters; had you any assistance?—There was some one in the room.

9728. Who was that?—John Pilkington.

9729. Was there a man named Wade?—I never saw him in the "Commercial Inn" that I know of.

9730. Who is Wade?—I believe a tailor.

9731. Was he a captain in your district?—I was the captain.

9732. Was he a sub-captain?—I had nothing to do with him at all.

9733. Just say whether he was or not?—He was not that I know of.

9734. Was he a captain in the Galgate district?—I do not know; I was the captain.

9735. Was he assistant captain?—He was frequently down there.

9736. (Mr. Barstow.) Do you know Thomas Harling, of Monmouth Street?—I knew him then. I do not know whether I should know him now, if I met him, or not.

9737. Do you know his house?—No.

9738. If you happen to remember about Mounsey please to let us know?—I was confused among them, and I do not know whether I gave him 10*l.* or not. I would not swear it.

9739. (Mr. Hill.) Who was working at Galgate on the Conservative side that you have not mentioned?—There was Mr. Alexander Harrison, a musician, and there were others besides.

9740. (Mr. Newton.) Just tell us the names?—I have seen Mr. Lawson there, a land surveyor.

9741. Anybody else?—I have also seen Mr. Rothwell there frequently, and I have seen Mr. H. T. Wilson there.

9742. Anybody else?—No. I have also something to say about Mr. John Illingworth. We wanted to trade with him for his vote, and he would not hear of it; he said he had had 12*l.* offered by the other side, by Mr. Starkey, of Ashton Hall, and there was rabbit shooting when he thought fit to go.

9743. What did you get him for?—We did not get him at all. I asked him if 12*l.* of our money was as good as theirs, but he said he would rather have theirs.

9744. Was he a very truthful man?—I never knew anything different of him, and he is fond of rabbit shooting I know.

9745. (Mr. Newton.) 12*l.* and a day's rabbit shooting?—More than a day's rabbit shooting if he thought fit; and I asked him if 12*l.* of our money was as good as theirs, and he said no.

9746. You gave us the name of John Illingworth?—This is the father, I think.

9747. Was it the son who told you this?—It was him himself who told me and another young fellow this is John Illingworth, senior.

9748. It was the younger one that you bribed?—It was the younger one that I bribed, and the other I wanted to, but he would not have our money. Mr. Alexander Harrison, the captain of the Conservative party, gave 7*s.* 6*d.* to a banjo woman to sing and play to the voters.

9749. She did not vote?—No, that does not matter.

9750. (Mr. Barstow.) Robert Lawson, land surveyor?—Yes.

9751. You said Thomas?—It is Mr. Lawson, the land surveyor, whether it is Robert or Thomas.

9752. Have you any more important misdeeds of the Conservatives than that; any more banjo women?—No, I think that was the only one I saw.

Adjourned for a short time.

HENRY WELCH recalled and further examined.

H. Welch.

9753. (Mr. Barstow.) We understand you wish to make a special statement?—Yes. I wish to mention a few matters that I have remembered since I was here before.

NINTH DAY.

H. Welch.

5 Sept. 1866.

9754. We should like you to tell us generally, before we hear you, what the nature of your statement is to be?—Monies that I have given to parties.

9755. You are aware that we shall have to call you again on some future occasion?—It is very likely, I think.

9756. But is what you now wish to say something that will assist us in the inquiry we are about making?—Yes; some of the parties you would not be able to get at, I think, unless I told you.

9757. Proceed, then, if you please?—The first memorandum I made was about Mr. Hoskin, of Barrow, and Tinker, who went to the "White Lion." I think I said before that Tinker took that money to the "White Lion;" but Tinker and Hoskin went together, and I believe Hoskin was the man that took the money. Then I gave Richard Cleminson, of Nicholas Street, about 50*l.* for voters; that is another one; the other was George and William Bradshaw, of Market Street. Bradshaw and Standing is the firm. I think he would have about 20*l.*, but he brought some of it back. You asked me something about Littledale before, and I did not remember; I believe that is it.

9758. The next?—I do not know whether you got Joseph Smith's name down for the Halton district.

9759. Yes, you gave us that?—Did you get the money?

9760. No?—It was, I believe, 30*l.*

9761. Any other?—I gave Wade 15*l.* for two voters at Galgate, and Peter Moore 16*l.* for two voters.

9762. What voters did he say they were?—I do not know.

9763. I do not mean the name, but where they came from?—I really cannot tell; he told me their names at the time, but I do not remember them now. I also paid Akey Welch's wife 10*l.* for her husband.

9764. That was in effect for her husband's vote?—It was. I paid four men on the afternoon of the election, who were workers and voters in Penny Street, 10*l.* each. They came to me for the money about 4 o'clock.

9765. What were their names?—Thomas Anderson, William Bleasdale, Barber, and a man of the name of Pimm; I do not know his christian name; there are a good many of them; there are two families of them.

9766. If I were to read over their names should you be able to tell me?—I do not know them personally; he was an oldish man, Reuben Pimm; John Pimm.

9767. Where does Reuben Pimm live?—At St. George's Quay. I do not know his christian name; he was an elderly man.

9768. Where did he come from?—He was in the Penny Street district. I could get his name from Anderson and Bleasdale, who came with him, and I think the other man was James Tomlinson, but he was not a voter, but was rather an active man, and was paid for working.

9769. (Mr. Hill.) Those were 10*l.* each?—They were 10*l.* each.

9770. What was the other non-elector's name?—James Tomlinson.

9771. (Mr. Barstow.) I understood you to say that you paid all these people with your own hands?—I did, these four men.

9772. But all the others as well?—Yes, that is Smith and Bradshaw.

9773. And Wade and Moore, and Akey Welch?—Yes, and William Stewartson; I think you have not got that. He came up into the room once or twice during the day of the election, and I should give him from 20*l.* to 30*l.*; he came for the money for voters; it would be, I should think, from 25*l.* to 30*l.*

9774. I will take it to be 25*l.*, would that be right, do you think?—I think so; it would be somewhere thereabouts; and I sent 10*l.* to Lawson Swain, who was very ill and was taken up in a fly. Somebody had promised him 10*l.*, and I cannot remember who fetched the money; but it went to him.

9775. He is a householder?—I think he is. That is all the money that I can remember now.

9776. How came you to remember these different sums you have just now told us of?—From Mr. Wearing and I going over the list and reading over all the evidence that had been taken and thinking about it.

9777. Have you any memoranda?—No, not one.

9778. Is there anything else that you wish to add?—Yes. With regard to the money that I had there will be a little mistake in that. I was at Carnforth on business yesterday, and while I was waiting for my train the Ulverston train came up, and Mr. Schneider came up in it; he came up to me, and he said, "Welch, there is a little mistake in your money that you have accounted for." I said, "Is it the 500*l.* that you changed at the bank that would be in that parcel that was found in the room?"

9779. "Is it as to 500*l.* changed by you at the bank?"—That was the substance of it. He said it was 500*l.*; 500*l.* was the difference. The words he made use of was: he said, "I shall tell the Commissioners all about it when I come up, and you had "better explain it before;" and he went on to say: "I had 1,000*l.* from Barrow, 3,500*l.* from Coulston, and a 500*l.* note I changed into gold." He said, "That is the exact money I found, besides the 55*l.* you got in December."

9780. Did anything else pass between you?—Nothing about money matters, except about the election generally. He was going shooting. There was nothing more about that. He said that was the exact money he found, and he should tell the Commissioners when he came up; he did make use of another expression. He said, "It is of no use; if I were to "attempt to fence before the Commissioners I could "not; it is not in me." I have omitted, I see from this memorandum, three names of parties who had money; one of them is Christopher Hudson.

9781. Who is Hudson?—He lives on the Greaves. A man of the name of Wilson, in Cardwell's Yard, and Moloney, a shoemaker.

9782. Do you know Moloney's address?—He was in Market Street, but he has left now, and I do not know where he is. Those three sums were given by me to Colonel Yeadall, and he told me their names; he is not a voter.

9783. What sums were they respectively?—Two tens and a five; 10*l.* to Hudson, 10*l.* to Wilson, and 5*l.* to Moloney; 25*l.* altogether.

9784. Who is Colonel Yeadall?—He is a gentleman, a retired military officer, who lives on the Greaves.

9785. (Mr. Newton.) Have you any more names on that list that you have in your hand?—No.

9786. Just hand it up. (The list is handed to the Commissioners.) Did you understand that these sums were given for the votes of the persons you have named?—He did not tell me the names at the time, but he has told me since.

9787. When did he tell you since?—Last Sunday afternoon. He had told me Hudson's name before, but I did not know of the other two.

9788. Did you understand that those sums were given for their votes?—Certainly. He got 6*l.* besides for a man named Bailey, who had been paid by Knowles Harrison, but the man brought it back again.

9789. (Mr. Hill.) Christopher Hudson is a surgeon's assistant in Scotland?—He is.

9790. Where does Wilson live?—It is Cardwell's Yard, Market Street.

9791. And Wilson is John Wilson, a tailor; is that right?—I do not know. I do not know the man.

9792. Did Barrow return the money?—Yes, he did.

9793. To you?—No, not to me, but I got the money.

9794. From whom?—From Mr. Wearing. I believe he brought it to Mr. Wearing.

9795. (Mr. Hill.) You do not know Wilson's

H. Welch.

5 Sept. 1866.

christian name nor his trade?—I believe he is a shoemaker. I do not know the man, but I believe he is a shoemaker.

9796. There is no Wilson down here a shoemaker. The only three Wilsons who voted for Fenwick and Schneider are Robert Wilson, of Penny Street, tailor; George Wilson, of Union Square, tailor, and John Wilson, of Market Street, tailor?—That would be him; it is in Market Street, Cardwell's Yard.

9797. He is a tailor?—I have a sort of indistinct recollection that the Colonel told me he worked for Moloney, that made me think he was a shoemaker; it may not be Wilson at all.

9798. Have you anything more to add?—Unless there are more names on that paper that I have not given you.

9799. I see Richard Welch down, and another name, J. Western?—Yes, 10*l.*; I took them rather crosswise when I gave them to you.

9800. Just take the list again. (The list is handed to the witness.)—Hoskin, Cleminson, Stewartson, Bradshaw, four men in Penny Street, Joseph Smith, J. Western (he is in the same line in that paper and I missed his name).

9801. We had not got Western before; who is Western?—He is a man living at Bolton; he formerly lived in Lancaster.

9802. Is it John Western, of China Lane, bookkeeper?—That would be him, but he did not live there.

9803. How did you give him this 10*l.*?—That was an engagement for his services.

9804. Who paid him?—I am not aware whether I paid him myself or not, but he was paid. If I did not give it myself I should give it to somebody to give him.

9805. Then there is some other sum?—Yes, Richard Welch, 4*l.* or 5*l.*; that was a very old man, who ought not to have been brought. I went to see him before the election and asked the doctor if he was fit to be removed, and he said he was not: he is a relation of mine, and I gave orders that he was not to be brought; but somebody went and fetched him in the afternoon and I did not know it.

9806. What relation is he of yours?—He was an uncle of mine; he is dead now; he was my father's brother.

9807. Did they kill him bringing him here?—No, he was better, singular to say.

9808. Which did him good, the journey or the money?—I fancy the shaking did him good; he never got any money himself, but his son's wife got a sovereign, or else 2*l.* and some clothes for him, which would amount to, I think, 4*l.* or 5*l.* that he would get.

9809. He wore the clothes, I suppose?—I really cannot tell.

9810. He knew where they came from?—I do not know, I never saw him at all, it was his son's wife I gave it to.

9811. How much do you put him down for altogether?—4*l.*

9812. (Mr. Barstow.) Have you any other names? Just look through your paper and see?—(After referring to the paper.) I think I have read them all.

9813. Are those all the names you remember?—They are all I remember at present.

PETER MOORE sworn and examined.

P. Moore.

9814. (Mr. Barstow.) You keep the "White Lion?"—Yes.

9815. I forget in what street?—In Penny Street.

9816. You were very active in the last election, that we know; are you an old electioneerer?—No. I have had nothing to do with electioneering only these last five elections.

9817. First, I will ask you about the money that you have received yourself to pay to others. What gross sum have you received for the last election?—I think about 47*l.*

9818. From whom did you receive that?—I received 3*l.* from Mr. Hartley, in Penny Street, first.

9819. Who is Hartley, of Penny Street?—A grocer.

9820. Christopher Hartley?—Christopher Hartley.

9821. What is the next?—The next was the money that Mr. Welch told you of.

9822. But we want to take it from you?—16*l.* I paid that out of my own pocket, and he paid it to me after the election.

9823. What other sum?—The next was 18*l.* from Mr. Hosking, the man that was in my house.

9824. The same person that was called Captain Hosking?—Yes.

9825. How did you dispose of this money?—I received 10*l.* more from Mr. Robert Shackleton, of Morecambe.

9826. Was that all you received?—Well, I am not sure whether I received 8*l.* from Hoskin or not for John Hartley. I think Mr. Hoskin paid it his own-self. He went into the room to him.

9827. Were you present or in the house at the time?—Yes, I was in the house.

9828. You do not know whether you received it and gave it to him from Mr. Hoskin, or whether Mr. Hosking paid it to him in your presence?—Yes, I am sure which.

9829. Which Hartley?—John Hartley, in Leonard Gate.

9830. Is he a freeman?—I do not know whether he is a freeman or not.

9831. Perhaps it is John Roland Hartley, in Nicholas Street?—I do not know. He is a man that I did not know till Tinker mentioned him, but I recollect taking him upstairs. That is all.

9832. How did you spend this money that you received?—The first 3*l.* I gave to Henry Wilson for the election before. He said he would not go for us unless he got 3*l.* that he had spent the election before.

9833. Who is he?—He is a butcher in the shambles. He would be down for Penny Street, perhaps.

9834. (Mr. Newton.) Which way did he vote?—He voted for the Conservatives.

9835. That is Henry Wilson, of Penny Street?—Yes.

9836. You paid him his 3*l.*?—Yes.

9837. (Mr. Barstow.) Who is the next?—The next was Roger Birkett, 8*l.*, in Quernmore; he is a freeman.

9838. Now the next, if you please?—George Rowlond Knott, a butcher; the next was John Kitchen, a stonemason, of Morecambe, 8*l.*

9839. The next?—James Verden, of Church Street.

9841. Who else?—Thomas Cunningham, cork cutter, Damside Street. He is a householder.

9843. (Mr. Newton.) He came from Ireland, did he not?—Yes.

9844. Now the next?—That will be all.

9845. What do you mean when you say you paid Cunningham, did you pay him with your own hands?—Yes. I think Edward Hutchinson got the money to pay him with, and gave it to Robert Shackleton, and he could not get him to go, and so I got the money from Mr. Shackleton, and went and paid him with my own hands.

9846. Shackleton could not get him?—No.

9847. Did you spend any other money?—Yes, 6*l.* I spent before the election. Mr. Welch paid me that back after the election.

9848. That you spent in treating, I suppose?—Yes.

9849. Not at your own house?—No.

9850. Your own house was a sort of head-quarters, was it?—Yes.

9851. What sum altogether did you receive in your our own house?—62*l.*

9852. That was the amount of your bill altogether?—No. There was 10*l.* for the house as well.

NINTH DAY.

P. Moore.

5 Sept. 1866.

9853. That would be 72*l.*?—Yes.

9854. Who paid you that money ?—Mr. Welch.

9855. All ?—Yes.

9856. About what time did you begin to furnish refreshments to voters ?—On the nomination day.

9857. Then none of this is for refreshments furnished before the nomination day ?—No, I think not.

9858. When did you cease to furnish what I may call gratuitous refreshment ?—Well, I do not know. I am sure it would be that afternoon some time, but I could not tell.

9859. The afternoon of the nomination day ?—Yes. I was not at home during the afternoon much.

9860. You did not furnish any refreshments at the candidates' expense after the election day ?—No.

9861. Do you know how this refreshment was supplied ?—No, I do not know. Altogether there were a good few breakfasts.

9162. What I wish to know is whether anyone who came in could have refreshments ?—No, not anyone could not.

9863. But refreshment was not limited to voters ?—No.

9864. What line did you draw between those who could not have refreshment and those who could ?—Chiefly parties brought them. Mr. Wise brought a good few from Heysham, and brought them to our house; and Mr. Hartley, from Morecambe, told them to come to our place.

9865. May we take it that whoever had refreshments required some introduction from some one that you knew ?—Yes.

9866. I suppose refreshments were furnished at your house before the election ?—Yes.

9867. To people concerned in the election ?—Yes.

9868. How were those refreshments paid for ?—They were all paid at the finish, I think, for anything I know.

9869. Were they booked, or were they paid at the time ?—There was nothing booked, only for them two days.

9870. To whom did you book refreshments ?—I booked them to the committee of Mr. Schneider and Fenwick.

9871. Then the refreshments that were furnished before the nomination day were paid for as they were had ?—Yes.

9872. How soon before the nomination day did people connected with the election begin to come to your house ?—They were coming for a fortnight, I should think.

9873. Did they stay there all night ?—No.

9874. They were turned out at 12 o'clock were they ?—Yes. They were turned out at the same time as any other person was turned out.

9875. Can you give us any idea how many people were drinking there at any one time ?—No, I do not know I am sure. There were a good few people that did not belong to the election that came as well ; they paid for their own drink did the people that came for the election at that time.

9876. Did people begin to come to your house as soon as it was opened in the morning ?—Yes, sometimes they did.

9877. And they continued there more or less all day ?—They were backward and forward, but what they got, they paid for themselves.

9878. When one came another went, and so on ?—Yes.

9879. You were paid a very large sum for conveyances ?—Yes.

9881. I will first ask you how that was paid ?—Mr. Tilley paid me the money. He paid me 160*l.* at first ; he sent it down to my house by his clerk.

9882. I think you say the first sum was 160*l.* ?—Yes.

9883. You gave him a receipt, I suppose ?—Yes, I receipted the bill.

9884. When did you receive the second payment ?—It would be two or three weeks after that.

9885. When did you receive the first payment, how soon after the election ?—I think it would not be above a week or 10 days.

9886. How soon after that did you receive the last?—Perhaps it might be a fortnight or three weeks.

9887. I suppose you keep books ?—Yes.

9888. And this amount was entered in your books ?—That 24*l.* ; that is for canvassing.

9889. That is not what I am asking you about, I did not know anything of that ?—The other was a contract that I made with them for the nomination day and the election day, for horses. That was a contract which was made before for them two days.

9890. But it was entered in your books ?—No, it was not ; not the 160*l.*

9891. How comes that ?—We made a contract for so many horses, and so many carriages, for so much money, so I had no occasion to enter it.

9892. Would you not enter it in your books ?—No. I think it is not entered at all in my books; the other is for canvassing.

9893. How came you not to enter that 160*l.* in your books ?—I had a paper from Mr. Tilly, you know, for the amount. He gave me one paper and kept one himself.

9894. An agreement ?—Yes.

9895. As a matter of keeping your own account, would you not enter this in your books ?—No; if it is entered it would only be entered the full amount, but I am not certain whether it is entered or not.

9896. Have you not entered in your books—received of Mr. Tilly 160*l.*, or whatever the sum was ?—I do not know whether I have entered it in the book or not, but the other is entered. I had a deal of the 160*l.* to pay for horses that I engaged.

9897. (Mr. Newton.) You received the money ?—I received the money and paid other parties out of it.

9898. (Mr. Barstow.) This 160*l.* is a considerable sum; is it not entered in your cash book ?—I do not keep a cash book.

9899. How was it paid to you ?—It was paid all at once.

9900. How ?—It was wrapped up in a piece of paper.

9910. Was it gold ?—Gold ; it was all gold, I believe, every bit of it.

9902. If it is entered in any book, in what book is it entered ?—It will be in the book that I enter the work that my horses do in.

9903. What do you call that book ?—I do not know; it is a book that I keep on that account, and for nothing else.

9904. It is a book in which you keep an account of your carriage department ?—Yes.

9905. You have a book then, I suppose, in which you keep an account of all your horses and conveyances ?—Yes.

9906. Your disbursements and receipts with respect to your conveyances ?—Yes.

9907. And that you keep at your own house ?—Yes.

9908. It is strange that you should have any doubt about it. Have you any doubt at all that you entered that sum of 160*l.* in that book ?—I am sure I cannot say whether I did or not, but if I did it will be at the top of the other. It will be at the top of a leaf. I put it all down by itself on one leaf, and put it all together.

9909. You put all the election account on one leaf together ?—Yes.

9910. Now we must have that book. Where is it ? Tell us, and we will send for it ?—The mistress knows where it is. It is in a drawer just in the bar, but she will not know which book. It is not the book that we are using now.

9911. But the last year's account ?—Yes. (A messenger is directed by the Commissioners to procure the book from the house of the witness.)

9912. Now as to the 24*l.* Is that entered in the same book ?—Yes, it will all be together, if the other be with it, I am sure.

9913. How soon after the election was this account settled and squared ?—I think it would not be more than a month altogether.

9914. Were you engaged at all in canvassing yourself ?—I was down at Morecambe with Mr. Hartley four or five times.

9915. What Mr. Hartley ?—Mr. Hartley, of Penny Street.

9916. You were in your house at the time that Mr. Hosking was in your room upstairs ?—Yes.

9917. You saw the voters go into the room in which Mr. Hosking was for the purpose of being paid ?—I did not see everybody go in. I was not upstairs. I saw people come into the house, and I told them to go upstairs to that room.

9918. I am sure you will tell us if you can. We want to know the names of those who were paid by Captain Hosking ?—I cannot tell how many of them; I might, perhaps, tell you two or three.

9919. Give us the two or three ?—John Cottam was one. He is a householder.

9920. Of Marsh Lane ?—Yes.

9921. Do you know what he got ?—I believe he got 8*l.*

9922. Can you tell us any other name ?—William Sharples, of Galgate.

9923. I have him down as paid by Balls ?—I do not know. He went upstairs, and I heard upstairs that he got 10*l.* I did not see him get it.

9924. Can you give us any other name ?—I do not know, not to be sure. There was a good many up. The stairs were full generally, and I could not remember the names.

9925. I am quite aware of the difficulty, but you have only given us two names ?—There was a deal went up when I was not there.

9926. I daresay you were in and out of the house the whole time, were you ?—No, I went out with the men that I paid, to vote myself.

9927. Do you know John Robinson ?—No.

9928. Or James Robinson ?—No.

9229. What Sharples was the man you paid ? Was he a shoemaker ?—Yes.

9930. Where does he live ?—At Galgate. It was John Pye who brought him to me, and I told him to take him upstairs.

9931. (Mr. Barstow.) Just try if you cannot give us another name ?—I do not know that I can. So many went that I am sure I cannot recollect their names.

9932. Do you remember any other man from Galgate ?—No, I do not remember any other from Galgate.

9933. You really say that those are the only two names you can give us ?—They are indeed. I could not mention any more. There might be more, and me not see them, I cannot say.

9934. You have given your evidence so like a respectable man that I am unwilling to believe you are concealing anything ; but two names out of the number is very small ?—I cannot remember any more. There were some that voted before they came to our house. John Preston and a few came in, but I think they had voted before that.

9935. You know the room where Tinker and Hosking were ?—Yes.

9936. And you knew that they were there at the time ?—Yes, I did.

9937. Should you be able, do you think, to furnish us with any names to-morrow, or at any subsequent time ?—I cannot tell. If I know any I will, but I cannot remember any more.

9938. You have told us that your house was full of men who voted ?—It was full of them that had voted and had not voted.

9939. Full of voters at all events ?—Yes. There were more in than voters, perhaps.

9940. Have you never heard any conversation about it since ?—No, I have not.

9941. Two names out of so many are so very few ?—There were so many there that I do not know.

9942. I suppose you knew most of these voters that were in your house ?—No ; there was a deal that I did not know. There was very few that I knew among them. They are not in the habit of coming to my house.

9943. I think most of them seem to know you, to judge by the evidence they have given here ?—There is not so many of them knows me, I think.

9944. Did you yourself take any voters to the room where Captain Hosking was ?—No, I think I took none, only Cottam, upstairs. That was all.

9945. (Mr. Newton.) How many paying parties were there in your house ?—There was only Mr. Hosking that I know.

9946. Was not Hutchinson there ?—Edward Hutchinson, he was upstairs.

9947. That was one ?—Yes, and Tinker.

9948. That was two ?—Mr. Wise was up with them after they came from Heysham.

9949. Was there not a third paying party ?—Not that I am aware of.

9950. Only those two ?—No, I did not see any more.

(The book before referred to is brought by the messenger to the Commissioners.)

9951. (Mr. Barstow.) Did you enter the account for canvassing in one sum in your book ? I am now upon the sum of money that was paid you for the hire of carriages and was paid you for canvassing. Did you enter that in one sum in your book ?—No. I think it is written up at the bottom with the other. That is all.

9952. You have entered the items ?—Yes.

9953. And then added them together ?—Yes. It will be at the far end of the book, I believe, if you have got the right book.

9954. Will you look at that book, and tell us if that is the right book ; you know your book again ?—This is the last year's book. I do not know whether this is the right one or not.

9955. (Mr. Hill.) Can you read ?—Yes.

9956. (Mr. Barstow.) Do you keep that book yourself ?—No, one of my children keeps it. The 160*l.* is not down, I see.

9957. You have no entry of "paid" to this ?—The book is done with altogether. I have got it paid.

9958. You have told us that this sum of 24*l.* is entered in some book ?—It is only entered in that book ; it is not entered in any other.

9959. What do you do with your money when you receive it ?—I generally put it by until I want it.

9960. You do not pay it into a bank, do you ?—No.

9961. What did you do with the sum of 160*l.* when you received it ?—I paid the parties for their carriages, and the other I kept for myself.

9962. (Mr. Hill.) I suppose you kept an account of the parties you paid ?—No, I did not.

9963. (Mr. Barstow.) Shall you be able to tell us from that book, or from any other book, when that sum of 24*l.* was paid to you ?—It was about three weeks or a month after the election, but Mr. Tilly will have the account.

9964. You say it was paid within a month after the election ?—Yes, I think it was.

9965. When did you send in your account ?—I sent it in about two or three days after the election.

9966. Did you send it all in in one account ?—I am not sure, I think not.

9967. Did you send the two accounts in at the same time ?—No. I had a paper belonging to the other, and I should receipt the paper with the amount on that Mr. Tilly gave me.

9968. (Mr. Newton.) Did you ever see Captain Hosking before that morning ?—Never in my life.

9969. Who brought him to your house ?—I think Alfred Tinker and him came together.

9970. Did you say anything when they came ?—Nothing at all.

9971. You took it as a matter of course ?—They went into the bedroom there.

NINTH DAY.

P. Moore.

5 Sept. 1866.

9972. How long do you think they remained there ?—They remained there, I think, till a little after three.

9973. Were there any voters left in the house when he went away that had not voted ?—Not that I am aware of.

9974. You think he had paid them all up ?—I do not know, I am sure.

9975. You were not in Court when Tinker gave his evidence, were you ?—Yes.

9976. Did you ever go and knock at the door when any voters wanted to be paid ?—I only went once, and that was the time I got 18*l.* from him.

9977. To whom did you give that ?—I paid 10*l.* to James Verden, and 8*l.* to John Kitchen, of Morecambe.

9978. You got that money from Hosking ?—Yes.

9979. You accounted for that in the 47*l.* you got before the election ?—Yes, that was the only time I was in the room.

9980. Did Wise ever go and knock at the door ?—I do not know.

9981. Did you ever see Wise take up anybody ?—No, I do not know that I saw him take anybody up. I wish to mention about this 3*l.* that I paid to Mr. Wilson. He promised to vote for us if I would get him this 3*l.*, and afterwards I could not get him. John Swainson, a butcher, told me that there were five of them got 12*l.* each—Henry Wilson, John Swainson, William Gill, Septimus Hodgson, and William Thornton.

9982. (Mr. Barstow.) Did he tell you who gave them the money ?—Yes.

9983. Who was it?—He told me that William Backhouse said that he gave them 12*l.* each. John Bleasdale was with me at the time he told us.

9984. Have you anything else to tell us ?—No.

T. Wise.

THOMAS WISE recalled and further examined.

9985. (Mr. Newton.) You have now had some time to refresh your memory ; can you now tell us any names of those who you took up to Tinker ?—I cannot tell you any names.

9986. Your memory is all a blank ?—I just took them up, and forgot them as soon as I delivered them. I could not have told you the next day scarcely. I took up a good many.

9987. How many do you think you took up ?—Twelve or fourteen. I can tell you one circumstance. After I had done my part with the Heysham votes, I looked about the town to see if I could see anyone that had not polled ; and going through China Lane there was a scuffle at the "Mitre Inn." The Conservatives had hold of a voter there. There was a sort of a fight for him ; "Riley" was his name. I went into the "Mitre Inn ;" the struggle was in the house, and I found we were rather the weaker party, so I raised a little more strength, and we took him away from them.

9988. What did you give him to go and vote ?—I took him to the "White Lion," and after he had recalled a little, I took him to vote.

9989. How much did you give him to vote ?—Nothing.

9990. What is the use of telling us that ; we did not ask you for that kind of information ?—Stop a bit, you come to conclusions too soon. I saw 10*l.* upon a form close beside him.

9991. Beside whom ?—Riley ; and he pocketed it.

9992. Where does George Riley live ?—He lives in Church Street.

9993. Who was in the room?—I can hardly tell you.

9994. Who put the 10*l.* on the form ?—I cannot tell. I saw it beside him on the form.

9995. Was it Tinker's party that did it ?—I do not know that it was Tinker.

9996. Was it his party ?—Yes.

9997. Did Hosking do it ?—I cannot say who put the money there.

9998. Is that the only name you can give me ?—There was a person of the name of Winder.

9999. We have got him. What is his christian name ?—I do not know. He is a sawyer, and works in the Canal Company's yard ; and I think there was another man of the name of Fox.

10,000. What did they get ?—I cannot tell you, I never saw them get anything.

10,001. Did they take up anything from the form ?—No, I do not say that.

10,002. Where did they go ?—To the "White Lion."

10,003. Did they go to Hosking's room ?—I cannot say whether they went to Hosking or Hutchinson.

10,004. They went to one of them ?—Yes.

10,005. Do you know what is the christian name of Fox ?—No, I do not.

10,006. Do you know where he lives ?—I think he lives somewhere about Leonard Gate, I am not positive.

10,007. Do you know what his trade is ?—He works at the Canal Company's yard.

10,008. "Andrew Fox, George Street, labourer," is that the man ?—I do not know his christian name, and I do not know where he lives.

10,009. Is he a householder ?—No, he would be a freeman.

10,010. Do you know whether he lives in Lancaster ?—When I recollect right, I think his name is Procter.

10,011. Is he the man from Galgate ?—No, he works at the Canal Company's yard.

10,012. "Procter, William, Leonard Gate, smith ?"—Yes, that is him. He and Winder were together.

10,013. They went up to Hosking's party ?—Yes. I also took up Jackson from Overton. He is a smith.

10,014. That is William Jackson, junior ?—Is he a smith ?

10,015. Yes ?—That would be him.

10,016. (Mr. Barstow.) He voted for Lawrence ?—Yes, I know he did. He got paid at the "White Lion" room, I believe, and then he got paid by the other party also.

10,017. He took it twice ?—Yes, I believe so.

10,018. Whose party do you think paid him at the "White Lion ?"—I cannot say. I did not see any paid.

10,019. Which do you think ?—I do not know whether it would be Hosking or Hutchinson. There would be three paying there, and I cannot charge my memory who paid him. I think he got 7*l.* 10*s.*, but I cannot be certain.

10,020. Now tell us another or two ?—I cannot tell any more now ; I am called upon so suddenly that I cannot recollect.

10,021. You have had the whole day to it ; you have been sitting in Court for the last two hours ?—I was not thinking any more about it.

10,022. That is what you were put there for. Just try and see if you cannot recollect some more ?—No, I cannot recollect any more.

10,023. You have given us four, cannot you give me another ?—I cannot tell you any more, not at present.

10,024. Could you tell us any more to-morrow ?—If I could I would. I promise you, if I can recollect any more, I will come and tell you without any more trouble at all.

10,025. Come and tell us to-morrow if you recollect any more ?—I will with pleasure.

10,026. (Mr. Hill.) How old are you ?—Sixty-seven.

NINTH DAY.

5 Sept. 1866.

JOHN PILKINGTON sworn and examined. J. Pilkington.

10,027. (Mr. Newton.) Where do you live?—At Galgate.

10,028. What are you?—A book-keeper.

10,029. Were you assistant captain at Galgate?—Yes.

10,030. When did you work at the election?—About a fortnight previous to the election.

10,031. Going about canvassing and drinking?—No.

10,032. Canvassing?—No.

10,033. What did you do?—Just merely went with the voters to the houses.

10,034. Did you stand them drink?—Yes, a little.

10,035. I suppose you did not get the drink for nothing?—No, I paid for it.

10,036. You paid for it yourself?—Yes.

10,037. How much did you pay for drinking and refreshment before the election?—Perhaps about 2*l.* 13*s.*

10,038. Is that all?—That was all.

10,039. How much money did you receive?—3*l.*

10,040. Altogether how much money did you receive?—3*l.* altogether.

10,041. Is that all that you have received?—Yes.

10,042. From anybody?—Yes, that was all I received altogether.

10,043. From whom did you receive that?—From Mr. Henry Welch.

10,044. When?—About a week after the election.

10,045. Then you got a matter of 7*s.* in your pocket?—No.

10,046. How did you spend that?—I paid 6*s.* for the busses going to Galgate and back again with the voters.

10,047. Do you know of any Conservative captains in the Galgate district?—Only those mentioned by Mr. Bradshaw.

10,048. Did you get anything for your trouble?—No, nothing; there would be just a balance, perhaps, of 3*d.* or 4*d.* out of the 3*l.*; that is all I got.

10,049. Did you see any money paid for any votes?—In Galgate?

10,050. Yes?—No, I did not.

10,051. Did you see any money paid for votes anywhere?—I saw Mr. Bradshaw pay the Galgate voters.

10,052. (Mr. Hill.) You saw Bradshaw pay the voters that you brought up in the busses?—Yes; I was with Bradshaw.

ROBERT ILLINGWORTH sworn and examined. R. Illingworth.

10,053. (Mr. Hill.) What are you?—A mechanic.

10,054. Where do you live?—At Galgate.

10,055. Are you a Liberal?—Yes.

10,056. Were you engaged at the last election?—Yes.

10,057. As an assistant captain in the Galgate district?—Yes.

10,058. What monies did you receive for the purposes of the last election?—8*l.*

10,059. From whom did you receive that?—Mr. Bradshaw.

10,060. When did you receive it?—About three days after the election.

10,061. What other monies did you receive?—None.

10,062. Did you receive nothing for refreshments of any sort?—No.

10,063. Was 8*l.* the whole of the money you received?—Yes.

10,064. How did you spend it?—I received it for my vote and assistance.

10,065. And you voted Fenwick and Schneider in consequence?—Yes.

BENJAMIN MILLS affirmed and examined. B. Mills.

10,066. (Mr. Barstow.) What is your occupation?—A grocer.

10,067. Where do you live?—In Ullswater Road, Lancaster.

10,068. You were engaged on the Liberal side at the last election?—Yes.

10,069. What money did you receive?—33*l.* from Mr. Henry Welch.

10,070. In what district were you engaged?—At Quernmore.

10,071. When did you receive 33*l.*?—13*l.* on the nomination day, and 20*l.* the day of the election.

10,072. How did you spend it?—4*l.* to Thomas Kelsall, the other captain, for expenses.

10,073. Was that preliminary expenses?—I do not know whether it was preliminary or not.

10,074. The next?—James Birkett, of Wyresdale, farmer, 3*l.*

10,075. What was that for?—His vote and day's wage. Joseph Kelsall, Quernmore, 3*l.*

10,076. What is he?—A husbandman. 10*s.* to a person at the White Lion, who said he would not go and vote unless he had it for the expenses of his son coming to vote; I believe his name was Casson; he is an Heysham voter.

10,077. Who next?—10*s.* to Thomas Kelsall, junior, West View, for his expenses. I paid the account for dinners, &c., at the "Commercial Inn." I do not know whether it was a little under or over 4*l.*; but I will say 4*l.* I gave the voucher to Henry Welch.

10,078. What was the next payment?—Expenses of going to Quernmore, and treating here at Lancaster, 3*l.* 15*s.* 6*d.*, that is for the conveyances, and horses, and treating; and 14*l.* 4*s.* 6*d.* I returned to Henry Welch.

10,079. Is that all the money you spent?—Yes, so far as I know.

10,080. I think we have not got the Conservative captain in your district?—Thomas Cranston, steward for Mr. Garnett, late member for this borough. He was very active offering 4*l.*, 6*l.*, 8*l.*, and 10*l.* for votes. So, I think, I got mine pretty cheap.

10,081. (Mr. Hill.) We will hope Mr. Garnett does not know of it?—It is rather doubtful, I think.

10,082. He was very active?—Yes, very active.

10,083. Is there anyone else?—Richard Parkinson.

10,084. What is his address?—Cast Mill, Quernmore. I believe they have a warehouse in Lancaster.

10,085. Are those all the Conservative captains?—I have heard of Lieutenant Whalley being up there.

10,086. Do not mention names unless you are sure, or else we shall have a repetition of what we have had to-day—bringing a voter from Liverpool for nothing is no joke?—I have heard of his being there and treating the voters and asking for votes. I should not mention it unless I had heard something about it.

10,087. He was very active?—I do not know. I heard of him treating voters and asking for votes for Mr. Lawrence.

10,088. Is there anyone else?—Not that I am aware of.

10,089. (Mr. Barstow.) Did Mr. Welch give you anything for your trouble?—4*s.* 6*d.* he returned.

THOMAS KELSALL affirmed and examined. T. Kelsall.

10,090. (Mr. Newton.) What are you?—A grocer.

10,091. Where do you live?—Moor Lane.

10,092. What part did you take in the election of 1865?—I was an assistant at Quernmore.

NINTH DAY.

T. Kelsall.

5 Sept. 1866.

10,093. What money did you receive ?—6l.

10,094. From whom ?—2l. from Wearing and 4l. from Mills.

10,095. What is Mr. Mills's christian name ?—Benjamin.

10,096. That is all you received ?—Yes.

10,097. How did you spend it ?—First, I gave 5s. to Henry Gorst.

10,098. Is he a voter ?—Yes.

10,099. What did you give him 5s. for ? Was he to give his vote for that ?—It was for expenses. It was a fortnight before the election. We were going up canvassing in Quernmore, and he went along with me, and I gave him 5s. for spending money.

10,100. For a day's assistance ?—Yes.

10,101. (Mr. Hill.) Is it Henry Gorst, Church Street, Lancaster ?—Yes ; he went to the other side.

10,102. (Mr. Newton.) To whom else did you pay any money ?—No one, except for the horse we had borrowed.

10,103. How much did you pay for that ?—3s.

10,104. Did you buy any votes ?—No.

10,105. What did you do with the remainder of the money ?—There was drink.

10,106. How much did you keep for yourself ?—I took it twice ; 1l. from Wearing one day, and 1l. another.

10,107. Just attend to me. You say you got 6l. ; 2l. from Mr. Wearing and 4l. from Mills. How did you spend that 6l. ?—I gave Joshua Kelsall 5s. after he had voted, and Joseph Kelsall 10s. ; and a person I employed with whom I was acquainted in the town, and he made himself generally useful, 15s.

10,108. What is his name ?—Chambers.

10,109. What was your next payment ?—The remainder was spent, I think, generally in drink during the 14 days.

10,110. You spent the remaining 5l. in drink and refreshments ?—Yes, for anything I know. We made ourselves generally free with voters, and some acquaintances as well, during the 14 days.

10,111. How long have you been in Court—all day ?—Yes.

10,112. I think you are rather thirsty now, are you not ?—No, I am not very thirsty. I did not drink at all myself. I remember giving Roger Birkett 1s.

W. Dowthwaite.

WILLIAM DOWTHWAITE sworn and examined.

10,113. What are you ?—A silk spinner.

10,114. Where do you live ?—In Nelson Street.

10,115. Are you a labourer ?—Yes.

10,116. What part did you take in the last election ?—Looking after the voters.

10,117. In the Dalton Square district ?—No, in Monmouth Street.

10,118. That is part of the district which we have called Dalton Square district ?—Yes.

10,119. Are you a voter ?—No.

10,120. What money did you receive at the last election ?—None but 10s. for two days' wages.

10,121. Is that all you know about the election ?—That is all the money I got or all I saw.

10,122. Did you assist Liver ?—No.

10,123. Did you assist poor Nixon, who is dead ?—Yes.

10,124. What was Nixon doing at the last election ?—He was looking after the voters.

10,125. Did you see him take any voters to be paid ?—Yes.

10,126. Where did he take them to ?—To his house.

10,127. What was Nixon ?—He was a landlord.

10,128. Of a public-house ?—Yes, a jerry-shop.

10,129. How many voters did Nixon take to his house to be paid ?—I cannot tell exactly.

10,130. Five or six ?—Yes, all that.

10,131. Ten or a dozen ?—No.

10,132. Six or seven ? Come, out with it ; do not give me all this trouble. A man of your years, and, I hope I may say, understanding, can arrive at a number without my putting it to you as if you were a child. How many was it ?—I cannot say.

10,133. Was it eight or nine ?—Five or six, I think.

10,134. Now give me their names ?—There were two Nelsons.

10,135. What were their christian names ?—I do not know.

10,136. What part of the world did they come from—Dalton Square, Lancaster ?—No, Upper Bulk Street.

10,137. Was one of them "William Nelson, Upper Bulk Street, plumber ?"—I do not know what occupation he followed.

10,138. He lived in Upper Bulk Street ?—Yes.

10,139. Was his christian name William ?—I cannot say as to that.

10,140. Was the other a coachsmith who lived in Upper Bulk Street ?—The other was his son.

10,141. Was he a coachsmith ?—I do not know what their occupation was.

10,142. Did he live in Upper Bulk Street with his father ?—I do not know that either.

10,143. Did he live in Upper Bulk Street ?—I do not know.

10,144. Who were the others ? I shall have to send for the man with the bunch of nettles if you do not go on ?—I do not recollect.

10,145. Who else was there besides the two Nelsons ?—There were two who received, but not at his house.

10,146. Who were they ?—Brewer and son.

10,147. William Brewer, and William Brewer, junior ?—Yes.

10,148. Where did they receive ?—At their own house, so he told me.

10,149. What did he say he had given them ?—He did not say what he had given them.

10,150. You know pretty well what it was ?—8l., I believe, each.

10,151. How do you know it ?—I heard that was the sum agreed to. I did not see it paid.

10,152. You heard them agree to take 8l. ?—Yes.

10,153. Did the Nelsons get 8l. each, too ?—I do not know that.

10,154. Did you not hear that agreed to ?—No.

10,155. Did not Nixon tell you ?—No.

10,156. You know they were paid ?—Yes.

10,157. Who were the other two, besides the two Nelsons and the two Brewers ?—I cannot remember.

10,158. Try ?—There was one Palmer, but I do not know what he got.

10,159. Is that "Robert Palmer, Bulk Street, labourer ?"—Yes.

10,160. Where was he paid ?—I do not know. He was in their house at the same time as the others were.

10,161. In Nixon's house ?—Yes.

10162. Who else was present when these men were being paid ?—There was no one present but themselves ; they were paid upstairs.

10,163. Can you think of any other besides these five ?—No. I think them was all that received money in our district.

10,164. You think they were ?—Yes.

10,165. Do you know what money Nixon had to pay them with ?—No, I do not.

10,166. You got 10s. for wages, and that was all you got ?—Yes.

10,167. Did you spend any money of your own on the purposes of the election ?—No ; I had not any to spend.

Adjourned to to-morrow at 10 o'clock.

TENTH DAY.

Lancaster Castle, Thursday, 6th September 1866.

PRESENT:

MR. BARSTOW. | MR. NEWTON.

MR. HILL.

JOHN BAGOT sworn and examined.

10,168. (Mr. Barstow.) Where do you live?—In Wood Street.

10,169. In Lancaster?—Yes.

10,170. What is your occupation?—A watchmaker.

10,171. Were you active in canvassing on the Liberal side at the last election?—Yes, and at many elections.

10,172. What district did you particularly look after?—Overton, Heaton, and Sunderland.

10,173. Any other?—I used to go occasionally to Morecambe and Heysham just on my rounds.

10,174. I think you also were busy in some district in the town, were you not?—Yes.

10,175. What part of the town?—Any part wherever the members went.

10,176. But you had not any particular district?—No.

10,177. You mean you went canvassing with the members?—Yes.

10,178. First of all, what money did you receive in gross?—The first money I received was 10*s.*

10,179. Perhaps you can tell us the gross sum you received altogether?—5*l.* for electioneering.

10,180. Was that all you received?—For electioneering expenses.

10,181. But for any other expenses?—No, only my own.

10,182. And that you tell us is the whole amount you received?—That is the whole amount I received for election expenses.

10,183. But for anything else?—I received 6*l.* after the election from Mr. Welch, and 6*l.* from Mr. Tilly. That was after the election was over; it was for my trouble.

10,184. You received, then, altogether 17*l.*?—17*l.*

10,185. How did you spend this money?—I used to go down to Overton and Heaton and treat the men.

10,186. How much did you spend in treating the electors?—5*l.*

10,187. 12*l.* remains; what became of that?—Oh, I put that into my pocket.

10,188. You are a voter?—Yes.

10,189. We may say for yourself 12*l.*?—Yes.

10,190. (Mr. Hill.) That was paid into your hands by Henry Welch?—It was a week after the election.

10,191. (Mr. Newton.) And when was it paid by Mr. Tilly?—A few days after that.

10,192. (Mr. Barstow.) Did you do anything else except visit the country districts and go about with the members canvassing?—No.

10,193. Can you tell us the name of any Conservative captain at Overton, Heaton, or Sunderland?—Gorst had been there a fortnight before ever I went there.

10,194. Any other?—And Jackson, from the "White Horse," and Pilling, from the "Feathers."

10,195. Where is the "Feathers?"—In Market Street.

10,196. What district had he?—He is in Market Street.

10,197. Where was he busy at the election?—He was down at Overton side. He was in opposition to me.

10,198. (Mr. Newton.) What did Mr. Tilly give you this money for?—I was engaged for so much a week. I was engaged a month for them.

10,199. How much a week?—10*s.* 6*d.*

10,200. (Mr. Hill.) Not 10*s.* 6*d.* a week?—No.

10,201. 10*s.* 6*d.* a what?—10*s.* 6*d.* a day.

10,202. (Mr. Newton.) By Tilly?—No, Mr. Tilly did not engage me.

10,203. Who did?—Mr. Welch.

10,204. Then Welch paid you?—He paid half.

10,205. And Tilly paid the other half?—The other half.

10,206. How long before the election did you begin to work?—I started the day after Mr. Lawrence spoke in the Palatine Hall. I was engaged a month and a day. Then Mr. Clark said they always wanted wages in Overton. When I first started they never would come from Overton without wages; in Mr. Martin's time they would not. They always have had wages; they never will come without.

10,207. (Mr. Hill.) You have a son, have you not?—Yes.

10,208. John Bagot, junior?—Yes.

10,209. He was employed upon the staff then?—He was.

10,210. In the country?—Yes.

10,211. Is he a voter?—He is now.

10,212. Was he then?—No.

10,213. How much did he receive?—I cannot tell you that.

10,214. More than 10*s.*?—I cannot tell what he received. Then they had one of our's bottled at Snatchem's; they took him from Lancaster, the Blues did. He never had polled for Blues in his life before.

10,215. It was 6*l.* 6*s.* you got from Tilly, was it not; not 6*l.*?—I cannot tell.

10,216. Who was the man they had bottled at Snatchem?—James Woodman. Then I had a nephew that also promised us one; but Mr. John Hall went and put the screw on.

10,216*a*. (Mr. Newton.) How many did you get in that way?—Four.

JOHN HUNTINGTON sworn and examined.

J. Huntington.

10,217. (Mr. Newton.) What are you?—An innkeeper.

10,218. Where at?—The "Prince William Henry," in Penny Street.

10,219. Did you take an active part in this election?—Yes.

10,220. Had you taken an active part in elections previously?—No, I had not.

10,220*a*. This was the first one?—Yes.

10,221. How long have you been living at the "Prince William Henry?"—We have been there about a year and a half.

10,222. Then you were not in Lancaster at the election in 1864?—Yes, I was; but I had not a vote.

10,223. Are you a householder?—Yes.

10,224. What was the district that you had to look after?—Bolton.

10,225. Were you captain there under Stackhouse?—No; I was not a captain that I know of. They sent to us as we used to live there, and I knowed a good many people there.

10,226. You used to go and look after voters with Stackhouse?—Yes; he was there sometimes; not always, I think.

TENTH DAY.

J. Huntington.

6 Sept. 1866.

10,227. What money did you receive for the purposes of the election altogether?—48*l.* 10*s.* for house-rent and refreshments.

10,228. Who paid you that money?—John Bleasdale.

10,229. How much did he pay?—48*l.* 10*s.*

10,230. He paid you the whole sum?—Yes.

10,230*a*. When did he pay you?—I cannot say; it would be six or seven weeks after the election, I think.

10,231. (Mr. Hill.) How much was your house, 10*l.*?—Yes.

10,232. (Mr. Newton.) Who engaged the house? Did Mr. Allinson engage it?—I do not know whether it was John Bleasdale or Allinson who engaged it.

10,233. But one or the other did?—Yes.

10,234. And the rent was 10*l.*?—Yes.

10,235. The remaining 38*l.* 10*s.*, then, was for refreshments, was it?—Refreshments and what I spent.

10,236. What did you spend yourself?—I spent 4*l.* in liquor and 1*l.* in conveyances.

10,237. Was the liquor spent in your own house or in other houses?—At Bolton and Slyne, and 1*l.* I paid for conveyances.

10,238. Who were the conveyances for?—One was for William Heald, and one was for our own. I charged 10*s.* for our own.

10,239. That was for bringing up the voters to poll?—No; it was before. It was for going to see voters.

10,240. How do you make out the other 34*l.*; what is that for? You have told us you got 10*l.* for the room and 4*l.* for the spirits and liquor at Bolton and Slyne, and 1*l.* for conveyances. What else?—There was breakfasts and refreshments at our own place.

10,241. All the remainder?—Yes.

10,242. Do you know a man named Bennison?—At Bolton?

10,243. Yes?—Yes.

10,244. And Baxter?—Yes.

10,245. Do you know a man named Talbot?—No; what is he?

10,246. Richard Talbot, Marton Street, iron founder?—I do not know him.

10,247. And Joseph Talbot, of Marton Street, iron founder?—No.

10,248. Do you know any Talbot?—I know Mr. Talbot at Lane House, but that is in Westmoreland.

10,249. Did you pay any voters for polling?—Not one.

10,250. To whom did you send in this bill of 33*l.* 10*s.*?—Fenwick and Schneider.

10,251. Who did you send it in to? You did not send it in to them?—I sent it to Henry Welch.

10,252. In whose name is it made out?—Mr. Fenwick and Schneider.

10,253. Did you keep any books?—I do not think they did.

10,254. Do you keep any books?—Books? No.

10,255. None at all?—No.

10,256. Then how do you know the bill was 33*l.* 10*s.*?—Our folk kept the account.

10,257. Where is the account?—I cannot tell you anything about it. I never was at home at the time.

10,258. Who kept it?—My wife, very likely.

10,259. You must know perfectly well who kept it?—My wife, no doubt. I had very little to do with it.

10,260. Does she keep any accounts?—I cannot say.

10,261. Does she keep any books?—About the election?

10,262. No; about your house?—No books at all. We get ready money always.

10,263. You have no scores?—No.

10,264. No writing upon the slate?—No.

10,265. Was it all paid at once?—Yes; they paid it all at once.

10,266. By money, or by a cheque, or how?—Money.

10,267. What sort of money?—Sovereigns.

10,268. All in sovereigns?—Yes.

10,269. Where was it paid?—At our own house.

10,270. Did Bleasdale come down and pay it?—Yes.

THOMAS KIRBY sworn and examined.

T. Kirby.

10,271. (Mr. Hill.) What are you?—An ironmonger.

10,272. Where?—Horseshoe Corner, Lancaster.

10,273. Are you a Liberal?—Yes.

10,274. And were you engaged actively on your own side at the last election?—Yes.

10,275. Where?—In the Market Street district.

10,276. As captain?—As sub-captain, under Mr. Bradley.

10,277. Did you receive any money for the purposes of the last election?—I received 5*l.* 10*s.*

10,278. Was that the whole you received?—The whole sum I received, except what Mr. Bradley accounted for.

10,279. From whom did you receive it?—I received 4*l.* from Mr. Henry Welch at two different times.

10,280. Before the election?—Before the election.

10,281. What was the next sum you received?—I received 30*s.* on the day of the election from Mr. Bradley.

10,282. Thomas Bradley?—Thomas Bradley.

10,283. What other monies did you receive?—No other monies, only what came through Mr. Bradley's hands to pay some voters, which he accounted for.

10,284. How did you lay out the 5*l.* 10*s.*?—4*l.* was spent on public-houses in the town.

10,285. Was that for refreshments to voters?—Yes; and the 30*s.* was spent on the election day in treating voters.

10,286. Then you did not make any money payments to any voters?—I did through Mr. Bradley.

10,287. What voters did you pay?—I paid No. 205 on the list of freemen.

10,288. What is his name?—William Cumpsty.

10,289. How much did you give him?—10*l.*

10,290. Who else?—Thomas Cumpsty, No. 207.

10,291. How much?—10*l.*

10,292. Who else?—No. 819, Thomas Taylor, 5*l.*; 1,018, Henry Berry, 5*l.*, a householder, and Thomas Winders, 8*l.*. That is one that Mr. Bradley overlooked in his evidence; he is since dead.

10,293. What is Winder's number?—964. Most of those were paid by Mr. Bradley, only the money came through my hands out of his. Mr. Bradley omitted to mention that.

10,294. What is Henry Berry by trade?—I believe he is a stonemason, and they keep a furniture shop, secondhand.

10,295. Bradley gave you the money and you paid him?—Yes.

10,296. Who next after Winder?—That is the lot of them

10,297. Five altogether?—Yes, five.

10,298. Is the money you have told us of all the money you spent?—That is all the money I had.

10,299. What did you have for yourself for your exertions?—Nothing whatever.

10,300. Did not you receive any money at all?—No.

10,301. Can you remember the name of any Conservative captain we have not been told of already?—No.

10,302. (Mr. Barstow.) Do you know anything of William Cumpsty, of Anchor Lane, tinplate worker?—Bradley paid him, I think.

10,303. You know he was paid, do you?—Yes, I do.

10,304. (Mr. Newton.) The William Cumpsty that Bradley says he paid lives in St. Leonard's Gate?

10,305. (Mr. Hill.) The son of Bryan Cumpsty?—I believe so.

10,306. What is his number?—William Cumpsty, 205.

10,207. What is Thomas Cumpsty's number?—207.

10,308. (Mr. Newton.) What did you pay William Cumpsty, of Anchor Lane?—10*l.*

10,309. Then Bradley paid Bryan Cumpsty?—Yes.

10,310. Did you pay William Cumpsty, of St. Leonard's Gate?—I do not know.

10,311. Thomas S. Cumpsty, Anchor Lane, plumber. That would be Bradley?—Yes.

10,312. And did Bradley pay Bleasdale?—Yes.

10,313. And Kirk?—Yes.

10,314. And Enoch Monks?—Yes.

10,315. And Samuel Taylor?—I paid that.

10,316. And Henry Berry?—Yes. There was another gentleman I omitted to name on the Conservative side, Mr. Slater; he was actively engaged, and Mr. Greenall, in New Street, also.

10,317. Will you give us the addresses of Slater and Greenall?—Slater is a hairdresser in Church Street.

10,318. And Greenall?—Greenall, New Street, chiropodist.

10,319. (Mr. Hill.) There were three Cumpstys paid by you and by Bradley?—Yes.

10,320. And only three?—To the best of my knowledge.

10,321. Bryan Cumpsty, No. 202, tailor, and the other two were his two sons, William Cumpsty, No. 205, and Thomas Smith Cumpsty, No. 207?—Yes.

10,322. Those were the whole of the three that were paid by Bradley or by you?—Yes.

10,323. And no other Cumpsty?—No.

10,324. (Mr. Newton.) Then who paid William R. Cumpsty, of St. Leonard's Gate, tailor?—I do not know.

10,325. (Mr. Barstow.) Do you know anything of William R. Cumpsty, of St. Leonard's Gate, tailor?—I do not.

CHRISTOPHER FOTHERGILL sworn and examined.

C. Fothergill.

10,326. (Mr. Barstow.) Where do you live?—In Damside Street.

10,327. And what is your trade or profession?—A tobacco manufacturer.

10,328. You took an active part in the last election on the Liberal side?—Yes.

10,329. What money had you given you to spend?—5*l.*

10,330. In what district were you?—Green Area.

10,331. You assisted Mr. Isaac Vickers?—No, never.

10,332. Whom did you assist, then?—James Turner. There was a mistake in Vickers's evidence I should like to mention.

10,333. Never mind just now; we will have that presently. Was that the whole of the money you received?—It was.

10,334. From whom did you receive it?—From James Turner.

10,335. How did you spend it?—In treating voters.

10,336. The whole of it?—The whole of it.

10,337. That was before the election day and during the election day?—Before the election, out of my own pocket.

10,338. What was it you wished to say just now about Vickers?—There was a mistake in his evidence. He said that he gave Christopher Fothergill 6*l.* 10*s.* I had nothing whatever to do with Isaac Vickers.

10,339. You tell us you received no money whatever for your vote?—No, none; I never did.

10,340. Did you pay anybody for their votes?—Never.

10,341. Did not Turner give you anything for your vote?—No; he gave me 5*l.* on the evening of the nomination.

10,342. (Mr. Hill.) Did you not get any money from anybody besides this 5*l.*?—Never.

10,343. What time in the day did you poll?—Between 8 and 9, the first hour; perhaps 20 minutes past 8.

10,344. Who did you go with to the poll?—Nathan White.

10,345. What did Nathan White get for his vote?—I have heard by the evidence that he got 5*l.*

10,346. Did you not get the same?—No, I got nothing; not for my vote.

10,347. For anything else?—Yes; for treating the men, the voters.

10,348. Was not something paid you besides that 5*l.*?—No, never; never a halfpenny by nobody.

10,349. (Mr. Newton.) Did you spend 5*l.* in one day in treating voters?—Well, there was the evening till 12 or 1 in the morning, and then up again at 5 o'clock; and the little balance that was left was spent the first fortnight, and I offered it back again.

10,350. How much did you keep yourself?—I do not know that I kept anything.

10,351. Yes, you did; tell us how much?—I believe I may have had something under 1*l.*

10,352. How much more than 1*l.* did you keep?—Something under 1*l.*; and I offered it him back the day after election, and he would not take it.

10,353. What did you mean by saying just now that the whole of the money was spent in refreshment?—Well, it was.

10,354. No, it was not, because there was 1*l.* you kept back?—No, I had spent for a fortnight more or less.

10,355. What did you mean by saying just now that you spent it all in refreshments?—I did.

10,356. No, because there was 1*l.* over?—But I had been spending for a fortnight previous.

10,357. You got 1*l.*; you did not get more?—It would be short of 1*l.* that would be left.

10,358. How much short of 1*l.*?—Perhaps 4*s.* short; perhaps 16*s.* was the balance. I kept no account of it. I had been paying more or less for a fortnight previous, and that was the reason he would not take it back, I think.

10,359. You are a householder?—Yes, I am a householder.

JAMES ROBINSON sworn and examined.

J. Robinson.

10,360. (Mr. Newton.) Where do you live?—In Galgate.

10,361. Did you take an active part in the last election?—I did not.

10,362. Did you interest yourself in it?—Not in any way.

10,363. What are you?—Buyer and salesman to William Thompson and Company, of Galgate.

10,364. Is there another James Robinson in the town?—Not that I am aware of.

10,365. (Mr. Barstow.) Are you a voter?—I am not.

10,366. ((Mr. Newton.) And you did not interest yourself in the election?—Not at all; I was in the town on the day of the election.

10,367. (Mr. Barstow.) And you tell us you had nothing at all to do with the election?—Nothing at all.

10,368. (Mr. Newton.) Do you know anything about Mr. Bradshaw?—He was captain in our district, I believe.

10,369. How long have you known him?—From a boy.

10,370. When were you summoned to come here?—Last night.

10,371. (Mr. Hill.) What part did you take in

TENTH DAY.

J. Robinson.

6 Sept. 1866.

other elections?—I was captain of the district over which Edward Bradshaw was.

10,372. Why did you not take an active part in this election?—Because I was absent for three or four weeks in the month of June on the Continent; that was the reason why I took no part in the last election.

10,373. You gave Mr. Bradshaw the benefit of your previous experience?—No; I was in Lancaster on the day of the election, but I did not interfere with the voters at all.

10,374. Did you speak to Mr. Bradshaw about the election at that time?—Never a word passed.

10,375. You never told him what you had done at the previous election?—No.

10,376. How many voters had you bought in 1864?—Over 20.

10,377. And were those 20 the same persons whose names have been given us by Mr. Bradshaw?—Yes.

10,378. (Mr. Barstow.) Had you ever anything to do with Armstrong's mill?—Yes.

10,379. (Mr. Newton.) Did you see in the paper Bradshaw's evidence?—Yes.

10,380. And did you see the names that he mentioned?—Yes.

10,381. He gave 14 names?—Yes; the majority of those persons are in our employ.

10,382. What did you get them for a head at the previous election?—From 2*l.* to 5*l.*, just according as we could get them.

10,383. Had you any difficulty in buying them, then?—No, not very much.

10,384. (Mr. Hill.) You say that those you bought then, and that Bradshaw bought this time, were mostly men in your employ?—Yes.

10,385. Were they earning about the same wages then as they were earning at the time of the last election?—Yes, about the same.

WILLIAM KNOTT STEPHENSON sworn and examined.

W. K. Stevenson.

10,386. (Mr. Hill.) What are you by trade?—An accountant.

10,387. Where do you live?—In Belle View Terrace, Scotforth.

10,388. Are you a Liberal?—Yes.

10,389. Were you actively engaged in this last election?—I was engaged.

10,390. In what district?—Fenton Street.

10,391. With whom were you associated in the Fenton Street district?—John Gardner.

10,392. Did you receive any monies for the purposes of the last election?—Yes.

10,393. From whom?—Mr. Henry Welch.

10,394. What were the first monies you received from Mr. Henry Welch?—1*l.*

10,395. When?—It might be about ten days before the election.

10,396. What was the next sum that you received?—I think a sum of 2*l.*

10,397. Was that from Mr. Henry Welch?—Yes.

10,398. When did you receive that?—A day or two after.

10,399. What was the next sum?—I think a sovereign.

10,400. Was that also from Henry Welch?—Yes.

10,401. And was that also a few days afterwards?—Yes.

10,402. What was the next sum?—The next sum I think I received was another 1*l.*; the sum total was about 7*l.* 10*s.*

10,403. Then you received 2*l.* 10*s.* besides?—Yes.

10,404. What other monies did you receive?—Not a penny.

10,405. Was that 7*l.* 10*s.* all that you received?—Yes.

10,406. From Henry Welch?—Yes.

10,407. How did you spend it?—I spent it in treating the voters.

10,408. Before the election, and at the election?—I did not treat them either on the nomination day or on the polling day.

10,409. It was all spent before the election?—Yes.

10,410. What house did you take the voters to?—The "Wellington Arms," I think they call it.

10,411. Whose house was that?—Fisher kept it then, but I was in various districts.

10,412. But the money was spent mostly at that house?—No, I do not think it was.

10,413. What else had you to do with the election besides canvassing and treating the voters?—I was at Galgate; I went down with the late members when they spoke at Galgate, and I was several times at Scotforth with them.

10,414. That was the canvassing part?—Yes.

10,415. But I mean besides that?—Nothing at all.

10,416. Had you anything to do with giving any voters any money?—I never gave a voter a penny; there was one man, named Bainbridge, who came to me, and asked me what I would give him; you will find it stated in Allinson's evidence; it was in Allinson's house.

10,417. And Bainbridge got his money elsewhere? I do not know, he did not vote for us.

10,418. But he got money somewhere?—I should think so.

10,419. Can you tell us anything more about the election?—I cannot, except that the people we had to meet in that district were Mr. John Hatch, Mr. James Wilson, grocer, and I think Mr. William Halstead. I will not be sure about Mr. Halstead, I think he had Scotforth as well. I do not know whether they were captains or not; my opinion is they were a sort of fighting committee.

10,420. Skirmishers?—I will not be sure whether Mr. Halstead was there on the morning of the row.

10,421. What do you mean by the row?—The morning of the election, when they were stealing our men.

10,422. How many did they steal from you?—Not any.

10,423. You guarded your goods?—Yes, we did; we were challenged to fight.

10,424-5. And you accepted the challenge, and fought?—No, we had something else to do in looking after our own men.

J. Gardner.

JOHN GARDNER sworn and examined.

10,426. (Mr. Barstow.) Where do you live?—In Church Street.

10,427. What are you?—I keep a glass and china shop.

10,428. You were assisting Mr. Roger Wright at the last election?—Yes, a little.

10,429. What money did you receive?—About 6*l.*; it might be a few shillings over or under, I cannot tell exactly.

10,430. From whom did you receive it?—From Mr. Welch.

10,431. In what sums, and when; do you recollect? I received it in two or three sums; I cannot tell exactly in what sums.

10,432. How did you spend it?—There was 18*s.* at the "New Inn," Mr. Parkinson's.

10,433. Was it all spent in treating?—Yes.

10,434. Have you an account of it there?—Yes.

10,435. Was that account made out at the time?—No, I refreshed my memory with it; I kept no accounts at the time.

10,436. Treating, 6*l.*?—Yes.

10,437. Had you anything for yourself?—No. It was not all spent at the "New Inn;" it was spent at different houses.

JAMES TOMLINSON sworn and examined.

10,438. (Mr. Newton.) Where do you live?—At Marton Street.

10,439. What are you?—A brushmaker.

10,440. Are you a voter?—No.

10,441. How comes that?—I cannot help it; I do not live in a 10*l.* house.

10,442. And have not acquired your freemanship?—No.

10,443. Did you interest yourself in the last election?—Yes.

10,444. At whose request, and at whose orders?—Well, at the committee's, if you will.

10,445. The committee at the "Queen's?"—No.

10,446. Where at?—At a school-room in Nicholas Street, where we held our meetings.

10,447. Who was at the head of that committee?—I believe Mr. Henry Welch was the chairman; it was connected with the Reform League, if you will.

10,448. The Reform League was not in existence in 1865, was it?—It has been in force for many years.

10,449. He was at the head of it?—Yes, he was our chairman at several meetings.

10,450. At whose request was it you interested yourself?—If you understand me, this had no connexion with the election at all; not our first meetings.

10,451. You say you interested yourself in the election?—Yes.

10,452. What made you do it?—Because I felt the same as I had done for many years, that I should like the parties to get in that would give me a vote.

10,453. For pure love you did it?—Yes.

10,454. Did they give you any money?—Yes.

10,455. How much?—I received 7*l.* 3*s.* altogether, as a gross amount.

10,456. From whom?—Henry Welch.

10,457. Was it at different times?—Yes.

10,458. How long before the election did you receive it?—I received 1*l.* some days previous to the election, and 3*l.* to go to Liverpool with on a Saturday previous to the election.

10,459. For what did you go to Liverpool?—I went to see some voters there; and I received three guineas four days after the election for my services, six days at half a guinea a day.

10,460. Did you assist Bleasdale?—Yes, one portion of the time I did, in Penny Street.

10,461. Your district was in Penny Street?—Yes.

10,462. Was that all the money you received for the election?—It was, indeed.

10,463. Nothing more—no more than 7*l.*?—7*l.* 3*s.*

10,464. And you spent it in the way you have told us?—I have not told you how I spent it.

10,465. You told us that you spent 3*l.* of it in going to Liverpool, and you received three guineas for your own services?—Yes.

10,466. How did you spend the first pound?—I daresay in treating.

10,467. That is all you spent in treating?—Yes.

10,468. Did you buy any votes?—No.

10,469. Did you not get any votes at Liverpool?—I attempted; I went to Liverpool for that express purpose.

10,470. You did not get any votes?—No, unfortunately I did not, but the parties voted, of course. I merely went to see them; I went particularly to see Thomas Hatton, a person with whom I had been in communication, but he voted for the other side.

10,471. When you saw him at Liverpool, what did you say to him?—I asked him whether he was going to vote, according to promise, for Messieurs Fenwick and Schneider, and he said Mr. Jackson had got him a situation under the influence of Mr. H. T. Wilson by Mr. Jackson. Of course we got into conversation, and I told him he would be very foolish to lose his situation to vote for Mr. Fenwick; and he promised me he would give me the other vote, as he said he had only promised one to Mr. Schneider, but he did not, he voted for Mr. Lawrence, and he got 13*l.* for voting, or he told me so.

10,472. How much did you offer him?—I did not offer him anything; I said I would pay him the same as the others received.

10,473. That is all you know?—Yes, that is all I know about it.

10,474. Is that all the money you got from Mr. Welch?—Yes.

10,475. Have you read the papers?—Yes.

10,476. Do you know what Mr. Welch said yesterday?—Yes; he said he gave me 10*l.*, and I have read the paper to-day, and I find Mr. Welch stated I received two or three pounds a week or two before the election; and I find again that John Bleasdale said I received a pound from him; and I find in yesterday's paper that Mr. Henry Welch said I got 10*l.* Now, I repudiate all; I distinctly deny it, because I never got a halfpenny of it from any of those parties. I called Bleasdale over the coals about it, and he said he had made a mistake, but that is no matter, it has gone forth to the public, and I beg leave to contradict it.

10,477. You did not get a pound from John Bleasdale?—No.

10,478. (Mr. Hill.) You did not get any voters by your journey to Liverpool?—They voted for us except this one that I have told you of; but I did not get them.

10,479. Hinde got them, did he not?—I do not know who brought them up; they went by different parties, I did not bring any up.

10,480. Hinde went to Liverpool, did he not?—Not that I know of; he went to Manchester, but he did not go to Liverpool. They came and voted. When I got to Liverpool they had chiefly all left.

10,481. You spent 3*l.* to no purpose?—It took me three days to spend it in.

THOMAS ANDERSON sworn and examined.

T. Anderson.

10,482. (Mr. Hill.) What is your occupation?—Brush maker.

10,483. And your residence?—Upper King Street.

10,484. What are your politics?—Liberal.

10,485. What monies did you receive for the purposes of the last election?—I received 1*l.* from Mr. Bleasdale, as he stated I believe yesterday.

10,486. William Bleasdale?—No, John Bleasdale. I think that was about a fortnight before, or at all events, better than a week before the election, and I received 1*l.* on the nomination night.

10,487. From whom?—From the same man.

10,488. What else?—I received nothing else.

10,489. Was 2*l.* all you received at the last election?—That was as regards expenses; I received 10*l.* from Mr. Welch after the election on the same day.

10,490. How did you spend those 2*l.*?—I spent it amongst the voters in going about assisting the captains Bleasdale and Marsden.

10,491. Refreshing voters?—Yes.

10,492. At public-houses?—Yes.

10,493. A few days before the election?—Yes; I was out for a fortnight almost night and day at different times after I left my work. I was never engaged.

10,494. You received 10*l.* from Mr. Henry Welch; for what did you receive that?—For my trouble.

10,495. And vote?—Yes, vote and trouble altogether. He wished to engage me, but I would not make any engagement.

10,496. You kept yourself free?—Yes.

10,497. For vote and assistance you received 10*l.*?—Yes.

10,498. From Henry Welch?—Yes.

10,499. And preliminary expenses 2*l.*?—Yes.

10,500. Did you receive any other monies at all?—No; there is 3*l.* put down to me by Mr. Henry Welch, but it is a mistake, I never received it.

TENTH DAY.

T. Anderson.

6 Sept. 1866.

10,501. (Mr. Newton.) He told us yesterday that you received 10*l.*?—Yes; that is the 10*l.* I have mentioned.

10,502. (Mr. Hill.) You did not receive 3*l.* as stated by Mr. Welch?—No.

10,503. Did he state that the first day he was examined?—Yes.

10,504. What was your district?—Penny Street. There is one statement I should like to make, which I think would put the last witness and Mr. Welch right, and that is respectiug the 10*l.* When I went to receive the money of Mr. Welch, Marsden went with me to be paid. He is one of the captains; and I think he put Mr. Tomlinson down for 10*l.*, thinking he paid him at the same time, but he did not; Mr. Tomlinson did not receive anything of the kind.

10,505. How do you know he did not receive it?—Because he is put down as receiving it at the same time.

10,506. How do you know he did not receive it about the same time?—He was not along with me.

10,507. You cannot say whether he received it or not?—No; he may have received it at some other time.

J. Crook.

JAMES CROOK sworn and examined.

10,508. (Mr. Barstow.) Where do you live?—In Brock Street.

10,509. What are you?—A beerhouse keeper.

10,510. You assisted Mr. Cleminson at the last election in the George Street district?—I took a very little part in it.

10,511. Did you or did you not assist him?—I did not.

10,512. You did not assist him at all?—I just took a few circulars out on the nomination day, that was all that I did.

10,513. Are we to understand that you did not assist him at all?—If you call that assisting, that is what I did.

10,514. Did you receive any money?—I received 10*s.* for that.

10,515. Did you receive any other money?—I received 6*l.* for my house and about 3*l.* for refreshments.

10,516. From whom did you receive this money?—Mr. Thomas Cleminson.

10,517. What is the name of your house?—The "Horse and Farrier," Brock Street.

10,518. Did you receive any other money?—About 3*l.* for refreshments I should say, altogether.

10,519. (Mr. Hill.) It was not in a bill?—No.

10,520. (Mr. Barstow.) You have told us now that you received 9*l.* 10*s.*, is that all that you received?—Yes.

10,521. When did you receive this 3*l.* for refreshments?—About two days after the election.

10,522. Did you receive any other money after the election?—No, I did not.

10,523. What was the 6*l.* for?—For my house. Mr. Allinson took the house about a fortnight before the election.

10,524. Are you a voter?—Yes.

10,525. Did you receive nothing for your vote?—No.

10,526. Is that 9*l.* 10*s.* all you received?—Yes, it is.

10,527. That you swear to us now?—Yes.

10,528. Have you heard what Mr. Welch says he gave you?—Mr. Welch never gave me anything.

10,529. (Mr. Hill.) When you talk about your house being taken for 6*l.*, did you set apart any separate room?—Yes; there was a separate room.

10,530. Did you put apart any separate room?—There was a room for them to go into.

10,531. Did you set that room apart, to be used by nobody else except the committee?—Anybody went into it.

10,532. In fact, the 6*l.* was to get you over to their side, to retain you?—I cannot say.

10,533. It was you and not your house?—I cannot say as to that.

J. Wearden.

JOHN WEARDEN sworn and examined.

10,534. (Mr. Newton.) What are you?—An innkeeper.

10,535. Where do you live?—I live at the Ship Inn, now, but at the time of the election at the Plough Inn, Moor Lane.

10,536. Are you a voter?—Yes.

10,537. Are you John Wearden, Brier Street?—Yes; one door of my house was in Brier Street, and the other in Moor Lane.

10,538. How much money did you receive for the purposes of the election?—I received 5*l.* from Mr. Henry Welch.

10,539. Altogether?—No; I received 5*s.* I think from Mr. Allinson, either Mr. Allinson or Mr. Thomas Cleminson—but I think it was Mr. Allinson.

10,540. What was the 5*l.* for which you received from Mr. Welch?—It was for expenses; money that I had laid out previously, and money to go on treating the voters with.

10,541. When did you receive 5*s.*?—On the election day about noon.

13,542. What was that for?—For the same purposes. I was going up Penny Street, and he gave me that into my hand; I said I should want more money to treat the voters with.

10,543. Mr. Thomas Cleminson put it into your hand and said it was for you?—Yes.

10,544. What money did you receive from anybody else?—I received 10*l.* for my house in the latter end of October.

10,545. Who paid it to you?—Mr. Henry Welch.

10,546. Who engaged your house?—Mr. Allinson.

10,547. Did he say anything about the terms upon which it was engaged?—No; I was to have the same as other public-houses.

10,548. How long before the election was it that he came to you?—It was more than a fortnight; it was before they began to stir.

10,549. He was to have your house upon the same terms as others; he did not get them all for 10*l.*: was any specific sum told you?—No.

10,550. No specific sum was mentioned?—No.

10,551. Did you ever send in any bill?—Yes.

10,552. To whom?—I sent it in to Mr. Henry Welch.

10,553. When?—It would be perhaps a month after the election.

10,554. What was in that bill?—I sent in a bill for 5*l.*

10,555. What were the sort of items; have you got any account books?—No; it was just made out from memory.

10,556. 5*l.* for what?—For the use of my house; I heard that other landlords were getting 10*l.*, so I asked for 10*l.*, and got it.

10,557. You increased your demand?—Yes.

10,558. You say Allinson did not mention any price when he engaged your house?—No.

10,559. You were to have the same as the others?—Yes.

10,560. Supposing all the others charged 20*l.*, should you have charged that?—I should have liked to have had it.

10,561. You got your 10*l.*?—Yes.

10,562. And 5*l.* during the election?—Yes.

10,563. (Mr. Hill.) Did you lay out the 5*l.* at your own house?—Not all, but a deal of it.

10,564. So that, in fact, the 5*l.* was pretty well your bill for refreshments at your own house?—No; I paid that as it went on at my own house, treating voters and non-voters and other customers, as they came in.

10,565. What other bill was there for refreshments?—Mr. Allinson came in and paid as they went on.

10,566. Was not any other bill made out for refreshments?—Yes.

10,567. How much was that?—Either 2*l.* 14*s.* or 2*l.* 16*s.*, including 16 breakfasts.

10,568. You made out a bill for 2*l.* 16*s.*, what other bill did you make out?—I did not make out any bills of the others; they were paid as they went on—the same day or the same hour, perhaps.

10,569. Who paid the bill of 2*l.* 16*s.*?—Mr. Edward Riley.

10,570. You sent it to Edward Riley?—I made it out as he stood beside me.

10,571. He paid you that bill?—Yes.

10,572. Was that on the election morning?—It was on the election morning that the expenses were incurred.

10,573. Was it on the election morning that he paid it?—No, a day or two after.

10,574. (Mr. Newton.) You lived at this time at the "Plough Inn?"—Yes.

10,575. And you are a householder?—Yes.

10,576. What was that house valued at?—18*l.* a year.

10,577. (Mr. Hill.) Rateable value?—Yes.

10,578. What was the rent?—I think they were both alike.

10,579. (Mr. Newton.) What did you pay for rent?—18*l.* a year. I think the value and the rent were both alike.

ROBERT POWELL sworn and examined.

R. Powell.

10,580. (Mr. Hill.) What is your occupation?—a pawnbroker.

1058I. And your residence?—I live in the Freehold, my shop is in Penny Street.

10,582. What are your politics?—a Liberal.

10,583. Were you engaged in the Penny Street district at the last election?—No, in China Lane, along with Mr. Vickers.

10,584. What money did you receive for the purposes of the last election?—The total amount was 12*l.* 10*s.*

10,585. When did you receive the first amount?—Mr. Henry Welch called upon me about a fortnight before the election and brought 2*l.*; he said it was 1*l.* for myself and 1*l.* for Mr. Vickers to go into the district and treat the voters.

10,586. You handed the other 1*l.* to Mr. Vickers?—Yes.

10,587. And kept the other for yourself?—Yes.

10,588. What was the next sum you received after that?—Mr. Vickers gave me 1*l.* about a week afterwards, I should think, for the same purpose.

10,589. What was the next sum?—I got no more till the nomination day.

10,590. From whom?—From Mr. Vickers.

10,591. How much?—6*l.* 10*s.*

10,592. What was the next sum you received?—4*l.* from Mr. Welch on the election day.

10,593. Anything else?—No.

10,594. That is all you received?—Yes.

10,595. 12*l.* 10*s.*?—Yes.

10,596. How did you spend it?—After the nomination I met with a freeman in Market Street, of the name of Timothy Nicholson.

10,597. Before we come to that, did you spend any money before the election in refreshments?—Yes, in China Lane and round about.

10,598. How much did you spend in refreshments to voters before the election?—I should say I should spend 30*s.* previous to the election, quite.

10,599. Now come to the next payment?—I arranged with this man, Timothy Nicholson, for his vote.

10,600. Is he a cabinet-maker?—Yes.

10,601. How much did you give him?—10*l.*

10,602. For his vote?—Yes.

10,603. Did he vote for Fenwick and Schneider?—Yes, he voted Fenwick and Schneider the first thing in the morning.

10,604. There would be a balance left of about a pound?—I paid 5*s.* to his son for assisting; William Nicholson is his name. He asked me if I could get him anything to do; and the remainder I spent during the nomination night and the election day.

10,605. The son is not on the register?—He was not then, but I believe he is now.

10,606. Is that all the money you spent?—Yes, the balance was spent during the nomination day and election day.

10,607. 15*s.*?—Yes.

10,608. What did you get for your own vote?—Nothing.

10,609. Nothing at all?—No.

10,610. Not any promise of anything?—No, nothing at all in any way.

10,611. Did you vote for the Liberal party at the last election?—Ever since I had a vote I have done so. I voted for Mr. Gregson when he offered himself here.

10,612. Have you ever received anything for your vote?—Nothing at all, not a penny.

COLONEL GEORGE YEADELL sworn and examined.

Col. G. Yeadell.

10,613. (Mr. Barstow.) Where do you live?—At Belle Vue, in Scotforth.

10,614. You are a retired officer?—Yes.

10,615. Of what service?—The Indian Artillery.

10,616. And a Liberal in politics, I presume?—I believe so.

10,617. You must know. What part did you take in the last election?—Mr. Henry Welch told you yesterday of what part I had taken.

10,618. We want to hear it from yourself?—I assisted in every way that I could, but all that I had to do was with two or three men in the town—one Christopher Hudson; and I looked about in Scotforth, and I also heard what was doing in Quernmore.

10,619. Were you assigned to any particular district?—Not to my knowledge, but I was afterwards told that I was.

10,620. You did not work in any particular district?—No.

10,621. I suppose, being a colonel, you thought it beneath you to be a captain?—I should have taken no part at all had it not been that I heard Mr. Wilson was coming with a flood of gold to overwhelm the town.

10,622. Be so good as tell us what money you received?—I received nothing before the election. I paid it out of my own pocket.

10,623. It will be more regular if we take the receipts first. What money did you receive before or after the election?—I received for those three or four men, I think, 35*l.*, and there would be 4*l.* and some odd shillings for a person of the name of Burton.

10,624. Altogether 39*l.*?—Yes.

10,625. From whom did you receive this money?—Mr. Henry Welch. It was a long time after the election—several months.

10,626. When was it?—Perhaps it would be in September or October.

10,627. Where did you receive it?—I chiefly received it at Mr. Welch's place of business, either in Cheapside or else in Damside Street.

10,628. Did you receive it in two sums or more?—I daresay it would be two or more sums.

TENTH DAY.

Col. G. Yeadell.

6 Sept. 1866.

10,629. How many? Do you remember?—I cannot recollect how many.

10,630. Would it be four or five different sums?—No, not so many. Three would be the utmost.

10,631. The whole sum you received was 39*l.*, and some odd shillings?—Yes, for voters.

10,632. Please to tell us how you spent your money?—There was a person of the name of Burton, the landlord of the "Golden Ball" Market Street. He received 4*l.* 10*s.* He said he had not been paid a bill when Mr. Schneider stood before, and he had promised the house to our side, but he said he would have nothing to do with us until that bill was paid. I think it was either 4*l.* 17*s.* or 4*l.* 19*s.*

10,633. What did he say it was for?—He said they had engaged his house during Mr. Schneider's election and they had only paid him a guinea, and his demand was 5*l*; and he had given some refreshments to somebody, and he would have nothing to do with us unless we paid him.

10,634. At what time was this that you saw him?—It would be four or five days before the election; probably it was when Messrs. Fenwick and Schneider were canvassing; a week probably before the election.

10,635. To whom else did you pay money?—Then I gave Moloney 10*l.* for one voter.

10,636. Who was the voter?—There were two men, Matthew Barrow and William Wilson. I do not know which of the two he got it for. William Wilson is Market Street, labourer, and Matthew Barrow is Lodge Street.

10,637. (Mr. Hill.) They got 10*l.* each?—Yes, I gave one of them 10*l.* and John Moloney gave the other 10*l.*

10,638. (Mr. Barstow.) You gave them each 10*l.*?—Yes, they each got 10*l.*, but Barrow gave his money back again, I am told.

10,639. (Mr. Newton.) You gave 10*l.* to Moloney?—No, Moloney got 5*l.* for his trouble.

10,640. But you gave Moloney 10*l.*?—Yes, for one of those voters

10,641. And the other man you gave 10*l.* with your own hands?—Yes.

10,642. You do not know which of them it was?—No, I do not.

10,643. To whom else did you give money?—John Moloney got 5*l.* for his trouble. He canvassed and was out in the country, he told me, and had got a conveyance. He did not ask anything for his vote. It was for his labour and trouble.

10,644. Do you know what trouble Moloney had been at?—He did not tell me. He said he was going out into the country to see several voters whom he thought he could influence, and I think he said that he was going towards Thurnham, but I am not certain about that.

10,645. He is a householder?—Yes.

10,646. Did you pay Moloney 5*l.* yourself?—Yes.

10,647. What did you do with the balance?—There is a person of the name of Christopher Hudson, put down as surgeon's assistant, he got 10*l.*

10,648. Paid by you?—Yes, by me. He lives close up by my house.

10,649. Did you spend any other money?—There was money paid for runners and so forth.

10,650. By you?—No, not by me, but the money was paid to me.

10,651. Who paid you that money?—Mr. Welch.

10,652. How much was it?—I cannot say. It was for runners and men who assisted on the morning of the election, to prevent what they call bottling and so forth.

10,653. That is a sum beyond this 39*l.*?—Yes.

10,654. You must try to recollect, if you please, what was the other sum you got from Mr. Henry Welch?—I cannot say. It would be, perhaps, nearly 70*l.*, but that was not for voters. There was not a voter amongst them.

10,655. To whom did you pay that?—I do not think I paid anything of it. There was a young man of the name of Middlefell, and John Coats, who was a clerk at the telegraph office—they paid those runners and people.

10,656. Did you pay this 70*l.* over to Middlefell and Coates?—It was through them that it was paid.

10,657. Will you answer the question? Did you pay over this 70*l.* to Middlefell and Coates?—Yes, I did. I think Coates got it but Middlefell assisted in paying it.

10,658. Do you know Middlefell's address?—No. I do not think he lives in Mary Street. He works at Gillow's.

10,659. Do you know whether Coates is still at the telegraph office?—He is at present, I think, at Kendall, temporarily employed in the telegraph office there.

10,660. Did you pay away to those two the whole of the money you received?—Yes.

10,661. Whatever it was?—Yes, but I paid it out of my own pocket in the first instance. I got it afterwards from Mr. Welch.

10,662. When did you get this sum of 70*l.* from Mr. Welch?—About the same time that I got the other. I do not say that the exact sum was 70*l.*, but I say it was about 70*l.*

10663. Did you make any other payment? You have given us the voters you paid and the runners you paid through Middlefell and Coates?—No, no one else, unless I paid William Jackson, of the "Boot and Shoe," in Scotforth, 10*s.*

10,664. You do not remember whether you gave him money or not?—I think he got 10*s.* from me once.

10,665. Can you tell us the number of these people amongst whom this 70*l.* was distributed?—I cannot exactly tell the number, but they got 10*s.* a piece. They were divided into divisions and there was a captain over each; and I think the captains got 12*s.* 6*d.*

10,666. Do you know for how long they were employed?—They were employed for two days, and there would be something for refreshment also for those men.

10,667. Was that something extra, or did it come out of this money?—No; it was something extra.

10,668. Can you recollect what that something extra was?—I think the heaviest bill was to Mrs. Dixon, in Monmouth Street, 3*l.* or 4*l.*; and 2*l.* or 3*l.* to Peter Moore, at the "White Lion."

10,669. What is the sign of Mrs. Dixon's house?—I do not remember.

10,670. Shall I say 2*l.* 10*s.* you gave to Peter Moore?—I cannot say.

10,671. About?—I did not pay it; it was paid by those two young men.

10,672. Is there any other sum?—Then there is a person of the name of Jackson, of the "Malt Shovel."

10,673. How much did he get?—I cannot say whether it would be 3*l.* or not; it would be about that.

10,674. Was any further sum spent in refreshment?—I think there was one more, but I am not sure whether it was the "Black Bull," in Skerton, or not.

10,675. What did the landlord of the "Black Bull," in Skerton, get?—I am not certain of the names of these public-houses, but it was one public-house in Skerton; I do not know what the amount was.

10,676. Do you think it was the "Red Cross?"—No, I am sure it was not the "Red Cross."

10,677. Do you remember the landlord's name?—No.

10,678. Do you remember what the sum was?—No, it would be about 2*l.*, or something like that.

10,679. Is there any other?—There was a person of the name of Kitchen, in Church Street; he keeps a public-house.

10,680. Is that Daniel Kitchen?—I do not know what his christian name is.

10,681. What did Kitchen get?—He would get about the same, 2*l.*

10,682. Was that for refreshments?—Yes, for these men.

10,683. Is there any other sum for refreshments?—There was a person of the name of Murphy, at the "Queen's Head; I am not certain whether he got anything or not.

10,684. Can you say what Murphy got?—It was only a trifle, between 1*l.* and 2*l.* I think, if I am not mistaken; but I am not certain about that; I think Murphy got something.

10,685. Is there any other name?—I do not recollect any other names. By the bye, I think Bibby, at the "Bear and Staff," got something.

10,686. What did he get?—He would only get a trifle, a very small sum.

10,687. What should you say it was?—It would be under 2*l.*

10,688. Shall I take 30*s.*?—That would be the most. I am not certain that he did, but it runs in my mind that he did.

10,689. Can you remember any other?—I think that would be nearly all. I remember no others.

10,690. That comes to 15*l.* Did you advance that in the first instance out of your own pocket?—Yes, the greatest part of it; part of it I paid out of my own pocket and some was paid after I got the money from Mr. Welch. I know Kitchen was very importunate for his money, I think I got it from Mr. Welch.

10,691. He was importunate to you?—Yes.

10,692. Who gave you authority to pay this money out of your own pocket?—Nobody that I am aware of.

10,693. Did you advance this money without having anyone to look to for repayment?—Yes, the whole of it, excepting Hudson. I had a little conversation with Mr. Welch about him, but, excepting that, I advanced the whole of it on my own account in the first instance.

10,694. Do you mean to say you advanced this money without knowing to whom you were to look for payment?—I should not have cared whether I was paid or not.

10,695. That is certainly a new feature in our inquiry. Had you no conversation with Mr. Welch about it before you paid the money?—I saw Mr. Welch on the morning of the election, and he said that gentlemen ought to provide those things themselves.

10,696. To whom did you understand Mr. Welch to refer by the word "gentlemen?"—Those that were in independent circumstances—who could assist the election on through their own means.

10,697. Gentlemen residing in the town of independent circumstances?—Yes, such as Mr. Coulston, who gave 1,000*l.* I am told.

10,698. We have not heard about that yet?—Did not Mr. Wright Wearing say so?

10,699. (Mr. Hill.) You tell us that Mr. Coulston gave 1,000*l.* towards the election?—Did not the clerk in the bank say so; that it was carried to his account?

10,700. Entered to his debit?—Yes.

10,701. (Mr. Barstow.) You understood Mr. Welch to say that you, for instance, ought to pay these runners refreshments, and bribes, and so on, out of your own pocket?—Yes, in the first instance, "to provide the money themselves," he said.

10,702. Did you then advance this large sum of which you have been speaking of out of your own pocket?—Yes, every halfpenny.

10,703. Without any prospect of repayment?—Yes, excepting Hudson's.

10,704. Excepting the 10*l.* you gave to Hudson, the whole of the rest you advanced without any prospect of repayment?—Yes.

10,705. 110*l.*?—I daresay it would be near that, but you will bear in mind that these refreshments and things, as I have said, were paid me by Mr. Welch, not immediately; but the payment for the runners and men who had to watch to prevent their bottling, and so forth, I paid out of my own pocket, and I paid Hudson out of my own pocket in the first instance, and the other three men I mentioned, and for refreshments; I got it first from Mr. Welch.

10,706. How came these people, Kitchen, who you say was importunate, and others, to look to you for payment of their bills for refreshments?—Because, on the night previous to the election, these men were told off at the different public-houses, and I gave Middlefell a circular note to different houses to say that they were to provide refreshments, bread and cheese, and beer, and so on, and I would see them paid.

10,707. What sort of a note was this circular note in appearance?—It was a slip of paper.

10,708. Printed?—No, written in my own hand.

10,709. And directed to these public-houses?—Yes; it was not a slip of paper to each of them, but the whole of the names were mentioned on one slip of paper, saying that if they would provide these provisions they would be paid by me.

10,710. It was only one note, but addressed to all the landlords of these houses?—Yes, Mr. Welch accounted for that money; he said it had been paid for runners, but he did not mention any particular names.

1,0711. This was the money that Mr. Welch said had been paid for runners, but yours were the hands that paid those runners?—Yes, it was through me, but there would be some others besides those that I paid. There were some supplied from Mr. Blades's yard, at least I heard so; and then each of the captains had private runners as well.

10,712. Were you a sort of captain over the runners?—No, I was not a captain over the runners.

10,713. Were they assigned to you, generally, throughout the town, to be paid?—No, I took it upon myself, as I had done before, in Mr. Fenwick's election, previous to that. If we had not had some of those people we should have lost half our men.

10,714. You took upon yourself the duty of being paymaster of the runners?—Yes, and to engage them also. Half our men would have been nipped up without them.

10,715. Can you tell us the gross number of runners engaged on your side at the last election?—Oh dear no, I could not.

10,716. Can you give us any idea of the number?—No, that I cannot. I daresay there would be more than 200 considerably.

10,717. How many runners did you engage yourself?—That I cannot say exactly. They were engaged, I think, the night previous.

10,718. I do not care when or where they were engaged, how many did you engage yourself?—I think there were 11 captains, and ten men to each captain; but there were others put on afterwards.

10,719. How many did you engage yourself, I want to know?—There was a whole room full; there were 11 captains, and the captains had to select their own men; I was present certainly, so it might be said that I did engage them.

10,720. I thought you said just now that you did engage them. "I engaged the runners, and paid them," you answered me?—Yes, bonâ fide, certainly, I did engage them.

10,721. As you engaged them, I only ask you if you give us a general notion of how many you did engage?—There would be 120; and then afterwards I had a note from different parties requesting me to put some more on, and I sent them to the different captains afterwards.

10,722. We are getting at by degrees what I want, which is about how many you engaged altogether; I understand you to say you engaged 120, and also some others?—Yes.

10,723. Shall I say 150?—I do not think there would be so many as 150, but there would be 140.

10,724. Where were they all engaged?—In a big room, at the "New Inn," I think it is called; there is a large room there, which was used for lectures, corn law lectures, many years ago, and they were engaged in that room.

10,725. Were you paid any sum of money besides this which you have mentioned to us?—No.

10,726. You are quite sure of that?—Yes.

10,727. Did you receive from anybody for the purposes of the election any sum except these three sums you have given us?—All the transactions I had were with Mr. Henry Welch, and as far as I recollect these were the sums I received.

10,728. And no others?—No others.

10,729. (Mr. Newton.) What part did you take in the election of 1864?—Just the same, and I canvassed with the members, and I also canvassed personally

TENTH DAY.

Col. G. Yeadell.

6 Sept. 1866.

with Mr. Schneider and Mr. Fenwick at the present election.

10,730. May I ask how long you have known Mr. Schneider?—Of course he was almost unknown to the town when he came.

10,731. I mean how long have you known him personally?—I knew him first when he came to the town to canvass for the first election.

10,732. And Mr. Fenwick?—No, Mr. Fenwick was a member then.

10,733. How long have you known Mr. Fenwick?—Ten or 12 years.

10,734. In 1864 how did you get your accounts settled. I suppose you hired runners and captains then?—Mr. Henry Welch settled them.

10,735. Were you out of pocket by that election of 1864?—Everyone who takes a part in an election is something out of pocket.

10,736. That is not our experience?—Those in my position are.

10,737. We find that most people who take part in elections are richer than they were before?—I do not think any gentleman can ever expect or desire to become richer by it.

10,738. If they did not become richer we should not be sitting here?—I do not know. I should think Mr. Maxsted and Mr. Clark would become richer than anyone else.

10,739. And the rest of the voters in Lancaster. How long have you been living in this neighbourhood?—Perhaps 17 years.

10,740. You know pretty well everybody who lives here?—Yes.

10,741. Was there anybody on the Conservative side who engaged runners, and did what you did on the Liberal side?—Mr. Gibson told you they had an immense number of runners and people engaged to hold up their hands and shout. Mr. Wilson, I suppose, expected to win the election like Joshua at Jericho; they were all of them provided with halfpenny whistles.

10,742. It seems you were provided with gold and silver?—I beg your pardon; I was not provided with gold, excepting out of my own resources; and so was Mr. Wilson.

10,743. (Mr. Hill.) Was there any subscription got up to defray Messrs. Fenwick and Schneider's expenses?—Oh, dear, no.

10,744. None?—None that I ever heard of.

10,745. Was it all to come out of their own pockets?—I cannot say.

10,746. You spoke of yourself and Mr. Coulston?—I said I advanced the money, but I understood Mr. Coulston had given something.

10,747. Did you understand yourself as having given anything?—If I had not been paid I should never have asked for it; but it did not come from Mr. Schneider or Mr. Fenwick that I am aware of.

10,748. Where did it come from?—That I cannot say. You heard of those mysterious packets of money.

Adjourned for a short time.

L. Lawrence.

LAWRENCE LAWRENCE sworn and examined.

10,749. (Mr. Newton.) Where do you live?—Lower Kellett.

10,750. What are you?—A labourer.

10,751. When you say you are a labourer, do you mean that you work for day wages?—Yes.

10,752. What are your politics, Liberal or Conservative?—Liberal.

10,753. Do you know a man named Wilson who was active about the election?—Joseph Wilson?

10,754. Yes.—Yes, I know him.

10,755. Did you assist him in Galgate?—He had nothing to do much with Galgate, I think.

10,756. Had you?—A little.

10,757. What did you do?—I treated the voters.

10,758. What money did you get for treating the voters?—Well, I cannot say how much.

10,759. Just tell us?—I cannot.

10,760. Was it 1*l.*?—Yes, more than 1*l.*

10,761. 2*l.*?—Perhaps.

10,762. What else did you receive?—I received 10*l.* from Mr. Welch.

10,763. When did you receive that?—On the day of the election.

10,764. That makes 12*l.*; anything more?—Yes; I received 10*s.* from John Whormby, of Warton, to spend.

10,765. Whormby the auctioneer?—Yes.

10,766. He was on the other side, though, was he not?—He was.

10,767. What was the 10*s.* for?—To spend.

10,768. Among his side?—I do not know. I spent it, and I could have spent more if he had given it to me.

10,769. What else did you receive?—I had nothing else.

10,770. Only this 12*l.* 10*s.*?—No.

10,771. How did you spend this 12*l.* 10*s.*?—I can hardly tell you.

10,772. You must tell us?—Part I had left; the main part of it I spent. I cannot say what I spent; they are like a lime burner's clog, they are always dry.

10,773. All the electors are at election times?—Yes, always; it does not matter though whether it is an election or not.

10,774. You could not have spent 12*l.* in drink?—I do not say I did; I cannot say what I spent in drink.

10,775. What did you do with the remainder; did you keep it for yourself?—Yes.

10,776. How much?—I cannot say.

10,777. When did Welch pay you this?—On the day of the election.

10,778. Before you voted or after?—After.

10,779. Did he say what it was for?—He gave it me for my expenses.

10,780. The 2*l.* was given you by whom?—Joseph Smith's son.

10,781. (Mr. Hill.) Do you mean that he is the son of Smithson, or that his name is Smith?—Smith's son.

10,782. (Mr. Newton.) Is he a voter?—I cannot say, I am sure, whether he is or no.

10,783. (Mr. Hill.) What was the 10*s.* for?—To spend.

10,784. Given to you?—Yes.

10,785. This 10*s.* from Whormby was given you before the arrangement was made as to your having 10*l.* from Henry Welch?—Yes. I got it before; he was in the public-house when he gave it to me.

10,786. Before you arranged with Henry Welch?—Yes.

10,787. When did you arrange about having 10*l.* from Henry Welch?—On the Saturday before the election.

10,788. Welch agreed to give you 10*l.*?—Yes.

10,789. And when Whormby gave you the 10*s.* he wanted to sweeten you up for the other side?—I cannot say; he did not talk much about it I think.

10,790. Did he give it to you as an inducement to you to listen to him?—I do not know what he gave it me for; he did give it and I gave it to Ireland to spend, the landlord at the "Galgate."

10,791. How did you vote at the last election?—This last?

10,792. No, in the election previous to that; Saunders and Fenwick's election?—For Fenwick.

10,793. Then you always voted Liberal?—Yes, generally, I think.

10,794. What do you mean by generally?—I have not voted for any other but them lately.

10,795. What do you mean by lately?—Not these few elections.

10,796. When was the last time you voted Tory?—I cannot say.

10,797. Or voted Blue?—I cannot say I am sure.

10,798. How much did you get at the Fenwick election?—I cannot say I am sure.

10,799. 5l.?—No, I got 3l., I think.

10,800. Was that the first time you had been converted to Liberal politics?—No, it was not.

10,801. When was the first time?—I was not converted at all.

10,802. Your politics remained the same?—Exactly.

10,803. Was that the first time that you had touched Liberal money?—It was.

10,804. Had you ever touched any Tory money before?—No.

10,805. Then it was the first time you had had anything for your vote at all?—It was.

10,806. In the Fenwick and Saunders election?—Yes.

10,807. What were you paid for your vote in the Fenwick and Saunders election on the Tory side?—Nothing.

10,808. Did they not make you any offer?—Nothing.

10,809. How came that about?—I cannot say I am sure.

10,810. Are you Lawrence Lawrence of Nether Kellet, farmer?—Formerly I was.

10,811. What is your number on the register?—I cannot say. I have a son a voter.

WILLIAM BELL sworn and examined.

W. Bell.

10,812. (Mr. Hill.) Are you a watchmaker?—Yes.

10,813. Where do you live?—At No. 9, Upper Thurnham Street.

10,814. Are you a Liberal?—Yes; my shop is in No. 8, New Market, Lancaster.

10,815. Were you a captain or assistant captain at the last election?—I took no active part whatever, and never did so.

10,816. You voted Fenwick and Schneider?—Yes.

10,817. How was trade at the last election?—Well, I do not know. I do not remember that it was any better or worse than it is now.

10,818. Was there nothing to be got by the watchmakers out of the last election?—Not that I am aware of.

10,819. Do you remember selling a gold watch and chain?—Not about the time of the election I do not.

10,820. Do not jump before you come to the stile; do you remember selling a gold watch and chain on the 6th of October?—I do.

10,821. For 13l. 15s.?—No, the watch was 10l., and the chain 3l. 15s.; 13l. 15s. in all.

10,822. That was on the 6th of October?—The 6th of October 1865.

10,823. When was that watch ordered?—It was not ordered at all. I keep them in stock.

10,824. Who came to your shop for it?—Mrs. Stirzaker.

10,825. Who was the watch for?—For Miss Ann Stirzaker, of Meeting House, Lancaster.

10,826. Who came to look at the watch first of all?—I think the old woman took two down; old Mrs. Stirzaker.

10,827. Had anyone been to your shop to order that previously?—No.

10,828. Had no person come with Mrs. Stirzaker?—I do not know whether Mrs. Stirzaker's son was there or not; that is the young man.

10,829. To whom did you make out the bill?—To Miss Ann Stirzaker.

10,830. And who paid you the money for it?—Mrs. Stirzaker.

10,831. Did Mr. Schneider come to your shop at all about that?—No, nor Mr. Fenwick either.

10,832. Did any person from the Vicarage come about it?—No.

13,833. Do you know a man named Joseph Wilson?—Very well.

10,834. Did Joseph Wilson come to your shop about it?—No, no one, with the exception of Mrs. Stirzaker and the son. I am not certain whether he was there or not.

10,835. You never spoke to Joseph Wilson about this watch?—No, nor to anyone else; I do not tell my business out of my shop.

10,836. What was there you wished to keep secret?—Nothing at all, only we do not wish to blab about what we sell.

10,837. Why not?—Because I do not.

10,838. Did you sell any other watches to any voters at the time of this election?—Not that I am aware of. You may look at my watch book if you choose. I shall be very glad to let you look through it; we make an entry of every watch we sell. I do not suppose you will find me mixed up in electioneering at all. You will hear all the evidence and then draw your own inference.

10,839. I want to know whether the person who wanted the watch was mixed up with it?—That I do not know.

10,840. Did she pay it in gold?—That I cannot say.

10,841. (Mr. Newton.) When did you first hear about this being talked about?—The first I heard of it was from one of the Marshalls.

10,842. Who is he?—John Marshall.

10,843. What did he say about it?—He said "Did you take any watches up to the Vicarage?" I said I had. "Did you sell one to Mr. Schneider?" I said, "I do not know." "Did you not sell one that was given to Miss Stirzaker?" I said "No, not that I know of."

10,844. Did Mr. Wilson ever talk to you about it?—No, he never mentioned it to me.

10,845. Did you ever go to him?—No.

10,846. When was it that Marshall talked to you about it?—I cannot say.

10,847. Before what took place at this election was inquired into in London?—It was before then; but I cannot say at what time.

10,848. It was then currently reported in Lancaster?—I daresay he wanted to fish, but his line was not long enough; his bait was not right.

10,849. He did not catch you?—No, and I do not suppose you will either.

10,850. (Mr. Hill.) Why not?—What I have come come here for is to tell the truth and the whole truth.

10,851. And have you told us the whole truth?—To the best of my recollection I have.

10,852. What was the first price fixed for the watch and chain?—I only ask one price; all my goods are plain marked, and if they do not give that price they go away. I shall be very glad to sell you one; they are all plain marked and have a ticket on them.

RICHARD CLEMINSON sworn and examined.

R. Cleminson.

10,853. (Mr. Barstow.) Do you live in Nicholas Street?—Yes.

10,854. What is your trade?—A tailor and draper.

10,855. Are you brother to the witness we have examined, Thomas Cleminson?—No, he is my uncle.

10,856. We hear that you received 50l. from Welch at the last election?—Yes, I received more; I received 70l.

10,857. In what district did you work at the last election?—Nicholas Street; about there. I was not on the list as a worker.

10,858. Do you know what we call the Nicholas

TENTH DAY.

R. Cleminson.

6 Sept. 1866.

Street district?—Yes; I believe my name was not on the list of workers.

10,859. Did you receive this all in one sum?—No; on the night of the nomination I received 5*l.*

10,860. All from Henry Welch?—Yes.

10,861. When next?—On the morning of the day of election.

40,862. The balance, 65*l.*?—65*l.*

10,863. Early in the morning?—Yes.

10,864. Is that all you received?—That is all I received.

10,865. First, as to the 5*l.*; how did you spend it?—I paid in various ways out of my own pocket about 1*l.* 10*s.*

10,866. Those various ways we may assume, I think, to have been treating the electors?—Yes.

10,867. Then there remains 3*l.* 10*s.*; what did you do with that?—I gave a person named William Garth 1*l.*

10,868. Of Germany Street?—Yes.

10,869. Then 2*l.* 10*s.* remains?—That was left over for expenses for the next day. I will account for it all.

10,870. What did you do with it?—To James Furness, a labourer—his number is 284 on the register—I gave 8*l.* John Stephenson, No. 791, 7*l.* Thomas Swainson (his number is 803) 5*l.* Thomas Swainson, shoemaker (801), 5*l.* William Scales (737), 5*l.* William Wilcock (922), 5*l.* Joseph Smith (773), 2*l.* I paid Thomas Teesdale, a non-elector, 10*s.*, James Malley, 5*s.* I gave William Garth, besides the sum I gave you before, another 1*l.* the day of the election to spend.

10,871. Then there is the balance?—I returned to Mr. Welch 25*l.*; the balance I spent in various ways, and gave an account of it to Mr. Welch.

10,872. You spent in various ways then 3*l.* 15*s.*?—Yes.

10,873. You got these men very cheap?—Yes.

10,874. How is that; can you give us any explanation of it?—No, I gave them what they wanted I suppose; indeed Mr. Welch told me not to give any more than 8*l.*

10,875. You gave a good many 5*l.*?—Yes, I got them for less if I could.

10,876. And Joseph Smith you gave 2*l.* to?—Yes.

10,877. Did he seem to be contented with that?—Yes.

10,878. Did he never apply to you after the election?—No.

10,879. Did you ever receive anything for yourself?—Nothing; Mr. Welch offered me anything I had a mind for. I said of course I would not accept anything for my services.

W. Bradshaw.

WILLIAM BRADSHAW sworn and examined.

10,880. (Mr. Newton.) Where do you live?—In Market Street.

10,881. What are you?—A linen and woollen draper.

10,882. Did you take any part in the election in 1865?—Yes, I did.

10,883. As what?—I cannot call myself a captain.

10,884. Assistant captain?—No; there was no other man in the district in which I had to work.

10,885. What was your district?—Littledale.

10,886. When did you begin your work before the election?—I went up, I think, once or twice; the first time, perhaps, would be about ten days or a fortnight before the election.

10,887. Did you receive any money?—I received 23*l.* from Mr. Welch; he stated that I received 20*l.*, but I suppose that is an error.

10,888. When did you receive it?—On the night of the nomination day.

10,889. Did you get any more money?—No; that was the only sum I got.

10,890. How did you spend that 23*l.*?—I paid to William Thornton, Richard Thornton, and Richard Thornton, junior, 9*l.*—3*l.* each.

10,891. When did you pay them?—I paid them a short time after the election; I think it would be the Saturday week after the election.

10,892. What for?—They live something like six miles from the town; and it is a very rough road; and I made arrangements with them that if they would bring their own conveyances, and vote with us, possibly I would give them the expense of their journey—what it would cost us to send up a conveyance for them.

10,893. Did they come in their own conveyance?—They came in their own conveyances.

10,894. And they would not have come unless they had been sent for, or their conveyance paid?—They would have expected to be sent for. The election happened at rather an unfortunate time for them; they were busy with the hay, and, of course, they did not wish to lose any time.

10,895. How did you spend the remainder?—I gave to William Fox either 2*l.* 10*s.* or 3*l.* 10*s.*, I am not certain which.

10,896. Shall we call that 3*l.*?—Say 3*l.*

10,897. No. 272, William Fox, Deep Clough, Littledale, farmer?—Yes.

10,898. How much to him?—2*l.* 10*s.* or 3*l.* 10*s.*, I am not certain which.

10,899. Who is the next?—I paid Richard Fox 1*l.* for a vote, for Mr. Schneider; but I gave him that conditionally, that if Fenwick and Schneider were returned, he was to receive a sovereign for coming out; but if not, I should not have paid him.

10,900. That was for his vote for Schneider, if they both both got in?—Yes.

10,901. That was conditional?—Yes.

10,902. You got him very cheap?—Just as you think.

10,903. He got his 1*l.*?—Yes, I paid him his 1*l.* shortly after the election.

10,904. Did you know how he had voted when you paid him?—Yes.

10,905. He voted for Fenwick and Lawrence; so you got some, if this book is right?—No doubt I was under the impression that he voted for Schneider; however, I paid him the 1*l.*

10,906. And who else?—That is the lot; I returned the balance to Mr. Welch.

10,907. How much?—10*l.* it would be, I suppose—either 9*l.* 10*s.* or 10*l.* 10*s.*

10,908. When?—The day after the election, I think it was.

10,909. Who was the captain on the Conservative side in this district?—Mr. Edmondson, junior, of Grassyard Hall, was very busy soliciting votes on the Conservative side.

10,910. Anybody else?—I do not know of anyone.

10,911. I scarcely like to ask, but I am obliged to do it, did you receive anything for your exertions?—No, I did not; the boot was on the other leg; I paid my own expenses, unfortunately.

W. Stewardson.

WILLIAM STEWARDSON sworn and examined.

10,912. (Mr. Hill.) What are you?—An auctioneer and painter.

10,913. Where do you live?—In Cable Street.

10,914. Are you a Liberal?—Yes.

10,915. And what district were you looking after at the last election?—Not any.

10,916. How were you engaged at the last election?—I was canvass agent for the whole district.

10,917. For the whole of Lancaster?—And the country as well.

10,918. Can you tell me the duties of a canvass agent?—Going round with the candidates, and pointing out the voters to them.

10,919. Did you what is called "lead the canvass" on the Liberal side?—Yes, partly, along with the others.

10,920. How long were you and the members out canvassing?—About a fortnight.

10,921. A house to house visitation all through the borough, pretty well, was it?—Yes.

10,922. What monies did you receive for the purposes of the last election?—You mean apart from my services, I presume?

10,923. No, altogether; what was the first money you received?—I think the first amount I received was 10*l.*

10,924. And at what date would that be?—Possibly five or six days before the election; I am not quite certain about it.

10,925. From Mr. Welch?—Yes.

10,926. What was the next sum you received?—I am not quite positive whether it was 15*l.* or 20*l.*, but it was one of the two.

10,927. Which do you believe?—I cannot tell; it was received in two sums; one was 5*l.*, and the other 10*l.*, or else they were two tens—about 20*l.*

10,928. What was the next sum that you received?—Between four and five pounds; you will see it in the account; it was the account I had for the legal expenses on the journey.

10,929. In Tilly's account?—Yes; it will be in twice—once for cash laid out, and once for services rendered; I do not know what the amount was; it was what I had due against him; it was between four and five pounds.

10,930. When did you receive it?—Some considerable time after the election, when the accounts were paid; I do not know when; perhaps at the latter end of August; it was between 4*l.* and 5*l.*

10,931. What was the next sum you received?—26*l.* 5*s.*, my engagement; I was engaged before the election for that sum; 25 guineas was the figure.

10,932. Was that all the money you received?—Yes.

10,933. Did you not receive anything else at all?—No.

10,934. Not to pay bills?—I beg pardon; I did receive 4*l.* 10*s.*; but I was simply the agent to pay it from one to the other.

10,935. What bill?—A liquor bill at the "Nag's Head;" or, perhaps, not properly a liquor bill, but some engagement with the house. I did not engage it myself, or have anything to do with it; that was some time after.

10,936. Was that all the money you received?—It was.

10,937. Did not any other money for any bills pass through your hands?—Not any.

10,938. How did you spend this money?—4*l.* 10*s.* to the "Nag's Head" was simply taking it to them.

10,939. What was the first money that you spent?—I spent all the money that was spent on the canvass.

10,940. Refreshments before the election?—No; I had nothing to do with any refreshments, except the horses and the drivers; I paid 1*l.* 16*s.* 6*d.* at Morecambe.

10,941. That was not all for horse food?—There was 10*s.* 6*d.* for erecting the hustings; and there would be something like a dozen horses, I daresay.

10,942. How much did you spend for expenses of canvass?—Something between five and six pounds, I should think; I had all the accounts at the time, and I have most of them now.

10,943. What else did you spend?—I paid an account at Overton to a man of the name of William Jackson, of 5*l.*, that had been owing some time before out of the same fund.

10,944. What was William Jackson?—He is a blacksmith.

10,945. Was that an account outstanding from the last election?—It was some considerable time before the election; he said he had never been paid; when we went canvassing to him, he said he would vote for the Liberals, as he always had done; but there was an account owing to him for canvassing during the time of Samuel Gregson's membership; and after we had left him, Mr. Schneider said to me, "Just look to that, and if you find it is right, pay it."

10,946. Mr. Schneider was with you, then?—The candidates were with me altogether when I was on the canvass.

10,947. What was the claim about? What was the amount of it?—The amount was 4*l.* 15*s.*, I think; but Mr. Schneider said I might give him a five pound note, and the remainder would be for interest; I took his receipt for it at the time.

10,948. What was it for, do you say?—It was for some account for services rendered on Mr. Gregson's canvass at some previous election; it was 4*l.* and some odd money, and I gave him a five pound note.

10,949. And he said if he was paid it he would vote for Mr. Schneider?—No; he did not say any such thing.

10,950. He said he had always voted Liberal?—Yes, and should do so again; but he named to some of us that there had been an account owing to him at some previous election.

10,951. So you have told us.—Then I have only to repeat it again; Mr. Schneider is a relative of Mr. Gregson's by marriage, and he said he would not allow it to be standing any longer; I was to look into it, and if it was right, I was to pay it, and get the money again, those were my instructions; it had nothing to do with this present contest at all.

10,952. And then you did give him 5*l.*?—I did.

10,953. And he duly voted for Fenwick and Schneider?—He duly did not, unfortunately.

10,954. How did he vote?—He voted against us.

10,955. You are quite sure you paid him the 5*l.*—Yes; I have got his receipt.

10,956. There?—Yes.

10,957. Let us have a look at it. (The witness produces a paper, which is handed to the Commissioners.) You have some other papers there; are they connected with the election?—Some are and some are not.

10,958. Let me look at them?—You will not make anything of them (handing an envelope containing some papers); you will not make much of them; just keep them together, if you please.

10,959. These were expenses incurred when you were out on canvass?—I think they are all.

10,960. One gentleman at Lancaster had a bottle of port at 4*s.*, I see?—That was a man of the name of Mounsey, that was very ill; and I sent him a bottle of port wine up, without any instructions from anybody else; but I paid for it.

10,961. What was the next payment that you made?—I do not think there is anything else on the canvass.

10,962. What other expenses?—I paid 12*l.* to a man called Green on the election day, for two voters.

10,963. Who were the two voters?—Tobias Hadwen of Morecambe, No. 351.

10,964. What is he?—He is on the list as a labourer, but he is a fisherman.

10,965. Who was the other one?—James Greenall of Morecambe.

10,966. What is Greenall's number?—327; he is on the list as Green.

10,967. But his name is Greenall?—Yes.

10,968. James Green, boot and shoemaker?—That is him.

10,969. By whom did you pay those two?—Green's son; I voted them, and left the money deposited in Green's hands till they went back again.

10,970. How much did you give each of them?—6*l.* each.

10,971. Who is the next?—Thomas Binless, a painter, No. 87.

10,972. How much did you give him?—5*l.*

10,973. Who is the next?—I gave 5*l.* to the wife of John Batty, No. 70.

TENTH DAY.

W. Stewardson.

6 Sept. 1866.

10,974. Of Cable Street, Lancaster, joiner ?—Yes.

10,975. Any other ?—No.

10,976. Were those all the persons whom you paid ?—Yes.

10,977. Then the bill at the "Nag's Head," 4*l.* 10*s.*?—I am not quite sure as to the amount, but it was about that.

10,978. Did you receive any other monies ?—No.

10,979. Did you pay any other monies ?—No, not to my knowledge ; I do not think I did ; I did not either contract that bill at the "Nag's Head," or have anything to do with it, except receive the money and pay it.

10,980. (Mr. Newton.) Where did you make this arrangement with Greenall ?—In a carriage.

10,981. Going over ?—No.

10,982. Where ?—I found him in a carriage.

10,983. Whereabouts ?—Well, he was brought to me, but I forget where at ; somewhere in the town.

10,984. And where did you catch Binless ?—I had him ready.

10,985. Where did you pay him ?—I do not know whether I paid him in my own shop, or where.

10,986. And Batty ?—I did not pay him at all ; I gave it to his wife, at his own house.

Adjourned for a short time.

W. Barker.

WILSON BARKER sworn and examined.

10,987. (Mr. Barstow.) I believe you are a draper ?—Yes.

10,988. Where do you live ?—In Church Street, Lancaster.

10,989. Have you been for some time past an active political partizan ?—No, not more than the last two elections.

10,990. On the Conservative side ?—Yes ; that is in the two contested elections I mean.

10,991. What position did you occupy at the last election ?—As banker or treasurer, whichever way you like to put it.

10,992. May we call you cashier ?—Yes.

10,993. Did you divide the borough into districts as we have heard was done upon the other side ?—No, I heard nothing about the division of the borough in any way.

10,994. Do you know as a matter of fact whether it was divided or not ?—I do not ; I presume it would be by the different captains ; but I do not know it.

10,995. You do not know that it was divided ?—I do not know that it was, but I presume it would be divided under different captains.

10,996. At what time did you know that there would be a contest for the borough ?—That I could not call to mind.

10,997. About how long before the election day ?—The first money I paid was June 15th.

10,998. That is not quite an answer to my question ; what I want to know is how long before the election was it announced that Mr. Lawrence would stand ?—I could not fix any date ; I have no recollection of the date, whether it was a week or a fortnight before that time or three weeks. I should not think it was more than a fortnight as far as I recollect, but I have no date to go by.

10,999. At what time was it determined by the Conservative party to contest the borough ?—I do not know.

11,000. Were you not consulted on the subject ?—No.

11,001. Did you attend no meeting on the subject ?—I attended a meeting at the King's Arms, but the date or what time it was I could not tell you. I think it would be some time in June.

11,002. A meeting of the Conservative party ?—Yes.

11,003. What were the subjects that were discussed at that meeting ?—As far as I can recollect it was with reference to a candidate.

11,004. Was it then determined on the part of the Conservative party to contest the borough ?—I am under an impression that it was. I was merely there as a listener. I took no further part at the meeting.

11,005. When did you know that it was first determined on the part of the Conservative party to contest the borough ?—I think it would be some time in June.

11,006. Was that after or before this meeting ?—I cannot say ; I think it must have been before the meeting that there was an idea of contesting the borough.

11,007. At this meeting did you hear the names of any candidates mentioned ?—No, I have no recollection of any candidate being mentioned by name.

11,008. Can you tell us at what time your services were required as treasurer on the Conservative side ?—In June.

11,009. Can you be more definite as to what time in June ?—The first money that passed from me was on the 15th of June, and I presume that that was my commencement.

11,010. Then we may presume that your services were engaged on some day previous to the 15th of June ?—A few days previous or a week previous. I could not say now.

11,011. I will ask you now who was the person who engaged you to assist in the election ?—I was requested by Mr. Wilson.

11,012. Was that Mr. Henry Threlfall Wilson ?—Mr. Henry Threlfall Wilson.

11,013. At the time he engaged you did he mention to you the candidate he proposed to bring forward ?—Not at that time because I think it was not then decided, as far as I can recollect, but immediately after Mr. Lawrence accepted it, I have no doubt. I should know the same day ; I should know immediately afterwards.

11,014. You were told on the same day ?—On the same day that it would be known I should be told of it.

11,015. Do you remember how long after the 15th of June Mr. Lawrence was declared to be the Conservative candidate ?—He would have been declared at that time to be the candidate.

11,016. For some days previously ?—Yes.

11,017. You have told us already that the first payment you made was on the 15th of June ?—Yes.

11,018. Be so kind as to tell us what that payment was ?—A payment to Mr. C. T. Clark, I believe, for clerks or something of that kind.

11,019. For clerks ?—For clerks and voters lists.

11,020. That is Mr. Christopher Thornton Clark, the agent for the Conservative party ?—The same.

11,021. What was the amount ?—6*l.* 15*s.*

11,022. What was the next payment ?—The next payment on the same day was 10*l.* to Mr. George Clark ; G. C. Clark.

11,023. Who is Mr. George C. Clark ?—The proprietor of the "Lancaster Gazette," a stationer.

11,024. For what was that payment ?—I did not ask him.

11,025. What was the next payment ?—The next payments were two small payments of 1*l.* 14*s.* 6*d.* which I think were for two clerks.

11,026. Was the second payment on the 15th of June ?—Yes.

11,027. And this also that you are now mentioning ?—On the 16th ; 1*l.* 14*s.* 6*d.* for clerks and delivering notices.

11,028. Now the next ?—The 21st, Mr. George Christopher Clark, 5*l.* ; 23rd to the same, 100*l.*

11,029. Do you know for what the payment to George Clark was ?—I do not.

11,030. Proceed if you please ?—On the 23rd, 100*l.*

11,031. To whom was that payment made ?—The same.

11,032. Do you know what that was for?—No.

11,033. What was the next payment?—On the 28th the same, 200*l.*

11,034. And you do not know what that was for?—No, I made no inquiries.

11,035. What was the next payment?—The next was July the 5th, Mr. C. T. Clark, 3*l.*

11,036. What was that for?—I do not know.

11,037. What was the next payment?—On the 7th Mr. Robert Lawson, 5*l.*; on the same day Mr. George Christopher Clark, 20*l.*

11,038. Do you not know what any of these payments were for?—No, I did not inquire; I took their receipt for the money. I presumed it was for Mr. Lawrence's election, but the details of it I do not know; how it was spent I do not know.

11,039. What was the next payment?—Mr. Joseph Fenton, 5*l.*

11,040. You cannot say what that was for?—No.

11,041. Who is Mr. Fenton?—An ironmonger in this town.

11,042. On what day was that?—The same day, the 7th; these that I am giving you now are all on the same day.

11,043. What was the next payment?—Mr. Joseph Storey, 5*l.*

11,044. Who is Mr. Joseph Storey?—A chemical manufacturer or something to do with chemistry.

11,045. Chemical works?—Yes, he has something to do with chemistry.

11,046. Who next?—Mr. Richard Coupland.

11,048. Who is Mr. Coupland?—A cabinet-maker and upholsterer.

11,049. The next?—The next was on the 8th, Mr. George Christopher Clark, 2*l*; the next was Mr. John Cross, 20*l.*

11,050. The same day?—The same day.

11,051. Now the next?—Mr. Richard Coupland, 30*l.*

11,052. The next if you please?—The next was to six clerks, which came to 12*l.* 15*s.*; they were clerks or runners; I can give you the names if you wish it.

11,053. Were those clerks voters?—I could not answer that question; one of them was 30*s.* and the others were 2*l.* 5*s.* each for their services up to that time.

11,054. Now give us the names of those clerks?—The first was George Danson, junior, 1*l.* 10*s.*; the next, J. Gifford, 1*l.* 5*s.*

11,055. The next?—J. Croft, the same amount; then H. Parker, the same amount; J. D. Leeming, the same amount, and Waterhouse, the same amount. I think it comes to 12*l.* 15*s.*

11,056. (Mr. Hill.) What was Waterhouse's christian name?—H. I have it. Those are receipts I may say that are with the town clerk.

11,057. (Mr. Barstow.) Now the next?—The next was Mr. George Danson.

11,058. What is the amount?—185*l.*

11,059. The 8th of July?—Yes, the 8th.

11,060. What was the next?—On the 10th Mr. George Christopher Clark and two others with him, 210*l.* I think; he gives credit for the whole of it.

11,061. Now the next?—The 11th, George Danson for Whormby 20*l.*

11,062. Which Whormby, the auctioneer?—I do not know; of Warton I think, but I do not know the man.

11,063. Then it will be Whormby per George Danson?—He got it for him in his name.

11,064. Now the next?—Mr. James Hatch.

11,065. (Mr. Newton.) The same day?—The same day 100*l.*; I will tell you when the dates are altered. Mr. Alec Harrison, 5*l.*

11,066. (Mr. Barstow.) Now the next?—Mr. Robert Lawson, 7*l.*

11,067. What is the next?—Mr. William Cross.

11,068. The same date?—Yes.

11,069. How much?—There was a small amount returned; will you have the gross or the net?

11,070. We had better have the gross first?—30*l.* and 1*l.* 2*s.* returned; the next was William Connor 400*l.*

11,071. How much was returned?—21*l.*

11,072. Now the next?—T. Cranstone.

11,073. How much?—70*l.*; he returned 37*l.* 5*s.*

11,074. The next?—W. Maddock, 200*l.*

11,075. The next?—Robert Pace, junior, 100*l.*, and he returned 6*l.*

11,076. The next?—H. Jackson, 40*l.*

11,077. The next?—R. Eaves.

11,078. How much?—35*l.*; T. Taylor, 21*l.*; P. Wollaston, 180*l.*; R. Coupland, 20*l.*; John Cross, 550*l.*; he returned 75*l.* 10*s.*

11,079. The next?—William Storey, 30*l.*

11,080. The next?—J. L. Bradshaw, 40*l.*; R. Pace, 34*l.*; that completes what was paid on the 11th; then on the 12th P. Wollaston, 750*l.*; he returned 345*l.* 10*s.*; R. Pace, 400*l.*; T. Taylor, 300*l.*; returned 70*l.*; Bakewell——

11,081. What is his christian name?—I think it is H., but I could not swear whether it is H. or T., 300*l.*, but he returned 9*l.* 5*s.*

11,082. The next?—Mr. John T. Lawrence for Wollaston, 200*l.*

11,083. (Mr. Hill.) Was that the brother?—Yes, he came for it for Mr. Wollaston.

11,084. How much?—200*l.*; Mr. George Danson 80*l.*; Mr. Scanlan 650*l.*: he returned 118*l.* 10*s.*

11,085. (Mr. Newton.) What is Mr. Scanlan's christian name?—I do not know.

11,086. Is he a voter?—No, he is not a voter. Mr. W. Maddock, 250*l.*

11,087. (Mr. Barstow.) This is the same date?—Yes, the 12th; Mr. George Pease, 49*l.* 13*s.*; Mr. R. Proctor, 3*l.*; Mr. G. C. Clark, 45*l.*; Mr. Bulfield, 10*l.*

11,088. Do you know his christian name?—I have not got it. Mr. W. Burrow, 2*l.*; Mr. George Coulston, 16*l.*; Mr. R. Coupland, 300*l.* And then there was a payment of 10*s.*, for taking some bills out, to Woodburn the bell man. That completes that list.

11,089. Now we are coming to payments subsequent to the election?—The 15th is the next I have; J. Hide, 32*l.* for staff men, I think; he is not on the list, I think. 32*l.* 10*s.* I have it, but he returned 10*s.* The next is Mr. Thomas Gibson, solicitor, 100*l.*; Mr. Jackson, this was for carriages, 61*l.* 4*s.*

11,090. (Mr. Hill.) Which of the Jacksons?—I think of Kendal, the King's Arms, Kendal, I believe they came from. The next is Tate, 60*l.*; that was for the same purpose. Smith is the next, 15 guineas.

11,091. (Mr. Barstow.) Can you give us his christian name?—No.

11,092. (Mr. Hill.) Was that for carriages?—Yes; Hayes, 11*l.* 9*s.* 6*d.* for the same purpose; Bell, six guineas, the same; Scott, 16*l.* 12*s.* 6*d.*

11,093. For the same thing?—Yes; Hutton, 7*l.* 5*s.*

11,095. (Mr. Barstow.) Now the next?—The town clerk, 44*l.* 18*s.* 6*d.*; George Danson, 50*l.*; Thomas Gibson, 38*l.* 10*s.*; Robert Hall, 26*l.* 5*s.*; Heald's Livery Stables, 27*l.* 17*s.* 6*d.*

11,096. Was that for horses?—For gigs, and horse hire, carriages and so on.

11,097. Thomas Edmondson, 22*l.* 10*s.*; Willacy is the next, 10*l.* Those that I am coming to now are for committee-rooms.

11,098. (Mr. Hill.) Is this Mrs. Willacy?—Yes. Hodgson, 6*l.* 5*s.*

11,099. (Mr. Barstow.) Do I understand you to say that we are to consider that the amounts you are now giving us, from Mrs. Willacy downwards, are for committee-rooms?—Until I tell you to the contrary.

11,100. What Hodgson was it, because we have several?—I do not know; I only know the name; the bills I believe were given in with the election bills.

11,101. What is the amount of Hodgson's?—6*l.* 5*s.*

TENTH DAY.

W. Barker.

6 Sept. 1866.

The next is Lamb, 6*l.*; Jackson, 6*l.*; the bills will tell the name and the street.

11,102. Are you reading out now accounts which were returned to the expenses agent?—Yes, the money went from me for them.

11,103. Are those returned and not returned all mixed together?—They are all mixed together; I can decipher them for you if you like; I can tell you which I have the bills for afterwards, and which I think you will find, and those that I have not got vouchers for.

11,104. After Jackson, which was the next payment?—Woodhouse, 6*l.*

11,105. The date is the same?—Yes, the same.

11,106. And for the same purposes?—Yes.

11,107. And the amount?—The same, 6*l.* Dearden is the next, 6*l.*

11,108. The next?—Jackson, twice over, 6*l.* each—two different parties; Dowthwaite, 5*l.* 10*s.*; Pilling, 5*l.*; Bannister, 5*l.*; Hinde, 5*l.*; Ellershaw, 5*l.*; and Dobson, 5*l.* That completes those.

11,109. Have you the christian names of any of these?—No, I have not, but the bills will show.

11,110. That does not finish all the payments you made?—No, it finishes those that were for committee-rooms. The next payment that I have is of the same date; J. L. Milner, 4*l.* 9*s.* 6*d.*; J. Fenton, the same date, 4*l.* 9*s.*; Palatine Hall, 2*l.* 7*s.* 6*d.*; Houghton, 1*l.* 10*s.*; Robinson, 9*s.*; Fort, 5*s.*; Parker, 1*l.* 16*s.*; that finishes that date.

11,111. What Parker is this, or what is it for?—His name was down before among the 2*l.* 5*s.*; he is a clerk, I believe; I think you had him among the 2*l.* 5*s.*; it is the same man, I believe.

11,112. H. Parker?—Yes. My next is October the 6th.

11,113. (Mr. Hill.) Were these last all on the 9th of September?—Yes. Town clerk, 2*l.* 18*s.*; J. Standing, 2*l.* The next is January 4th, J. Sly.

11,114. 1866 we have got into now?—Yes, 234*l.* 12*s.* 6*d.*

11,115. Did Mr. Sly return anything?—No. The next is Mr. C. T. Clark, 114*l.* 13*s.*; Mr. William Storey, 71*l.* 2*s.*; Mr. R. Coupland, 39*l.* 16*s.*; Mr. James Hatch, 22*l.* 13*s.* 6*d.* February 8th, Mr. G. C. Clark, 43*l.* 3*s.* 6*d.*; 27th, Mr. Robert Clark, 10*l.* 11*s.* March 1st, George Coulston, 10*l.* 12*s.* 6*d.*; Willacy, 38*l.* I think it is Mrs. Willacy. April 12th, William Storey, 18*l.* May 8th, R. Coupland, 2*l.* 12*s.* May 12th, J. Jackson, 3*l.* 4*s.* 14th, John Cross, 5*l.* July 27th, William Lamb, 20*l.* 11*s.* That completes my list.

11,116. I will now ask you if you can give us the gross amount?—The gross or the nett?

11,117. The whole amount that you spent—do you mean by "nett" less deductions for money returned?—Yes.

11,118. Give us the gross amount first?—7,745*l.* 14*s.*, less 684*l.* 12*s.*

11,119. Returned?—Yes; a balance of 7,061*l.* 2*s.*

11,120. Now I will ask you, first of all, as to how this money was paid. In the first place where was it paid?—In my office.

11,121. In the office attached to your own place of business?—Yes.

11,122. Where is that?—In Church Street.

11,123. As anyone wanted money they came to you for it?—Not anyone. Anyone that was authorized, and that I knew.

11,124. Can you give us any information as to the times of day at which these sums were paid?—No; I have no fixed hours down.

11,125. Do you remember when you did pay them on the 11th of July?—I paid them on that day.

11,126. Was it late?—It would be during business hours—between 8 and 7.

11,127. Not after business hours?—No.

11,128. On the 11th of July you made no payments after business hours?—No, because we close at 7.

11,129. But at election times people sometimes sit up all night?—But I did not.

11,130. When did you begin to pay on the 12th of July, the election day?—I think the first monies would be between 6 and 7 in the morning. I thought you referred to the first payment. On the 11th of July it would be, most probably, after 7. I thought you were commencing with the first payment. It was paid in my office.

11,131. (Mr. Newton.) Generally, you made no payments except between 8 and 7?—That was previous to the 11th.

11,132. At what time, as far as you can tell, were payments made on the 11th of July?—Eight in the morning; and I do not think it would be beyond 10; it might not be so late. I am not aware that I made any so late, but I could not say.

11,133. You say that on the election morning you began to pay between 6 and 7 o'clock?—I think I was called on at the hour I have named, as far as I can recollect. I know I was not up much before 6 o'clock that morning.

11,134. Perhaps we may take it that you continued paying out all the day long. Did the supplies run dry at any time?—No, I never was short of money.

11,135. You have spoken of "any authorized person coming to you." What do you mean by an "authorized person"?—Any of the five captains whose names were given to me in Lancaster.

11,136. Will you tell us who those five were?—Captain Coupland was one. Mr. Hatch—

11,137. Captain Hatch?—No, he is not a captain; Coupland is a captain.

11,138. A real captain?—Yes. Mr. William Storey, Lieutenant Clark, and Mr. John Cross. I think those were the five.

11,139. Who authorized you to pay these five captains?—Mr. Wilson.

11,140. (Mr. Hill.) Mr. Henry Threlfall Wilson, of course?—Yes.

11,141. (Mr. Barstow.) Who named these captains to you?—I could not say. It was understood that those were the captains, and to those five I was to give what they wanted.

11,142. Then it was Mr. H. T. Wilson who named them to you?—I cannot say that, but it was understood from him, because I had others who applied to me for money who I did not recognise.

11,143. Now I must ask you where you got this money from (referring to a paper)?—The first I got was on the 1st of July, 500*l.*

11,144. How did you receive that?—It was brought to me by a boy at "Kennan's Hotel," Cheapside, London. That is the hotel I always stop at.

11,145. Had you reason to expect that that sum would be brought to you?—I had.

11,146. What grounds had you for believing that it would be brought to you?—I was told by Mr. Wilson that money would be sent to me there.

11,147. Mr. H. T. Wilson?—Yes.

11,148. When did Mr. Wilson tell you this?—I could not tell. It must have been a few days before I went up to London.

11,149. In Lancaster?—In June, in Lancaster.

11,150. That money, I suppose, you brought down with you to Lancaster?—If I did not bring that down I brought what was equivalent to it.

11,151. (Mr. Hill.) It was in notes, and you changed them?—I might have changed them.

11,152. Was it in gold?—No, in bank notes, but I do not know that I brought that identical money with me, because I was in London on business, but I accounted for that amount.

11,153. Have you had any information since, or do you know at all where that money came from?—I believe it came from a Mr. Moon.

11,154. A very good electioneering name?—No, it is a real name, I believe.

11,155. What Mr. Moon?—He is a cashier in some office in Leadenhall Street, I believe.

11,156. Whose office?—Mr. Bilberry's, I believe. I think it is Leadenhall Street.

11,157. Do you know what Mr. Moon had to do with the Lancaster election?—I do not.

11,158. Do you know whether he was connected in business with Mr. Wilson?—He is cashier to his London partner.

11,159. Then Mr. Bilberry is Mr. Wilson's London partner?—His London partner.

11,160. What was the next sum you received?—400*l.*

11,161. How did you receive that?—By post, I think.

11,162. On what day?—On the 8th.

11,163. July?—Yes.

11,164. In what form did you receive it?—Bank notes.

11,165. Was it in a registered letter?—I could not say now, I had so many of them.

11,166. What notes, do you remember?—Bank of England.

11,167. Were they hundreds, or fifties?—I should think they would be hundreds. I could not say. I should judge that they would be in hundreds.

11,168. Did they come to you in half notes?—I could not say. If they did, I credited them on the same day.

11,169. Do you know where these notes came from?—They were sent to me by Mr. W. E. Chambers.

11,170. Who is he?—A cashier in the office of H. T. Wilson and Co., of Liverpool.

11,171. I suppose you changed those notes?—I should either change them or pay them away to somebody.

11,172. But 100*l.* notes are not very available currency in election times?—But I often have 100*l.* notes by me. No doubt I should change them to pay them away.

11,173. Did you get gold for them?—No, I do not think I did.

11,174. How did you melt those 100*l.* notes to make them available for electioneering purposes?—They were not required then for electioneering purposes. They were to reimburse what I had paid myself. You will find, if you look to the dates, that I had paid up to the 30th of June 323*l.*, and I got no money until the 1st of July.

11,175. What is the next sum you received?—On the 11th?

11,176. How did you receive that?—500*l.* by post.

11,177. Do you know where that came from?—It came the same as the previous sum, from W. E. Chambers.

11,178. Was that in notes?—That would be in notes.

11,179. You had to change those notes, I suppose?—I fancy I should change them on the 11th.

11,180. Where did you change them?—I could not say whether it was at the Lancaster Bank or not. I should say it was at the Lancaster Bank, but I could not be positive.

11,181. I may say "probably at the Lancaster Bank?"—Yes.

11,182. Have you an account with the Lancaster Bank?—I have.

11,183. That sum, I suppose, you paid away on the 11th of July?—Yes. There was more than that paid away.

11,184. What was the next sum you received?—In the evening I received four bags.

11,185. How much did they contain?—They contained 500*l.* each.

11,186. The bags were of sovereigns?—Gold.

11,187. Do you know where those bags came from?—I do not.

11,188. How did they come to you?—Either three, four, or five gentlemen came into my place with them between 6 and 7 o'clock.

11,189. Were you in at the time they came?—I was.

11,190. Did they say anything when they brought the bags in?—I could not say what remark they made unless it was that they were bringing the sinews of war, or something of that kind. I do not know that they made any particular remark.

11,191. Was that what they said?—I could not say what remark it was that was made, but it was some jocular remark of that kind.

11,192. Do you know who those gentlemen were?—I can only recollect one out of the number. They were only in a few minutes, and they did not all get into my office.

11,193. Who was that one?—Mr. Wollaston.

11,194. Who is Mr. Wollaston?—He is in the employ of Mr. H. T. Wilson.

11,195. In what capacity, do you know?—To look after the accounts in some way or other.

11,196. Is he employed here in Lancaster?—No, in Liverpool.

11,197. (Mr. Barstow.) Do you know his address?—No, not at all. His business address I know, but not his private address.

11,198. Then give us, if you please, his business address?—No. 21, Water Street, Liverpool. His private address I have at home, but I have not got it here.

11,199. What is the next sum you received?—The next sum was on the 12th; I received a cheque for 1,000*l.*

11,200. Have you the particulars of that cheque?—I have not.

11,201. Who was the payee of the cheque?—John T. Lawrence.

11,202. On what bank was the cheque drawn?—That I could not say; it was on a bank in Liverpool. I could not name the bank; it would be on his own bankers, but I could not say which bank it was.

11,203. Who signed the cheque?—J. T. Lawrence.

11,204. Who was the payee of it?—He drew the cheque.

11,205. The cheque was payable to whom?—To me.

11,206. To order?—I could not say whether it was to order or to bearer.

11,207. It was an ordinary cheque?—Just an ordinary cheque to pay me 1,000*l.*

11,208. (Mr. Newton.) Was your name mentioned in it?—I should say so. I should say as a matter of course it would be.

11,209. (Mr. Hill.) It was payable to you?—Yes; drawn by J. T. Lawrence, payable to me.

11,210. You, then, were the payee. You told us just now that Mr. Lawrence was?—Yes, I was the payee.

11,211. (Mr. Newton.) You cannot say whether it was payable to order or to bearer?—No, I could not say.

11,212. (Mr. Barstow.) What did you do with that cheque?—Got it cashed.

11,213. Where did you get it cashed?—At the Preston Bank.

11,214. At that time they had a branch in Lancaster?—They had.

11,215. And at that branch you got it cashed?—I got it cashed by the manager, Mr. Ball.

11,216. You got gold for it, I suppose?—I got gold for it.

11,217. What was the next sum you received?—450*l.* by post, from W. E. Chambers.

11,218. Was that the same day, the 12th?—Yes.

11,219. How was that?—In bank notes.

11,220. But notes of what amount?—I should presume that they would be hundred-pound notes.

11,221. Did you change those notes into gold the same day?—I should say they would be changed.

11,222. On the 12th of July?—Yes.

11,223. Do you recollect at what bank they were changed?—It would be the Lancaster Bank, I think, or I might not change them at all, for I drew a cheque that day for 500*l.* myself. I might change those notes either that day or the next.

11,224. You do not know, in fact, whether you changed them into sovereigns and used them for the purpose of the election, or whether you got money on your own cheque and repaid yourself with these?—Just so.

TENTH DAY.
W. Barker.

11,225. What was the next sum you received?—The next amount that I give credit for I did not receive direct. It was 400*l.* by Stirzaker. Mr. Wollaston, I think, got it. He got the money and accounted for it as if he had received it from me, so that that comes into the account as if I had paid him it, although I did not. Mr. Wollaston got the 400*l.* and returned me what I have given you before, 311*l.* It makes no difference in the total of the accounts. Mr. Wollaston gives an account of it himself.

11,226. What was the next sum you received?—15th July, 500*l.*

11,227. Now was that sent to you?—By post, from W. E. Chambers.

11,228. Now the next?—August 12th, 250*l.*

11,229. How was that sent?—In notes.

11,230. By W. E. Chambers?—Yes.

11,231. By post?—By post.

11,232. (Mr. Newton.) Was the 500*l.* received on the 15th of July in notes?—Yes. September 8th was the next, 400*l.*

11,233. (Mr. Barstow.) Is that as above?—Yes; January 2nd, 1866, 500*l.*

11,234. Is that also as above?—Yes; March 7th, 150*l.*

11,235. Is that the last sum you received?—That is all I have received.

11,236. Were these sums that you have given us entirely exhausted by the payment of the election expenses?—Yes.

11,237. They were entirely exhausted?—They have been all paid away. There is a balance short.

11,238. These sums have all been paid away and money is still owing?—Money is still owing to me.

11,239. How much is owing to you?—11*l.* 2*s.* That is the balance.

11,240. Those sums that you have said were returned by the different people who had received money were carried into the general account, I suppose, and applied to other expenses?—It still comes to the same amount. It is not in addition. Credit was given for it. I only charged the net amount paid—the balance.

11,241. Either I do not understand you, or you do not understand me. I will take Mr. Cross as an example. I see Mr. John Cross returned you 75*l.* 10*s.*?—Yes.

11,242. I suppose you applied that 75*l.* 10*s.*, which was surplus from Mr. John Cross's special purposes, to the general purposes of the election?—To any other expenses that were required. I debited him with the full amount, and credited him with what he returned.

11,243. But between you and your paymaster, whoever he was, that sum is carried into the general account?—Yes. I charged him with 474*l.* 10*s.*, the amount I actually paid, and not with 550*l.*, the gross amount.

11,243*a*. The money received comes to how much?—7,050*l.* Whatever I paid away to the parties, when they returned it, of course I gave them credit for it.

Adjourned to to-morrow at 10 o'clock.

ELEVENTH DAY.

PRESENT:

MR. BARSTOW. | MR. NEWTON.

MR. HILL.

ELEVENTH DAY.
W. Barker.
7 Sept. 1866.

WILSON BARKER recalled and further examined.

11,244. (Mr. Barstow.) Are the sums which you gave us yesterday all that you received?—Yes.

11,245. Do you know of any other sums used for the purposes of the last election at Lancaster on the Conservative side?—Not a shilling.

11,246. To the best of your information and belief, was any other money spent than that for which you have accounted?—No.

11,247. Those accounts, I suppose, which you read to us yesterday and of which you have left copies with us, are not originals?—No; they are made from vouchers which I hold now and which I held at the time, and from others that were given up to the returning officer or the town clerk.

11,248. Do you put in that account which you have handed to us as an accurate statement of all the receipts and expenditure on the Conservative side?—Yes, I do.

11,249. Mr. Gibson has told us in his evidence that you settled his account as election expenses agent?—I did not. Do you mean his private account for his services?

11,250. No; what I meant was, did you pay him the money to settle his election expenses account?—No; Mr. Gibson is in error about that.

11,251. Do you know who did pay Mr. Gibson his election expenses account?—He never had it. All that Mr. Gibson had was on the 15th of July, 100*l.*, for which he left me this statement. That was the first money I paid him.

11,252. Were any of these items which you have mentioned here paid through Mr. Gibson for election expenses?—I presume he paid them all. I gave him 100*l.*, and that is what he gave me in return.

11,253. I am not alluding to the account which you have just handed in, but I mean the items you gave us yesterday. Were any of those paid to Mr. Gibson on account of election expenses?—Yes. I paid Mr Gibson with that and the others 422*l.* 3*s.* 6*d.* I gave him the money to pay the committee rooms, town clerk's fees, and Mr. Danson, 50*l.*

11,254. To the best of your belief Mr. Gibson had no other monies from you?—No. Those are included in the list I gave you.

11,255. Is the sum 422*l.* 3*s.* 6*d.* all that Mr. Gibson received from you?—To the best of my knowledge I believe so, unless there is any other small amount in the list I gave you.

11,256. Are you aware that Mr. Gibson returned his election expenses at 1,129*l.* 3*s.*?—I was only aware of it by seeing an account he left with me of 1,129*l.* 18*s.*, marked on it "Certified by the town clerk," which I found amongst my memorandums.

11,257. I suppose this account of Mr. Gibson's was advertised. Did you see it advertised?—I could not say that I did. I suppose it was, and no doubt I should see it, but I could not speak to the amounts.

11,258. Mr. Gibson never received from you any portion of this sum of 1,129*l.* 18*s.* except the sum of 422*l.* 3*s.* 6*d.*?—To the best of my knowledge that included all I paid him. The rest of the accounts I paid myself.

11,259. Do you happen to know, or have you heard from where the rest of this money came, how Mr. Gibson was paid the balance?—He never had the balance to my knowledge.

11,260. Not from you?—No, nor anyone else, I should say.

11,261. You gave Mr. Gibson vouchers for the account and he entered them into his book?—Those vouchers that were required to be deposited; that was all. I did not give vouchers for the 100*l.* and 112*l.* I have them.

11,262. (Mr. Hill.) Take, for instance, Mr. Sly's carriage account?—That was paid in January. I have the vouchers for it. The account that was sent in to the officer was not receipted. It was not paid then.

11,263. It was not paid at the time it was entered in the book as paid?—No.

11,264. It was not paid until January?—No; the same as Mr. Clark's account was not paid till the 3rd or 4th of January.

11,265. (Mr. Newton.) Which Mr. Clark is that?—Mr. C. T. Clark.

11,266. (Mr. Barstow.) There was a sum then, in round numbers, of 700*l.* which is entered in Mr. Gibson's account, but the bills in fact were paid by you?—900*l.* I understood him to say. I understood from the report in the paper that he said he had 900*l.* from me.

11,267. You do not understand. Mr. Gibson's account is 1,129*l.* 18*s.* You paid Gibson 422*l.* 3*s.* 6*d.*, and you say that is all you paid him, to the best of your belief?—Yes.

11,268. There is a difference of 707*l.* 14*s.* 7*d.* which is entered in Mr. Gibson's account, but the bills in fact were paid by you?—Yes, by me.

11,269. Are you aware how Gibson knew the amounts so as to render them in his account?—The full amount of 1,100*l.*?

11,270. No, how he knew the separate items; take, for instance, Mr. Sly's bill?—This is a draft of what he left with me; how he made it out I do not know.

11,271. (Mr. Hill.) If the vouchers still remain with you how did Mr. Gibson know the items?—I should give him those vouchers which he had to give in to the returning officer.

11,272. (Mr. Barstow.) That cannot be so, because you had not the vouchers until a month after the amount is entered as paid by Gibson?—Yes, he took Mr. Sly's and Mr. Clark's vouchers, but they were not receipted; he took the bills which were put down, and represented them as being paid.

11,273. (Mr. Hill.) Having entered them did he return the bills to you?—No; when I paid the bills I got a fresh bill.

11,274. He arrived at these details from bills given to him?—Yes, whether they were paid or not paid.

11,275. Were those bills given to him by you?—I cannot say; many of them would be sent to him, I think.

11,276. He arrived at the details by bills given to him and sent to him?—Yes.

11,277. Either by you or by other persons?—Yes.

11,278. (Mr. Newton.) You got those bills afterwards, and got a receipt to them?—Yes, I got fresh bills.

11,279. For the same amount?—Yes. I have the vouchers if you wish to have them.

11,280. (Mr. Barstow.) Have you a tabulated account of legitimate and illegitimate expenses?—No, I have not; I have merely an account as they were paid daily. In that list those against which you see a cross I have received receipts for, with the exception of one.

11,281. Which one is that?—An item of 34*l.*

11,282. (Mr. Newton.) Who has got the receipts of the others?—If you have the receipts of the election they will be amongst them. I think the mistake Mr. Gibson has made is, that he has taken for granted he paid those bills, whereas many of them I paid myself. I do not think it will make any difference in the total. I have got the particulars of the first hundred, and here are the particulars of the second.

11,283. You paid 34*l.* as well, but you have not got a voucher for it?—No.

11,284. Do you suppose that Gibson has got the receipts for the remainder?—He did not pay for them.

11,285. He has got the receipts, I suppose?—I do not know where they are.

(Mr. Swainson.) I think, perhaps, I could give an explanation upon that point. You have before you a little book of Mr. Gibson's, and I have, as representing officially the returning officer, vouchers for every payment in that book, with the exception of Mr. Sly's bills, and Mr. Christopher Thornton Clark's; Mr. Gibson had vouchers when he rendered that account, for all the items in that book, except the two I have mentioned; it seems to me that you are in a difficulty as to where the vouchers are.

(Mr. Newton.) We want to arrive at what are the legitimate expenses and what are the illegitimate expenses.

11,286. (Mr. Barstow to the witness.) Did you take any part in the election, excepting that of treasurer?—No, not any.

11,287. You know nothing of what went on excepting what was in your own immediate sphere?—No.

11,288. Do you know anything of the money matters on the other side?—I do not.

11,289. Have you read the accounts that have been given of the money disbursed on the other side?—Yes.

11,290. Was the amount stated to have been spent on the other side as large as you expected it would be?—No.

11,291. What reason have you for believing that the amount spent on the other side was greater than that returned?—General belief that money went more freely, and from the absence of a correct statement of account as to how the money was spent.

11,292. Are those your only reasons for believing that the sum actually spent on the other side is greater than that which has been given to us in evidence?—I have no other reason.

11,293. Do you know anything of any definite sum of money being used by the other party for the purposes of the election, excepting those we have heard of in his evidence?—I know nothing personally.

11,294. You say you know nothing personally; do you know, or have you heard, or have you credible information of any sum of money other than what we have heard of coming to the other party's hands?—I have no direct information in any shape whatever; that (handing a paper to the Commissioner) is the statement of legal expenses left by Mr. Gibson.

11,295. How was this 100*l.* that you paid to Gibson on the 15th of July paid?—In money.

11,296. Do you mean in gold?—I could not say whether it was in gold or notes, but it was in one or the other.

11,297. How did you pay the other 322*l.*?—The first is 100*l.* paid in a similar way; the next was 101*l.*, and the third item was 38*l.* 10*s.* for professional charges, and the other was given in such sums as were asked for to meet small payments. For instance, there is one item of 50*l.*, that might be a 50*l.* note.

11,298. Have you read Mr. Gibson's evidence?—Yes.

11,299. He told us that he was paid all the gross amount with the exception of 200*l.*; that he got the money from you, and cashed it from cheques?—Then he got it when I was not aware of it. I must have been asleep when he got it. He never did get it from me.

11,300. I want to know how you arrive at these sums. I see that the gross total you paid to Sly was 234*l.*?—Yes.

11,301. Then I see the account of Sly in Gibson's book is 146*l.* 16*s.* 9*d.*?—The two first items in Mr. Sly's bill are 131*l.* 17*s.*, and 14*l.* 19*s.* 9*d.*, which I think will come to that amount.

11,302. Then I see you return to us Sly's account as 234*l.* 12*s.* 6*d.*?—Yes. The amount here is 234*l.* 12*s.* 11*d.*

11,303. Is that 178*l.*, 32*l.* for committee room, and 146*l.* for conveyance, included in the 234*l.*?—It will be those accounts which are put down in my bill as "paid Jackson," and so on. It is put down without a cross. All those were engaged by Mr. Sly, and he paid them, and I paid him the money.

11,304. When was Tape paid?—The date is there. It was all on one day.

11,305. You have not got the receipt for Pace?—No, not for the 34*l.*

11,306. I think you told us yesterday that you have been an inhabitant of this town for some years?—No. I was never asked the question.

11,307. How long have you been in Lancaster?—I first came in 1825, and was absent from 1832 to 1835.

11,308. Have you always taken a part in the elections?—No.

11,309. When was the first election in which you took a part?—Mr. Saunders's election.

11,310. Is that Fenwick and Saunders in 1864?—Yes.

11,311. Was that the first time you took any part?—Yes.

11,312. What were you?—The same as I was on this occasion, merely taking that position as a friend of the party.

11,313. How did you receive your appointment as cashier, or how were you made cashier?—I do not know that I had any appointment. I was desired by my friends to accept it; Mr. Wilson amongst the rest.

11,314. You did not apply for the appointment of cashier?—No; there is no emolument to cause one to apply for it.

11,315. You did not apply for it?—No.

11,316. You rather put yourself in the place?—No. I said they had better get some one else.

11,317. They applied to you?—Yes.

11,318. Who else besides Mr. Wilson?—I did not name any others. I said, "friends."

11,319. Mr. Wilson is not a resident here. I should like to get hold of some one who is a resident, and who made the application?—I was desired by Mr. Wilson and Mr. Saunders, and Mr. Clark desired it, or suggested it.

11,320. Mr. C. T. Clark?—Yes.

11,321. At that time was Mr. Lawrence declared to be a candidate?—I presume he would be, but I could not speak positively as to that. I have no doubt, whoever was the candidate, I should have been applied to to occupy the position I did.

11,322. Have you taken part in municipal elections?—No.

11,323. Is that beneath your notice?—There are parties who have taken the liberty of nominating me, but I have not taken any part, not even to ask for a vote, or pay a shilling; I always said I never would.

11,324. What I want is to get from you the information which we got from the other side—whether you have any knowledge of the payment of taking up the freedom by birth, or by apprenticeship?—That I know nothing about.

11,325. Who would be the person on your side of politics who would give us information upon that point?—I could not name anyone, because I really do not know.

11,326. Do you know that any men's expenses have been paid?—Not one.

11,327. Do you mean that you do not know of one man's expenses being paid, or that there were none paid?—I do not know of any man whose freedom or expenses were paid.

11,328. It was not the practice of the Conservative party to pay for the freedom of people on that side?—I do not know that it was.

11,329. It seems to be the practice on the other side. You know it was the practice of the Liberal party to do it?—Only from what I saw in the paper.

11,330. Did you know it at the time?—No; they are things I never take any interest in.

11,331. I suppose you were looked upon as one of the leaders of the Conservative party, and as a shining light?—I am not aware of it. I never took any part in politics at all excepting the position I held, and that position I held as a private friend to the parties.

11,332. To whom may I ask?—Mr. Wilson; I have known him these 18 years, and Mr. Saunders the same time.

11,333. Amongst the items which you have given us in this account is there any item for a man being paid for his vote?—Not that I am aware of.

11,334. We have heard what took place on the other side, and wish to know whether the same practice was resorted to by your side?—I had nothing whatever to do with the voters.

11,335. Or paying them?—Of course you must exempt those voters that were captains.

11,336. You had nothing to do with the voters that were paid for their votes?—I never had anything to do with a single voter to my knowledge that was paid.

11,337. As I understand it, you had at the time of the evening of the election, on the 12th, spent 5,250*l.*, or rather you had received up to that evening 5,250*l.*?—Yes, and paid away 5,264*l.* 15*s.* 6*d.*

11,338. When did you go through these accounts, and put them in this form?—From the first.

11,339. From the first of what?—I commenced as I received them.

11,340. When did you make out these accounts?—That one you have in your hand has been made out since the Commission, but it is made from a duplicate of it.

11,341. Is this a correct copy?—Yes, it is a correct copy.

11,342. Was that made out from your ledger?—This is made out merely to show what was paid each day in case I was asked the question.

11,343. And this other?—This other was made out to show the gross amount paid under each name.

11,344. All those have been made out since the Commission?—Yes; of course I had the amounts of all the payments down with the dates, and the vouchers by me to make a debtor and credtor account.

11,345. They are taken from the vouchers?—Yes.

11,346. All those that are not accounted for, how did you arrive at those?—I had a list of them, and put them all together.

11,347. Therefore there can be no mistake about the money you received up to that date, and the money that was spent up to that date?—I do not fear any mistake.

11,348. You told us yesterday that Stirzaker brought you 400*l.*?—Wollaston; I said Wollaston accounted for 400*l.*

11,349. Who brought it to you?—No one.

11,350. What became of that 400*l.*?—Mr. Wollaston took that money, and gives an account of that money, and returned me 345*l.* 10*s.*

11,351. After the election?—The night of the election.

11,352. We shall get the names of the other gentlemen who brought those bags of gold with Wollaston from Wollaston?—He will know who brought them.

11,353. Those five gentlemen that were called the captains will tell us their sub-captains, will they not?—I know nothing about who was under them.

11,354. They will tell us who was under them?—They ought to do so. I do not know who was under them.

11,355. Is it true that people used to come to your house to demand money?—Yes; that is, for bills, to the shop.

11,356. After the election?—Yes.

11,357. Used you to pay them there?—No.

11,358. Where did you pay them?—I did not pay them; I told them I had no authority to pay them, and that those who had contracted the bill or given the orders must pay it. If the bills had been certified by the captains, and they had brought them, I should have paid them.

11,359. Do you believe there is any money owing now, outstanding?—There are bills that I have possession of that have not been paid, and which have not been authorized to be incurred, from what I can gather.

11,360. Will you tell us the amount of those bills?—I think they are from 100*l.* to 150*l.*

11,361. Do you mean that they have not been certified by the captains, and therefore you will not pay them?—Yes; I am mistaken, they amount to 83*l.*, that is, not taking into account odd shillings.

11,362. What sort of bills are they?—The bulk of them are public-house bills.

11,363. Are those public-houses that were not engaged?—I cannot say; they have been merely left at my place, and I had no authority to pay them. I did not pay any of the public-house bills.

11,364. Who did that part of the business?—The captains; whatever they certified or wanted I gave them.

11,365. Are those the only bills that you know of that are unpaid?—They are the only bills that I am in possession of.

11,366. Did you and Mr. Gibson ever meet together to decide upon what bills were to be paid and what were not to be paid?—I have met him at the "King's Arms."

11,367. Was anybody else present?—I think most of the five captains would be there; I could not say that they were all there. They went through their books and picked out those bills which ought to be paid.

11,368. The captains did?—The parties that were present.

11,369. Can you tell us who they were?—The five gentlemen I named before.

11,370. Was there anybody besides those five?—Not that I am aware of, except Mr. Gibson.

11,371. Yourself and Mr. Gibson?—Yes.

11,372. You picked out those bills that were to be paid and what were not to be paid?—I did not.

11,373. I mean collectively you did?—They picked out those that were to be paid, and the others were to stand over to be inquired into.

11,374. When was this?—Previous to the time when the accounts had to go to the town clerk, but I cannot say exactly when it was.

11,375. You knew prefectly well that Mr. Gibson, when he furnished these accounts, knew they were not paid?—Some of them were paid after that, between that time and when they went in to the returning officer.

11,376. You knew that he was going to certify accounts that would not be paid at the time they were sent in?—Yes, I knew he was going to send in Mr. Clark's and Mr. Sly's bills, which were not paid. I understood they had to go in whether receipted or otherwise.

11,377. You did not trouble your head much about it?—No.

11,378. (Mr. Hill.) Some of these bills that were sent in to the town clerk were not receipted?—I can only speak of two from my own memory, and those are Mr. Sly's and Mr. Clark's.

11,379. They were sent in to the town clerk not receipted?—I understood they were to be sent in; I have never seen them since.

11,380. (Mr. Hill to Mr. Swainson.) Have you got them?—I am not sure whether, amongst the vouchers handed to the returning officer, there were any vouchers for Mr. Sly and Mr. Clark. There was a receipted account for every other item except Mr. Sly's and Mr. Clark's accounts.

11,381. (Mr. Newton.) They were all receipted except those two?—Yes.

(The Witness.) May I ask what those two bills come to?

11,382. (Mr. Barstow.) The gross amount is Sly, 234*l.* 12*s.* 6*d.*, and Mr. Clark, 114*l.*?—Mr. Sly's and Mr. Clark's accounts together amount to 349*l.* 5*s.* 6*d.* I have not vouchers for 66*4l.* 9*s.* 6*d.*, and those two together make 1,013*l.* I merely mentioned that to make it agree with the list that has been given in of 1,100*l.*; it may be that there are other accounts in the town clerk's list of which I may have duplicate vouchers.

11,383. (Mr. Hill.) You have given us the different sums you paid Mr. George Clark, making a total of 508*l.* I see on the 10th of July the first large sum he received was 210*l.*?—No, that is not in the 500*l.*

11,384. G. C. Clark and two others with him received on the 10th of July 210*l.*?—You will find in that list it is put to the three names and not to him separately.

11,385. Why is that put to the three names instead of to him alone?—The three signed the receipt for it.

11,386. Why was that?—There were three present. I saw no objection to taking the three instead of taking one; they were altogether when they got the money.

11,387. Was it to be divided amongst the three?—Just as they liked; but I have understood since that Mr. Clark took it all for himself and has accounted for it.

11,388. What was the estimate which was formed by you or any of the party as to the amount which this election was likely to cost the Conservative party?—As far as I can recollect, something like 4,000*l.* or 5,000*l.*; not more.

11,389. When was that estimate formed?—That I cannot say.

11,390. About how long before the election?—I cannot say.

11,391. Give it to me about?—It was merely in casual conversation.

11,392. In casual conversation with whom?—Very likely with Mr. Wilson or Mr. Saunders.

11,393. Some of the heads of the party?—Yes.

11,394. That would be previously to your visit to London, in fact at the first onset?—My visit to London was on the 30th of June.

11,395. Was the candidate decided upon then?—You asked me yesterday when it was decided upon, and I have ascertained from a meeting that was held on other business that it was on the 1st of June. Mr. Lawrence was here at a meeting on other business when, I believe, he was asked.

11,396. Mr. Lawrence's natural inquiry would be what such an election would be likely to cost?—Not that I am aware of; he was here as a director of a company.

11,397. The Waggon or Ship Company?—The Shipowner's Company, and on the same day he was invited to stand.

11,398. After he had been invited to stand, there was a discussion with Mr. Wilson and the heads of the party as to what the election was likely to cost?—I am not aware of it; it was merely a conversation between Mr. Wilson, myself, and probably Mr. Saunders; not with a committee or anything of that kind.

11,399. Was it suggested that Mr. Lawrence should be informed as to the amount it would be likely to cost?—I never had a word with Mr. Lawrence on money matters whatever.

11,400. What was the first conversation you had as to the way in which the money was to come into your hands, or the first conversation I, perhaps, should say?—I had no conversation whatever.

11,401. How did you first know, or when did you first know, that this money would be found in London that was given to you at "Kennan's Hotel?"—A day or two before I went up; I had then advanced upwards of 3,000*l.*

11,402. To whom did you give the information that you had at that time advanced so much money?—Mr. Wilson.

11,403. Did Mr. Wilson tell you that you would find some money coming to you in London?—That I should get 500*l.* in London.

11,404. Did you at that time ask him where the remainder was to come from?—No, I did not.

11,405. Had you at that time any information as to where the remainder was to come from?—No.

11,406. Did you, in fact, at all at that time know where it would come from?—No; and I do not know now where it came from.

ELEVENTH DAY.

W. Barker.

7 Sept. 1866.

11,407. Of course you have taken care rather not to inquire?—I know where I got it from.

11,408. You have taken care not to inquire the source from where it came?—I never inquired.

11,409. It was better for you that you should not know?—As long as I got sufficient to meet the payments that was all I wanted.

11,410. At the time of these payments what balance had you in the bank, and when did you first begin to draw against it for the purposes of the election?—I never drew against it.

11,411. You say you furnished money for the election out of your own resources?—Yes.

11,412. How did you obtain that?—By money that I had by me, or, if I required it, from the bank.

11,413. By drawing on your own account?—Yes.

11,414. What was your balance in the bank at the time?—I do not know without looking.

11,415. Was it something against which you might draw safely to the amount of 500*l.* or 1,000*l.*?—Yes, or more thousands.

11,416. I do not want to investigate your accounts more than necessary for this purpose, but that would be to a certain extent a reason why they asked you to take the office of treasurer?—No; I think the chief reason was that they knew I should be particularly correct in the accounts.

11,417. I may say, as far as that goes, that you have given us pretty satisfactory proof that they were not wrong in their selection on that account. To what extent did you draw against your account during the election; what was the gross amount the election, if I may so say, owed you at one time?—I should think never more than what was owing to me just previous to my visit to London. At the first I drew a cheque on my own account for 500*l.* on the 12th, but it was not used for the election; it was drawn as a reserve in case of its being wanted, and was paid back next day—536*l.* or 538*l.* not wanted.

11,418. Had you any arrangement with the bank, or had you given information to the bank that there would be a certain amount of gold required in change for heavy notes?—No, never.

11,419. In fact, to the best of your belief, these big notes were all changed at the branch of the Lancaster Bank?—I have no doubt I should change them there.

11,420. Or the captains to whom you paid them?—If I had it not by me I should change them.

11,421. There must have been something like 5,000*l.* or 6,000*l.* worth of notes changed at the Lancaster Bank in the course of a very few days?—No, I think not. 2,000*l.* was brought in gold, which I stated yesterday, in four bags; and then 1,000*l.* cheque was changed into gold by the Preston Bank. That I also stated yesterday.

11,422. Who got that changed?—I did.

11,423. You had no account at the Preston Bank?—No.

11,424. Has Mr. Wilson?—No. Mr. Ball, the manager, changed it for me.

11,425. You say you had calculated that the election would cost about 4,000*l.* or 5,000*l.*?—I do not know that there was any calculation. It was merely spoken of.

11,426. Estimated, then. You were prepared however with funds to a larger amount?—The amount that I had up to that time was 5,250*l.*

11,427. Was there any estimate made with regard to the manner in which the 4,000*l.* or 5,000*l.* would be spent?—No.

11,428. There was no calculation made?—No.

11,429. It was calculated, of course, that a certain number of votes would have to be bought?—I suppose that would be the calculation.

11,430. Of course these matters were talked over generally amongst yourselves. What number of votes was it estimated it would be necessary to buy?—I never heard it named. I felt confident that the numbers who would have voted would have returned Mr. Lawrence.

11,431. Or else you would not have allowed him to have entered into this contest?—I never saw a book, or a return of a canvass in any shape whatever.

11,432. You never made any estimate yourself as to what would be the price of votes?—No.

11,433. You say you acted in the previous election as treasurer for Mr. Saunders?—Yes.

11,434. What was the amount which was disbursed on the Conservative side in the previous election?—Either 2,100*l.* or 2,200*l.*, to the best of my knowledge, without referring to the memoranda.

11,435. Was that for legal and illegal expenses?—That was for all.

11,436. The sum total?—Yes.

11,437. Have you the memoranda by you at the present time?—Yes, I have memoranda which would tell me the exact amount.

11,438. What number of votes were bought at that election?—I do not know.

11,439. Can you form an estimate?—No, I cannot. I never went into a calculation of the number of votes that were bought.

11,440. These matters would be discussed after the election?—It never was discussed before me; it was not a part that I took in any shape whatever.

11,441. Do you recollect what the legal expenses were returned at?—No, I do not.

11,442. 700*l.* odd, was it not?—I do not know, and I have no record of it.

11,443. You had the same captains?—That I cannot say; I think they would not be the same.

11,444. Where was the Conservatives' central house?—When?

11,445. At this last election?—Do you mean where Mr. Lawrence stayed?

11,446. Where the committee met?—The "King's Arms" was the house that I went to.

11,447. That was the Central Committee?—No, the Central Committee was at the "Royal Oak," which belongs to the same proprietor, but Mr. Lawrence stayed at the "King's Arms."

11,448. How many members were there on that committee?—I do not know.

11,449. About how many?—I could not state.

11,450. Give me the names of some of them, besides the five captains?—I do not know any. I scarcely ever went myself into the room; once or twice on the day of election that, was all. I never met the committee except on the occasion when I met Mr. Gibson about the accounts.

11,451. (Mr. Newton.) That was at the "King's Arms?"—Yes.

11,452. What remuneration did you receive for your services at this last election?—Thanks—nothing else.

11,453. Did you receive nothing else?—No.

11,454. No interest for the money that you had laid out?—No, and I do not expect it.

11,455. I ask you that distinctly, you understand that?—Yes; I have never received anything, and do not expect anything either at this election or at the former one.

11,456. "I have not received, nor do I expect any remuneration," am I to take that down?—Yes; it was entirely friendship.

11,457. Of whom had you been a friend?—Mr. Wilson I have known, as I have said before, these 18 or 20 years, and Mr. Saunders the same.

11,458. You acted for Mr. Wilson and Mr. Saunders?—Yes, on the two elections.

11,459. What part did Mr. Saunders take in this last election of Mr. Lawrence?—He seemed very active all the day.

11,460. Not only during that day but previously, had he not?—Yes, previous too; he was very anxious for the return of Mr. Lawrence.

11,461. Was he taking any steps to secure the return of Mr. Lawrence besides his general anxiety and care?—He might ask parties for their votes, for anything I know.

11,462. Do you think he was at all operating in any money matters?—No.

11,463. You do not know it?—To my knowledge he was not.

11,464. But what is your belief?—My belief is that he was not.

11,465. When did you and Mr. Gibson first discuss, if at all, the amount that should be given in as legal expenses?—I do not know that I ever had any discussion with him upon that subject, more than meeting him at the "King's Arms."

11,466. Did you know, before Mr. Gibson's legal expenses had been returned, what had been returned on the other side?—No.

11,467. Do I understand from you that there was no suggestion from you as to what should be the amount given for legal expenses?—None whatever; he took out just what he liked, and rejected what he did not like.

11,468. You handed the bills to Mr. Gibson, Mr. Gibson picked out what he liked, and those he put down as being legal expenses?—He picked out what bills were to be charged as legal expenses.

11,469. Having full knowledge that the other bills were bills that would be paid?—I suppose so.

11,470. Did you know that Mr. Gibson would sign and put his name to this statement, having that knowledge as a detailed statement of all election expenses incurred by or on behalf of Edward Lawrence, Esq.?—I did not know anything about it. Mr. Gibson spoke to me a week or two before the Commission, and said he must come and see me about the money he had had, and my answer was, "I think "I cannot say much to you, you being now partner "with the solicitor on the opposite side."

11,471. You and Mr. Gibson have not gone over this matter since?—No, not at all; I think Mr. Gibson merely took the list he has made out, thinking in his mind he had paid them.

11,472. Mr. Gibson has given in this return as being a detail of all expenses incurred by or on behalf of Edward Lawrence, Esq., at that election?—That I do not know.

11,473. You say Mr. Gibson knew very well that these other bills were to be paid?—There were some left out at the "King's Arms."

11,474. A considerable number?—Yes.

11,475. There was the difference between 1,124*l.* and 7,000*l.*?—Yes; he might not know of all that amount; I do not suppose he would.

11,476. But the greater part of it?—No, I do not think he would know of the money I advanced to the captains.

11,477. He would know of the bills?—Yes.

11,478. And of this list of staff-men which you handed in, because he paid it himself?—That is a list which he left with me, it is not in my writing; the three lists which you have got he left with me.

11,479. He left this list of 212 staff-men?—He got 100*l.* from me, he did not pay them all.

11,480. I hope he did for his own accuracy, because he says here "Balance due to T. G., 6*l.*?—I think, as far as my memory goes, there were some of the men who did not get it.

11,481. What is the next sum that he got?—101*l.* 12*s.* 1*d.* was the next money from me.

11,482. Then there is a list of clerks, canvassers, and messengers, paid the 12th of July 1865?—My list will tell you the day I paid it.

11,483. That is the list you refer to?—Yes, 101*l.* 12*s.*, and then the receipt for 38*l.* 10*s.* will be with the town clerk.

11,484. What was that for?—His services.

11,485. That is the third receipt?—Yes; and the other sums, such as the town clerk and other payments on that list. I gave him the money to pay them with, that is all the money I gave him.

11,486. On your oath, have you given us to the best of your ability all you know about this election?—Yes, everything.

11,487. That you swear solemnly?—Yes.

11,488. I ask you that because we are going very strictly into the particulars of these payments; is there anything that you wish to amend?—No; I have given you every penny I received and every penny I spent.

11,489. And every penny you know of, expenditure and receipt?—I do not think anything else was spent by anybody; if there was it must have been paid out of their own pockets.

ROBERT SHACKLETON recalled and further examined.

R. Shackleton.

11,490. (Mr. Barstow.) You were to furnish us with an accurate list of the voters bribed by you at Morecambe?—Did I promise to do so?

11,491. Yes, and when I saw you here to-day I thought you had come provided with it?—No, I am not; I can give you the names if you will allow me further time. I was not aware that you had asked me for it.

11,492. But we did, and you promised you would furnish it to us?—That I can do; I have not the book with me now, but it so happens that I have made an examination among a lot of old papers, and I have found a memorandum of how I spent the money; the days on which I received it and paid it, and who I paid it to.

11,493. It would have been more satisfactory if you had brought it to us before?—I did not know that I had it. We have two houses, and the house I usually occupy is at present occupied by General Crofton, from London, and all my papers are in that larger house. We are in a cottage ourselves, and I could not, therefore, get to my books.

11,494. That is nonsense.—Whether you believe it or not it is the fact. I can get it this afternoon.

11,495. Then let us have it on Monday.

11,496. (Mr. Hill.) Can you give us the names now?—No; there is one little explanation I wish to make.

11,497. You can make it on Monday?—It is with reference to a matter that has been spoken of by one of the witnesses.

11,498. You can make it on Monday, if you can recollect it.

ISAAC VICKERS recalled and further examined.

I. Vickers.

11,499. (Mr. Newton.) I remember that you are a watch and clock maker; we understand that you have something further to inform us of?—Yes; but before I go to that I wish to say that there was a person put into the box, Christopher Fothergill, who said that I spoke an untruth. Thomas was the man I gave 6*l.* 10*s.* to, not Christopher.

11,500. What is Thomas?—A grocer in China Lane.

11,501. You gave him 6*l.* for his vote?—No.

11,502. What for then?—To buy voters, but the price was too little; he could not buy them at that price, the money was too little.

11,503. You did not buy the votes yourself?—Yes, I got two or three.

11,504. Did you give 6*l.* to buy his vote?—No, not to buy his vote; he was a captain along with us. I think you have not had him up yet; I think you ought to have him.

11,505. You did not buy votes yourself, you would not do that?—Oh, yes, of course I would.

11,506. You told us you paid Thomas Fothergill 6*l.* 10*s.*?—Yes; but it was Christopher in the newspapers.

11,507. But you told us it was Thomas?—Then it is a mistake of the reporters.

11,508. It is Thomas Fothergill, and it was for his vote?—No, not for his vote: he was a captain along with us; it was not for his vote. Do not make a mistake like that, that would never do.

ELEVENTH DAY.

J. Vickers.

7 Sept. 1866.

11,509. You never bought his vote?—No; he was a captain along with us.

11,510. (Mr. Hill.) You bought old Mr. Rawlinson?—Yes.

11,511. (Mr. Newton.) You said Thomas Fothergill when you were examined before?—Yes.

11,512. And it so appears in our shorthand writer's notes. Was Robert Powell's for his vote?—No.

11,513. It was to buy the votes of other people?—Yes.

11,514. Who was Robert Powell's for?—It was to buy voters.

11,515. 6*l.* 10*s.* would not buy them in the plural number?—No, but I think he got something else; and he bought one, I think, for 10*l.*

11,516. Have you anything more to tell us?—I think I told you I never had anything to do with householders, but it appears to me I have got one.

11,517. Who is he?—Henry Knowles.

11,518. What did you give him?—I gave him 8*l.*

11,519. Where does he live?—On the Castle Hill.

11,520. 8*l.*?—Yes; but I did not go and ask him.

11,521. Did you find him in the churchyard?—He came to me.

11,522. At your house?—Yes.

11,523. Go on; what did he say when he came to you?—He said nothing.

11,524. Did you say anything to him?—No.

11,525. How did it come about then?—There is a gentleman of the name of Isaac Isaacs, and he comes with him, and says, "Well, my friend," he says, "I "want to have a little private conversation with you." I says, "All right."

11,526. Without going through a long story, it ultimately ended in your giving this man 8*l.* for his vote?—Yes.

11,527. You gave him 10*l.*, did you not?—No, 8*l.*; do not put any more to it.

11,528. Anybody else?—The next one was an invalid.

11,529. Who is he?—James Jackson; he was in a very ragged state.

11,530. What is he?—He is a groom, I believe.

11,531. Where does he live?—Oh, he is dead.

11,532. Where did he live?—Well, I do not know where he lived, I met him in the street; he was in a very ragged state, and I sent him down to Robert Powell for a suit of clothes, and then I sent him on to the dispensary.

11,533. What has that to do with his vote; did you buy his vote?—No, I did not, some one else did.

11,534. Who?—Some of our party; I do not know who it was.

11,535. Anybody else?—No.

11,536. Is this 8*l.* included in the account of what you received?—Yes.

11,537. It is?—No, it is not; not that 8*l.* is not.

11,538. Where did you get that 8*l.* from?—From Henry Welch.

11,539. When did he give it to you?—A few days after the election.

11,540. Did you tell him what you had done?—Yes.

11,541. Where did he give it you, at his house?—In his shop.

11,542. Have you anything more to tell us?—No.

11,543. Then you received 8*l.* more than you gave us an account of the other day?—Yes.

11,544. (Mr. Hill.) Did you pay for the clothes?—Yes.

11,545. How much?—25*s.*; and a pair of boots 4*s.* 6*d.*

11,546. Where did you get the money from?—That was out of the first money I got that I paid away.

11,547. Then that ought to come off the balance?—Yes; and then there was 10*s.* for wine. When he came from the dispensary he was to have some wine.

11,548. Then you paid for this man, Jackson, altogether 1*l.* 9*s.* 6*d.*?—Yes.

11,549. Can you think of anything else that you paid?—No, I cannot think of anything else.

11,550. You cannot give us any more information about the watch?—No, I had nothing to do with that.

J. Albright.

JOHN ALBRIGHT recalled.

11,551. (Mr. Hill.) We understand that you wish to explain something to us?—Yes; I gave the names of two parties that I paid 4*l.* each to, which is a mistake. I gave the name of William Jackson, junior, of Middleton.

11,552. He was a young man, and you polled him for 4*l.*?—Yes; and then there is Ralph Jackson, a brother of his, he was 4*l.* Those two names are wrong; there are such a lot of Jacksons that a Philadelphia lawyer would be puzzled by them; so I wrote to the parties, and I find from a letter I have here (producing it) that it ought to be Samuel Jackson for one—William Jackson should be Samuel Jackson.

11,553. What is he?—Samuel Jackson is a farm servant at Middleton; the letter is directed from Middleton, but I believe it is Heysham in the list; I suppose he has shifted about. He says here, "In answer "to yours of the 4th, respecting the young man that "accompanied you from Overton on the morning of the "election, it was James Caton; I do not know his "proper address."

11,554. Then that should be James Caton?—Yes, in place of Ralph Jackson; Thomas is the father.

11,555. You say the list is Thomas Caton, Samuel Jackson, and James Caton?—Yes. Thomas Caton you had before, and then you follow with Samuel Jackson and James Caton.

11,556. What did you give them?—4*l.* each; they are the parties that I named before. The amount is the same, but it is Samuel Jackson instead of William.

11,557. Who was Ralph Jackson bought by, do you know?—I think he would go in Hutchinson's list; these were a sort of stray sheep that got out of the way; they were up a lane. I do not know what was the reason of it.

11,558. (Mr. Newton.) You got them into the fold, I hope?—It takes a very large fold to hold some of them, and rather extensive walls, too, to keep them in.

11,559. Did you know that James Caton was also paid by Hutchinson?—I saw Hutchinson, and he told me, and this man confirms it. I handed over 4*l.* to my son; I said, "Look sharp, they are going to cut."

11,560. Then he got 4*l.* from you and 10*l.* from Hutchinson?—I do not know what he got from Hutchinson; I thought it looked rather suspicious.

11,561. He got 8*l.* from Hutchinson?—Then it is only 12*l.* altogether.

11,562. You are quite sure about that being Samuel Jackson?—He writes to tell me, here is his letter to show you. In the list you will find that he has not been with Hutchinson; he is not in that list, and if you look at the list you will find he voted for Fenwick and Schneider.

11,563. Is that all you have to tell us?—Yes.

J. Smith.

JOSEPH SMITH sworn and examined.

11,564. (Mr. Barstow.) Where do you live?—Bath House.

11,565. Where is that?—In Lancaster.

11,566. What are you?—A corn merchant.

11,567. Have you been a pretty active electioneerer on the Liberal side?—I took an active part in the last election, and the one before.

11,568. Was that in Galgate?—No, in Halton.

11,569. Only in Halton?—And in the borough afterwards.

11,570. How much money did you receive for the purposes of the election?—30*l.*

11,571. From whom did you receive it?—Henry Welch.

11,572. When did you receive the first sum?—I received it all at once, on the night before the election.

11,573. How did you spend it?—I gave 2*l.* to Robert Lawrence, at Galgate; he stated in his evidence yesterday that my son gave it him; so he did, but I gave it to my son in the office to give to him, he was only standing at the office door.

11,574. The next?—2*l.* to James Gardner, of Halton; he was assisting me in the canvass.

11,575. (Mr. Hill.) Is he a voter?—He is; the money was given to him to treat the voters with previous to the election; I gave it at twice.

11,576. (Mr. Barstow.) Who next?—I gave 7*l.* to Robert Pedder.

11,577. Of Halton?—Yes.

11,578. The next?—10*s.* to Joseph Wilson.

11,579. What Joseph Wilson is that?—The extailor; that was on the day of the election. I can explain it; he was paying a voter and wanted some change to pay some few shillings; the man had been out of pocket, so I gave him 10*s.* in silver in the "Nag's Head."

11,580. The next?—1*l.* 1*s.* spent in expenses before and at the election.

11,581. Did you pay any other voters?—I only paid one voter, Pedder; 6*l.* 5*s.* I paid for expenses at Halton; that was for the house expenses and drink for the Galgate voters.

11,582. What is the name of the house?—A man named Edward Lambert kept it; it used to be called the "Horse and Farrier." It has been rebuilt. I do not know whether it remains the same name or not. I have the bill here, if necessary.

11,583. How much was the house, and how much the bill?—The house was 1*l.*, that was all.

11,584. You returned the balance?—The balance I returned to Mr. Welch, 11*l.* 5*s.*

HENRY HADWEN affirmed and examined.

H. Hadwen.

11,585. (Mr. Newton.) What are you?—Sub-manager of the Lancaster Banking Company.

11,586. Where do you live?—In Lancaster.

11,587. Have you the management of the branch here?—Of the head office in the absence of Mr. Coulston.

11,588. Can you refer to the book of the 1st July 1865?—I have a copy of the account that has been already referred to.

11,589. That is a copy from what?—From the ledger.

11,590. When was it copied?—A few days ago.

11,591. For the purposes of this inquiry?—Exactly.

11,592. Refer, if you please, to the entry on the 1st of July.—I have no entry on the 1st of July; the first entry is the 6th of July.

11,593. Is there any entry on the 1st of July of 500*l.* debited to Mr. Coulston?—None on that day; there is on the 6th of July.

11,594. Just read it.—"1865, July 6th: to cash 500*l.*"

11,595. Is that all?—The 11th of July is the next, "cash 2,000*l.*" The next is "August 21st, cash 500*l.*; October 27th, cash 500*l.*; December 16th, cash 55*l.*

11,596. You have no entry of any 500*l.* on the 1st of July?—None at all.

11,597. Are you aware of any parcel having been sent from the bank on the 1st of July, containing money, by Mr. Sanderson?—I cannot speak to the date; I believe that he took some money from the bank, from what he himself told me.

11,598. When did he tell you that?—It would be on the day that he took it.

11,599. Not since?—He may possibly have referred to it since, but I cannot be certain as to that.

11,600. Would that parcel that Mr. Sanderson mentions be either of these sums of 500*l.*?—I have no doubt that it would be.

11,601. Do you know where he took the parcel to?—I rather have an impression that he said it was to be taken to the "Queen's Hotel."

11,602. You cannot give us any date?—I cannot.

11,603. You believe it would be one of these sums that you have mentioned?—I have no doubt of it.

11,604. Have you ever discussed this matter with Mr. Coulston?—I have had a conversation with him about it.

11,605. When?—More particularly within the last week or ten days.

11,606. Since the Commission has been sitting here?—Since the Commission has been sitting here.

11,607. Has he assented to those items being correct?—That was not a question that was raised at all; they were admitted to be correct.

11,608. He could not charge his memory with anyelse but that?—No.

11,609. Now perhaps you will tell us whether any security was placed by Mr. Coulston with the bank for this money?—I must explain that the account, although in the name of Mr. Coulston, is Mr. Schneider's account.

11,610. Had Mr. Schneider an account at the bank?—He had not a private account at that time.

11,611. Had he at any time a private account?—Not antecedently to the election, that I am aware of.

11,612. He had subsequently?—He has now.

11,613. What security had the bank for the advance of these sums of money?—The bank needed no security from Mr. Schneider, but he forwarded Mr. Coulston a note of hand for 2,500*l.*, which I have here (producing it).

11,614. Mr. Schneider did?—Yes, Mr. Schneider did—(The promissory note, bearing a 30s. stamp is put in and read, and is as follows):—"London, 28th April, 1865; 2,500*l.* On demand I promise to pay to John Coulston, Esq., or order, the sum of two thousand five hundred pounds for value received, with interest thereon at 5 per cent. (Signed) H.W. SCHNEIDER, at the Lancaster Banking Company, Lancaster."

11,615. Was there any other security?—No other connected with that account.

11,616. The reason why I ask that question is that the sums you have given us amount to 3,555*l.*, and this note is only for 2,500*l.*?—Yes; it was quite immaterial whether we had security from Mr. Schneider or not; he is good for a very much larger amount, without any pledged security.

11,617. This is the only security?—It is the only security.

11,618. If, then, he was considered good for a much larger amount, why was he asked to give this note of hand for 2,500*l.*?—I do not think he was asked; at least I am not aware that he was.

11,619. How do you account for it?—Only by reference to the account, which shows that there was 2,500*l.* owing at the time the note was remitted.

11,620. This promissory note was dated, I see, in April?—Yes; but it was remitted on the 15th of July.

11,621. By whom was it remitted?—By Mr. Schneider.

11,622. It was remitted to the bank by Mr. Schneider?—No, not to the bank; it was remitted to Mr. Coulston as manager of the bank.

11,623. How was it directed?—I do not know what the address was on the cover.

11,624. All you knew is that you found it in your bank as having been paid in there?—It came into my possession within the last, it may be, two months; I cannot speak precisely to the date Mr. Coulston held it in the meantime.

11,625. How are you able to fix the date of the 15th of July, which you have given us as the date when the note was received?—I have seen Mr. Schneider's note inclosing it.

ELEVENTH DAY.

H. Hadwen.

7 Sept. 1866.

11,626. To whom was the note addressed ?—To Mr. Coulston.

11,627. Where is that note ?—I have it at the bank ; I have not brought it with me, but I will furnish it to you if you wish it.

11,628. We shall be glad if you will do so ?—The note itself refers to other matters ; the first two lines only relate to this matter.

11,629. What I cannot understand is, why, in the month of April, Mr. Schneider should give a note of hand for 2,500*l.* when at that time he did not owe the bank any money whatever ?—He did not owe anything then.

11,630. You say that his name was so good that you would have been prepared to advance him any large sum of money he might require ?—Yes.

11,631. What was the object of his giving this note then ?—I presume it was given voluntarily, I do not know.

11,632. It seems to be inconsistent with your answer that he should have done so ?—I do not know that ; I have said that he remitted it on the 15th of July ; why the promissory note is dated in April I do not know.

11,633. You had no other securities ?—No other securities.

11,634. (Mr. Hill.) How long had Mr. Schneider kept an account at the Barrow branch ?—He had no account of his own there.

11,635. But how long had the firm kept an account with the Barrow branch ?—I should suppose the last dozen years probably.

11,636. Who is the manager of the Barrow branch ?—Mr. Wallace.

11,637. Do you go over to superintend or overhaul the accounts of the Barrow branch ?—I do occasionally.

11,638. Was Mr. Coulston enabled to take part in the business at this time of the election ?—Yes, in the banking business.

11,639. Did you go at that time to look over the accounts of the Barrow branch ?—I did not. It was Mr. Coulston's duty, when I was not able, to do so ; but I did not go over myself, neither did Mr. Coulston that I am aware of ; but at the close of the half-year he, I think, would go over for the half-yearly settlement of the accounts.

11,640. That would be at Christmas ?—Christmas would be the next.

11,641. Do you know of any sum of 1,000*l.* that was drawn out by Mr. Schneider from the Barrow branch of the Lancaster Banking Company ?—I do not.

11,642. Have you any knowledge at all of it ?—Not at all.

11,643. Have you any knowledge of any other sums having been advanced by Mr. Coulston or by the bank to Mr. Schneider beyond this 3,555*l.* which you have spoken of ?—Nothing beyond a cheque or cheques that he might give upon the Barrow branch in the name of Schneider, Hannay, & Co., in favour of Mr. Maxsted I think ; but I cannot be certain about that.

11,644. Those are the cheques Mr. Maxsted has spoken of in his evidence ?—Yes.

11,645. To what amount ?—I cannot tell.

11,646. Be good enough on Monday, when you come again, to produce a copy of that account, or bring with you your book and read the entries from it ?—It is a large book to bring, but I shall be very glad to bring it if the Commissioners desire it.

11,647. You can copy out the account and bring the book here with it, so that we may refer to it if necessary ?—The form in which I shall have to produce it will be in the bill book, which of course contains copies of all the cheques that passed through the bank, so that they will have to be sought out in the bill book. I will endeavour to do it, but if the Commissioners would be satisfied with my extracting from this large book the particulars of those cheques I refer to, that will save the necessity of bringing the large book here. The account is kept at Barrow, and the ledger account would show the cheques that were drawn in favour of Mr. Maxsted.

11,648. Then we had better have the Barrow ledger ?—Or an extract from the account, showing what cheques were paid to Mr. Maxsted ; it would be a serious interruption to our business to bring the book itself.

11,649. I understand you to say that Mr. Schneider does not keep a private account with the Barrow bank ?—No. At the time of the election he had no private account anywhere, not at any of our offices.

11,650. Do you know whether he has a private account at any other bank over Sands ?—I am not aware that he has. I should say not.

11,651. Then the only bank account you know of at all would be the firm's account with your branch at Barrow ?—At that time.

11,652. (Mr. Newton.) Do you mean that he had no private account at all at any bank ?—I should say he had not. I never knew that he had any account except with the Lancaster Banking Company.

11,653. Who are his London bankers ?—He would draw on Barclay's, if he drew at all, but it would be on our account.

11,654. (Mr. Barstow.) We are all of opinion that we ought, in strictness, to require the production of the Barrow ledger ; but we quite believe that it would be a serious embarrassment to your business to have it brought here, and therefore at present we will be content with an extract containing all Mr. Schneider's drawings from the 1st of June to the 15th of July 1865 ?—I will take care and furnish the extract.

11,655. (Mr. Hill.) There is no other branch on which Mr. Schneider would draw except the Lancaster chief office, and the Barrow branch, Ulverston ?—He would not draw on Ulverston at that time.

11,656. How is that ?—The account was formerly kept at Ulverston, but on a branch bank being established in Barrow the account was removed there.

11,657. When was the Barrow branch established ?—It was carried on as a branch from Ulverston, but it became an independent branch in March 1865, I believe.

11,658. At Barrow ?—Yes. Perhaps I may explain, for the sake of Mr. Coulston, that although the account was opened in his name as a separate account, that was not from any political consideration ; it was, I believe, chiefly and purely in consideration of the value of Mr. Schneider and his firm's account with the Lancaster Bank.

Mr. T. Barton.

Mr. Thomas Barton sworn and examined.

11,659. (Mr. Hill.) What are you ?—A gentleman.

11,660. You are in no occupation ?—No.

11,661. Where do you reside ?—At Lancaster.

11,662. Are you a Liberal ?—Yes.

11,663. And you took some part in the late election ?—Yes.

11,664. What was your principal occupation in the last election ?—I assisted a little in the canvass ; that was the principal part I took.

11,665. Were you occasionally at the "Queen's Hotel ?"—I was occasionally at the "Queen's Hotel."

11,666. In the room in which what we have called the Secret Committee were sitting ?—Yes.

11,667. You heard Mr. Welch's evidence, or have seen his evidence with reference to what you are said to have done with regard to money provided at the last election. Did you take any money to the "Queen's Hotel" ?—I took 1,000*l.* there on the morning of the election.

11,668. From whom did you receive that money ?—I received the amount from Mr. Hadwen, at the bank.

11,669. In what form did you receive it ?—The whole of it was in gold.

11,670. Was it packed in brown paper parcels, and in a bag?—It was put into a bag—the entire sum was in one bag.

11,671. You did not take the bag to the bank, and have it packed there?—No; I received the bag at the bank.

11,672. We are told, I think, that it was a black leather bag?—No, it was a canvas bag.

11,673. Was anyone present when you received it from Mr. Hadwen?—No one.

11,674. Did you receive it in the bank parlour, or in the bank itself?—I received it in the bank parlour.

11,675. At what time in the day did you receive it?—I fancy somewhere about 12 o'clock.

11,676. At noon?—At noon. I am not quite certain about the time, but it strikes me that it was somewhere thereabouts.

11,677. What did you do with it?—I took it to the "Queen's Arms."

11,678. You took it upstairs into this room?—Upstairs to Mr. Welch's room.

11,679. What did you do with it there?—I left it in his charge.

11,680. You took it at once there, did you?—Yes; I took it at once there, direct from the bank.

11,681. On whose instructions did you proceed to the bank for this money?—Something was said in the committee that morning as to the necessity of strengthening Mr. Welch's hands, and Mr. Schneider, who also was present, suggested the desirability of seeing if the amount in gold could be obtained at the Lancaster Bank. I immediately went over to the Lancaster Bank for the purpose, and obtained the amount as stated.

11,682. Did you deliver any message to Mr. Hadwen?—Nothing more than that I had come from the committee room to inquire if I could have 1,000*l.* in gold.

11,683. What was said upon that?—Mr. Hadwin, I think, intimated at once that the amount could be found, and showed me into the next room, and brought a bag with the amount.

11,684. Let us go back for one moment to the "Queen's." Before you started, how long had you been in the room there with Mr. Schneider and the committee?—Only a very short time previously; I had gone in not many minutes when the conversation occurred; I had been out and in several times during the forenoon, and immediately after coming in on this occasion Mr. Schneider spoke to me on the subject of getting the 1,000*l.*

11,685. Tell me, as nearly as you can recollect, what it was that Mr. Schneider said?—He expressed some doubt as to whether or not 1,000*l.* in gold might be procured, or whether the bank might have that amount in readiness.

11,686. 1,000*l.*?—Yes, whether they had 1,000*l.* in gold ready at short notice.

11,687. What was the first thing that was said when you went into the room, according to the best of your recollection?—I cannot charge my memory with that.

11,688. How came you to know that 1,000*l.* was going to be sent for?—Something was said in the committee as to the desirability of strengthening Mr. Welch's hands, when Mr. Schneider rejoined that it might be desirable to go to the bank and see if 1,000*l.* could be procured in gold.

11,689. Was anything said at all as to how the necessity had arisen for strengthening Mr. Welch's hands?—Nothing at all, further than I have stated; it was done very hurriedly.

11,690. You found Mr. Schneider in the room when you went there?—Mr. Schneider was in the room when I went there.

11,691. Was Mr. Wearing there also?—I cannot remember; there were two or three others, but I cannot individualise them.

11,692. Did you find Mr. Schneider in the room when you went back?—No, he had gone.

11,693. How long did you remain in the room after you had taken the money back?—I merely looked into the room, and then went forward to Mr. Welch's room.

11,694. Had Mr. Welch, then, a separate room?—Mr. Welch had a room at the back part of the house.

11,695. Did you take the money on into Mr. Welch's separate room, then?—I took it direct to him in his separate room.

11,696. Did you give it to him there?—I gave it to him personally.

11,697. And nobody else would be present in the separate room?—Yes, there were one or two; I almost think Mr. Blades was present, but I am not quite sure upon that point.

11,698. Was there money on the table when you went in?—Yes, there was some money on the table.

11,699. Was that the same room in which you had seen Mr. Schneider?—No.

11,700. Did you see Mr. Fenwick at all in either of those rooms?—In neither.

11,701. Had you anything else to do with any money at the last election?—No, nothing whatever.

11,702. Were you engaged in paying away any money?—No.

11,703. Did you furnish any money?—None on my own account.

11,704. What did you furnish?—This money from the bank; and they will tell you to whose account it was debited.

11,705. Putting this 1,000*l.* out of consideration, have you any knowledge of any other money?—No, none whatever.

11,706. Neither as drawn against your account, nor as paid by you?—No.

11,707. (Mr. Newton.) Was Mr. Coulston's name mentioned at all in the transaction?—Not in the slightest degree.

11,708. Not at the bank?—No.

11,709. Not between you and Mr. Hadwen?—No.

11,710. Nor between you and Mr. Schneider?—Nor between me and Mr. Schneider.

11,711. You thought at the time that the money would be debited to Mr. Schneider?—That was my impression generally.

Mr. Henry Hadwen recalled and further examined.

11,712. (Mr. Newton.) Mr. Barton says that you gave him this 1,000*l.*; can you recollect at all what he said to you when he came?—I cannot say precisely, but it would be to the effect that, "We shall want it."

11,713. Was any name mentioned?—I think not.

11,714. Was anything said as to who would want it?—I believe not; I understood it perfectly.

11,715. It was merely, "We shall want it?"—Yes, to the best of my recollection.

11,716. And then you gave it to him?—I think I told our cashier.

11,717. To whom did you debit that money?—The money was returned.

11,718. To whom did you debit it?—I do not think it was debited at all; it did not form a transaction by reason of the money being brought back the same day.

11,719. But to whom would it be entered in your book? You don't close till 4 o'clock, do you?—Yes, we close at 3.

11,720. But in the meantime, to whom would it be debited?—It was not debited.

11,721. (Mr. Barstow.) If you gave that money in an ordinary way to a customer, should you not immediately make an entry of it?—We should.

11,722. Then why did you not make an entry of this money?—Nothing was said as to how it was to be dealt with, but I believe a memorandum was made at the time it was taken out.

ELEVENTH DAY.

Mr. H. Hadwen.

7 Sept. 1866.

11,723. (Mr. Newton.) By whom ?—By the cashier, if it was made at all.

11,724. Who was the cashier ?—Mr. Sanderson.

11,725. It was not entered in your book as a regular transaction ?—No; it was out of the ordinary way of business.

11,726. (Mr. Barstow.) Can you give us any reason for that ?—I rather think it was a matter of discretion entirely with the cashier at the time.

11,727. (Mr. Newton.) Surely it would not be a matter of discretion with the cashier when you, the manager, was present ?—No instructions were given to him.

11,728. Do you mean to tell me that anybody could have gone to the bank and got 1,000*l.* ?—Certainly not.

11,729. Then why do you say that the matter was in the discretion of the cashier ?—It was in his discretion as to how it should be dealt with.

11,730. Surely the manager would be the person to consult, and not the cashier ?—It was scarcely a matter of consultation.

11,731. Was it an ordinary thing to allow 1,000*l.* to go out of your bank and not debit it to anyone ?—It was not.

11,732. Why was it done in this case ?—I can give no definite reason for it, except that the cashier might be under an impression that the money would not constitute a debit item, inasmuch as it might be returned in the course of the day.

11,733. How could the cashier possibly know that ?—If the money had not been returned the amount would have been debited.

11,734. Here is a sum of 2,000*l.* charged on the 11th of July ?—This was the 12th; the 2,000*l.* was not taken out in one sum; it consisted of more than one sum; and at the close of the day it was seen what had been drawn for election purposes, and then the sum total was debited to the account.

11,735. What more was drawn out on that day ?—I have given you the particulars of all, except this 1,000*l.* that Mr. Barton has spoken to, which was returned, and which did not remain as a debit item.

11,736. But still we cannot understand why you should have permitted this money to go out of the bank without debiting it, or taking some security for it ?—There was, no doubt, a private understanding between Mr. Coulston and Mr. Schneider.

11,737. Why did you not say that before ?—I do not mean with reference to that 1,000*l.*

11,738. Why did you not tell us that before ?—That is merely my belief.

11,739. You were asked just now why you should have permitted this money to go without debiting it, or taking some security for it, and you said, in answer, that you had no doubt there was a private understanding between Mr. Coulston and Mr. Schneider ?—What I meant was, that no cheques would be signed for the money drawn out in the ordinary way. If Mr. Schneider had drawn out money for ordinary purposes he would have given a cheque in the ordinary way for the amount, but no cheques were taken in connexion with these transactions. That is what I mean when I say that I believe there was a private understanding between Mr. Coulston and Mr. Schneider. It is merely a matter of belief. I do not know it from anything I have been told.

11,740. Had you that morning authority from anyone to advance money for the purposes of the election ?—No special authority. It was understood that Mr. Schneider might have what he required.

11,741. By whom was that understood ?—I understood it, and I have no doubt that Mr. Sanderson did.

11,742. Then we may take it that you were authorized to let money go out of your bank for the purposes of the election to any amount ?—For Mr. Schneider.

11,743. For the purposes of the election ?—Yes; there was no amount stated.

11,744. You felt yourself authorized to advance any amount for the purpose of that election ?—Any money that Mr. Schneider might require.

11,745. When was that conversation that you had with Mr. Coulston ?—It would be about the time of the election. I cannot say exactly when; a day or two before, possibly, or it might be longer.

11,746. Because you say you debited this parcel on the 11th. You debited the parcel on the 6th to Coulston ?—Yes.

11,747. And you did not debit this parcel on the 11th to anyone ?—The one Mr. Barton has spoken of was not debited to anyone.

11,748. What induced you to alter the course of proceeding at the last election ?—I do not know that we did alter the course of proceeding.

11,749. Was there any further conversation between you and Mr. Coulston to the effect that more money would be wanted on the day of the election ?—The first transaction was on the 6th of July. I have no doubt that the conversation would be before that.

11,750. Was there any further conversation ?—Not that I know of, it was unnecessary.

11,751. I suppose you knew pretty well what this money was for ?—I did.

11,752. But you could not know that that money would be returned, nor could your cashier ?—As I said before, there is a sum of 1,000*l.* charged; that was not taken in one sum.

11,753. But as to this 1,000*l.*, you could not tell that it would not be wanted, and that another 1,000*l.* might not be wanted ?—No.

11,754. Then why do you say that it was not debited because it might be returned ?—That is merely my supposition. I have had no conversation with Mr. Sanderson as to why he did not charge it, but, taking it in connexion with the transaction as to the 2,000*l.*, I have no doubt that it was left till the close of the day in order that it might be seen what was the balance to be charged to the account.

11,755. Would he make a memorandum of it ?—He would, I have no doubt.

11,756. (Mr. Hill.) You say some entry or some memorandum would be made; where would it be made ?—Do you mean of this 1,000*l.* ?

11,757. Yes ?—Mr. Sanderson would make it.

11,758. Where ?—It would be merely a memorandum, probably on a slip of paper, until he knew what to charge at the close of the day.

11,759. Then it would be entered at the close of the day ?—It would be entered at the close of the day, if it had not been returned.

11,760. At what time do you make up your books ?—They are made up in the evening.

11,761. At what time ?—Five o'clock; from 5 to 7 o'clock, generally.

11,762. Do the clerks stop there making up the books so late as that ?—No, they go to dinner at 3 o'clock and return to make up their books at 5.

11,763. At what hour does the bank close ?—At 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

11,764. Do you know at what time this money was returned ?—No, I do not know.

11,765. Have you heard ?—I really do not recollect.

11,766. Do you still say that the reason why the 1,000*l.* was not entered was, that the transaction was not finished at the time the bank was closed ?—As to that particular transaction, if the money had not been returned it would have been charged at the close of the day.

11,767. (Mr. Newton.) And if 1,000*l.* more had been sent for, you would have advanced it, and then you would have put down 2,000*l.*, and debited that ?—Yes, the total amount.

Mr. Thomas Barton's examination resumed.

ELEVENTH DAY.
Mr. T. Barton.
7 Sept. 1866.

11,768. (Mr. Barstow.) Had you a room at the "Queen's" that you called the committee room?—There was a room which was called the committee room, where I met Mr. Schneider on the occasion to which I have referred.

11,769. You know the room in which Mr. Welch was?—Yes; Mr. Welch had a room privately to himself.

11,770. I understand you to say that when you left the "Queen's" for the money you left, not Mr. Welch's room, but the committee room?—I left the committee room.

11,771. And took the money to Mr. Welch?—And took the money to Mr. Welch.

11,772. Do you know of any other rooms besides those two having been used for the purposes of the election?—There were several rooms used, in which I was present during the course of the proceedings—private committee rooms.

11,773. Do you know the room that we have called, in the course of the inquiry, the Secret Committee room?—I think so, but that is not the room in which I met Mr. Schneider on the occasion in question.

11,774. But was it the room to which you took the money to Mr. Welch?—No.

11,775. (Mr. Hill.) There was one room in which you met Mr. Schneider?—Yes.

11,776. Was there another, the Secret Committee room?—Yes.

11,777. And a room at the back of the house to which you took the money?—To which I took the money.

Adjourned to Monday next at 12 oclock.

TWELFTH DAY.

Lancaster Castle, Monday, 10th September 1865.

TWELFTH DAY.
Mr. H. Hadwen.
10 Sept. 1866.

Present:

Mr. Barstow. | Mr. Newton.

Mr. Hill.

Mr. Henry Hadwen recalled.

11,778. (Mr. Newton.) You were requested on Friday to produce to-day all the drawings on the Barrow branch of the bank by Mr. Schneider between the 1st of June and 15th of July?—Schneider, Hannay, and Co.

11,779. Will you hand it in, if you please?—(The witness handed in a paper.)

11,780. You were also to produce a copy of the letter that enclosed the note of hand?—Only the first three lines of the letter relate to it (handing a letter to the Commissioners).

11,781. This is all that refers to the note:—"Ulverston, 15th July 1865.—My dear sir,—With "many thanks I enclose you the promissory note as "arranged. (Signed) Yours sincerely, H. W. "Schneider." That is all in this letter that has reference to the promissory note?—To the best of my belief it is.

11,782. Is it addressed to Mr. Coulston?—I have no doubt it was addressed to Mr. Coulston; his name does not appear on the letter; it would be no doubt on the envelope; the envelope is not with the note, and I have not seen it. I suppose it was not preserved at the time.

11,783. You put this account into our hands; the debtor and creditor account of Schneider, Hannay, and Co. Now there are certain things about which we desire to have explanation. What time would be the least inconvenient to you to bring your ledger from which this account is copied?—The ledger?

11,784. Yes, the ledger from which this is copied; did you see this copied?—It was copied before I went to Barrow on Saturday, and I compared it myself.

11,785–6. And this is a correct copy?—A correct copy; the only exceptions are the usual items of interest and commission at the close of the half-year.

11,787. At the end of June?—Yes.

11,788. What time would be the least inconvenient to you, with reference to the business of the bank, to produce the ledger here?—After the business has closed; we close at 3.

11,789. Between 3 and 4, then. We wish to see that ledger. At what time in the day would it be made up?—It will be at liberty at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Perhaps I had better state that we have more ledgers than one in use; and if the Commissioners want to see all the accounts we shall have to bring all the ledgers.

11,790. (Mr. Hill.) How many were there in use in July 1865?—Three principal ledgers in connexion with the company's accounts.

11,791. Have you not any one book that will show all the drawings of all your customers in the ledger?—Not in one ledger.

11,792. How many are there?—Three ledgers.

11,793. Would it be less inconvenient to you if we went to the bank?—It would.

11,794. At 4 o'clock?—Whenever the court breaks up.

11,795. Shortly after 4?—To-day, I presume?

11,796. To-day, if it will not be inconvenient?—Not at all.

11,797. (Mr. Hill.) I presume you cannot give us any explanation of any of these accounts that are in the Barrow branch?—The account I have furnished already contains, I observe, Mr. Maxsted's name once; I think on the 4th of July, if I am not mistaken.

11,798. Can you give any explanation of any of these details?—I cannot, except that I believe they were all in the ordinary course of business of Schneider, Hannay, and Co. I have no reason to suppose there is anything but that of Mr. Maxsted that relates to the election.

11,799. Can you say that with any certainty as regards any of the other items, or is it merely your own impression?—It is merely my impression; I cannot state positively that there is nothing else in that account that relates to the election.

11,800. Do you know whether Mr. Ramsden was a partner of Messrs. Schneider and Hannay?—He was not at that time, I believe; I am not sure, but I think not.

11,801. On July 1st there is an item of 2,000*l.* debited to Mr. Schneider; can you say anything at all about that?—I could not state positively, but my impression is that it was a call; I think you will observe there are three or four items on the 1st of July.

11,802. What do you mean by "a call?"—I suppose it was to the Barrow Steel Company—the Hæmatite Steel Company.

TWELFTH DAY.

G. C. Clark.

10 Sept. 1866.

GEORGE CHRISTOPHER CLARK sworn and examined.

11,803. (Mr. Barstow.) Do you live in Lancaster?—In Scotforth, about a mile out of Lancaster.

11,804. What is your occupation?—A printer and bookseller; and I am proprietor of the "Lancaster Gazette."

11,805. Joint proprietor?—No, proprietor.

11,806. That is a newspaper in the Conservative interest in this borough?—Yes.

11,807. You were actively engaged in the last election?—Yes.

11,808 What part shall we say you took?—I was one of the captains.

11,809. How many captains were there?—There were four, I think, besides myself.

11,810. Before we go into money matters, can you tell me how the borough was districted out on your side?—Mine was No. 4 district, but I had very few voters in the town, they were principally from Ellel, Wyresdale, Torrisholme, and so on.

11,811. Can you tell us into what districts the town was divided?—No.

11,812. Can you name anyone who you think can give us that information?—I think Mr. Christopher Thornton Clark could as well as anyone.

11,813. What district had you?—Mine was No. 4 district.

11,814. What places would No. 4 comprise?—It comprised Ann Street, Aldcliff Street, Henry Street, and Queen Street; and in the country Galgate, Torrisholme, Ellel, and the Wyresdales—two Wyresdales.

11,815. The first money you received for the purpose of the election seems to have been 10*l.* on the 15th of June?—Yes, 10*l.* on the 15th of June.

11,816. That was from Mr. Barker?—Yes.

11,817. Did you receive any money from anyone except Mr. Barker?—No, all from Mr. Barker.

11,818. Now the next item?—On the 21st I received 5*l.*; on the 23rd of June I received 100*l.*; on the 28th 200*l.*; on the 7th of July 20*l.*; on the 8th 2*l.*; on the 10th 210*l.*, and on the 12th 45*l.*, which makes 592*l.*; that was previous to the day of election. Shall I tell you what I received afterwards, or shall I tell you how the money I have given you was expended?

11,819. Give us the whole amount, if you please, of the money you received?—On the 8th of September I received 83*l.*; that was for printing and newspapers and stationery supplied on the canvass. February 8th, 43*l.* 3*s.* 6*d.* for unpaid inn bills.

11,820. What is the gross amount you received?—718*l.* 3*s.* 6*d.*

11,821. (Mr. Hill.) What was the gross amount you received after the election—126*l.* 3*s.* 6*d.*?—Yes.

11,822. (Mr. Barstow.) How did you spend this money; can you give me the first item?—On the 15th of June I paid at the committee room at the "White Cross" 1*l.* 11*s.* 8*d.*; there were two meetings there, I think, and it amounted to 1*l.* 11*s.* 8*d.* for both meetings.

11,823. Are you going to read us an account that we can take generally?—Yes, an account of everything I paid.

11,824. You are now going to give us an account of how the whole of this sum of 718*l.* 3*s.* 6*d.* was expended?—Yes.

11,825. What was it you paid at the "White Horse?"—1*l.* 11*s.* 8*d.*, that is the first. Then Robert Hodgson, China Lane, innkeeper, 5*l.*

11,826. (Mr. Hill.) Was that for his house?—No; he was a district canvasser; I gave him more than that. James Carruthers 5*l.* on the same day.

11,827. (Mr. Barstow.) Tell us when you come to a change of date. What is Carruthers?—He is a wine merchant.

11,828. What was that for?—It was for the purpose of canvassing, I think, in Skerton.

11,829. Were these sums that you are now giving us monies that were advanced for preliminary expenses?—Yes.

11,830. (Mr. Hill.) That is what you mean by "for canvassing?"—Yes. On the 16th of June I paid Robert Hodgson, of China Lane, 5*l.*

11,831. Was that for canvassing?—Yes; I think he told me he wanted it to go to Bare. James Jackson, "Spinners' Arms," at committee meeting, 4*s.* 6*d.*; that is in Aldcliffe Street.

11,832. The next?—Henry High, Reuben Pimm, and J. Edmonson, 15*s.*, for assisting to canvass; 5*s.* each. On the 19th of June I paid William Jackson, of the "Bowling Green Inn," Scotforth, for committee meeting, 8*s.* 6*d.* On the 20th I paid J. Jackson, "Spinners' Arms," for committee meeting, 2*l.* On the 22nd I paid expenses at Morecambe, 6*s.*; that was the day on which Mr. Lawrence addressed the electors at Morecambe. On the 23rd I paid James Carruthers 10*l.*, and Richard Coupland 20*l.*

11,833. (Mr. Barstow.) Who is Mr. Coupland?—He is what Mr. Barker called the captain. William Storey 10*l.*

11,834. He is a captain, too, I suppose?—Yes.

11,835. The next?—John Cross, 10*l.* John Wilson, of Torrisholme, farmer, 5*l.*; that was for the purpose, I believe, of canvassing Torrisholme. Mr. Joseph Storey 2*l.* On the 24th I paid Mr. J. L. Bradshaw 1*l.*; John Speight 2*l.*

11,836. What were Bradshaw and Speight?—Mr. Bradshaw was one who interested himself in the election, and Mr. Speight was the principal captain under myself, and the one that was most actively engaged for me. Mr. J. L. Bradshaw, again, 3*l.*; Mr. John Wilson, of Torrisholme, 5*l.*; Bob Threlfall 2*s.* 6*d.*; he is a freeman.

11,837. (Mr. Hill.) What was that for?—He wanted something to drink, I believe. On the 26th of June I paid John Speight, jun., for committee room bill at the "Spinners' Arms," 2*l.* 10*s.* I paid him on the same day a committee meeting bill at the "Travellers' Rest," 6*l.* I paid John Edmondson Spencer Barrow, Henry High, Bennett Hill, James Wilson, William Preston, and Thomas Bainbridge, and three men of the name of Pimm, I do not know their christian names, 10*s.* each to canvass; that makes 5*l.* altogether. I paid the bill at the committee room meeting the same night, 2*l.* 2*s.* 6*d.*

11,838. Where at?—It was at the "Blue Anchor."

11,839. The "Blue Anchor" at Skerton?—No, in Lancaster.

11,840. The next?—I paid errand boys for taking out notes 10*s.*; that was for calling the different subcaptains together at different times to attend these different committee meetings. On the 28th I paid Richard Coupland 50*l.*; William Storey 50*l.*; John Cross 30*l.* On the 29th I paid E. Gardner, silversmith 2*l.*

11,841. What was the silversmith for?—He said he had been under paid for looking after the register the year previous, and that he would not take any active part in the election unless he was paid something more, and so I gave him 2*l.*

11,842. It was given to him as a recompense for having looked after the register?—Yes; I paid John Speight, junior, for a bill at the "Travellers' Rest," 6*l.*: I paid John Cross 10*l.*, I paid R. Hodgson of, China Lane, 2*l.* 10*s.*

11,843. What was that for?—I suppose it was for canvassing; he came to me for it. I paid Mr. King, of Slyne, 3*l.*

11,844. Was that for canvassing?—Yes.

11,845. (Mr. Barstow.) He was not in your district, was he?—No; I never knew him before; but he came to me, and said that he had great influence, and so I gave it to him. He got more money, I believe, from other captains. He came to me again, but I told him I could not give him anything. Then William Preston, of Galgate, 1*l.* On the 1st of July I paid J. L. Bradshaw 8*l.*; John Speight, 6*l.*

11,846. (Mr. Hill.) Was that for canvassing?—Yes.

11,847. (Mr. Barstow.) Now the next?—Thomas

Bawbridge, clerk, 5*s*. That was for making me out in lists of voters in small books for reference. James Jackson, of Skerton, 1*l*. 10*s*. He professed to be a supporter of ours, but I see he voted against us.

11,848. What is James Jackson?—I think he is a labourer.

11,849. (Mr. Newton.) What was it paid for?—For canvassing. He professed to have considerable influence at Scotforth, where his relatives lived, and he said he would go and look after them, but I see he voted against us. Then to Whiteside, of Glasson Dock, I gave 1*l*. 2*s*. 6*d*.; to Robert Holme, of Glasson Dock, 1*l*. for canvassing; John Speight (this is July the 1st) for bill at "Spinners' Arms" 3*l*.; Robert Hodgson, of Carnforth, 1*l*. for canvassing.

11,850. Is he of China Lane?—No. He is a gentleman who lives at Carnforth. Thomas Bainbridge, clerk, 1*l*. 10*s*.

11,851. Was that for canvassing?—No; it was for making out books. I employed him in making out small books for me, for reference.

11,852. Now the next?—John Dobson, 10*s*. That was for canvassing. He is a clerk.

11,853. The next?—Robert Lawson, expenses to Ellel, 10*s*.; George Danson, for committee room runners, &c., at the "Royal Oak," 33*l*.; Reuben Pimm, 15*s*.; George Pimm, 15*s*.; R. Jackson, Slyne, 10*s*. July 3rd, expenses on canvass at Cockerham, 13*s*. 6*d*.; John Speight, 1*l*.

11,854. (Mr. Hill.) Was that for canvassing?—Yes.

11,855. (Mr. Barstow.) Now the next?—Committee meeting at the "Corporation Arms," 17*s*. 6*d*. To Bob Threlfall, again, I gave 7*s*. 6*d*.; to Mr. George Coulston, for canvassing at Kellet, 2*l*.; Mr. Jacob Nelson, for canvassing at Cockerham, 5*s*. On the 4th I gave to John Speight, 10*s*.; to George Coulston to go to Kellet 1*l*; I gave committee meeting at "Spinners' Arms," 2*l*., and on the 5th ditto, at the "White Cross," 2*l*. 7*s*. July the 5th, paid Jackson, "Fleece Inn," Penny Street, 2*l*. He was a supporter of ours. We were going to take his house, but he would not let it; and he said that if we would let him have a little money he would canvass for us. J. Jackson, "Spinners' Arms," 1*l*.; that was for canvassing. On the 8th I paid Bartholomew Dodding for canvassing Wyersdale voters, 2*l*.

11,856. Now the next?—Thomas Bainbridge, clerk, 3*l*.; John Hargreaves, gardener, for canvassing, 1*l*.; Mr. Cranstoun, Quernmore, 2*l*. for canvassing; Mr. Robert Holmes, of Glasson Dock, 1*l*.; Mr. William Bulfield, "Cross Keys Inn," Lancaster, 5*l*.

11,857. What was that for?—Well, I do not know; for canvassing, I suppose. It was on the Saturday, I think, he called upon me.

11,858. (Mr. Hill.) Do you know whether it was for canvassing or not?—I think it was. It was the only application that he made to me for money.

11,859. (Mr. Barstow.) What was the next?—A bill for a committee meeting at the "Corporation Arms," 2*l*.; James Threlfall, Glasson Dock, 10*s*.; Varley Jackson, who voted against us, 10*s*. He has since died, I believe.

11,860. (Mr. Hill.) What was that for?—An instalment, I suppose. He wanted something to drink. Henry High, for district captains, 2*l*.; I gave them 1*l*. each. On the 10th I paid John Speight, 5*l*.; George Coulston, for Kellet, 1*l*.; George Vince, I believe, to go to Morecambe, 20*l*.; George Danson, 40*l*.

11,861. Was that for canvassing?—Well, I suppose so. He was at the "Royal Oak," and he wanted money a day or two previous to the election. I suppose he would spend it among the voters. William Preston Galgate, 1*l*.; John Dobson, clerk, 5*l*. He wanted that for himself, he said, and the other district captains, to go and see the voters, I suppose.

11,862. Now the next?—John Cross, 30*l*.; William Storey, 45*l*.; James Wilson, 1*l*. Robert Threlfall (that is Bob Threlfall, a man who sells fish), J. Edmonson, and Spencer Barrow, I paid them 1*l*. 6*s*. together. I suppose he would get 6*s*., and the others 10*s*. each.

11,863. The next?—Richard Coupland, 20*l*.; bill at "White Cross" committee room, 10*s*.; J. Edmondson, Spencer Barrow, and Reuben Pimm, 1*l*. 10*s*. each. 4*l*. 10*s*. On the 11th I paid Thomas Marshall, shoemaker, 1*l*. 10*s*. He said he had a son who wanted his freedom taken up, and that if I took his son's freedom up he would vote for us. Henry High and Bennett Hill, 1*l*. I paid Charnley, captain of staffmen, 1*l*. J. Speight, 5*l*.

11,864. What was that for?—He was my captain. It would be for canvassing. On the 12th, bill at "Travellers' Rest," per J. Speight, junior, 5*l*.; errand boys, 5*s*., and J. Nightingale, for going to Scotforth, 10*s*.; Thomas Marshall, shoemaker, 1*l*.; John Speight, 2*l*.; C. Kennedy, for acting as clerk on the polling day, 10*s*.; Jackson, "Spinners' Arms," for 19 staffsmen on the nomination and polling, two days, at 5*s*. a day per man, 9*l*. 10*s*.; Thomas Bainbridge, clerk, 1*l*. 10*s*.; errand boys on the day of election, 5*s*. for bringing in statement of poll to the room where I was sitting. Bill for breakfast at the "Travellers' Rest," by John Speight, 4*l*. Paid bill at "White Cross," for refreshments to staffmen stationed at "White Cross," and girl's National School, 2*l*. 15*s*. Henry High, John Speight, and John Speight, junior, for service as district captains, 25*l*.

11,865. How much a-piece was that?—Henry High, 10*l*.; John Speight, 10*l*., and John Speight, junior, 5*l*.

11,866. Was John Speight, junior, a voter?—No, he was not. He is the son of John Speight.

11,867. (Mr. Hill.) Henry High is a voter?—Yes, and John Speight, senior is a voter.

11,868. John Speight, of Fenton Street?—Yes; James Wilson for services as district captain, and for breakfast to some old men voters, that he was afraid would be taken away, 5*l*.

11,869. How much for the breakfast, and how much for his services?—I do not know how many men he had. I gave him 5*l*.

11,870. Is he a freeman?—No, he would be a householder.

11,871. Was he a captain?—Yes, he was a captain under me.

11,872. James Wilson, Common Garden Street?—Yes, that's him. That makes 592*l*. 9*s*. 8*d*.

11,873. Out of 718*l*.?—Yes.

11,874. (Mr. Barstow.) These are all the expenses up to the end of the day of polling?—Yes.

11,875. What was your next payment?—September 8th, 83*l*. for my own shop account.

11,876. (Mr. Hill.) Your printing account?—Yes; and on February 8th, 1866, for inn bills unpaid, 43*l*. 3*s*. 6*d*.

11,877. How many of them are there?—Five.

11,878. What bills were they?—Bills contracted on the day of nomination and polling day. Everything was paid up till that time.

11,879. Can you give us the items?—Yes, J. Jackson, "Spinners' Arms," 8*l*.; Thomas Dearden, "Corporation Arms," 14*l*. 8*s*. 6*d*.; J. Hinde, "White Cross," 6*l*. 15*s*.; William Jackson, "Bowling Green Inn," Scotforth, 6*l*.; J. Ellershaw, "Travellers' Rest," 7*l*. 10*s*., making 43*l*. 3*s*. 6*d*.

11,880. (Mr. Barstow.) That is the whole of the money you spent?—Yes, that is the whole of the money I spent, 718*l*. 1*s*. 2*d*.

11,881. Have you received anything for you own services?—No.

11,882. From whom shall we be able to find out the number of public-houses opened by your side?—I do not know of any beyond my own. I had nothing to do with any district except this one.

11,883. You can tell me probably who managed the public-house department. Did you in your district?—I do not think there was anyone in particular.

11,884. I am reminded that George Danson hired the houses on your side. Is that so?—I think he would hire some of them. He did not hire mine. John Speight hired mine.

11,885. John Speight, senior?—Yes.

TWELFTH DAY.

G. C. Clark.

10 Sept. 1866.

11,886. You mean of course those in your district?—Yes.

11,887. Can you tell us about those in your district?—Yes. They are the houses I have just named.

11,888. We do not wish to get the same thing twice over. If anyone can give us the whole number of the inns engaged I would not ask you about it?—Do you mean the sum paid for engaged houses?

11,889. Yes?—Mr. Gibson, the solicitor, would be able, I think, to tell you that.

11,890. Do you know that all the accounts for inns, houses engaged for committee rooms, were sent in to Mr. Gibson?—I think that would be, but I am not sure. I had nothing whatever to do with any district except my own. I got Speight to get those bills in.

11,891. (Mr. Hill.) You have no doubt heard that some person on the Liberal side gave us a list very accurately done, as far as we could see, of the houses engaged, and the prices at which they were engaged. Who can supply us with a similar list on the Conservative side?—I do not know anyone except Gibson.

11,892. (Mr. Newton.) Mr. Allinson was the man who did it on the Liberal side?—We had no man like him, especially to engage public-houses.

11,893. You had no one on your side corresponding to him?—No, except Danson. He would be engaged upon that business more than anyone else.

11,894. (Mr. Barstow.) You may be able to tell us how many there were hired. Do you know how many there were in your district, beginning with the town first?—I had nothing to do with above four public-houses. We had the "Spinners' Arms," the "Travellers' Rest," the "Corporation Arms," and the "Bowling Green" in Scotforth.

11,895. That is not in your district?—Yes, it is in my district, in the country.

11,896. That is five?—Yes, that is all.

11,897. How much would they get a-piece?—I believe they would get about 5*l.* each, not more.

11,898. We can get the detail from Speight?—Yes.

11,899. You do not know how many were engaged in the country?—You can get the details of the one in Scotforth from Mr. Halstead. I think he would be with Pimm.

11,900. Can you give me the number of public-houses engaged for committee rooms in the country in your district?—The country captains will tell you that.

11,901. I thought you were a captain over Galgate and Ellel?—Yes, I was, but I had nothing to do with engaging public-houses. That would be done by Mr. Robert Wilson if they were engaged.

11,902. What committe meetings are those that you speak of?—I got the sub-captains to meet me to compare books and notes, to let me know how they had got on with the canvass, and what men we might set down as being likely to vote for us. Sometimes some of the voters attended.

11,903. I suppose you had refreshments, and drink, and the like?—Yes, we had principally something to drink for them.

11,904. Can you tell me how many staff-men you had engaged in your district?—There were these 19 that Jackson had, and I think Speight had a number, but I do not know how many. He will be able to tell you, and I should have 20 or 30 more that were sent up from the "Royal Oak," staff-men they had engaged.

11,905. You had 60 or 70 engaged in your district?—Yes, quite that. There were none of them voters, I believe.

11,906. You could not, perhaps, tell us whether they were relations of voters or not?—No. I think they were principally picked out as being strong, rough fellows, who would fight if it was wanted.

11,907. Had you any occasion to use their services in that way?—No. I think things were pretty quiet. There was an attempt, Speight told me, to get some voters out of his place, the "Travellers' Rest,"

11,908. It was a good-humoured election, I suppose, altogether?—Yes, I think it was. Perhaps it might not have been if we had not lost.

11,909. (Mr. Newton.) How often, previous to this election, have you taken part in elections?—With the exception of the last election but one, for some five or six previous elections, more or less.

11,910. With the exception of the election of 1864?—Yes. I took no part in it beyond voting.

11,911. You have always taken part in the others?—Yes.

11,912. How was it you took no part in the election of 1864?—I was not friendly with the conductors of that election.

11,913. Are you not a relation of Mr. Thornton Clark?—Yes, I am his cousin.

11,914. You took no part in the election of 1864?—No.

11,915. I suppose you heard a good deal?—Yes.

11,916. Was there much buying of votes on the Conservative side on that occasion?—I have no doubt there was, but I do not know to what extent. To a very little extent, I should think.

11,917. I suppose you know what has been told us by the Liberal side, that the price of votes in 1865 was just nearly double what it was in 1864?—No doubt it was.

11,918. You believe that to be the case on your side?—Yes, I think so.

11,919. You have not been asked, I think, whether you yourself, individually, bought any votes at this election of 1865?—No; but I will tell you how the affair was managed..

11,920. You did not yourself buy any?—No, not myself. A gentleman came from Liverpool.

11,921. Who was he?—I do not know his name, and that is the only thing I cannot tell you.

11,922. We will call him the stranger until we ascertain his name. I suppose we shall get it?—Yes, you will find it out no doubt. He introduced himself to me at the "King's Arms," and said that he had come to do a little business for me in the morning, and asked me to go up and show him where he could transact the business, and I took him to the "White Cross," at the top of Penny Street.

11,923. When was this?—The night before the election.

11,924. The nomination night?—Yes, between 9 and 10 o'clock. He there fixed upon his room, and at 7 o'clock in the morning he came and took his station in one room, and I took my station in another.

11,925. What time did you go?—I was there about 6, or between 5 and 6. He sat in one room and I sat in another, and as the district captains brought the men up, they told me what these men wanted for voting, and I wrote it on a slip of paper, and it went into this room, and they got their money, I suppose.

11,926. Did you write their names, or the amount of money they wished to have?—I think I wrote their names as well upon each ticket. I had this register of freemen before me, and as each voter came up I ticked his name off, and opposite I put what amount he was to have.

11,927. You say you had a list of freemen; had you a list of householders?—It is a list altogether of freemen and householders.

11,928. It is the register altogether?—Yes. It is the "Register of persons entitled to vote at any elec-"tion of members to serve in Parliament which shall "take place in and for the Borough of Lancaster."

11,929. What became of these men when they got their bits of paper?—The captain took them to the polling place.

11,930. After they got their bits of paper, where did they go to?—They went into this room and got their money, I suppose. I have no doubt about it.

11,931. They went into the room where this stranger was?—Yes.

11,932. Was there anyone in the room with the stranger?—I think no one.

11,933. How long were you engaged in this occupation?—From the commencement of the poll till the close—from 8 o'clock to 4, I think it was.

11,934. The whole day in fact?—Yes, the whole day.

11,935. Was your room besieged by many applicants?—There were plenty of applicants.

11,936. And as the day got on, how was it then?—They got pretty well polled out by noon.

11,937. You did not leave?—No, I did not leave because some other ones might come in.

11,938. Can you at all tell us how many came?—I am going to give you the names—"No. 34, "Frederick Austin, Galgate, railway ticket collector, "10*l.*"

11,939. As you read out from your book, I will put my initial against the name in this book you have handed up to me?—I think that will be correct, but you can check it by me.

11,940. Are you reading from a duplicate of this list?—This is the original document, and that is a copy of it—"John Ball, Henry Street, Lancaster, "boatman, 10*l.*"

11,941. In all there were 80?—I think, if I remember right, there are about 57.

(Adjourned for a short time.)

11,942. (Mr. Newton.) Take that book in your hand and read out the names of those gentlemen who you captivated by your tickets, begin with Austin?—No. 34, Frederick Austin, railway ticket collector, 10*l.*

11,943. Be good enough to tell us when you come to any who are householders.—There are only three, and they are at the very end of the book; they are not put along with the freemen. No. 43, John Ball, Penny Street, Lancaster, boatman, 10*l.*; No. 124, Edward Bond, Albert Place, Lancaster, painter, 10*l.*; No. 157, William Cawson, Aldcliff Street, Lancaster, shoemaker, 10*l.*; No. 178, Thomas Cottam, Ellel, farmer, 10*l.*; No. 182, John Cottam, Scotforth, farmer, 10*l.*; No. 186, Richard Cragg, Cleveley, husbandman, 5*l.*; No. 188, David Cragg, Forton, husbandman, 10*l.*; No. 225, John Dobson, Lower Greaves, Scotforth, book-keeper, 10*l.*; he was one of my captains.

11,944. (Mr. Hill.) He was one of your sub-captains?—Yes; No. 251, John Edmondson, Queen Street, Lancaster, he was one of my sub-captains; No. 273, William Fox, Ellel, farmer, 5*l.*

11,946. He was another captain?—Yes. No. 411, John Hinde, Penny Street, Lancaster, shoemaker, 10*l.*; No. 412, William Hinde, Warton with Lindeth, labourer, 10*l.*; No. 413, William Hinde, Penny Street, Lancaster, labourer, 10*l.*; No. 436, James Stainbank Howson, Springfield Terrace, Lancaster, 5*l.*; No. 437, William Howson, Springfield Terrace, Lancaster, glazier, 5*l.*

11,947. (Mr. Newton.) I see in pencil at the bottom of this page 200*l.*?—Yes, that is the amount, 200*l.*; you will see each page added up. No. 450, John Illingworth, Galgate, silk spinner, 10*l.*; No. 453, William Illingsworth, Galgate, silk piecer, 10*l.*; No. 539, John Lawson, Leech House, Ellel, farmer, 10*l.*; No. 566, John Masheder, Upper King Street, tobacconist, 10*l.*; No. 567, William Masheder, junior, Queen Square, Lancaster, farmer, 10*l.*; No. 585, Moses Mawson, junior, Lower Greaves, Scotforth, book-keeper, 5*l.*; No. 588, John Metcalfe, Ann Street, Lancaster, labourer, 10*l.*; No. 622, Robert Norman, Henry Street, Lancaster, labourer, 10*l.*; No. 623, George Norman Painter, Scotforth, boatman, 10*l.*; No. 639, John Parker, Green Bank over Wyresdale, farmer, 5*l.*; No. 643, John Parker, Galgate, joiner, 10*l.*; No. 644, William Parker, Galgate, joiner, 10*l.*; No. 645, Richard Parker, Over Wyresdale, farmer, 5*l.*; No 653, Abraham Pedder, Hollin's Lane, Forton, husbandman, 10*l.*; No. 658, George Pimm, King Street, Lancaster, cordwainer, 10*l.*; No. 663, Robert Pimm, King Street, Lancaster, tailor, 10*l.*; No. 665, Christopher Pimm, Sugarhouse Alley, Lancaster, smith, 10*l.*; No. 671, William Preston, Galgate, attendant, 10*l.*

11,948. Attendant to what?—I think he used to be something at the asylum; a keeper at the asylum. No. 676, Richard Parker, Ellel, husbandman, 2*l.*; No. 777, Richard Smith, Hollings Lane Cleveley, labourer, 10*l.*; No. 790, John Starnforth, Mary Street, Lancaster, plasterer, 6*l.*; this man had to come from Chester, and his expenses would be included in that.

11,950. Is he a householder?—No, he is a husbandman; he is a freeman.

11,951. Who next?—No. 859, Richard Tomlinson, junior, Henry Street, Lancaster, shoemaker, 5*l.*; No. 860, Thomas Tomlinson, Penny Street, Lancaster, shoemaker, 5*l.* I make this memoranda opposite these Tomlinsons; these two Tomlinsons went with Bennett Hill to the polling booth, but they would not vote till they got 5*l.* beforehand, which as soon as they got they bolted, and in the next half hour they voted for the Radicals.

11,952. They got the 5*l.* at the poll?—They got the 5*l.* somewhere near the polling booth and as soon as they got it they went and got 10*l.*, I think, from Allinson afterwards—one is since dead.

11,953. What Allinson was that?—I saw it in Allinson's evidence that he had given them each 10*l.*? No. 864, John Towers, Penny Street, Lancaster, whitesmith, 10*l.*; No. 904, John Whiteside, junior, Hollins Lane, tailor, 10*l.*; No. 908, William Whiteside, Hill Forton, husbandman, 10*l.*; No. 942, Thomas Wilson, Queen Street, Lancaster, cotton spinner, 10*l.*; No. 977, James Woodman, Germany Street Lancaster, labourer, 10*l.*

11,954. Is he a householder?—No, he is a freeman. The next are householders, the freemen I have gone through, Woodman is the last freeman. No. 1007, William Spencer Barrow, Common Garden Street, house and shop, 2, Common Garden Street, 10*l.*

11,955. Who is the next?—No. 1108, James Ellershaw, of Moor Road, Lancaster, house, Moor Road, 10*l.* That is the same man who kept the "Travellers' Rest" beer-house I think.

11,956. (Mr. Newton.) Did he get that in addition?—He got that in addition to the bills he had paid him.

11,957. Who is the next after J. Ellershaw?—I think there is only another, 1,388, Robert Woodhouse, Penny Street, Lancaster, house, 66, Penny Street, 10*l.*

11,958. That makes a total according to your figure of 508*l.*?—Yes, I think I added it up 508*l.* If you will run them up you will see the numbers of them; I think there are 57 of them; I am not quite sure whether that is quite correct, but I think it must be very near, but you will get that from the stranger I have referred to.

11,959. Do you mean to tell us you do not know the stranger's name?—No, I did not ask; I did not want to know his name.

11,960. Do you not know his name now?—I do not.

11,961. It would save us a great deal of trouble if you could tell us who he was?—Mr. Henry Wilson I have no doubt will tell you.

11,962. Is there still a mystery about him?—No, nothing at all that I know of; he was a little man with dark whiskers. I never saw him before or since.

11,963. You have told us that these men came into the room to you?—Yes.

11,964. They were brought up by some gentleman?—By Mr. Robert Lawson generally, he was the district captain for Galgate, and Ellel and Wyresdale.

11,965. Did you have anything to say to the bargaining and buying?—Nothing at all, I remonstrated with some of them, I thought it was a great shame.

TWELFTH DAY.

G. C. Clark.

10 Sept. 1866.

11,966. Why did you remonstrate?—They were very respectable men, they ought to have known better than to take it.

11,967. You mean by "respectable men," that they were men who ought to be above taking a bribe?—They were farmers.

11,968. Men who ought to be above taking a bribe?—Quite above it, they ought to be; they said they could get it from the other side if I would not give it to them.

11,969. Then your answer is, "I remonstrated with "them, and by that I mean I told them they ought "to be ashamed of taking money?"—Yes, but they said they could get it from the other side, and I was forced to give it to them.

11,970. We shall have an opportunity of judging what they were when we see them in that box; but on this occasion I suppose you know that they were some of them tradesmen in the town?—No, I think they were nearly all farmers, they were nearly all from the country, the others in the town are only poor men.

11,971. Were they men having largish farms?—Yes, good farms.

11,972. Of what size?—I should say they would pay from 50*l.* to several hundreds a year many of them.

11,973. Did they seem to take it as a matter of course?—Yes, they said they could get it from the other side.

11,974. Should you suppose that all these men had been bought at the election in 1864; I mean by their manner and demeanour?—They did not seem at all ashamed about it.

11,975. Did you rather infer that they had been bought?—I should not be surprised, but nothing like to the same extent I should think.

11,976. You have given us the names of three householders; do you know their houses?—Yes, Ellershaw keeps the "Travellers' Rest."

11,977. What is Barrow's house; what is that rated at?—He keeps a shop near the top of the shambles in the new market, a sort of grocer's shop.

11,978. What should you say the rent would be?—About 14*l.* or 15*l.* I should say.

11,979. And Ellershaws?—That is a low beer-house, and the other, Woodhouse's, is only a little house at the top of Penny Street.

11,980. What is Barrow?—He is merely a tradesman, I think he has been a sailor.

11,981. What sort of tradesman?—A grocer; he keeps a sort of small grocer's shop.

11,982. The other two both keep beer-houses?—They both keep beer-houses.

11,983. By whose directions did you go to this "White Cross?"—When we found out it was going to be such a very serious business I refused to have anything to do with bribing.

11,984. When was it you found it out?—About a week or ten days previous. I refused to have anything to do with the bribing; so it was arranged we should have these strangers from Liverpool.

11,985. How come you to be mixed up in it?—I had gone so far in it.

11,986. You say you refused to have anything to say to it at first?—When I found out that the bribery was going to be so very serious I wanted to get out of it.

11,987. That was a week previous?—About a week or ten days previous. It was then arranged that we should have men from Liverpool to pay the money, and that we should write out the tickets.

11,988. All this was arranged?—Yes.

11,989. Who was it arranged with; by whom, and where at?—It was Mr. H. T. Wilson who arranged that we should have these men, and it was at the King's Arms, I believe.

11,990. Was he the only person you arranged with?—I think all the captains were there, but I am not sure.

11,991. Was Mr. Lawrence there?—No, he was not.

11,992. You mean the five captains?—The five captains, including myself.

11,993. Was any specific sum mentioned then as to what was to be the expenditure for the purposes of the election.—No, I think not. It was left to the discretion of the captains. I never signed a ticket for more than 10*l.*

11,994. This was arranged the week previous to the election?—Yes, a week or ten days, it might be.

11,995. How many men, to your knowledge, were placed in the same position as that in which you were placed, as a sort of cashier captain?—I think I was the cashier captain.

11,996. And were the other four captains engaged in the same way?—I think whatever the other four captains would get, except from me, they would get from Mr. Barker.

11,997. Was that all arranged beforehand?—Yes; it was arranged beforehand. It was at first arranged that I should go to Mr. Barker. He did not want so many people to be going to his shop, and it was arranged that I should go there and get the money from him, and give it out to them a day or two before the election.

11,998. Did you tell Mr. Barker what you wanted the money for?—No.

11,999. You went two or three days before for the money?—No; I got it at the different times I have given you.

12,000. In the meanwhile what had you done with this money?—I paid it away at the dates I have given you. You will see them all in that book. There is every date given there.

12,001. What I want to know is, where this stranger got the money?—I do not know. He got the tickets. That is all I know. I do not know who he got the money from, or how much he had.

12,002. Was there any secresy about this?—No.

12,003. None?—No.

12,004. It was done so that any man in the street might know what was going on at the "White Cross?"—No. I think all the voters were so well looked after that they knew where to go to. In fact they did not want much looking after. They wanted the money, and they came for it. They did not want much persuasion.

12,005. You have not told us exactly whether there was a general committee for election purposes beyond you five?—I think there was not. We were called together first by Mr. C. T. Clark, at his office, and were asked if we would undertake the office of captains, which we did.

12,006. When did he first ask you?—I think it would be a few days previous to the 15th of June. I think we had two meetings at his office, and the next meeting was on the 15th of June.

12,007. Was there a meeting of you five gentlemen then?—Yes.

12,008. And Mr. Clark?—Mr. Clark called us together.

12,009. And Mr. Wilson.—No; Mr. Wilson was not there; only Mr. Clark.

12,010. Where did you meet?—At Mr. Clark's office.

12,011. And then you assembled?—Yes; we all assembled.

12,012. At that time had Mr. Lawrence been declared as a candidate?—I think it was at that time that Mr. Clark told us he was likely to come, and I think it was on the 15th of June that he told us he would come.

12,013. Had you at that time ever heard of Mr. H. T. Wilson?—I know him very well.

12,014. But I mean had you heard of him in connexion with this election?—Yes.

12,015. Before Mr. Lawrence had been declared as a candidate had Mr. Wilson taken any part in it?—No, I think not, except at the first meeting that was held at the "King's Arms," requesting Mr. Lawrence to stand. That was on the 1st of June.

12,016. Was that a meeting at the "King's Arms?"—There was a meeting of the Lancaster Shipowners' Company, and Mr. Lawrence is one of the directors.

There was a meeting of a good many of the Conservatives called to meet there to request him, thinking he had a very good chance, to come forward and stand for Lancaster. That was on the 1st of June. Mr. Lawrence came, but would not promise anything. He said he would consider it.

12,017. When was Mr. Lawrence's candidature announced?—I think on the 15th of June, when Mr. Clark called us together at his office the second time?

12,018. When these arrangements were made?—When these arrangements were made.

12,019. Did Mr. Wilson then take a prominent part in the election?—Yes; we advised with him, and he gave us his advice.

12,020. Was there a committee room engaged at the "King's Arms?"—Nothing but just a private committee room for the five captains and Mr. Wilson, I think. Nothing more than that.

12,021. You five were at the "King's Arms?"—Yes, we five.

12,022. Beyond these 57 voters do you know of any others who were bribed?—No, I do not. At least I had nothing whatever to do with any that had been bribed.

12,023. Of your own knowledge?—I cannot say that I do.

12,024. Just try and recollect. It is a long time ago, certainly.—No; I do not think I remember any; not of my own knowledge I do not. If you will name any I will tell you whether I remember them or not.

12,025. You know of none of your own knowledge, at all events?—No, I do not.

12,026. (Mr. Hill.) You say that these men you bribed said that they could get the money from the other side, and that you were forced to give it to them?—Yes, or lose them.

12,027. Taking those 57 men, how many of them, in your judgment, would have voted for you if they had not been paid?—I think the great bulk of them would, if there had not been money on the other side.

12,028. If you had given them no money, but had left them to themselves, how many of them do you think would have voted Liberals, first of all?—I think that if they could have got money on the other side they would have all gone.

12,029. Supposing you had offered them nothing, or suppose you had offered them 2*l.* 10*s.* instead of 5*l.*, how many of them do you think would have voted for you?—None of them.

12,030. They would all of them have taken money from the other side?—I believe every one of them would.

12,031. The whole 57?—Yes, the whole lot.

12,032. You thought you were obliged to top the Liberal price, or, at any rate, to come up to the amount?—Yes, to give as much as they did.

12,033. Was it giving more that did it?—In my judgment it was less. At least I thought that 10*l.* was quite enough. I could not go any higher. One man asked me for 30*l.*

12,034. Was that very late in the day?—That was about three o'clock. They call him Barrow. I think he is down on the list as a mariner, but I am not sure.

12,035. Is that Edward Barrow, of Penny Street, Lancaster, mariner?—I rather think he is a householder.

12,036. Find out, if you please, who the man is.—I think that will be the man.

12,037. "Barrow, Edward, Penny Street, mariner?"—It is in Penny Street, No. 63.

12,038. He voted for Fenwick and Schneider?—I do not know who he voted for. I would not listen to him.

12,039. What do you make out his christian name to be?—"Edward."

12,040. (Mr. Barstow.) You distinctly remember his asking you 30*l.* for his vote?—Yes, I do.

12,041. (Mr. Hill.) At 3 p.m.?—Yes; it was in the afternoon. I think it would be about three o'clock.

12,042. Had he been one of your men at all before? I think not. I had never seen him before.

12,043. You knew about how many voters there would be to be put down at this place, did you not?—At which place?

12,044. The place where you were paying them, the "White Cross."—No; I did not know particularly.

12,045. You knew that there would be over 50?—Yes; I thought from the register there would be more than that.

12,046. From whom did you get the number of voters that you were likely to have to pay there?—They were brought by the different captains into the room.

12,047. To you?—Yes.

12,048. You knew the number, about?—Not till they polled.

12,049. But you knew from the captains how many you were likely to have?—No, I do not know that I did.

12,050. You had canvassing books and returns given to you, had you not?—Yes.

12,051. Who had made up the canvassing book for that district?—I had.

12,052. Then you knew what number of men you had to provide for?—About the number we got; from 50 to 60 I thought.

12,053. You knew that from the canvassing books?—Yes.

12,054. At what time did you set your canvass on foot?—I think it would be pretty soon after the 15th of June.

12,055. Had most of these men promised you, or how were they entered in your canvass books?—They had promised.

12,056. How many did you expect to poll in that district?—I really cannot tell you.

12,057. Did you poll more or less than you expected?—About what I expected. We polled rather more, I think, than the other side. We had certainly polled more in that district.

12,058. But you made up your canvassing book, and I presume you entered in your canvassing book for whom the voters were likely to vote?—Yes.

12,059. How many had you entered in this district as likely to vote for Lawrence?—Between 50 and 60.

12,060. And you in fact polled 57?—Yes.

12,061. Were the persons you polled the persons you had put down as likely to vote for Lawrence?—I think so.

12,062. Who had made up those canvass books?—The different captains brought in the names of those who they thought would vote for us.

12,063. And those were returns of men who afterwards voted for Lawrence?—Yes.

12,064. And who would not have voted for Lawrence unless they had been paid?—No.

12,065. Then the persons who canvassed were the persons who made the arrangements as to the prices to be paid?—No doubt that would be so.

12,066. And the canvassers were the sub-captains?—Yes, they were.

12,067. At what time had your canvass book been made up, at what date?—A few days before the election.

12,068. Was it a week or a day before, or how long?—Probably a week before.

12,069. Then the prices had been fixed a week before?—I have no doubt they were.

12,070. Do you say that you yourself did not take part in the election of Mr. Saunders?—No; I did not.

12,071. What arrangement was made as to your taking a share in this election?—We were called together by Mr. Clark.

12,072. You have told us all that, and so has Mr. Clark; but what I want to know is, what was the arrangement as to remuneration to you and the other captains for the trouble you would take in this election?—Nothing whatever.

12,073. Do you mean to tell me on your oath, standing there, that you had no money at all passed to you for your services in this election?—Not a farthing.

TWELFTH DAY.

G. C. Clark.

10 Sept. 1866.

12,074. Nor any promise of anything?—Nor any promise of anything.

12,075. That you swear distinctly?—Yes; I swear that distinctly.

12,076. And you expect none?—I expect none.

12,077. (Mr. Barstow.) You have answered my friend that you expected to poll between 50 and 60 votes in your district?—Yes.

12,078. And you also state that you paid between 50 and 60 voters?—Yes.

12,079. Did any men then in your district vote without a bribe?—Not any of those who were paid.

12,080. Did anyone in your district vote without a bribe?—Yes; there are 57 who have been paid, but there are others in the district who have not been paid.

12,081. Perhaps it was your misapprehension of the question, but you certainly said you expected between 50 and 60 to vote in your district for Lawrence?—Yes; but I meant they would have to be paid.

12,082. (Mr. Hill.) How many were polled in your district altogether?—I really cannot tell. The stranger took the poll papers back as soon as the election was over, and took them away with him.

12,083. (Mr. Barstow.) But you would remember, perhaps, the gross number that polled?—No; but I should think between 70 and 80.

12,084. (Mr. Hill.) When I ended my examination I understood you to say that the 57 you paid were all persons you expected to vote for Lawrence?—Yes.

12,085. (Mr. Barstow.) Is that book that you have there the book that you had at the time of the election?—Yes; it is the same book that I had on the table.

12,086. And this other one was copied subsequently?—Yes; I expected that Mr. Barker would require an account from me. He was very particular in accounts, and I was very particular in keeping them.

12,087. When did you make a copy into this book from that?—That book was only copied out a few weeks ago; but the original book I copied out directly after the election.

12,088. (Mr. Hill.) Where is the original book?—I have it at home.

R. Coupland.

RICHARD COUPLAND sworn and examined.

12,089. (Mr. Newton.) You have been called Captain Coupland. I do not know whether really you are a captain, or only a captain for the purposes of this election?—I belong to the Volunteer Artillery Corps.

12,090. That is only an honorary captain?—That is all.

12,091. What are you when you are not an Artillery Volunteer?—I am a cabinet maker and upholsterer.

12,092. Residing where?—Moor Lane, Lancaster.

12,093. I presume you are a Conservative in politics?—Yes.

12,094. We understand that you took some part in the last election; was it an active part or not?—Yes, I did.

12,095. Did you take any active part in previous elections?—No, none.

12,096. This is your first attempt?—Yes; I have been concerned in other elections previous.

12,097. I asked you the question, and I understood you to say "No?"—I was not concerned in Mr. Saunders' and Mr. Fenwick's election; I had nothing to do with that.

12,098. You have been connected with elections previous to that?—Yes; I was concerned in Mr. Garnett's election.

12,099. You are well versed in the ways of electioneering matters?—I presume so.

12,100. You have been designated, too, as being the captain of a district?—Yes.

12,101. Be good enough to tell us what that district comprised?—No. 5 district.

12,102. What streets or what country did it take in?—It took in Moor Lane, St. Leonard Gate.

12,103. We will take the town first?—I had nothing to do with the country; it is a town district. Moor Lane, Leonard Gate, what they call the New Town, and several small streets, Edward Street, Bulk Street, Dalton Square, and a number of others which I cannot remember.

12,104. That was your district?—Yes; there are several other streets; I cannot remember them now.

12,105. (Mr. Hill.) You call it Moor Lane district?—Yes; No. 5, or Moor Lane district.

12,106. (Mr. Newton.) How long previous to the election did you begin to take any part in it?—I think it would be about the 12th of June that we first did anything.

12,107. Under what circumstances did you take part in it?—There was a talk of the election coming on. There were several parties met together, for instance, to talk over the prospects of the election, and to arrange matters generally.

12,108. Were you at this meeting at the "Royal Oak?"—I do not remember any particular meeting.

12,109. When Mr. Clark was there?—I remember being at one or two meetings at the "Royal Oak," but I do not remember anyone in particular.

12,110. When Mr. Clark was there, and it was announced that Mr. Lawrence was going to be a candidate?—Yes; I should be there. I do not remember it particularly; but I should be there if there was one.

12,111. At that period had you received any money for the purposes of the election?—No; none.

12,112. Give me the date at which you first received money for the purposes of the election?—I may tell you that I spent money some time before I received any.

12,113. Tell me when you first received any money for the purposes of the election?—The first money I received was on the 23rd of June.

12,114. Who from?—Mr. George Clark.

12,115. The last witness?—Yes; 20*l.* On the 28th I received from Mr. George Clark 50*l.*

12,116. Have you got a copy of that memorandum?—Yes (handing a copy to the Commissioners).

12,117. I see on the 27th you received something?—I paid Mr. Vince some time before this 2*l.*, and he returned me 1*l.* 5*s.*, and that is the reason I put it on the debit side. On the 7th of July I received from Mr. Wilson Barker 100*l.* On the 8th, from Mr. Clark, 20*l.*, and on the same date from Mr. Wilson Barker 30*l.* On the 11th from Mr. Wilson Barker 20*l.*, and on the 12th from Mr. Wilson Barker 300*l.*

12,118. Those are all the monies you received up to the evening of the election?—Just so. On the 3rd of January 1866 I received 2*l.* 12*s.* from Mr. Wilson Barker, that was to pay a small amount with for which I have got the receipt, and on the same day I received a balance of 39*l.* 16*s.* 1*d.*

12,119. From whom?—From Mr. Wilson Barker, making altogether a sum of 583*l.* 13*s.* 1*d.*

12,120. Be good enough to tell us when you first made any payment for the purposes of the election, whether out of your own pocket or not?—It was on the 12th of June. I gave at various times from the 12th of June to the 12th of July, in various sums, 49*l.* 15*s.* to William Harrison, who was acting as my captain of the district. I can give you the details if you choose.

12,121. Does that include the sum you paid to Mr. Vince?—No; I shall get to that at the proper date. On the 12th, or about that time, I gave James Harrison 3*l.* On the same date I paid George Danson 22*l.* That was in two or three payments. Then I paid Vince and two others 95*l.* together. Vince had 80*l.*, Bulfield 10*l.*, and James Bell of Morecambe, 5*l.* That makes 95*l.* for the three. On the 8th of July, Robert Lawson, 5*l.* On the same date Hodgson, I think his name is Robert, 17*l.*

12,122. For what purpose was that?—That was to go into the country to Bolton, Bare, and Torrisholme. Then I gave a person of the name of Thornton 2*l.*

12,123. What is his christian name?—I do not know; I think he came from Slyne: I do not know him. Then King of Slyne 3*l.* Then on June the 26th Vince 2*l.*, and he returned me 1*l.* 5*s.*, as I have before said, on the 27th. Then July the 4th Clarkson 2*l.*

12,124. Then there is an item of bellringers on the 3rd of July?—Yes, 2*l.* 3*s.* Then on the 4th there is Atkinson, of Skerton, 2*l.* On the 8th Towers, in two payments, 7*l.*

12,125. What was Clarkson's for?—To go to Carnforth; he was canvassing in Carnforth.

12,126. Is Towers a voter?—Yes.

12,127. Then John Dobson, in two payments, 2*l.*; Thomas Ralph, 4*l.*; John M'Cann, 3*l.*, and on the 30th of June J. Carruthers, 10*l.*?—That is the whole of the sums I paid above 2*l.* I have got about a dozen names that vary in small sums from 1*s.* 6*d.* up to 30*s.*, and they amount to 9*l.* 2*s.* 7*d.*

12,128. That is from the 16th of June to July the 11th?—Yes.

12,129. (Mr. Hill.) What are they, staff men or what?—Canvassers. Then on the 12th of July I handed over 300*l.* to the agent, the person who paid the money to the voters.

12,130. What is his name?—I believe his name is Taylor. I would not swear to it, because I never saw the gentleman except the day before.

12,131. Do you know his christian name?—No.

12,132. How are we to arrive at it?—Upon my word I do not know.

12,133. Where does he come from?—I believe he is a Liverpool gentleman.

12,134. Does Mr. Wilson know him?—Yes, no doubt of it.

12,135. You call him the agent, what do you mean by that?—He was the person who paid the men the money; he was the person appointed to pay the money.

12,136. That is what you mean by the agent?—Yes; in fact I do not know what to call him.

12,137. I should call him in plain terms the briber. How much did you give him?—300*l.*; on the 12th of July you will see on the debit side I am debited with 300*l.*

12,138. Where did you get that 300*l.* from?—From Mr. Wilson Barker; it was simply transferring it. Then there are some small expenses from Warton, Morecambe, &c., 25*s.*; sundries, 10*s.*; and Hoyle, 1*l.* 5*s.*

12,139. Who is he?—He was one of our captains in No. 5 district.

12,140. Was he a sub-captain?—Yes.

12,141. That is all you paid on the 12th?—Yes; that is, up to the day of election.

12,142. Before we leave the 12th, be good enough to tell me where it was you paid this money to Mr. Taylor?—At the "Boar's Head," in Nicholas Street.

12,143. At what time in the morning?—It would be about 11 o'clock, I think. I cannot answer within half an hour or so.

12,144. Who is the landlord of the "Boar's Head?"—Dowthwaite.

12,145. Were you introduced to Mr. Taylor?—No; I knew him before. I saw him the night before, and was introduced to him.

12,146. You knew for what purpose he had come?—Yes.

12,147. You knew why you were to meet him?—Yes.

12,148. By whose directions did you pay Mr. Taylor?—I had no directions; he sent for 300*l.* or sent for money.

12,149. Who did he send?—I believe it was one of my boys, a clerk that I had with me in the committee room, that is, my own committee room in No. 5 district; I will not be quite sure; but it was intimated to me that he wanted the money, and I believe it was by this boy.

12,150. What was the sort of message he sent?—He wanted money.

12,151. Where was your committee room held?—At the "Boar's Head."

12,152. Was this gentleman at the "Boar's Head?"—Yes; he was in another room.

12,153. And you sent it to him?—I sent to Mr. Barker for it.

12,154. You got the money from Mr. Barker first?—Yes.

12,155. And then sent it by the boy?—Yes; I never opened it; it came in a parcel.

12,156. In what sort of a parcel, brown paper?—Yes.

12,157. You did not open it?—No; I believe I took it in myself; I am not quite sure about it. I sent my boy for it, and he brought it to me, and it was transferred to Mr. Taylor.

12,158. Was there any secrecy about it?—No; not at all.

12,159. The doors were not locked, or anything?—No.

12,160. It was a matter of business?—I am afraid it was too much so. Then on the 2d of August I paid the check clerk 5*s.*

12,161. Do you know Mr. Taylor's christian name?—No.

12,162. You never heard it?—No. Then William Harrison, who was my managing man and captain of the district, 10*l.*

12,163. William Harrison, Nicholas Street?—Yes.

12,164. What is he?—A tinman. Then on the same date I paid James Sumner 8*l.*

12,165. What is he?—I think he is a grocer; but I am not sure. He is in the same street.

12,166. What was that for?—This was for services. They were engaged before the election. J. Standen I paid 3*l.* to.

12,167. What is he?—I think he is an assistant in a leather manufactory or currier's shop, or something of that sort.

12,168. Is he a voter?—Yes.

12,169. Where does he live, in Ullswater Road?—Yes; it is John Standen, Ullswater Road, currier. Then on the same date I paid James Jackson 11*l.* 15*s.* 6*d.* That was for an account for breakfasts and refreshments. He did not belong to my district, but I paid it. On the same date I paid John Towers 5*l.* That was for service; that was for an engagement. Then there is Maude's account. That was a small account I had handed over to me, and I paid it, 2*l.* 12*s.*

12,170. What for?—That was for refreshments, I think, or something, at Morecambe. It did not belong to me; but I was authorized to pay it.

12,171. It does not come into the other account as "sundries"?—No; it was a small account, I believe, which had been omitted to be paid, and I paid it. Mr. Barker gave me the money and I paid it.

12,172. These are all the sums you paid?—Yes, that is all. I think you will find it balance.

12,173. How much do you make it?—583*l.* 13*s.* 1*d.*

12,174. You received money to the same amount from Mr. Barker?—No, I received 583*l.* 13*s.* 1*d.* from Mr. Clark and Mr. Barker together.

12,175. As you wanted money did you go to them?—Yes, sometimes to Mr. Clark and sometimes to Mr. Barker.

12,176. As you wanted money?—Yes.

12,177. What was your practice about that? Why did you vary one from the other?—I do not know that there was any reason for it.

12,178. Was there any difference?—No, not at all. I put them down as you see them there.

12,179. I only want to know what the arrangement was?—There was no arrangement I believe. It was considered better for Mr. Clark to receive a large sum and distribute it amongst those that required it.

12,180. What was the reason you went to Mr. Clark in preference to Mr. Barker, or to Mr. Barker instead of Mr. Clark?—I did not. There was no difference. The first sum I received was from Mr. Clark, but I had no object in going either to the one or to the other.

12,181. You did not go to either one or the other in particular, but you went as it pleased you, and as the

TWELFTH DAY.

R. Coupland.

10 Sept. 1866.

will suited you?—Mr. Clark, Mr. Barker, and I were generally together every day. I got 20*l.* first from Mr. Clark, because he had received some money, and I gave him a receipt for it.

12,182. This book which you have handed to me, was it all written at the same time?—Yes.

12,183. It is a copy of what?—I have got the original memorandum at home, and I can show it to you at any time you choose. It is in rough, not like that.

12,184. When was that original memorandum made?—Up to the time of the election, with the exception of a few entries.

12,185. Am I to understand that as you paid away money or received it you entered it?—Yes.

12,186. In the memorandum?—Yes.

12,187. And that is at home?—Yes; you can have it at any time you like.

12,188. Have you gone through your accounts lately?—Yes, certainly.

12,189. When?—Do you mean these accounts?

12,190. Yes, this memorandum?—Certainly, within the last week or ten days.

12,191. I am talking of the memorandum; the items you put down at the time?—Yes.

12,192. Was that at the time you copied these two books?—I copied these two books from it.

12,193. At the time you went through the memoranda?—Yes, certainly.

12,194. Did anybody assist you?—No.

12,195. Have you ever discussed these accounts either with Mr. Clark the last witness, or with Mr. Barker?—No further than this. I have asked Mr. Clark to give me the dates of the money paid to me, and compared them with mine, and I have also asked Mr. Barker the same thing.

12,196. And they gave you the dates?—Yes.

12,197. Was there a meeting for this purpose?—No, none whatever. I called on Mr. Clark and asked him to give me the dates of the monies I had received from him.

12,198. Who was at Mr. Clark's?—Mr. Clark was at his office by himself.

12,199. And who was at Mr. Barker's?—Mr. Barker.

12,200. What induced you to go rather to one or the other?—I wanted to compare my memorandum with theirs to see that mine was right.

12,201. Were your memoranda right?—Yes, with the exception of one date. Mr. Clark had got down as paying me 20*l.* or 30*l.*, I forget which, on the 8th, and I had got mine down on the 9th, and there was only one day difference, and I think I put it down the day after. That was the only alteration that had to be made.

12,202. From what you have told me are we to understand that there was no meeting whatever to arrange these accounts?—Certainly not. Mr. Clark has not seen my book at all, in fact I believe only two persons have seen it.

12,203. There has been no meeting?—Certainly not.

12,204. Now I must go to another branch of the subject and ask you this question: Did you of your own knowledge know of any voters being bribed?—I could not swear that I did not, far from it.

12,205. I may take it then that you did?—I could not swear that they actually took the money, but I think I could show you it was very likely.

12,206. Have you, like Mr. Clark, got a list of them?—Yes; you will find a duplicate of it in that book I handed up, a page or two beyond the money entries. The voters' names are numbered as on the register.

12,207. Perhaps you will be good enough to describe to me how it came about that this occurred?—In a very similar manner to what Mr. Clark described to you.

12,208. Where did this little by-play take place?—My quarters were the "Boar's Head."

12,209. With this stranger?—Yes; Mr. Taylor.

12,210. I think you said the first time you saw him was that morning?—No; I saw him the night before. That was the first time I saw him.

12,211. At what time were you at work there?—I was there soon after 7.

12,212. And at what time was Mr. Taylor there?—He would be there much about the same time. I am not sure that I did not go down with him. I think I did.

12,213. Were you in court when Mr. Clark was examined?—Yes.

12,214. Did you hear Mr. Clark say it had been arranged at a meeting previously that some gentlemen from Liverpool should come over as payers?—Yes.

12,215. And Mr. Taylor was one of them?—Yes.

12,216. You arrived at the "Boar's Head" at 7 o'clock?—About 7 or a little after I fancy.

12,217. You went into one room and he went into another?—Yes, it was arranged so.

12,218. In the same manner as Mr. Clark and his unknown man managed it?—Yes.

12,219. You sat at one table?—I was in the committee room. I had the charge of the voting list and the committee room.

12,220. Who brought up your sheep?—The captains.

12,221. And put them into your fold?—Yes.

12,222. And then you told them off?—Yes.

12,223. Tell us who the captains were?—William Harrison was the principal man.

12,224. He was your chief shepherd. Who next?—James Harrison, a relation of his; and Hoyle was one.

12,225. And Bingham?—Yes, he was another.

12,226. In this list I see all these names have got "C" against them?—Yes; they are committee men and sub-captains.

12,227. But you have got such a great number of them?—Yes, there are a great number; but I may say that the two Harrisons and Hoyle were the principal men who brought the men up.

12,228. Now read out your list so that we can take it down?—No. 39, Levi Baines, 10*l.*

12,229. What is he?—He was a mason I believe, but he is dead since.

12,230. Have you got the register there?—Yes; it is "Levi Baines, Monmouth Street, stone mason;" 78, John Beely, Lawrence Street, upholsterer, 10*l.*; 86, William Bingham, Edward Street, cabinet maker, 10*l.*; 147, James Calvert, Moor Lane, shoemaker, 15*l.*; 289, John Gardner, Lodge Street, carver, 10*l.*; 322, William Gibson, George Street, shopman, 10*l.*; 325, Thomas Goad, 10*l.*; 345, Samuel Gunson, cabinet maker, 10*l.*; 367, William Harrison, China Lane, nail-maker, 10*l.*; 381, Thomas Harrison, Leonardgate, Lancaster, book-keeper, 10*l.*; 383, William Harrison, Leonardgate, coach-maker, 10*l.*; 371, James Harrison, Alfred Street, whitesmith, 10*l.*; 376, Edward Harrison, silk piecer, 12*l.*; 377, William Harrison, 12*l.*; 387, James Hartley, Caton, wheelwright, 12*l.*; 388, James Hartley, Edward Street, husbandman, 9*l.*; 419, Robert Hodgson, Nicholas Street, 15*l.*; 421, John Hodgson, Nicholas Street, whitesmith, 15*l.*; 448, John Huntington, Bulk Street, labourer, 12*l.*; 562, Thomas Marshall, Leonard Gate, shoemaker, 12*l.*; 570, Robert Mashider, Alfred Street, 8*l.*; 577, William Mashiter, Leonard Gate, 5*l.*; 591, John Miller, Moor Road, cabinet maker, 10*l.*; 667, William Powell, Edward Street, cabinet maker, 10*l.*; 710, Thomas Richmond, Great John Street, painter, 9*l.*; 712, George Richmond, Great John Street, painter, 10*l.*; 756, William Shaw, Lodge Street, shoemaker, 6*l.*; 768, William Singleton, joiner, 10*l.*; 762, which is omitted from the book you have before you, James Shrigley, cabinet maker, 14*l.*; 769, Benjamin Singleton, Edward Street, joiner, 10*l.*; 770, William Henry Singleton, Edward Street, 10*l.*; 771, John Singleton, 10*l.*; 782, Edward Smith, Quay Street, 12*l.*; 800, John Powell Swainson, 20*l.*

12,231. What is he?—A butcher.

12,232. (Mr. Newton.) A master butcher?—No, I think he is with his stepfather. He is an assistant I think; he is a freeman. 805, David Sykes, Great John Street, cooper, 9*l.*; 883, Henry Waterhouse, Moor Lane, cabinet maker, 10*l.*, he is since dead; 912, James Whitaker, Lodge Street, tailor, 6*l.*; 934,

Thomas Wilcock, Great John Street. 10*l.* ; 954, John Winder, coach smith, 10*l.* ; 977, James Woodman, Germany Street, labourer, 9*l.* Then we come to the householders ; 1130, William Gill, Penny Street, 20*l.*

12,233. What is he?—A butcher ; 1,173, Septimus Hodgson, householder, 20*l.*

12,234. What is Mr. Hodgson?—A butcher. 1,323, William Speight, 5*l.* ; 1351, Richard Townley, Nicholas Street, 8*l.* He is a publican, and this was for an account I was authorized to pay for refreshments, and what not, on the day of election. In fact he would not vote until he got his bill paid. It passed through this gentleman's list, that is the reason it is entered here, 12,235. Through Mr. Taylor's list?—Yes.

12,236. (Mr. Hill.) Was it for a bill for refreshments actually supplied?—Yes, no doubt about that.

12,237. (Mr. Newton.) He would not trust your party till he got the money?—He would not trust anybody then. 1,377, John Wilcock, Penny Street, 12*l.* ; 1,382, Henry Wilson, Penny Street, householder, 20*l.*

12,238. What is Mr. Wilson?—I do not know what he is.

12,239. There are six householders?—Yes.

12,240. And in all 46 votes?—I have not counted them.

12,241. Three of those are butchers, and twenty-pounders?—Yes, they are.

12,242. What are the other three. One is a publican. What is Speight?—I think he is a beerhouse keeper.

12,243. What is Wilcock?—I do not know what he is I am sure.

12,244. You began, you say, about seven?—Yes, soon after seven.

12,245. Have you any idea what money Mr. Taylor brought with him?—No, I have no idea at all.

12,246. You know that at 11 o'clock he was running short?—Yes.

12,247. And sent for 300*l.* more?—Yes.

12,248. What time did it all finish?—I can scarcely tell you. I left the committee room at about 3 o'clock to vote, and I did not go back again.

12,249. The paying was all over then?—Yes.

12,250. Had there been any bargaining or any questions between you and these gentlemen with regard to the price that they were to receive?—No, with few exceptions they were brought in by the captains, and they stated what they wanted.

12,251. With a few exceptions?—Yes, and I gave them a voucher for what they had stipulated with these captains.

12,252. The captains told you what they had bargained for?—Yes.

12,253. Did you always assent?—Yes.

12,254. You could not help yourself?—No, I could not help it.

12,255. What were the exceptions which you have mentioned?—Those butchers were exceptions.

12,256. We heard the other day that all the butchers voted with you?—I do not know any except in my district.

12,257. You had to bargain with them?—They came in and insisted upon 20*l.* each. I had no alternative, and I gave them a cheque.

12,258. What time were they there?—I could not be certain, within an hour ; some time in the morning. It was certainly before noon.

12,259. You have said, I think, that there was nothing like the door being locked; there was no secrecy about it?—No, it was understood that this person was to be there and pay anything that I authorized in the way of cheque or memorandum, whatever it might be,

12,260. Were any door-keepers appointed?—Yes, there were door-keepers.

12,261. Who were they?—I cannot tell you ; I know there were people to keep the crowd down, because on all occasions of that sort there are always a lot of people who want to come in.

12,262. Policemen?—No.

12,263. Who were they, door-keepers?—I really cannot tell you, I do not know them.

12,264. Were they voters or non-voters?—Very likely they would be non-voters, I think they would be what are termed staff men, but I really could not swear it.

12,265. Would many be admitted into the room where you were?—No, I kept the register, and scored the voters off as they came in with the assistance of a clerk.

12,266. Was Mr. Taylor locked in?—No.

12,267. Were there door-keepers to his room?—No one was allowed to go into his room except those who were authorized.

12,268. You mean authorized with a written ticket from you?—No ; I did not mean that, quite ; but I think there would be people to keep anyone out of the room. It was not open for anyone to go into.

12,269. I suppose there was great confusion and great noise?—Yes, in the morning.

12,270. Was there a breakfast going on?—There had been before I was there.

12,271. Did you preside at the breakfast?—No.

12,272. Did Mr. Taylor?—No.

12,273. Who paid for it?—I am not quite sure whether it would be included in Harrison's bill of 49*l.* which I mentioned, or whether it would be included in the account that Mr. Barker would pay, I am not quite sure about that.

12,274. What was the name of the landlord?—Dowthwaite.

12,275. He would be paid?—Yes, he would be paid out of that 49*l.*, or through Mr. Barker, I did not pay him it.

12,276. Did you or your sub-captains engage the public-houses in your district?—Harrison, I think, would engage that public-house. We had only two.

12,277. Only two in your district?—No, we had only two public-houses in the whole district.

12,278. What were those two?—The "Boar's Head" and the "Golden Ball," opposite. They are within 20 yards of each other.

12,279. Yours is a very large district?—Yes, but there was not a public-house but which was engaged by the other side. We could not get any. Our men could not, at all events.

12,280. Am I to say you could get no more than what you did get?—I think that was the case, I think Harrison will tell you that.

12,281. If there had been more you would have got them?—We did not require many. We considered it was useless employing those sort of places. They are only a vast amount of expense. At all events those were the only two that were available for our purpose.

12,282. Can you tell me the number of staff men that you or Harrison engaged in your district?—No, I cannot.

12,283. Can you give me a rough calculation. You paid them, I presume?—I believe Harrison paid some, I am not sure about that ; but they were not paid, so far as I am aware, out of any monies I have told you of. Mr. Gibson would pay the other people we had.

12,284. I thought you said Harrison paid them?—He might, but I don't know. He might pay some, but I am not aware of it.

12,285. Which am I to take, that Harrison or Gibson paid them?—I should think Gibson would pay.

12,286. What made you say Harrison?—He would be the only person likely to know. He paid all the smaller sums. My impression is, that with regard to the men who were employed as staff men Gibson paid the whole of them. There were no great number.

12,287. Had you any runners?—No.

12,288. You say there were no great number. What do you mean by that?—I should think there were 25 altogether, runners and staff men, whatever you call them.

12,289. Was there any distinction between runners and staff men?—Not that I am aware of.

TWELFTH DAY.

R. Coupland.

10 Sept. 1866.

12,290. You think there were 25 altogether?—Yes, that I should think would be the extent.

12,291. Did you get any remuneration for your trouble. It is usual to put that question to captains?—No.

12,292. On your oath you say you did not get any remuneration for your trouble?—Certainly not.

12,293. Do you expect anything?—Certainly not.

12,294. (Mr. Hill.) I want to know what you gave to the four captains, William Harrison, James Harrison, Bingham, and Hoyle?—Do you mean as remuneration.

12,295. Yes?—I will tell you; Bingham and those two Harrisons, I believe, got 10*l.* apiece; I know Bingham did.

12,296. You have given us those in the figures you have mentioned?—Then William Harrison, I paid him afterwards, on the 2nd of August. He got 10*l.*

12,297. Then William Harrison, No. 373?—That is my own man.

12,298. How much did he get altogether?—That would be all he would get.

12,299. How much?—10*l.* I am not aware that he got anything else. It is not the William Harrison that I mentioned here as having been paid in another way.

12,300. Then William Harrison, No. 373, who is captain, is a third William Harrison?—Yes; this William Harrison received nothing in the same shape as the other men.

12,301. He got 10*l.*?—That was for his services. He was paid on the 2nd of August.

12,302. Then there were three William Harrisons altogether?—Yes.

12,303. Now James Harrison?—I think he got 10*l.* He is in the list, No. 371.

12,304. Did he get anything besides the 10*l.*?—No, nothing. I should tell you that in the first list I read over, several of the parties had money to canvass with, and so forth, but in no other way were they paid. 10*l.* is what he got altogether.

12,305. That is all that he got for himself?—Yes.

12,306. The rest, to the best of your belief, he had laid out?—Yes.

12,307. You believe so?—Yes, I would not swear it, but I believe so.

12,308. Now Bingham?—The same.

12,309. All he got was this money that is given in here?—Yes.

12,310. And Hoyle?—The same.

12,311. Where is Hoyle?—He is not in the list.

12,312. It is only the money he received for canvassing?—Yes.

12,313. What other money did he receive?—I am not aware of any.

12,314. From whom would he get it, if not from you?—I do not know, unless William Harrison paid him. I do not think it is likely; but I do not know.

12,315. Hoyle got 1*l.* 5*s.*, which you say you gave him for canvassing?—Yes.

12,316. If there should be anything you have omitted to tell us to-day, we shall be obliged if you will come here again to-morrow morning?—I will do so.

E. D. De Vitre, Esq., M.D.

EDWARD DENIS DE VITRE, Esq., M.D., sworn and examined.

12,317. (Mr. Barstow.) Have you been attending upon Mr. Coulston?—I have.

12,318. What is his christian name?—John.

12,319. I believe he is manager of the Lancaster Bank?—He is.

12,320. What is the nature of his disease?—I believe it is the result of a serious affection of his heart and chest.

13,321. How long have you been attending him?—I have been in continuous attendance upon him for about, I should think, four months. Mr. Langshaw, his ordinary medical attendant, has been along with me.

12,322. Has he been growing worse, or improving?—He has been growing much worse of late.

12,323. In what state is he at present?—He is in a very feeble condition indeed.

12,324. Do you think it would be dangerous to his life for us to take his examination in his own room?—I think very likely that it would tend to shorten his life.

12,325. Is he in such a state of mind at present that he would be able to understand questions put to him on matters of business?—I do not think he would correctly to-day, not to carry on a conversation.

12,326. Have you reason to believethat his health is likely to improve?—I am afraid not.

12,327. When did you last see him?—This morning.

12,328. I must ask you again, do you think that we should not be able to examine him without immediately endangering his life?—That is a question that I cannot positively answer to; but I do think that it would be most injurious, and what a medical man could not advise under any circumstances, in his present state.

12,329. You cannot absolutely say that our examining him would endanger his life?—No, it is impossible I could say positively. It is quite possible that it might not endanger his life; but in my opinion it would be very imprudent, very impolitic, and very improper, to subject him to an examination.

12,330. In your opinion would our examining him in his own room endanger his life?—In my opinion it would hasten his end.

12,331. (Mr. Hill.) That is the same thing in one sense as endangering his life. The question is to what extent?—I may say from the nature of his affection, it being heart disease, in the whole course of treatment during the last four months he has been under my care and that of Mr. Langshaw; we have been very cautious to keep him as quiet as possible, and free from the excitement of business or other matters, and he has attended to very little business during that period of time, and only during a few weeks when he improved. I believe, myself, that this very inquiry going on in the court, where the officers of the bank have been under the necessity of being examined, has been a source of annoyance and irritation to him which has already produced a very bad effect upon him; and this morning when we saw him he certainly was not fit to be examined, nor could you have drawn such conclusions as would be necessary for you to draw.

12,332. On Friday it was arranged that we should examine him on Tuesday. Since the time that that arrangement was made, do you think that there has been so great a change for the worse in him, that the arrangement, which was then come to, could not now be safely carried out?—I do.

12,333. And that if it were, the examination must necessarily be, from the state of his mind, unsatisfactory?—Certainly.

12,334. (Mr. Newton.) Have you examined him as to the disease of the heart yourself?—Yes, I have.

12,335. When did the disease of the heart first show itself?—Many months past; long before he positively became an invalid.

12,336. When was that?—Mr. Coulston, to my knowledge, showed an affection of the heart two years ago.

12,337. An active affection?—Not very active.

12,338. When did it become active?—I do not know when itbecame active. It is a disease not of an inflammatory character; it is what is generally called a fatty degeneration, or weakening.

The Commissioners proceeded to the offices of the Lancaster Banking Company, and inspected the bank books with Mr. Hadwin.

Adjourned to to-morrow at 10 o'clock.

THIRTEENTH DAY.

Lancaster Castle, Tuesday, 11th September 1866.

PRESENT:

Mr. Barstow. | Mr. Hill. | Mr. Newton.

Mr. Robert Shackleton re-called and further examined.

12,339. (Mr. Barstow.) Have you brought a list of the voters that you bribed?—I have.

12,340. At Morecambe?—That were bribed at Morecambe (handing in a paper), that is on behalf of the Liberal candidates.

12,341. How many are there additional; you gave us 14 before I think?—I think there are 25 or 26.

12,342. Perhaps you had better go regularly through them and give the sums that each received?—That list is made out to the best of my knowledge. I have had a letter from Mr. Baines, which I will hand over to you, gentlemen, afterwards.

12,343. You kept no account at the time?—Not of the money that Baines paid, but I have written to Baines for instructions or information, how much he paid to each voter, and you shall have his letter.

12,344. Baines told us he did not know?—We will make it out between us.

12,345. That paper you hold in your hand, when did you make it up?—Since I was examined here on Friday.

12,346. From what did you make it up?—I made it up from Baines's letter and from the evidence one or two of the parties had given in London.

12,347. And, I suppose, from recollection also?—And from recollection as well.

12,348. And from any papers?—I handed all the papers, as I told you when I was examined, to Mr. Welch, when we balanced the account and therefore Mr. Welch ought to have had them.

12,349. What papers are those that you spoke of the other day which you said you had left in your house?—This is the book (producing it).

12,350. Let me look at it?—(Handing the book.) You will find it is an old memorandum book. Since Henry Welch and I settled, up to the time when I was first examined, I had never seen that book, and I did not know I had it when I was examined last. I have found it since among a lot of other papers and books that I had in my cottage, as I before told you the payments are at the other end.

12,351. Part of that seems to be a sort of poll or a check on the poll?—That is according to the promises that were made at the time when they were solicited for their votes.

12,352. This is a book the entries in which you made at the time?—Yes, and I further declare that it has never had a pencil or pen put to it in any shape or form since.

12,353. Having now found these documents, have you any reason to vary the account you gave before of the money you received?—Slightly. I think I said that to the best of my recollection I had received 230*l.*, and it appears I have received 241*l.* 9*s.* 11*d.*

12,354. (Mr. Hill.) It appears from your book that you received 233*l.*, and that there was a balance due to "R. S.," (which means yourself) of 7*l.* 16*s.* 7*d.*?—Yes.

12,355. We may take it that you received in gross 241*l.* 9*s.* 11*d.*?—Yes, at the foot I have written this memorandum: "Some time after settlement of afore-"mentioned sums there was a disputed account of "Mr. Swaine's, of Morecambe, paid by money received "by Mr. Henry Welch, and account returned to him, "viz., 10*l.*;" that was afterwards, but it was only sent down to me to remit to Mr. Swain; that would be some few weeks after the election.

(The papers referred to by the witness are handed in, and are as follows:)—

A List of Names of Freemen who were paid to vote at the Election of Messrs. Fenwick and Schneider from Morecambe, 1865.

242	Daniel Edmondson -	5 0 0	For use of house as committee-room.

THIRTEENTH DAY.

Mr. R. Shackleton.

11 Sept. 1866.

The preceding is a correct list, so far as I am able to make out from memory. I have been informed the Conservatives bribed 28 voters in this place. This information you will gain from "George Vince," and the other names I formerly gave to you as being greatly interested in the management at Morecambe.

Some time after settlement of afore-mentioned sums there was a disputed account of Mr. Swaine's, of Morecambe, paid by money received from Mr. Henry Welch, an account returned to him, viz., 10*l.*

12,356. The money was all received in cash from Mr. Henry, Welch, except 4*l.* 8*s.* from Dr. Carruthers?—It was.

12,357. Can you give us the gross sum you spent in treating before the election?—I can only give it you so far as it is entered in that book. I have made a copy here.

12,358. Just look in that book and see if you can give it to us; it will save a multiplicity of items if you can?—Do you mean the accounts I received receipts for and handed to Mr. Welch?

12,359. You received money before the election?—Yes, 241*l.* 9*s.* 11*d.*

12,360. And did you not spend money in treating the freemen before the election?—Yes.

12,361. Can you tell us in gross what that sum was, dividing the payments into payments before and after the election; or if you cannot do that give the gross payments that you made in treating?—I do not see how I can do that; the paper I have here is an exact copy of the book; the principal part of the incidental expenses Mr. Welch got accounts for, but I only set them down in a lump sum.

12,362. (Mr. Newton.) Can you tell us the number of voters that received money for their votes?—Yes; you will find it on the sheet I have handed in and the amounts they received.

12,363. (Mr. Barstow.) If you cannot give the amount you spent in treating give us the amount you paid to the voters; tell us what you gave for each vote and what else the voters received?—Only they would be paid at different times.

12,364. That does not matter.—There is William Armistead, No. 17 on the register, 15*l.*

12,365. What is he?—A fisherman; they are all fishermen. On the 5th July he got 1*l.*

12,366. Besides?—Besides. On the 8th of July he got 1*l.*, and on the 9th 1*l.*, and on the 10th 1*l.*

12,367. What did you understand that these sums of 1*l.* were given for?—To spend, I suppose; the men came every morning to me and would have the money, right or wrong.

12,368. Now the next?—The next is No. 19 on the register; John Bond, 15*l.*; on the 8th of July he got 7*l.* 10*s.*, and on the 10th, 1*l.*; that would be the last that he received. I have made a remark opposite these two men's names (William Armistead and John Bond) which I had better read, "The above two men "were engaged to canvass voters by Mr. C. J. Clark "on behalf of the Conservatives, and received some "money to act as captains in the district; they pro- "fessing to be dissatisfied with Hinde, he told them "to come over to the other side, whether to get "evidence out of them for a petition is best known "to himself; but Armistead was one of the witnesses "in London."

12,369. Now the next voter?—No. 252, John Edmonson, 15*l.*; he was engaged as assistant canvasser, and gave evidence before the committee in London; on July 1st he gets 1*l.*, on July 2nd, 2*l.*, on 4th June John Edmondson and Armistead, 1*l.*; that would be 10*s.* each; on July 5th, 10*s.*, again on July 5th, 1*l.*, on July 6th, 1*l.*, on July 8th, 1*l.*, on July 9th, 1*l.* John Edmondson for John Bell's release, 4*l.* 2*s.* 6*d.*; John Bell was a voter; he was in the House of Correction at that time for some misdemeanour he had been doing down at Morecambe, and the expenses altogether were 4*l.*

12,370. Then that does not go down to Edmondson?—I do not think he paid it.

12,371. (Mr. Newton.) He pocketed the money?—I heard it said so this morning in the train.

12,372. (Mr. Hill.) How much was it?—4*l.* 2*s.* 6*d.*

12,373. What date was that?—July 9th. I have it here. 4*l.* was the money that he got and then he charged for expenses 2*s.* 6*d.* afterwards.

12,374. (Mr. Newton.) And put the whole in his pocket?—I cannot speak to that; he probably will be able to explain it himself.

12,375. (Mr. Hill.) Did John Bell vote?—He did; on the 10th, John Edmondson, 1*l.*, that is all against him. Then No. 16 on the register, Richard Armistead, 10*l.*

12,376. He is a fisherman too?—Yes, they are all fishermen. I will tell you when they are not. On July 2nd, 1*l.*, on July 5th, 10*s.*, on July 8th, 3*l.* 10*s.*; that was in part payment for his vote; he gave evidence in London. Then No. 20 on the register, Isaac Armistead, 10*l.*; on July 1st he got 1*l.*, on July 8th he got 3*l.*, but that would be in part payment for his vote. I think you have got all against him. William Armistead 10*l.* (No. 22 on the register.) I do not think he would get anything more. John Armistead, No. 23 on the register, 10*l.*, John Bell 14*l.*, No. 80 on the register; and on 10th July he got 10*s.* No. 154 on the register, Henry Casson, 12*l.*; he gave evidence in London. I think he got nothing else. Richard Christopherson, No. 162 on the register, got 10*l.* No. 243 on the register, Jonas Edmondson, 10*l.*

12,377. Have you looked to see if these three last voters had anything at other times?—Yes; they will not have had any at other times. No. 244, Thomas Edmondson, 10*l.*; he gave evidence in London; that is all that he has had. No. 247, Thomas Edmondson, 10*l.*; he is another Thomas Edmondson, he came from Londonderry and left his occupation as mate on the steamer "Arbutus" to vote.

12,378. Was his occupation on board the steamer "Arbutus" a very lucrative one?—I really do not know. I do not know what wages a mate will get. I should think from 2*l.* to 3*l.* per week perhaps. Daniel Edmondson, No. 253 on the register, 12*l.*; he came from Annan, in Scotland, and he gave evidence in London. On the 7th of July, the date that I went over to Annan to see him, I paid him 2*l.*, but I think he would only get 10*l.* at the time of the election to make up the 12*l.* No. 327, James Green; he was paid by Stewardson in Lancaster, but he had from me some sundry expenses; I think it was Stewardson who paid him.

12,379. (Mr. Barstow.) That is Greenall, is it not?—I think he is on the register as Green. I paid his son 2*l.* to take care of him up to the time of the election, and I gave him 2*s.* 6*d.* to go to be taken care of. I believe he would not have lived if he had stayed in Morecambe; he first was on one side and then on the other and he never was sober during the whole time the election was going on.

12,380. Did you pay him anything for his vote besides?—I did not. I do not give you any amount in this list that he has got. I do not know what he did get. I gave 2*l.* to his son and 2*s.* 6*d.* to himself. No. 350, Matthew Hadwen, 10*l.* I think he would have nothing else. No. 351, Tobias Hadwen; he was paid by Stewardson in Lancaster.

12,381. (Mr. Hill.) Did you not give Tobias Hadwen anything?—I will come to that by-and-by; on June 28th I gave him 3*s.* 6*d.*, and on June 28th 5*s.*

12,382. The same day?—The same day; on July the 5th, 10*s.*, on July the 6th, 2*s.* 6*d.* I had better just mention that he was going off working to a gentleman at Bentham, and this was money that was given to him at the time he went, but I will explain that afterwards.

12,383. Is that all he got?—That is all he got.

12,384. Did he vote for you?—Yes, he voted for us; 352 on the register, Joseph Hadwen 10*l*; I find I paid him 1*l.* 10*s.* on July the 8th, but that would be in part payment of his 10*l.*; 353, William Hadwen, 10*l.* I paid him 1*l.* in July in part payment; Richard Hall, 357 on the register.

12,385. (Mr. Hill.) 10*l.*?—He was paid by someone in Lancaster, but he had part of the money from me.

12,386. Who was he paid by?—I do not know.

12,387. Can you find out who paid him?—I fancy Stewardson perhaps would pay him.

12,388. What did you pay him?—I paid him on July the 4th, 10*s.*; on July the 8th, 3*l.* 16*s.* 6*d.* I do not know exactly what that was for, but he wanted it for some particular purpose I remember. On July the 13th, Richard Hall, 1*l.*

THIRTEENTH DAY.

Mr. R. Shackleton.

11 Sept. 1866.

12,389. Is that all?—Yes.

12,390. (Mr. Newton.) Would that be for his vote?—No; he would get paid for his vote I have no doubt in Lancaster. 407, Adam Henderson, 10*l.*; he has had nothing. John Kitchen 518. He had some money from me, but he was paid in Lancaster, I think, by Peter Moore. I think you will have it in Peter Moore's list.

12,391. How much did he get from you?—On June the 28th, 4*s.* On July the 1st, 5*s.* On July the 2nd, 2*s.* On July the 4th, 2*s.* 6*d.* On July the 5th, 3*s.* On July the 6th, 4*s.* On July the 8th, 2*l.* On July the 9th, 10*s.* Then No. 522 on the register, Joseph Knipe, 10*l.*, and 523, George Knipe, 10*l.*, and I gave them 1*l.* each for expenses. 533 on the register, William Lord, 10*l.*

12,392. Had he anything besides?—No; 242, Daniel Edmondson, for the use of his house as a committee-room, 5*l.*

12,393. Have you come to an end of the voters paid?—Yes; he gave evidence in the House of Commons.

12,394. Was there any bill of Edmondson's to pay?—Yes, there were several bills, the bill that Edmondson had got on the morning of the election was paid by Baines. I did not pay him the bill on the morning of the election; that is during the election night, but I have paid him some money which I will give you; Baines borrowed money of me to make up his deficiency.

12,395. Tell us the monies you paid Edmondson?—Daniel Edmondson, hotel account, 11*l.* 5*s.* 6*d.* on July the 8th; Daniel Edmondson, July the 10th, on account, I paid him 6*l.* I suppose he was grumbling about the bill getting on, and he wanted to see how the account was to be squared up before the election. That is all the money I paid him. I think he had a large account on the morning of the election that was paid by Baines. On June the 28th, amount paid at the "Chieftain Inn;" Birket Elleray is his name. That would be what I should get an account for, and hand over to Mr. Welch.

12,396. That does not come out of your money?—Yes, it comes out of the money I received.

12,397. How much is it then?—1*l.* 13*s.* 8*d.* On July the 2nd, Richard Coates, "Morecambe Hotel," 2*l.* 14*s.* 10*d.* On July the 2nd, Mr. Swain, "Queen's Hotel," 24*l.* 15*s.* 4*d.*, James Shaw, 6*l.* 8*s.* 5*d.*

12,398. The same date?—The same date.

12,399. What is his house?—The "Ship Inn."

12,400. (Mr. Barstow.) Are Swayne and Shaw voters?—No, neither of them. On July the 3rd, Richard Coates, 1*l.*—that is at the "Morecambe Hotel." July the 6th, "Station Hotel," 10*s.*; Anthony Redwayne is the name of the proprietor, I think. July the 6th, "Blue Anchor," Lancaster, a shilling.

12,401. Are these expenses you are now coming to very small sums?—Yes, but I think I have got very nearly through them; William A. Maud, 7*s.* 6*d.*, and Mr. Amson, 7*l.*

12,402. Who is he?—He did, at that time, keep the "New Inn Hotel." On July the 10th, Birket Henry Elleray, 6*l.*; July the 13th, Elleray, 2*l.* 17*s.* 6*d.*, and James Shaw, 1*l.* 10*s.*

12,403. Then you have a lot of small sums. Can you give me the amount of incidental expenses?—That would amount to 12*l.* 9*s.* 8*d.*

12,404. That was for money spent from time to time in drinking exclusive of these accounts?—Yes.

12,405. (Mr. Hill.) Is that the whole of your account?—No. On July the 1st, I see here, "Railway ticket, 12*s.*"

12,406. We do not want every item. Give it to me in a lump sum?—I beg your pardon, but I have omitted an hotel bill of Thomas Longmire, "West View Hotel," 12*s.* 10*d.* The other small sums would come to 6*l.* 12*s.* 10*d.*

12,407. Is that the whole of your account?—No. On July the 9th, Robert Bond, a freeman from Slyne, got 10*s.*

12,408. Is that the Bond you gave us before?—No.

12,409. Robert Bond voted against you?—No, he voted for us, I think.

12,410. What was the 10*s.* for?—He came down to Morecambe, and wanted some money for his own expenses.

12,411. For drink, I suppose?—Yes, I suppose it would be. Then for assistance on the night before the election, and on the election day, John Wilson a pound.

12,412. What are these, staff-men?—Yes.

12,413. How many of them are there?—Five of them.

12,414. Five staff-men, 5*l.*?—Yes.

12,415. Is that all your account?—Here is John Threlfall, on July the 5th, and William Threlfall, 1*l.* each. They went to the other side. We could not buy them the night before.

12,416. You gave it to them on account of their votes?—Yes. I am sorry to trouble you, but I think I have omitted Isaac Armistead, 1*l.* On July the 8th, Thomas Overend, a voter from Heysham, came to borrow a pound which he has not found time to return yet.

12,417. Did he vote Lawrence?—No, he voted for the Liberals. On July the 10th I let Dr. Carruthers have 10*l.*

12,418. Has he found time to pay that?—He returned 4*l.* 8*s.*, which you saw in the debit list.

12,419. He has had 5*l.* 12*s.*?—Yes.

12,420. He has got a Government appointment at Portland since the election?—Yes. On July the 10th I paid Thomas Greenup 2*l.*

12,421. Was he a voter?—No.

12,422. What was it for?—For taking care of Tobias Hadwen. He is not competent to take care of himself, and that you will see if you have him before you. On July the 13th I paid Mr. Briggs 25*l.*

12,423. What was that for?—I borrowed money from Mr. Briggs to give to Mr. Baines. Mr. Briggs did not know what it was for. I wrote him a note for it.

12,424. It is part of the money you are accounting for?—Yes, it is.

12,425. You paid it to Baines?—Yes.

12,426. And you received it from Welch afterwards?—Yes.

12,427. (Mr. Barstow.) You paid Briggs the 25*l.* back?—Yes.

12,428. Have you accounted for it as paid to Baines?—Yes; certainly.

12,429. (Mr. Newton.) Instead of Briggs, it is Baines?—Yes; but I got the money from Briggs to hand over to Baines.

12,430. You have not accounted for the money to us?—I refunded the 25*l.* to Mr. Briggs out of these amounts of money I received from Mr. Welch.

12,431. (Mr. Barstow.) Is the 25*l.* you paid Briggs included in the sum of money which you have told us you received from Mr. Welch?—Yes.

12,432. You have not yet, in the account you have given us, accounted for the payment of that 25*l.*?—Mr. Baines would account for that, as you will find when you come to add these accounts up.

12,433. Have you given it to us in your account as paid by you to Baines?—Yes. Here is another 5*l.*, another 7*l.*, and 12*l.*

12,434. What are they?—Sums all handed over to Baines in the same way. On the 13th of July I paid Dr. Carruthers 1*l.*

12,435. What was that for?—I suppose he would tell them he was that much out in expenses. On the 13th of July I paid Philip Thomas 2*s.* 6*d.* One of the Conservative people had torn the tail of his coat off, and I had to get it repaired.

12,436. Was he a staff man?—Yes. Then again on the 13th I paid Richard Siddle 10*s.*

12,437. He is not a voter?—No; that was for his expenses to go to Settle to look after Castle.

12,438. What amount of money have you given to Baines altogether?—49*l.*

12,439. Is that the whole of your account?—Yes.

12,440. The whole of your outlay altogether?—Yes.

12,441. You have nothing to add?—No; except these amounts which were paid in part payment of the voting list.

12,442. Those you have given us in full?—Yes.

12,443. The 25*l.* was for Daniel Edmondson's bill. Do you know what the others were for?—I fancy Baines would be short. Some of the voters would not come from Morecambe without the money was paid, and I got this money for Baines.

12,444. Were all these houses you have mentioned houses in your own interest at Morecambe?—Not exactly. The Conservatives, before we started at all, had come down and taken the "Morecambe Hotel," the "King's Arms Hotel," the "Black Bull," and the "Birket Hotel."

12,445. That is no answer to my question. I ask you whether all these houses were in your interest?—We were not particular where we went, because we had not a house to go to without going to the Conservative houses previous to Daniel Edmondson turning over to the other side.

12,446. Previous to that you had nowhere to go to?—No; except going where the others were.

12,447. (Mr. Hill.) Had Daniel Edmondson been retained by the Conservatives?—Yes.

12,448. And you gave him a second retainer for the other side—your own side?—They had engaged his house for 10*l.*, and we got it for 5*l.*

12,449. (Mr. Barstow.) You have not yet answered my question. Was the "Queen's" one of your houses and the "Ship" also?—It was a house that we went to previous to Daniel Edmondson turning over, but we did not go there very much after we had gone to Edmondson's.

12,450. Then the "Chieftain Inn," was that another of them?—Yes.

12,451. And the "Morecambe Hotel," was that another?—No; we went there and spent some money, that was all.

12,452. Was the "New Inn" one of your houses? No; we were never there except one night.

12,453. You spent 7*l.* there one night?—Yes.

12,454. Then it was one of your houses, I suppose?—They brought us in a bill of 15*l.* odd, and I knocked off one-half of it, and told him that we had not spent seven shillings; and we had not either.

12,455. Who paid Robert Bond?—I do not know that I ever saw the man after he got 10*s.*

12,456. I suppose if he got 10*s.* he got something more?—Yes; he would not vote without being paid either for one side or the other, but who paid him, I do not know. He is in the Slyne district, and whoever was at Slyne would have him to pay no doubt. I am sure he would have got paid.

12,457. (Mr. Hill.) The sum total you have given us as received is 241*l.* 9*s.* 10*d.*, and the sum total you have given us as spent is 241*l.* 9*s.* 11*d.* This, therefore, is an account of all the money you received, and all that Baines received also?—Yes, with the exception of this which I think I read to you before. Sometime after the settlement of the afore-mentioned sums there was a disputed account of Mr. Swaine's, of Morecambe, paid by money received from Mr. Henry Welch, and account returned to him. viz., 10*l.*

12,458. (Mr. Barstow.) It is suggested that you have mentioned paying 7*l.* 10*s.* to some of these voters. In that case I suppose Baines would pay the balance?—Yes.

12,459. (Mr. Newton.) When have you paid 7*l.* 10*s.*?—I think about two nights previous to the election.

12,460. You bargained with these men for their votes?—Yes.

12,461. At that time?—Yes.

12,462. Mr. Blades led us to suppose that the price of votes was 5*l.* at Morecambe?—No, I think not; that it had been previously I think was what he said.

12,463. You paid 7*l.* 10*s.* two days before the polling. We have been told over and over again that the price of votes was generally about 5*l.*?—I think I told you in my former evidence that I told Henry Welch Blades and Wearing what the other side was doing.

12,464. That was on the nomination day?—Yes.

12,465. You paid these fellows 7*l.* 10*s.* two or three days before polling?—Yes, I daresay it was two or three days. The other side were doing the same, and either we must follow them or they would have left us entirely.

12,466. When you paid them 7*l.* 10*s.* did you pay it as half the price of their vote?—Yes.

12,467. You anticipated they would get 15*l.*?—There are only three who got 15*l.*

12,468. But some of those men got 6*l.* besides?—Yes, of course they did for expenses.

12,469. There is one gets 13*l.* and 15*l.*, and another 20*l.* altogether?—That is during the course of the election.

12,470. Another, 28*l.* 2*s.* 6*d.*?—That is during the course of the election. This (producing a paper) is a list of voters on the list that would neither take nor give money for the purpose of bribing.

12,471. How many are there?—Eleven.

12,472. Eleven out of 80. Three of them are clergymen I see?—Yes; my opinion is that they were all paid at Morecambe with the exception of these.

12,473. What are the names and their numbers on the register?—132, B. Bradshaw; 137, William Briggs; 142, James Brunton; 491, James Jackson; 559, the Revd. E. F. Manby; 560, Rev. J. R. G. Manby; 596, David Moore; 597, Bernard Moore; 629, John Overend; 649, William Parkinson; 909, William Whiteside.

JOHN CROSS sworn and examined.

J. Cross.

12,474. (Mr. Hill.) What are you?—A plasterer.

12,475. Where do you live?—Springfield Terrace, Lancaster.

12,476. Are you a Conservative?—Yes.

12,477. Were you a captain at the last election?—Yes, in No. 2 and No. 3 districts conjointly with Mr. Hatch.

12,478. What districts are those?—The Assembly Rooms and the Boys National School.

12,479. Are those the polling places for those districts?—Yes, they are.

12,480. Tell me what parts of the town were included in No. 2. and No. 3. districts?—You can take the Assembly Rooms first, Market Street, Sun Street, New Street Castle Hill, Castle Street, West Place, High Street, Spring Garden Street, Common Garden Street, James Street, and several other small streets.

12,481. Now No. 3. district?—Parliament Street and Germany Street, that is all. It was only a very small district.

12,482. What sums of Money did you receive for the purposes of the last election?—On the 23rd of June I received from Mr. Clark 80*l.* in four payments.

12,483. Upon the dates which Mr. Clark gave us?—Yes.

12,484. Were they correct?—Yes, I believe so. On the 8th of July I received 20*l.* from Mr. Barker. That is all I received previous to the election.

12,485. What next?—550*l.* and 5*l.* this year.

12,486. Does that include this 80*l.* and 20*l.*?—No, that is a separate item.

12,487. You got 655*l.* altogether?—Yes.

12,488. Did you receive these last sums you have mentioned from Mr. Barker?—Yes.

12,489. When?—On the 11th of July, and the 5*l.*

THIRTEENTH DAY.

J. Cross.

11 Sept. 1866.

I think I received, though I have not got the date, on the 14th of May 1866.

12,490. Was that from Mr. Barker also?—Yes.

12,491. Is that the whole sum you received?—Yes.

12,492. How did you expend that?—We will take the 80*l.* and the 20*l.* which I received previous to the election first. John Leeming Bradshaw, Market Street, 12*l.*

12,493. Who is he?—A draper in Market Street.

12,494. What was the 12*l.* for?—1*l.* of it was for his expenses for going to Manchester after some voters, and with regard to the other he will explain it himself. He will know how he spent it.

12,495. Was any of it for his vote?—No.

12,496. What was he—a sub-captain?—I do not know that he was. He took a little interest in the election.

12,497. Did he vote Lawrence?—Yes, he did.

12,498. How much do you say was for expenses?—1*l.*

12,499. And the rest was for himself?—No.

12,500. What was it for?—I cannot give you the names, but I believe myself it was for two votes, but he will be able better to explain it himself than I can.

12,501. Richard Nelson, of Carnforth, 2*l.*, what was that for?—He made an agreement with me for 7*l.* for his vote.

12,502. And this 2*l.* was on account?—Yes; he afterwards voted on the other side, and has not yet returned the 2*l.*

12,503. James Hatch, 7*l.* 5*s.* What was that for?—I cannot tell you I am sure. He took it to Heysham, and he will be able to tell you about it.

12,504. It was for voters at Heysham?—Yes.

12,505. George Danson, 5*l.* What was that for?—I cannot say. He had it in two payments.

12,506. Was it for his vote or for voters?—It was for other voters.

12,507. Henry Nelson, of Ellel, 3*l.* What was that for?—I suppose it was to go amongst the freemen, but if you will allow me I will explain something about that. My brother gave him 3*l.*, and he told me that he had had offered him by Mr. Preston, of Ellel Grange, 50*l.* if he would work the district.

12,508. That is not much of an explanation why you gave him 3*l.*?—He thought it was a very small sum.

12,509. You gave it to him for voters?—Yes.

12,510. Jackson of the "White Horse," 7*l.*?—He took them to Morecambe.

12,511. What is Jackson's christian name?—I do not know.

12,512. That was for Morecambe voters?—Yes.

12,513. Henry Gorst, 3*l.*?—That went to Overton.

12,514. John McCann, 3*l.* What was that for?—I cannot say.

12,515. Was it for himself?—He wanted some money, and I suppose he will be able to tell you how he spent it.

12,516. James Ellershaw, 1*l.*?—That was for himself.

12,517. Thomas Proctor, China Lane, 11*l.* 13*s.* 6*d.* What was that for?—I cannot say.

12,518. Was it for himself?—For voters and himself.

12,519. Thomas Foster, China Lane, 6*l.* 2*s.* 6*d.*?—He was one of the sub-captains.

12,520. That was for voters then, was it?—It was. Halliwell, of Carnforth, 2*l.*

12,521. What was that for?—For the Carnforth voters.

12,522. Thomas Garnett, 2*l.* 15*s.*?—Yes.

12,523. What was that for?—He was one of the sub-captains.

12,524. John Hargreaves?—He was a sub-captain.

12,525. 1*l.*?—Yes.

12,526. John Wilkinson Thompson?—He was another sub-captain.

12,527. 2*l.* 10*s.*?—Yes.

12,528. John Kitchen, 3*l.* 5*s.*?—Yes.

12,529. What was John Kitchen?—He was a sub-captain.

12,530. And Alexander Harrison, 1*l.* 7*s.* 6*d.*?—Yes.

12,531. What was he?—Something similar.

12,532. John Pritt, 7*s.* 6*d.*?—Yes.

12,533. Hesketh Riley, 11*s.* 6*d.* What were these two last for?—They were sub-captains to a small extent.

12,534. William Halstead, 6*l.* 10*s.*?—He was the captain of Scotforth.

12,535. William Thornton, 2*l.* 3*s.* 6*d.*, what was he?—That was for writing; he was employed as a clerk.

12,536. Henry Hartley, 10*s.*, what was that for?—I cannot say what he did with it. He wanted money.

12,537. Thomas R. Thompson, is he a voter?—Yes.

12,538. William Trought?—He is a voter; that was for some old score with regard to some previous election; so he said.

12,539. Thomas Gill?—He is a voter.

12,540. Was that an old score?—No.

12,541. Those were both voters, were they?—Yes.

12,542. Thomas Bennett Hill?—He is a voter.

12,543. 5*s.*?—Yes.

12,544. Timothy Lawrence?—He had 10*s.*

12,545. He is a voter?—Yes.

12,546. Robert Harrison, China Lane?—He is a voter.

12,547. 1*l.* 13*s.*?—Yes.

12,548. I see that includes his fare; what was that?—His fare from Richmond, in Yorkshire.

12,549. Then there are expenses at public-houses, 7*l.* 7*s.* 3*d.*; sundry expenses for voters, 4*l.* 18*s.* 9*d.* That is the whole of your preliminary expenses, is it?—Yes.

12,550. What is the next blue paper you have given us? Are these the payments to voters?—Yes.

12,551. The first is Thomas Bindless, No. 85?—2*l.*

12,552. I will ask you first, when did you make out this list?—From this book (producing a book).

12,553. When did you make the entries in that book?—This was made at the time of the election.

12,554. What was the 2*l.* to Thomas Bindloss for? Was it for his vote?—For his vote. A person that they called Harrison—I think his name is William Harrison—said there was himself and Bindloss and Wright. I asked him on the evening of the nomination what they required for their votes. He said, "Nothing," and that they were quite willing to go the next morning to vote. After that I made him a present on my own account. I thought I should do quite right in giving them 2*l.* each.

12,555. Is that Thomas Bindloss at Penny's Hospital?—Yes, at Penny's Hospital.

12,556. Paid after voting?—He got the money before; at least, I fancy so. Then George Blezard, Sun Street, No. 101.

12,557. What is he?—A painter.

12,558. 2*l.*?—Yes.

12,559. William Cumpsty, Castle Hill, tailor?—12*l.*

12,560. William Fawcett, No. 259?—China Lane, 10*l.*

12,562. Christopher Foster, No. 262?—China Lane, bookkeeper, 5*l.*

12,563. James Gardener?—Thomas Foster you will have next. The boy, in writing the list out, omitted it, and I think you will find it at the end of the freemen, before you come to the householders.

12,564. He is No. 271?—Yes.

12,565. And his price is 12*l.*?—Yes.

12,566. James Gardiner, No. 286?—A plasterer, for expenses from Gloucester; he came from Gloucester.

12,567. 10*l.*?—10*l.*

12,568. No. 301, Edward Garnett?—Coal dealer, 4*l.*

12,569. John Hargreaves, No. 360?—Gardener, 3*l.*

12,571. William Harrison, No. 375 ?—2*l.*

12,572. What is he?—A butcher.

12,573. Was that all he got as a butcher ?—That is one of the three gentlemen that I referred to before—one of the old men.

12,574. Robert Holt Harrison, No. 378 ?—12*l.* ; a nail maker.

12,575. William Harrison, No. 379 ?—13*l.* 10*s.* ; a nail maker again.

12,577. No. 397, George Cooper Hatton ?—Painter, 10*l.*

12,578. Thomas Hatton, No. 398?—A brass founder, 10*l.* 10*s.* for expenses from Liverpool.

12,579. William Hodgson, 4*l.* 2*s.* 5*d.* ?—10*l.* ; a smith ; a blacksmith or whitesmith, I do not know which.

12,580. John Hatton, No. 449?—He came from Manchester, and he stated that it was for his expenses.

12,581. 2*l.* ?—2*l.* ; he was a painter.

12,582. George Romney Ireland, No. 455 ?—12*l.* ; a packer.

12,585. John Johnson, No. 500 ?—A cabinet maker, 5*l.* and expenses from Southport.

12,586. Did the 5*l.* include expenses ?—I do not know. That is what he told me ; that he thought he ought to have 5*l.* for his expenses and his time in coming.

12,590. No. 567, William Masheder ?—A farmer, 10*l.*

12,591. What sort of a house does Masheder live in, do you know ?—I do not know.

12,592. (Mr. Newton.) Is he a householder ?—No, a freeman.

12,593. (Mr. Hill.) Joseph Mason, No. 578 ?—A printer, 5*l.*

12,594. Moses Mawson, No. 584 ?—Husbandman, 7*l.* 10*s.*

12,595. William Ralph, No. 681 ?—A painter, 12*l.*

12,596. What is Moses Mawson ?—A husbandman or gardener. I do not know what he is exactly ; he is here on the list as a husbandman.

12,597. Does he live on Castle Hill or Union Street ?—Castle Hill, I believe; No. 584 is the number.

12,598. The list you gave us was William Ralph, No. 681, 12*l.* ?—A painter.

12,599. Richard Rigg, No. 715 ?—2*l.* ; that is the other old man.

12,600. James Row, No. 726 ?—He stated that was for his house. We had the house ; we engaged the house.

12,601. Did you hold any committee-room there ?—There were several meetings there of freemen.

12,602. To have a drink there ?—Yes.

12,603. And the drink was paid for ?—And the drink was paid for. Perhaps I may be allowed to say that I made a bargain with him for 5*l.*, and by some means or another he made it 10*l.*

12,604. I think we can guess the means without going very far. Thomas Bennison Rowe, No. 729 ?—A painter.

12,605. 10*l.* ?—Yes.

12,606. John Satterthwaite ?—A cabinet maker, No. 733, 10*l.*

12,607. John Simpson, No. 764 ?—A cordwainer, 10*l.*

12,608. William Simpson, No. 767 ?—Yes, a whitesmith.

12,609. 12*l.* ?—Yes.

11,610. No. 814, John Taylor, what is he ?—A cabinet maker, 8*l.*

13,611. No. 820, Thomas Taylor ?—A stonemason, 3*l.*

12,612. No. 831, Thomas R. Thompson ?—A joiner, 5*l.* 10*s.*

12,613. J. W. Thompson, No. 832 ?—Painter, 12*l.*

12,614. William Thornton, No. 838*l.*?—Yes, 4*l.* 10*s.*

12,615. No. 842, Henry Thornton ?—A labourer, 10*l.*

12,616. No. 865, Christopher Towers ?—Whitesmith, 10*l.*

12,617. No. 885, John Watson ?—Gardener, 8*l.*

12,618. No. 929, Richard Willan ?—Upholsterer, 3*l.* That will finish the freemen's list.

12,619. Now give us the householders ?—No. 998, John Bainbridge, 17, King Street, 10*l.*

12,620. Thomas Borrow, No. 998 ?—Marsh Lane, Church Street, is his residence, 6*l.*

12,621. What sort of a house does John Bainbridge, No. 998, live in ?—About 14*l.* or 15*l.* a year.

12,622. Thomas Borrow, what sort of house does he live in ?—He keeps a shop, perhaps that would be about the same value; I cannot say exactly.

12,623. Then No. 1104, John Earnshaw ?—15, Upper King Street, butcher, 12*l.*

12,624. What sort of a house ?—I do not know. I have no idea.

12,625. No. 1,110, James Ellershaw ?—Market Street, 2*l.*

12,626. How came he to be so cheap ?—He might spend that in expenses ; I cannot say ; he was paid on the evening of the nomination. Perhaps he had better tell his own tale.

12,627. Thomas Garnett, No. 1,127 ?—8, Chapel Street, 6*l.*

12,628. What is Mr. Garnett ?—A joiner ; he was in business then.

12,629. No. 1,131, Thomas Gill ?—A brushmaker, 5*l.*

12,630. James Hewitson, No. 1,167 ?—8*l.*, a wheelwright.

12,631. No. 1,176, Edward Hoggarth ?—A coal dealer, 5*l.*

12,632. No. 1,203, Edward Johnson ?—10*l.*, a beerhouse keeper.

12,634. Thomas Miller, No. 1,240 ?—12*l.*

12,635. What is Miller ?—I do not know.

12,636. No. 1,284, Francis Richmond ?—7*l.* innkeeper.

12,637. Do you mean he is a licensed victualler ?—Yes, in Church Street.

12,638. Thomas Slinger, No. 1,311 ?—5*l.*

12,639. What is Slinger?—He kept a shop in Market Street, a kind of fruiterer's shop.

12,640. No. 1,351, Richard Townley?—Innkeeper, St. Nicholas Street, 10*l.*

12,641. No. 1,381, James Wilson ?—That is for expenses ; he will explain that himself, 1*l.*

12,642. Richard Woodhouse, No. 1,387 ?—5*l.*, a tea dealer.

12,643. Do you say that was for expenses ?—I do not know, I am sure ; he told me it was ; I cannot say.

12,644. That is the end of them ?—Yes.

12,645. Expenses at the "Golden Ball" 3*l.* ?—That was cash to the captains on the day of the poll.

12,646. Returned to Mr. Barker, 75*l.* 10*s.* ?—Yes, I do not know whether you have got the 5*l.* that I paid to John King, of Slyne ; I fancy there is a receipt for it.

12,647. I have not got that ; what is he ?—I do not know what he is ; he is not a voter, it was for assistance at Halton, I think, paid this year.

12,648. Anything else ?—Nothing else.

THIRTEENTH DAY.

J. Cross.

11 Sept. 1866.

12,649. Are those all the payments you made?—Yes.

12,650. When did you pay John King. At what time?—Perhaps about the 20th or the 14th of May; I have no doubt I should pay him the same day that I got the money from Mr. Barker.

12,651. In fact you got the 5*l.* for him?—For that purpose.

12,652. You, I dare say, have struck the balance of these; do these balance the 655*l.*?—They do.

12,653. When you returned the balance, you accounted to Mr. Barker as you have accounted to us?—Mr. Haggard was my assistant, and he returned the balance.

12,654. Who is Haggard?—He came from Liverpool. There was a further sum that I received from Mr. Hatch to the amount of 16*l.*; I had forgotten that.

12,655. When?—That was after the election, perhaps three or four days, and I paid 34 staffmen with it, varying from 10*s.* to 5*s.*

12,656. When did you receive it?—I have no date; three or four days after the election.

12,657. 671*l.* you received altogether, 655*l.* and 16*l.*; what did you do with this 16*l.*?—It was paid to about 34 staffmen, I engaged 60 as near as I can recollect, and he paid the remainder.

12,658. Thirty-four at 10*s.* apiece?—10*s.* and 5*s.* There were two at 5*s.* I think.

12,659. 16*l.* altogether?—16*l.*

12,660. You paid 34, but how many did you engage?—I engaged 60 as near as I can tell.

12,661. And who paid the other 26?—Mr. Hatch paid the remainder.

12,662. He paid the other 26?—Yes, we had 60 altogether.

12,663. Is that all?—That is all.

12,664. When did you first arrange with these voters as to the price at which they were to be sold or bought?—The principal part on the nomination evening.

12,665. Where at?—If you refer to the book you will find that I visited, perhaps, about 20 at their own houses.

12,666. And arranged with them there?—And paid them there.

12,667. Did you pay them something in advance, and the balance after they had voted?—No, just the amount they charged for their votes; what we agreed for.

12,668. Did you pay them before they voted?—The principal part I did.

12,669. The principal part of the voters?—Yes; if you will let me look at my list, I will tell you who I paid.

12,670. Do you mean this little book?—Yes.

12,671. You paid some of them something on account of their votes?—That was all they received.

12,672. Do you mean that you did not pay anything to any of them then on account of their votes, and the balance after they had voted?—No, not at all.

12,673. What are the initials against the voters names in the book?—Some of the initials you will find are McCann's; he took several amounts I think for Slinger.

12,674. That is as to the persons by whose hands the money was sent?—Yes.

12,675. You went to the people's houses and arranged what they were to have, and either paid them the money yourself or sent it by other persons?—They got it that night, all that appears in the first sheet there; if you will refer to it you will see "Tuesday evening 11.30."

12,676. Those are what you paid then?—That night.

12,677. Then the next morning, "Wednesday morning 6 and 8," out-district first, and in-district afterwards; what are these that are scratched out?—What are those?

12,678. Cuthbert Lutas?—He returned that; it was paid to Gorst.

12,679. For instance, you paid Henry Thornton 10*l.*; when did you pay him?—That was paid by John Dobson on the day of the poll. I will give you, if you will allow me, a list of the persons that assisted me.

12,680. Do you know that he also received the money from Clark?—So I heard yesterday, in Mr. Clark's evidence.

12,681. Are you quite sure still, having heard the evidence, that you paid Thornton also?—Quite certain.

12,682. And he was paid by Clark as well?—He was.

12,683. Clark paid him 10*l.* also?—Yes, and you have there another man of the name of Mashiter as well.

12,684. William Mashiter, No. 577?—Yes, Dobson received 20*l.* for those two men.

12,685. William Masheder, No. 567; did Dobson pay him?—Yes.

12,686. And Thornton also?—Yes.

12,687. There are two Mashiters?—I paid No. 567, William Masheder.

12,688. (Mr. Newton.) No. 567 was paid by Clark?—I believe so.

12,689. And what did he get?—10*l.*

12,690. Who did Dobson pay?—Only those two Mashiter and Masheder, and Henry or William Thornton.

12,691. How did that come about?—He came to the room about 10 o'clock; he told me they had not voted, and I knew William Mashiter was in my district; and as to Thornton, I sent a note to Mr. Clark that I was going to pay him.

12,692. (Mr. Hill.) Did you pay all the other persons?—No, I paid nothing myself. I only made bargains. I do not think I paid anything myself.

12,693. You say you only bargained with them; who paid the other men?—Shall I tell you the names from this list?

12,694. First of all, before I go away from Henry Thornton, No. 842, 10*l.*, who is Henry Thornton?—A labourer, a labourer or a butcher. I fancy he is a butcher; he is on the list as a labourer, but I believe his business is now a butcher.

12,695. Do you know him by sight?—I do.

12,696. Is it Henry Thornton of Penny Street, labourer?—It is.

12,697. What age man is he?—Perhaps about 45 or 46. I cannot say.

12,698. What do you mean by a laborer?—I cannot say I am sure; he is a labouring man.

12,699. Is he a clerk?—No, he is a butcher, I believe, now at present.

12,700. Are you quite sure of that?—I think so; I am not quite certain.

12,701. You say you arranged with these men for the price of their votes; after you had so arranged with them, what was the next thing that was done with them about the mode of payment?—They came up into the room.

12,702. What room?—A room that I had at the "Golden Ball."

12,703. I presume that those who were paid by you at their own houses did not come up to the "Golden Ball"?—No, I think not. I do not think I saw anything more of them.

12,704. The other men came up into the "Golden Ball" to you?—Yes.

12,705. On the day of the poll?—Yes, in the morning; in fact all day from 7 to 3 o'clock, I might say.

12,706. Who else was in the room at the "Golden Ball?"—Mr. Haggard.

12,707. Anyone else?—No one in particular, only the sub-captains and the voters.

12,708. Whose is the "Golden Ball?"—Burton's.

12,709. In the Market Place?—In the Market Place.

12,710. Who held the money?—Mr. Haggard.

12,711. How were the others introduced to him?—They knocked at the door.

12,712. One at a time?—One at a time.

12,713. Then who brought them up?—Very likely the captain or sub-captain.

12,714. You were inside?—Yes.

12,715. Did they come in with any slip of paper?—No.

12,716. How did you know their names; did you know them all?—I knew them all.

12,717. You had bargained with all of them?—Not before the day of the poll.

12,718. But you knew them?—Yes.

12,719. When they came in did you give their names to Mr. Haggard?—No, I made a bargain, and I think I gave a slip of paper to Mr. Haggard with the amount upon it.

12,720. And the voter's name?—No, no voter's name.

12,721. A piece of paper for each voter as he came in?—Exactly so; just merely as a cheque for the amount. I think it quite possible that I might enter their names into a small memorandum book and on to a slip of paper; I cannot say.

12,722. Perhaps you entered their names in this book?—No, not till the evening.

12,723. You entered it in some memorandum book?—On a slip of paper.

12,724. Then Mr. Haggard gave them the money, one by one, and as he gave it to a voter that voter went out and another came in?—Yes.

12,725. And so they went on till they had done?—Yes.

12,726. Did you remain in the room during the whole of the day?—No, I went to vote first, and left the room, I think, from 1 to 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

12,727. When it got towards 3 o'clock did not the men want a higher price?—I think they had pretty well done in the morning. I think the only man after 3 o'clock was Barrow in Church Street.

12,728. You polled your men early?—Very early in the morning.

12,729. What was it Barrow wanted?—6*l.* he got.

12,730. What did he ask for?—That was what he asked.

12,731. How many public-houses and beer-houses were engaged in your district?—Barton's, the "Golden Ball."

12,732. When were they retained by you?—Perhaps about the 20th of June, as near as I can tell.

12,733. Was the retaining fee paid to them at that time?—No.

12,734. When was it paid?—After the election, with the exception of Rose and Johnson; Rose was paid the evening before, and Johnson on the day.

12,735. How many of them were there; first of all how many licensed victuallers were there in No. 2 district?—There was Barton's.

12,736. What sign does he sell his beer at?—The "Golden Ball."

12,737. What was his retaining fee?—10*l.*, I believe.

12738. He was paid by whom?—By Mr. Hatch.

12,739. Now the next?—Lamb; I believe his name is Robert.

12,740. What is the name of the house?—The "Ship Inn," James Street.

12,741. How much?—I believe 10*l.*, and also there was a bill for expenses at both places.

12,742. You did not pay those bills?—No, I was with Mr. Hatch when he paid them, but I believe he has the vouchers.

12,743. The next?—Thomas Proctor, of "The Volunteer," in China Lane.

12,744. Was that also 10*l.* house?—I believe so.

12,745. Now the next?—James Row, of Chapel Street.

12,746. What is the sign of the house?—I do not know; I think it is the "Dolphin."

12,747. 10*l.*?—10*l.*

12,748. Now the next?—Edward Johnson, beer house keeper, Wood Street.

12,749. No sign?—I do not know the sign.

12,750. Was the beerhouse 10*l.* or 5*l.*?—10*l.*, which he received on the day of the poll. I engaged the "Corporation Arms" for Mr. Clark, but I had nothing to do with the payment of it, and I do not know what he got.

12,751. What is the next?—Would you like the names of the houses we engaged which, after we had engaged them, went to the other side?

12,752. If you please; have you finished the others?—Yes; these six are our own; that is, five of them are, and one of them belongs to Mr. Clark.

12,753. What do you mean when you say "one of them belongs to Mr. Clark?"—The "Corporation Arms;" it was in his district.

12,754. What were the public-houses that you hired that went over to the other side?—There is Fisher's, of the "Wellington Arms," Common Garden Street. Will you allow me to state the terms that we could not agree upon?

12,755. If you please.—10*l.* I agreed with him for, and he wanted to engage the house also on Mr. Schneider's account for 10*l.*

12,756. He wanted 20*l.* then?—Yes, he wanted 10*l.* from us, and he was going to give his other vote to Mr. Schneider.

12,757. Then the house was to be retained for 10*l.* for a split vote, and 20*l.* for a plumper?—No, my agreement was for 10*l.* for Mr. Lawrence, and 10*l.* he was going to receive, he said, from Mr. Schneider; and he also wanted us to have our committee meetings there, but I said it would not do to have two parties in the house; that they would be only wrangling and quarrelling, and so that was the termination of it.

12,758. If he had taken your 10*l.* he was to have voted for Lawrence and Schneider?—Yes.

12,759. Then 10*l.* was to be his retainer for a split vote, and he was to have 20*l.* if he voted for Lawrence only?—No, I never offered him 20*l.*

12,760. And so you did not have his house?—No, I would have nothing more to do with him.

12,761. Now give us the next?—There is Robinson, of the "Bull's Head," that was partly engaged perhaps Mr. Hatch can speak more about that than I can.

12,762. The next?—Lofthouse's, the "Old Sir Simon's."

12,763. You did not try to get the "Old Sir Simon's," did you?—He wanted too much money.

12,734. How much money did he ask?—He wanted 20*l.* he said he had had that offered to him.

12,735. What was the next?—Shall I tell you what we offered him?

12,766. If you please.—15*l.* or 16*l.* I do not think we went further than that I made two attempts at Ball's, of the "Red Lion," in Church Street.

12,767. What did Ball want?—The first time we offered him 3*l.* and then 6*l.*, and he afterwards let the house to the other party.

12,768. Any other?—There was Sanderson, in Chapel Street, had a little to do with it, but that was engaged by Mr. Bull for Mr. Lawrence; he went over to the other side. I do not know the sign. It is Christopher Sanderson.

12,769. Any others?—That is all.

12,770. (Mr. Hill.) What remuneration did you receive for your services?—Not a farthing.

12,771. Are you sure of that?—Quite certain.

12,772. How many days were you engaged upon this matter?—From the first commencement of the election?

12,773. Yes.—I cannot say, perhaps three weeks.

12,774. Away from your own business?—No; I attended to both most of the time.

12,775. You got nothing at all for your trouble?—No, not a farthing. I was something out of pocket.

12,776. That you are quite distinct upon?—Yes.

12,777. (Mr. Newton.) Did you ever see Mr. Lawrence in the course of your canvass?—Yes.

12,778. Did he discuss the matter with you about the prospects of success?—Never at all.

12,779. Did it come to his knowledge in any sort of way, as far as you know, that you were paying away money?—Not at all.

THIRTEENTH DAY.

J. Cross.

11 Sept. 1866.

12,780. You do not know that he did know of it?—I am quite certain he did not, so far as I was concerned.

12,781. What makes you so certain of it?—Because he never mentioned the matter to me at all in any way.

12,782. He might know it and yet not mention it?—I do not know whether he knew it or not. We had no conversation upon anything of the kind.

12,783. Were you engaged or employed in the election of 1864?—Is that Mr. Saunders's election?

12,784. Yes.—Yes, I was a little engaged in that election.

12,785. In what capacity were you engaged in that election?—I assisted on the day of the poll, that was all.

12,786. Were you a captain yourself?—No. I think I had a list given to me.

12,787. What for?—Of men.

12,788. What for?—A list of those that required paying.

12,789. That was in 1864?—Yes.

12,790. Who had given the list to you?—I do not know; I got it at the committee room I fancy, but I cannot recollect who gave it to me.

12,791. Did you keep that list on until 1865?—No, not at all. I destroyed it immediately.

12,792. Do you know whether it was the same class of voters in the list of 1864 that you paid in 1865?—Partly the same class, only a smaller amount.

12,793. What was the average price in 1864?—2*l.*, 3*l.*, and 5*l.*; not higher than 5*l.*

12,794. When was the first time in the election of 1865 that you were asked by any voters as to the price you were going to pay?—I think I had an agreement with one man, perhaps about a week before the election, of the name of John Simpson.

12,795. About the price?—Yes, I fixed the price.

12,796. What was the price you fixed then?—I fixed 5*l.*

12,797. Did he raise his demand?—Yes, he raised his demand to 10*l.* I do not know how it was done I am sure, nor his reason; perhaps he will explain it himself.

12,798. I can see why; because he found out there was money on the other side and other voters were getting it?—Very likely it was so.

12,799. That was the first time you mentioned the price before the election?—Yes, that was about a week before the election that I made that bargain.

12,800. As the time drew near were the demands very great upon you for money?—No, I do not know that they were, only the whole lot expected money.

12,801. What made you go and visit these voters at their houses on the night of the nomination?—So that I might settle with them.

12,802. What made you go?—I had a reason.

12,803. That is just what I want to get at.—I will take Woodhouse, he was one.

12,804. But I want it generally; what was the reason you went to these people at their houses that night?—I knew Woodhouse wanted money.

12,805. What made you go all together, were you told by anybody?—No, not at all, only having the management of the district, that was all.

12,806. Then take Woodhouse?—I had visited him previously, and I was certain from his conversation that he would not vote unless he had money. He told me he had spent a good deal in the country and his bargain was 5*l.* I tried to persuade him to the contrary, but it was of no use.

12,807. Did you go to the other people in the same way?—I went to Row after that. I knew I had an agreement there of 10*l.* for his house.

12,808. Did they come to you or did you go to them in the first instance?—On the evening of the nomination?

12,809. Yes.—I went to them.

12,810. Of your own accord?—Yes.

12,811. You had received directions to do that from someone?—Only having the management of the district I thought it was part of my duty.

12,812. To go and buy these votes?—Yes, exactly so,

12,813. Your discretion was to go and buy if you could?—I knew those that would require buying.

12,814. (Mr. Hill.) What was the gross number of voters you bought?—About 58 I think.

12,815. 60 I make it.—There are two that you will have to take out as having been paid for expenses, Wilson and McCann, and perhaps Ellershaw.

12,816. You mean there are two or three to whom you did not give money for their votes but only for expenses?—Yes.

12,817. Deducting those two or three all the rest of the 60 you bought?—Yes.

12,818. We may say that you bought 57 or 58?—Yes.

JAMES HATCH sworn and examined.

J. Hatch.

12,819. (Mr. Barstow.) What are you?—A joiner and builder.

12,820. Where do you live?—Queen's Place, Lancaster.

12,821. You were a Conservative captain at the last election?—I was.

12,822. What was your district?—I was No. 3 district. Mr. Cross has made a slight mistake with regard to that. The Assembly Room district was No. 3, and not No. 2, as Mr. Cross said.

12,823. (Mr. Hill.) What was No. 2 district?—The Boys' National School.

12,824. (Mr. Barstow.) We understand you received 100*l.* from Mr. Wilson Barker on the 11th of July?—I did.

12,825. Did you receive any other money for the purposes of the election about that time?—I received from Mr. Cross, as he stated, 7*l.* 5*s.*, and on July the 11th from Mr. Wilson Barker 100*l.*, and after that from Mr. Wilson Barker the sum of 22*l.* 13*s.* 7*d.*

12,826. That was in the course of this year?—January the 5th. I might say that I really received 24*l.* 14*s.* 7*d.*, but I immediately returned to Mr. Barker 2*l.* 1*s.*, which left a balance of 22*l.* 13*s.* 7*d.*, as Mr. Barker stated.

12,827. Are we to understand that that is the whole sum you received for the purposes of the election?—Yes, the whole sum.

12,828. Altogether making what?—129*l.* 18*s.* 7*d.*

12,829. Now please to tell us how you disposed of that money?—I paid for staff men and expenses in Lancaster previous to the election 3*l.* 2*s.* 7*d.* I may say that the reason my expenses are so small is, Mr. Cross being my copartner in the matter it was intended that he should have the whole cash transactions, all the money was to pass through his hands; however we found a difficulty in doing it afterwards, and I managed some part of it. Still, previous to the election, I spent at Heysham, and on the day of the election as well, 1*l.* 18*s.* 4*d.* Then I paid John Mashiter, of Heysham, previous to the election, 2*l.*

12,830. (Mr. Hill.) Was that for his vote?—No; he is a very respectable old man, and has always been very warm on our side. I paid him 2*l.* in two separate sums of 1*l.*

12,831. (Mr. Barstow.) What was that for?—We were at a beer-shop where Mr. Welch and Mr. Wearing had been pretty frequently.

12,832. It was for refreshment to voters?—Yes.

12,833. What was the next payment?—I think that was the whole of the money I paid prior to the election. On the election morning I paid Edward Edmondson the sum of 10*l.* Richard Shaw, I went and canvassed this man, and he candidly told me he was determined to have money, his master was dead, and that he would get as much as ever he could. He got 10*l.* from me, and I believe he got more from the other side as well, which has never appeared.

12,834. He voted for you?—He gave us one vote, and voted for Schneider with the other. No money has appeared with regard to that, but I am quite sure he got the money.

12,835. Have you any information or belief from whom Shaw got the money?—I have not, but I am fully persuaded, from the sums that appear against the Heysham voters, that they are not the true ones. I am sure they have received more money.

12,836. Why do you say so?—Because there were many of them men that were to be bought, and I offered them more than it has been said they have received.

12,837. (Mr. Hill.) You offered them more than they are alleged to have had?—I did.

12,838. (Mr. Barstow.) Have you read the evidence taken before us upon that point?—I took the name of Richard Casson from the "Guardian" supplement. It was stated that he received the sum of 8*l.*

12,839. What did you offer him?—I offered him 10*l.*, and I held out some little inducement that it might be 12*l.*, but certainly 10*l.* I offered him on many occasions. I may say that they took him from me on the nomination day.

12,840. At the time when you offered him money did he say anything to the effect that he could get more on the other side?—He said that he had 12*l.* offered him on the other side.

12,841. Have you ever canvassed the Heysham district before?—I never have. We were told that our opponents were running away with every voter in the place, and, as I had a partner in the matter in the town, I was requested to go down there.

12,842. Do you know how Casson had voted previously, in 1864?—I do not. I was not engaged at that election. I was ill during that election.

12,843. You have said that the other side got him from you on the nomination day?—Yes, they did. I got hold of him again. He was at Lawrence Crook's, of whom you have heard spoken, who keeps a small beershop in the village of Heysham. One of the voters, and a man of the name of Overend, who was a sort of captain, had had some words with the innkeeper there, and the consequence was that Overend would not go to the public-house. His shop was a kind of open house almost, and I went in on the nomination evening, and there they had my man Casson. He was sitting down to tea, and Crook with him, so I sat down too. I told Crook that if he was to come and sit down at my house, and I was at tea, I should certainly ask him to have a cup of tea with me. I do not think he did, but, however, I got it nevertheless, but I could not manage Casson. I saw him off. I tried him in the morning at three o'clock, but I could not manage him at all, and I tried hard too.

12,844. Is there any other voter at Heysham who you know, from your own personal intercourse with him, was offered a larger sum than he is stated in the evidence to have received from the other side?—I believe Overend is—he is put down as having received 9*l.*

12,845. What is your reason for saying so?—I met him on the nomination evening, say 11 or 12 o'clock, and speaking to him about it, Crook came up to us and wanted to know what was the matter with him, and he said if things were not right they should be made right, and I believe from other circumstances which have occurred he received more money than has been stated.

12,846. What did you offer him yourself?—I gave him to understand that if he were to vote with us, he might have 10*l.* or 12*l.*, and I think I perhaps might say more to him, because he was a very active man. He tried to persuade me that he was quite favourable to us.

12,847. Is there anyone else?—Sharples I believe would receive more than has been stated.

12,848. Did you offer him a larger sum?—No, I did not.

12,849. What is Edward Edmondson, junior?—He is a farmer with his father. I am not quite sure that he is living with his father or not. It is somewhere close to the old millhouses at Heysham.

12,850. Now go on to the next voters you paid?—I gave Thomas Jackson 5*l.*, William Mashiter, No. 575, 8*l.* on the day of election, and 2*l.* 3*s.* afterwards.

12,851. He had 10*l.* 3*s.* altogether?—Yes; the 2*l.* 3*s.* was for an account he had at the public-house at Heysham, in treating the voters there. They went wild almost there.

12,852. You took it from him, I suppose, that 2*l.* 3*s.* was for expenses?—Yes, I gave him the 8*l.* on the day of election, and afterwards there was an account at a public-house left of 2*l.* 3*s.*, which he said was spent in expenses for the election, and I paid it to him.

12,853. You did not see the account, I suppose?—No, I did not. I asked the landlord there, and he said there was such an account. That was the whole of the money I paid on the day of election, except 10*s.* to Peter Jackson.

12,854. That is four votes only, in fact?—Yes, that is all, and those are the only votes purchased there.

12,855. (Mr. Hill.) What was the 10*s.* for to Peter Jackson?—He was a kind of clerk on the day of election.

12,856. Was he a voter?—No, he was not.

12,857. (Mr. Barstow.) Are these all the voters you paid yourself?—Yes.

12,858. Represented by 35*l.*?—Yes, and that was all that was paid at Heysham on our side. Afterwards I paid John Jackson, 475, four guineas; he went into the Hayfells after a son of his. I gave it to him some time after the election.

12,859. Where are the Hayfells?—Somewhere about Catton or Settle, I think. The other party sent after him as well, and I believe that money would be expended pretty well by Jackson. He is a very decent man. Then No. 250, Thomas Edmondson, brother to Edward Edmondson, junior; he was engaged during the whole of the canvass, and he stated that he had been several pounds out of pocket, I think about 5*l.*, or something of that kind, and altogether I gave him 9*l.* I made him equal with Jackson.

12,860. You gave him twice as much?—Yes, I did; but Edmondson will explain the money he spent. Very likely he might give some of the other voters some money.

12,861. Do you know how he had been employed at all?—There is a beer-house which I have previously mentioned, called the "Sword Fish Arms," and he was very frequently there. Sharples was there, and Overend was there, and they all used to mix together. We had no particular house there at all.

12,862. How long after the election did you pay it?—I should think it might be two months almost.

12,863. Had you any arrangement with him previously about this?—No, not at all. I think he would have voted for us in any case, but I could not say as much for his brother Edward. His father voted for us too. He is a very respectable old man, and did not receive a farthing.

12,864. Now what is the next payment?—That is the whole of the money I paid to voters. I paid for staff men, non-voters, in Lancaster, on the nomination day and election day, 7*l.* 5*s.*

12,865. How many men did you pay?—I paid them at the rate of 10*s.* generally, 7*s.* 6*d.* and 10*s.*, perhaps 20 of them, not more, certainly. There was a man of the name of Thompson; he came to me and said that he could not get his money anywhere. I was persuaded he had been employed, and I gave him 7*s.* 6*d.*

12,866. Is he a voter?—I am not sure whether he is or not. I paid 2*s.*, the balance of an account, to Kitchen. That was left at the "Wellington Arms;" and I paid to John Cross, for his staff men, 16*l.*

12,867. That is a sum which he has accounted for?—Yes, but still I gave him the money.

12,868 That is to be taken out of your amount?—

THIRTEENTH DAY.

J. Hatch.

1 Sept. 1866.

Yes, I gave it to him a day or two after the election. We had some meetings at the Assembly Rooms, and there were some tables and other things broken, for the repairs of which I paid 1*l.* 12*s.* 2*d.*

12,869. Is that all you know of voters being bribed?—Yes, except what Mr. Cross has stated. I was cognizant of what Mr. Cross was doing all the time.

12,870. Mr. Cross has accounted for the voters that came into your district as well as for his own?—Yes.

12,871. You know nothing of any voters being paid by any strangers?—No, I do not, nor do I believe it. I was very frequently with the managers, indeed I do not know that I omitted many meetings of the committee.

12,872. What public-houses had you open in your district. Would they be the same as those Mr. Cross has given us?—I believe they are the same, but he did not pay those that I am going to mention—Robert Lamb, No. 1,213, a householder; I paid him 5*l.*

12,873. For what did you pay it?—10*l.* for the use of his house, and 5*l.* for breakfasts. It was a committee room for the country more, was that. This is his receipt for the amount. We had agreed previously for the 10*l.*, perhaps a week before.

12,874. This 5*l.* was a bill for refreshments?—Yes, it was. I do not think the man received anything for his vote except the 10*l.*, and you can put what construction you like upon that.

12,875. What else did you pay?—I paid an account of James Row for refreshments, breakfast, and so on, 2*l.* 14*s.*

12,876. Then the man at the "Golden Ball," did you pay him?—Yes, Barton.

12,877. How much did you pay him?—14*l.* altogether; the very best man we had during the whole election, and the cheapest man in the place.

12,878. 10*l.* for the committee room?—Yes, it is an excellent house, too, as well; one of the best houses in the town for the purpose. It was stated when I was in court that that man was taken up in the afternoon; such was not the case, because as soon as ever I got to Heysham, which might be about a quarter to ten, I asked him to go and vote with me, and he went with me directly without any bargaining. He was one of the best voters I ever went with, and I think it only due to him to say so.

12,879. Is that all that you paid for public-houses?—No; Thomas Proctor, No. 1,278, of the "Volunteer." Here is his account: "Committee room, 10*l.*, refreshments, 7*l.*"; but I paid him 15*l.* altogether. The next will require some explanation. It is Robinson, of the "Bull's Head."

12,880. What is his number?—1,292. At that time he was one of my own men. He keeps a beer-house, and I thought we had engaged the house. John McCann, who will be called before you, had a sovereign given him to go and spend at Robinson's. It was one of those nights when a number of the other public-houses were similarly engaged. Cross and I went to visit them. When we got to the "Bull's Head" almost every room was filled with non-voters, and very few voters indeed, and of course we objected to it, and stopped the tap immediately. He gave in a bill afterwards of 3*l.* 9*s.* 4*d.*, and I paid him with a sum of 2*l.*, for which he gave me a receipt free of all demands.

12,881. You paid him nothing for his house?—He went to the other side, but I think no amount has ever been stated as having been received by him, but I am quite sure he would receive a good amount. I never asked him, I was so disgusted with him.

12,882. What is his christian name?—Edward Robinson, Common Garden Street.

12,883. We have no mark against him?—I am sure he would receive a good amount, and so would Fisher, in Common Garden Street.

12,884. Is that all the payments you made at the public-houses?—Yes, it is.

12,885. Those are all that were taken in your district, those that Mr. Cross has mentioned?—Yes, they are. I was with Cross, but I am not aware that he has omitted stating any of the public-houses. In Wood Street there was a beer-house kept by a man of the name of Johnson. I was with Cross, and indeed, when anything was done, we were together.

12,886. Did you receive any remuneration?—None. I had a horse and gig at the election, but it was my own, and it had not got as good teeth as Wilson's.

12,887. It could not eat 20*l.* worth of corn?—Not at the candidate's expense, or anyone's excepting my own.

12,888. In the course of your canvass did you see Mr. Lawrence canvassing?—I did.

12,889. Had you any conversation with him?—Not any whatever.

12,890. Not on the subject of the prospects of success?—No; I do not know that I had any such conversation with him.

12,891. Have you any more to tell us about the other side. You have told us a good deal?—I was told that Mr. Bradshaw had stated that he had offered one of our men 40*l.* in the afternoon.

12,892. What is Bradshaw's christian name?—William Bradshaw. He told a friend of mine, and that friend told me.

12,893. Who is the friend?—He is the second master in a grammar school in Macclesfield. He is not a voter at all. Bradshaw and he were very well acquainted, and had been in the same school in Chester.

12,894. What did he tell him?—That he offered 40*l.* to one of our voters in the afternoon.

12,895. Was the offer taken?—No, it was not taken.

12,896. Do you remember the voter's name?—No, he did not mention the name.

12,897. Have you anything else to say?—It accounts for what Mr. King told me last night that it was their custom to do so, to offer our voters more when they knew they would not poll for them.

12,898. To raise the price to you?—Yes, to raise the price to us.

12,899. You probably did the same thing to them?—I do not think we did. There is one thing I wish to state. I think you have got a false impression from Mr. Cleminson in reading his evidence with respect to municipal matters. He stated that there were 3,000 or 4,000 voters in the town, and he stated that he was well up in the matter. This is the burgess roll for 1865–66, and there are only 1,122 in the whole town.

12,900. What Mr. Cleminson stated was, as far as I remember, that two out of every three of them were Liberals.

12,901. (Mr. Hill.) If I recollect right I put it to him, and he rather adopted what I said?—With respect to paying municipal voters at municipal elections, such as Mr. Cleminson states, it is not the case. I have had to pay for the candidates entirely at contested elections, and what Mr. Cleminson states is not anything like the fact. When I say we have two contested elections, and the whole expense of printing and everything else has not exceeded 5*l.*, you must be quite sure it is not the case.

12,902. You are speaking from your own knowledge?—Yes, from our own side.

Adjourned for a short time.

WILLIAM STOREY sworn and examined.

12,903. (Mr. Newton.) What are you?—A manufacturer.

12,904. Where at?—In Lancaster.

12,905. A manufacturer of what?—A cotton manufacturer and leather cloth manufacturer, American leather cloth.

12,906. Have you any partners?—My brother and my uncle are partners with me.

12,907. Do you trade under the firm of Storey and Company?—Storey, Brothers, and Company.

12,908. You are a Conservative in politics?—Yes.

12,909. And you took a certain part in the election in 1865?—Yes.

12,910. In what district?—I think it was No. 1 district, the Castle ward.

12,911. As a captain?—Yes.

12,912. What part of the town does that No. 1 district comprise?—It comprises St. George's Quay, Church Street, Castle Hill, Bridge Lane, Damside Street, and other small streets.

12,913. What is the best name to call the district?—It comprises the whole of Castle ward.

12,914. That is the Bridge Lane district?—Yes.

12,915. Previous to the election how much money did you receive for the purposes of it, and who from?—I have two balance sheets here; perhaps you will be kind enough to take one of them while I refer to the other (producing two papers, one of which is handed to the Commissioners).

12,916. Tell us the first item, the monies received?—On the 25th of June, received from G. C. Clark 10*l.* On the 27th, 50*l.* from the same party. On July the 10th 45*l.* from the same party. July the 11th, from Mr. Wilson Barker 30*l.* On the 22nd from the same party 40*l.* The other sums are after the election.

12,917. Tell us them; the 22nd was after the election?—January the 4th this year, 71*l.* 2*s.*

12,918. Who from?—Mr. Wilson Barker. April the 12th, 18*l.* from the same party. That is all; Mr. Stanton, my deputy captain, returned to me 25*l.* 5*s.* 9*d.*

12,919. When did you receive that?—I have no date, but probably the captain will be able to tell you when he is examined.

12,920. Do you think it was previous to or since the election?—I believe it was after the election.

12,921. Can you tell me when you made this balance sheet out?—It was made out a few days ago, from a memorandum book I have here. I rendered an account to Mr. Wilson Barker in a balance sheet just after the election, previous to receiving monies since the election.

12,922. When did you make out this balance sheet?—This is a copy from an old balance sheet that I rendered after the election.

12,923. Why was it necessary to make a copy?—Simply because I wished to make it much plainer, so that you might have a copy of it.

12,924. Who assisted you to make it out?—This was made out by my clerk. The items given here are in more detail.

12,925. When was the whole balance sheet made out?—I cannot give you the date, but it was very shortly after the election.

12,926. Has there been any assistance rendered you by any chiefs or captains or heads of the Conservative party in making out this list?—No.

12,927. Then we may take it that these items are copied from a memorandum book?—Yes, made at the the time I gave those sums.

12,928. Have you the memorandum book here?—I have (producing it); I am afraid you will not make much of it, but you will see most of the items; it is a memorandum book for 1865.

(The memorandum book is handed to the Commissioners.)

12,929. Cash paid Cooper, three separate sums making a total of 2*l.* 10*s.*?—Yes.

12,930. June 15th, 16th, and 20th?—Yes.

12,931. Who is Cooper?—Cooper was a man that assisted me in the first instance to canvass, and he afterwards left me.

12,932. Was he a voter?—No.

12,933. What is his christian name?—I do not know.

12,934. Where has he gone to?—I believe he left the town; he formerly was the manager of one of the mills in Lancaster.

12,935. You can tell me if he was employed in any other way during the election except to canvass?—I believe not.

12,936. Not as far as you know?—Not as far as I know.

12,937. I see a small item to a man named Ralph?—A voter.

12,938. 2*s.*?—2*s.*

12,939. Then Greenall, in two different sums?—2*l.* 10*s.*; he was an assistant; he was a voter.

12,940. Is Ralph a voter?—Yes.

12,941. What was the 2*s.* for?—I daresay it would be for drink.

12,942. And Greenall was a voter too?—Greenall was a voter.

12,943. What is his number?—I do not know.

12,944. Is it William Austin Greenall of New Street?—Yes.

12,945. What was that for?—Greenall was engaged in going about canvassing, and I suppose this was for sundry expenses attending the canvass.

12,946. How much?—2*l.* 10*s.*

12,947. Then come two items, Storey and Hodgson?—Mr. Joseph Storey was a brother of mine and he assisted me in my district occasionally.

12,948. What was Hodgson?—Richard Hodgson is an innkeeper in China Lane.

12,949. 5*l.*?—5*l*; I gave this in the committee room in the "Royal Oak," by the instructions of C. T. Clark; I understood that he was going down to Bare and Torrisholme to look after some voters there.

12,950. Then there is J. Harrison?—This is John Harrison; he is a voter.

12,951. What is his number, do you know?—I do not know; I have not taken the precaution to put the numbers down, St. Mary's Place I think; it is John Harrison, a joiner, 15*s.*—2*l.* 10*s.*

12,952. That is 3*l.* 5*s.* altogether?—3*l.* 5*s.*

12,953. What was it all for?—He came and represented that he had been money out of pocket and was going round among the voters.

12,954. Was he a canvasser?—He assisted a little I have no doubt.

12,955. Was it for his vote?—No.

12,956. Gorst, what is his christian name?—I do not know.

12,957. A voter?—Of Church Street; this was to go down to Overton to look after some voters there; expenses to Overton.

12,958. Bagnell 5*l.* in different sums?—He is a druggist in New Street.

12,959. Was that for his vote?—No, he was an assistant of mine in my district; this was for sundry expenses incurred I have no doubt among the voters, 5*l.*

12,960. Then there is Sandon 10*s.*, who is he?—I believe he is a non-voter; he was a man that was generally at my committee room pointing out the voters that came.

12,961. Then there comes Procter, W.?—William Procter, a tailor and draper in New Street.

12,962. What was that for?—That was for sundry expenses incurred.

12,963. What is Procter?—A tailor and draper.

12,964. Then T. Procter?—He is a man who kept a public-house in China Lane; I think they call it the "Volunteer."

12,965. What was that for?—I suppose it would be for sundry expenses incurred.

12,966. Chambers 1*l.*?—He was one of my sub-captains in the district.

THIRTEENTH DAY.

W. Storey.

11 Sept. 1866.

12,967. What is Chambers?—I think he is a butcher in Church Street.

12,968. Then the next item is J. L. Bradshaw 2*l.*?—Yes.

12,969. Of Market Street?—Of Market Street.

12,970. What do you suppose that was for?—He was very active in the canvass, and I suppose it would be for expenses.

12,971. Then Jackson 1*l.*; what Jackson is that?—I rather think that Jackson kept the "White Horse" at the bottom of Church Street, but I am not quite sure.

12,972. What would that be for?—I suppose it would be for sundry expenses.

12,973. And then there is a Mr. Pimm?—This is a voter; I suppose this would be given for drink.

12,974. For refreshments?—Yes.

12,975. What Pimm was it?—I think his name is Christopher Pimm; he is a freeman I believe.

12,976. Bond for services?—10*l.* 5*s.* You will notice there is a cross there; I have the receipt here.

12,977. What Bond is that?—He keeps a jerry shop in Bridge Lane.

12,978. What is the name?—William Bond I think his name is.

12,979. Can you give me the name of the jerry shop?—I think it is the "Free Mariners," if I remember right.

12,980. 10*l.* 5*s.* for his services, what does that include?—I suppose that would include his vote as well; he was a very active man in my district in looking after the voters.

12,981. Then Bannister 1*l.* 10*s.*, what is that for?—That would be for sundry refreshments at his house; that was my principal committee room.

12,982. Where was your committee room held?—At the "Sun Inn."

12,983. Now we come to Whitaker for vote?—Yes, that was a Mr. Thomas Whitaker, formerly a tailor and draper in Lancaster, he paid a man 5*l.* for his vote, and I handed the money over to him.

12,984. Not for his own vote?—No.

12,985. Do you know who the voter was?—I do not know. Whitaker is now in London.

12,986. What is he doing in London?—He has taken premises in the West part of London somewhere.

12,987. What sort of business?—A tailor and draper.

12,988. Do you know whereabouts in London?—I cannot give you his address at present.

12,989. How many staff men and how many runners had you?—I do not know; I did not keep an account.

12,990. What did you pay them apiece?—Some five shillings, some half a crown, and some ten shillings.

12,991. You must know pretty well how many there were?—I can tell you; there was a man that I paid 15*l.* to and he returned this list (producing a paper), the amounts that he paid for staff men.

12,992. About how many names are there on that paper?—57.

12,993. 57 staff men and runners?—Yes.

12,994. You paid them 15*l.*?—15*l.*

12,995. You paid that by Bowker?—Yes.

12,996. Then the next item is 3*l.* Stanton?—The next item is 3*l.* which I gave to Mr. Stanton, and 4*l.* I believe I paid some of this myself, and some I believe was paid to other captains, but I cannot tell you exactly how it was expended.

12,997. That is 3*l.*, 10*l.*, and 4*l.*, making in all 17*l.*?—Yes.

12,998. Give it as near as you can?—I believe it was spent among those parties who were engaged at my committee room and other parts of the town in my district; I have got a book here with a list of names, but there are no sums put down.

12,999. Then the next item?—You must recollect that Stanton did not pay those sums: I see my clerk has put them down as 10*l.* paid by Stanton, but I believe I paid a good portion of this myself; but I did not keep a good account of the amounts or of the sum I paid.

13,000. This looks as if you paid Stanton 17*l.* for runners?—Yes; I did not notice till this morning that in copying the list my clerk had put it down to Stanton, but I knew I paid those sums, and I daresay you will find those items marked down in my memorandum book there.

13,001. (Mr. Hill.) Here is Mr. Stanton for twelve workers 12*l.* 6*s.* 3*d.*, that is scratched out I see?—Yes.

13,002. (Mr. Newton.) Then the next three items are 5*l.*, 10*l.*, and 10*l.*, making together 25*l.*?—Those are paid to Stanton.

13,003. What was that for?—He was my deputy captain, and he had sundry accounts to pay.

13,004. Then there comes again July the 5th, cash paid Stanton?—8*l.*

13,005. What was that for?—To pay sundry accounts.

13,006. Can you give us no better account of that?—No; Mr. Stanton will be able to render an account of what monies he disbursed.

13,007. Then there is another sum of 6*l.* on the 7th of July, 20*l.* on the 10th of July, and 20*l.* on the 11th?—Yes.

13,008. Then Bannister 45*l.*?—That was paid through Mr. Stanton, I have no doubt he will have the receipt.

13,009. Who is Bannister?—He was the landlord of the "Sun Inn."

13,010. You paid that on the 3rd of January 1866?—Yes.

13,011. Who is Bannister?—An innkeeper at the "Sun Inn," in Church Street, where I had my committee-room.

13,012. Then the next item is the 3rd of January?—Yes, Mrs. Mallady, that was paid by Stanton.

13,013. Who is Mrs. Mallady?—She kept an inn on the quay, called the "Packet Boat Inn" I think, or the "Custom House Tavern," 9*l.*

13,014. What was that for?—This would be for refreshments, I suppose.

13,015. During the election?—During the election.

13,016. Then the next item is Hodgson on the 12th of January?—That also was paid by Stanton, 18*l.*; this man sent me in a bill of 49*l.*, and my captains told me it was rather a swindle, and I would not pay him.

13,017. What house did Hodgson keep?—He kept the "Black Bull" in Church Street.

13,018. And you beat him down to 18*l.*?—Yes.

13,019. Then you go back in this account to July?—Yes.

13,020. July 1865?—Yes.

13,021. And it seems that you paid Jackson?—That was Jackson at the "White Horse" for a vote. You notice there is a cross there, and here is a receipt for the money; I suppose it would be for a vote.

13,022. Do you know the name of the voter?—To cash paid to John Bland of Forton, 3*l.* 10*s.*

13,1023. You got that vote for 3*l.* 10*s.*?—I suppose so, he sent in a bill for that.

13,024. (Mr. Barstow.) Bland, John, of Forton, gentleman?—I do not know whether it would be for his vote or not, I put it down here as such.

13,025. (Mr. Newton.) Then Jackson, workers, what is that?—2*l.* 10*s.*

13,026. What is that for?—I suppose men who had been assisting in the canvass.

13,027. Then vote J. Storey?—It was 3*l.* I gave to Storey. I understood it was to give to Jackson for another vote.

13,028. Could you find out that man's name?—I do not know the name.

13,029. Then the 29th of July is the next item. 4*l.* for a committee room?—Yes.

13,030. Is that at the "White Horse?"—Yes.

13,031. Refreshment at the committee room I suppose, 1*l.* 19*s.*?—1*l.* 19*s.*

13,032. Then use of house, &c., 27*l.* 11*s.* 1*d.*?—Yes.

13,033. There is a cross put to that?—I have a receipt for that.

13,034. What house is that?—The "White Horse."

13,035. Is that in addition to the committee room?—It is in addition to the 4*l.* that was paid for the room.

13,036. Does that include Jackson's vote?—I do not know I am sure.

13,037. The amount altogether is 27*l.* 11*s.* 1*d.*?—It is a noted house, a great many country voters call there for refreshments I suppose, I did not go down myself there.

13,038. Mr. Jackson got a pretty good haul, he got 42*l.*?—Yes, he was a very active man in the canvass, and a great many parties I believe went there to get refreshments and drink, and so on.

13,039. Then there is Bond?—Robert Bond.

13,040. What house would that be?—The "Three Mariners"—3*l.* for the house, and 3*l.* 14*s.* 6*d.* for refreshments.

13,041. 6*l.* 14*s.* 6*d.*?—Yes.

13,042. Then R. Harrison?—That is Richard Harrison, he was one of the sub-captains I believe.

13,043. Where does he live?—I think he lives in Damside Street, a voter; paid on the 12th of July; I have got his receipt here.

13,044. What is that for?—Sundry monies paid for voters, 5*l.* 16*s.*

13,045. Treating voters?—I suppose it would be for that.

13,046. Where does Richard Harrison live?—I think he lived in Damside Street.

13,047. He got 5*l.* 16*s.* 3*d.*?—Yes.

13,048. Then incidental expenses?—14*s.* 11*d.*

13,049. According to your table that makes up 289*l.* 7*s.* 9*d.*?—Yes.

13,050. Are those all the payments you made?—Those are all the payments I made.

13,051. And all the money you received?—Yes.

13,052. Then it seems to me you paid nothing for votes yourself?—The only sums I paid for votes were to two voters, that was 6*l.* I paid to John Miller, a cabinet maker, who had been active in our district canvassing, partly for his services and partly for his vote.

13,053. That is not included in this list?—No, I got it from the stranger that was in my committee room that was paying money to the voters; that will be in the list that my sub-captain will very likely have.

13,054. What is his name?—Stanton.

13,055. What is the voter's name?—John Miller.

13,056. Is it No. 591, Moor Road, Lancaster, cabinet maker?—Yes.

13,057. How much did you pay him for his vote?—6*l.*

13,058. And who was the other voter?—The other was a man of the name of Riley who keeps the "Mitre Inn."

13,059. Stanton gave you the money?—No, it was the stranger.

13,060. Stanton paid him?—I paid him, the stranger gave me the money.

13,061. Where?—He was introduced to me the night before the election.

13,062. Where at?—At the "Sun" Inn.

13,063. It was at Bannister's house where the stranger was?—Yes, at Bannister's, the "Sun" Inn.

13,064. When he came there who was he introduced to you by?—I do not know, I met him in the "King's Arms" entrance hall the night previous to the election.

13,065. Shall we find out his name in the course of the inquiry?—Very likely, I daresay Mr. Barker has given you his name; he gave you a list of names that came from Liverpool.

13,066. There need not be any mystery about it at this time of the day?—If I knew his name I should be very glad to tell you, but his name was never mentioned to me and I never inquired afterwards.

13,067. You must have known?—If I had known I should have told you.

13,068. Do you really mean to say that there is a mystery about it now?—No. I should have been only too glad to have given you his name if I could have done so. I do not suppose there will be any difficulty in getting it.

13,069. You might just as well have found it before you came here?—I do not think I could. I did inquire of one or two parties.

13,070. You will have to come here another day.—Very well.

13,071. He was introduced to you at the "King's Arms?"—Yes.

13,072. And then he went with you to the "Sun" Inn and gave you the money?—He did not give me any money except for those two voters.

13,073. Miller, and who was the other?—A man named Riley who keeps the "Mitre" Inn.

13,074. What Riley is it?—George Cleminson Riley, I think his name is, of Marton Street.

13,075. He did not vote for you after all?—It is the same person that Mr. Wise spoke about the other day; he sent in a bill for 18*l.* 17*s.*, and my captains told me they thought he would be well paid with 18*s.* He came down with one of my men one afternoon and told me that if I would give him 14*l.* he would settle the bill for that and give a plumper for Lawrence, and the party that was with him would guarantee that he would do so; he was one of my men and I thought I could rely on their honesty; they went off together after he had got the money, and about 3 or half-past 3 word came to me that this man would not vote; so I went up to the "Mitre" Inn, and when I got there he was surrounded by a lot of publicans on the other side and I asked Riley to let me have a few words with him in a private room, and I took him out and reasoned with the man and tried to persuade him to go and vote; and I have no doubt that he would have done so, but up came Stephen Wright Wearing and Thomas Wise with a posse of 20 or 30 roughs and dragged him out of the house and put him into a carriage, and I believe Wise got into the carriage with him and drove him off.

13,076. Where was he driven to?—According to his statement I think they took him to the "White Horse."

13,077. They polled him?—I did not know where they had taken him till Wise made a statement the other day about it; they said there was 10*l.* lying on a form by the side of him and I suppose he would get that.

13,078. You paid him 6*l.*?—I paid him 14*l.* for his bill instead of 18*l.* 17*s.*

13,079. I understood you to say 6*l.*?—No, I paid 6*l.* to Miller.

13,080. At what time in the day did you pay him the 14*l.*?—About half-past 1 or 2 o'clock. I am not sure as to the time.

13,081. Was the stranger at the "Sun" Inn all that day?—Yes, he came there in the morning and he remained there till about 2 or 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

13,082. Did he appear to have much money?—Yes, I have no doubt he had. I do not know the amount.

13,083. Was there anybody of your party besides yourself with him?—I believe my deputy captain was the party that had to do with the voters that came in.

13,084. He worked the oracle?—Yes; I have no doubt he would be able to give you information.

13,085. Stanton?—Stanton.

13,086. Did the stranger seem to do business with voters in general?—No, I suppose he did nothing but pay the amount of money that was sent in for.

13,087. Suppose Stanton does not know his name?—It is possible I could furnish you with the name to-morrow.

13,088. I think you might if you tried?—I will try to do so.

13,089. With these two exceptions these are the only two votes you bought?—They are the only ones I had anything to do with in the way of bribery.

13,090. You did not mix yourself up with it?—No. I was a novice; this was my first attempt at electioneering, and I threw the burthen of the duty on the shoulders of my captains.

13,091. What public-houses did you visit in your district?—The only houses that I visited were the "Black Bull," the "Sun" Inn, and Bond's, the "Free Mariners."

13,092. Did you engage those houses or did Stanton engage them?—I think Stanton engaged them in my name.

13,093. Who paid for them?—I should pay them in those accounts.

13,094. In those accounts that you have given us?—Yes.

13,095. Was any sum specified at the time you engaged them?—No.

13,096. Were there any more than those?—No, I do not recollect any more; if there are any more my sub-captain will be able to tell you.

13,097. He will know better than you, will he?—Yes, I have no doubt he will.

13,098. Did you get any remuneration or anything for all this work and trouble?—For my services do you mean?

13,099. Yes.—No, not a farthing. I am money out of pocket I daresay.

13,100. Can you tell us of anything on the other side that has occurred that we have not heard of?—No, I cannot; I did very little at canvassing.

13,101. But on the day of the election and the day of nomination?—I do not know that I was in the enemy's camp.

13,102. Except this little matter of Mr. Riley?—No.

13,103. Did you see much of Mr. Lawrence during the election?—I saw him once or twice, but not to have any conversation with him.

13,104. Did you know him before he came in?—No.

13,105. Had you no conversation with him?—No.

13,106. Would Mr. Lawrence know that you were one of his captains?—I do not know.

13,107. And that you had the command of some money?—I do not suppose he would.

13,108. You only paid 57 staff-men and runners yourself?—I did not pay them, a man named Bowker paid them.

13,109. And Stanton engaged others besides?—Stanton paid a few and I think I paid a few, but I did not keep a correct account of the parties or of the sums paid; they came promiscuously to me.

13,110. Can you at all tell how many Stanton paid?—No, I cannot.

13,111. Had he as many as Bowker?—I do not know, I cannot say.

13,112. Do you think he had?—I really could not say.

13,113. Were there another 50 besides what you paid?—There would be another 50 to pay besides what Bowker paid.

13,114. (Mr. Barstow.) What we want to know is about how many there were?—Probably there might be another 50.

13,115. (Mr. Newton.) They were non-electors, were they not?—Non-electors, I believe.

13,116. Can you undertake to say that there were 100 altogether?—Probably there would be, more or less; I could not say for a certainty.

13,117. (Mr. Hill.) In your book, after putting in the accounts of what you have received and what was due to you upon the election, there is an entry, "No. 300, Gardner 10*l.*" What does that refer to?—There are two items there, 10*l.* and 8*l.*, I think.

13,118. One to a voter named Gardner and the other to a voter named Sykes?—Those are sums I received from Stanton.

13,119. Have you told us about them?—Yes, that is included in the 25*l.*

13,120. Does it mean received from Mr. Stanton 18*l.*?—Yes.

13,121. And were those two items made up of Gardner's 10*l.* and Sykes' 8*l.*?—Yes, I gave you the net sum.

13,122. You say that that sum was made up of a sum of 10*l.* received from Gardner and a sum of 8*l.* received from Sykes?—Yes.

13123. What were those paid to you for by Gardner and Sykes?—They were monies, I believe, that should have been paid for votes that Stanton received.

13,124. But you have not said anything about that?—No, because I think my sub-captain will be able to give you information about it.

13,125. How came you to enter them in your book, Gardner and Sykes?—I simply put them down and Stanton returned me the money.

13,126. But you knew about them yourself?—Yes, but I thought it better that Stanton should explain it.

13,127. When you are asked questions about this election you should tell us all you know about it, and not keep back anything?—I do not intend to do anything of the sort.

13,128. Who was John Gardner?—I do not know, they are voters.

13,129. How came Mr. Stanton to return the 10*l.*?—I do not know the circumstances.

13,130. But you remember him returning it?—I remember Mr. Stanton returning it to me, and he said that it should have been paid for a vote.

13,131. Do you mean that this entry only comes to you upon the report of Stanton?—That is all.

13,132. Why did you not leave it in your book simply "Received from Stanton 18*l.*" and not enter anything else?—He gave me the number of the voters at the time, and I just promiscuously put it down at the time.

13,133. Do you mean to say that that was the only reason for putting these two sums down?—It was.

13,134. Who had given these two sums to Gardner and Sykes?—I do not know whether they had received them or not. Mr. Stanton bargained with those two parties for the sums, and he would very likely receive the money from the stranger to pay those voters, and he afterwards returned the money to me; the votes were not paid for, I believe.

13,135. You say very likely Stanton got the money from the stranger to pay them, and that he did not pay them and returned the money to you?—Yes.

13,136. Did Stanton account to you for all the monies that he received?—No.

13,137. Then how came he to return these monies to you?—That was after the election.

13,138. I see your account runs thus: "Received on "account of election 100*l.*, paid on account 126*l.* 3*s.*, "owing to me 26*s.* 3*s.*, received back from Mr. "Stanton 7*l.* 5*s.* 9*d.*, due to me 18*l.* 7*s.* 3*d.*," and then there comes, received from Mr. Stanton 18*l.*?—Yes.

13,239. "No. 300 Gardner 10*l.*, No. 805 Sykes 8*l.*;" do you mean that that money was paid by Stanton to you to recoup you the balance due to you of 18*l.* 17*s.* 3*d.*?—Yes

13,140. Then there was still 17*s.* 3*d.* due to you upon the whole account?—Yes.

13,141. Is that what you mean?—That is what I mean I received sums of money after that to pay sundry accounts.

13,142. Then in fact this account you have given in to day is made out in a different manner from that which you made out at the time?—It is. I give you the total that was returned to me by Stanton, and he no doubt will be able to explain to you how he received that money.

13,143. Where in the account you have given us to-day does this appear?—I do not suppose it appears at all there in detail. I have not put those sums down separately.

13,144. This sum of 18*l.* would have been received by you from Stanton at a certain date?—You mean those two items?

13,145. Yes, making up the one sum of 18*l.*?—Yes, they were returned to me after the election.

13,146. You have given in that account dates at which certain monies were paid to you by Stanton?—Yes.

13,147. To which of those does the 18*l.* correspond, or in which is it included?—I do not think it includes any sum I paid him.

13,148. Tell me on what day you received that 18*l.*?—I cannot say; I have not got the date here when I received the 25*l.* 5*s.* 9*d.* from Stanton.

13,149. Do you mean you put the two sums you have given us together as one?—I put them together as one; I have given you the total amount I received back from Stanton.

13,150. Then do you mean that this would represent the exact state of your account with reference to the election?—No, not all of it. There are several sums of money that I received after the election that I do not think are accounted for in that book.

13,151. You mean in that pocket book?—In that pocket book.

13,152. (Mr. Newton.) But they are all accounted for in the paper that you handed in?—Yes, all the sums of money I received are accounted for in that sheet.

13,153. (Mr. Hill.) Just read me from your pocket book those items on the 18th of July (handing the pocket book back to the witness)?—From Barker 30*l.*, paid workers 15*l.*

13,154. Which item is that?—That is the item for Bowker that I spoke of before for workers or staff men.

13,155. Is that the 57 staff men and runners per Bowker?—Yes, and there is another item of 3*l.* that was paid to Stanton.

13,156. Where does that come in?—I think it comes in among the workers.

13,157. In the Stanton 17*l.* item?—No, I think you will find a sum of 3*l.*

13,158. (Mr. Newton.) Have you asked Stanton anything about these accounts at any time?—No, I thought it better that he should give an account of his stewardship himself.

13,159. There is a sum of 25*l.* 5*s.* 9*d.* which you say you have received at different times from Stanton?—Those are the sums this other gentleman has been speaking about, 8*l.* and 10*l.*, and another item that made up the 25*l.* 5*s.* 9*d.* that I received from him.

13,160. That is the sum you have been just now asked about?—Yes.

13,161. And you say you have never since gone into these accounts with Stanton?—No.

13,162. If you can tell us the name of the stranger to-morrow morning we shall be much obliged to you.—I will endeavour to do so.

PERCY WOLLASTON sworn and examined.

P. Wollaston.

13,163. (Mr. Hill.) What are you?—A clerk in the employ of Mr. Wilson.

13,164. Where at?—Liverpool.

13,165. What is Mr. Wilson?—A shipowner.

13,166. Whereabouts in Liverpool?—In Water Street.

13,167. How long have you been in the employment of Mr. Wilson?—More than 10 years.

13,168. And how long have you been acquainted with Lancaster?—I have known that there has been such a place, of course.

13,169. But I mean how long have you been acquainted with it by coming here and knowing the place?—I do not know the place at all.

13,170. Were you at all at Lancaster at the election of 1864?—I was not.

13,171. When did you first come over to Lancaster on the subject of the election of 1865?—On the day of the nomination.

13,172. What time in the day?—I forget. The nomination was over.

13,173. Was it morning or afternoon?—It was morning I fancy. I really forget the time, but the nomination was over.

13,174. What did you come over for?—I came by the direction of Mr. Wilson.

13,175. What did you come over for is my question?—To do whatever I was told to do by him.

13,176. When did Mr. Wilson give you directions to come over?—By a note received the day before.

13,177. Have you got that note?—I have not.

13,178. What was the effect of that note?—Merely desiring me to come the next morning.

13,179. Did he tell you where to meet him at Lancaster?—I do not think he did.

13,180. Did you know where you were to meet him at Lancaster?—I knew he generally stayed at the "King's Arms."

13,181. Did you know where you were to meet him at Lancaster?—No.

13,182. Where did you go to on your arrival at Lancaster?—To the "King's Arms."

13,183. Why did you go to the "King's Arms?"—For the purpose of staying there. It was the hotel at which I meant to stay.

13,184. Do you say that you did not expect to meet Mr. Wilson there?—No, I had no appointment to meet him there.

13,185. Then you had no reason at all for going to the "King's Arms?"—Nothing particular.

13,186. Did you bring anything over from Liverpool with you?—I did.

13,187. What was that?—Some parcels of money, at least some parcels I should say.

13,188. What was the character of those parcels?—There were four parcels.

13,189. What was the character of those parcels?—They were said to contain 500*l.* each.

13,190. Were they large or small, or what was the character of them? Were they brown paper parcels or bags?—I really forget whether they were brown paper parcels or bags.

13,191. What were you told were the contents of them?—500*l.* each.

13,192. By whom were you told that?—By the person that I received them from, to the best of my recollection.

13,193. Who was that?—W. E. Chambers.

13,194. Who is Mr. Chambers?—He is cashier to our firm.

13,195. When did you receive them from Mr. Chambers?—I believe at the railway station.

13,196. When is my question.—On the morning I left; the morning of the nomination day. I think it was at the railway station; I am not quite certain whether it was at the office or at the railway station, but that is immaterial.

13,197. Where did you take them to when you got to Lancaster?—After going to the "King's Arms" I took them to Mr. Wilson Barker.

13,198. Whom had you seen at the "King's Arms?"—I really do not know whether I saw anybody.

13,199. Had you seen anybody on the subject of the election?—No; to the best my belief I had not. I do not recollect seeing anybody.

13,200. How came you to go to Mr. Wilson Barker?—Such were my instructions.

13,201. From whom?—From Liverpool.

13,202. From whom?—W. E. Chambers.

13,203. What were Mr. Chambers' instructions to you?—To take that money or those four parcels to Lancaster and to deliver them to Mr. Wilson Barker.

13,204. Why did you first go to the "King's Arms?"—To put my bag there and my clothes.

13,205. Did anyone go to Mr. Wilson Barker's with you?—I think there were.

13,206. Who?—Mr. Scanlan.

13,207. Who is Mr. Scanlan?—He was at that time a clerk in our office.

13,208. Where is he now?—With the National Steam Company of Liverpool.

THIRTEENTH DAY.

P. Wollaston.

11 Sept. 1866.

13,209. Who else?—Mr. Eaves.

13,210. Who is Mr. Eaves?—He is a clerk in our office as well.

13,211. At present?—At present.

13,212. Who else? I do not think that anybody else went with me to Mr. Barker's. I do not recollect anybody going.

13,213. Did you hear that Mr. Barker had said there were three or four or five gentlemen, and are you sure that there were only yourself and these two others?—I say to the best of my recollection there were only those two.

13,214. Did anybody else come over from Liverpool with you?—Yes.

13,215. Who were they?—Mr. Bakewell.

13,216. Who is Mr. Bakewell?—A clerk in our employ.

13,217. Who else?—And Mr. Nelson.

13,218. Who is Mr. Nelson?—Another person in our employ. He came over in the same train.

13,219. Both those persons are still in your employ?—They are both still in our employ.

13,220. What did they come for?—To assist at the election I presume. I know of nothing else.

13,221. When you went to Mr. Wilson Barker tell me what took place?—I merely gave him the parcels or left the parcels. I really do not know whether I saw him himself at that time or not.

13,222. Do you recollect having any conversation with him?—I do not.

13,223. When did you see Mr. Barker?—Certainly I saw him during the evening.

13,224. Where?—At the "King's Arms."

13,225. Had you any conversation with him about these parcels?—I really am not sure whether I had or not. I do not recollect.

13,226. Did you say anything about having brought the sinews of war with you?—I may have made such a remark, but I really do not remember having done so. It is very possible I might.

13,227. You were talking I suppose generally about the election matters?—I presume so.

13,228. You have told me that these gentlemen came over from Liverpool with you. Were there any other persons who came over?—Not with me that I know of.

13,229. Were there any others who came over about that time, persons with whom you were acquainted, to assist in the election on behalf of Mr. Lawrence?—No, there were some over here before that.

13,230. Do you know a Mr. Haggard?—I do not, not by name.

13,231. Or Mr. Taylor, he has been mentioned as Mr. T. Taylor. I do not know his christian name?—I do not know him; that is, I have heard that the name of a certain person I saw at the election was Taylor, but I did not know him at the time.

13,232. Where does he live now?—I do not know.

13,233. Have you seen him in Liverpool since?—No.

13,234. Have you never seen him at all since the election day?—Not to my knowledge.

13,235. Is Mr. J. T. Lawrence a brother of the candidate?—Yes.

13,236. Where is he now?—I do not know.

13,237. Is he in Liverpool?—I have not seen him the last month or more, or six weeks. I may say that I have been out of town, and therefore I should not see him.

13,238. You had some talk with Mr. Barker about the election at the "King's Arms" that evening. Was there any money given to you then?—Not at the "King's Arms."

13,239. Was there any money given to you that evening?—There was.

13,240. Where?—At Mr. Barker's.

13,241. You went then to Mr. Barker's in the evening?—I did; that is to the best of my recollection. I think it was to Mr. Barker's.

13,242. Whom did you meet there, to the best of your recollection?—Mr. Barker.

13,243. Anyone else?—I do not think that anybody else was there.

13,244. Nobody else was present?—I do not remember. Yes, by-the-by, I think Mr. Maddock was there at the same time. I am not quite certain whether it was that night or the next morning, the morning of the election.

13,245. Who is Mr. Maddock?—A person from Liverpool.

13,246. He is not one of those who came over with you?—He did not come with me.

13,247. Was he over here on the business of the election?—I believe so.

13,248. Is he a person in the employ of Mr. Wilson?—He is not.

13,249. What is he?—I do not know what he is now.

13,250. What was he then?—He was out of business altogether, I believe.

13,251. When you went to Barker's what was said about money?—I was given a certain sum.

13,252. How much did you receive?—I think 180*l.*, if I recollect right.

13,253. From Mr. Barker?—From Mr. Barker, I think so.

13,254. At that time did Maddock also receive some money?—I say I am not certain whether it was at that time or in the morning.

13,255. You were present when he received some money?—Yes; it was through me he got it.

13,256. What was the next thing you did after receiving this 180*l.* from Barker?—I went out in the evening with some people whom I really do not know. I do not know their names, nor do I know where we went to.

13,257. You went canvassing?—Yes, into one of the villages of the neighbourhood, and I do not know the name of it.

13,258. Was Mr. Lawrence with you?—No, certainly not.

13,259. You know none of the parties that went with you?—No.

13,260. You went with them canvassing?—Yes.

13,261. You saw the voters and treated them?—Yes.

13,262. What time did you get back to Lancaster?—Between 11 and 12.

13,263. And when you got back to Lancaster did you do anything in the matter of the election?—Nothing that I recollect.

13,264. Did you receive any other money?—The next morning.

13,265. At what o'clock?—I really forget how early it was.

13,266. It was early in the morning?—Yes.

13,267. At about 6 or 7 o'clock?—Later than that.

13,268. Eight o'clock?—Somewhere about that time.

13,269. What did you receive?—I think the next sum was 50*l.*

13,270. From whom did you receive it?—From Mr. Barker.

13,271. What was the next sum you received?—100*l.* from Mr. Barker.

13,272. When?—Later on in the morning.

13,273. What was the next sum?—A further sum of 100*l.*

13,274. The next?—The next sum I received was 200*l.* from Mr. John Lawrence, and a further sum of 400*l.*

13,275. From whom?—From a person named Stritzaker I believe it was.

13,276. That was some time in the afternoon of the same day?—Yes, it was.

13,277. Did you receive any other monies?—None whatever.

13,278. Not from anybody during that election?—No.

13,279. I mean for the purposes of the election, of course?—No.

13,280. That makes a total of 1,130*l.*?—Yes, 1,130*l.*

13,281. You have read Mr. Barker's evidence. Those are the sums which he charges you with the receipt of?—I have not read the whole of his evidence.

13,282. You have read it I suppose as far as it concerns yourself?—Yes, I believe I did read that much.

13,283. How did you lay out that money?—In various ways. It is composed of a great many small sums.

13,284. Have you got an account there of the way in which you laid out the money?—Yes, I have. I may say that many of these names may not be correct, I being totally ignorant of the people, and I had to catch their names in the best way I could.

13,285. When you received this money, which you say was at about 8 o'clock in the morning, with the exception of 180*l.*, which you received over night, at what time did you make your first disbursement?—That night I think.

13,286. Where?—At this village which I do not know the name of.

13,287. How much did you disburse at the village?—There were four sums, I think, as far as I recollect.

13,288. What was the sum total of them?—33*l.*

13,289. You say you do not know who went with you at all there?—No, I do not.

13,290. Did you see them engaged in the election afterwards?—Really I do not know whether I did or not; I have not the slightest idea who they were.

13,291. How far was the village from Lancaster?—About a mile and a half I should imagine. I walked there and walked back again.

13,292. I suppose you know in which direction you walked. They did not blindfold you, did they?—No.

13,293. Was it across the river?—No, on this side.

13,294. Did you go up hill?—Yes, I believe, if there is such a street, it was Penny Street we went through, but what is the name of the village we went to I really do not know.

13,295. Whereabouts did you leave Lancaster?—I really do not know indeed.

13,296. Do you know the name of the public-house you went to?—No.

13,297. Nor the name of the person?—No. I have got the names of the persons to whom money was paid or left for them.

13,298. Was it a village called Scotforth?—Really I do not know. I am a total stranger to Lancaster, and I do not know where Scotforth is. There are four names here that I fancy were paid that night.

13,299. Give me the names.—The first is J. Bibby, 5*l.*

13,300. Is that J. Atkinson Bibby, Penny Street?—I do not know.

13,301. Was it on your way out that you paid it?—Yes; that was the first place we called at.

13,302. Did you pay him in his own house or at a public-house?—I do not recollect.

13,303. Who introduced you to him?—These people who were with me who I do not know.

13,304. Did you give it to him for his vote?—I believe that was the object.

13,305. Did you talk to him about it?—No; I merely held the money, and the others did the talk.

13,306. What sort of a man was Bibby?—I have no recollection.

13,307. Was he an old man or young man?—I am sure I cannot tell you. I paid no attention to them.

13,308. Is he a lame man?—I really cannot tell you that. I know nothing of any of the men.

13,309. Give me the other names. Perhaps we shall find out by his company who he was?—The next name I have is Proctor, whether Thomas, James, or John, or what not, I do not know.

13,310. How much did you give him?—6*l.*

13,311. What sort of a man was he?—I know nothing whatever of any of them. I should not know one of them again if I saw them.

13,312. Did you have any talk with him?—I do not know.

13,313. Was this in the same place that you paid Bibby?—I am not sure about that.

13,314. Do you mean to say that you have no recollection about it?—Not the least.

13,315. Your memory is a perfect blank upon that point?—Yes.

13,316. You mean to tell us that?—Yes, I do.

13,317. Did you carry the 180*l.* out with you, or how did you take it with you?—I believe I carried the 180*l.* with me.

13,318. Who was the third?—The next name I find is a man of the name of Thornton.

13,319. Do you know where you saw him?—I do not.

13,320. Was it anywhere near the place where you had seen Bibby and Proctor?—I think it was a little further on, but I am not sure.

13,321. Did you see him in a house or out of doors?—In a public-house I think, as far as I can recollect.

13,322. Do you recollect his appearance at all?—Not the least. They were all strangers to me. I do not recollect the appearance of one of them. I know nothing of the people.

13,323. How many persons were there with you who went on this round?—I am not sure whether there were two or three.

13,324. How much did you give to Thornton?—10*l.* I am not sure whether it was given to him, or left for him provided he would give his vote. I could not be certain whether it was given to the man himself or not.

13,325. Who was the next?—The next is R. Threlfall.

13,326. How do you know his christian name?—He was called "Bob," I think, and therefore I presumed it was Robert.

13,327. Did you have much talk with him?—No, I did not, but I believe the others had.

13,328. Did you pay him in the same place as you paid any of the others?—No.

13,329. Where did you pay him?—I did not pay him at all.

13,330. What money was given for him?—12*l.*

13,331. To whom was that given?—I am not sure whether it was given to his wife, or somebody else to give to the wife when he had voted.

13,332. Cannot you recollect what house Threlfall was paid in?—The money was paid, I think, in his own house.

13,333. Was he present? He must have been present because you heard him spoken to?—No, I do not think he was present.

13,334. Did they speak of him as "Bob Threlfall?"—Yes. The fact, I think, was that he was in some other house, bottled, and he was fetched out.

13,335. While you were there?—Yes.

13,336. You did see him?—Yes, I saw him afterwards.

13,337. What do you mean by "afterwards?"—When he was fetched out. He was not there when I went to the house.

13,338. How long were you in the house before he came?—I was at the door of the house some quarter of an hour or twenty minutes.

13,339. Before he was brought to you?—Yes.

13,340. Did he see the money given?—I really do not know whether he did or not.

13,341. Your memory upon that subject is also a perfect blank?—I do not know whether he saw it given or not.

13,342. Where did you go to next after Threlfall's?—Back to the "King's Arms."

13,343. Are those the only four you paid that night?—Yes, to the best of my knowledge.

13,344. How long were you away?—We were away from between 8 to 11 or half-past. I think it was

THIRTEENTH DAY.

P. Wollaston.

11 Sept. 1866.

somewhere about that time, but I really could not say exactly.

13,345. Where did you go to when you came back to Lancaster?—To the "King's Arms."

13,346. Did you do anything more in the matter of the election that night?—No, I think not.

13,347. What time did you set to work in the morning?—I think about 7 o'clock; between 7 and 8.

13,348. When you got back to the "King's Arms" were there any persons sitting together, and did you discuss any matters of the election?—I think I saw a Mr. Barker there that night, and I think I saw Mr. Coupland, but I am not sure.

13,349. Next morning between 7 and 8 what was the first thing you did connected with the election?—I went to some public-house as directed.

13,350. By whom?—By Mr. Wilson.

13,351. Where was that public-house?—It was in a narrow street somewhere not far from the "King's Arms," but I really do not know the name of the street.

13,352. What was the name of the house?—That I do not know.

13,353. Have you ever been there since?—No, never.

13,354. Who went there with you?—I suppose some one must have shown me the house, but I do not know who it was.

13,355. Who went with you? Did anybody come into the house on the same business as yourself and at the same time with you?—Not that I am aware of.

13,356. Do you say that nobody did?—I think not. I do not recollect anybody.

13,357. When you say a short distance from the "King's Arms" what do you mean, 50 or 100 yards?—Something under 100 yards I should fancy. It might be under 50. I do not know where it was. It was somewhere very near.

13,358. When you got there whom did you meet?—Only the landlord of the inn.

13,359. Who is he?—His name is Hodgson, or something of the kind.

13,360. Did you have any conversation with Hodgson on the matters of the election?—I think not.

13,361. Where did Hodgson show you to?—Into an upper room.

13,362. Was anybody else in that upper room when you went there?—No one.

13,363. Did anybody come to you in that upper room?—Only the voters.

13,364. Who came to you?—Do you mean the first person?

13,365. Yes.—Some man whose christian name is Robert; but I do not know his surname. I could not catch it at all.

13,366. Who mentioned it to you?—Hodgson.

13,367. Then he did speak to you upon the matters of the election?—I did not say he did not.

13,368. He was brought in by Hodgson; is that what you say?—Yes.

13,369. What took place when he came in?—Hodgson bargained with him for his vote, and I paid him the money.

13,370. How much did you pay him?—4*l.*

13,371. And in what way did you pay it?—In gold.

13,372. Did he bring you a ticket or was his name written down, or did you take any account of the money paid to him?—I merely made a memorandum at the time.

13,373. On a piece of paper?—On tablets.

13,374. Had you any one of these lists with you, and did you mark his name off?—No, I never saw one of the lists.

13,375. Who was the next?—I cannot tell you; someone through the same channel whom I paid 5*l.* What the name was I do not know.

13,376. He was also brought by Hodgson?—Yes.

13,377. Did Hodgson appear to you to know them as he brought them to you?—Yes, he knew them all by name apparently.

13,378. Had Hodgson any list of them, as far as you saw?—Not as far as I saw.

13,379. Had he to your belief some list?—No, I never saw one at all.

13,380. What do you say the second man got?—5*l.*

13,381. Who was the third?—I have got his name down T. Hodgson. Whether that is his name, or whether he was paid through Hodgson the same as the others, I really do not know.

13,382. How much did he get?—4*l.*

13,383. Hodgson, the landlord, knows him too?—I think he knows them all.

13,384. Was it some other Hodgson than the landlord?—It might be the name of the landlord; I do not know the man. I might have put his name down to represent something. They were all strangers to me.

13,385. Who was the next?—The next is blank; through the same channel again, 6*l.*

13,386. (Mr. Newton.) Your memory is a perfect blank upon that point?—Yes, perfectly.

13,387. (Mr. Hill.) Who was the fifth?—J. Dodgson, as it appears here.

13,388. Have you any recollection further as to who he is?—Not the least.

13,389. How much did you give him?—4*l.*

13,390. Who was the next?—A person of the name of Bond.

13,391. Have you any christian name to give him?—No, I have not.

13,392. How much did you give him?—3*l.* Then Bleasdale, 4*l.*

13,393. Do you know anything about him?—Not the least.

13,394. Who is the next?—Sharples.

13,395. How much did you give him?—4*l.*

13,396. Do you mean to say you cannot identify these with their christian names at all?—I cannot.

13,397. I know what the consequence will be. You will have to be here when these men are examined to identify them?—I cannot identify one of them. I do not know one of them.

13,398. You will have to be here and try.—I am quite willing.

13,399. Who was the next?—J. Sharples.

13,400. What did he get?—He got 4*l.* as well. Then there are two of the name of Hadwen, each 4*l.* Then somebody who has no name, by Hodgson, 4*l.* Then Curran, that is spelt to the best of my knowledge, I do not know him, 4*l.*

13,401. That would probably be, I should think, Curwen?—I do not know. Then Lodge, 2*l.*; then J. Curwen, 6*l.*; Harrison, 12*l.*

13,402. Have you got any name to him?—No; there were two of them apparently. One got 12*l.*, and the other 10*l.*—have no name to the second. It is merely a blank, and whether it was a Harrison or not I cannot say.

13,403. Then why did you say it was a Harrison?—I merely say it might be. Whether they were brothers, the same as above Hadwens, I cannot say.

13,404. You believe that the second was Harrison?—I fancy so, but I really am not sure.

13,405. What is the next after the blank?—The next is the name of Danson. It appears four times.

13,406. Did you give it to Danson?—Yes, I gave it to Danson.

13,407. You know him by sight?—I fancy I should know him.

13,408. Was this for Danson himself or for persons to be bought by him?—For distribution by him.

13,409. How much did you give him?—First, 40*l.*, 10*l.*, 60*l.*, 50*l.*, and 20*l.*

13,410. Is Danson in court? Is that he (pointing to a person in the body of the court)?—I believe it is.

13,411. You cannot very well mistake him?—Well, no. I should say it is him.

13,412. Who is the next?—The next is J. Sharples again; another J. Sharples, I presume.

13,413. How much did you give him?—10*l.*

13,414. Is that the same J. Sharples as before?—Not that I am aware of.

13,415. Who was the next?—Joseph Sharples, 10*l.*

13,416. How did you get the name of Joseph?—From Hodgson.

13,417. You note them down as Hodgson brought them in?—Yes.

13,418. Where is that piece of paper?—It was an old tablet which I destroyed just after the election.

13,419. Did you make out that list at the time?—Yes.

13,420. From the tablets?—Yes.

13,421. How long ago is that?—Just after the election, at the time I closed up the accounts.

13,422. You kept that list?—Yes.

13,423. Who was next?—S. Shaw, of Bolton. I have a note added to his name, 10*l.* Then J. Bibby again.

13,424. Is that the same Bibby?—I believe not.

13,425. How much did you give him?—10*l.* Then R. Littledale, 10*l.* The next is a blank; whether it would be another Littledale or not I really do not know.

13,426. Which do you think?—I do not know.

13,427. What is your belief?—I should think the explanation would be that I could not catch the name, and I merely put a dash and entered the amount.

13,428. How much did you give him?—10*l.*

13,429. Who gave you the name of Littledale?—I presume Hodgson did. I could not know it without.

13,430. (Mr. Barstow.) There is no "Littledale," a voter on the register?—Possibly not.

13,431. (Mr. Hill.) Was his name "Dale?"—I presume not, as I have got "Littledale," but I really do not know. I merely give it to you as I have got it. I have got another blank next to it, and that may be another Littledale. They were 10*l.* each. Perhaps it might be given to Littledale to give to somebody else.

13,432. Hodgson knew him, whoever he was?—I believe so. I believe all these sums were given in Hodgson's house.

13,433. Who was the next after the blank?—T. Shaw, 10*l.*; J. Jackson, 10*l.*; Danson, 9*l.* 10*s.*

13,434. Is that the same Danson?—Yes.

13,435. Was that for himself?—No, I presume not.

13,436. Why do you presume not?—I understood he was a captain, or somebody in authority at the election; that he got money to give to other people, the same as he got the first.

13,437. Who was the next?—T. Norman, as far as I have got it, 10*l.*; R. Thornton, 10*l.*; Danson again, 72*l.* Then Garnett or Garrett—

13,438. There is no "Garrett?"—It is only a small sum of 2*l.*

13,439. I suppose it was for his vote, whether the sum was small or large. Who is the next?—Dallabella, 10*l.*; J. N. Edmondson, of Poulton. I see I have a vote opposite his name.

13,440. Who was the next?—Danson again, 20*l.*; J. Shaw, ten guineas; Whiteside, 10*l.*

13,441. Have you any name to him?—No. Caton, 10*l.* Then Hodgson—

13,442. Have you any name to him?—No.

13,443. How do you spell him?—I have spelt it Hodson, or it may be Hudson. The names are not very distinctly pronounced, and one might easily mistake them.

13,444. How much did you give him?—5*l.*; J. Bradbury, 5*l.*; Crosshall, 5*l.*; Nicholls, 10*l.*; Pailing, 5*l.*; T. Mashiter, 7*l.*; Cottam, 15*l.*

13,445. Was it for himself?—I really do not know. A. Heald, 7*l.*; Whinray, 8*l.* Those are all the individual voters that had money given to them by me. There is a further sum made up of five or six different amounts, amounting to 180*l.*, which I paid to Isaac Jackson.

13,446. What was that for?—For distribution in the same way.

13,447. Give me the items?—First, 30*l.*, 20*l.*, 50*l.*, 50*l.*, 25*l.*, and 5*l.*, making 180*l.*

13,448. Are those all the sums that you paid?—Yes, those are all the sums I paid.

13,449. At what time of the day did you give these sums to Jackson?—At different times in the day, as he wanted them.

13,450. Who was Jackson?—He is from Liverpool.

13,451. Did he come for the monies himself?—Yes, he did.

13,452. Into the room to you?—Yes; on one occasion I think I left him in the room, and gave him money to distribute while I was away.

13,453. May Jackson have paid some men in the room whose names you have not mentioned?—He has paid this money away.

13,454. What time were you away from the room?—I do not recollect what time, I was away once or twice. I had to go and get some money, and I left him in my place while I went to get some money from Mr. Barker.

13,455. At what time of day did you pay most of these voters. Was it early in the morning, or getting on later in the day?—It was early in the morning, as far as I recollect, that is, before 12 o'clock.

13,456. Did they come in pretty continuously?—Yes, pretty continuously.

13,457. And Hodgson the landlord was there all the time?—Yes, I am not sure that all these people were paid in Hodgson's house.

13,458. Where else did you pay the voters except in Hodgson's house?—There was some money I gave in the street.

13,459. Who brought the persons to you in the street?—Really I cannot tell you who brought them. If I were to meet Mr. Coupland, and he had said, "Give me so much for such and such a person," I should give it to him and make a memorandum of it.

13,460. Have you got any memorandum of it?—They are all down in this list; they follow consecutively in this list, but what I say is, that I will not swear they were all paid in Hodgson's house.

13,461. In whose presence and at whose introduction, besides Hodgson, did you pay any voters?—I really cannot tell you.

13,462. You say Coupland?—I said, for instance, if I had met Mr. Coupland.

13,463. Did you pay any voters except on the recommendation of some person whom you knew?—I think not.

13,464. The only persons you knew were the captains?—Yes, and I did not know all of them.

13,465. Those were the only persons you knew?—Yes.

13,466. You knew Coupland?—Yes.

13,467. You knew Cross?—No.

13,468. You knew Storey?—I know him by sight.

13,469. And you knew him then by sight?—Yes.

13,470. You knew Hatch?—No.

13,471. You only knew Coupland and Storey?—I do not know who the captains were.

13,472. You knew Clark?—Yes, I knew Clark by sight.

13,473. It would be then on the introduction of one of those three, or Hodgson, that you paid voters, and only upon those introductions?—Yes, I think so, but I am not sure whether they did introduce any or not.

13,474. But it was either they or nobody?—Yes, they or nobody.

13,475. What sum of money had you left at the end of the payments?—I had altogether 345*l.* 10*s.*

13,476. To whom did you give that?—I paid it to Mr. Wilson Barker in two sums.

13,477. When was the first payment?—That afternoon.

13,478. What was the first sum?—311*l.* 10*s.*

13,479. And the second sum?—The second sum was 34*l.*

13,480. When was that paid?—I am not sure whether it was paid that evening or at a subsequent day.

THIRTEENTH DAY.

P. Wollaston.

11 Sept. 1866.

13,481. As you paid each of these men did they leave the room?—Yes, they left the room.

13,482. Whether they voted or not you cannot tell?—I cannot.

13,483. Does your list show them about in the order they came?—Yes.

13,484. Your memorandum is copied from a list in the order in which they came into the room?—The order in which I paid them, excepting with regard to Mr. Isaac Jackson. Those are all put together.

13,485. After you had finished paying this money did you go back to the "King's Arms?"—Yes, I did.

13,486. Whom did you meet there?—Really I cannot recollect who I met.

13,487. Was Mr. Wilson there?—I do not know that he was there when I went back.

13,488. Did he come in in the course of the afternoon?—Yes, I saw him there.

13,489. Was Mr. Lawrence the candidate there?—I did not see him.

13,490. Did you not see Mr. Lawrence at all during the time you were over here?—I do not think I saw him during the day of election at all.

13,491. Did you see him on the day of nomination?—As I came from the railway I met him crossing the bridge to the railway.

13,492. Had you any conversation with him?—None at all.

13,493. As far as you know you never met him at the "King's Arms?"—I do not recollect ever meeting him at all there.

13,494. Now be careful, did you bring over any other money, or had you anything to do with any other money except that you have told me of?—I had not.

13,495. That you swear?—Yes, to the best of my knowledge and belief I never touched any other money.

13,496. What do you mean by "the best of your "knowledge and belief," may you have had some and forgotten it?—I do not think it likely.

13,497. Then why do you say "to the best of your "knowledge and belief?"—I do not know of anything else, but you asked me to swear to it positively.

13,498. Yes, I do.—And I say to the best of my knowledge and belief I had no other money.

13,499. Did you hear of any other sums coming from Liverpool at that time?—No.

13,500. Did you see any sums of money paid by Mr. Wilson?—I did not.

13,501. Nor hear of any?—No.

13,502. Did you hear of any money brought over by Mr. Lawrence's brother?—No, I did not.

13,503. Mr. J. T. Lawrence?—No, I did not.

13,504. Did you stay here for any length of time after the election?—Certainly not any length of time, but I am not sure whether I went back the same night or the next day.

13,505. Have you since that time had any conversation with Mr. Lawrence the candidate upon the subject of the election?—I have never spoken to him on the subject.

13,506. Have you never spoken to him at all upon the subject?—I have not.

13,507. Have you discussed the subject of any further monies being paid with reference to this election with Mr. Wilson?—I have not; I know of no further monies.

13,508. You have not discussed the subject with him since the election at any time?—No, I had nothing to do with any money except that which I disbursed myself.

13,509. You say you did not at all agree with any of these voters yourself with regard to the price of the votes?—No, I did not.

13,510. Do I understand from you that Hodgson or whoever brought them to you named the person's name, and named also the price that was to be paid?—Yes.

13,511. And that price you paid without any further conversation?—Yes.

13,512. Both on the night of the 11th and the day of the 12th?—The night before the election and the day of election, I do not know the dates.

13,513. Do you mean to tell me now that going over this list of names you cannot give me any further information with regard to the persons?—I cannot.

13,514. When did you make up that account?—Immediately after the election.

13,515. You have kept it ever since?—Yes, I have.

13,516. Have you discussed this matter over with Mr. Wilson Barker?—No; he had a copy of this list sent at the time I rendered him his balance; I gave him a memorandum, and afterwards sent him the detail. I gave him a certain sum of money back of which I have told you, and then sent a copy of this account.

13,517. An exact copy of that account as it stands?—Yes, an exact copy; it is the only thing I have.

13,518. Have you had that in your custody ever since?—Yes, I have.

13,519. Have you asked Mr. Wilson Barker for his copy?—No.

13,520. Nor compared it?—No.

13,521. Have you not seen it?—No, not since I gave it to him.

13,522. (Mr. Barstow.) In what business is Mr. Lawrence?—I really hardly know; he is an East India merchant I believe.

13,523. He is not in partnership with Mr. Wilson?—Certainly not.

13,524. I mean in Liverpool?—No.

13,525. Is Mr. J. Lawrence in partnership with Mr. Wilson?—No.

13,526. You gave money besides the voters to Isaac Jackson and to Danson?—Yes, I did.

13,527. How came it that you gave money to Isaac Jackson?—Because he came and told me that he wanted money.

13,528. Nothing more than that?—No, he would say, "Give me 30*l.*, 40*l.*, or 50*l.*," or whatever he wanted.

13,529. At different times of the day?—Yes.

13,530. Did he press you for money, or did you give it to him without any pressing at all?—Without any pressing; I knew him very well.

13,531. Did you give the money to Danson without any pressing?—Yes, without any pressing.

13,532. As he required it?—Yes, as he required it.

13,533. (Mr. Newton.) Was there any secrecy about this paying of money?—Nothing more than that the men came up into an upper room.

13,534. You paid some of them in the street?—I am not quite certain whether I did or not; I only say if I paid anything that Hodgson does not know of I must have paid it in that way, but I have no recollection whether I did or did not.

13,535. Are there any other names that you paid besides those that are down on that list?—No, I paid money to nobody else but what you have had the particulars of.

13,536. That list being copied from your original memorandum?—Yes.

13,537. When did you copy it?—Immediately after the election.

13,538. Did you show it to Mr. Lawrence?—No, I never saw Mr. Lawrence at all, I had nothing to do with Mr. Lawrence.

13,539. Did you show it to Mr. Wilson?—I do not know that I did, I sent it to Mr. Wilson Barker, it was he I got the money from.

13,540. Did you go over it with Mr. Wilson?—I think not.

13,541. Did you or did you not? You must know.—How can I tell after the lapse of a year and some months whether I did or did not? I say I do not believe I did.

13,542. You do not think you did?—I do not believe I did.

13,543. Have you been over it with anybody since this inquiry has been talked of?—No.

13,544. You have not?—No.

13,545. Have you discussed the question with Mr. Wilson?—I think not.

13,546. You must know whether you have or have not?—I have not since this inquiry has begun; but if you mean have I ever spoken about the election with Mr. Wilson, it would be absurd for me to say that I have not.

13,547. Have you ever discussed with Mr. Wilson about how much money you paid away since this inquiry has been instituted?—No, he had nothing whatever to do with this list. I got the money from Mr. Wilson Barker.

13,548. You went there by his direction?—Yes, of course I did.

13,549. It was Mr. Wilson's money?—I do not know that it was.

13,550. It was given to you by his cashier; you know Mr. Wilson furnished it?—He furnished some of it.

13,551. Have you seen Hodgson since?—No, I have not seen him from that day to this. I do not see why it should be all Mr. Wilson's money; I received 400*l.* from Mr. Stirzaker, that is not Mr. Wilson's money, and 200*l.* from Mr. John Lawrence.

13,552. You brought over 2,000*l.* from Liverpool?—Yes.

13,553. You talk as if you were an injured man?—No, I am not at all.

13,554. Are we to understand that you have never gone through that list of names with anybody, since the transaction in China Lane?—No.

13,555. That is what you wish us to understand?—Yes.

13,556. And that is the truth?—Yes.

13,557. (Mr. Hill.) You say the money you received from Mr. Lawrence was not Mr. Wilson's money, how do you know that?—I received it from Mr. John Lawrence, I have no reason to know that it was part of the same money that I brought over from Liverpool.

13,558. Who introduced Mr. Danson to you?—I do not recollect.

13,559. Who pointed him out to you and told you that he was a man to whom you might pay money?—I do not remember.

13,560. Was it in the committee room?—I do not recollect. I know I should not give such sums of money without knowing he was a proper person to give it to; where I ascertained the fact I do not know, it might have been at the "King's Arms."

13,561. (Mr. Newton.) Did you sleep at the "King's Arms" that night?—Yes.

13,562. Did Mr. Wilson sleep there?—Yes.

13,563. And Mr. Lawrence?—I believe so, but I never saw him.

Adjourned to to-morrow, 10 o'clock.

THIRTEENTH DAY.

P. Wollaston.

11 Sept. 1866.

FOURTEENTH DAY.

Lancaster Castle, Wednesday, 12th September 1866.

PRESENT:

Mr. Barstow. | Mr. Newton.

Mr. Hill.

Robert Hodgson sworn and examined.

FOURTEENTH DAY.

R. Hodgson.

12 Sept. 1866.

13,564. (Mr. Barstow.) You keep the "Lord Nelson" Inn, in China Lane?—Yes.

13,565. Do you remember the last election in 1865?—Yes.

13,566. Do you remember on the morning of the election a gentleman, who was a stranger to you, coming to your house?—Yes.

13,567. He has told us that you showed him into a room upstairs?—Yes.

13,568. He was there as we all know for the purpose of paying voters?—I believe he was.

13,569. It is said that you introduced the voters to him?—Yes; I introduced a good deal of them.

13,570. Did you know the voters whom you introduced?—Yes.

13,571. How did you introduce them?—I showed them into the room, and said that he would make them right for voting.

13,572. The stranger was in the room by himself, and you showed them into the room to him?—There was two strangers there.

13,573. Were there two strangers in the same room?—Yes; at least there was first one in, and then the other, you know.

13,574. When you ushered each voter into the room what did you say; what words did you use?—They told me what they wanted, and so I said they might go in and get it there.

13,575. That cannot have been exactly what you said; when you ushered any particular voter into the room what did you say?—I introduced him, and told them his name; I said "This is John Sharp," or whatever it was.

13,576. Did you mention the sum of money he was to have?—Yes, that he wants to have so much money.

13,577. Have you a list of those you introduced?—Yes.

13,578. Where did you get your list from?—I had it by putting them down as they went in, you know.

13,579. Who was the first you introduced?—You will take the Slyne voters first; John Sharples 10*l.*

13,580. You have not the numbers there, have you?—No; they are all freemen.

13,581. The next?—Joseph Sharples 10*l.*; Richard Sharples 10*l.*; Richard Sharples, junior, 10*l.*; he lives in Littledale does that one; he is a son of Richard Sharples.

13,582. Now the next?—John Hodgson, 5*l.*; Thomas Wilkinson Hodgson, 3*l.*; Thomas Shaw, 10*l.*; Richard Wadeson, Hest Bank Station, 10*l.*; Robert Bond, Bare, 5*l.*; Thomas Hodgson, 5*l.*; Charles Lodge, 3*l.*; John Lodge, 2*l.*; William Hadwen, 15*l.*; James Dudgeon, 15*l.*; James Bond, 15*l.*; John Bond, 10*l.*; Thomas Curwen, 5*l.*, of Torrisholme that is; James Curwen, 6*l.*; William Whitaker, 10*l.*; John Dean, 12*l.*; Thomas Shaw, of Bolton, 10*l.*; James Bibby, 10*l.*; Thomas Brennand Thornton, 10*l.*; Robert Barker, 10*l.*; Stephen Shaw, 10*l.*; James Shaw, of Warton, 10*l.*; Joseph Croskell, of Overton, 13*l.*; John Croskell, of Overton, 13*l.*; George Wilson, of Skerton, 13*l.*; William Fawcett, China Lane, 10*l.*; Christopher Fawcett, 5*l.*; that is all that I introduced into the room; there is William Fawcett and Christopher Fawcett. I believe Mr. Cross will tell you he paid them, but he did not pay them. Mr. Fawcett told me to mention to you that they never received nothing from Cross, they received it from Mr. Isaac Jackson, of Liverpool, in our house. Mr. Storey took Christopher Fawcett out of bed to vote; he voted for Fenwick and Lawrence.

13,583. Christopher Fawcett did?—Yes, and he received 5*l.*; at least his mother did for him. You will find if you send for the Fawcetts that they will give a true account of what they received.

13,584. You say they were paid by Jackson?—Yes.

FOURTEENTH DAY.

R. Hodgson.

12 Sept. 1866.

13,585. And not by Cross ?—Not by Cross at all.

13,586. Now I must ask you about your own affairs ; I suppose these voters were introduced by other people in your house ?—Yes.

13,587. Do you know who those people were who introduced voters to your house ?—I think there was one John Curwen, from Morecambe ; I think he brought some up, and Mr. Robert Richmond, of Slyne, was another.

13,588. Anybody else ?—Robert Wolfenden ; he is Mr. Booth's man, of Penny Street.

13,589. Anyone else ?—No, those are all that I can remember.

13,590. Curwen, Richmond, and Wolfenden ?—Yes.

13,591. Do you know the names of the men they introduced ?—No, I do not ; there was one I think that was a Croft, James Croft, that Richmond brought from Bolton with him ; the other party had taken him to the "Packet Boat" Inn ; he was bottled, and so Richmond brought him out and voted him ; he is a gentleman in Leonardgate.

13,592. You do not know what James Croft received for his vote ?—No, I do not.

13,593. Can you give us any other name ?—No.

13,594. Have you not got another list there ?—No, it is only my own ; this is what I received from Mr. Clark and Mr. Storey and Mr. Coupland before the election.

13,595. That is a list you received from them, and you ticked down there the names of the voters that you introduced to the strangers ?—Yes.

13,596. These voters that you have given us I suppose were those you introduced to both the strangers ?—Yes, to both the strangers ; well, they were both in the room at once sometimes, and when one was not there the other was.

13,597. Let me look at those lists that you have in your hand (two papers are handed by the witness to the Commissioners). Do you know what Messrs. Storey and Cross and Coupland gave you the list for ?—They gave it to me to get voters with.

13,598. They were the names of people that you were to canvass ?—Yes, they were for these that I have given you their names.

13,599. Did you see them before the election ?—Yes.

13,600. And did you settle with them the money they were to have ?—No, not exactly ; but I said I would be pretty near as equal as the others was ; that I would be very near as good, but not quite. There was a Mr. Tinker who rather outwitted me at Slyne ; he was a 25*l.* man ; I could not come up to him ; they would get a great deal of drink in the daytime, and so they would vote.

13,601. To whom did Alfred Tinker bid 25*l.*?—To John Sharples.

13,602. One of your voters ?—Yes.

13,603. Who told you that Alfred Tinker had offered 25*l.* to John Sharples ?—John Sharples told me himself.

13,604. I daresay Sharples would have been very glad if you had offered him 25*l.* too ?—Yes.

13,605. Which are the Slyne voters ?—John Sharples, Richard Sharples, Joseph Sharples, John Hodgson, and Thomas Wilkinson Hodgson, Thomas Shaw, and Richard Wadeson, of Hest Bank.

13,606. You had some money given you to canvass with ?—Yes.

13,607. First tell us what sums you received ?—12*l.* 10*s.* from Mr. George Clark ; I received it at three different times.

13,606. Two five pounds and a 2*l.* 10*s.* ?—Yes.

13,609. Anything else ?—5*l.* from Mr. Storey, 17*l.* from Mr. Coupland, and 6*l.* from Mr. Wilson, the night before the election, Mr. Wilson's friend ; Mr. Wilson did not give me the money but he was present at the time I got it.

13,610. (Mr. Newton.) Which friend ?—I believe it would be him as was up yesterday.

13,611. Mr. Wollaston ?—Yes.

13,612. Anything else ?—No.

13,613. When did Mr. Wollaston give you this 6*l.* ?—The night before the election.

13,614. About what time ?—It would be somewhere about six or seven o'clock, I should think.

13,615. In your own house ?—No, in the "King's Arms" room by the side of the door.

13,616. The door of the "King's Arms ?"—Yes.

13,617. Did these sums you have given us include your own payment ?—They include all that I received.

13,618. By way of a bill for the use of your house ?—6*l.* 5*s.* for the house after the election ; Mr. Gibson will give you an account of that.

13,619. You received your bill besides ?—6*l.* 5*s.*

13,620. From Mr. Gibson ?—Yes.

13,621. Are those sums, the first four amounting to 40*l.* 10*s.* and 6*l.* 5*s.*, all that you received in any way ?—Yes, in any way.

13,622. What did you do with the first sums you received amounting to 40*l.* 10*s.* ?—Mrs. Dobson, at Bare, 5*l.* 12*s.* 6*d.*

13,623. Who is Mrs. Dobson ?—She is the landlady of the "Dog and Partridge" Inn.

13,624. That was a tavern bill ?—Yes.

13,625. Who next ?—Mrs. Richardson, of Slyne, 6*l.* 19*s.*, that is at the "Cross Keys ;" Mr. Wilkinson, of the "Green's Arms," Slyne, 5*l.* 12*s.* 6*d.*

13,626. The next ?—Mr. Thomas Bradshaw, of Torrisholme, 4*l.*

13,627. Who is Bradshaw ?—He keeps a beer-house there.

13,628. What was that for ?—For refreshments ; for voters during the first fortnight before the election.

13,629. Who next ? — Mrs. Carter, of Bolton-le-Sands, 1*l.* 5*s.* ; Mr. Shaw, of Bolton-le-Sands, 3*l.* 10*s.*

13,630. Are these both inns ?—Yes ; one is the "Blue Anchor," and the other is the "Black Bull."

13,631. They were for refreshments to voters ?—Yes ; T. B. Thornton 3*l.* 10*s.*

13,632. Who is Thornton ?—He keeps a jerry shop there.

13,633. Was that for a bill ? — Yes, it was for drink.

13,634. Have you the bill there ?—Yes, I have the bill here.

13,635. What is the amount of his bill ?—3*l.* 10*s.* ; it was paid in separate sums was that in Bolton.

13,636. That is just the same amount as Shaw's ?—Yes, there was freemen at both houses, you know, and the same sum was spent at each house.

13,637. Where is T. B. Thornton's house ?—In Bolton-le-Sands.

13,638. Now the next ?—Robert Richmond 3*l.* 10*s.*

13,639. What was that for ?—1*l.* 10*s.* he gave to Thomas Baxter, but he turned over on the other side.

13,640. For a very good reason. What was the other 2*l.* for ?—He will give you an account of it.

13,641. He does not keep a jerry shop, does he ?—No, he is a farmer and maltster.

13,642. Now the next ?—Mr. John Sharples 1*l.* 15*s.*

13,643. What was that for ?—It was for his wages for a week, as far as I knew, before the election.

13,644. Now the next ?—Mr. Lodge, of Bare, 15*s.*

13,645. What was that for ?—To supply himself with some refreshments.

13,646. Who is the next ? — William Fawcett, China Lane, 1*l.* 15*s.*

13,647. What was that for ?—It was for his wages, I suppose.

13,648. Had he been employed in the canvass ?—Yes, he went along with me a fortnight before the election.

13,649. Now the next ?—Christopher Fawcett 15*s.*

13,650. What was that for ?—It was for his wages.

13,651. How long was he employed, do you recollect ?—A week.

13,652. How much ?—15*s.*

13,653. The same I suppose ? — Yes ; Thomas Shaw 10*s.* I thought you meant Mr. Christopher Fawcett ; it was 10*s.*

13,654. What was that for?—For a week's wages, I suppose, the same as the others; he is a Slyne voter.

13,655. Now the next?—There are no more; that is all I know.

13,656. There is a balance, I make it, of 21*s.*; 39*l.* 9*s.* you have accounted for. Did you return or did you keep the other guinea, or what became of the balance?—It went in drink in our own place.

13,657. Then did you receive no remuneration for all your trouble?—That is the remuneration I received.

13,658. The 6*l.* 5*s.*?—And the balance that went in drink.

13,659. I did not ask you when you made out this list that I hold in my hand?—It was always made out.

13,660. This is the original?—No, it is a copy of it.

13,661. When did you copy it?—This morning, but I knew them all personally.

13,662. From what did you copy this?—I copied it from what they got.

13,663. From what did you copy this list?—I had it down in a little book.

13,664. Where is the little book?—I do not know whether it is at home or not.

13,665. If you made this morning a copy from the book surely you must know where it is?—It is mostly from memory that is.

13,666. Where is your little book?—I have not a little book.

13,667. You just now told us that you made this copy from a little book?—Yes, but there was only some of the voters in it.

13,668. Where is your little book?—The little book will be in the house.

13,669. Let us have it directly; we will send for it?—If you please.

13,670. The police officer will go for it; just tell him what book to ask for?—It is a little green-backed book in the desk.

13,671. Who is he to ask for it?—He may ask the mistress; I think she will find it there; it has not all the voters in it. (A policeman is directed to fetch the book.)

13,672. (Mr. Newton.) How long have you been captain of this district; were you there in 1864?—Yes.

13,673. Did you then do the same sort of work that you have been doing now?—Yes, but it was not such heavy kind of business.

13,674. You mean it was not so expensive?—No.

13,675. When did they first come to you in 1865 about this?—It would be about 10 days before the election, I daresay.

13,676. Who came to you?—Mr. Lawrence Holder for Mr. Saunders's election.

13,677. But in 1865?—It would be a fortnight before the election.

13,678. Who came to you about it?—Mr. C. T. Clark asked me if I would assist him a little.

13,679. Were you called captain of any particular district?—No.

13,680. When did these gentlemen give you that list that you had in that house?—Which list is that?

13,681. The list that you had—the list that you have told us of, that you had when you ticked them all off?—They are most of them from memory.

13,682. The list that was given to you that day in your house?—They never gave me a list.

13,683. Take care?—Not the gentlemen that was in the room.

13,684. We know that; but Mr. Storey, and Mr. Coupland, and Mr. Clark?—Of the money?

13,685. No; do not fence with me. Tell me the story as it occurred. When did those gentlemen give you a list?—A list of the money?

13,686. No, a list of the names of the people that you were to bribe?—Mr. Clark gave it me.

13,687. Mr. Clark, Mr. Storey, and Mr. Coupland gave you a list. When did they give it you?—About a fortnight before the election—of the voters.

13,688. You kept that list?—Yes.

13,689. When were you first told that anybody was to come to your house to meet those voters?—The night before the election.

13,690. Who told you that?—Mr. H. T. Wilson.

13,691. What did he tell you?—He told me there would be a gentleman come to pay the voters.

13,692. What voters?—Slyne voters, and Hest Bank, and Bolton-le-Sands, and Torrisholme, and Bare.

13,693. Did he refer to that list that you had had in your possession?—No.

13,694. Then you knew perfectly well what voters were to be paid?—Yes.

13,695. Had you ordered these men to come to your house that morning?—Yes.

13,696. When?—I ordered them the night before the election, and previous during a fortnight.

13,697. What had you told them to come there for?—To get some money.

13,698. You told some of them as long as a fortnight before the election to come to your house to get money on the day of the election?—Yes.

13,699. Who was this other gentleman, besides Mr. Wollaston, who was at your house?—I think his name was Mr. Jackson, but I am not quite sure.

13,700. What time did he come in the morning?—I do not know exactly what time he would come. They would very near both come together, I think; they would come the first thing, before 8 o'clock.

13,701. You were in court yesterday when Mr. Wollaston was examined?—Yes.

13,702. Did you hear him state all those names and the money that he gave them?—Yes.

13,703. How comes it that, as to some of these names he mentioned, he says he gave them smaller sums than those you have told us of to-day?—Well, but he did not give them smaller sums. That is what they received, every man.

13,704. He did not tell us all then?—No, he did not, if he did not tell you that.

13,705. How many Bonds were there in your house that day?—I will tell you how many Bonds I voted. I voted three from Bare: Robert Bond, John Bond, and James Bond.

13,706. The first name he gave us was Bond, and he says he only gave him 3*l.*?—Bond had 5*l.*

13,707. He told us that he only gave him 3*l.*?—But Bond received 5*l.*, and he will tell you so if you get him here.

13,708. Do you know a man called "Roberts?"—No.

13,709. Did you introduce a man to Mr. Wollaston that morning of the name of "Robert?"—Only Robert Bond. That is the only man I introduced to him of the name of "Robert."

13,710. Was Bob Threlfall at your house that morning?—No.

13,711. Was there a man of the name of Bleasdale at your house?—Yes, I forgot to mention him.

13,712. Why did you omit to mention his name?—I forgot him seemingly.

13,713. Why did you forget him?—I really do not know; I must have overlooked him. William Bleasdale received 5*l.*

13,714. No, he did not, according to Mr. Wollaston's account?—Yes, he received 5*l.*

13,715. (Mr. Barstow, showing a book to the witness.) This is the book that the policeman has brought with him; is it the book you mean?—No.

13,716. He says that is the only book that your wife could find. Just tell me what other book he is to ask for?—It is in writing paper. (The policeman is again sent for the book, and is directed to ask for any other books or papers relating to the election.)

13,717. (Mr. Newton.) Why did you omit Bleasdale's name?—I have overlooked him.

13,718. How many other names have you overlooked?—None; and Bleasdale will give you an account when he comes, that he received 5*l.*

13,719-20. That is not the question. I want to know the names of those you introduced to Mr. Wollaston?—I overlooked Bleasdale.

FOURTEENTH DAY.

R. Hodgson.

12 Sept. 1866.

13,721. What do you say he received ?—5l.

13,722. What is his christian name ?—William Bleasdale, farmer, Pump House, Nether Kellet.

13,723. How many other names have you omitted ?—I have got none.

13,724. How many Garnetts were in your house ?—I do not remember any Garnetts being in our house.

13,725. Was there a man of the name of Garrett in your house that day ?—No ; I do not know a man of that name.

13,726. Dallabella ?—No.

13,727. How did Mr. Wollaston get the name of Dallabella ?—He never did get it in our house.

13,728. He says he did ?—Then he is wrong ; I never gave him the name.

13,729. Where was Dallabella paid ?—I do not know him ; I do not know such a name.

13,730. Where was Dallabella paid ?—I do not know him ; I do not know such a name.

13,731. How many Catons were there in your house that day ?—None.

13,732. Was there a Bradbury ?—No ; I do not know him.

13,733. Do you remember there being any Edmondsons ?—No.

13,734. Was there no Edmondson in your house that day ?—There might be ; there was a good many Morecambe men there, but I did not see any of them go into the room. I did not go into the room with any except those I have given you the names of.

13,735. There was no Caton there ?—No.

13,736. And no Bradbury in your house ?—No.

13,737. Where were you all the day ?—I was in the house, and down at the Boys' National School with voters.

13,738. Could people come in without your knowing it ?—Yes ; there was people come in without my knowing it.

13,739. Do you remember the name of Pailling ?—No ; I do not know any such name.

13,740. Or Mashiter ?—No ; I do not know any Mashiter.

13,741. Or Cottam ?—No ; I do not remember him in our house.

13,742. Nor Heald ?—No.

13,743. Crosshall ?—Croskell ; that I gave you.

13,744. Norman ; you have not given us that ?—No ; I do not know him.

13,745. Were there two men of the name of Littledale ?—I do not know them.

13,746. Do you know anyone of the name of Littledale ?—There is Richard Sharples, of Littledale ; I gave you him this morning.

13,747. You know no one of the name of Robert except Robert Bond ?—No, I do not.

13,748. There are 12 names I have got here, given us by Mr. Wollaston, that you did not see there that day ?—No. I did not see those that you have mentioned.

13,749. They might have been introduced by the other men ?—Yes, they might be ; I was not in the house all the while.

13,750. Do you think they were ?—No, I do not think they would be.

13,751. (Mr. Hill.) You have given us to-day the names of three men who received 15*l.*, and Mr. Wollaston, as far as my memory serves me, gave us no figures higher than 10*l.*, with one exception, namely Cottam. Are you sure that these three men, Hadwen, Dodgson, and Bond, received 15*l.* each ?—Yes ; they told me so themselves.

13,752. When did they tell you this ?—After the election.

13,753. About how long after the election ?—About a week or so.

13,754. Not lately, but a week or so after the election ?—Yes.

13,755. Do you mean to say you only knew it from having heard it from them a week after the election ?—Yes ; they told me that day and all they got 15*l.*

13,756. What do you mean by that ?—I said, "What have you got ?" and they said, "15*l.*"

13,757. I thought that you were the person that introduced them, and mentioned the names, and what they were to have ?—Yes ; I introduced them into the room, and I said they want so-and-so, and of course they got it.

13,758. Then what do you mean by saying that you learned afterwards that they had so-and-so ?—In talking it over afterwards.

13,759. You were the person who bargained for the votes and named the sum ?—Yes, I was.

13,760. How do you reconcile those two statements ? You were the person who absolutely named the sum ?—I absolutely named the sum, but we were talking of it afterwards.

13,761. You were there when they had the money ?—Yes.

13,762. Then what do you mean by saying you learned this by talking after the election ?—I did know it before, and after the election, and all.

13,763. When you ushered Hadwen, Dodgson, and Bond into the room what sum did you name to Wollaston ?—I said, "They want 15*l.*"

13,764. And you saw them get it ?—Yes, they got it.

13,765. Did you see them get it ?—I saw Mr. Wollaston give it to them in their hands, and then I took them to vote.

13,766. You absolutely saw them get the money ?—Yes.

13,767. Did Mr. Wollaston make any demur in giving these men 15*l.* ?—No ; he never did with any that went up.

13,768. He paid them as you mentioned the names ?—Yes.

13,769. Now I ask you the same question with reference to these persons, Joseph Croskell, John Croskell, and John Wilson ; did you also see them receive their 13*l.* ?—Yes, I did.

13,770. You know that Mr. Wollaston took down on his tablets the monies that he gave ?—Mr. Jackson paid the Croskells, both of them. He was a long while bargaining with them. They wanted 15*l.* each, and I said it was a shame for respectable farmers like them to come for that sum.

13,771. You think a respectable farmer ought to do it for less ?—Yes ; they said 13*l.* would do afterwards.

13,772. These were paid by Jackson ?—Yes.

13,773. They eventually dropped down 2*l.* ?—Yes, they dropped 2*l.*

13,774. Mr. Wollaston did not pay any Croskell at all ?—No ; he would be in the room most likely along with Mr. Jackson.

13,775. Would he take it down on his tablets ?—Very likely ; they were both writing down.

13,776. You know Mr. Wollaston only returned Croskell as receiving 5*l.* ?—He received 13*l.*

13,777. That you will swear ?—Yes, I will.

13,778. With reference to Wilson, how do you know he got 13*l.* ?—He was there.

13,779. Who paid him ?—Mr. Jackson, I believe, would pay him. He came from Skerton.

13,780. Was this George or John Wilson ?—I think it would be George.

13,781. How do you know George Wilson was paid by Jackson ?—I was there when he was paid.

13,782. Did he ask 15*l.* first ?—No.

13,783. How came he to get 13*l.* ?—He got what he asked.

13,784. You say you were present ?—Yes.

13,785. (Mr. Barstow.) I observe that in this book there are names on both sides of the page. What are these entries on this page ?—That is nothing to do with the election,

13,786. The entries concerning the election are written on the page facing us. Have you any objection to say what it is on this side ? I do not want to know if it is anything private ?—I have no objection to say what it is. It will be a "sweep," very likely.

13,787. You have not given us the name of Harrison in the list you have given us to-day?—I never had nothing to do with him.

13,788. Who had?—I think Foster would have to do with him.

13,789. On the same page with the Croskells you have Robert Harrison, 12*l.*?—No, I had nothing to do with Harrison.

13,790. Look for yourself (handing the book to the witness)?—That book might not be correct. I have merely put down from memory what they got.

13,791. Who is Foster?—He is a book-keeper in China Lane. I do not know where he is now. He was with Mr. Holding.

13,792. (Mr. Newton.) What does he know about it?—He would know all about Harrison.

13,793. Why do you refer me to Foster?—Because he was the captain of China Lane.

13,794. When did he leave Lancaster?—You had better ask Mr. Holden. He will be able to tell you. I know nothing about it.

13,795. (Mr. Hill.) When did you write these two papers?—They were written this morning, a lot of them.

13,796. You were up early at work?—Yes.

13,797. Were these the first items at your recollection?—Yes.

13,798. And you improved as you went on?—Yes.

13,799. (Mr. Barstow.) There are only 11 names of voters in this book at all?—I did not enter all the voters. I entered all those I had anything to do with.

13,800. Voters with sums placed against their names—there are only 11 altogether in the book?—I did not book them all on the day of the election.

13,801. You said you made out the list you have given us this morning from this book, and here is your book with only 11 names in it?—Well, the others are right.

13,802. Have you talked over this matter with anyone?—No.

13,803. With no one?—No one.

13,804. (Mr. Newton.) Who came to your house last night and talked it over with you?—Nobody. Never nobody was with me to talk nothing over.

13,805. (Mr. Barstow.) In truth you made out this list from memory?—Yes, I did, and it is right.

13,806. You ought to have said so, and you would not have put us to so much trouble?—That list what I have given to you is what every man received in our house.

13,807. (Mr. Hill.) You put down in your first effort of memory this morning the name of John Wilkinson?—I believe John Jackson paid him.

13,808. What made you put him down?—I was just going to give you the names of all I asked for a vote.

13,809. Why did you put the prices against them?—There is no price against him.

13,810. Yes, there is 2*l.*?—That is wrong. It is not a list at all is not that.

13,811. It is the list that you tried to put in your pocket so that we might not see it. Who is this John Wilkinson against whom you have put down 2*l.*?—He is dead.

13,812. Did John Wilkinson receive 2*l.*?—Not from me.

13,812*a*. From whom did he receive it?—I do not know. He did not receive none of me.

13,813. What made you put him down 2*l.*?—It is a mistake.

13,814. Why did you put him down 2*l.*?—I did not put him down.

13,815. There it is, in your own writing?—It is wrong.

13,816. What made you put him down 2*l.*?—I did not myself put it down, not to give you an account of it.

13,817. Is this your writing?—Yes.

13,818. Why did you put him down 2*l.*?—He did not get 2*l.*

13,819. Why did you put him down 2*l.*?—I don't know. I know nothing about it.

13,820. Why did you put him down 2*l.*; I will have an answer, so tell me?—I did not give him anything, or get him anything that I know of.

13,821. Why did you put him down?—I mentioned his name, and then I gave over when I found I was wrong with him.

13,822. You did not give over. You put down 2*l.* Who told you you were wrong with Wilkinson?—I told myself I was wrong with Wilkinson.

13,823. Who was John Wilkinson?—He was a householder, in Thurnham Street. He is Mr. Lodge's brother-in-law.

13,824. Now, knowing all about him, why did you put him down 2*l.*?—It was a mistake. I had mentioned his name.

13,325. What made you put 2*l.* down instead of some other figure?—I should not have put down 2*l.* because he did not get it.

13,826. Did you put down 2*l.* because he did not get it?—No. I mean to say George Danson paid John Wilkinson.

13,827. Have you got no better account to give of it than that?—No, I have not.

13,828. Were you writing down these names and taking shots at them?—No, I was not. If you summons every man whose name I have given you will find they got what I have put down.

13,829. (Mr. Newton.) Were the two Harrisons at the house that morning?—No.

13,830. How comes it that Harrison's name appears in that book?—He never received anything.

13,831, Why does Harrison's name appear in that book?—I do not know how it is.

13,832. Why does Harrison's name appear in that book? Look for yourself. You will see Croskell, Croskell, Harrison, 12*l.* Just explain to me why his name appears?—I will tell you. It was when Harrison was telling me he had received 12*l.* off Foster. He told me he received 12*l.*, and after the election, if anybody was telling me anything of the sort, I used to put it down.

13,833. You say Foster was a captain?—Yes.

13,834. Who would pay Harrison?—He would.

13,835. Not Wollaston?—No.

13,836. Wollaston said he paid 12*l.* to Harrison?—It is unknown to me. I had nothing to do with Harrison.

13,837. With neither of the Harrisons?—No, I had not.

13,838. Would Foster pay them both?—Yes. Foster would pay all in China Lane, except the Fawcetts.

13,839. Was Foster in your house that morning?—Yes, a little bit, but never upstairs.

13,840. Would he be introducing voters to the gentleman?—No, I do not think he would.

13,841. (Mr. Hill.) What is the second list? When did you make that?—I was writing that out this morning, very likely.

13,842. Were you copying it from anything?—No, from memory.

13,843. Had you the newspaper with you?—No, I had not.

13,844. Had you anything?—No.

13,845. From memory, of what were you copying it?—From memory of the voters.

13,846. Of those that you had paid?—Of those I had taken to be paid.

13,847. What made you put down in that list James Bond 3*l.*, when you say he got 15*l.* Explain that if you can?—He got 13*l.* from Mrs. Willasey before he came to our house.

13,848. Now, be careful, you have got yourself into a scrape. Why did you put him down this morning 3*l.* when you say he got 15*l.*?—I will tell you how it was. It was from memory that I did it all—that there.

13,849. Was your memory this morning that Bond received 3*l.*?—Yes, and 13*l.* from Mrs. Willacy—that is 15*l.* altogether.

13,850. 13 and 3 make 15?—No, 12*l.* from Mrs. Willasey.

FOURTEENTH DAY.

R. Hodgson.

12 Sept. 1866.

13,851. You have got a very convenient memory for arithmetic. You have told us this morning, when I drew your attention to James Bond's name before I saw this list, that he told you himself he received 15*l.* a week after the election, and on the day of the election, and all, and you said, "I swear that I saw him receive the money himself." Now, what do you say with regard to James Bond?—I mean to say he received 15*l.*

13,852. When?—On the election day.

13,853. From whom?—Up in our house.

13,854. From whom?—From Jackson and Wollaston.

13,855. Then what do you mean by telling me a minute ago that he received 3*l.* and 13*l.* from Mrs. Willacy, and now telling me, as you told me at first, that he received 15*l.* from Jackson or Wollaston?—He received it at our house.

13,856. What do you mean by telling those two stories in one minute?—They are not stories that I know of 13,857. Inconsistent stories; and what made you put down in this list this morning that James Dodgson received 2*l.*, and tell us now that he received 15*l.*?—James Dodgson received the same as James Bond.

13,858. Why did you put him down in this list this morning 2*l.*?—Because I was mistaken in my memory.

13,859. What were you taking this list from?—I was taking it from memory.

13,860. Did you write it this morning?—Yes.

13,861. It is impossible for me to believe what you say, because your stories are inconsistent. Did you write this list this morning?—Yes.

13,862-3. Now, be careful. At what time did you write it?—About 7.

13,864. Did you write it from your memory?—Yes, and the other, and all.

13,865. (Mr. Barstow.) Were the voters all paid at once?—Two or three went into the room at one time.

13,866. Did the voters receive all the money they received in one payment?—They received it when they came.

13,867. Did each voter receive from the stranger, I will call him, his money in one payment, or in two or three payments?—Dodgson had not got enough when he came out the first time, so he went back for the other.

13,868. How much did Dodgson get the first time?—He would get 2*l.* the first time, and then he got it up to 15*l.* before he would go to vote. He had 15*l.* altogether, had Dodgson.

14,869. Did you take him yourself twice to the stranger?—Yes.

13,870. (Mr. Hill.) There is another name that my eye drops upon particularly—John Hodgson. You gave him in in your list to us this morning as receiving 5*l.*, and now in this list before me you have got him down as receiving 4*l.* Why did you alter it?—He would have another sovereign, too.

13,871. From whom?—From Isaac Jackson.

13,872. Was that after he had voted?—It was after he had voted.

13,873. Did you take him in?—Yes, I did.

13,874. What made you put down in your list this morning that he received only 4*l.*, when you recollect so thoroughly that he received, first, 4*l.*, and then another pound afterwards?—Because he got 5*l.*

13,875. Is that the reason you wrote down that he got 4*l.*?—No, he got it twice you know.

13,876. You have not put down his getting it twice; you put it down as only 4*l.*, and now you say he had 5*l.*?—Yes, I do.

13,877. Then why do you put down 4*l.*?—Because it slipped my memory.

13,878. That is the best answer you can give about that?—Yes, it is.

13,879. You know that this list you made secondly is a complete list?—The list I handed to you is an exact list.

13,880. But this second list is a complete list of the names?—Yes, but they are not right in that list.

13,881. What makes you put on the increased figures. Now, tell us the truth?—I have told you truth.

13,882. Tell us the whole truth?—I have no more to tell you.

13,883. What made you alter the figures on this list?—Because they were wrong.

13,884. You know these figures very nearly correspond with what Mr. Wollaston gave us yesterday. Why did you alter them, and increase the figures?—They say they got it.

13,885. What made you alter it between 7 and 10 this morning? This second list is a complete list?—Yes, that is a list.

13,886. What made you alter the figures from what Mr. Wollaston gave us yesterday, and put them to the amounts you have given us this morning?—Because they got the money.

13,887. No, that is not the reason?—I know the reason for it.

13,888. What made you alter it; we shall get at the truth?—I will tell the truth, and I have told you the truth.

13,889. We have got you under the screw, and we can have you indicted. Tell us the truth. What made you alter it from the figures Mr. Wollaston gave us to the figures you choose to give us now?—Because they got the money.

13,890. What made you alter the list?—Because it had slipped my memory.

13,891. Who are these persons who refreshed your memory?—I refreshed it myself.

13,892. I will not have this.—I really did, indeed, refresh it myself.

13,893. Who came to you, and got you to alter these figures, and write out a fresh list?—I wrote it out myself.

13,894. Who came to you, and got you to write it out? Be careful; I will have the truth out of you.—I will tell you who was there. My father was the only one who was there.

13,895. Who else was with you?—Nobody.

13,896. Who is your father?—Thomas Hodgson, of the "Bear."

13,897. Did he correct your figures?—He was in the room as well as me.

13,898. Did he correct your figures?—Yes.

13,899. After you made this list?—Yes.

13,900. Did you know that the figures you had given us were the figures that Mr. Wollaston gave us yesterday?—Yes.

13,901. What made you alter them?—Because they were wrong.

13,902. What made you write them down in the first instance?—I was comparing what Mr. Wollaston had said in court.

13,903. Did you write this from recollection of what Mr. Wollaston had said? Do you really mean to say that?—I mean to say that my memory was that there. My father was in the room as well as me.

(Mr. Barstow.) We are quite convinced that your story is not true. It is impossible to believe you. You may stand down. We expect to have to deal with you in a very different way to the other witnesses.

G. Danson.

GEORGE DANSON sworn and examined.

13,904. (Mr. Newton.) I believe you canvassed at the last election?—I did.

13,905. What are you?—An auctioneer.

13,906. Where do you live?—On Castle Hill, Lancaster.

13,907. Had you taken an active part in elections before this last one?—Yes.

13,908. In 1864?—Yes.

13,909. What were you then?—In the same way. I led the canvass for Mr. Saunders.

13,910. Is that a post of honour, may I ask?—I do not know. I am paid for it.

13,911. When did you first commence to take any part in the election?—Do you mean this last?

13,912. Yes?—I should think a month before the election; about the 12th of June I commenced.

13,913. What steps did you take?—I prepared my own canvass-book.

13,914. What was your district?—I had all the districts, but I divided the town and country into the districts as they voted; and the street lists in the same way, according to the different districts where they voted.

13,915. Then each district was placed under a captain?—Yes.

13,916. And you were at the head?—I do not know that I was, but I had to do with them all.

13,917. Did you engage the public-houses?—No, none.

13,918. Who engaged the public-houses?—The captains in each district had their own public-houses; I had nothing to do with it.

13,919. Did they make returns to you?—No, none.

13,920. Be good enough to tell us what money you received for the purposes of the election?—Altogether?

13,921. First of all, give it to us in gross, and then give us the items?—I received from Mr. Coupland, in five different payments, 22*l.* I received 2*l.* at the first commencement.

13,922. When did you commence?—On the 22nd of June.

13,923. Tell us the gross sum you received altogether?—As far as I can make out, 688*l.*

13,924. Was that from different people?—From different people.

13,925. What did you receive from Mr. Coupland?—I received 22*l.* in all from him.

13,926. When was the last payment you had from him?—On the 30th.

13,927. Nothing after that?—Nothing.

13,928. What other sums did you receive?—I received from Mr. G. C. Clark, on the 1st of July, 23*l.*, and I received on the 10th of July, from Mr. Clark, 40*l.* I received from Mr. Cross 5*l.* some time during the week.

13,929. The captain?—Yes. It was 5*l.* in two payments; then, on the 8th of July, I received from Mr. Wilson Barker 185*l.*; on the 12th, from Mr. Barker, 80*l.*; and on the 12th, in the forenoon, I received from what I call the man in the moon (I do not know his name at all), 273*l.*

13,930. That would be Mr. Wollaston?—Mr. Wollaston, I suppose; I do not know him.

13,931. Now that you see him you know him, I suppose?—No, I do not. I received that in various sums.

13,932. Was it in China Lane?—No.

13,933. Where did you receive it?—At the "Royal Oak." I never was in Hodgson's house at all on the day of the election. Then there is the 50*l.* I received for my services, that came in the lot.

13,934. (Mr. Hill.) From whom did you receive that?—From Mr. Gibson through Mr. Barker, but it is Mr. Barker who gives the account of it; it was through Mr. Gibson from Mr. Barker. Mr. Barker did not pay me but Gibson, but that 50*l.* is in Mr. Barker's account against me.

13,935. Is that all?—That is all I know of.

13,936. Be good enough to tell me where all these monies were paid to you by Mr. Wollaston?—In the "Royal Oak."

13,937. When?—On the morning of the election, at different times.

13,938. Where was Mr. Wollaston?—In the room upstairs on the third storey.

13,939. Was anybody with him?—No, not when I was with him.

13,940. It is not because he says he knows you to be George Danson that you know him to have been the man?—No.

13,941. Then it might have been somebody else?—It might have been. I really do not know the gentleman.

13,942. When you say you do not know him you mean you do not recognize him?—No, I do not.

13,943. What time was it when you were at the "Royal Oak?"—I should think I was there by 9 o'clock in the morning, or between 8 and 9.

13,944. And you were there at various times?—At various times.

13,945. Did you go up to the room as you wanted the money?—Yes.

13,946. About what time was it when you last went up?—I should think it must have been noon, or somewhere on there.

13,947. You had no money from anybody else during the election except what you have told us?—No, I do not think I had.

13,948. And you will not swear that it was Mr. Wollaston who gave you this money?—No, I would not swear it.

13,949. Mr. Wollaston says he paid you 272*l.*?—It was either 272*l.* or 273*l.*

13,950. But the question is whether it was at the "Royal Oak?"—It was at the "Royal Oak."

13,951. Now tell us how you spent these 688*l.*; have you an account there?—Yes (producing a book).

13,952. Just let us look at that book?—This is the original (handing two books to the Commissioners); those are all men that I paid on the Saturday night.

13,953. What are these men?—They are principally freemen.

13,954. Were they staff-men?—They called themselves committee-men.

13,955. You paid them all for being on the committee?—Yes.

13,956. Are these names that I am going to ask you to read from your book the names of the people who were on the committee?—Yes, they called themselves committee-men; they are accustomed to do so.

13,957. And were the sums that are set against their names paid them for services rendered?—Yes.

13,958. Now read the names, if you please, and the sums?—Richard Tomlinson, 15*s.*; Thomas Tomlinson, 15*s.*; Benjamin Mason, 15*s.*; William Gardner, 15*s.*; Frank Gardner, 15*s.*; John Gardner, 15*s.*; John Gardner, 15*s.*; Richard Gardner, 15*s.*; Richard Barber, 15*s.*; James Woodburne, 15*s.*; George Nelson, 15*s.*; William Nelson, 15*s.*; Richard Caton, 15*s.*; William Gardner, 15*s.*; Edward Smith, 15*s.*; Robert Palmer, 15*s.*; John Huntingdon, 15*s.*; Timothy Lawrence, 15*s.*; John Masheder, 15*s.*; William Masheder, 15*s.*; Henry Smith, 15*s.*; John Parkinson, 15*s.*; William Gibson, 15*s.*; Charles Parkinson, 15*s.*; William Cubin, 15*s.*; Richard Kearton, 15*s.*; William Powell, 17*s.* 6*d.*; James Woodman, 15*s.*; John Hinde, 15*s.*; Christopher Pimm, 15*s.*; Henry Thornton, 15*s.*; Thomas Ralph, 15*s.*; Joseph Forrest, 15*s.*; Charles Fawcett, 15*s.*; William Dean, 1*l.*; Robert Pimm, 15*s.*; Reuben Pimm, 1*l.* 10*s.*; Thomas Wilson, 15*s.*; Robert Threlfall, 15*s.*; William Helme, 15*s.*; Joseph Sowerby, 1*l.*; Samuel Ganson, 15*s.*; J. J. Harrison, 15*s.*; John Edmondson, 1*l.* 10*s.*; Spencer Barrow, 1*l.* 10*s.*; Edmund Bond, 1*l.* 10*s.*; Charles Bond, 15*s.*; John Ball, 15*s.* That was the first Saturday night, the 1st of July.

13,959. Amounting altogether to how much?—I think 39*l.* 12*s.* 6*d.* Then on the 8th of July, Richard Tomlinson, 1*l.* 10*s.*; Thomas Tomlinson, 1*l.* 10*s.*; Benjamin Mason, 1*l.* 10*s.*; William Gardner, 1*l.* 10*s.*; Frank Gardner, 1*l.* 10*s.*; John Gardner, 1*l.* 10*s.*; John Gardner, 1*l.* 10*s.*; Richard Gardner, 1*l.* 10*s.*; Richard Barber, 1*l.* 10*s.*; George Nelson, 1*l.* 10*s.*; William Gardner, 1*l.* 10*s.*; Edward Smith, 1*l.* 10*s.*; Robert Palmer, 1*l.* 10*s.*; John Huntington, 1*l.* 10*s.*; T. 13,960. What is his christian name?—I do not know; he is a gunsmith, I think. Then there is a man named Baxter, 10*s.*, who was in the committee room; he is no voter. — Townson, 1*l.* 10*s.*; — Turner, 1*l.* 10*s.*; William Woodburne, 10*s.*; Richard Harrison, 2*l.*; — Mallinson, 1*l.* 10*s.*; George Croskell, 1*l.*; J. Hodgson, 5*s.*; — Bailey, 2*s.*; John Ralph, 2*l.*; Charles Bond, 1*l.*; then there is Robert Hogarth, 1*l.*, he is not a voter; William Singleton, 1*l.* 10*s.*; Benjamin Singleton, 1*l.* 10*s.*; William Singleton, 1*l.* 10*s.*; John Singleton, 1*l.* 10*s.*; E. Williams, 1*l.*; William Eudgeon, 1*l.* 10*s.*; Christopher Eudgeon, 1*l.* 10*s.*; William Helme, 1*l.* 10*s.*; John Lamb, 1*l.* 10*s.*; Edward Marshall, 1*l.* 10*s.*; James Pennington, 1*l.* 10*s.*; William Redhead, 1*l.* 10*s.*; Henry Smith, 1*l.* 10*s.*; William Lamb, 1*l.* 10*s.*; Richard Willacy, 1*l.* 10*s.*; George Wilson, 1*l.* 10*s.*; Thomas Winder, 1*l.* 10*s.*; Robert Atkinson, 1*l.* 10*s.*; James Wearing, 1*l.* 10*s.*; Robert Wilson, 1*l.* 10*s.*; M. Pattinson, 1*l.* 10*s.*, he has no vote; James Redhead, 1*l.* 10*s.*; James Walker, 1*l.* 10*s.*; Thomas Roberts, 1*l.* 10*s.*; Thomas Middleton, 1*l.* 10*s.*; Thomas Knowles, 1*l.* 10*s.*; James Jackson, 1*l.* 10*s.*; William Atkinson, 1*l.* 10*s.*; Richard Earth, 1*l.* 10*s.*; R. Watkinson, 1*l.* 10*s.*; that amounts, I think, altogether to 219*l.* 7*s.* 6*d.*

13,961. (Mr. Hill.) Can you tell me the number of persons?—160 on the second list and 48 on the first.

13,962. (Mr. Newton.) When did you make the second payment?—On the 8th of July.

13,963. And you paid then how much?—On the 8th, 219*l.* 7*s.* 6*d.*

13,964. That is not included in the 39*l.* 12*s.* 6*d.*?—No.

13,965. Has it been the practice for all these freemen to be put on the committee?—Yes.

13,966. And they always expect to be paid?—Always; I paid them before in the same way.

13,967. Do the 160 include the 48?—Yes.

13,968. You only paid 160 men altogether; they are all included in the 160?—Yes.

13,969. There were only 160 persons?—That is all.

13,970. Then these 160 persons considered it a right to be on the committee?—It has been the practice to do so.

13,971. (Mr. Hill.) A committee of the whole house?—Yes.

13,972. (Mr. Newton.) Had that been the practice in 1864?—Yes; not to this extent, perhaps.

13,973. Was it done so on the other side?—I should think so; I should think that some of those men got paid twice; I should fancy they got paid on the other side, some of them, at least I imagine so; I daresay they will tell you so, some of them.

13,974. This is the first time we have heard of a committee on the other side?—I have not heard of one.

13,975. Are you sure that there was one?—I imagine so; I fancy some of them will say so.

13,976. Do you know it?—I do not know it of my own knowledge.

13,977. Did you know it at the election, or is it what you have heard since?—It is what I have heard since; it is by report, that is all.

13,978. You say you imagine it, but have you any doubt about it?—I do not know it of my own knowledge.

13,979. Have you any doubt about it?—A party told me that one of those men was paid at the "Queens" the same night that I paid him.

13,980. Who was that?—They call him James Shrigley.

13,981*a*. He is on this list?—Yes.

13,981*b*. You think Shrigley was on both committees?—I believe so.

13,981*c*. (Mr. Hill.) There are two Shrigleys, and they both voted for Lawrence?—Yes, but I fancy they got paid by the other side; I think so.

13,981*d*. Did you ever take the trouble to look at these 160 names to see how they voted?—No; they are very slippery, some of them, the principal of them I should think.

13,981*e*. (Mr. Newton.) Are you able to say whether they were actuated by any political views, or was it for the sake of money?—They do it for the sake of money, there is no doubt of that. As soon as an election is spoken of they drop work, they have to be kept. I should think 50 or 60 of those do.

13,982. In that category do you include the householders you have given us?—No, I do not include those householders, they were men who were assisting; there are only a very few of them.

13,983. They have no political principles?—No, I should think not; money is their principle, I should think.

13,984. If you had not paid these men 1*l.* 10*s.*, what would have been the consequence?—We should have lost half of them, I should think above half.

13,985. They would have gone to the other side?—They would have left us.

13,986*a*. You say half of them would have gone to the other side?—I should think above half.

13,986*b*. Would they have voted on the other side?—No doubt, if they had paid them.

13,986*c*. Would they have taken the trouble to vote on the other side if they had not been paid?—They would not for nothing.

13,986*d*. In your opinion, then, all these freemen are to be bought?—Well, it looks very like it.

13,987. You call it a committee. Where is there a room big enough to hold them?—The street; they very seldom attended otherwise.

13,988. Were you in a committee room?—I was there generally.

13,988*a*. Where was that?—In the "Royal Oak."

13,988*b*. How many times did you assemble in the week?—I should think I was there every day backwards and forwards, except when I was out canvassing.

13,988*c*. I suppose these 150 men were employed in trade?—Yes.

13,989. Did they ever take the trouble to go to the committee room of an evening?—No, they went into the districts when there were meetings at night. I should think a portion of those men out of each district attended the meetings in the districts at night.

13,990. They would go there?—No doubt they would.

13,991. What for?—For drink; that was the principle they went there for, just to keep them together.

13,992. They would go to these district committee rooms?—Yes.

13,993. And they were treated there?—Yes.

13,994. Was there any discussion at that time as to what was to be done in order to canvass and secure votes?—Not as far as I am concerned. I do not know of any; the committees were formed before the election to work up what we could not see or would not promise, and this man assisted in making them up; they caught them at night; when we could not catch them in the day, they had them at night; that was what those district committees at night were for.

13,995. Was any inducement held out to this man to do that?—There was their pay on Saturday night; they got on to my list. I put them on as I met them, anywhere.

13,996. What was the inducement that made these men look after voters who you say were shifty and so on?—The great inducement, I should think, was the beer at night and the prospect of their money on Saturday.

13,997. I suppose these men were very sorry when the election was over?—I should think so.

13,998. It lasted only three weeks?—It was about a month, I should think.

13,999. You began on the 1st of July, I see?—That was the first payment. If you look at that book you will see it is dated the 28th of June, when we opened our central committee room; if you look at the larger book, in the first page you will see when it was opened; that book laid on the committee room table, and I paid to that book the first Saturday night, three days, 15*s*.

14,000. Then they used to come cropping up, I suppose?—Yes.

14,001. Anxious to be put on the committee?—Yes.

14,002. I cannot understand why you did not get more?—I got all I could; no doubt the other side had them, and they were paid in some shape; whether through Mr. Tilly or not I do not know.

14,003. There are 900 freemen, and you only got about 160?—About 150, without the householders.

14,004. I am only supposing you did not get more?—I got what I could.

14,005. If there was a committee on the other side they were paid at a higher rate than that?—I do not know what they were paid. I think we should be on the same scale; 5*s*. a day was what we paid.

14,006. What was the general rank in life of all these 160 men?—They are all working men.

14,007. Men earning their weekly wages?—Yes.

14,008. Were the householders persons who were earning wages, too?—I should think they were assisting in the districts where they were living. Those two householders that are on there were assisting in the district where they were living, no doubt at nights and days as well.

14,009. And you say that according to your belief (and you must have extensive means of judging) they did not care twopence about politics?—I should fancy not, not a farthing.

14,010. Now we must go to how you paid the remainder of the money. Did you individually bribe any men yourself?—No, I did not. I paid Henry Waterhouse 3*l*. for keeping the district list for No. 5 district. He was poorly at the time, and he was badly off, and it was a little employment for him.

14,011. What is he?—He is a cabinet-maker. Then I was at Overton four times, and Heaton and other places during the time; for that I have 14*l*. for the four journeys.

14,012. What do you charge a journey?—It is expenses out of pocket.

14,013. Drink and refreshments?—Yes.

14,014. To voters?—Yes, and others. Then I had two journeys to Morecambe; I went to Morecambe twice; 6*l*. for that lot; then I gave John Dobson 2*l*. There were a lot of voters about him who wanted something to drink, I suppose; and I was at Galgate one night, when Mr. Lawrence made a speech; 3*l*. for that.

14,015. For refreshments?—Yes.

14,016. To voters?—Voters and others; there were plenty of them.

14,017. Who is Dobson?—A freeman.

14,018. What did you give it him for?—To treat some voters that he had with him. I gave that to him in the streets, then I gave John Bond, of Morecambe, 2*l*.

14,019. What for?—He has a lot of sons, and he was poorly, and I gave it him to treat them with and himself. He had several sons. Then William H. Winder, 2*l*.

14,020. What was that for?—He had been took up by his employers for embezzlement, and he was let out that day, and he was disgraced, and I gave him 2*l*. at night; I thought I could get his vote with it; he was out on bail.

14,021. Do you remember a voter who was in gaol and they wanted to get him out?—I do not know him.

14,022. It was not Winder, was it?—No.

14,023. (Mr. Newton, to Mr. Shackleton.) What was the name of the voter who was in gaol?—(Mr. Shackleton) John Bell.

14,024. (Mr. Newton, to the witness.) Now the next?—Then John Capstick, 1*l*.

14,025. What was that for?—To go to a public-house one night with a few of them.

14,026. To drink?—Yes; there is 33*l*. in that lot.

14,027. That would not be all?—No, I have the day of the election.

14,028. When were these journeys to Morecambe, and so on; were they all before the election?—Before the election.

14,029. What was the next item?—On the morning of the election, 12th July: 392, Thomas Hartley, Brook Street, mason, 10*l*.; No. 542, John Leatherbarrow, Spring Court, mason, 10*l*.; No. 590, Thomas Middleton, 10*l*., of Skerton, mason; No. 194, Thomas Crossfield, Halton, 10*l*.; No. 228, Samuel Mashiter Dodgson, 10*l*.; No. 230, Gibson Dodgson, 10*l*.; No. 312, John Garth, 10*l*., he is of Bulk, labourer; No. 163, Anthony Christopherson, Penny Street, 10*l*.; No. 164, John Christopherson, 10*l*.; No. 579, Benjamin Mason, 10*l*.; No. 502, Richard Kearton, 10*l*.; No. 288, John Gardner, 10*l*.; No. 287, John Gardner, 10*l*., one is a plasterer and the other is a spinner; No. 293, Frank Gardner, 10*l*.

14,030. What is he?—He is a plasterer; No. 292, William Gardner, 10*l*.; No. 300, Richard Gardner, 10*l*. The next is 9*l*. 10*s*. to John King for a man they call Nathaniel Richmond.

14,031. How much?—9*l*. 10*s*.

14,032. What is John King?—He is a young man at Slyne; he worked the Halton district, or assisted at any rate.

14,033. Was King going to get a commission out of this 9*l*. 10*s*.?—Not that I know of.

14,034. He was not going to sweat it?—No. The next is No. 384, John Harrison, 10*l*.; this man is from Middleton; No. 851, William Thralfall, 5*l*., of Carnforth, I think; No. 201, William Cubin, 5*l*.; No. 567, William Masheder, Queen Square, farmer. I think you have him before.

FOURTEENTH DAY.

G. Danson.

12 Sept. 1866.

14,035. How much?—8*l.*; then I had a man brought to me by Thomas Procter, of China Lane, Edmondson; I don't know the man, he was brought to me and I gave him 12*l.*

14,036. Did Procter get a commission?—No, I should think not. No. 366, John Harrison, 12*l.*

14,037. That is another Harrison?—Yes.

14,038. What Harrison is that?—He lives at the "Pointer," he is a smith. No. 760, William Sherson, Pothouses, labourer, 12*l.*; No. 117, John Hartley Bond, Monmouth Street, labourer, 12*l.*; No 750, William Shaw, George Street, joiner, 12*l.*; 486, William Jackson, Bulk Street, carter, 12*l.*; 677, John Punch, Monmouth Street, labourer, 12*l.*; these six men came together to me, and I got 72*l.* for them.

14,039. (Mr. Hill.) I have got seven?—Yes, but one was not in that lot; I think they came from the other side because they could not get what they wanted. They asked 15*l.* a-piece, and I bargained with them for 12*l.*

14,040. (Mr. Newton.) They never voted "Blue" before.

14,041. What time was this?—On towards noon I should think; I cannot recollect exactly, it was a long morning was that. No. 664, John Simpson, 6*l.*, Market Street, shoemaker; 1,380, a householder, John Wilkinson, 10*l.* He was very poorly at the time, and had been for some 12 months, or he would not have asked for anything he said.

14,042. What sort of a house did he live in?—He is a very respectable man. No. 180, Thomas Cottam, Overton, 10*l.*

14,043. Have you any more?—I do not know that I have any more.

14,044. (Mr. Hill.) What do you make it to be?—I make out a deficiency of about 31*l.*

14,045. What do those bribes come to?—307*l.* 10*s.*

14,046. You received 688*l.* and paid away 659*l.*?—I should think so.

14,047. What became of the balance?—Look at the company I had to keep for three weeks, all those men, they wanted refreshing every morning.

14,048. You have only told me, as near as you can, what money you actually gave away?—Yes, that is all.

14,049. There is about 40*l.* balance?—Very well; I expected a deal more, because I was at great expense with them.

14,050. There were 31 names?—Yes.

14,051. You paid away 307*l.* 10*s.*; for bribes, 259*l.*, for the committee 33*l.* and 50*l.*?—Yes.

14,052. Leaving a balance of over 40*l.*?—Yes.

14,053. That, you say, all went in incidental expenses?—Yes, and more I should think.

14,054. From where did you make out these accounts?—The men I paid I made from those books; those were the books used at the time.

14,055. When did you make out this list of voters?—I have been three weeks, perhaps, about at it. There was a man came and told me on Monday that I had paid two men 10*l.* a-piece; that I knew nothing about, that I had no memoranda of.

14,056. You have been making this list three weeks?—For the men that I paid I had to go and see the principal of them themselves. I was not aware that I had paid some of them anything.

14,057. Could there be any more than those you have given us?—Yes, there may be, but I do not know.

14,058. You had no memoranda at the time by you?—Only this small piece of paper here that I made some memoranda upon, but I can make nothing much of it; it led me to go to some of the parties to get the information from them that I wanted.

14,059. You have never told us where all this paying took place?—The first three men that I paid I paid at the "Bay Horse."

14,060. On what day?—On the morning of the election.

14,061. At what time?—I should think it would be before there was any polling at all.

14,062. Where had you slept that night?—I was at home about two hours, that is all.

14,063. And then you went out?—Yes.

14,064. You went to the "Bay Horse?"—Yes, I went to the "Bay Horse" with those men, and paid them there.

14,065. Had you got the money in your pocket?—Yes, I got 80*l.* from Mr. Wilson Barker that morning; then I went to the general committee room; I was ordered to go there.

14,066. Who by?—By Mr. Wilson.

14,067. Which committee room?—The general committee room at the "Royal Oak."

14,068. What did you get there?—I was there at anybody's call, I suppose.

14,069. Did you get some money there?—Yes.

14,070. Who from?—I got the remainder from the gentleman upstairs.

14,071. Who was the gentleman?—I suppose it would be Mr. Wollaston, but I do not know.

14,072. You saw him there and got this money from him?—Yes, I got it from him and the people came to me.

14,073. Where did you remain?—I was all up and down the house.

14,074. You say you paid these three men at the "Bay Horse," where did you pay Crosfield?—At the "Royal Oak."

14,075. You paid most of them there?—I paid all the rest of them there.

14,076. In one room?—Not particularly in one room, it depended upon what room they went into; the parties fetched me to them. The first lot I paid were four from Halton and Bulk; a man of the name of Briggs fetched me to them.

14,077. Who is Briggs?—Gibson Briggs, he keeps a shop in Church Street; he brought Crosfield, two Dodgsons, and Garth to me; he fetched me to them and I paid them.

14,078. Who arranged the price?—I paid them 10*l.* a-piece, that was about the general price. There were not many words about it.

14,079. Where did you pay them?—In the room on the left hand going in, I believe.

14,080. You paid all of them in that room?—No, I do not suppose I paid them all there. I fancy I paid one or two of them in the yard, which of them I do not know, but I think it was Mashiter I paid in the yard.

14,081. You paid any voters you saw who wanted money?—Yes, of course I did.

14,082. And you could get as much money as you wanted?—There was 272*l.* booked against me, and I suppose I got it. The next men who came to me were brought by a man of the name of Kealey, the two Christophersons.

14,083. Who is Kealey?—A gentleman's servant. I did not know that I paid those two Christophersons till Monday.

14,084. You have found out their names since?—The man who brought them to me told me that I gave them 10*l.* a-piece.

14,085. In fact hardly any freemen would have voted that day without being paid?—I think not, they were very scarce.

14,086. In your opinion, were all the freemen paid?—Not all of them; 500 or 600 of them would be paid, I should think, take them all through.

14,087. I do not mean by your side?—No; by both. I should think 500 or 600 would be paid.

14,088. Did you see Mr. Lawrence that day?—After the election I saw him for two or three minutes.

14,089. You did not see him during the day?—No.

14,090. Not at the "Royal Oak?"—No.

14,091. When it was all over, did he discuss the matters of the election with you?—There were a lot of gentlemen present; I just saw him, but I did not speak to him.

14,092. Did you hear any conversation going on?—He made a little speech after the election was over.

14,093. There was no private conversation?—No, no private conversation at all.

14,094. Are we to understand that there was no secresy about paying this money away at the "Royal Oak?"—No, it was as open as day.

14,095. With the exception of 50*l.*, you got nothing for your services that you know of?—No.

14,096. (Mr. Barstow.) Did you render any account of the money you had after the election?—They never asked for one.

14,097. You did not render one?—No.

14,098. I ask you that question because the other gentlemen who have been before us seem to have returned a very accurate account?—I was never asked for one.

14,099. Can you give any reason why you were never asked for one?—No; I thought it would be like all other elections; it would settle down.

14,100. You did not settle; you do not know why that exception was made in your instance?—No, I do not.

14,101. (Mr. Hill.) These 18 who received 10*l.* each, were they together in any club? Had they one spokesman for them, or did you arrange with each separately?—I think the Gardeners, Mason, and Kearton, pretty nearly all came together. They are generally plasterers, and such like, and I fancy they came all together, or as soon after one another as they could.

14,102. They were all in a band together, were they?—Yes, I think so.

14,103. They were all bent on going for the same price?—There is no doubt about it.

14,104. We will take the next six above them, Middleton, Crosfield, two Dodgsons, John Garth, and the two Christophersons?—They came from Halton. I paid Crosfield, the two Dodgsons, and Garth all together.

14,105. They were all in a band together?—Yes.

14,106. The first three you paid in China Lane?—Yes; I thought there were four of them, but I cannot find the other out.

14,107. Thomas Middleton looked out for himself, or was he with Hartley and Leatherbarrow?—He was with Hartley and Leatherbarrow. Those three were masons together.

14,108. How came you to get William Threlfall for 5*l.*?—King brought him to me; King, of Slyne; he is a porter on the railway.

14,109. He bargained with him for the lowest figure?—For anything I know.

14,110. Then Cubin, 5*l.*?—He is a man I have had many years for election matters; he told me he only got 5*l.* from me, and I believed him; I did not know that I had paid him anything till I asked him.

14,111. Did he get anything else from anybody else?—I should think not.

14,112. How came he to go for 5*l.* instead of 10*l.*?—I do not know; it is his own look out.

14,113. What is he?—A whitesmith.

14,114. Then John Simpson; how came he to go for 6*l.* only?—I only gave him a sovereign on the Saturday night; he was very stiff about the other money, and when I saw him afterwards, I said, "Have you voted?" and he said, "No." I said, "What will satisfy you?" and I said, "Will 6*l.* do for the deficiency on Saturday and your vote?" and he said, "Yes."

14,115. How much did he get for his vote altogether?—He had 1*l.* on Saturday night, and should have had 30*s.*

14,116. Did you give him 1*l.* plus 6*l.*, or 1*l.* plus 5*l.*?—1*l.* plus 5*l.*

14,117. 6*l.* altogether?—Yes.

14,118. If you recollect any others that you have paid, to make up the balance, you can come here again?—Yes, I will.

14,119. (Mr. Barstow.) Were George Vince and R. Lawson with you in the Cable Lane district?—I was not in that district particularly; I was anywhere.

14,120. Were they in that district?—Mr. Lawson, I think, was mostly in Galgate and Ellel.

14,121. Were the voters paid by Mr. Lawson?—No, I think not. The Galgate and Ellel voters would be paid by Mr. Clark, I think.

14,122. Where was Vince?—I fancy he was at Morecambe, but I saw very little of him.

RICHARD EAVES sworn and examined.

R. Eaves.

14,123. (Mr. Hill.) What are you?—I am a clerk in H. T. Wilson's office.

14,124. What is your residence?—Green Lane, West Derby, Liverpool.

14,125. How long have you been in Mr. Wilson's employ?—About 13 years.

14,126. When were you first spoken to on the subject of this last election?—The day before the nomination day.

14,127. July 10th?—Yes, about the 10th.

14,128. Who spoke to you?—Mr. W. E. Chambers, the cashier.

14,129. What instructions did he give to you?—Only that I would have to come to Lancaster the next day.

14,130. Were you to bring anything with you?—I did bring something with me.

14,131. When did he bring you instructions as to bringing anything with you?—On the morning of the nomination.

14,132. What took place between you and Mr. Wilson on July 10th?—I just spoke to him, that is all.

14,133. What did he give you?—Mr. Wilson did not give me anything, it was Mr. Chambers.

14,134. What took place between you and Mr. Chambers on July the 11th?—He gave me a bag.

14,135. At the office?—Yes.

14,136. Mr. Wilson's office?—Yes, in Water Street.

14,137. What bag was it?—It was said to contain money.

14,138. It was a bag of money?—I did not see the money.

14,139. There was no doubt about its being money. There is no concealment about these things now, it is not as if we were only just acquainted with them?—I did not see the money.

14,140. It was a bag of money?—Yes.

14,141. What sort of bag was it?—A small canvas bag.

14,142. You came over to Lancaster with that?—Yes.

14,143. Early in the day—in the forenoon?—I came by the 12 o'clock train from Liverpool.

14,144. Who came with you?—Mr. Wollaston, Mr. Bakewell, Mr. Scanlan, Mr. Nelson, and Peter Morgan.

14,145. Where did you go to on your arrival here?—To the "King's Arms."

14,146. Whom did you see at the "King's Arms?"—I saw Mr. Wollaston.

14,147. You came with him; he went there with you; whom did you meet there?—No one I knew.

14,148. Was Mr. Wilson there?—No.

14,149. Did you speak to anybody on the subject of the election?—No.

14,150. Did you receive any directions there?—Yes, I did, to go to Conder Green.

14,151. Where were you to go to at Conder Green?—A public-house there.

14,152. What was the name of the public-house?—I do not remember.

14,153. Had you ever been in Lancaster before?—Never before.

14,154. Who told you where to go to at Conder Green?—I do not know who it was. Some one came to me and inquired for me at the "King's Arms."

14,155. Is it any person you have seen in court?—No, I have not seen anyone, and I have looked round.

FOURTEENTH DAY.

R. Eaves.

12 Sept. 1866.

14,156. Was it anyone you have been in conversation with since?—No, I have never seen him since.

14,157. What time did you go to the public-house?—About 5 or 6 o'clock, I think.

14,158. In the afternoon of that day?—Yes.

14,159. Did you take the money with you?—I gave the bag to Mr. Wollaston.

14,160. At the "King's Arms?"—Yes.

14,161. Whom did you see when you got down to the public-house?—A man of the name of Robert Holmes.

14,162. Who is he?—He appeared to be a captain of the district.

14,163. What did you arrange with him?—I was told to go and see him.

14,164. Did you receive any directions from him?—No, I told him I had come down there.

14,165. By the directions of the people at the "King's Arms?"—Yes, to inquire for him.

14,166. Then you had received directions at the "King's Arms" to go there?—Yes.

14,167. What did you arrange with him, or what did he arrange with you?—I stayed there.

14,168. Did he arrange that you should stay, or what was the arrangement made between you?—I told him I had come down there.

14,169. That he did not want telling, because he saw you. What did you tell him which he did not know?—I told him I had brought down some money.

14,170. Why did you not say that at first? What money did you tell him you had brought?—35*l.*

14,171. From whom did you receive that 35*l.*?—Mr. Wilson Barker.

14,172. When?—Just before I started for Conder Green.

14,173. At the "King's Arms?"—No, at his own place.

14,174. You said when you went to the "King's Arms you went from there to Conder Green?—No; I went to Wilson Barker on my way down.

14,175. Who told you to go there?—This gentleman I saw at the "King's Arms."

14,176. Not Wollaston?—No.

14,177. Then you did receive instructions at the "King's Arms" to go to Mr. Wilson Barker?—Yes.

14,178. You said you had received no instructions at the "King's Arms." Do attend to what I am saying, and do not contradict yourself so often. You were told by somebody at the "King's Arms" to go down to Wilson Barker's?—Yes.

14,179. And you went there?—Yes.

14,180. And received from Mr. Wilson Barker, what?—35*l.*

14,181. And you delivered that up to Holmes at Conder Green?—No, I kept the money.

14,182. Did you receive any other money at that time?—No, none.

14,183. What did you do there at Conder Green?—I stayed there.

14,184. All night?—Yes, all night.

14,185. You slept there?—I slept at a house near, not at the public-house.

14,186. What took place the next day?—The men were brought to me.

14,187. Were you in a room upstairs?—Yes, I was in a room upstairs.

14,188. You went from the place where you slept to Conder Green public-house?—Yes.

14,189. Do not let me have to suggest everything to you. You went up into a room upstairs?—Yes.

14,190. Who else was there?—Robert Holmes.

14,191. Was there anybody else there besides Robert Holmes?—The men were brought in one by one.

14,192. Was anybody else in the room with you, before the men were brought to you, besides Robert Holmes?—No.

14,193. By whom were they introduced?—Robert Holmes.

14,194. Who were they?—James Threlfall.

14,195. You were sitting in the room there?—Yes.

14,196. With your money?—Yes.

14,197. Who brought in James Threlfall?—Robert Holmes. They came in one after the other.

14,198. Tell me how it took place with regard to the first, and then we shall know it with regard to all the others. Tell me how the matter was managed with regard to James Threlfall?—Robert Holmes stood there all the time, and these men followed in one after another.

14,199. What did Robert Holmes say?—He said, "Pay him 5*l.* 12*s.* 6*d.*"

14,200. "You pay this man 5*l.* 12*s.* 6*d.*?"—Yes.

14,201. From what are you reading?—From a memorandum I made of the man's name and the sum paid.

14,202. You wrote his name down at the time?—Yes.

14,203. Is that the original memorandum?—No, it is a copy made from the original.

14,204. Where is the original?—It is destroyed.

14,205. When did you destroy it?—On Monday last.

14,206. Why did you destroy the original? Why did you make a copy of it?—The original had got soiled.

14,207. Was it so soiled that it was unfit to produce here?—I did not expect it would be anything of importance.

14,208. (Mr. Newton.) You, a clerk in a merchant's office, not knowing that an original document is of importance?—It was merely a memorandum of my own.

14,209. (Mr. Hill.) You are not quite so accurate as you might be to lead us to place implicit confidence in your evidence. What else was written on that memorandum besides what you copied?—Nothing.

14,210. Was it written in pencil or in ink?—In ink This is a correct copy.

14,211. You must know it was a very improper thing to destroy the original?—I was not aware of it, or I should not have done it.

14,212. Especially to destroy it last Monday when you knew this Commission was sitting. Who is the next?—Joseph Threlfall, 3*l.* 3*s.*; Thomas Threlfall, 3*l.* 3*s.*; William Whiteside, 3*l.* 3*s.*; James Gardner, 3*l.* 3*s.*; James Gardner, junior, 3*l.* 3*s.*; Thomas Mason, 3*l.* 3*s.*; and I paid for a vote at the "Royal Oak" 4*l.* 10*s.*

14,213. To whom did you pay that?—I do not know who it was. He was in the committee room.

14,214. How came you to pay it at the "Royal Oak?"—One of the gentlemen came to me.

14,215. Who was that gentleman?—I do not know. I never saw him before.

14,216. Who was present?—There were several men present.

14,217. Who were they?—I do not know.

14,218. Was Mr. Wollaston present?—No.

14,219. Was Danson present?—I do not know him.

14,220. Was Coupland present?—I do not know him.

14,221. Was Storey present?—I do not know him. I do not know anyone scarcely.

14,222. Was Jackson present?—No. They were strangers to me.

14,223. Do you not know to whom you gave the money?—It was for a person of the name of Tarlton or Townley.

14,224. Was it after this man had voted or before?—I think it was before.

14,225. It was a split vote then?—I do not know how he voted. I never inquired.

14,226. Was this person who introduced you some person who was there in the committee room?—Yes, he did not introduce me. He got the money from me for this man.

14,227. Did you give it to the voter?—No.

14,228. Was Townley present?—No, I think not.

14,229. He mentioned the name to you?—Yes.

14,230. You did not ask anybody whether he was a man to whom you ought to pay it?—No, I thought he was right.

14,231. Did you write it down on the paper?—Yes; I wrote it down on a piece of paper, of which this is a copy.

14,232. Did you not write his name down?—No.

14,233. How do you recollect his name was Tarlton or Townley?—I knew it was either the one or the other. I remembered it.

14,234. Is there anyone else?—No, no one else.

14,235. That makes 27*l.* What did you do with the other 8*l.*?—Robert Holmes I gave 6*l.* to.

14,236. Was that for his vote?—I suppose so. I did not ask any questions.

14,237. Did you hear Holmes bargaining at all with these voters?—No.

14,238. Was Holmes present when you gave the money for the voter at the "Royal Oak?"—No, he was not there. I did not see anything of him after the men had voted.

14,239. You know nothing more about it than you have told us?—No, nothing more.

14,240. Did you receive any other monies?—No, not a fraction.

14,241. How long did you remain in Lancaster?—I came away about 6 or 7 o'clock that night, directly after the election was over.

14,242. Where were you after you had finished paying?—I went to the "King's Arms," and there I got my tea, and from there I went to the station.

14,243. At what time did you finish your paying?—It would be about half-past 8 o'clock in the morning when I finished at Conder Green.

14,244. You did all this in about half an hour?—Yes, it was soon done. They were all there waiting.

14,245. It was very early in the day?—Yes.

14,246. And they only got these small sums?—That is all they got.

Adjourned for a short time.

SYDNEY BAKEWELL sworn and examined.

S. Bakewell.

14,247. (Mr. Barstow.) Where do you come from?—From Liverpool.

14,248. What is your employment?—I am in the office of Wilson and Cunningham, of Liverpool, as a shore purser.

14,249. I suppose you came to the Lancaster election in July 1865?—Yes.

14,250. When were you first spoken to about coming here?—On the morning of the nomination.

14,251. July 11th?—July 11th.

14,252. By whom?—By the cashier; he was the first.

14,253. Mr. W. E. Chambers?—Yes.

14,254. I think we have heard that you came with these other gentlemen?—Yes.

14,255. How many of you came together?—Four or five. I am not quite certain.

14,256. That is just what we want to know; we want to know whether there were four besides yourself, or five?—Four.

14,257. (Mr. Hill.) Four besides yourself?—I think so.

14,258. Are you sure?—Yes.

14,259. Quite sure?—Quite sure.

14,260. (Mr. Barstow.) Five in all?—Five in all.

14,261. Did you bring anything with you from Liverpool?—I did; a brown paper parcel.

14,262. Containing what?—I do not know.

14,263. Come, did it contain stockings?—No, it was rather too heavy for that.

14,264. Shirts?—No, it was a heavy parcel.

14,265. Was it money?—I could not tell; it was wrapped up too carefully.

14,266. How was it wrapped up?—It was wrapped up in brown paper. I do not know what was inside.

14,267. Could you not feel through the paper what was inside?—No, I could not.

14,268. What was the bulk of it?—It was about nine inches square.

14,269. We know perfectly well what it was, but we want you to say?—I really did not know at that time. I know now; that is, I have reason to suppose it was money.

12,270. In short it was rouleaux of gold, was it not?—I suppose it must have been from what I have heard since.

12,271. Do not give us the trouble to hammer at every question; you know quite well what we want, therefore just answer at once; who gave you that paper?—Mr. W. E. Chambers.

14,272. Where?—In the office, at Wilson's office; Wilson and Chambers, then.

14,273. Where did you go to first when you came to Lancaster?—To the "King's Arms."

14,274. Did you go there with these other gentlemen?—No.

14,275. You went by yourself?—By myself.

14,276. Where did you carry your parcel to?—To the "King's Arms."

14,277. How did you carry it?—In my hand.

14,278. Did you see anyone whom you knew, except these gentlemen who came with you from Liverpool?—No, not when I first went.

14,279. I am asking when you first went?—Not when I first went.

14,280. I suppose you did not stay long at the "King's Arms?"—No.

14,281. Where did you go to from there?—I was walking about for some time.

14,282. Carrying your parcel?—No.

14,283. What did you do with your parcel?—I inquired for Mr. Wilson; he was engaged, and I did not see him then.

14,284. That is no answer to my question. What did you do with your parcel?—I eventually gave it to one of the officials at the "King's Arms," and told him to give it to Mr. Wilson or Mr. Barker.

14,285. Was there any address upon this parcel?—No.

14,286. By an official, you mean the boots?—Yes.

14,287. And then you walked about the town?—Yes.

14,288. Did you ever get that parcel again?—No.

14,289. After you had walked about the town did you return to the "King's Arms?"—Yes.

14,290. What did you do then?—I waited some time till I saw Mr. Wilson.

14,291. What did you say to him when you saw him?—I did not say anything to him.

14,292. He said something to you?—Yes.

14,293. What did he say to you?—He asked me what I was doing.

14,294. Did you say anything to him upon that?—I said nothing.

14,295. And that was the end of the conversation, was it?—He said "Oh, then, you had better go to the "committee room;" that was in the square where the committee room was held, the "Royal Oak" I think it was.

14,296. Did you go to the committee room at the "Royal Oak?"—Yes.

14,297. What befel you there?—I went into the committee room, and mentioned to a gentleman that was there (a tall gentleman), that I was at his service.

14,298. What did the tall gentleman tell you?—He said, "I have plenty of work for you."

14,299. Do you know who the tall gentleman was?—I do not.

14,300. You do not now know?—No.

14,301. Was he a very tall gentleman?—I suppose he might be about 5 feet 8, as near as I can guess.

14,302. That is not very tall for Lancaster. I do not know what it would be at Liverpool. You said you were at his service?—Yes.

14,303. What service did you perform for him?—He pointed out to me one of the captains of the district and said, "If you will go with him you can assist him."

FOURTEENTH DAY.

S. Bakewell.

12 Sept. 1866.

14,304. A captain of what district?—The Skerton district.

14,305. It all comes to this, that at the committee room you saw the captain of the Skerton district?—Yes.

14,306. After all these questions and answers we come at last to that; may we add that you went with him to Skerton?—Yes.

14,307. I presume you did not go empty-handed?—Yes, that time.

14,308. That time you took nothing?—Nothing at all, except what I had of my own.

14,309. Do you know what was the name of the captain?—No, I do not.

14,310. When you went to Skerton what did you do?—We went visiting at different houses.

14,311. You left your card upon the voters, did you?—No, we merely went collecting them and mustering them together to one house, with that intention.

14,312. I suppose you finished mustering them at some time or other?—Yes.

14,313. At what time was that?—About 1 o'clock, or after 1.

14,314. That would be 1 on the morning of the 12th; we have got to that time now?—Yes.

14,315. When you had finished mustering them what did you do?—We mustered them at this public-house, gave them plenty to eat and drink, and left them there safe for the morning; it was late on in the morning.

14,316. In how many public-houses did you muster them?—Only in the one that I was at.

14,317. What public-house was that?—I cannot tell the name, it was on the right hand.

14,318. On the right hand as you go over the bridge?—Yes.

14,319. Then you left them safe, with plenty to eat and drink, I suppose?—Yes.

14,320. What did you do yourself?—I stopped there and went to bed.

14,321. At Skerton?—Yes.

14,322. Had you plenty to eat and drink?—Yes, as much as I required.

14,323. And I hope you got up quite well next morning?—Yes.

14,324. As fresh as a daisy?—I got up at 5 o'clock.

14,325. And did you take a walk before breakfast?—Yes.

14,326. Where to?—To the "King's Arms."

14,327. Whom did you see at the "King's Arms?"—I did not see anyone; they were not up.

14,328. You walked about till they were up, I suppose?—Yes.

14,329. When they were up what took place?—I did not see anyone that I wanted to see, and so I went to the committee-room, and from there to Mr. Barker.

14,330. Did you see Mr. Barker?—Yes.

14,331. About what time in the morning was it that you saw Mr. Barker?—Between 6 and 7, as near as I can recollect.

14,332. What did you get from Mr. Barker?—150*l.*

14,333. The first that must be; you got two sums of 150*l.* from him?—Yes.

14,334. What did you do with that money?—I took it down to the house at Skerton.

14,335. When you got to the "Black Bull" what did you do?—I went into a room upstairs.

14,336. Who took you upstairs?—The captain of the district.

14,337. You do not remember his name?—No, I do not; there were several of them.

14,338. If you were to hear it should you know it?—I fancy I should.

14,339. Was the name Atkinson?—He was one.

14,340. But he was not the one who took you upstairs?—I do not think he was; he was one working with me.

14,341. Carruthers?—Yes, I think he was.

14,342. Did he take you upstairs?—I really could not be sure which of them it was.

14,343. It was either Atkinson or Carruthers?—Yes, it was one or the other.

14,344. I suppose you were not left very long alone?—No.

14,345. Did Mr. Atkinson or Carruthers introduce any friends to you?—Yes.

14,346. Did they bring any letter of recommendation with them?—No.

14,347. I suppose they mentioned their names at any rate?—Yes.

14,348. And with the name some sum of money?—Yes.

14,349. And you paid that sum?—Yes.

14,350. Do you happen to know the landlord's name?—No.

14,351. I see you put your hand in your pocket, that is to produce to us a list of these names, I am sure?—Yes, that is correct.

14,352. Before we have the names just tell me what that list is, and when you made the list you are going to produce to us now?—It is a copy of the original list; a copy from my book.

14,353. Where is your book or the original list?—It is with me. I have it (producing it).

14,354. You have both the original and a copy?—Yes.

14,355. Then have the goodness to hand up the original and keep the copy yourself?—The question is whether you will understand it; it is merely pencil memorandums (handing the book to the Commissioners).

14,356. I believe we have had it from you before, but it seems to have escaped my brother Commissioners that you received two sums of 150*l.*?—Yes.

14,357. 300*l.* altogether?—Yes.

14,358. Was that the whole of the money you received?—The whole of the money.

14,359. I think we may go now to the names of the persons you paid. As each man came in did you jot down his name and the sum that he received?—Yes.

14,360. And are they the names that you wrote down at the time?—Yes, I think they are all in; I will not be sure.

14,361. Who was the first?—I do not know who was the first that I paid.

14,362. Give us the first name on your list?—There is W. Atkinson for three; that is Martin Ireland 10*l.*

14,363. The next two names are "per Atkinson?"—Yes.

14,364. What is the next?—H. Huntington, D. Irving.

14,365. (Mr. Hill.) You wrote these down as they were given you?—Yes.

14,366. (Mr. Barstow.) 10*l.* to each?—5*l.* to Irving.

14,367. And the others 2*l.* 10*s.*?—Yes.

14,368. Now the next?—W. Trought.

14,369. What did he get?—10*l.*

14,370. The next?—W. Helme, 8*l.*

14,371. The next?—J. Redhead, 8*l.*; R. Atkinson, 7*l.*; then to J. Wilson, for six voters, 72*l.*

14,372. That was for six voters?—Yes, including himself.

14,373. Is this George Wilson, of Skerton, cabinet-maker?—I do not know.

14,374. Have you the names of the voters?—Yes. W. Redhead, George Wilson (the one that received the money for the others), Edward Marshall, W. Gudgeon, and C. Gudgeon.

14,375. They received 12*l.* each?—Yes.

14,376. Now we wish to know how this was managed, and how George Wilson got the money; did you see the voters?—No, not all of them.

14,377. George Wilson, I suppose, came into the room?—Yes.

14,378. Were any of the voters with him?—If I recollect right, there were one or two of them.

14,379. What did Wilson say to you when he asked you for the money?—I referred to the captain of the district as to what was the sum.

14,380. Did they authorize you to pay it?—Yes.

14,381. Did they make any demur to paying it?—I did.

14,382. You made some demur, but the captains settled your scruples?—Yes.

14,383. Did they say they had made any bargain with Wilson?—No; I had made a bargain with them for 5*l.* in the early part.

14,384. You had made a bargain with Mr. Wilson for 5*l.*?—With most of them I had.

14,385. Do you mean most of those six?—No, I could not say for those six.

14,386. But the voters generally?—Yes, the voters generally; about 5*l.* was my calculation.

14,387. What did Wilson say?—He said they would not be satisfied with less than 12*l.*

14,388. But did he say anything about voting, or did he say that he had had a more liberal offer from the other side?—No; he told me the enemy had got into our camp, and reported the sums that they were giving on the other side.

14,389. Did he mention any sum that they were giving?—Yes.

14,390. What sum was that?—12*l.* to 15*l.*

14,391. This, I suppose, was before 8 o'clock?—Yes.

14,392. Did you infer from anything he said that if you did not pay him 12*l.* he would vote the other way?—Yes.

14,393. I should like to know what he said that induced you to think so?—He said that unless we came out with the money for the voters they would not vote for us.

14,394. Then, I suppose, the captains saw that they were hard pressed and authorized you to pay his demand?—Yes.

14,395. Now go on with the rest, if you please?—J. Leighton, 12*l.*; R. Bell, 12*l.*; J. Jackson, 12*l.*

14,396. Those payments must have pretty well exhausted your 150*l.*?—Yes; previous to paying that money I sent up word to the committee room the fix that I was in.

14,397. Who did you send?—I do not know who it was.

14,398. You sent a messenger, but you do not know who?—No.

14,399. You mean previous to paying Wilson's demand?—Yes.

14,400. Before paying any of the twelve-pounders?—Yes.

14,401. Then we may take it that before you paid these sums of 12*l.* you sent for instructions to the committee room?—Yes.

14,402. To whom did you send?—I did not give any name; I told the messenger to go to the committee room.

14,403. Did you give him a note?—No.

14,404. He took a verbal message from you to the committee room?—A verbal message.

14,405. Did one of the captains go for you?—No.

14,406. You do not remember at all who it was?—No, I do not.

14,407. Was he recommended to you by a captain?—Yes, he was recommended.

14,408. Did the same person come back to you?—Yes.

14,409. What instructions did he bring you?—Nothing satisfactory, further than not to lose any votes, that was all.

14,410. I suppose by this time your eyes were opened as to the mode in which votes were gained in Lancaster?—Yes.

14,411. Did he bring back the means of gaining those votes?—No, I went for the means myself.

14,412. To whom did you go?—To Mr. Barker.

14,413. And then we may take it that you got the other 150*l.*—Yes.

14,414. Now go on, if you please, with the payments?—J. Jackson, I think, was the last—M. Bailey.

14,415. How much?—12*l.* 2*s.* 6*d.*

14,416. Now the next?—Cash to T. Winder for three voters, 36*l.*

14,417. Can you give us the names of the voters?—Yes; H. Smith, Winder, and Knowles.

14,418. Do you know Knowles's christian name or initial?—It is T.—Thomas.

14,419. 12*l.* each?—Yes.

14,420. Now the next?—F. J. Jopson, 10*l.*

14,421. The next?—J. Wearing, 5*l.*

14,422. The next?—J. Moseley, 10*l.*; J. Ellershaw, 5*l.*; W. Burrow, 12*l.*; J. B. Richmond, 10*l.*; W. G. Richmond, 10*l.*; R. Aldren, 5*l.*

14,423. Senior or junior?—I do not know which it would be.

14,424. Did you not pay both?—No.

14,425. Are you quite sure?—No, I have only one.

14,426. Do you know who paid the other?—No, I do not; William Armstrong, 6*l.*

14,427. Is there not another Armstrong?—No.

14,428. What is next?—That is all I think.

14,429. Then you had some money to return?—Yes.

14,430. About what time had you finished paying?—About 2 o'clock.

14,431. Two in the afternoon?—Yes.

14,432. Then, I suppose, you left the "Black Bull?"—Yes.

14,433. Where did you go to?—I went to the committee room.

14,434. Did you see anyone there?—No one particular.

14,435. Where did you go to from the committee room?—I waited there till the close of the poll.

14,436. And then where did you go to?—I returned to Liverpool.

14,437. About what time did you return to Liverpool, 6 or 7 o'clock?—I think it was 6 o'clock.

14,438. What did you do with the balance?—There was 30*s.* I paid to Mrs. Cowell, a publican: that was on the evening before.

14,439. The 11th?—Yes.

14,440. (Mr. Newton.) Who is Mrs. Cowell?—A publican.

14,441. (Mr. Barstow.) Did you make any other payment?—2*l.* 2*s.* 6*d.* for sundry expenses; 7*s.* 6*d.* myself, and 1*l.* 15*s.* I paid for others, amounting together to 2*l.* 2*s.* 6*d.* 9*l.* 5*s.* I returned to Mr. Barker.

14,442. Do you happen to know whether there was any other Liverpool gentleman in Skerton that morning?—No.

14,443. When you say no, do you mean that there was no other, or that you do not know whether there was or not?—I do not know; there was nobody but me so far as I know.

14,444. That was the end of your connexion with the Lancaster election?—Yes, and very glad I was when it was over.

14,445. You see it was not quite over?—No, I am sorry to say it was not.

14,446. (Mr. Newton.) Did you know Mr. Lawrence previously by sight?—Yes.

14,447. Did you see him that day?—Yes.

14,448. Where?—At the "King's Arms."

14,449. After the election?—Yes.

14,450. When you had done all your work?—Yes.

FOURTEENTH DAY.

Mr. T. E. Taylor.

12 Sept. 1866.

Mr. Thomas Edward Taylor sworn and examined.

14,451. (Mr. Newton.) What are you?—A merchant in Liverpool.

14,452. Are you a merchant on your own account?—I am in partnership.

14,453. With whom are you in partnership?—With Mr. Lawrence; with the two Mr. Lawrences and Mr. Pennell.

14,454. What is the name of your firm?—Edward Lawrence and Company.

14,455. Of course you are a personal friend of Mr. Lawrence, the candidate?—Yes.

14,456. Mr. Edward Lawrence?—Yes.

14,457. We understood yesterday that you were at Lancaster on the day of the nomination?—Yes.

14,458. Will you be so good as to tell us what induced you to come here?—I was asked to come by Mr. Wilson and Mr. John Lawrence.

14,459. Had you ever any conversation on the subject with Mr. Edward Lawrence?—No, not before the election. I had only recently come from abroad. He may have said something to me about it.

14,460. You did not come here at his request?—No.

14,461. How long before coming here had it been arranged between you, Mr. Wilson, and Mr. J. Lawrence, that you were to come?—Three or four days.

14,462. Was anything said when that arrangement was made as to the purpose of your coming?—No; they asked me to come to Lancaster and assist in the election.

14,463. What did you understand by assisting at the election?—To make myself generally useful.

14,464. But something more than that, I think?—I understood that I was to assist them by canvassing, or in any way else in which I might be useful.

14,465. You understoood you were to make yourself generally useful?—Yes.

14,466. In what way?—By canvassing or otherwise.

14,467. If you had been in court this morning you could have heard that there were canvassers enough?—I found there was no use in canvassing when I came here.

14,468. You say you understood you were to make yourself general useful by canvassing or otherwise; what do you mean by "otherwise?"—I can hardly tell you.

14,469. You came to Lancaster on the day of the nomination?—No, two or three days previous.

14,470. At what house did you put up?—At the "King's Arms."

14,471. Mr. Lawrence was there?—Mr. Edward Lawrence was there.

14,472. Did you dine and breakfast with him?—No.

14,473. May I ask where Mr. Lawrence breakfasted and dined?—I do not know; I dined in the coffee-room all the time I dined there, and he dined, I believe, upstairs, to the best of my knowledge.

14,474. Where was his brother? Where did he dine?—He was not there, he only came on the day of nomination.

14,475. What did you do with yourself those two or three days?—Almost nothing.

14,476. When did you begin to do something?—On the morning of the election.

14,477. The morning of the polling?—The morning of the polling.

14,478. On the night of the nomination?—The morning of the polling. I went round to several places the night of the nomination, but I did not do anything.

14,479. You went round to see what was going on?—Yes.

14,480. The first thing you did, I suppose, was, you went to the committee room on the day of the polling?—No, I did not go into the committee room fitst.

14,481. Where did you go?—I went from the hotel, I think, to Mr. Wilson Barker's, to the best of my recollection.

14,482. I suppose it had been arranged beforehand between you and Mr. Barker?—Yes; I do not think I had had much conversation with him.

14,483. Who did you arrange with, then?—I met Mr. Coupland the night before.

14,484. He was a captain of a district?—I believe so.

14,485. And you arranged with him the night before?—Yes; he was to call for me at the hotel, and we were to go, to the best of my recollection, to Mr. Wilson Barker's together.

14,486. Coupland and you arranged to go to Barker's, and you went there?—Yes.

14,487. Did Mr. Barker give you anything?—He gave me 300*l.*

14,488. How was this 300*l.* done up?—It was in a parcel I think—a parcel or a bag, I am not quite sure which.

14,489. We have heard that some of this money was wrapt up in rouleaux?—I think it was.

14,490. Was it in a canvas bag?—I really cannot recollect, it was either in a parcel or in a bag; I think it was in a parcel.

14,491. And then you started off?—Yes.

14,492. With Mr. Coupland?—With Mr. Coupland.

14,493. Now tell us what you did that morning, and where you went?—We went to a public-house together; I do not know which public-house.

14,494. I think I might tell you the "Boar's Head?"—I should not know the name if I heard it again.

14,495. But I can tell you that was the house; you went there with Mr. Coupland?—With Mr. Coupland.

14,496. What time in the morning was it when you got to the "Boar's Head?"—I think about 8 o'clock, perhaps it was a little before.

14,497. What did you do then?—I went into one room, and he went into another.

14,498. Upstairs?—Yes.

14,499. On the same floor?—I do not know where he was, he was in some other room.

14,500. You were closeted up there by yourself?—Yes.

14,501. You were upstairs?—I was upstairs.

14,502. What then happened?—He sent some men to me with pieces of paper.

14,503. (Mr. Barstow.) Are you quite sure this was Mr. Coupland?—I am told so.

14,504. What was his appearance? What was he like?—I had never seen him before; he was pointed out to me in court, or I should not have recognized him.

14,505. You went into one room and he into another?—Yes.

14,506. Can you give me the name of anybody you saw there that you knew?—No.

14,507. Do you know the name of William Harrison?—No.

14,508. Or James Harrison?—No.

14,509. Have you a list of the money you paid away?—No.

14,510. Have you a list at all?—No. I merely made a memorandum at the time, just of the sums, but no name on it.

14,511. When was the memorandum made?—Just at the time when I was in the room.

14,512. What became of that memorandum?—I do not know.

14,513. I am sure you will tell us, to the best of your recollection, what occurred that morning. You say you do not know what became of the memorandum—whether you destroyed it or whether it was lost?—I have not destroyed it, and I do not know where it is; it has been mislaid or destroyed, I do not know which.

14,514. Have you ever looked for it?—No; it would be useless my looking for it, for I do not know where to look.

14,515. It was not such a common occurrence you know coming over to Lancaster to distribute 300*l.*?—It was merely a memorandum to remember certain figures; there were no names on it, I merely put down on it the sums I disbursed.

14,516. What was the use of making it if no names were put down upon it?—It was only to see how much I paid.

14,517. You wrote down no name against the figure?—No name.

14,518. Merely a sum of money?—The sum I paid.

14,519. But not the man's name?—No.

14,520. Did you inquire for their names?—No, I did not know a single name.

14,521. I suppose you would have a long list of figures in a row?—Yes.

14,523. When did you last see that list?—I cannot tell.

14,524. Within a year?—I could not say when I saw it last.

14,525. Have you ever looked for it since, for the purpose of this inquiry?—No.

14,526. Has it never occurred to you to look for it?—No; and even if I found it it would be of no use.

14,527. Yes, it would be of great use to us, because it would enable us to know whether Mr. Coupland has told us all right?—If I can find it you shall have it.

14,528. Just tell us what occurred then?—A number of men came into the room with pieces of paper.

14,529. Did they come in by themselves?—They came one by one.

14,530. Were they introduced by anybody?—There was a man at the door.

14,531. There was a man at the door was there?—Two, I think; I think there were two men at the door.

14,532. You never heard the men's names?—No.

14,533. Were the men at the door changed, or were they always the same men?—I think they were the same men.

14,534. Who opened the door?—One of these two men, and ushered other men into the room.

14,535. Did he say "Mr. Hodgson," when he ushered a man in, or did he mention any name?—No; they merely presented the slips of paper.

14,536. The door-keepers did?—No, the men who came into the room.

14,537. What were these tickets?—Merely a ticket with a sum of money written on each.

14,538. And the name?—No name.

14,539. And according to the sum written on the ticket you gave?—Yes.

14,540. How long did this last?—I fancy two or three hours.

14,541. Which ended first, you or the voters?—The money ended first. I had a second instalment of money.

14,542. You say you wrote down the sums on this paper; did you account to anybody for the sums you had paid away?—No; I merely left the balance I had left with somebody at the "King's Arms."

14,543. But you did not account for this 300*l.*?—No, I got it from Mr. Barker; I think I gave him a receipt for it, but I am not sure.

14,544. Was it a stamped and legal receipt?—I cannot remember; I rather think it was not.

14,545. When the 300*l.* was paid away what did you do next?—I sent for Mr. Coupland and told him I had paid it all away, and he got me some more.

14,546. Coupland being in the house?—Yes.

14,547. Who did you send?—One of the door-keepers.

14,548. Tell us what sort of message you sent?—I asked Mr. Coupland to come and see me, and I think I told him that the money was done, and he sent for some more.

14,549. Did he go for more?—I do not know whether he went for it himself or whether he sent another person.

14,550. However, you got some more?—I got some more.

14,551. What time would that be?—I should think about 10 or 11 o'clock.

14,552. How soon after that did you get some more?—Perhaps half an hour or a quarter of an hour after.

14,553. How much did you get?—300*l.*

14,554. Who gave you that?—I do not know whether Coupland gave it me personally or sent it by somebody.

14,555. Did you give a receipt for it?—I do not think I did.

14,556. Did the same process go on again?—Yes.

14,557. The door was locked and door-keepers appointed?—I do not think the door was locked.

14,558. How long did this 300*l.* last you?—I did not spend the whole of it.

14,559. You got 600*l.* in all?—Yes, 600*l.* altogether.

14,560. The same thing went on again?—Yes.

14,561. How long did this last the second time?—I should think till about 1 or 2 o'clock, to the best of my knowledge.

14,562. Which ended first, your voters or the money then?—The voters.

14,563. How much money had you remaining?—I think about 70*l.*

14,564. What did you do with that balance?—I left it at the "King's Arms" in the evening.

14,565. With whom?—I do not know; I left it with somebody with instructions to give it to Mr. Barker.

14,566. How much?—I think about 70*l.*

14,567. Do you mean to say you gave the 70*l.* to a man you did not know?—It was somebody connected with the election; I did not know him; I was in a hurry to catch a train. I should not be able to recognize him now if I were to see him.

14,568. How many payments do you suppose you made that morning altogether?—I should think, perhaps, 40 or 50, I can hardly tell.

14,569. You got back to the "King's Arms" about 2 o'clock?—Yes, I believe so.

14,570. Did you see Mr. Lawrence on that day?—I do not think I saw him till after the close of the poll.

14,571. Had you seen him the night previous?—Yes, I saw him the night previous.

14,572. At what time?—I fancy it would be about 9 o'clock, 8 or 9 o'clock; I do not know when, some time in the evening.

14,573. Was that before you saw Mr. Coupland?—I think I had seen Mr. Coupland before that, and I saw him after as well.

14,574. I suppose Mr. Lawrence knew perfectly well what you were going to do the next evening?—No; to the best of my belief I do not think he did.

14,575. Was it kept an entire secret between you and Mr. Coupland?—Mr. Barker knew it.

14,576. Who else?—I think Mr. Wilson did.

14,577. Where was Mr. Edward Lawrence on that day?—I think he was at the "King's Arms" nearly all day; I believe so. Of course I was not there myself, but I think he was.

14,578. Where was Mr. John Lawrence that day?—I do not know; I saw him when I came to the "King's Arms."

14,579. Did you see him that morning?—No; I saw him at the committee room.

14,580. You did not see him that morning?—No; I saw him after midnight, about 1 in the morning.

14,581. Did you see him later in the morning?—No.

14,582. I suppose you heard where he was?—No, I do not know where he was.

14,583. You heard where he was?—No, I did not hear where he was anywhere especially, unless he was at the committee-room all day.

14,584. You do not think he was employed similarly to yourself?—No, I do not.

14,585. What makes you think so?—Because I I think he would have told me if he had been.

14,586. Did you tell him what you were doing?—He knew afterwards.

FOURTEENTH DAY.

Mr. T. E. Taylor.

12 Sept. 1866.

14,587. When did you tell him?—I think the same night. We went to Scotland together.

14,588. From Liverpool?—From Lancaster.

14,589. (Mr. Hill.) Besides paying these voters in the manner you have stated, did you leave any sums with a person whom we tell you was Coupland?—I think there were some odd sums disbursed besides; I cannot tell you exactly what.

14,590. Can you tell me about the amounts?—I think there was an amount of 8*l.* or 9*l.*

14,591. What was it for?—I do not know.

14,592. Was at for a bill or to give to some person?—I think it was for a bill. It was not for the same purpose, I think, as the other.

14,593. You gave it to Coupland?—I do not know whether I gave it to him, but I know I gave it to somebody. There was an odd sum given.

14,594. You can recollect whether that was for a public-house bill or for what it was?—I think it was for a bill.

14,595. That is not provided in the money given to the voters?—No; it is exclusive of money for voters.

14,596. Was that the public-house in which you were?—I do not know what it was for.

14,597. You gave it to some one, and do not recollect to whom?—No.

14,598. Do you think it was to Coupland?—I think it was.

14,599. Did you not also give to Coupland another sum of 10*l.* for one of his sub-captains?—I cannot recollect. I know I gave several sums exclusive of the money I gave to voters.

14,600. One of those you have told us was about 8*l.* or 9*l.* What would the other sums be?—I do not suppose they would amount altogether to above 20*l.*; perhaps about 20*l.*

14,601. Would that be all for bills, or other payments to voters?—I think it was all for bills.

14,602. Is there any other payment you can think of?—No.

14,603. You really have no recollection of any of the names of these voters?—No, not one.

14,604. Have you read Mr. Coupland's evidence?—Yes.

14,605. To the best of your belief is that evidence correct?—Yes, it is.

14,606. You recollect, as far as your memory serves you, no inaccuracy in it?—No.

14,607. Should you know any of these voters whom you paid by seeing them again?—No.

14,608. If they were placed before you?—No.

14,609. Can you tell by looking round the court whether any of them are present?—(Having looked round the court.) No.

14,610. If you find the memorandum which you have lost you will furnish us with it?—Yes.

P. Wollaston.

PERCY WOLLASTON recalled and further examined.

14,611. (Mr. Barstow.) I understand you wish to make some statement?—I made some slight mistake, and that was with regard to a sum of money paid to a man of the name of Jackson. I suppose I put it down to I. Jackson instead of J. Jackson, and confused it with Isaac Jackson. It is with regard to the money I paid at the village, which turns out to be Scotforth.

14,612. You have found out that you went to Scotforth?—Yes; I met a gentleman at the "King's Arms" last night who went with me.

14,613. Who was that?—Mr. Halstead. No doubt I entered it to J. Jackson, and confused it with Isaac Jackson.

14,614. I do not quite understand it now?—In addition to the names I gave yesterday, I paid J. Jackson, which, I believe, is James Jackson or John Jackson, 7*l.*; and I presume I put it in error to Isaac Jackson, so that really I only paid Isaac Jackson 173*l.* instead of 180*l.*

14,615. (Mr. Newton.) Are we to strike out Isaac Jackson for J. Jackson?—No. I stated yesterday that I paid several sums to Isaac Jackson amounting to 180*l.*; and the first payment of 30*l.* is made up of this 7*l.* which appears to have been paid to John Jackson, so that I paid him 23*l.* instead of 30*l.*

14,616. So that we are to put, in addition to your list of paid voters, J. Jackson, 7*l.*?—Yes, and it will make Isaac Jackson's money 173*l.* instead of 180*l.*

14,617. (Mr. Barstow.) By what process of thought did you come to find out that you paid J. Jackson, 7*l.* instead of 30*l.* to Isaac Jackson?—Mr. Halstead told me that I had paid it. I saw him last night, and he told me I had made a mistake in part of my evidence and had omitted the name of J. Jackson.

14,618. That is all that passed?—Yes, that is all that passed. I found I had left it out, and the only way I could account for it was that I had entered it to J. Jackson and confused it with Isaac Jackson.

14,619. (Mr. Hill.) Why did you not read out your list yesterday in the order in which it is down?—I did.

14,620. (Mr. Barstow.) What was Mr. Halstead doing with you at Scotforth; did he walk there with you?—Yes.

14,621. (Mr. Newton.) Was he in court yesterday?—No; he read my evidence in the paper, and said that I had made a mistake, that I had paid a man 7*l.* which I had not mentioned.

14,622. Where was this?—At the "King's Arms.'

14,623. Last night?—Yes, I casually went in and found him sitting there and he made that remark; he said I had omitted mentioning one person to whom I had paid 7*l.*

14,624. (Mr. Barstow.) Had Halstead gone there to meet you, do you suppose?—No, I had not the slightest idea he was there.

G. Vince.

GEORGE VINCE sworn and examined.

14,625. (Mr. Hill.) What are you?—An auctioneer and appraiser.

14,626. Where?—In Lancaster.

14,627. You are a Conservative?—Yes.

14,628. And you were engaged upon the side of Mr. Lawrence at the last election?—Yes, I was.

14,629. What were your duties at the last election?—I went down to Morecambe on the day before the election, otherwise I did not interfere much in the election at all.

14,630. By whose instructions did you go down?—I volunteered partly to go.

14,631. Whom did you see, and with whom did you arrange that you should go?—Mr. Bulfield of, the "Cross Keys," Mr. Mashiter, and Thomas Procter.

14,632. You arranged with Bulfield and others?—Yes, five of them altogether.

14,633. Did you all six go down together?—No, there were five of us together.

14,634. Where did you go to at Morecambe?—The first place I went to was the "Joiners' Arms."

14,635. What did you go to the "Joiners' Arms" for?—To get every information I could from the opposite side.

14,636. You went into the enemy's camp?—Yes; I did not hire anyone to go in like Mr. Shackleton did; I went myself.

14,637. Did you do anything in the matter of the election at the "Joiners' Arms?—Yes."

14,638. What was that?—I gained information that Mr. Shackleton was going to pay the whole of the voters he could get hold of on Saturday, at 4 o'clock, half of the money that they were to have.

14,639. From whom did you learn it?—I learnt it from the landlord. He was not aware what I was after, but I got what I wanted.

14,640. That was from Mr. Edmondson?—Yes.

14,641. Having got that piece of information what steps did you take?—I thought it was a nice opportunity to be taking the wind out of Mr. Shackleton's sails.

14,642. How did you proceed upon that nautical practice?—I came up to Lancaster after consulting with Mrs. Willacy what was best to be done.

14,643. Who is Mrs. Willacy?—The landlady at the "King's Arms Hotel."

14,644. At Morecambe?—Yes.

14,645. Did you take her advice?—Yes, and my own as well.

14,646. What was her advice?—She said we must be in before them.

14,647. She said the first in would win?—Of course I knew if we were not in first we should not get any voters.

14,648. You came to Lancaster?—Yes.

14,649. And saw the committee?—Yes, I saw Mr. Coupland, and with Mr. Coupland stated the case to Mr. Wilson and I got some funds.

14,650. From whom did you get the funds?—From Mr. Coupland, he went down with me.

14,651. With what funds did Mr. Coupland supply you?—80*l.*; I see by a statement he gave me 80*l.* on the 7th July, that is the Friday before the election.

14,652. What other monies did you receive for the purposes of the election?—I received 2*l.* from Mr. Bulfield before, when we went down in the conveyance.

14,653. What else did you receive?—Nothing that day; on a future day I received 20*l.* from Mr. George Clark, that was on the Monday before the nomination.

14,654. July the 10th?—Yes.

14,655. What else did you receive?—I received nothing further before the election.

14,656. What else did you receive at any time?—I think about 7*s.* 6*d.* or 8*s.* to pay Mr. Longmire for a conveyance, and I think 50*s.* to pay five staff men.

14,657. From whom did you receive that?—Mr. Gibson, after the election.

14,658. You received altogether from Mr. Gibson 2*l.* 17*s.* 6*d.*?—Yes, I received a further sum on the 26th of June, from Mr. Coupland, of 2*l.*

14,659. In June or July do you mean?—June, and I returned to him 25*s.* a day or two after.

14,660. You received from him then 15*s.*?—Yes.

14,661. Did you receive any further sums?—No, I think not.

14,662. Did you receive nothing further after the election?—No, I think not.

14,663. I have got 80*l.*, 2*l.*, 20*l.*, 2*l.* 17*s.* 6*d.* from Gibson, and 15*s.* from Coupland?—Yes, that is right.

14,664. Making 105*l.* 12*s.* 6*d.*?—Yes.

14,665. What monies did you pay away during the election?—The first money I paid away, or rather, the first man I saw was Richard Hall, he is in the Morecambe list; I had seen him before; he said he was a Conservative, but on account of the pay he went to the Liberals in 1864; I went to see him; he wanted 7*l.* to buy some bottles with to commence a ginger beer trade. That was about three weeks before the election. I took him to Mr. Coupland, but I thought he was too heavy a metal man and so I dropt him.

14,666. You thought at that time 7*l.* would be too much to pay?—Yes. The next man I saw was Levi Baines, who was far gone in consumption, and out of the 2*l.* I got from Mr. Coupland I got him two bottles of wine, and that accounts for the 15*s.*

14,667. What next?—I went down to Morecambe.

14,668. When was that?—That was the Friday before the election, and I paid Richard Armistead, senior, 2*l.*

14,669. Poulton-le-Sands, labourer?—I do not know them; Mrs. Willacy would know; she paid some and I paid the others, but it was all out of the money I had received.

14,670. What was that 2*l.* for?—A retainer I call it.

14,671. What was the next?—William Beesley, 2*l.*

14,672. W. T. Beesley, Poulton-le-Sands, tailor?—Yes.

14,673. Did you give that to him as a retainer?—Yes, Richard Bond, son of Thomas, Poulton-le-Sands, fisherman; Thomas Armistead, Poulton-le-Sands, fisherman, 2*l.*; Nathan Armistead, 2*l.* I gave that to Mrs. Willacy, and she gave it to him, William Armistead, senior.

14,674. He voted Fenwick and Schneider?—That may be.

14,675. How much did you give him?—2*l.*, James Armistead, son of William, Poulton-le-Sands, fisherman, 2*l.*; Jonas Edmondson, junior, 2*l.*; William Bond, junior, farmer, Poulton-le-Sands, 2*l.*

14,676. Are you quite sure that was William Bond?—Yes, I know him very well, I have occasion to know him.

14,677. You do know him? Why do you shake your head?—He was a bad one to manage. He was too fond of money.

14,678. He was not satisfied with the 2*l.* you gave him?—No; and if I had had a cart full, I do not think he would have been satisfied with that.

14,679. Who is the next?—William Bond, senior. I gave 2*l.* to his son for him. He is since dead; Thomas Bond, son of John, 2*l.*; Charles Bond, 2*l.*

14,680. Is he a husbandman?—Yes, I think it would be him; George Bond, son of Thomas, I have it down here, but I think that is a mistake. It must have been son of John. I gave his brother 3*l.* for him.

14,681. Who was his brother?—William. He was away and he wanted 1*l.* for him to come.

14,682. He got 3*l.*?—Yes; Thomas Bond, 3*l.*; William Hadwen, junior, 2*l.*; Daniel Bell, 2*l.*; Robert Edmondson, butcher, 2*l.*; Richard Armistead, son of James, 2*l.*

14,683. Is he a fisherman?—I really cannot tell you.

14,684. Did he vote for you?—I believe he did. There is one of them did not.

14,685. Is it Richard Armistead, Poulton-le-Sands, labourer?—Yes, that is him. The next is John Threlfall, Henry Threlfall, James Threlfall, and William Threlfall, 2*l.* each. I am not sure that one of them did not take the lot.

14,686. What was William Threlfall?—They are all fishermen, I believe.

14,687. I am afraid Henry Threlfall only gave you a split vote for your money?—Very likely; it would not be all he got. Then Curwen, 2*l.*, I believe he spent that.

14,688. I suppose most of them did. Who was the next?—James Howson, 2*l.*; Richard Armistead, son of William; I offered him the money, but he would not have it then, and told me to give it into the hands of Mr. Bulfield, and he would call for it on Saturday morning following.

14,690. Did he get it?—Yes; I have seen the receipt for it, but I do not know whether Mr. Bulfield has it or not. He voted against us; he got more money besides, and voted against us; and I believe got nearly a thrashing for it. He got the money from Mr. Bulfield and denied ever receiving it.

14,691. Is he the son of James?—I cannot tell you. He voted for Fenwick and Schneider.

14,692. How much did you give him?—I gave 2*l.* to Mr. Bulfield for him. He got it and then denied having it.

14,693. You discussed this matter fully?—I talked about it at the time. He got paid besides that, and had to refund.

14,694. What I mean is it would be no use his denying it now. You have discussed it out?—Yes. We have talked about it many a time since; a little rascal I called him. Then comes Richard Bond. I believe they all voted for us, except two.

14,695. Did you pay all those who voted for you? No, I did not pay all of them. There are some that

FOURTEENTH DAY.

G. Vince.

12 Sept. 1866.

I did not see. Mrs. Willacy will tell you who they were. She vouched they were all right.

14,696. How much did you give to Bond?—2*l.* Then Thomas Hadwen I paid that night 2*l.*

14,697. Did you give him anything more afterwards?—No.

14,698. What did you say "that night" for?—I came away. I had finished as far as I could.

14,699. Is this the end of them?—No. Would you like to have the rest of the payments I made that day?

14,700. I want all the voters you paid?—John Edmondson I paid on the Monday night, 2*l.*; I paid him that as a retainer. I think I have made a mistake with regard to one of the Bonds, I think William Bond took 2*l.* for his brother Edward.

14,701. You have not given Edward Bond?—No. I think I have made a mistake in putting Richard.

14,702. Do you mean that you have given us one Richard too many, or that you have given us an Edward short?—I think I have given you an Edward short.

14,703. Will Mrs. Willacy know it?—I do not know. She had no memorandum, and I had.

14,704. She has a good head?—She says she has a bad memory.

14,705. What is he?—He was scalded to death in one of the steamers.

14,706. You gave it to William?—Yes, I think so, but I am not positive.

14,707. Who was the next?—John Edmondson, 2*l.* I gave Edward Edmondson and Edward Edmondson, junior, 2*l.* each. I gave it to Thomas Edmondson for them. They are Heysham men. I thought they might make a double on me, and I see I made a memorandum against their names "See Mr. Hatch."

14,708. What has Mr. Hatch to do with it?—I think they were in his district.

14,709. What is the next?—That is all I paid.

14,710. Those are all the voters you paid?—Yes; but here is a lot of money I spent, and some of it was given to voters. I called again at Edmondson's after I had done that to see if there were any stray sheep.

14,711. When was that?—July the 7th. When I was ushered into the committee-room there were a lot of freemen there, and I gave them 10*s.* to drink Mr. Lawrence's health.

14,712. Was this at the "Joiners' Arms," on the evening of the 7th?—Yes.

14,713. We will call that refreshment to voters?—Yes; I gave Mr. Maud, who keeps the "Black Bull," 20*s.*

14,714. Is he a voter?—Yes; I told him that if any of the voters came there, he was to treat them. I gave to Mr. Bradshaw 20*s.*; he did not want it, but I gave it to him to counteract the resident captains on the other side. I gave it to him to give to any voters he met. That was on the Friday night.

14,715. What is he?—A surgeon, or doctor, in Morecambe.

14,716. It was to cure the voters then?—Yes, to give them a black draught if he liked. Then I gave to Thompson, of Overton, 2*l.*

14,717. What was that for?—It was for refreshments at Overton. He came to me and said he could not get on without funds, that the other side were spending a deal of money. Then I sent to Thornton, of Bolton, 40*s.*

14,718. What Thornton is that?—T. B. Thornton.

14,719. What was that for?—To refresh voters. Then on Saturday night I went to Morecambe again, and gave to Mr. Maudslay 20*s.* He is not a voter. It was to assist us, and treat voters. I gave to Mr. Jacobson, 20*s.* He is not a voter. It was just to counteract the captains on the other side. There were three or four men resident there, and if the voters were thirsty in the morning I was not always there to do the amiable, and so I gave it to them. Then Wilson, 20*s.*

14,720. What is he?—I think he was a spy for both sides. He was paid to look after our committee-room.

14,721. Was he a voter?—No. I found he was paid by the other side so well, so he got me plenty of information about the other side.

14,722. It was not Joseph Wilson?—No; but he is going to live at Morecambe, so that if there is another election he will be handy.

14,723. You will have your eye on him?—Yes.

14,724. What did you give the spy?—20*s.* I gave William Bond after he got the money for his vote, one sovereign. He said he wanted some for his father, who was very ill, and indeed he died about a week after the election. I gave him a sovereign for that, for some brandy he wanted for his father. I believe he put that in his pocket, got four bottles of brandy, and put it down in the bill. After I had paid him that money, he had a brother either in Leeds or Bradford, and of course he must come and see the fun, and nothing would do unless I gave him 3*l.* to pay his fare with, but I did not give him 3*l.*

14,725. What did you give him?—2*l.*

14,726. Did his brother come, do you know?—Yes, he came to me on the Monday, and wanted some more.

14,727. He brought his brother to ask you for more?—Yes.

14,728. Who was the next?—Mr. William Whitehead. I gave him 20*s.*, but he transferred it over to another gentleman who is in court here, Mr. Peckover. He was on our side, but handed it over to Mr. Peckover, saying that he could do better with it than him.

14,729. Was Mr. Peckover a voter?—No, Mr. Whiteside was, and a highly respectable man.

14,730. Did Mr. Peckover get 1*l.*?—Yes; then Levi Baines, 2*l.*

14,731. What was that for?—For refreshments. He was very ill, and his wife was very ill at the time. I gave him 2*l.* at different times, and 12*s.* I gave for wine. Then I come to John Bond again; he had arrived then from Leeds.

14,732. What did he get when he came from Leeds?—He wanted 5*l.*

14,733. Was he a voter?—No, he was off the list fortunately.

14,734. What did he get?—He wanted 5*l.* to go and get his brother from Carnforth. I could not help it. They would not go and vote unless I gave them something, and I gave him 2*l.* They were an expensive lot were those Bonds. Then on Monday, I gave Procter 20*s.*

14,735. Did you not make any payments on Sunday?—No.

14,736. You thought they would not be legal. What did you give 20*s.* to Procter for?—He went round with me to look up the voters on the Monday. We were frightened of their being bottled.

14,737. He is a voter?—Yes.

14,738. And keeps a public-house?—Yes. Then Mr. Bulfield, 40*s.*

14,739. What was that for?—To help and assist. It was no use going without money.

14,740. Is Bulfield a voter?—Yes. Then Mr. Thomas Cross, 40*s.* He went with me.

14,741. Was he a captain?—Yes, he was partly.

14,742. Not the head captain?—No, he had 40*s.* He was at one of the houses we had.

14,743. Was that for assistance?—Yes, to assist. Then Mr. Edward Masheder, 40*s.*; John McCann, 20*s.*; and Mr. Jackson, 30*s.*

14,744. Which Jackson was that?—I cannot remember; I have got here, "Mr. Jackson, 30*s.*"

14,745. Was he a voter?—I cannot tell you; I think not. Then I gave Mr. Maudslay again to assist us on the day of nomination, 20*s.* He is a non-voter. Then I gave to Mr. Bradshaw for old Daniel Edmondson, who is 85 years of age, 2*l.* He did not want anything for his vote, and did not ask for a shilling, but we thought we would make him a present of 2*l.*

14,746. You made him this present after he voted?—Yes, we thought he ought to have something as he had not cost us anything.

14,747. You paid him after voting?—Yes, he was paid after voting. I did not pay him myself. Then I gave to Thomas Edmondson 40*s.*

14,748. Was that for his family?—No, he said he wanted it to have a jollification at a beer-house close by.

14,749. The "Joiners' Arms?"—No, it was down by the mill. I gave John Curran 20*s.* on the nomination day, at night, to spend, and I gave to Mr. Bradshaw, before I left Morecambe, 20*s.* to see if any voters were left behind, and to look after them. That is all.

14,750. How much do you make the total of that expenditure?—I think it is 99*l.* 17*s.*

14,751. You received 80*l.* 15*s.* from Coupland?—2*l.* from Bulfield, 20*l.* from Clark, and 2*l.* 17*s.* 6*d.* from Mr. Gibson?—Yes, and out of that 2*l.* 17*s.* 6*d.* I gave 2*l.* 10*s.* to five staff men.

14,752. Were they non-voters or voters?—Non-voters. I called at my house, and I got the money for them, and they gave me a receipt, which I handed to Mr. Gibson, and then there is 7*s.* 6*d.* I gave to Mr. Longmire for conveyance.

14,753. Anything else?—No, I think there is nothing else, unless it is some odd half-crowns. I know there were two or three I gave away.

14,754. I make that 103*l.* 4*s.* 6*d.*?—Yes, that will be correct. That (handing a paper to the Commissioners) is a list of the voters who voted for us without any bribery at all.

14,755–6. To the best of your knowledge are these the whole of the voters at Morecambe who voted for Lawrence without being bribed?—Yes, I think so; I will not be quite positive, but to the best of my belief it is so.

14,757. What are the names?—James Bell, Dr. Bradshaw, Daniel Edmondson, senior.

14,758. You rewarded him afterwards?—Yes; but he did not know anything about it at the time. Then there is the Reverend E. Manby, and the Reverend John Manby, and Mr. Overend.

14,759. Who is he?—He is a gentleman living at Morecambe.

14,760. And William Whiteside?—Yes, he is another. I may have missed some out, but I think not. I may as well say that there is John Curwen; I do not think he got anything for his vote beyond what he spent. He was very active on our side, and whatever he got he spent it.

14,761. Were any of these other gentlemen who got nothing active?—Yes; Dr. Bradshaw was, and Maudslay and Jackson.

14,762. (Mr. Barstow.) We are told that the first "Bond" in the list got something. Do you know from whom he got it?—I do not know him at all. I see he voted for Fenwick and Schneider, and I do not doubt he would get something.

14,763. (Mr. Hill.) Have you got anything further to tell us as to money matters?—No; that is all the money I gave, and all the money I spent and paid.

14,764. I suppose the balance, if any, was spent in expenses?—Yes; I believe I had 1*s.* 6*d.* or something of that sort, left at 4 o'clock on the day of the election.

14,765. Do you know where these gentlemen sat, Isaac Jackson, for instance?—I do not; I had nothing whatever to do with him.

14,766. Do you know anything of the Liverpool gentlemen?—No; one of them went down with us, but I do not know his name. He was an Irishman.

14,767. With a brogue?—He was a regular "broth of a boy."

14,768. Did he do you good service?—There is no doubt he did.

14,769. You do not know his name?—No; I do not know his name. The "Bonds" we could not manage.

14,770. I was going to ask you a question as to those people to whom you gave 2*l.* Did they receive from Mr. Lawrence's side any further sums?—I do not know, except from what I have heard, but I make no doubt they did.

14,771. Who went to look after them when it got near polling time? Did you not look after them after the Monday?—We looked after them on the nomination day, at night.

14,772. Did you bring them to the poll?—No.

14,773. Did anybody?—Yes; they were brought to the poll. They were, no doubt, made all right by that party that was down.

14,774. The Liverpool party?—Mrs. Willacy, I believe.

14,775. We have got to hear more about it from Mrs. Willacy?—Yes, no doubt.

14,776. Did Mrs. Willacy and the "broth of a boy" do that between them?—Not all; there was some of it they could not manage.

14,777. They did all they knew?—Yes, they did all they knew how.

14,778. The Irish stranger and Mrs. Willacy did all they could?—Yes.

14,779. They looked after them at the polling-time?—Yes, assisted them to get into the conveyances.

14,780. Did they require a good deal of assistance?—I fancy they would, some of them. We had to send for help.

14,781. Have you told us all you know about them?—Except that Mrs. Willacy reported to me, and I make no doubt it is correct, that the "Bonds" had been offered 15*l.* each by Mr. Shackleton.

14,782. That she will tell us of?—They have always polled on the Conservative side before, I believe; they got 10*l.* each, Mr. Shackleton tried to raise the prices.

14,783. What did Mr. Shackleton bid for them?—15*l.*, and tried to take them away besides.

14,784. They voted for 10*l.*?—I believe Mrs. Willacy gave them 10*l.*, and the 2*l.* I gave besides. There is another man called Howson, to whom Shackleton offered 15*l.* He came to me on the morning, and said he would not vote under 10*l.*, and the 2*l.* he had got.

14,785. Were you present at any other payment to the "Bonds"?—No.

14,786. You left to bring them to the poll?—I stopped to see if there was any stragglers behind, and came up afterwards by omnibus.

14,787. What remuneration did you get for all this trouble that you took?—Not a shilling.

14,788. Do you mean to say that you were paid nothing?—No, not a farthing.

14,789. You, I suppose, as an appraiser, were sent down as a proper person to value the votes?—I do not know what the price would have been if I had offered the votes by auction.

14,790. You had no remuneration at all?—No, not a farthing.

14,791. No per-centage?—No, not at all, nor none of the parties that assisted me, I believe.

14,792. Here is your list of the pure voters, it is very short indeed, I am afraid?—I could give you another list, I think, a deal shorter.

14,793. What is that list?—That (handing a paper to the Commissioners) is a list of the pure on the other side.

14,794. I see on looking at this list that there are some put in very faintly. You will be glad to hear that you agree in this matter pretty nearly with Mr. Shackleton. From what did you draw out this list?—From the position and standing of the parties; I do not think they would take a bribe. I may add that I do not think all the money spent on the other side, at Morecambe, has come out.

14,795. (Mr. Barstow.) What is your reason for saying so?—From what I hear they had a great deal of public-house bills for larger sums than what they have accounted for.

14,796. (Mr Hill.) Do you think they have sweated them down for the purpose of this inquiry?—They were saying the other day there was one bill for 60*l.*, and they got 18*l.* knocked off.

FOURTEENTH DAY.

G. Vince.

12 Sept. 1866.

14,797. Where was that?—At the "Queen's Hotel." It is what is reported. Mr. Isaac will tell you about it; he is the owner of it, and he is a great friend of Mr. Schneider's. I heard him say, just now, it was not true.

14,798. What do you say the bill was?—I heard that it was 60*l.*, and they knocked 18*l.* off, and then they put in another bill for 16*l.*, the same day, for champagne. I saw him coming up with the bill himself, and he said it was the second.

14,799. Who was it said that?—Mr. Swayne, the landlord; I met him in the street, and he was going to get it paid at the committee-room. I do not know whether he did or not.

14,800. When was this?—About a week before the election.

14,801. What was the amount of that bill?—I think it was about 25*l.*.

14,802. Did he say anything about what the former one had been?—No, he did not; I have good reason for thinking what I have stated is correct, because when I went to Edmonson's I asked him why he had gone over to the other side.

14,803. Which Edmondson?—Daniel. We lost about 12 votes by his going over. I asked him why he went over to the other side, and he said the Conservative party had been up and would not engage his room, and it was ruin and beggaration to him, they had been spending so much at the "Queen's," and had had open house there for a week or a fortnight.

14,804. And drawing away the customers from his house to the "Queen's?"—Yes, so I understood him. I may add that I do not believe Edmondson knew what I was after at the time. He did not think I was pumping him.

14,805. How many votes do you calculate it lost you, Edmondson's going over?—I think from 10 to 12.

14,806. You think that Edmondson could influence that number?—Yes, one with another went over with him.

14,807. I do not exactly understand it now. What do you suppose was the whole amount that was paid for that election at the "Queen's Hotel?"—I cannot tell you that.

14,808. Do you mean that 60*l.* was for a bill after the election besides the two others?—No, before the election, so it was said.

14,809. The whole bill before this election was 60*l.*?—Yes, and then there was another put on. They knocked off 18*l.* I was told, but I cannot say it is a fact.

14,810. You say that you understood that the bill at the "Queen's" was 60*l.*?—Yes.

14,811. That was before the election?—Yes.

14,812. They sent in a bill of 60*l.*; how much of it was paid?—18*l.* short I understood.

14,813. And then they sent in the second bill, including the 18*l.*?—No, they knocked off the 18*l.*, and then they put on a second bill. They run up a second bill.

14,814. Did they submit to the loss of 18*l.*?—Yes.

14,815. So that they received 42*l.* upon the first bill?—Yes, I suppose so.

14,816. And how much upon the second?—I do not know.

14,817. It was the second bill that Mr. Swayne spoke to you about?—Yes, I think so.

Adjourned to to-morrow at 10 o'clock.

FIFTEENTH DAY.

Lancaster Castle, Thursday, 13th September 1866.

PRESENT:

MR. BARSTOW. | MR. NEWTON.

MR. HILL.

FIFTEENTH DAY.

G. Vince.

13 Sept. 1866.

GEORGE VINCE recalled and further examined.

14,818. (Mr. Barstow.) We understand that you wish to make some statement?—If you please. I wish to state that when I left the Court yesterday, after giving my evidence, I was surrounded by a lot of roughs at the entrance door, headed by a man named James Ellershaw. The first question he asked me was, "How much didst thou get for telling that damned "lie? Thou got as much for telling it as thou didst "at the election. Thou deservest to have thy damned "head knocked off, and thou wilt get it, too." I was going down the Castle Hill, and met Mr. Shackleton coming down with his friends, and he pointed me out and said, "That Vince is the biggest liar in Lancaster." Now, I ask for the protection of the Court, not for myself, for I am not afraid, but for other witnesses who might be deterred from giving their evidence if such conduct is to be allowed.

14,819. Is Mr. Ellershaw or Mr. Shackleton here? As you say, I do not suppose that you are much afraid of it. I do not think from your appearance that these people would find it a very easy matter to knock your head off; but if what you state has occurred it was a very gross piece of misconduct, and conduct which very much surprises us. For my own part, I must say that I have hitherto seen nothing in the conduct of the people in Lancaster which would lead me to believe that any of them would be guilty of the gross misconduct of abusing or insulting any witness on account of evidence which he has given in court. To do so is, no doubt, a gross contempt of court, which we have power to punish, and which we shall undoubtedly punish. We should be unwilling, however, to do so on this the first occasion that has occurred?—I do not wish it on this occasion. I only mention it in order that other witnesses may not be deterred from giving their evidence.

14,820. We have the power to commit any person guilty of misconduct, and we most certainly shall exercise that power if anything of the kind you state should be repeated. We should wish everybody to know that?—I forgot to give you a list of captains on the opposite side at Morecambe. I think you have not had the name of a man named Thomas Boardman, a grocer, in Penny Street. He is a voter. There is a man also of the name of Johnson, a coach builder, in Lancaster.

14,821. What is his christian name?—I do not know his christian name. He is a coach builder. He is not a voter. I do not know where he lives; he is with Mr. Gilchrist. There is a man also named Horrocks, a brush maker, who has left the town. He was a voter; and there was a man of the name of Thomas, a gasman, and a local preacher, at Morecambe, I believe; I understand so. A number of people attacked our house about 12 o'clock at night to take our votes away. There were about 40 of them down at Morecambe.

14,822. Did you see any of these men you have mentioned with the party who attacked your house?—Yes. Horrocks was a party who was trying to get through the window. He got his receipt as he went on——

14,823. What do you mean by "getting his receipt?"—He got thrashed before he got into the window. I see Mr. Shackleton refers in his evidence to half-a-crown having been paid for mending a man's coat tail. He was one of the men who were breaking into the house, and he got his coat tail shut in the door, and we cut it off.

14,824. These men whose names you have mentioned were active on the Liberal side at Morecambe?—Yes.

14,825. (Mr. Hill.) Who is Thomas?—He lives at Morecambe.

14,826. When you say they were active, what did they do?—They were staff-men or something of that kind. The reason why I found Thomas out was, that we cut his coat tail off, and he was minus that the next morning.

14,827. Did he do anything more than attack your house?—He was looking after the voters. He was one down on the other side, from Lancaster.

14,828. Do you know or believe that he was entrusted with any money to pay away?—That I do not know.

ROBERT LAWSON sworn and examined.

14,829. (Mr. Barstow.) You are a land agent?—Yes.

14,830. And you live in Lancaster somewhere?—Yes, at No. 34, Cable Street.

14,831. We have heard that you were assisting Mr. Clark in the late election?—Yes.

14,832. And you canvassed Galgate, I believe?—Yes. I canvassed Ellel, Halton, Cleveley, and Wyresdale.

14,833. For that purpose, I suppose, you received some money?—I did.

14,834. What was the first sum you received?—5*l.*

14,835. From Mr. Wilson Barker?—Yes.

14,836. On what day?—On the 1st of July.

14,837. The next?—10*s.* from Mr. George Clark.

14,838. On what day?—I think it was on the 6th, to the best of my recollection; 5*l.* from Mr. Coupland. That was on the 8th. I received 7*l.* more from Mr. Barker.

14,839. On what day?—The 11th.

14,840. Then after that what did you receive?—That was all I received.

14,841. Did you not receive 10*l.*?—No.

14,842. (Mr. Newton.) That makes 17*l.* 10*s.*?—Yes.

14,843. (Mr. Barstow.) How did you dispose of this money?—2*l.* I gave to Mr. Alexander Harrison.

14,844. Who is Mr. Alexander Harrison?—He was assisting me in the district. It was the night before the election that I gave him that.

14,845. Well?—Thomas Huntington, 1*l.*; William Sharples, 10*s.*

14,846. What do you consider these sums were given for?—To spend; to treat voters and their friends. 5*s.* to a man of the name of Mounsey.

14,847. Was that for treating?—Yes. William Preston, 10*s.*

14,848. These were all small sums?—The only sums that I gave away, with the exception of what I paid for drink myself, amounted to about 5*l.* 5*s.*

14,849. (Mr. Hill.) How much against William Preston?—10*s.* It makes up altogether about 5*l.* 5*s.* The remainder I spent in travelling expenses.

14,850. Who is the next after Preston?—There is no one else. There is 15*s.* I paid for toll-gates and other expenses. The remainder I spent in treating voters and travelling expenses.

14,851. That is 12*l.* 15*s.* in treating voters and travelling expenses?—Yes, voters at Galgate, and different meetings we had there.

14,852. (Mr. Hill.) 12*l.* 10*s.*?—The balance from the 5*l.* 5*s.* We had three houses in Galgate where I spent money, the "Bay Horse," in Ellel; the "New Holly," in Forton; and the "Fleece," in Ellel.

14,853. (Mr. Barstow.) In short, you treated people in these houses?—Yes, in all the houses.

14,854. How were you employed upon the day of the election?—I went down into the Ellel district the night previous to look up the voters, and got them to the different public-houses where they had their breakfasts and refreshments.

14,855. They had not their breakfast that night?—No. I went down that night for the purpose of looking them up early next morning.

14,856. You did not look them up that night, did you?—Yes; I saw several of them at the different houses and treated them, as many as I could get together.

14,857. What did you do on the morning of the election; what time were you out?—About 3 o'clock, and then had some breakfast, and took a carriage and went and picked up voters and brought them to the "Bay Horse."

14,858. How many did you get together?—I cannot give the exact number.

14,859. Whatever number you did get you brought up to Lancaster?—Yes.

14,860. Where did you take them to?—The "White Cross," in Penny Street.

14,861. What did you do with them when you got them to the "White Cross?"—I had them all shown into a room upstairs, a large room. The first thing that was asked was for something to drink.

14,862. We will pass by the drink at present; we have had a great deal of that.—Then I took them one by one into another room to Mr. George Clark, and I told him what price they asked for their votes. If the bargain did not suit him he made a bargain with them himself, and gave them a slip of paper to take into another room, and there they got their money. I had in some measure arranged with them previously.

14,863. If you had agreed for too large a sum, then, I suppose Mr. Clark beat them down?—Yes.

14,864. Had each voter a slip of paper?—Yes.

14,865. Do you know what was written on the paper?—No, I do not.

14,866. You do not know at all?—No.

14,867. You never saw one of the papers?—I could not understand what the papers meant. There were some letters, but I could not understand what they meant. I suppose they represented so much money.

14,868. (Mr. Hill.) Do you mean that there were some figures or letters?—I think letters. I think he put the figures in a book that he had alongside of him.

14,869. Did he write on the slip of paper figures or letters to represent money?—To the best of my recollection they were letters.

14,870. Letters to represent money?—Yes, that is to the best of my belief.

14,871. (Mr. Barstow.) Mr. Clark did not tell us so?—To the best of my recollection, it was so.

14,872. (Mr. Hill.) Something like shop letters or price tickets?—Yes, something of that sort.

14,873. (Mr. Barstow.) What did the voters do with these slips of paper?—Took them into another room, a back room.

14,874. They were a sort of bank note, in fact?—Yes.

14,875. And then they got them cashed?—They got them cashed there.

14,876. Were you ever in that other room?—Yes.

14,877. Who did you see there?—A gentleman, but I did not know him at all; I did not know him, and had never seen him in my life before.

14,878. He was a stranger?—He was a stranger to me.

14,879. What sort of looking man was he?—To the best of my recollection he was a dark-haired man. I do not know that I should know the man again if I were to see him now. I think I was only in the room once or twice, at the outside, with him.

FIFTEENTH DAY.

R. Lawson.

13 Sept. 1866.

14,880. How long did you stay there?—I was in and out pretty nearly the whole of the day, taking voters to the poll and looking round generally.

14,881. Do you know anything of the sums that were paid to these men?—I think they would generally run about 10*l.*

14,882. Do you know the men?—Yes, some of them I do.

14,883. Did you keep any list?—No.

14,884. You did not make any list of them at the time?—No, I did not.

14,885. You have, perhaps, heard or read what Mr. Clark has said?—Yes.

14,886. Do you believe his account to be correct?—I do.

14,887. Who engaged the inns or public-houses in your district?—I do not know that there was any special arrangement about the houses. I went to houses without making any arrangement as to payment for them.

14,888. You found them open in your interest when you got there?—Yes. The "Green Dragon," at Galgate was open on both sides, and the "Bay Horse" and the "New Holly" was also open for both sides.

14,889. You had some assistants, I suppose?—Yes, I had.

14,890. Who were they?—There was Alexander Harrison assisted me at Galgate.

14,891. Who else?—Henry Nelson assisted in the Wyresdale and Ellel district. Henry Smith assisted.

14,892. Where was that?—In Ellel and Cleveley, and Forton; in fact, he assisted in the district where he could be of use.

14,893. Anyone else?—Mr. Richard Thomson assisted me.

14,894. Who is Mr. Richard Thomson?—He is a gentleman living in Ellel.

14,895. A gentleman?—An independent gentleman, living at a place called Low Abbey, in Ellel.

14,896. A yeoman or what?—He has a small property there which he lives on.

14,897. Any other?—Mr. Rothwell also took an active part.

14,898. Do you remember any other names?—No, I do not.

14,899. John Speight?—No.

14,900. He did not assist you?—No.

14,901. Do you know him?—I know John Speight, a twine spinner, in Lancaster.

14,902. Was he active in the election?—Yes, I think he was; but I do not know that he was down in my district at all. I do not remember seeing him there.

14,903. Did you see him at the "White Cross?"—I think I did on the day of the election.

14,904. You saw him exerting himself there?—Yes.

14,905. You do not know more than that; you do not know what he did?—No. I know I went one afternoon with him and Mr. George Clark canvassing in Lancaster.

14,906. Did you see the other Speight?—Which other Speight?

14,907. John Speight, junior?—I do not know him.

14,908. Did you receive any remuneration for your services?—Not a penny. I am about 18*s.* out of pocket.

14,909. Did you render any account of the money you received to anyone?—No.

14,910. (Mr. Newton.) You did not tell us the names of all the public-houses. We were to get information from you as to the country public-houses, and you just stopped in the middle. Just tell us the names of the houses?—There is the "Green Dragon," in Galgate, the "Eagle and Child," the "Plough," the "Bay Horse," the "Fleece," and the "New Holly."

14,911. How many were there in Galgate?—The "Green Dragon," the "Eagle and Child," and the "Plough."

14,912. And where were the other three?—Two in Ellel and one in Forton.

14,913. (Mr. Barstow.) Were those all open for both sides?—The "Green Dragon," and the "Eagle and Child," and the "New Holly" also were open for the other side. There are several public-house bills in that district unpaid yet.

14,914. Do you know a man named Barrow?—Yes; I forgot to mention him. He assisted in the district.

14,915. In what district does he live?—In Lancaster somewhere.

14,916. Did you bring him up to Mr. Clark?—No.

14,917. Who brought him up to Mr. Clark?—I do not know. I do not know the man you are alluding to.

14,918. You did not bring him to Mr. Clark?—No.

14,919. Had you any staff-men in your district?—No.

14,920. (Mr. Hill.) Was there no payment to non-electors in your district?—Not a penny, to my knowledge.

14,921. (Mr. Newton.) All those in this list you have given us were chiefly men in your district?—A good many, chiefly.

14,922. How many do you suppose you brought up?—Between 30 and 40 I should say.

14,923. What style of men were they?—Some were well-to-do farmers, and others were labourers.

14,924. Do you mean men who worked for day wages?—Yes.

14,925. Just give us the names, if you can, of the well-to-do farmers?—The first is John Lawson, of Leach House, in Ellel, and there is Thomas Cottam; I am not sure whether he went up with me or not, but I do not think he did.

14,926. Now give me the name of another well-to-do farmer?—There are some of the Fox's; there were several of the Fox's.

14,927. How many of those?—William Fox, he is a farmer, and his sons.

14,928. Are they labourers or farmers?—They assist the father on the farm.

14,929. What acreage has that farmer got?—I cannot tell you exactly; I should think upwards of 100 acres.

14,930. He wanted money for his vote?—Yes, I believe they all got money.

14,931. Now tell us another?—Richard Craig, I think he got money.

14,932. But he only got 5*l.*, I see?—I daresay he did not get any more.

14,933. What is he?—A farmer.

14,934. David Craig, what is he?—That is his brother.

14,935. What sort of farm has he?—He has left the farm he was then on; it was a very good farm that he was then occupying.

14,936. What should you say was the extent of it?—I think the rent would be between 200*l.* and 300*l.* a year.

14,937. Now tell us another?—I do not remember any other farmer.

14,938. Were there any tradespeople at Galgate, respectable people, who sold their votes?—No, I do not know; there is Parker, a joiner, who got money.

14,939. A master joiner?—I think his master was living then; he is a master joiner now.

14,940. Is he a householder?—Yes, he is a freeman; but he has a house of his own.

14,941. (Mr. Hill.) What sort of a house?—Only a small house.

14,942. Ten or 11 pound a year rental?—No.

14,943. Then there are others; what were they?—Farm labourers and workmen.

14,944. What induced these men to sell their votes? Was it because they saw the farmers do it?—No; I fancy they had been in the habit of receiving money for their votes previously.

14,945. You think that was what induced them on this occasion, because they had been in the habit of getting money previously?—Yes, at previous elections.

Mr. ISAAC JACKSON sworn and examined.

14,946. (Mr. Newton.) Where do you live?—At Huyton, near Liverpool.

14,947. What are you?—I am a painter.

14,948. That is rather a wide definition. Are you an artist?—No, I am a paint manufacturer and oil merchant in Liverpool. I keep painters and plumbers at work as well.

14,949. Where is your place of business?—In Liverpool; 12, Wapping, in Liverpool.

14,950. And your residence is Huyton? Do you go backwards and forwards to Huyton?—Yes.

14,951. Are you any relation or connexion of Mr. H. T. Wilson's?—Yes, he is my brother-in-law; I married his sister.

14,952. And you were on intimate terms with Mr. Wilson?—Of course.

14,953. Through Mr. Wilson I conclude you know about the election at Lancaster?—Yes.

14,954. And I suppose Mr. Wilson had some little conversation with you upon it?—He asked me to come down.

14,955. To Lancaster?—To Lancaster.

14,956. When?—I think it was on the Monday before the election; I think so.

14,957. Was that the day he asked you?—I will not be positive; I came down on the Monday evening.

14,958. Had you, previous to that, had any conversation with him?—He might ask me on the Friday or Saturday. I cannot tell the day he asked me.

14,959. You think the Friday was the first time?—I really cannot tell what day it was; it was a few days before the election.

14,960. A few days previous to your coming here?—A few days previous to my coming here.

14,961. And you came here on the Monday?—I came on the Monday.

14,962. Had you ever been to Lancaster before?—Oh, yes.

14,963. What is there that provokes you to smile?—It is my native town; I was in business here for 14 years before I went to Liverpool.

14,964. And you were well acquainted with the town?—Yes.

14,965. When did you leave Lancaster?—I left at the end of 1853.

14,966. When you came here on the Monday where did you go to? First, did you come with anybody?—Yes.

14,967. Who did you come with?—I brought one of my sons with me.

14,968. What is his name?—Henry Threlfall.

14,969. When you came here where did you go to?—I went to the "King's Arms."

14,970. I suppose you knew that that was the headquarters of Mr. Lawrence?—No, not when I came. I went there because I generally stay there when I stay at any hotel in Lancaster.

14,971. The hotel where Mr. Wilson was staying?—I did not know he was staying there.

14,972. When you got to the "King's Arms," who was the first person connected with the election that you saw?—I cannot remember.

14,973. Try and remember?—I cannot remember the first person I saw connected with the election, because after I got in, my son and I had tea, and then I went round the town to see several of my friends.

14,974. Who did you go and see?—I went to see Mr. Grant.

14,975. And Mr. Barker?—No.

14,976. Not Mr. Wilson Barker?—No.

14,977. Who is Mr. Grant?—A private friend of mine; I did not go to him with reference to the election at all, I merely called on him as a friend; he was not in.

14,978. Who was the first person you saw in Lancaster connected with the election? Where did you first see Mr. Wilson Barker?—I saw him at the "King's Arms," in the evening.

14,979. That same evening?—That same evening. I saw Mr. H. T. Wilson and Mr. William Storey, and several there.

14,980. Who else? Did you see Mr. Lawrence there?—No.

14,981. What did you do on the Tuesday?—On the Tuesday I went to the nomination; that was on the Tuesday morning.

14,982. On Tuesday evening what did you do?—On Tuesday evening I was at the "King's Arms."

14,983. Did you see those gentlemen then?—Yes.

14,984. Had you any communication with either Mr. Barker or Mr. H. T. Wilson?—We had a conversation about the election, but no special conversation.

14,985. Was anything said as to what was to be done on the following day?—No.

14,986. Nothing?—Nothing.

14,987. Where did you sleep that night?—At the "King's Arms."

14,988. At what time did you get up next morning?—I think between 4 and 5.

14,989. What made you get up so early?—I was knocked up.

14,990. Who by?—I cannot tell who by; perhaps the boots.

14,991. An official called the boots?—I presume it was one of the domestic servants. I was rather annoyed at being called up so early, to tell you the truth.

14,992. We will take it it was an official or domestic connected with the establishment who got you up?—Yes.

14,993. Was there a message given to you?—I was requested to get up and come downstairs.

14,994. For what purpose?—To go to Carnforth.

14,995. And you got up and came downstairs?—When I got downstairs I found there a youth who had walked all the way from Carnforth early that morning.

14,996. What was the youth's name, do you know?—I think his name was Greenall. He said that the celebrated Joseph Wilson was taking all the voters away.

14,997. The "celebrated" Joseph Wilson?—I do not know that he said "the celebrated Joseph Wilson." I think he said Joseph Wilson; but of course that is a term of my own. I think he said that Joseph Wilson was taking all Mr. Lawrence's voters away from the "Carnforth Inn," so I was requested to go to look after them, and I went there.

14,998. Did you go anywhere else before you went there?—No.

14,999. You went straight from the "King's Arms" to Carnforth?—Yes.

15,000. Did you walk to Carnforth?—No, we took a conveyance from the "King's Arms." The youth went back with me.

15,001. No one besides you and the youth?—No one besides me and the youth. When we got there I found that they had got two or three voters away; three, I think, but two certainly; the two Whormbys; and if my memory serves me, a man named Mashiter.

15,002. Where did you go when you got there?—To the "Carnforth Inn," I think it is called, or hotel.

15,003. The public-house?—Yes.

15,004. How did you find out that these voters had gone?—I was told so when I got there. There were five or six voters there when I got there.

15,005. What did you do next?—The youth took me up to Mrs. Whormby's, up to Mrs. Whormby's house—I think she was his aunt, I think he said so—to inquire for them, and she was down with them at the public-house, and so of course we did not see her.

15,006. Go on, and tell us what you did?—Then we went to a voter. I think his name was Miller, a farmer or something; and I solicited his vote on behalf of Mr. Lawrence, but I could not get any promise from him. Then we went back to the public-house again.

15,007. Was anything like money talked about?—No.

FIFTEENTH DAY.

Mr. I. Jackson.

18 Sept. 1866.

15,008. What was the voter's name?—I think it was Miller. Then we went back to the public-house, and the voters that were there had breakfast, and then I sent them off in the conveyance I had brought with the youth; and there was a conveyance came up from Warton at the same time, and they all came together.

15,009. What became of you?—I came back with the train.

15,010. What time was it when you got back to Lancaster?—I think a little after 9, from 9 to 10. I do not know exactly, but I think it would be a little after 9.

15,011. What did you do when you got back to Lancaster?—The first thing I did was, I had breakfast at the "King's Arms."

15,012. What did you do after breakfast?—Just as I had finished my breakfast a man came running in to inquire if any of Mr. Lawrence's friends were there; that he had some voters at his house, and that unless some one went he should lose them; so I got up from the table and went with him and he turned out to be the landlord of a public-house in China Lane.

15,013. Hodgson?—Yes.

15,014. Did you go to China Lane?—I went to China Lane.

15,015. Straight?—Yes, I went direct with him.

15,016. You did not call on Mr. Barker by the way?—No, we went there and there were a few voters there, and they were waiting for some one that had been there previous to me, one of Mr. Lawrence's friends; and from the description they gave of his person I concluded it to be Mr. Wollaston, and I waited until he came, and he gave me some money. He said he was required elsewhere and would I pay a few voters until he returned.

15,017. How much money did he give you?—I think he gave me 50*l.*, but I am not certain.

15,018. Did you give him any receipt of any sort or kind?—No.

15,019. How was the money; was it in gold or how?—I think it was in notes.

15,020. Where did you go when you were in the house?—Upstairs, into a room.

15,021. Just tell us what occurred when you went upstairs into the room?—There were two men in I think, and I only know the name of one of them.

15,022. What was his name?—His name was Richard Wadeson. He seemed thoroughly ashamed when he saw me go into the room.

15,023. Why did he seem ashamed?—Because he had known me for 30 years, and he did not expect—

15,024. To be caught out?—I daresay we were both ashamed. I was thoroughly ashamed I can tell you. Hodgson told me that they were to have 10*l.* each, so I gave them the money, or else I gave it to Hodgson for him to give them, I forget which.

15,025. Did you see these two men?—Yes, I saw them in the room; they were in the room when I went in.

15,026. Was Wadeson one of the men who had the 10*l.*?—Yes.

15,027. Your friend; you do not know who the other was?—No.

15,028. Did you give them the 10*l.*?—Yes.

15,029. Into their hands?—I do not know whether I gave it to them or whether I gave it to Hodgson, and he gave it to them.

15,030. But you feel satisfied that they had it?—Yes, they had it no doubt.

15,031. What did you do with the remainder?—There were other voters who came in afterwards.

15,032. Who were they?—I cannot give their names. I received altogether from Mr. Wollaston a little over 180*l.*, I think.

15,033. He came back again?—Yes, and told me that he could not take my place; that he was required elsewhere and would I stay there, and he gave me more money.

15,034. How much more did he give you?—I cannot tell. I think he gave it me at three or four times during the day.

15,035. How much altogether did he give you?—About 185*l.*

15,036. Can you tell us any other voters that you paid?—No.

15,037. Did you write down their names?—I did at the time.

15,038. What has become of the paper on which you wrote their names down?—I destroyed it long ago.

15,039. When?—I just wrote them down in pencil.

15,040. When did you destroy that paper?—Immediately after I sent some money back to Mr. Barker. I am only sorry that I did not keep it. I only remembered another name last night. On looking over Hodgson's evidence last night my memory was refreshed as to one or two more. There was one called Fawcett.

15,041. Do you know his christian name?—No, I do not.

15,042. Nor the amount?—I think it was 10*l.*

15,043. Is there anyone else?—I paid 7*l.* or 8*l.* to one or two voters.

15,044. You said you thought you could remember another name?—That is Mr. Croskell, of either Overton or Middleton.

15,045. Do you know his christian name?—I do not. There were two brothers came into the room, and I reasoned with them, and one of them went out of the room.

15,046. Is that all you can tell us?—Yes.

15,047. What time did you leave China Lane?—I think about 4 o'clock.

15,048. You stayed there till it was over?—Yes.

15,049. When you finished and left, how much money had you?—It was either 12*l.* or 13*l.* that I returned.

15,050. When did you return it?—I returned it perhaps a week after. Mr. Barker was in Liverpool, and I gave it to him, and it was placed to Mr. Wollaston's credit. I had had no money from Mr. Barker, and I told him to place it to Mr. Wollaston's credit, so that that will have to be deducted from the 180*l.* odd I got. I may mention that I gave to a man who came to me twice, Storey is his name, I think—

15,051. Is it William Storey or John Storey?—It is a brother of those gentlemen. He came to me and asked for 5*l.* for a voter of the name of Varley.

15,052. What did you give to Storey?—5*l.* I hesitated to give it to him at first, but he came a second time, and I gave it him.

15,053. (Mr. Hill.) Was this during the day?—Yes, I think it was in the afternoon.

15,054. (Mr. Newton.) What made you hesitate?—I did not know whether Varley had voted or not.

15,055. How did you know the others had not voted?—I had to take Mr. Hodgson's word for it.

15,056. Hodgson was not present when Storey came?—No.

15,057. Is George Storey a voter?—I really cannot tell whether he is or not.

15,058. Where did he come from?—He is residing here, I think, or near Ulverstone.

15,059. Hodgson was not in the room?—I think he was not in the room at the time. I gave Hodgson, I think, two or three sums of money to pay to voters that I did not see. He said he had them in another room, and mentioned the names of them at the time.

15,060. What sort of sums did you give to him?—All the sums I gave ranged from 7*l.*, 8*l.*, and 10*l.*, except one to whom I gave 12*l.*, and that was Croskell. The two Croskells wanted 20*l.* each, but the money I gave was principally in ten pounds, but Croskell said he had been offered 20*l.* by the other side, as he came up the street, and I said, "Why do you not go and vote for them?" I told him I was surprised to see respectable men like them asking anything for their votes.

15,061. Had he been offered that sum by the other side?—Yes, and I told him I should not give him 20*l.* He said, "I have always voted 'Blue' and never had a shilling for voting in my life before," and I said, "Why do you not go like a man and vote to-day for nothing."

15,062. What did he say to that?—He said, "It is "all very good talking, but there is plenty of money "stirring, and I do not see why I should not have "some of it as well as other people."

15,063. What is Croskell?—He is a farmer, I think. I told him the franchise was given to him as a trust, and not to barter with like a cow.

15,064. (Mr. Hill.) You paid him the money, and improved the occasion?—That is the only man I bargained with direct.

15,065. (Mr. Newton.) What was the generality of these men that you paid?—All of them, I understood from Hodgson, came from the neighbourhood of Slyne, Bolton, Hest Bank, and Torrisholme. I did not know anything of them personally except Wadeson. There was one town voter of the name of Fawcett, but I do not know which Fawcett it was.

15,066. Were they well-to-do men, or labourers?—Some of them were farm servants. I did not see the whole of them.

15,067. But with regard to those you saw, were they a better class of people, or not?—They were all dressed up in their best clothes, and they all looked respectable that I saw.

15,068. You could tell whether they were labourers or not?—Some of them might be small farmers, I cannot tell.

15,069. Do you know a man named George Wilson of Skerton?—No.

15,070. He came with Croskell, according to Hodgson's evidence?—No.

15,071. Hodgson says those three men all came together, the two Croskells and Wilson, and that they all would not vote without they got 13*l.* a piece, and that you bargained with them? Were you in court yesterday?—No, but I heard of Hodgson's evidence.

15,072. Is that account true?—No, it is not correct, because when I was reckoning with them, one of the brothers Croskell went out of the room, and I did not see him again. Hodgson might get 12*l.* from me afterwards to give him, but I do not think he did.

15,073. You paid him 12*l.*?—One of the brothers, I did.

15,074. He says those three men, the two Croskells and Wilson, each got 13*l.*?—I did not pay 13*l.* to anyone. I paid one 12*l.*, at least that is my firm impression. If Croskell says he got 13*l.*, I may be wrong by 1*l.*, but I do not think I am.

15,075. Can you give us any more information?—No. I gave a voter in Liverpool, a week or two before the election, a sovereign.

15,076. What is he?—His name was Thomas Hatton. I sent one of my foremen to canvass two or three voters, and I asked Hatton to go with him, and he said he could not go without he had a little money in his pocket, and I gave him 1*l.*

15,077. Was that 1*l.* ever repaid you?—Yes, I deducted it before I sent the 12*l.* or 13*l.*

15,078. You paid yourself out of the balance?—Yes.

15,079. You must have known perfectly well what you came over from Liverpool for?—I came over to render general assistance. To assist to take up voters.

15,080. To give that assistance which you have just now told us of, that which took place in China Lane?—No; I would not have gone to China Lane if I had known I was going to do that. I knew nothing at all as to the proceedings that were to take place that day.

15,081. Did you bring over anything with you from Liverpool; any parcel?—No; no money except for my own personal expenses.

15,082. Were you asked to bring any parcel over from Liverpool?—No, I was not, and did not bring any.

15,083. Not even any black bag, canvas bag, or brown paper parcel?—No, nor green bag either.

15,084. You told us you were out of pocket; I suppose by that we are to believe that you received no remuneration whatever for your services?—No.

15,085. (Mr. Barstow.) What time was it you were called in the morning at the "King's Arms"?—I think it was between 4 and 5.

15,086. Was the house up then. Were people stirring about?—Yes, there were not many; there were one or two servants.

15,087. Was that all?—There were not many people about; it was very quiet.

15,088. Were there any persons about connected with the election?—Mr. Wilson was up. He asked me when I came downstairs if I would go to Carnforth.

15,089. You have told us that you only gave one voter 12*l.* to the best of your recollection. Could you give us a rough sort of guess as to how many voters you paid altogether?—I should think about 15 or 16.

15,090. You remember giving one voter 12*l.*, and that you say was your top price. Can you remember what was the next greatest price you paid?—10*l.*

15,091. Did you pay many 10*l.*?—They were most of them 10*l.*, but I remember there were one or two at 8*l.* and 7*l.*, but most of them were 10*l.*

15,092. You could not put the price, I suppose, to any individual person, if I was to mention the name?—No. Wadeson had 10*l.* and I think Fawcett had 10*l.* Is there a man called "Bond," down?

15,093. Yes.—I fancy that was one name.

15,094. How much had he?—I cannot say whether it was 8*l.* or 10*l.*

15,095. Do you remember paying more than one "Bond"?—No.

15,096. Do you remember paying a man named Dean?—No.

15,097. Do you remember paying any Sharples?—No, I do not.

15,098. Do you remember a man named Dallabella?—No.

15,099. (Mr. Hill.) Was Hodgson acquainted with all those that you paid?—Yes.

15,100. Do you recollect for how many voters you gave money to Hodgson?—For about 15, I should think.

15,101. Then there was but one that you paid yourself?—Sometimes he brought them into the room, or I gave him the money to pay them, and then in the afternoon he had two or three he told me, in another room, and I gave him the money for them. He gave me the names and amounts.

15,102. How many do you suppose you paid absolutely into their hands without going through Hodgson's hands at all?—I should think I should pay, or see paid in the room, about 12 or 13 of them.

15,103. You can speak only to 12 or 13 having received the money?—I can speak positively to 12.

15,104. You can speak to them positively as having received the absolute money you gave to Hodgson?—Yes.

15,105. And of which you can feel pretty sure none stuck to Hodgson's fingers?—He paid them in the room.

15,106. That is no answer to my question. We shall come to what we believe about Hodgson afterwards. You can speak to 12 as having received the money from you?—Yes.

15,107. Through Hodgson, or from your hands direct?—Yes, about 12.

15,108. You say you paid altogether about 16?—Yes.

15,109. Then there are four, for the payment of whom you have only Hodgson's word to rely upon?—Just so.

15,110. (Mr. Barstow.) Did you pay any voters at Carnforth?—No.
